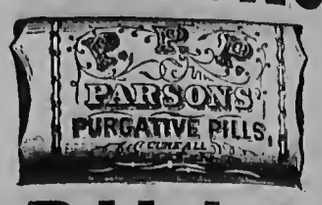
Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar has made a name and record in the past fifty years that is enviable. Thousands of people having tried it for coughs, colds, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis and consumption know its value, and would not be without it. Why? Because it cures where other remedies fail. We recommend it for children subject to croup and whooping-cough. It will give relief and cause speedy cure. The medical profession recognize it, and physicians frequently prescribe it for lung troubles. These facts have pushed Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar to the front rank. It is the best remedy for coughs, colds, all throat and lung affections, and no family should be without it. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

PARSONS

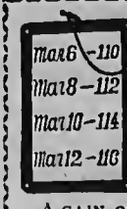


PILLS

MakeNewRichBlood

"Best Liver Pill Made."

They positively cure SICK HEADACHE and BILIOUSNESS, all Liver and Bowel Complaints. In Glass Vials. Thirty in a bottle, one a dose. They expel all impurities from the blood. Delicate women find great benefit from using them. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 25 cts. in stamps; five bottles $1.00. Full particulars free. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass.



GAIN ONE POUND A Day.

A GAIN OF A POUND A DAY IN THE CASE OF A MAN WHO HAS BECOME "ALL RUN DOWN," AND HAS BEGUN TO TAKE THAT REMARKABLE FLESH PRODUCER,

SCOTT'S EMULSION

OF PURE COD LIVER OIL WITH Hypophosphites of Lime & Soda

IS NOTHING UNUSUAL. THIS FEAT HAS BEEN PERFORMED OVER AND OVER AGAIN. PALATABLE AS MILK. ENDORSED BY PHYSICIANS. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. AVOID SUBSTITUTIONS AND IMITATIONS.

Heavy Crops!

The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Royal Germetuer

Donald Kennedy,
Roxbury, Mass.

Dear Sir: I took your Medical Discovery for one year for Scrofula on my knee. When I began I was told by the Doctors my limb would have to be amputated, but it cured me. Well, that was 13 years ago and no signs of it since. I thought you and the world ought to know it.

Yours very truly,
MRS. M. D. DALTON.
Aug. 8, 1891. Edina, Mo.

Kennedy's Medical Discovery sold everywhere. Price $1.50.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus:

JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, LONDON, ENGLAND.

MARRIAGES.

DILLARD—BETTERTON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Sept. 30, 1891, by Rev. R. A. Davis, Mr. Franklin L. Dillard to Miss Paletine Betterton, all of Union parish, La.

HOOVER—LIGON.—In the McKee Street Methodist Church, in Houston, Texas, on Tuesday, June 30, 1891, by Rev. J. E. Green, Mr. W. J. Hoover son of Rev. Wm. Hoover and Mrs. M. L. J. Hoover, of Summit, Miss., to Miss Beverly Ligon, of the above-named place.

GOULD—PENN.—At the residence of H. B. Davis, Esq., Natchez, Miss., Sept. 29, 1891, by Rev. J. V. Penn (brother of the bride), Mr. Chas. D. Gould, of Jefferson county, Miss., to Miss Adrienne Penn, of Natchez.

OBITUARIES.

GORDON—THOMAS GORDON was born in Camden county, near Camden Court-house, N. C., Oct. 8, 1810, and died near Jackson, Hinds county, Miss., May 21, 1891, being at the time of his death in his eighty-first year. Mr. Gordon came to Jackson when it was a mere village and engaged in merchandising, and was one of the largest merchants of the place at that time. After continuing in this business about eight years he moved to the country near Jackson, where he continued to reside until his death. In 1838 he was married to Miss Julia V. Moore, of Jackson, who with eight grown children survive him. In 1845 he joined the Methodist Church at Jackson, and died a member of same.

Mr. Gordon was of a very large and influential family scattered over North Carolina, Virginia and other Southern States, and some of the best blood of the South coursed through his veins, and in many respects he was a remarkable man. A man of strong convictions, undaunted courage, positively without guile or duplicity, a steadfast friend, an open and honorable foe, you always knew where to place him, and yet he had a heart as tender as a woman. He was a voluminous reader, and was very fond of the most of the standard works of fiction, especially Scott's, and possessing, as he did, the most retentive memory of anyone of my acquaintance, when he once read anything of note, he never forgot it. Being an ardent Southerner of the most pronounced type, he early and enthusiastically espoused the cause of the secession of the Southern States from the Federal Union, and it can be safely said that few men watched with more solicitude the fortunes of the Confederacy than he; but when the contest was over, and the dark clouds of defeat overshadowed our beloved Southland, he was one of the first to counsel the acceptance, in good faith, of our situation and make the best we could of it, and until the day of his death he took the greatest interest in public affairs.

Mr. Gordon, like most men of his age, had been called to pass through many sad afflictions. Well does the writer remember the crushing blow it was to this grand old man to witness the death of his oldest son, Dr. Gilbert Gordon, who died in early manhood, and who, though young in years, had taken high rank in his profession, having won a surgeon's star in the service of his country. His untimely death was a great affliction to his father, and, in after years it was his to mourn the loss of other beloved children. Some years before his death he lost his sight, and later on he was partially paralyzed in his lower limbs; yet he bore all these afflictions with great fortitude, without complaint, and they only served to purify and fit his noble soul for a better world.

Farewell, faithful and revered friend, and may your loved ones realize that "There is no death, an angel form,

Walks o'er the earth with silent tread:
He bears our best things away,
And then we call them dead."

A FRIEND.

HENNING—The Rev. JOHN HENNING was born in Botetourt county, Va., May 5, 1812; was converted Sept. 20, 1839, in Montgomery, Ala., and joined the Methodist Church; was licensed to exhort in 1846, and to preach in 1847; was ordained deacon in 1851, and elder in 1856. In 1867 he took his family to Belize, British Honduras; remained there thirteen months, and returned to Texas, where he sojourned until 1877, when he came to Calcasieu parish, La., from whence in the early part of the year he went home to God.

It was my privilege to be under him as junior preacher the first year of my ministry, and it was indeed a privilege, for I found in him a wise counsellor and trusty friend, and beneath his roof one of the most pleasant homes it has ever been my lot to enjoy. Bro. Henning was a strong man in every way; a fine presence, and a forcible preacher. For years he was the only representative of Methodism in the section of country in which he lived, and he was a worthy representative, preaching the gospel of Christ without fear or favor, and with little, if any, remuneration. He had set his affections on things above, and was laying up treasure in heaven, and I have no doubt that when he received his crown there were many bright gems sparkling in it—eternal fruits of his glorious work.

During his long sojourn in Calcasieu he made many warm friends (who with the writer will sadly miss him), and by his unswerving rectitude and Christly example won and maintained the love and respect of all who knew him.

He has left a wife, one son and three daughters—all of whom are following the example set them by their sainted loved one; and my prayer is, that God may sustain them through life, and in death give them a glorious victory and an abundant entrance into the city of everlasting life! ROBT. HARBY.

BATES—Sister S. L. BATES (nee Robinson) was born in Kemper county, Miss., May 16, 1849, and departed this life, after a brief illness, at her home in Daleville, Miss., May 12, 1891. She was married to Bro. T. A. Bates, Jan. 17, 1867, whom she leaves with eight children to mourn their loss. Two little infants are with her in the glory-world—one having preceded her, the other following a few days after her departure. Sister Bates was converted and joined the Methodist Church at eight years of age, in which she lived a consistent and devout member until death. There was always a warm place in her heart for her pastor, which relation it was my privilege to sustain for twelve months. During this time her faith in God was surely tried by sore afflictions and adversities; yet in all she never doubted or questioned the goodness and mercy of a wise Providence. Her life of forty-two years was filled with many cares, and her steps always seemed to be weary, yet hopeful and full of trust in God. "A woman who feareth the Lord, she shall be praised."

She was a faithful wife and a loving mother, by grace and prudence she has left the imprint of her own life upon that of her children, who give the brightest promise of following on in her footsteps: dutiful, kind and loving—a source of great comfort in her last hours.

May the Lord comfort the husband and children bereft, and may they follow her as she followed Christ, to that land "where sickness never comes" and the "weary are at rest!"

V. V. BOONE.

APPLEWHITE—DR. E. R. APPLEWHITE, the subject of this sketch, was born near Fordsville, Marion county, Miss., June 1, 1816, and died at his home, Lincoln county, Miss., June 26, 1891.

He grew to manhood in the county of his birth, and acquired what was considered for that time and country a liberal education. After attaining his majority, he moved to Carroll county, Miss., and engaged in the mercantile business, but, it appears, only for a short time. From Carroll he came to Yazoo county, where he remained for two years, during which time he prepared himself for the practice of medicine. In 1843 he came to this section of country, embraced at that time in Copiah county, but now a part of Lincoln county, and engaged in the practice of his profession. For thirty-eight years he did what he could to alleviate human suffering, and, if he had been avaricious, could have accumulated a handsome fortune; but, more anxious to do good than to lay up money, he died comparatively poor, but rich in faith and good works.

He attached himself to the Methodist Church in early life, and died in its fold respected and loved by all who knew him. He was a liberal contributor to the church and to every good cause. He had been an invalid for a year before his death and had ceased to visit the sick, but continued to prescribe for some up to the time of his death. He died very suddenly of heart failure, without a word or groan; but he was ready. D. G. W. ELLIS.

GRAY—Miss OSMA GRAY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gray, was born in Lawrence county, Miss., March 8, 1875, and died in Sunflower county, Aug. 31, 1891. Osma was converted and joined the church in Lawrence county, in 1886, under the ministry of the Rev. R. B. Downer. Since she has lived in this county her life has been one of consistent piety. Only a few weeks before her death she was permitted to be with us in a revival meeting, and she was made happy in the love of God. She testified in the praise service to the fact of God's grace in her life and his power to save.

She was not sick long, but fully realized that she must go, and there was no fear. All was done that could be done by loving hearts and hands to make her last hours peaceful, and it was realized that "Jesus can make a dying bed feel soft as downy pillows are."

To the sorrowing relatives God has sent the promised Comforter, and they have been enabled to say, "We would not call her back," although our hearts have been torn by this sad affliction. Father and mother, "thy daughter is not dead, but sleepeth," and on the resurrection morn will be watching and waiting for you at the beautiful gate.

Her pastor, R. O. BROWN.

SLOCUM—Mrs. ELIZABETH I. SLOCUM was born July 4, 1831; died Aug. 15, 1891. Her maiden name was Elizabeth McDaniel, daughter of Sarah and Andrew McDaniel; born and raised in Hinds county, Miss.; married to Charles E. Slocum, of Copiah county, in 1853; moved to North Louisiana in 1857; joined the M. E. Church, South; professed religion in early life, and lived a devoted Christian.

She leaves a husband and six boys and many friends to mourn her loss. But our loss is her eternal gain. She asked all her children to live so as to meet her in heaven. She was the mother of eight children—one daughter and son gone to the good world. C. E. S.

Texas Advocate copy.

PETERSON—In West Feliciana parish, near Jackson, La., ELLENOR ROSALINE, daughter of W. W. and S. F. Peterson, born June 20, 1858; died Sept. 28, 1891.

BROWN—At a meeting of the Home Mission Circle of King's Daughters, held at Centreville, La., Sept. 4, 1891, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Whereas, It hath pleased God, in his inscrutable providence, to transfer from our little band to the innumerable throng of ransomed souls above our beloved sister, Mrs. MATTIE BROWN; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in this, our sad bereavement, we recognize the hand of our heavenly Father, and, in meek submission to his sovereign will, we would reverently bow, saying, "Not our, but thy will be done."

Resolved, That while we mourn the loss of such an earnest and faithful worker "in his name," we are well assured that it is her gain, and that she is now at rest in the glorious presence of her King, whom she so sincerely loved and served.

Resolved, That in this dispensation of divine Providence we heed the call to the living. "Be ye also ready for the summons of the great King to come up higher, and behold him in all his heavenly beauty."

Resolved, That in her life of purity and devotion to his cause we have an example worthy of being followed by her surviving co-workers, "in his name."

Resolved, That, in deep love and heartfelt sympathy, we affectionately commend the sorely stricken family to the love of God, to the fellowship of Jesus and to the comfort of the Holy Spirit.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our records and a copy be sent to the afflicted family, to the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and to the Southwestern Presbyterian.

ELLA A. KENNEDY, for Com.

CARR—Resolutions on the death of Mrs. KATE CARR adopted by the Woman's Missionary Society, Bethesda Church Auxiliary, Gallman circuit, Miss.:

Whereas, God has seen proper to call to a higher and better life, thus removing from us our beacon light, trusted counsellor and beloved president, Sister Kate Carr, whose prompt and regular attendance, upright walk, Christian example, Godly admonition, unyielding devotion and fidelity have been a benediction and an inspiration to us in our efforts to do our part of the great and blessed work of sending the gospel to those who know not God; And whereas, We keenly feel and mourn her sudden departure to be with Christ before the great white throne, we pray that God will allow her mantle and a double portion of her spirit to abide with us; therefore, be it

Resolved, That, by the grace and help of God, we will emulate her Christian character and many Christian virtues.

Resolved, That while we humbly appreciate our loss, we feel that her immortal and sanctified spirit still hovers over, around and about us, and that we have another representative at the right hand of the Father.

Resolved, That we extend to her bereaved family and friends, the church and community, our heartfelt sympathy, and pray that God may sanctify this affliction to their good.

Resolved, That these resolutions be made a part of our Minutes for to-day, a copy sent to the Woman's Missionary Advocate, the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and to the bereaved family.

MISS MATTIE BARRINGTON, for Com.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props.,
Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

There is nothing which succeeds like success; and the success of any publication which admits advertising is also the success of the advertisers.

Girls.

BY HELEN EKIN STARRETT, IN The Forum.

"Thousands who are now in shops and other organized industries would really prefer work in homes, if only the heavy, grimy, malodorous, clothes-destroying work of cooking and laundering were not required and expected of them."

Well—if this is true there's a good time coming for girls and the mistress too; for women (by millions) are coming to know, that Pearline saves the clothes on your back as well as the clothes in the wash; the paint on your walls—the sheen of silver—the lustre of glass and reduces the labor—drudgery—health breaking—temper and comfort wearing work of washing and cleaning to almost nothing.

Besides—the girl—the mistress—or both—are better satisfied with the results. It cleanses—restores original colors—but hurts nothing, not even delicate skin—luxurious for bathing—be among the bright ones and use Pearline.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 102 JAMES PYLE, New York.

HO, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price. Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labor for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness.—Isaiah lv. 1, 2.

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND AND DOOR FACTORY,

199, 201, 203, 205, 207 Gravier Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

ROBERTS & CO., Proprietors.

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Flooring and Ceiling, Newels, Balusters, etc., always on hand or made to order.

Orders promptly attended to.

Plantation Cabins a Specialty.

BRANCH OFFICE: NO. 52 CARONDELET ST.

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and

Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash, mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1360½ Tchonpitoulas street.

California for 25c.

Including a Fine State Map.

All about the Climate and Resources. Lands, Lumber, Grain, Fruits and Vines: Their Culture and Value.

Amount of time and money required to make a Farm, Orchard or Vineyard. And much more.

ALL, POSTPAID, FOR 25 CENTS.

H. R. Singleton,
Alameda, Alameda Co., Cal.

For Sale.

FARMER'S CANNING OUTFIT!

Will Pay for Itself in One Season.

Includes Syrup Evaporator—50 gallons per day. Two boilers with siphon connection, cranes for handling cans, fire pots, soldering coppers, etc., for 2,000 to 3,000 cans per day. One portable Iron Furnace for Canning, making Pickles, Jellies, etc. Evaporating Syrup. All latest improvements, with full directions.

Price, $150,000 to $200,000.

State and County Rights for Sale.

Address the Patentee and Manufacturer,

D. J. McMILLAN,
South Washington, N. C.

Ladies in the Country

CAN HAVE THEIR

SHOPPING

Carefully attended to in New Orleans by sending their orders to

Mrs. HATTIE P. SMITH,
No. 212 CAMP ST., - - NEW ORLEANS.

She refers by permission to S. B. McCatcheon Shreveport; Rev. W. T. Dickinson Dalzel, Shreveport; Rev. C. F. Evans, presiding elder New Orleans district; also Rev. Joel T. Daves, late of Lake Charles, La.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RICE, W. R. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARRIS, THOS. SEFTON

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge, Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,

Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pullevs, Shafting,

Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,

Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED New Orleans, La.

HARDWOOD AND MARBLEIZED SLATE

MANTELS.

GRATES AND FIRE-PLACE TRIMMING. Tiles for Hearths, Mantels, Floors and Vestibules. Stained and Decorative Glass.

GEO. M. LEAHY, - 112 Camp Street

CATARRH CURE!

GIVEN AWAY. Send name and get a FREE PACKAGE DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON, GA

GRANT'S FURNITURE STORE

NEW STORE, AT

28 and 30 Camp Street, NEW ORLEANS

BEAUTIFUL PARLOR GOODS.

I have one entire floor devoted to the display of these goods alone, and have over sixty different varieties to select from. Complete Suits anywhere from $35 to $650, and odd pieces—such as Sofas, Divans, Easy Chairs, Patent Rockers, Window and Reception Chairs—at as low prices in proportion as the Complete Suits. I have these goods in Cherry, Mahogany and Walnut, and can give you your choice of any of the following coverings: Crushed, Embossed, Plain and Silk Plushes, Hair Cloth, Mohair, Raw and Spun Silks, Satins, English Tapestries, French Valours, Petit Point, Brocatelle or Damasks. I make a specialty of these goods, have many of the patterns made specially for my own trade, and can offer a greater variety at lower prices than any other house in the South.

NEW STOCK

In all departments, and every grade of goods, from the cheapest to the most expensive, in endless variety. I have all the latest and most fashionable designs, and, as I have only purchased from factories whose goods I have been selling for the past six years, can and do guarantee every piece of Furniture that leaves my establishment.

LOW PRICES

are the order of the day, and I propose to sell strictly reliable goods at a lower price than has ever before been quoted in the South. My store has long been known as "The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans," and this season I intend to add to the reputation it has gained in this respect. I only ask a chance to save you money.

HANDSOME BEDROOM SUITS.

A very extensive assortment of these goods in every style; and whether you wish to pay $40 for a Complete Suit of twelve pieces, or from that price anywhere up to $1,000, I can sell you what you require. I have these goods in Black Walnut, Natural and Dark Cherry, and Natural and Dark Mahogany, or in imitation of any of these woods, and can furnish the very latest, neatest and most artistic designs.

I have also a large and carefully selected stock of Hall, Library, Dining-room and Kitchen Furniture; Reed, Rattan and Wicker Chairs, Rockers, Lounges and Cribs; Brackets, What-nots, Easels, Music Stands and Fancy Top Tables; Carpets, Carpet Strips, Matting, Shades, Curtains, Curtain Poles, and everything necessary to furnish a house completely throughout.

LARGE SALES.

I have a large city trade and am shipping goods extensively to every Southern State. My country trade has increased very rapidly during the past year, and the facilities which my new store affords me for carrying a larger and better stock will enable me to still further extend it, and to give complete satisfaction to my customers.

J. G. GRANT,

28 and 30 Camp Street, - - NEW ORLEANS.

Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. A. W. Jones, M. G. Fedder, C. T. Munholland, J. Johnson, W. T. Burnell, F. A. Lane, N. J. Roberts, J. G. Sibley, R. Bradley, G. W. Buchman, W. S. Shipman, T. L. Lallance, J. Ivy Hoffpauir, R. H. Barr, J. W. Raper, A. B. Jones, J. C. McWhorter, P. Howard, Z. T. McCain, B. Carradine, R. S. Collier, H. R. Caldwell, F. M. Keen, J. R. Whittington, C. W. Carter, D. D. C. A. Powell, H. M. Young.

Messrs. J. E. Hay, T. J. Allen, S. H. Kelly, W. B. Thomson, J. W. Long, A. Tulloh, Dr. E. D. Beach, R. J. Mallett (2), J. R. Cain, Prof. M. Smith, James Hill, H. C. Griffin, M. E. Fritz, A. J. Sturges, S. A. Dearman, J. B. Harlow, M. G. Davis, J. O. Moldey, W. Y. Casper.

Mesdames A. Nolle, Mary T. Shepherd, Clara M. Henry, J. E. Prophet, J. B. Merritt, V. W. Pickens, M. A. Ross, L. A. Stopp, Lizzie Gilmore.

Misses Annie Maria Barnes, Katie Fendlson.

Oct. 13.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The Christian Sabbath in America is threatened from several directions, and by no one more than by the railroads. These heartless corporations, under the plea of emergency, set aside both civil and divine laws relating to the Sabbath. The people, who love the Sabbath and regard it as a cornerstone of our government and a chief factor of our civilization, have no one to go to for redress of this grievous wrong except the Legislatures and the courts. If these fail them, they are helpless. The Legislature ought to enact stringent laws on this subject, and the courts ought not to let any mere technicality prevent their rigid enforcement.—Holston Methodist.

Why suffer from sore muscles? Johnson's Anodyne Liniment makes them very pliable.

The people of America must fight the lottery devil through every available agency. The press and pulpit must bring their batteries to bear on it; the Legislature of Louisiana must do what it can within the folds of this boa constrictor; Congress must do what it can; and the State and general government. Executives must do all that is in their power to crush out this infamy.—Western North Carolina Methodist.

Eighty years Johnson's Anodyne Liniment has led. No better indorsement wanted by us.

It is reported in New York that the yellow fever is raging at Gonalves and other seaport towns of Hayti, and that many vessels have been disabled by their crews taking the fever.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

From Seven Thousand Dollars to Twenty-One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Three Dollars.

Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three dollars has just been paid by The Mutual Life Insurance Company on an original $7,000 insurance policy.

A result never equaled or even approached by any other company in the world. The fortunate assured was Mr. Charles Deilinger, of Mobile, Ala., who was forty-one years old when he became a member of the company.

RECAPITULATION.

1—Cash value of the dividends 100 per cent. of premiums.

2—Additions to policy 143 per cent. of premiums.

3—Insurance paid 312 per cent. of original amount.

4—Investment, 3 per cent. compound interest.

5—Insured 44 years, from age 41 to age 85.

6—No taxes, care or expense connected with the insurance.

Remember this company is purely mutual; all profits belong to the members. It is also the largest and most profitable company in the world. Mr. T. H. Bowles is the general agent, 120 Common street, New Orleans, La.

Do not forget that you can get all school books at Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh's, No. 106 Camp street, New Orleans.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5 13-16	— —
Ordinary	6¼	— —
Good ordinary	6 13-16	— —
Low middling	7 13-16	— —
Middling	8 5-16	— —
Good middling	8½	— —
Middling fair	9	— —
Fair	10½	— —
Galveston middling	— —	— —
Mobile middling	— —	— —
Memphis middling	— —	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	— —	— —
Prime yellow	— —	— —
Gray white	— —	— —
Choice white	— —	— —
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES.
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	84	85
RICE.
No. 2	2 5-16	— —
Good	4½	4½
Fair	4	4¼
Prime	4⅝	4⅞
Rough, ℔ bbl.	2 25	4 80
Polish, ℔ ton	22 00	24 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	4 90	5 00
Fancy	4 45	4 70
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	5 00	5 50
Winter wheat patents	5 12½	5 20
Minnesota bakers	5 00	5 50
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	3 60	3 10
Cream meal	3 50	— —
Grits	— —	3 80
Hominy	4 00	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ℔ bushel	66	69
Yellow	— —	69
Mixed No. 2	67	— —
OATS:
Western	87	87½
Texas rust-proof	53	— —
BRAN:
℔ cwt	80	82½
HAY:
Prime	12 50	14 00
Choice	14 50	15 00
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	11 75	12 00
Prime Mess	10 75	11 00
Rumps	— —	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	— —	11½
Shoulders	6⅝	6¾
Sides, short rib	8⅝	8¾
Sides, long clear	8⅝	8¾
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10½	11
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	6½	6⅝
Sides, short rib	8⅛	8¼
Sides, long clear	8⅛	8¼
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	18¾	— —
Fair	17¾	— —
Common	15	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Ile-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	29	30
Western Dairy	18	19
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	6½	— —
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7¾	— —
Coal, cases	13½	14
Cotton seed, crude	26	27
Lard, Extra No. 1	50	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ℔ head	— —	— —
Chicago, ℔ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ℔ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 75	2 00
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 50	3 75
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb. ℔ yard	7¼	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb. ℔ yard	— —	6¼
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
℔ lb	7½	12½
TIES:
℔ bundle	— —	1 85
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	6 00	6 50
Young Chickens	3 00	4 00
Chickens, Southern	3 00	4 00
Young	2 25	3 00
Turkeys, Southern	10 00	18 00
EGGS:
Western	20	21
Southern	20	21
WOOL:
Lake, ℔ lb	21	21½
Louisiana	17	19
Burry	10	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ℔ lb	3½	— —
Dry salted	5	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ℔ ton	9 00	— —
Meal	22 50	24 50
Pure ground bone	30 00	32 00
Muriatic acid, ℔ lb	— —	2¼
Sulphuric acid	— —	2½

—New Delta, Oct. 18.

Fashion's Edict.

"The time was," remarked the old physician, "when frail health was fashionable with ladies."

All that is changed now—Creole Female Tonic has been the means of restoring robust health to thousands of ladies that formerly were victims of that popular fad.

The Mexican government has just granted a concession for a standard guage railway about 350 miles long from the city of Mexico to a town on the Pacific coast know as Palizada Bay, and the letting of the contract will take place during the present month. The road will traverse what has been considered the richest mineral section of old Mexico, which not only produces silver, gold and lead ores, but also has splendid timber resources.

Summer.

Summer, with its worries and sickness, is with us. Four-fifths of the sickness that wears out temper and health can be disposed of by using Creole Female Tonic.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The Louisiana State Fair, in Baton Rouge, which opened last week, has drawn large crowds.

Fifteen hundred bales of cotton in storage were destroyed by fire in Hawkinsville, Ga., on Oct. 9. Loss over $40,000.

Gov. Campbell and Maj. McKinley, candidates for the governorship of Ohio, participated in a joint debate at Ada, on Oct. 8.

On the Houston and Texas Central railroad, near Spring Creek, seven cars with 280 bales of cotton were burned on Oct. 10. A bridge was also destroyed.

There are now seven troops composed entirely of Indians in the United States Army, and others are in the course of formation. These enlisted Indians can all read and speak English. They obey orders promptly and are intelligent and quick.

At a conference of the representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors and Order of Railway Conductors, they decided to consolidate their organization under the name of the latter, and it was agreed to work for the general federation of all train service organizations.

With a view to preventing the introduction of cholera in the United States, the Secretary of the Treasury has issued a circular to collectors of customs, stating that no rags shall be admitted from Marseilles, France, unless accompanied by a certificate from the United States consul at that port.

It is said that the Farmers' Alliance of Minnesota will build a 1,000 000 bushels wheat elevator in West Superior, Wis., commencing this fall and having it ready for next season's crop. The elevator will be built by a stock company composed wholly of grain growers. The capital stock, $1,000,000, is to be divided into shares of $10 each.

The State of Texas brought suit in the District Court in Waco against Theodore Maillson, to escheat his land under the alien land law, Maillson being a subject of Great Britain. Judge Goodrich held that the law was void, inoperative and of no effect. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court. There seems to be no doubt that Judge Goodrich will be sustained.

The establishment of a laboratory in the Frankfort, Pa., arsenal for the purpose of conducting experiments with smokeless powder and high explosives is well under way. Up to this time the Ordnance Bureau has been compelled to depend on foreign inventors for the smokeless powder used; but the bureau hopes to obtain an American powder equal to the best foreign make.

The Census Office has made public a bulletin in relation to iron ore. It shows that the quantity of iron ore produced in the United States during the year 1889 to have been 14,518,041 long tons, valued at $333,561,978, an average of $2.30 per ton. The four leading States were Michigan, Alabama, Pennsylvania and New York, aggregating 10,234,259 tons, or 70.49 per cent. of the total product. Capital invested, $109,766,199.

FOREIGN.

Charles Stewart Parnell, the noted Irish leader, died suddenly, Oct. 6, at his home in Brighton.

Hon. Wm. Henry Smith, first lord of the treasury and leader of the conservatives in the English House of Commons, died last week.

No fewer than 32,000,000 of peasants in Russia are now destitute and must be provided for the next ten months. It will require 320,000,000 poods of grain to feed them.

Over forty thousand mourners followed Parnell's remains to Glasnevin, Oct. 11. The heavy rain and the vastness of the throng prolonged the funeral until night-time.

The sum of 20,000,000 roubles has already been expended by the Russian government in buying seed corn for the peasants of the famine-stricken districts, and it is said that 100,000,000 roubles will be required to furnish the starving peasantry with bread.

A papal order just issued announces that it is the desire of the Pope that no further pilgrimages to Rome be undertaken for the present. The Catholic associations who have been engaged in the work are invited to remit to the Pope the funds they have collected for the assistance of bringing pilgrims to the holy see.

Large posters referring to the death of Parnell have been placarded throughout Cork. These posters have deep mourning borders, and bear in their centers the words: "Murdered to please Englishmen," together with verses denouncing the McCarthyites and United Ireland, declaring that Parnell was murdered, and imploring the people to remain tranquil. The posters are stirring up much excitement.

It is said that at no time since the break-up of the liberal party on Mr. Gladstone's introduction of the home rule bill have political circles been in such a state of ferment as now. The question of the succession to the House of Commons leadership, made vacant by the death of William Henry Smith, causes much speculation, while Mr. Parnell's disappearance from the field of politics adds to the perplexity and heightens the interest of the situation.

Poisoned by Scrofula

Is the sad story of many lives made miserable through no fault of their own. Scrofula is more especially than any other a hereditary disease, and for this simple reason: Arising from impure and insufficient blood, the disease locates itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissues; there is a period of fœtal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is especially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But there is a remedy for scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by its powerful effect on the blood, expels all trace of the disease and gives to the vital fluid the quality and color of health. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not accept any substitute.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Yaldon circuit	Oct. 17, 18
Carrollton circuit	20
Winona circuit	22
Poplar Creek circuit	24, 25
Shiloh	31, Nov. 1
Newport	3
Ethel	4
Rural Hill	5
Weir	7, 8
Belzoni	14, 15
Ebenezer	20
Lexington	21, 22
West	24
Richland	28
Black Hawk	28, 29

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GRENADA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Tillatoba	Oct. 24, 25
Charleston	(Tu.).. 27
Coffeeville	(Wed.).. 28
Abbeville	31
Oxford circuit (by Rev. S. D. Long.)	31, Nov. 1
Oxford	1
Toccopola	(Tu.).. 3
Carrollton	7, 8
Chapel Hill	(Tu.).. 10
Grenada circuit	14, 15
Grenada	15, 16
Atlanta	21, 22
Pittsboro	(Mon.).. 23
Cherry Hill	(Tue.).. 24
Banner	(Thu.).. 26
Water Valley circuit	(Sat.).. 28
Water Valley	29

J. W. PRICE, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Plattsburg circuit, at Plattsburg	Oct. 16
Louisville circuit, at Rocky Hill	17, 18
Starkville circuit, at Steel's Chapel	24, 25
Chester circuit, at Chester	30
Starkville station	31, Nov. 1
Walthall circuit, at Emporia	7, 8
Tampico circuit, at Pleasant Grove	12
Maben circuit, at Maben	14, 15
Sturges circuit, at Sturges	21, 22
Brooksville circuit, at Brooksville	28, 29

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Inka station	Oct. 17, 18
Pleasant Ridge circuit	22
Marietta circuit	24, 25
Blackland circuit	31, Nov. 1
Booneville and Rienzi	7, 8
Blue Springs circuit	13
Guntown circuit	14, 15
Jonesboro circuit	17
Ripley circuit	19
Ripley and New Albany	21, 22
New Albany circuit	28, 29

W. S. LAGRONE, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Shelby Creek	Oct. 17, 18
Holly Springs circuit	24, 25
Shawnee	31, Nov. 1
Pine Mountain	7, 8
Red Banks	14, 15
Mt. Pleasant	21, 22
Olive Branch	28, 29

JNO. W. BOSWELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Coldwater and H	Oct. 17, 18
Horn Lake	(Th.).. 22
Lewisburg	24, 25
Cockrum	31, Nov. 1
Mt Vernon	7, 8
Chulahoma	14, 15
Coldwater m'ssion	(Th.).. 19
Pleasant Grove	21, 22
Panola circuit	(Th.).. 26
Courtland	28, 29

J. J. WHEAT, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pontotoc	Oct. 17, 18
Aberdeen station	24, 25
Okolona circuit	28
Tremont	31, Nov. 1
Nettleton	4
Buena Vista	7, 8
Athens	14, 15
Smithville and Fulton	18
Ebenezer	21, 22
Houston and Wesley	27
Sparta	28, 29

J. B. STONE, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Vancleave, at New Prospect C. O.	Oct. 25, 26
Americus, at Pleasant Hill	31, Nov. 1
Williamsburg, at Bethel	31, Nov. 1
Moss Point	1, 2
Bay St. Louis, at Bilioxi	(Wed.).. 4
Whitlington, at White Plains	7, 8
Pearlington	(Wed.).. 11
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	14, 15
Purvis, at Purvis	(Thu.).. 19
Columbia, at Columbia	21, 22
Perry, at Isabella	(Wed.).. 25
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Zion	28, 29
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	(Tu.)..Dec. 1
Heidelberg, at Philadelphia	(Thu.).. 3
Eastabutchie, at Eastabutchie	5, 6

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Walnut Grove at Pleasant Hill	Oct. 24, 25
Hillsboro, at Hillsboro	25, 26
Carthage, at Liberty	27
Lake, at Centerville	29
Decatur, at Good Hope	30
Rose Hill, at Missionary	31, Nov. 1
Newton and Hickory, at Newton	2
Westville, at Pleasant Grove	7, 8
Shiloh, at Shiloh	14, 15
Raleigh, at Raleigh	21, 22
Mt. Rose, at Cedar Grove	22, 23
Trenton, at Polkville	28, 29
Homewood, at Wesley Chapel	30
Marvin	Dec. 5, 6

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Manasseh circuit, at Manasseh	Oct. 17, 18
Daleville station	(Thu.).. 22
Linwood circuit, at Pleasant Grove	24, 25
DeKalb circuit, at DeKalb	(Mon.).. 26
Porterville ct., at Porterville	(Wed.) 28
Binnsville and W	31, Nov. 1
Shubuta circuit at Shubuta	7, 8
Meridian, at East End	14, 15
Meridian, at West End	15, 16
Lauderdale circuit, at Lauderdale	21, 22
Meridian ct., at Chunkey	(Thu.).. 26
Winchester circuit	28, 29
Marion circuit, at Curtis Chapel	Dec. 5, 6
Meridian, at Central	(Mon. night.) 7

The preachers in charge will please see that the trustees have ready written reports to answer to Ques. 28. All local preachers must be prepared with written reports to answer Ques. 16. All exhorters are expected to present written reports. Reports from the missionary societies will be gladly received. Let the stewards be prepared to report collections in full. Let us pray and look for the presence and power of the Holy Spirit.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Percoy's Creek station	Oct. 17, 18
Woodville	19
East Feliciana, at Gilead	21
Amite and Mission, at Salem	23
Gloster and Centerville, at Centerville	24, 25
Wilson, at Gayden	31, Nov. 1
Port Vincent, at French Settlement	7
Covington	10
Tallisheek	12
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel	14, 15
Zachary station	21, 22
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford	23
Live Oak, at Pine Grove	28, 29
Jackson station	Dec. 2
St. Helena, at Greensburg	(morning). 5
Amite City, at Amite City	(night). 5, 6
Franklinton, at Fisher's	7

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

New Salem	(Sat. and Sun.)..Oct. 17, 18
Cleveland	19
Dublin	25
Clarksdale	28
Belen	Nov. 1
Jonestown	2
Lula	8
Bond's	15
Friar's Point	16
Bolivar	22
Stoneville	29

Preachers will please forward amount assessed for delegates to Ecumenical Conference to me at Greenville.

R. M. STANDEFER, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Burtonton, at Serepta	Oct. 17, 18
Utica, at Learned	24, 25
Vicksburg	31, Nov. 1
South Vicksburg	31, " 1
Mayersville, at Mayersville	7, 8
South Warren, at Wesley Cha.	(Tu.).. 10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel	14, 15
Meadville	21, 22
Roxie	(Mon.).. 28
Anguilla, at Anguilla	28, 29
Rolling Fork	29, 30
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	Dec. 5, 8

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

McComb circuit, at Holmesville	Oct. 17, 18
Caseyville, at Bethel	24, 25
China Grove, at Tylertown	31, Nov. 1
Magnolia, at Magnolia	1, 2
Beauregard, at Mathis Chapel	7, 8
Hazlehurst	(at night).. 12
Crystal Springs circuit	18
Bowerton, at Rehoboth	14, 15
Brookhaven station	(at night).. 18
Adams circuit, at Adams	21, 22
Summit, at Summit	22, 23
Gallman circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	26
Providence	28, 29
Pleasant Grove ct., at Pleasant Grove	Dec. 3
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel	5, 6

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Madison, at Livingston	Oct. 17, 18
Sharon, at Sharon	24, 25
Yazoo city	31, Nov. 1
Flora and B., at Flora	7, 8
Mt. Olive, at Anding	(Wed.).. 11
Silver Creek	14, 15
Lake City and Lodi	21, 22
Edwards	(Wed.).. 25
Spring Ridge, at Oak Hill	(Fri.).. 27
Jackson, at First Church	28, 29
Jackson, at Capitol Street	28, 29
Benton	(Tue.)..Dec. 1
Yazoo circuit	(Wed.).. 2
Canton	5, 8

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sugar Town, at Spring Hill	Oct. 17, 18
Evergreen and LeCompte, at E	24, 25
Simsport, at Simsport	31, Nov. 1
Melville and R. C., at Melville	7, 8
Pineville, at Slash Bayou	(Wed.).. 11
Somerville, at Jena	14, 15
Vidalia and Black River	21, 22
Columbia, at Columbia	28, 29
Castor, at Ebenezer	(Th.)..Dec. 1
Colfax and Boyce, at Boyce	5, 6
Bayou Bœuff, at Fairview	(Wed.).. 9
Alexandria	12, 13
Aoa	13, 14

J. IVY HOFFPAUIR, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lower Coast Mission	Oct. 18
Craps Street	25
Grosse Tete and False River	Nov. 1
Dryades Street	8
Baton Rouge	15
Moreau Street	22
Felicity Street	29
Carrollton	Dec. 6
Carondelet Street	13

CHAS. F. EVANS, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lake Arthur	Oct. 17, 18
Grand Chenier, at Grand Chenier	24, 25
Lake Charles	31, Nov. 1
Sabine Mission, at Haygood	7, 8
Sulphur Mine, at Vinton	14, 15
Indian Bayou	21, 22
Patterson and Morgan City, at M. City	28, 29
Franklin	Dec. 5, 6

JOHN A. MILLER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Summerfield, at Alabama	Oct. 17, 18
Sparta, at Providence	24, 25
Ringgold, at Rocky Mound	31, Nov. 1
Downeville, at Wilhites	7, 8
Farmerville, at Farmerville	14, 15
Tulip and Simsboro, at Tulip	21, 22
Gibsland, at Gibsland	28, 29
Indian Village, at Indian Village	Dec. 5, 6
Ruston, at Ruston	8
Arcadia, at Mount Moriah	12, 13

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

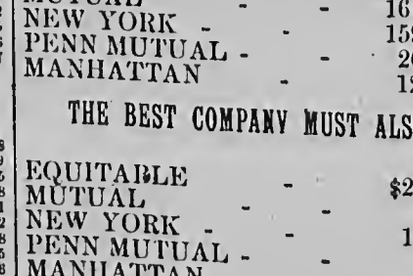
West Monroe, at West Monroe	Oct. 17, 18
Floyd, at Floyd	24, 25
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg	31, Nov. 1
Waterproof, at Waterproof	7, 8
Providence, at Providence	14, 15
Lind Grove	21, 22
Winsboro	28, 29
Delhi, at Talulla	Dec. 5, 6

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND

Coushatta, at Coushatta	Oct. 17, 18
Wesley circuit, at Wesley (3:30 P. M.)	18, 19
Shreveport station	24, 25
Annacoco, at Beach Grove	28, 29
Many, at New Hope	31, Nov. 1
Sabine, at Bayou Scie	2
Kissatchie, at New Church	7, 8
North Boesier, at Coltinsburg	11
Valley, at Cotton Valley	14, 15
Bellwood, at Oak Grove	21, 22
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches	22, 23
Grand Lane, at Bethel	28, 29
Caddo circuit, at Keachie	29, 30
Mansfield station	Dec. 5, 6
Shreveport mission	12, 13

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.



HUMORS OF THE BLOOD, SKIN, AND SCALP whether itching, burning, bleeding, scaly crusted, pimply, blotchy, or copper-colored, with loss of hair, either simple, scrofulous, hereditary, or contagious, are speedily, permanently, economically, and infallibly cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great Skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Purifier and Beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the only infallible blood and skin purifiers, and daily effect more great cures of blood and skin diseases than all other remedies combined. Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Blood and Skin Diseases."

Pimples, blackheads, chapped and oily skin prevented by CUTICURA SOAP.

Backache, kidney pains, weakness, and rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

We are a patient people—the ox is nowhere in comparison.

We buy lamp-chimneys by the dozen; they go on snapping and popping and flying in pieces; and we go on buying the very same chimneys year after year.

Our dealer is willing to sell us a chimney a week for every lamp we burn—a hundred or more a year—and we plow for him, pay him for goading us.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" do not break from heat; they are made of tough glass.

As likely as not our dealer would rather his chimneys would break; "it's good for the business," says he. He buys the brittlest ones he can get.

"What are you going to do about it?"

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

FOR SALE!

40 Acres of Land

IN FRONT OF

Millsaps College.

This is a rare chance for persons wanting to live near the college, or for speculation. Lots 80x160 are selling for $450; not nearer than half-mile off. I offer this property in one-acre lots on the association plan, which will give a buyer of one share costing $250 an acre at wholesale rates. As soon as the forty shares are sold, the property will be auctioned off for choice of lots, no one but shareholders being permitted to bid. Whenever a lot is sold for more than the share price, the excess shall be placed to the credit of the shareholders pro rata, thereby reducing the cost of lots as they are bid in. Persons buying a share will place the $250 in bank in this city; and when the auction sale takes place each shareholder, on the day of said sale, will receive his or her deed to the lot bought. Each buyer of a share will receive notice one week before the sale, so that they may be represented in person or by proxy. This property will go readily on this plan; so, if you want to get in the procession, send along your checks. The property is pretty, every acre of it. Not an acre that is not worth five hundred dollars. Address,

R. J. MALLETT,

Real Estate Agent,

316 EAST CAPITAL ST., - JACKSON, MISS.

REFERENCES.—Rev. W. C. Black, R. W. Millsaps, W. L. Nugent.

$65 A Month and board, or highest commission and 30 days credit to Agents, Teachers, Students, Young Men or Ladies to canvass for New Book. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia, Pa., or St. Louis, Mo.

Woodenware and Willow-ware.

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware, Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cages, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS—E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

THE BEST COMPANY

Is the company which does the most good; and the company which does the most good is that which issues and maintains the largest amount of assurance.

	Am't of Assurance issued during 1890.	Assurance in force Dec. 1 31, 1890.
EQUITABLE	$203,826,107	$720,662,473
MUTUAL	161,365,921	638,041,180
NEW YORK	158,576,065	569,338,726
PENN MUTUAL	20,663,272	90 278,701
MANHATTAN	12,962,401	54,500,754

THE BEST COMPANY MUST ALSO BE THE SAFEST COMPANY.

	Surplus.	Ratio of Assets to Liabilities.
EQUITABLE	$23,740,447	125
MUTUAL	9,981,233	107
NEW YORK	14 898,451	114½
PENN MUTUAL	1,634,452	110
MANHATTAN	1,036,632	109

The above companies are from nine to eighteen years older than the Equitable.

Write to the undersigned before insuring your life.

R. P. LAKE, General Agent, Jackson, Miss.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 43. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1835.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
J. G. GRANT, Publisher.
Rev. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY. Remittances should be made only by money orders, express company orders, registered letters, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or merchants. Drafts on country banks occasion loss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AIRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

Second Ecumenical Methodist Conference.

BY REV. J. W. CORNELIUS.

THIRD DAY, FRIDAY, OCT. 9.

The third day's sessions are likely to be reckoned as among the most important of this Ecumenical Conference. The morning topic was "Christian Unity;" that of the afternoon, "Christian Co-operation"—themes so intimately related as to blend in grand harmony. The essays of the first topic were by Rev. T. B. Selby, of England; Rev. A. S. Hunt, of the M. E. Church; and Rev. Thomas Mitchell, of the Primitives. The essays on the "Christian Co-operation" were by Dr. A. C. Smith, of the M. E Church, South; Dr. Redfurn, Free Methodist; Rev. T. Ogburn, Methodist Protestant; and Rev. James LeHuray, Methodist New Connection. The trend of thought was that Christian unity originates in the spiritual unity of souls in Christ. External union is its manifestation or embodiment. It is voluntary. An ecclesiastical terrorism like that of Rome may coorce everything it controls into one vast organism; but it is an old oak whose dead branches are held together by chains, hooks and grappling-irons. Christian unity is the spontaneous movement of kindred souls like the migration of birds by mysterious intuition. It is the harmony of sound in a great anthem. The reunion of divers branches of Methodism would heal all our old contentions, and concentrate our powers for good and against evil. Glorious are the consequences of the recent coalescence of Canada Methodism; and why is not the organic union of Methodism in Great Britain also desirable? We preach the same doctrine, have mainly the same laws governing us, have the same class meetings and missionary spirit. Why should we magnify into microscopic proportions small non-essentials, especially in missionary work? Why not have a common name, a common hymnal, a common discipline, a common literature, a common agent to manage our periodical interests in pagan lands?

In the five-minute speeches some of the strongest men of the Conference took part. One said playfully that the difference between the Wesleyans and the Primitives was, that one rode to the circuit and the other walked. Hugh Price Hughes said that organic union would be practicable in Great Britain as soon as we got more religion; and that he had heard a distinguished American Bishop say that it would be practicable in the United States after there were a few prominent funerals. William Arthur thought that union must be a growth. No people can be so easily led as Methodists; but they are the hardest people in the world to be driven. Saint Cyprian added the words, "One Bishop," to Paul's creed, "One Lord, one faith, one baptism." Then there was a schism; and have not all breaches sprung out of Saint Somebody adding something? Dr. Stephenson was willing to confer with the presidents of other English Methodist Churches, although there were great practical difficulties, such as finance, property and polity. Bishop Foster said that the separation amongst American Methodists, North and South, was the great scandal of the Christian world. Dr. Leonard said prejudices of caste must be overcome before there can be organic union in American churches.

FOURTH DAY, SATURDAY, OCT. 10.

The only session held on Saturday was in the morning, commencing at 10.30 o'clock. Rev. William Arthur, M. A., presided. The topic was, "The Church and Scientific Thought." Percy Bunting, E q., editor of the Contemporary Review, had been appointed to present the first essay. Being unable to attend the Conference, his paper was read by J. B. Slack, E.q., of London. Mr. Bunting states that he has had no special training, either in science or theology, but comes to his task in obedience to the orders of the committee of this Conference. In discussing scientific thought in its relation to Christianity, one thing comes up conspicuously—the great theory of evolution. Suppose, now, that evolution is true; where are the foundations of the Christian faith? Are they shaken? That great truth, fundamental to all truths—God the first cause—is that shaken? Is the voice of modern science in favor of the goodness of God? Is not that rather an intuition of the heart than something intellectually acquired? The moral character of God, and the moral and immortal man, must be learned through the moral nature. The phenomena of consciousness is not to be accounted for on a material basis. Free will is not explicable by physical law. A free supreme will must be in communication with free subordinate will. The spiritual history of man must be by revelation. If evolution is to be accepted, what becomes of the theology of Paul? What of atonement? Sin and redemption can not be reconciled to the idea of long-continued growth. Reconciliation to God and the fall of man are not so obtained. The transcendent greatness of the Redeemer must be a matter of revelation. Supposing many of the conclusions of evolution to be true, these fundamental doctrines of religion are not disturbed.

Rev. Dr. Terry believed that unbelief is from the heart, rather than from the reason. It springs from a defective training in our moral life. It has assailed the church of God from the beginning. By this time we ought to have become acquainted with Satan's devices. The church of God, now as ever, is the pillar and the ground of the truth. For the church to undertake a settlement of controverted questions in science is to transcend her prerogatives.

Prof. W. T. Davidson, one of the leaders in biblical scholarship in England, was the next speaker. Biblical criticism, he said, is now a science. Matters connected with textual and higher criticism, such as variations of readings, date and authorship, are comparatively of slight importance. The results of sober criticism are not to be feared; the Word of God still remains.

Dr. Dowart, of Canada; Mr. Ballard, of Liverpool; Dr. Buckley, Dr. Crahtree, William Arthur, Bishop Keener and others spoke upon the same subject.

FIFTH DAY, MONDAY, OCT. 12.

The topic for discussion at the morning session was, "The Church and Her Agencies." Bishop Foster made the first address on the qualifications of the preacher. Preachers are the instruments of God in the regeneration of men. This is their exclusive function, and their qualifications must have reference to this end. The preacher must be a right manly man. He must have wide intelligence and high qualities of mind. He must experience the things he teaches. He must consider the environment of the hearers. He must translate the truth into their language and their condition. God claims the right to call those whom he desires to do this work.

Rev. John Bond, of London, said he would not discuss qualifications of pastors, but of preachers, for there are thousands of preachers in England who are not pastors. The local preacher is a great force in the Methodism of the old country. A preacher is an ambassador for Christ. It is his business, not so much to address the court as the jury; he must win the verdict. There was a Roman admiral who so focused the light of the sun as to burn up the fleet of his enemy. The preacher must so focus the true light as to make the fire of God burn into human hearts.

Rev. Wm. H. Day insisted that the minister must be a man of prayer. Without that all shining gifts would be nothing.

Bishop Foss said the preacher must be a daily, nightly, everlasting student of the great authors. He can't read everything; let him read the best. Let him spend the five hours a day which John Wesley advised in reading, and let him put it in on the great books of the world.

Rev. J. Cooke said that one of the most hopeful signs of the day in England was that the ministers were looking for direct results. We must aim not at after-meetings for penitents, but that souls shall be saved while we speak.

Rev. Wm. Arthur urged that the preacher must be a man of deep convictions. He must have power also of convincing and of persuading. No man ever went away from hearing John Wesley without knowing what he thought about sin, about atonement, about Christ, about heaven and hell.

In the afternoon session the prominent subject was, the "Religious Press and the Religious Uses of the Secular Press." Hugh Price Hughes read the first essay. The first daily paper was published in 1709; now there are 4,000. The church has not yet wakened up to the gigantic power which the secular press possesses. It is often controlled in the interest of wrong, but it may also be mighty for good. Its great function is to create and influence public opinion. It often has more power than the pulpit. Exposures by the London Times and the Pall Mall Gazette have several times created revolutions in the legislation of Parliament and in the country.

Dr. Dewart, of Canada, discussed the influence of the weekly religious press. By it we must train our people in doctrine and duty. We must have a definite standpoint on burning questions of the day.

Dr. Joseph Ferguson, of England, believed that the weekly paper should not only instruct our children in religion, but should deal also with scientific, social and political questions.

Dr. Hoss, Dr. Buckley and others continued the discussion.

SIXTH DAY, TUESDAY, OCT. 13.

Bishop Hargrove, of the M. E. Church, South, presided in the morning session. Rev. James Travis, general missionary secretary of the Primitive Methodist Church, read the first paper on the "Place and Power of Lay Agency in the Church." He believed that distinctions in the Roman Catholic Church, and by High Church parties, between clergy and laity, were not authorized in the New Testament. The only distinctions in ministerial rank made by Mr. Wesley for Methodist societies are those of itinerant and local preachers. All are equal in a common brotherhood. Stephen, the equal of any apostle, was a local preacher. Bunyan and Robert Raikes were laymen; so were the two greatest poets of Christendom.

Bishop Ninde was the next speaker, taking the place of Dr. Crawford, who was detained by sickness. He described the deaconess movement in the M. E. Church. There are now twenty-one homes for training deaconesses, and five hospitals. He spoke upon the proper sphere of woman. Who shall limit it? She is behind the counter, in the office, on the lecture platform, and in the pulpit, etc., as well as in the home, and just as appropriately. There are some silly, erratic, monstrous women, just as they are some erratic, monstrous men. We can not reach the masses in the great cities without the Christian work of woman. She has wonderful adaptations for it.

Rev. W. T. Walters, secretary of the London Mission, was sorry that a lady was not here to present her own cause; he hoped she would be in the next Ecumenical Conference. Fifteen years ago the first Methodist sisterhood in England, to aid the Children's Home, was organized by our honored Conference president, Dr. Stephenson. A wonderful work has been done in the Whitechapel district of London by these sisterhoods; so as in some localities almost to change the character of the neighborhood. Mrs. Hugh Price Hughes and those ladies of the higher classes in London who are working with her, have almost a perfect touch with the people. The rich as well as the poor are being saved. We have a Christian Workers' Association, different from the Epworth League, in that it is not officially recognized by the Conference.

Rev. T. B. Appleget, of the Methodist Protestant Church, said that the 155 000 of their members were dearly attached to the principle of lay agency. We have found it to work well for threescore years in all branches of the church. The unification of Methodism in both continents depends upon it.

Thomas Lawrence, Esq., of the Primitive Church, said the itinerant ministry would be improved by improving the local ministry. In his town there was a local preacher's library, and he recommended their establishment everywhere.

Rev. William Arthur said there was a distinction between lay agency and Christian work in the government of the church. The Roman Catholic clergy were in the power of the bishop, and the bishops in the power of the Pope, who also had jurisdiction in every diocese of the world.

Mr. Lile eulogized the W. C. T. U., and was greatly surprised that admission has been refused to Miss Frances Willard, who was duly elected to membership in this body.

Woman at the Ecumenical.

An Irishman and an orator, somebody says, are synonymous. This is certainly the case with Rev. William Gorman, of the Irish Methodist Church, who made a forcible plea for women in connection with any phase of church work. They have, he said, been lifted from the enfranchisement of the ages into the enfranchisement of the gospel. Her fitness to be man's co-worker in the church needs no vindication at this stage of the world. In medicine and at the bar, and in all philanthropies, she has taken her place beside her so-called lords; but now she stands without the gate of the very place where she should enter.

In the very place where she should exercise her feminine gifts, she exercises the meekness of wisdom in the porch. She may bring all her graces to the altar except the power of speech. She may write, she may sing, she may cling her message upon canvas to ease her mind of its burning burden, but she may not preach. She may even teach her son; she may help her husband with his sermons, for aught I know. (Laughter.) I do not hear, he said, special instructions from Paul, but I can almost believe that he shudders to find his sagacious words of about A. D. 58 narrowed into the anachronisms of 1891.

As Mr Gorman proceeded with his graceful, yet vigorous sentences, his appeals for the enfranchisement of women received constantly increasing applause. He acknowledged that woman's sphere was motherhood; but was not motherhood, the divinest inflection of peace, too often absent in the masculine message? She may lack self-assertion, but even this was not always host in man. The position of the church in regard to women was a blot that ought to be wiped out. On the battlefield woman stood by the cot like an angel of God. She had anointed the soldier's wounds, and as his life ebbed, she poured into his ear the story of Christ. Would you stop her because she was a woman? Was she obnoxious in the pulpit? Well, that was a simple, mechanical question. Let the pulpit be taken and the woman be left. (Applause.)

It was the duty of the hour to give ungrudging welcome to woman (applause), and not to shut the door against her because she was guilty of the crime of womanhood. Everywhere was woman welcomed. The opera, literature, theosophy were open to her, and shall there be no place for the feet of her who bringeth glad tidings?

Among other speakers was Rev. J. W. Lewis, who spent a portion of his five minutes in telling a story about his visit to the White House. Here is his story:

"At the reception at the White House, the other day, some one behind me said, 'And all this to see a man.' 'Well,' I said, 'I would rather see a man than all these fixtures.' 'But there are some women here, too,' he continued. 'The men,' I said, 'embrace the women.'"

After the laughter which this rather ancient joke elicited had ceased, it became apparent that Mr. Lewis was against the women. It was a bold, bad and dangerous fallacy to say, he remarked, that because a large per cent. are clamoring for a given thing, that this thing is of divine origin. What work shall woman do in the church, and how shall she do it? The exigencies of the future will answer the latter. As for the work, the Scripture said, God created "male and female," not "female or male." (Murmurs and cries of "Oh! no.")

Mr. Lewis was wandering somewhat from his theme when a lady in the church, by saying "Question," provoked considerable laughter and brought back the speaker, who, however, had not time to say anything before the gavel fell. After Rev. J. M. Buckley had quoted a verse of St. Paul, to the effect that women must not have dominion over men, and had said that the extremists meant the elevation of single women at the expense of wives and mothers, Mr. J. B. Slack, of London, asked if there was anything more incongruous than a conference of women discussing the duties of men?

"Yes, there is," said the speaker, "it is a conference composed of men discussing the work of women. If it was in order, I would move the adjournment of this debate until woman could be admitted to give it practical value and speak for herself." (Great applause.)

"If there is a man in this body who has a higher regard for women than I have," said Rev Dr. Hoss, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, "I would like him to show his face."

A large number of delegates, who evidently knew the Doctor and his position, promptly arose, and there was hearty laughter.

Dr. Hoss, somewhat disconcerted, said that if God had wanted men and women to do the same work, he would have made them alike. They have never been alike and never would be. It was not possible, he said, to take the position regarding women that had been taken during the afternoon without logical jugglery of the pastoral epistles of St. Paul.—Washington Post.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. F. M. Williams, pastor, Tyro, Miss., Oct. 9: "I am glad to report Providence charge as being better organized, and improving in spirituality."

Rev. H. P. Lewis, Benton, Miss., Oct. 14: "In giving the names of the brethren who have assisted me in my work, I unconsciously overlooked the name of my venerable friend and precious brother, Rev. R. Abbey. He has preached for me four times this year, and made two good Sunday-school talks to our children. The Doctor has been sick with chills and fever over a month. I saw him yesterday. He is still quite sick, but hopes to be up in a few days. We have been blessed recently with nice showers of rain. Farmers are more cheerful than they were a few weeks ago. Cotton picking moving on well."

A. C. Burt writes from Vicksburg concerning the wickedness of that city, and the organization of an union prayer meeting for a revival of religion. He adds: "Rev. J. W. Cobbs, with this humble scribe, are holding meetings at the city market every Sunday morning, at seven o'clock, which are doing good. We also hold services on Washington street (our principal business thoroughfare) at five o'clock P. M., in the open air. God is blessing us. We give him the glory. Pray for Vicksburg, and in answer to our prayers God is going to shake the city, and gather unto himself many precious souls."

Rev. M. L. White, Vancleave, Miss., Oct. 7: "Our meetings at Mt. Zion and McLendon were a success. Presiding elder preached twice; administered the sacrament. Took presiding elder to McLendon, on Sept. 19, to hold the third Quarterly Conference. Large congregations awaited our arrival. Dinner on ground Saturday and Sunday. Excellent Conference. Everything well up. Good preaching and meeting. Two accessions. Meeting at Union splendid. All assessments on this church paid in full. Just returned from Orange Grove, where I helped Bro. Harmon in meeting. Seven infants baptized; eighteen accessions to church."

Rev. C. W. Perkins, Ebenezer, Miss., Oct. 8: "We have closed our last meeting, and I will now report from Ebenezer circuit. We were blessed with a revival at each place; thirty-two additions in all. We are building two new churches on this work—one about one and a half miles from the old Providence School-house, where we have been preaching up to this time. The new church will be on the Lexington road, one and a half miles nearer that place, and will be called Liberty Chapel. We held the service of laying the corner-stone last Tuesday week. We deposited a Bible, Discipline and hymn book, and several periodicals of our own and other churches, and some other documents; and Dr. Lyons, a local preacher on this work, who has been a valiant soldier of the cross, and is now in his eighty-third year, delivered an address, to the instruction and edification of us all. It is certainly a benediction to have him with us. The other church will be built at Central Point, where we have been using another school-house. I am indebted to the following brethren for help in my meetings: Abner Meek, Bro. and Slater Hargrove, Bro. J. C. Lowe, Bro. Angus Buck; local preachers, T. C. Parish, J. M. French, J. F. Hosen, and Dr. Lyons."

N. Y. Z., Woodville, Miss.: "We began a meeting here on the second Sunday in September, and continued it two weeks. During the first week the pastor was assisted by Revs. T. W. and P. M. Brown—father and son—the latter and the pastor doing most of the preaching. Bro. "Paul Brown" did some noble preaching; and, although reared here, he was very acceptable and effective. On the second Monday Rev. J. T. Nicholson came to our assistance, and did the preaching until the close. The congregations increased steadily, and during Bro. Nicholson's stay were greater than the capacity of our building. Bro. Nicholson's sermons were powerful, and stirred the people here as they have not been stirred for fifty years—so say our oldest people here. The results were deep and far-reaching. Family altars were erected, church members were revived, and many were converted. All lines of the church's work were strengthened and advanced. Men are praying in public who did not; the ladies and girls have for each a prayer meeting; the regular prayer meeting and the Sunday school are growing, and many once prayerless homes are rejoicing over new light and life. Forty or fifty were converted—many of those already in the church—quite a number were reclaimed, and twenty-one to date have been received into the church. One week later we were visited by that beautiful and gifted daughter of Mississippi, Miss Belle Kearney, who lectured three times to the delight of all who heard her, and organized a W. C. T. U., with about seventy members, and a Y. W. C. T. U., with about twenty-five members. Edward McGehee College has opened well, and is growing in numbers every week. The president is calling mightily for enlarged quarters."

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

I have just returned home from a three weeks' trip. On Friday, Sept. 18, I was met at Okolona by Rev. H. R. Tucker, who had invited me to visit his charge and assist him in a meeting at Houston. Saturday morning we drove to Houlka, where we preached at night and Sunday morning; thence to Houston, and began the meeting Monday morning, which continued two weeks with great interest. It was a great blessing to the people of the town as well as to the one hundred boarding pupils in the school. Nearly all of both are members of some branch of the church; but most of them needed the spiritual quickening which they received in the meeting. Six were added to the Methodist Church and five to others. Bro. Lyter was with us a few days, and rendered efficient service. Bro. Tucker has a good people in his charge, and they have a good preacher and faithful pastor. The colporteur was kindly recognized, and his work properly commended to the people by the pastor; consequently there were gratifying results on this line of church work. How helpful we may be to each other as fellow-laborers in a common cause to advance Christianity and save souls! God bless the good people of Houston, with whom I spent two weeks so delightfully, and may they prosper in every good work!

Our Sunday-school in Houston, by unanimous vote, adopted the church hymn book for its use. This is as it should be in all our churches. Let us have uniformity of singing in all our congregations, and this by using our church hymn book in all church services. This is loyalty to church discipline and institutions. The organist of the Baptist Church pronounced our hymn and tune book as capital, and bought a copy for herself.

We are glad to note that the Grenada Collegiate Institute has opened better than for several years past.

Rev. Sam Jones begins a meeting in Grenada, Oct. 23.

Rev. R. B Young, pastor in charge of Okolona circuit, is sick with measles.

G. W. BACHMAN.

Kosciusko, Miss., Oct. 7, 1891.

SUNSET BY THE SEA.

BY LYON MEAD.

Along the ocean's distant line
A fringe of snowy lace extends,
The calm blue billows have a sign
Of farewell as the sun descends.

Long tongues of water lap the sands
Decked in gay pebbly filigree,
And o'er the vernal meadow lands,
The wind brings twilight from the sea.

The golden glimmer in the sky
Is mirrored in the waves below;
And many a richly gleaming dye
Is folded in their ebb and flow.

The heavy clouds scud o'er the vault,
As if the blushing sun to hide;
While lagging vapors slyly halt,
Then journey downward toward the tide.

And nearer to the noisy shouls
The spumy surges madly leap;
Flanked by the stronger wave that rolls
Behind, from the far-sounding deep.

The pungent, salty breezes stray
Along the silent, darkling beach;
And soon the glory of the day
Night puts beyond all mortal reach.

—Saturday Review.

OUR CONTRIBUTORS.

The Lord's Prayer.—No. 4.

BY REV. J. B. WALKER, D. D.

Hallowed be thy name. This is the first of the three petitions that are in this prayer, addressed, all of them, in reference to God's praise and glory. This petition is much the same in spirit and purpose as the third command, given in the negative form, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." This mention of the divine name is made in a mandatory form, "When thou prayest, thou shalt say, . . . Hallowed be thy name." The man's name represents the personality of the man. It means the man himself. Whatever may be said in mentioning the name of the man is said about the man himself. For example: George Washington was a great patriot; Benedict Arnold was a great traitor. If, then, we treat God's name irreverently, we treat God so. If we hallow God's name in our hearts, we hallow God.

Were this prayer a mere uninspired human prayer, it would most likely have begun, "Give us this day our daily bread;" but the prayer is so arranged and expressed that, by the fairest implication, it teaches us, first, in all things to seek the praise and kingdom of God. This command is essential to the maintenance and existence of the revealed or only true religion. If the command to reverence and hallow the name of God were universally violated, it would result in practical universal atheism. If no human creature reverenced God's name, there could be no prayer, no true worship; nor, indeed, we suppose, any disposition to worship. The appalling scene would be presented to created intelligences of a world without God; a sadder condition than if the sun had faded into utter darkness, and left the earth and all its population in moonless, starless night. In such a case there would be no supreme authority, no sense of accountability, no fear of punishment, no conscience—in short, a world of moral monsters that would, in the end, destroy and exterminate each other, and leave the earth an uninhabited waste and desolation.

It is too true and too sad that we do not hallow God's as we should. Even believers and ministers are not as reverent as they should be. The hallowed name is not revered and honored as it should be. It is made too common; its august sanctity is debased by vulgar use. This awful name should never be an expletive, a by-word, or merely used to give emphasis to our utterances. Let its use be infrequent in conversation, and only reverently in prayer, or in preaching the Word.

Among the unbelieving and profane nothing, alas! is more common than the forgetfulness of the hallowedness of God's awful and glorious name. Men, and especially youths and young men, should remember a high authority has said, "To be profane is neither wise, polite nor brave." It is an evidence of coarseness, vulgarity, and want of good taste. Profanity is no evidence of veracity; it is rather an acknowledgment that our claim to truth is doubtful and weak, and needs bolstering with strong and blasphemous asservations. It inspires no respect, is a recommendation to no position; it does not advance or elevate our position; it secures no favor, wins no friends; it is a gratuitous contribution to the common sum of wickedness; it can not afford any pleasure to remember we have a thousand or ten thousand times violated the laws of morality and the rules of good breeding; it can not be pleasant to look forward to the time when we shall have sworn a stout volume of oaths, enough to make a book of most wicked, stupid, disgusting and intolerable reading. That we have uttered profane words, for which nobody thanks us, nobody esteems us—profane words that instructed, comforted and helped no one—surely it can in no way give us any comfort. If you have not hitherto, we beseech you henceforth hallow God's holy and glorious name.

"Hallowed be thy name." In other words, to glorify, to hold in honor, and so, to do that, we shall never make a common or irreverent use of the name that is "glorious in holiness and fearful in praises;" but shall so let our light shine that others shall see that before all names we hallow the name "that is above every name."

God is our Father, our Preserver and daily Provider. We owe him all the adoring reverence and all the grateful love of which we are capable. God's name suggests to us all that is great in power, perfect in goodness, immaculate in holiness, and tender and gracious in love. Can we do less than hallow his holy name?

In Memoriam.

A. W. LAMPKIN.

Among the men who have left their impress for good upon the community where they lived was A. W. Lempkin. He was born in Tennessee in the year 1815, and died in Starkville, Miss., April 13, 1890. In his young manhood he made a profession of faith in Christ and joined the Methodist Church, of which he remained a loyal and faithful member until the day of his death. Bro. Lampkin was a layman, such as is greatly needed and in great demand by the church. Such a layman, magnifying in his life and profession the grace of God, is ever honored, and his memory should be sacredly cherished by the church.

He was capable, ever ready and willing, whether as a private or official member of the church, to do the work assigned him. He combined in an eminent degree the qualities of decision and firmness of purpose with suavity of manner. You would as soon expect an oak to bend as that Aleck Lampkin should deviate from the principles of rectitude, honor and piety. At the same time there was about him such kindliness of spirit and such affableness of address as to win the confidence and respect of those with whom he came in contact. His voice was musical and soft, and his words fitly chosen were like apples of gold in pictures of silver.

My acquaintance with him began in the town of Columbus, Miss., where for a number of years he was engaged in mercantile business. Here he took an active part in the work of the church as a class leader, a Sunday-school worker, and as a leader in the service of song when as yet there was no organ. He afterward became a commission merchant in Mobile, Alabama, where, as was his wont, he was in the front rank of leaders and workers in the service of the church and of the Master. The later years of his life were passed at Starkville, Miss., where he had spent some of the earlier years of his manhood, and where he still had a large number of relatives and friends. Here the same constancy of devotion to the church of God was manifest, which had characterized him through so many years.

He loved the house of the Lord, entered heartily into its services, and was most punctual and faithful in his attendance upon all the public means of grace. Several years ago he was heard to say that for forty years he had not been absent from the house and worship of God, unless providentially hindered. I have gone repeatedly to the week-night prayer meeting, and found Bro. Lampkin ahead of me, seated and quietly waiting, when as yet none or but few else had come in. What a help was such a layman to his pastor!—a sympathizing friend and a safe counsellor. Of adverse fortune and of affliction he had a large share. But the waters did not overflow, nor the fires consume. His chastenings were borne with Christian fortitude and without murmuring or repining. They tended but to refine and burnish the fine gold.

Although he had reached the ripe age of seventy-five years, yet we never thought of "Uncle Aleck" as an old man. His genial manner and spirit, blending with the Christian graces, kept him young. He never claimed the favor or indulgence accorded to the old. He never shunned his duty to the church nor shrank from work that needed to be done on account of advancing years.

The manner of his death was impressive and suggestive. It had been his purpose to take the early morning train to Aberdeen, to be present at the Sam Jones' meeting in progress at that place. Failing to appear at breakfast, he was found in his room in a state of complete or partial unconsciousness. It appears that he had arisen and made his toilet; his shoes were polished, his hair was brushed, and everything in readiness for his journey. Lingering a few hours, he died the same day. Thus, in the midst of his preparations to attend upon a great meeting on earth, it would seem that the summons came, and he was called up higher to a greater meeting, even the general assembly and church of the first-born in heaven.

Though the last of his immediate generation, he left a large number of relatives and other friends to emulate his goodness, and to embalm his character in sacred memory.

T. C. WIER.

A Holiness Convention.

We are to have a Holiness Convention in this vicinity soon. The announcement of it, and the arrangements being made for it, have created no little interest and excitement among the people. It is a new thing in these parts, and you know how new things draw. Holiness, sanctification, Christian perfection, perfect love, has been preached and taught all over this country from the earliest settlement of it, but some people talk and act as if they had just heard of it for the first time. I suppose a repentance convention, a regeneration convention, or a justification convention would draw in the same way. They would be new things. If I am not mistaken, there is greater need for repentance and regeneration conventions just now than for holiness conventions.

I am appealed to nearly every day to know what this movement means? what a holiness convention is? what it is called to do? I can not tell. As a Methodist preacher is at the head of it, many jump to the conclusion that it is a Methodist meeting and movement. They forget that our Methodist people hold Conferences, and not conventions. It is to be held in a Methodist Church, I suppose, with the consent of the trustees, and at the suggestion of the pastor. This convention, as I understand it, is called to consider and to promote the doctrine and work of holiness as held and taught, not by the Methodist Church, but by individual members of several denominations of Christians in this country. The Methodist Church and no other church is in any way responsible for the utterances put forth at that meeting. The meeting will speak for itself and for no other organization in the round world.

This should be well understood. Specially let it be remembered that this is not a Methodist meeting. The Methodist preachers and people present and participating were not sent there to speak and act for the church. The church, as such, has not authorized or approved this movement. It is not her way of teaching and spreading scriptural holiness over this land. The Methodist preachers and people who go into this movement have departed from the usages, if not from the faith, of their church. I, for one, with the vows of the church and her ministry upon me, could not take part in a convention of this kind. I have agreed to preach her doctrines and to perform her work in the way she directs. As I understand the matter, this convention is called not so much in the interest of holiness per se, as in the interest of a theory of holiness. In no particular does the body, taken as a whole, differ from the Methodist Church on the doctrine of holiness, sanctification, perfect love, only as to the manner of its attainment, and the non-relative character of the work. This convention meets to maintain that holiness is a separate and distinct work from regeneration, to be sought by repentance and faith, as the first blessing was sought, and, generally, to be obtained instantaneously. Special emphasis is given to instantaneous sanctification. They claim that ordinarily, as the rule, persons are instantly and immediately and thoroughly cleansed from all sin, both original and actual, as a state of being and as an act in answer to one supreme act or exercise of faith. In proof of this theory they appeal to their experiences of this blessing. They argue, the Word of God must so teach because I experienced it this way. The divine Word is interpreted by experience, rather than experience by the Word. If any objection is made to this, they fall back on the power of God to do this work in this way, as if the power to do any given thing were proof that the thing is so done. God has power to make a full-blown rose, but, as a matter of fact, God does not make roses that way, and roses are none the less perfect because they are not so made.

I should oppose a holiness convention called to teach and advocate the growth theory of holiness, or the death theory, just as I oppose this convention, and for the same reasons—it is magnifying an immaterial thing, a mere circumstance; a matter about which the Word of God is perfectly silent. Because one comes into this blessed state instantaneously, it does not follow that all must come that way; and because many grew into it slowly and steadily is no reason why all should grow into it; and because many have not found it till they came to die is no reason why all should put off so important a matter and so blessed a privilege till the last hour. I am really glad we do not have the experiences of the dead on this subject. Too many wait till the dying hour already. The man who is going on to perfection is well-pleasing to God whether he be in the primary or in the graduating class, or a post-graduate.

GILDEROY.

That all who are happy are equally happy, is not true. A peasant and a philosopher may be equally satisfied, but not equally happy.—Jonnson.

This and That.

MR. EDITOR: I have been thinking for some time that I would send you a few dots that I have jotted down, here and there, of things that have transpired during the year. I have just returned from my tenth protracted meeting that I have held on my work, and assisted in on others. I report from all these meetings 100 accessions, and about that many conversions, and the works greatly built up. We are not up with our collections ordered by the Conference, and don't know that we will be. This circuit was never known to pay in full all the collections; but we feel encouraged in being able to report that we are 300 per cent. ahead of last year, and hope that we may be in full. The pastor and presiding elder's assessments are standing and looking us in the face, and are three-fourths behind. We feel like they will come up—if they don't, and "if we don't feel now, we feel like we will feel."

I want to thank you for this week's issue of the ADVOCATE. I think the paper gets better all the time. I have noticed for the last three years, in the ADVOCATE and other papers, many and all kinds of articles about the "holiness people, sanctification, holiness conventions, second blessing," etc. All that I went to say here is to make a statement and a request.

1. There are in Leake, Neshoba, Newton and Lauderdale counties a sect of people calling themselves "the holiness people." The leaders of the league travel over the country, preaching wherever they can. They claim to be in harmony and members of the holiness associations and conventions in this State. They claim to be in line with Bro. B. Carradine, Godby, and all other members of the holiness associations throughout the South. I quote from a document before me, which contains some of the doctrines they herald from their pulpits everywhere, and to anyone they can: "When we measure the denominations of the land, we are forced to conclude that what we have been taught to look on as the church is not the church of Christ at all, but a counterfeit of the devil." "The Methodist denomination is drunk with the venom of hell. The same may be truthfully said of all the rest. They are fallen, and have become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every unclean and hateful bird. God is calling to his people, saying, 'Come out of her, my people, and be not partakers of her sins.'" "How absurd for men to teach that believers in Christ ought to join the churches. Shall I take the members of Christ and make them members of an harlot?" "There is not one shred of Scripture to justify any man in teaching the children of God they ought to join some one of these ungodly denominations." "Do we not have to join some organization? We answer, No. God's Word says nothing about a visible or invisible church." "Hireling priests." "In regard to the come-out-ism, it is of God; it is yet in its infancy, and is going to move on in spite of creeds, confessions of faith, disciplines, sectarian bigots, devils, or any other creature."

These are some of the dogmas taught by this league, and when one claims holiness, he quits the church, and becomes embittered against all others.

2. I want to know if all the brethren who write through the ADVOCATE, under the name of holiness brethren, indorse and teach these doctrines. If not, will you put yourselves right before the people of this country? You are thus represented here. Will you write plainly through the ADVOCATE what you believe and teach on these subjects? If you, who have espoused the name of "holiness people," are responsible for any of these dogmas, we want to know it; and if you are not, truth, justice, Methodism, the cause of Christ and the interest of all who love the Lord demand that the light be turned on and the slanderer exposed.

If necessary, in the future I will say again.

JAS. G. CAMMACK.

Carthage, Miss., Oct. 3, 1891.

From Oxford.

I have just received a letter from Bishop Galloway stating that I have been transferred to the Holston Conference, and stationed at Fountain City. My physician and friends thought a change of climate would be beneficial to my health, and, yielding to their judgment, I asked the Bishop to transfer me.

I have had no call, either human or divine, to change my field of labor—the hope of restoring my health is the one consideration. I leave the North Mississippi Conference with great reluctance and with deep grief. The brethren have always been kind and loving to me. I can never forget the sympathy extended to me in my sickness and the help given the Methodists of Oxford in their efforts to rebuild the church destroyed by fire soon after my pastorate began here.

The new church is now receiving its finishing touches, and everyone declares it a thing of beauty, while many go so far as to say that it is the prettiest church in the Conference. Owing to the failure of many to pay their subscriptions and our failure to receive as large a credit for old material as calculated on, we find ourselves in debt to the amount of about $1,500; with pews and heating apparatus yet to provide for. Let our friends who promised us help send it at once, and to those who are hunting for a place to judiciously invest a few dollars, I will say you could go further and do worse. It was a great wrong to us to make a subscription to the building fund, and then refuse to pay it.

The Sunday-school is better than it has been for years. The congregations and prayer meetings are good, and the trend of things upward. The University opened well, is ably officered and doing good work. Our people here greatly deplore Chancellor Maye's contemplated removal to Jackson. If you will let me, Mr. Editor, I will send you a few lines occasionally and possibly a few subscribers from the Holston.

S. D. LONG.

Oxford, Miss.

The Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society.

A modest little pamphlet, entitled "The Fifth Annual Report of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the M. E. Church, South," is on my table, and sets me to thinking. It is the development of an idea in the good woman's heart to provide homes for our preachers, and in that mere limited form has borne fruit in many a charge that would still be without a parsonage save for this society, which helps to build more than one a week throughout the year. It has helped to establish our work in many places, and by enlisting more than 7,000 women and children in working for others has done much to develop their Christian life.

In this distinctive work of aiding in the erection of parsonages our church alone has been blessed with the organized efforts of the women. No other church of which we have knowledge has been so favored. But worthy as is this specific work, the time had come in the judgment of the last General Conference to enlarge the operations of the Parsonage Society by adding to it the work of home missions, which might include all organized efforts on the part of the women of the church, to increase the pastoral efficiency of the preachers by intelligent co-operation in church work. Every wise pastor knows the value of co-operation on the part of the women of his church in visiting, collecting the youth into the Sunday-school, caring for the sick and ministering to the needy. It is now proposed to unite these several pastor's aid societies under one general society for mutual help and more intelligent work. The payment of a small annual due into the general treasury constitutes any of these previously organized societies auxiliaries of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society, and puts the local society in such relations to the whole church as the better to plan and do its work by virtue of the fresh literature provided from time to time suggesting methods, showing results, etc.

It consecrates all the hitherto local societies which now, doing no less work in their own field, are prepared to aid in the general work as well. Every pastor who has a Pastor's Aid Society will find it wise to have it become an auxiliary of this general society, as helping to quicken the zeal of its female members and to increase their efficiency in church work, even of a purely local character. Not only will it result in the building and equipment of many a parsonage, and in the building up of many Sunday-schools and congregations by looking after the youth and welcoming the stranger, but in more earnest study of the Bible, in more intelligent care of the sick, in greater aptness in soul-winning. What an amount of work for the Master is possible to the Marys, Marthas, and Salomes of our day if intelligently organized and directed!

Within the limits of our church are four cities with a population of over 200,000 souls; three others with a population of over 100,000; seven others with a population of over 50,000 and twenty-two containing more than 20,000 souls. In all of these cities we have a mission, as a church, to the poor and needy, to the sick and the stranger. Some of these cities should employ a lady missionary specially trained for the work who might wisely lead in the necessary work to be done. Mr. Wesley understood the great service which such noble women as Hester Ann Rogers, Mrs. Fletcher, and others could do, and wisely availed himself of and directed their labors. May we not hope for a new era in our own beloved church, as we see our noble women diligent in such labors as far as is consistent with their sacred home duties? May there not be some who would willingly devote their entire time to such work as their pastors may suggest?

The wise conservatism of our church and people is a safeguard against any extremes in rendering our women more efficient in the changed conditions which come with large centers of population as fields of Christian work. It was in the heart of the noble founder of the Bible and Training-school for Missionaries and other Christian workers to provide a place where under most competent instruction Christian women might be better prepared as Sunday-school teachers, trained nurses, home missionaries, skilled in sacred music, both instrumental and vocal, and thus prove more valuable in all the work of the church. Accordingly the Constitution of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society was placed in the corner-stone of the Training-school as showing the interest felt and the hope that many trained workers would go out from its halls into the home field as well as the foreign field. "Help those women which labored with me in the gospel." Without Lydia could Paul have planted the church in Philippi?

E. R. HENDRIX.

Kansas City, Mo.

The fifth annual report of the Parsonage and Home Mission Society only gives a report of its progress but fully sets forth its aims. All desiring a copy can secure it by writing to MISS LUCINDA B. HELM, 1500 Third Ave., Louisville, Ky.

Home Mission Work in North Mississippi.

The following letter to the president of the North Mississippi Conference P. and H. M. Society was written by the pastor of the charge which received the first appropriation made by the society:

Dear Sister: You ought to see our rooms now; they are so much improved. They do not look at all like they did when I last wrote you. Inside they look like a new pin. I took up the old floors and put down new dressed floors. I ceiled the room overhead, and then took the old floor and ceiled one room, and papered it. It is, indeed, nice and comfortable. I ordered nice doors, borrowed a wagon and went to the sawmill after the lumber; then asked my neighbors to help me one day. I had to hire a carpenter to make some door and window frames and help my wife and me to paper the room. Below I show you how I spent the money.

Paid for lumber, $18.50; paid carpenter, $7; paid brick mason, $3.25; paid for three doors, $1.75; paid for canvas and paper, $6; paid for nails, $1.50; paid for locks and tacks, $1.75; paid for insurance, $5.50; total, $47.25.

You see I have a little left. I am going to add to it, and have some rails made to fence the lot. I am so glad that you all helped me, and that when we move this Fall, we can leave nice, comfortable rooms for the next preacher.

We write to thank you for the money you sent us, and to let you know how we have spent it. The Lord bless you all in your good work.

Yours fraternally, W. J. BURT.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

All books received will be acknowledged in this column. A fuller notice will depend upon the interests of our readers.

BOOKS.

WIDE AWAKE. Cloth, $2. Boston: D. Lothrop Company.

A new volume of Wide Awake means always expectation in its announcement, enjoyment in its monthly realization, and a full feast when the bound volume appears. Such a feast—full and satisfactory—is offered in the new volume just issued in the warm and cheerful red covers that so many young people have learned to welcome and enjoy. The volume is crowded with good reading from cover to cover, not too many continued stories, and the short ones sparkling, bright, and entertaining. A series of studies in figure drawing by Caroline Hunt Rimmer is full of interest and practical suggestions for any child who likes to use the pencil.

OUR LITTLE MEN AND WOMEN FOR 1891. Cloth, $1.75; boards, $1.25. Boston: D. Lothrop Company.

No prettier or more attractive annual for younger readers exists than the yearly (bound) volume of Our Little Men and Women. It is always bright and cheery, always healthful and helpful, always charming in its material and fascinating in its pictures. This volume for 1891 is no exception to the rule. It is beautifully printed and bound, and the stories and poems of which it is made up are such as every little man and woman welcomes with enthusiasm and enjoys with unalloyed pleasure. Mrs. Archibald's story of "Lady Gay," and Jennie Stanley's story of two bright little New Mexican boys, "The Little Freighter," are such as all children love to hear, and are but samples of the good things in the new volume, whose bright and attractive covers will draw many eager young eyes to investigate and feast upon the brighter things they enclose.

PERIODICALS.

—CHRISTIAN THOUGHT, for October contains Scientific and Social Law of Survival, by Dr. W. W. McLane; The Children of Adam, by Dr. S. D. McConnell; Origin and Power of Religious Ideas, by Dr. M. J. Cramer, and a short article, The Theologian's Mistake, by Dr. R. Abbey. This periodical is one of the ablest and is standing up squarely for the "truth as it is in Jesus." It meets and vanquishes the infidel scientist on his own chosen ground. W. B. Ketcham, 2 Cooper Union, New York. Price, $2; clergymen, $1.50.

—THE GOSPEL IN ALL LANDS, for this month, discusses Scandinavia, Germany and Switzerland as mission fields, and is a very readable number. Hunt & Eaton, New York. Price, $1.50.

THE LOTTERY.

Preamble and resolutions adopted by the Mississippi River Baptist Association, in session at Greensburg, La., Oct. 5, 1891:

Your special committee appointed to consider the attitude of this association toward the Louisiana Lottery Company, and submit, as our report, the following resolutions:

Whereas, We consider the Lottery Company the greatest of all enemies that has ever attacked the virtue, morality and integrity of the people of this State, a disgrace to our civilization, an obstruction to the progress of the church, and a menace to our peace and dearest rights; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we do and will oppose, and to the uttermost, by our votes and influence, the proposition to renew the Louisiana Lottery Company. And our prayers shall go up unto God for deliverance from this great evil. We solemnly declare that no Baptist can or will support or advocate this lottery. And we fervently appeal to our membership and other Christians generally to oppose it.

Resolved, That we earnestly request and urge our ministers to denounce this infamous corporation from the pulpit, and on all other proper occasions.

Resolved, That we denounce in the most withering terms the action of all Baptists who advocate the cause of the Old Lottery Company, and recommend that the churches composing this Association expel from their fellowship all who persistently support this unspeakable infamy, this throne of iniquity, "which frameth mischief by a law, and which maketh us a reproach to our neighbors, a scorn and a derision to them that are round about us."

Resolved, That we encourage the good women of our State to help us by their influence in driving this lottery league from our borders, thereby removing what has long been a blot upon the fair name of our beloved State.

Resolved, That we extend our thanks to our brethren in Mississippi, as well as to the good people in other States, for the kind expressions of their sympathy in this our great emergency. We invoke a continuance of their prayers and encouragement, assuring them that no effort shall be spared to defeat this gambling monopoly.

Resolved, That the foregoing preamble and resolutions be published in the Baptist Chronicle, Southern Baptist Record, NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, New Delta, and The Florida Baptist.

JOHN FREILER, Chairman,
And Committee of Twenty.

The Committee.

If the session of the Democratic State Central Committee yesterday proved anything, it proved that the lottery is in the politics of Louisiana, and in politics for the purpose of dominating and controlling the State. From the time the gavel of the chairman rapped for order until it fell to announce the adjournment until to-day the lottery was the mainspring which caused every movement made in that body.

It was for the benefit of the lottery that the right of appointing the committee on credentials (which has always been one of his prerogatives) was taken away from the chairman. It was for the benefit of the lottery that it was attempted to prevent gentlemen from undoubted and undisputed right to their seats in the committee from voting. And it was for the benefit of the lottery that the committee on credentials found every time against the anti when his seat was contested by a lottery man. And yet we are told that the lottery is not in politics. * * * * * * *

The work of the committee has not been advanced far enough to give any idea of what it is going to do as to the time and place of the convention. Up to now it has been too busily occupied with the business of the lottery to attend to the business of the Democratic party. We hope that after the lottery company is taken care of some attention will be paid to the business for which the committee was supposed to be called togeiher, and the affairs of the Democratic party will he in a measure attended to.

We congraiulate the pro-lottery members of that committee upon having the grace not to call themselves the pro-lottery members, and their caucus the lottery caucus. Up to now they and their caucus are without names. They are politicsl anonyma, and are "without a local habitation and a name." At least we judge so from the statement that this caucus is meeting around from place to place; now at Grunewald Hall, then at the St. Charles Hotel, and where else we do not know.

They are without a name, for the leaders on that side have not disclosed the which they may have adopied; they speak all the time of "our side," "our caucus," "our faction;" hut they do not say what that side, that caucus, that faction is. They give it no name, they disclosed for it no object, they claim for it no purpose. But with wonderful unanimity all on "our side" and in "our caucus" oppose everything which the anti-lottery members of the committee propose. From this we think that we can guess which the "our side," is, and for what purpose "our caucus" is organized.—The Delta.

Three very important cases bearing on the great lottery evil will come before the United States Supreme Court for adjudication next month. They are the case of the United States against John L. Rapier, and the two cases of the United States against George W. Dupre. Each of these cases is an application for the discharge by writ of habeas corpus from arrest ter an alleged violation of the anti-lottery legislation of the United States. The charge against Rapier and against Dupre in one indictment was the mailing of a newspaper containing an advertisement of the Louisiana Lottery, and the other indictment was for the mailing of a letter concerning the lottery. The judgments of the lower court were against the defendants, and the cases were appealed to the Supreme Court. Now nearly fifteen years ago the exact question mooted in these cases, arising in the same way, was fully considered and unanimously decided by the Supreme Court. In making the decision this court said, "The only question for our determination relates to the constitutionality of the act, and of that we have no doubt." The counsel for the appellants change the ground from that on which the original decision was had, claiming that the law is an abridgment of the freedom of the press, and that the right to operate a lottery is one of the fundamental rights of man, like the right to exercise a profession, as a physician, or a trade, as a laundryman. It will he seen that the real issue is whether the United States government is compelled to become the agent of a lottery company. We imagine—and especially in view of its previous decision unanimously rendered—the Supreme Court will make short answer to these propositions, and that it will sustain the constitutionality of the law—Christian at Work.

There never was a great evil that did not, when made to feel the pressure of an aroused public conscience, attempt to justify itself on moral grounds. The defenders of slavery contended that it was a divine institution. The saloon keeper holds that his business is beneficial to society in that it furnishes workingmen with resorts where they can spend their evenings in much more attractive surreundings than at home. And the advocates of the Louisiana Lottery Company are making the most out of the fact that the lottery business was at one time patronized by preachers, and that George Washington profited by it. This kind of argument may have some weight in New Orleans, but it is not possible that it will have any effect upon the Supreme Court of the United States, before which test cases have been brought to determine the constitutionality of the lottery law. Last week Attorney General Miller, in reply to the briefs filed by the representatives of the Lottery Company, made a vigorous argument in favor of this law, and the decision of the court will he awaited with great interest. In the meantime the anti-lottery campaign is making encouraging headway in Louisiana.—Central Christian Advocate.

A year has passed since the law went into effect which excluded lottery matter from the mails. That it has been enforced with exceptional vigor and success is evident from the general disappearance of the company's advertisements in newspapers, and the frequent arrests of persons who have tried, in various ways, to evade its provisions. Among the latter are the presidents of both the Louisiana and the Mexican Companies, who were recently detected by alert officials of the postoffice department in attempts to use the mails surreptitiously in the interests of their business, and were promptly placed in confinement. That both these companies are suffering from a shrinkage of revenues is made clear by the reduction in each case of the capital prize to just one-half what it was formerly. The final blow to the business in this country must come from the people of Louisiana themselves, when they are called upon next Spring to vote upon the amendment for the renewing of the charter of the company. The opposition to this amendment is gaining force, and its defeat is confidently predicted.—Zion's Herald.

But a few years ago a former governor of Kentucky was the head in that State of a great lottery company. And it is in the light of that fact that the adoption of the new Constitution by that State must he regarded as a splendid victory for public and private morals. Ever since the organization of the State in 1792 lotteries have been allowed in the State, while of late years the lottery and banks have been impeverishing the poor hy their swindling methods. Of course, the lottery people fought the new Constitution, and did all in their power to defeat it. The result in 90 000 majority against them; and if that is not a splendid victory, what is it? The leased convict labor system is abrogated hy the new Constitution, and the reform ballot system is adopted. On the whole, there is growth all along the line in Kentucky, of which the adoption of the new Constitution affords conspicuous proof.—Christian at Work.

Meeting at New Iberia.

To-day concludes the fourth week during which I have been holding revival services in New Iberia. I have endeavored all along to commit the whole work to God, having set no date when the special efforts should cease, and as it does not appear that the interest is at all abated, hut rather is increasing, it may be that the meeting will be continued.

For over a week the congregations were very small, and the church seemed to show no interest in the work; hut a faithful few met every night, and earnest intercessory prayer went up to God in behalf of our weak and lukewarm brethren and for the conversion of sinners. Then the Lord, who had borne long with his elect, heard their cry, and answered them out of his holy place. A divine unction decended upon preacher and people, and almost every night souls were born of God. Clearly, unhesitatingly, before the whole congregation, the new converts testified that God had pardoned their sins for Christ's sake, and had poured out his love in their hearts by the Holy Ghost, who had been given unto them. This work of grace was, in the main, confined to the church membership. But it was a precious privilege to see those who had all their lifetime been subject to the standing doubt whether they were really converted rise from the altar, and, while penitential tears still stood upon their cheeks, with a light in their eyes, joy in their hearts, and a new song in their mouths, proclaimed that they had received the Spirit of adoption, whereby they were enabled to cry, "Ahha, Father." Ahout ten from the world also have been saved and added to the church.

Side hy side with this glorious work the sanctifying of believers went on. Seven of God's children have been delivered from all sin through faith in the blood of Jesus Christ, and now hear a clear testimony that God has purified their hearts hy faith. These additions bring the number of professors of entire sanctification in this church up to fourteen, six of whom received the blessing of heart-purity at Sooitsville Camp Meeting, last Summer.

Another result of the meeting has been the producing of a widespread interest in the doctrine of Bible holiness. The serious and better part of the community are enquiring, "What is this sanctification that you teach?" The Friday evening sermon has been always on that subject, and Romanists, people of the world and members of other churches have crowded our tabernacle, giving serious attention to the Word. To the half-hearted Christian, who is hoping, and living, only to be barely saved from hell, the offense of the cross is in the doctrine of entire sanctification; hut to the world there is a subtle attraction in it. Worldly people look with wonder upon such a thing when one proclaims a rest of faith, a cleansing from all sinful desires and tendencies, a fulness of the joy, love and peace of God, which exceed understanding and surpass knowledge. Oh, let us lay aside contentions about mere words, and no more hé at variance upon this holy theme. I am persuaded that both those who advocate and those who deny the second blessing earnestly desire the same thing. On the one hand, they believe that it may now he attained, and that this "day of salvation" (II. Cor. vi, 2) extends its promise to full salvation. On the other hand, their faith does not rise to belief in a present full salvation.

FITZGERALD SALE PARKER.

The Fourteenth Century was the age of thought, hut if there is one characteristic more than another which distinguishes the Nineteenth, it is that which makes it the remedial era.

The discovery of remedies and of means of alleviating human suffering have gone on until it sometimes seems there is little left for the doctors to do. Undoubtedly kindly Nature contains somewhere an antidote for every physical ill, if it only can be found.

What is the use in suffering when Mansfield's Magic Arnica Liniment will relieve any pain hy acting immediately on the part afflicted, and the nerves in which the torture is located.

The ingredients that enter into its composition are fluid extracts of arnica, oil of camphor, chlorodine and magnetic fluid combined with rare essential oils. The properties of these separately are well known. Taken together they form a combination that is wonderful in its effects upon pain no matter what its origin, whether it he from a wound, hite or sting, an ulcer or sore; or nervons in character like sciatica, neuralgis, or even headache, or springing from a condition of the blood, like rheumatism, the action of the liniment is none the less immediate and powerful, and hy absorption after quieting the pain, acts, as a therapeutic, and cures outright a catalogue of ills that are exteriorly manifested. No farmer, no housewife, no one who appreciates a really valuable remedy should he without it. Mansfield Drug Company, Memphis, Tenn.

"Political Meetings on Sunday."

Bro. Upton, in the last issue of the ADVOCATE, has this paragraph in his article under the above caption:

I will not knowingly vote for any man for any office, from President down to ward constable, who attends political meetings and delivers political addresses on Sundays. If others are of the same opinion as myself, I would he glad to have them publicly declare it.

I am glad to hear such a fearless declaration from this good brother. I declare the same, and will declare further, that I will not knowingly vote for any man for any office who makes a personal canvass on Sunday, or who is a drunkard or a gambler. I will vote, hut I will vote what is known as a "scattering ticket," hy selecting the name of some good man and voting for him. I am entitled to my vote, and, while I may not accomplish much at first hy such voting, the example may prove valuable after a while. Who else will come forward?

JOHN W. CRISLER.

Mayersville, Miss.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is a peculiar medicine. It is carefully prepared from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Dock, Pipsissewa, Juniper Berries, and other well-known and valuable vegetable remedies, by a peculiar combination, proportion and process, giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla curative power not possessed by other medicines. It effects remarkable cures where other preparations fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best blood purifier before the public. It eradicates every impurity, and cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Boils, Pimples, all Humors, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion, General Debility, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Complaints, overcomes that tired feeling, creates an appetite, and builds up the system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Has met peculiar and unparalleled success at home. Such has become its popularity in Lowell, Mass., where it is made, that whole neighborhoods are taking it at the same time. Lowell druggists sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of all other sarsaparillas or blood purifiers. Sold by druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

DON'T DELAY TO

Stop that cough! Else the bronchial tubes will be enlarged and the delicate tissues of the lungs exposed to injury. No other medicine is so speedily operative in throat and lung troubles as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. A few doses have been known to break up an obstinate and distressing cough. Sufferers from asthma, bronchitis, croup, consumption, sore throat, and whooping cough find a sure relief in the use of this preparation. It soothes the inflamed membrane, promotes expectoration, and induces repose. Try Don't be without it in the house. Sallie E. Stone, Hurt's store, Va., writes: "I have found, in my family, that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was always a certain cure for colds and coughs."

"Five years ago I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was completely cured."—Anga A. Lewis, Ricard, N. Y.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,

831 Broadway, NEW YORK.

IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.

W. H. KRONE, BUILDER,

586 Baronne St., - New Orleans.

Box 71, M., D., and L. Exchange.

WALL PAPER.

Never in the history of the Wall Paper business has the line of patterns equalled those which will be shown this Fall, and, as we carry the makes of every manufacturer, nowhere else in the South can such an assortment be found. In Dining-room, Parlor and Bed-room Papers there are several very pretty novelties, and also an innovation in the way of a Bath-room Paper, which can be splashed with impunity and not damaged.

Matting, Chinese AND Japanese,

From 10 cents up. WINDOW SHADES, 35 cents up. OIL CLOTH, 25 cents up.

RUGS, COCOA MATTING, UPHOLSTERING GOODS and LINOLEUM in immense assortment.

Write for a catalogue.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp St., New Orleans.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

W. C. SHEPARD,

94 CAMP STREET.

BEAUTIFUL

China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL

Semi-China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL CHAMBER SETS.
PLATED WARE, all kinds,
WOOD WARE, all kinds,
TIN WARE, all kinds,
GLASS WARE, all kinds.

House Furnishing Store, Cheap as the Cheapest

ALL THE NOVELTIES OF THE DAY.

Wringers and Curtain Stretchers.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF

PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.

Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,

NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 7:55 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 5:15 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express..... 5:45 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express..... 8:00 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train"..... 10:20 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train"..... 3:50 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 2 Lim. Ex. 7:45 am	No. 4 F'st Ex... 7:45 am
No. 5 F'st Ex... 7:05 pm	No. 8 Coast.... 3:45 pm
No. 7 Coast.... 9:20 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex.. 7:30 pm
Lim. express.. 4:45 pm	Fast mail..... 8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

No. 1. Local Mail and Express.. 7:20pm	No 2. Local Mail and Express.. 7:00am
No. 41. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 8:25am	No 42. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 6:00pm
No. 45. Chic. and N. O. Lim.... 3:00pm	No 46. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 12:01 noon
No 41. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 8:25am	No. 42. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:00pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom.... 8:30am	No. 6. McComb City Accom.. 4:30pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 53 Californ ia Express. 7:30 pm	No. 51 Californ ia Express. 8:00 am
B. Rouge, local. 10:25am	B. Rouge, local. 3:50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 19 Califor. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local... 8 00 am
No. 17 Local.... 7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor.. 5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd . . 2:30pm	No. 2, Lim'd..... 5:00pm
No. 3, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 8, Fast Line. . 8:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO.
(Via Meridian.)

No. 5, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 2, Limited.... 8:00pm

P. AND F. EAST LA.
(Alita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.

Arrive..... 8:30 am	Leave..... 4:15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pt. a-la-Hache 8h. Bch. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:30 p m.	Pt. a-la-Hache 8h. Bch. 7:00 a. m., 10:00 a m., 5:00 p. m.

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

FROM

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City. Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 34 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.
J. C. GAULT, General Manager.
D. G. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

To SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT and

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't,
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,
JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.
Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train.....	5:15 p. m	7:55 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	8:30 a. m	5:45 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:50 p. m	10:30 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

F. R. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Agt.
E. F. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt.

FOR SALE!

40 Acres of Land

IN FRONT OF

Millsaps College.

This is a rare chance for persons wanting to live near the college, or for speculation. Lots 80x160 are selling for $150; not nearer than half-mile off. I offer this property in one-acre lots on the association plan, which will give a buyer of one share costing $250 an acre at wholesale rates. As soon as the forty shares are sold, the property will be auctioned off for choice of lots, no one but shareholders being permitted to bid. Whenever a lot is sold for more than the share price, the excess shall be placed to the credit of the shareholders pro rata, thereby reducing the cost of lots as they are bid in. Persons buying a share will place the $250 in bank in this city; and when the auction sale takes place each shareholder, on the day of said sale, will receive his or her deed to the lot bought. Each buyer of a share will receive notice one week before the sale, so that they may be represented in person or by proxy. This property will go readily on this plan; so, if you want to get in the procession, send along your checks. The property is pretty, every acre of it. Not an acre that is not worth five hundred dollars. Address,

R. J. MALLETT,
Real Estate Agent,
316 EAST CAPITAL ST., JACKSON, MISS.

REFERENCES.—Rev. W. C. Black, R. W. Millsaps, W. L. Nugent.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study. Practical Lectures and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this College has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has unsurpassed facilities and equipments.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.—Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools, in Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE.—Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Port Gibson Female College,

PORT GIBSON, MISS.

Opens Sept. 15, 1891. Closes June 15, 1892.

A school for the higher education of girls, under the patronage of the Mississippi Annual Conference, M. E. Church, South.

Located in the hill country of the State, on the L., N. O. and T. R. R. (Valley Route), six hours run above New Orleans, and one below Vicksburg.

For catalogue address

Miss M. E. COMPTON, Pres.

TULANE UNIVERSITY

OF LOUISIANA.

TULANE UNIVERSITY embraces College, High School, H. Sophie Newcomb Memorial College for Young Women, Law and Medical Departments. The College has four parallel courses: Classical, Literary, Scientific and Engineering. There is also a special course of Electrical Engineering. Next Annual Session of the Academical Departments, including the H. Sophie Newcomb College, begins October 1st. Law Department opens November 16th. Medical Department, October 19th.

For special or general catalogues, apply to the Secretary of the University, Tulane Hall.

WM. PRESTON JOHNSTON,
President.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC FOUNDED BY Dr. EBEN TOURJÉE.

CARL FAELTEN, Director.

Piano, Organ, Violin, Voice, Etc.

Systematic courses in class and private lessons. Tuition, $10 to $30 for 20 class lessons. Many free Classes, Lectures, Recitals, etc. Elocution, Oratory and Dramatic Action, Fine Arts, Literature, Languages, Piano and Organ Tuning. COMFORTABLE HOME for Lady Students. Calendar Free.

Fall Term begins Sept. 10, 1891.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager, Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR,
Member of Board of Trustees,
No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

DEATH TO THE DANCE

Such is the charming little book,

"Mary Singleton."

Scatter it far and near. One copy, 20c; per dozen, $2.

L. L. PICKETT,
Columbia, S. C.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. D. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

"THE NEW METHOD" for good health cures all chronic diseases. Rev. A. Albro, D. D., Utica, N. Y., writes: "One of the greatest books I ever read." Invaluable to ministers and others. Send for testimonials. HEALTH SUPPLIES CO., 116 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.

Thursday, October 22, 1891.

The Publishing Committees of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE are requested to meet at 112 Camp St., New Orleans, Oct. 28, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M.

J. M. BEARD, Chair'n.

Briefs.

Here is what they are trying Prof. C. A. Briggs in the New York Presbytery for:

Disbelief in the Bible as the only true source of divine authority.

Disbelief in the verbal inspiration and inerrancy of the Scriptures.

Disbelief in the immediate sanctification at death of the souls of those dying in the faith.

Perhaps the allegations have been drawn fine to save a verdict, and the first two seem to us more scriptural than the last; but, taken together, they leave the chances of acquittal too small for a far more orthodox theologian than Dr. Briggs. As it is an official matter, a resignation would have saved the country and not injured the reputation of the learned heretic.

This does not seem to be very likely material for a dream, but it is what we dreamed one night last week: That church nomenclature had undergone such a radical revolution that the various bodies of Christians were known but by alphabetical designations. Thus B. stood for Baptist, a name equally descriptive of other ecclesiastical bodies; C. for Catholic, in this age not remarkable for catholicity; D. for Disciple, which can not describe any single company of Christ's worshippers; E. for Episcopal, which stands for all the more ancient orthodox churches; F. for Faithist, expressing too much by far; I. for Independent, which can not claim the title exclusively; L. for Lutherans, whom Luther would scarcely recognize at this date; M. for Methodist, often too unmethodical to deserve the title, while as a term of reproach it has long lost its significance; P. for Presbyterian, more orderly than elderly; U. for United Brethren, as though it were not sanctified vanity to adopt such a christening; and S. for Salvation Army, which ought to describe a much greater host than the adherents of Gen. Booth. But what's in a dream or a name?

The following is a Northern editor's estimate of Bishop Keener:

Naturally enough we looked upon Bishop Keener, of the Church, South, with no favorable prejudices. Yet the first impression was pleasant. He was presiding. A massive frame, with a sallow, clean-shaven face, nose and mouth denoting firmness and strength, a noble forehead; a tawny old lion in repose. What he would be if fully aroused we can only imagine. His features are aquiline, cheekbones prominent. Arapahoe, Crow, Comanche, or Sioux would feel at home under his chieftainship. Not that he is a savage; for in social and domestic life he is said to be the most amiable of men. But when he wants the scalp of a Northern brave, he has a vicious way of throwing his tomahawk and slashing with his butcher knife. And yet he magazines his humor in his eye, and fires his jokes singly or by volley. He is, therefore, heterogeneously composite; an amiable old savage or a masterful old Bishop, according to your standpoint; possibly the mighty force which he really is, is thus conditioned. Only we are dreadfully afraid that he will not bury the tomahawk until he takes it with him. He is a rugged old hero, after all; no railroad passes in his pocket; no checks for periodical articles among his assets; himself is his own, with judgment confessed only to Jesus Christ.—Western Christian Advocate.

Editorial Correspondence.

The rule adopted by the Conference, and rigidly adhered to, of allowing only five minutes to off-hand speakers is a good rule only in the case of the man who has nothing to say. It very effectually closes the lips of some of the most thoughtful men in the body.

The third day was in some respects a breezy, and in other respects a gushing day. The subject was the "Unity and Catholicity of the Christian Church." In the morning the speakers were Rev. T. G. Selby, of the Wesleyan Church; Dr. A. S. Hunt, of the M. E. Church; and Rev. Thomas Mitchell, of the Primitive Methodist Church. In the evening Dr. A. Coke Smith, of our church; Rev. W. Redfern, of the United Free Church; Rev. T. J. Osborn, of the Methodist Protestant, and Rev. J. LeHuray, of the New Connection, were the speakers. At both morning and evening sessions quite a number of extempore speeches were made, some of them pleading for organic union between the various bodies of Methodism in the old country, and also between the various bodies in this country. On this point there was no voice from our side of the house. I suppose that our representatives considered the question of too much moment to be dealt with in one-half day of the Conference. There are too many and great issues involved to warrant, on our side, even the wisest among us to try to settle the matter in a five-minutes' speech. Some were greatly surprised at our silence on this point; but if they had been in our place, they would have been equally surprised at the simplicity of the others on this question, which to us is a simple question of life. To settle the issues between two great churches by the gush of a few five-minutes' talks is an absurdity.

The fourth day, morning, was devoted to a consideration of the "Church and Scientific Thought." A very able paper, by Percy W. Bunting, editor of the Contemporary Review, was read by a member of the Conference, Mr. Bunting not being present. The title of the paper was the "Influence of Modern Scientific Progress on Religious Thought." So far as I am able to judge, this is by far the ablest essay yet read before the Conference. Dr. Terry, of the M. E. Church, followed in a fifteen-minutes' speech on the "Attitude of the Church toward the Various Phases of Unbelief," and Rev. W. T. Davison, tutor in Richmond College, of the Wesleyan Church, spoke on the "Bible and Modern Criticism." It was evident to all that these men were hampered by the time limit and did not say half of what they wanted to say. The inexorable gavel rapped them down in the middle of a sentence, and we were left to guess at the rest. The extempore speeches after this discussion were not satisfactory to the speakers themselves nor to the Conference.

The evening was given to an excursion to Mount Vernon, the home and tomb of Washington. Imagine a "mixed multitude" of about 800 or 1,000 people on a not very large steamboat, steaming down the Potomac sixteen miles, and then scattering around, here and there, in and out, above and below, hither and thither, rushing along to see all they can in forty minutes, and then jamming and cramming themselves on the boat again, and steaming up the river again, and then pushing and squeezing themselves into the street cars, and you have a picture of the excursion of the Ecumenical Conference to Mount Vernon.

All the evangelical pulpits of the city were filled on Sabbath by members of the Conference. As I could only go to one church, I determined to hear Hugh Price Hughes, of the West London Mission. He preached in our church, Mount Vernon Place, at eleven o'clock, on, "What do ye more than others?" The idea running through the sermon and emphasized and illustrated at every point was that Christianity was an extra something. The house was packed and everybody listened. It was a simple presentation of the gospel truth, that to be a Christian is to be like Christ, and that this present time is the time to practice Christ-likeness. I heard him again in the afternoon on, "I am the Light of the World." It was simple and soul-nourishing. In both sermons Mr. Hughes presented Christ to his hearers, and exhorted them to an immediate surrender of themselves to him. He is evidently alive to the fact that men need the gospel here and now, and he presents it with all the force and fervor of a man who realizes the truth of what he preaches.

Sunday evening I heard Dr. William Briggs, of the Canadian Church. It was a very religious and comforting sermon from the text, "Jesus only."

Thus ended the Sabbath.

The discussions of the fifth day of the Conference were of a most interesting character. The morning was devoted to the "Responsibilities and Qualifications of the Preacher." Bishop Foster, of the M. E. Church, gave an able address on the "Preacher's Qualifications for His Vocation." He was followed by Rev. John Bond, of the Wesleyan Church, in a very sensible talk, and he was succeeded by Rev. W. H. Day, of the A. M. E. Z. Church. The five-minutes' speeches did not amount to much, though a good many were made. Among all these talks on this important subject only one speaker had the temerity to enumerate "common sense" as one of the necessary qualifications of the preacher. I thought to myself, "That brother's head is level." If a preacher needs anything more than he needs sanctified common sense, we would be glad to know what it is.

The evening session was given to the Press. Hugh Price Hughes, of London, read a brilliant paper on the "Religious Press and the Religious Uses of the Secular Press." The paper was listened to with profound attention and elicited the heartiest applause. Rev. E. H. Dewart, editor of the Christian Guardian, Toronto; Dr. J. Ferguson, president of the Primitive Methodist Church, and Dr. E. E. Hoss, editor of the Christian Advocate, Nashville, Tenn., all made interesting addresses. Then began a sprinkle of five-minutes' speeches from all parts of the house—some of them wise, some pertinent, some otherwise and impertinent. The general drift seemed to be that the secular world knew how to make and how to utilize the newspaper better than the church does. We have learned that in Mississippi and Louisiana long ago. If the church at large could have heard this discussion, it would be of immense benefit; as it did not hear it, our papers will have to "plod their weary way" for years to come without much hope or help.

"Lay Agency in the Church" occupied the mind of the Conference during the sixth day. A fine essay by Rev. James Travis, missionary secretary of the Primitive Methodists, opened the day, Bishop Ninde, of the M. E. Church, following in a most entertaining address on the "Deaconess Movement," and he was followed by Mr. Walters, secretary, London Mission, Wesleyan Church, on "Methodist Brotherhoods and Sisterhoods." These addresses all emphasized the fact, which is becoming more and more apparent to all observers, that if the church succeeds in this generation, it will be through the instrumentality of the lay agencies. The laymen and women must go to work as never before if the church is to save the people.

The evening session was devoted to "Woman's Work in the Church," and was discussed pro and con, and con and pro, until the hour for adjournment, and a good and observing brother remarked that he believed the "women got the best of it," as they always do.

Monday afternoon, October 12, President Harrison gave the Conference a reception at the "White House." It was cold and raining; but I believe most of the Conference was present, and went through the formality of "shaking hands" with Mr. Harrison, the President of the United States. Our English brethren seemed to be astonished at the simplicity and informality of the President's receptions.

Monday evening there was a reception in the church for fraternal delegates from the Presbyterian and Baptist Churches. Dr. Stephenson, president of the British Conference, presided, and speeches of fraternal greeting were made by Dr. Hall, of New York, Dr. Chambers, Dr. Green and Dr. Mirkland, and responded to by the president, William Arthur, Bishop Wilson, and Dr. Carman, of Canada. These speeches showed how much nearer to each other the denominations are to-day than they were fifty years ago, and the prospect is, that as the years go by, they will come closer still and march forward in solid phalanx together for the conquest of the world for Christ.

The seventh day was a great day with the Conference, and the subject under consideration was one of the greatest importance to the church and society—the subject of education. So important did the Conference consider it, that three sessions were held to discuss the subject. Every branch of the subject passed under the review of some of the ablest minds of the church. The first session considered the subject in the family and in the Sunday-school. The second session took up elementary education, secondary education, sectarianism and State education. The third session discussed university education. The subject in all these branches was thoroughly handled. According to my judgment, the best papers were read by Dr. Burwash, of Canada, and Dr. Warren, of Boston University.

The eighth day was consumed by discussions of "Romanism" in the morning, and "Temperance" in the evening. I did not hear anything new on either one of these subjects. I suppose, however, that it was well for the Conference to put itself on record on both these important subjects.

C. W. C.

"Blow Ye the Trumpet."

The virtue of a cause is not in its loudness, but its success often is. It takes a brass band and displayed head-lines to deal with that stolid animal that we call the public, and the best advertised man, business, party, wins. The age has so much to see and so many enjoyments and employments that it wants a sonorous reason for turning its head. And it has been so often cheated by the common devices used to attract its attention, such as the above-named, that it is as hard to stalk as wild game east of the Mississippi.

This should make us tolerant of many things that might ordinarily excite opposition and even indignation, as a thread of sensation in a good discourse, a witty paragraph in a religious newspaper, a religious service in the open air, etc. We confess to some slight prejudice against the cornet among instruments of music in the sanctuary; but when on more than one occasion we heard it speak the praises of the Lord with melodious fluency to an auditory which nothing but the sound of its voice would have attracted, the spell of prejudice was broken. Hugh Price Hughes, who is doing as much for the conversion of the world as any living man, owes much to his brass band, and to his men and women singers. Music is heavenly, and the more musical it is, the more heavenly it is. You would find it hard to dispossess the public of that fantasy. How that Jerusalem choir must have stirred up the enthusiasm of the sacred nation and have wrought with a force only less than divination upon even "Parthians, Elamites, and the dwellers in Mesopotamia"! For ages it bolstered a dying ritual and made a worship of tradition not only tolerable, but popular.

In this age one of the most effective sorts of preaching is good singing. How many a man has been sung into the kingdom of heaven who never dreamed of his propinquity to that divine subject! Methodism among evangelisms dominates all other soul-saving bodies because it started with an inspired hymn factory. It is mighty in song, and must continue so to be or perish. The old ship of Zion has landed many a cargo on the shining strand, and though its popularity wanes, it will, perhaps, "land as many more." This shouting in numbers and in rhythmic and metric harmonies is the sort to which nobody objects and that does execution. The hallelujah lass and tamborine and their conquests not only teach that God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, but also that "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast."

Let us be instructed and get up a counter-attraction, and with the musical accompaniments thereto let the cornet be thrown in for good measure. There are some dead, it is admitted, whom nothing will arouse but the "voice of God and the trump of an archangel;" but if we study our commission, that will appear no adequate reason why Sinai's cornet should not be heard, "sounding long and waxing louder and louder."

Methodist Union.

Unity is sometimes better than union. When the Emperor Charles V., in valetudinary retirement, experimented with a cabinet of clocks and failed to adjust any two of them to perfectly synchronous movement, it is said that he reflected with bitterness upon his effort of a lifetime to subject the imperious race of man to the domination of one will. The more men who differ are bound with artificial bands, social or political, the more do they rebel, and the more violent their prejudices against federation. An union of hearts is a good thing, if not the best. Jesus, the risen Savior, is the Great Head of the church, and we "are members one of another, and of his body in particular," and we can hardly strengthen this compact by human legislation without contributing to the chances of schism. Nobody could convince the writer of these lines that he loved a Methodist brother less because he lived north of Mason's and Dixon's line, and belonged to a separate ecclesiastical jurisdiction. But if he were suddenly and without adequate cause laden with that brother's cares, fears and prejudices without his territorial vantage-ground, and without the certainty of an affectionate concern, at least, equal to his own, he assuredly could not love him more. As long as the world and the one great race of one blood are divided up into sections there will be sects or something corresponding thereto, and there ought to be. It i… big world, and we can not br… England to America nor smug… Canada into New Zealand wi… out worse trouble than can be d… nified by the term, "territo… disaffection." The greatest re… lutions that have cursed … world have sprung from warr… families. There is a blossom… fraternity more than ordina… bright and promising in … ecumenical idea and celebrati… Let us not wither it with … contentions about organic uni… The M. E. Church is too ma… moth a subject even at this w… ing to run without side sho… and with Bishop Taylor … Africa, and Bishop Thoburn … the growing community in Ind… let the advocates of union … content.

Is not providence a safe gui… in this as in other matters, … may we not sometimes walk … diverging paths if we are ca… ful to follow him who is … Way, the Truth and the Li… Did Methodists ever part as e… mies and without the sanction … Heaven, and do they ever m… but as friends? But a Metho… ism united would fall into dege… eracy like the satrapies of Per… or the conquests of Alexand… the Great, which are said … have been piled together … thickly as to produce comb… tion. A Methodist Church … American soil that could dict… Presidents and Congresses wo… be an unmixed evil, and we w… never to see it. That wou… bring Jesuitry and its namel… evils. Therefore, let us … nounce sentiment and have co… sanguinal union or none; bro… erly love, and not a political co… enant.

Notes.

The lottery respects neither G… man nor Democracy.

If it does not help the cause, it … help the faith of Christians to p… against the lottery.

If the lottery continues to reign, … clouds of curse will continue to … upon the horizon of fair Louisiana.

The man who prays pays, and … man who pays will get more for … money if he invoke God's blessing … his gifts.

"A few prominent funerals," is … common desire of all aspiring radi… in Church and State. But apart fr… its revolutionary quality, this is … most unchristian—not to say, murd… ous—sentiment.

The John Wesley Methodist S… venir Spoon—containing medall… head of Wesley, Epworth parson… and fac-simile signature of the foun… of Methodism—in sterling silver o… is advertised by a leading jeweler… Washington City.

The lottery's temper was not ben… at the opening of the State Cen… Committee when votes came high; … it will be raving mad, and pouring … dole to every unbought beggar in … State before the end of the grea… canvass that ever shook Louisiana.

The lottery resolved itself into … plottery last week and captured … Democratic State Central Committ… Mark you the most disreputa… scheme of that Legislature, which … be known as Black-and-Tan as long … the State has a history, fulmina… orders to the Democracy of Louisia… Why this?

The lottery as an economist has … equals. It had one majority in … State Central Committee, one in … Legislature, one in the Senate and … in the Supreme Court, and saved th… sands to its State exchequer. But … fear that it has been a trifle impro… dent in its outlay for newspapers … ward strikers.

There is somewhat more of … about this Ecumenical Assembly th… that which met in London ten ye… ago; but while inferior in this resp… it is, perhaps, superior to that histo… body in its intellectual display. … the connection we feel called upon … say that when a man or a thing, … pecially if on a pedestal, descends … gush, that person or thing needs … forming to that extent.

A correspondent of the Southwest… Presbyterian—first column, first pag… heads his article, "More Preach… Wanted," and exhorts on that li… He makes it appear later that "pe… patetic divines" is the subject … more immediate craving—a statem… in which Christians of every name … sympathize, while we proffer … observation that it is not only a … wide want, but a very old one.

Personal and Otherwise.

Rev. S. S. Keener, of Plaquemine, gave us a pleasant call last week. He reports his work in good condition.

Mr. Spurgeon has returned to London in better health. He will leave for Mentone, his southern recruiting station, in a few days.

Bro. A. D. McVoy, Jr., looked in on us before leaving for home on Wednesday last. He has been assisting in the meeting at Louisiana Avenue.

Bro. Scurlock reports, Oct. 20, that his meeting at Grand Prairie closed with twenty conversions and twenty-nine accessions. They have a lot for a church, and will make an heroic effort to build.

At the meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee the proposition of the anti-lottery members to submit the question of lottery or no lottery to white primaries was distinctly rejected.

Rev. T. W. Lewis writes, Oct. 16:

Rev. Charles H. Owen, of the North Mississippi Conference, died last night at ten o'clock. He leaves a wife and two small children. He was conscious to the last. He died easy. One of our best men is gone.

Rayne Memorial Church has contracted for a Shillinger pavement on its three hundred feet of two frontages, besides some repairs on the building. One of the most liberal contributors to these improvements is Edward Booth, Esq., a member of another congregation.

The following sad note is received from Rev. R. J. Jones just as we go to press:

Dr. Abbey is seriously sick at his home in Yazoo City. Apparently his long career is nearly ended; his great work well-nigh accomplished. His message to the church is: "I am ready to go; willing to stay."

The New Orleans Presbytery met in Dr. Markham's (Lafayette Presbyterian) Church, at 7:30 o'clock, Oct. 14. The retiring moderator, Dr. B. M. Palmer, preached an eloquent sermon from the text, "The Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God" (1. Cor. ii, 10). Rev. E. Forman, D. D., was elected moderator for the ensuing session.

Rev. T. L. Mellen: "Our East End (Meridian, Miss.) congregation, Rev. H. C. Brown, P. C., occupied their partially completed house of worship last Sunday, Oct. 4. Work is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily, and the house will probably be completed and ready for dedication before Conference. There are 125 members in this charge, and 185 in the Sunday-school."

Mrs. Emma Parham Randolph, favorably known to many of our New Orleans readers, has become prominently connected in the instruction department with the Grenada Collegiate Institute. We are glad to hear that Prof. Newell's school had a fine opening, with more than one scholarly accession to its faculty, and that its movement in this and other respects is still onward and upward.

Dr. Young's new book—"Sketchy Pages of Foreign Travel"—is a racy recounting of what he saw journeying through Europe on a supplementary tour of that country. Beginning with "Castles in Spain," not airy, but marble, like the royal residence in Madrid, and vast like the Escurial, and majestic like the Alhambra, he itinerates through the great continent of wonders, seemingly without missing an item of interest. Even Stamboul and the dominions of the Tsar pay glowing tribute to his pages. This volume the Nashville justly says is the best of the Doctor's books; but, at his worst, we may add, he sees with the eye of a philosopher and sketches with the brilliancy of a war correspondent. Bound in cloth, gilt, 75 cents; leatherette, 50 cents. Barbee & Smith, Nashville, Tenn.

The ADVOCATE has received from Wharton's the first volume of the International Theological Library, a new publication of great interest to scholars, issuing from the popular house of Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. Already, we are informed, twelve volumes of this series have been arranged for from the pens of the most learned and brilliant scholars of this country and Great Britain. The editors of the Library, "intended to form a series of text-books for students of theology," it is announced, will be C. A. Briggs, D. D., of Union Theological Seminary, New York, and S. D. F. Salmund, D.D., of Free Church College, Aberdeen. This first volume is an Introduction to the Literature of the Old Testament by the eminent savant, S. R. Driver, D. D., Regius Professor of Hebrew and Canon of Christ Church, Oxford. The cost is $2 50, and can be had, we presume, at Wharton's, 5 Carondelet St.

The following report of the opening of the New Orleans University has been sent us for publication:

New Orleans University opened Oct. 5, with an enrollment on the first day of ninety-three above that of last year. All the teachers were present and entered upon the work with enthusiasm. President Adkinson and family spent the Summer in the city, and had the building and grounds in splendid order for the reception of students.

The growth of the institution is remarkable; the enrollment having gone up from two hundred and four in 1887 to five hundred and sixty-two in 1891. The attendance this year will, no doubt, reach eight hundred.

Stirring addresses were made on opening day by Revs. Ernest Lyon, J. W. Hudson and Emperor Williams.

The faculty, students and the Conference work together in perfect harmony. The one hope of all now is that Bishop Mallalieu may be successful in finding friends to complete the purchase of the building and endow the Medical College.

Notes from Japan.

The Japan Mission of the M. E. Church, South, convened in its fifth annual session in our church in Kobe on Aug. 26. Four of the members were absent: Rev. W. R. Lambuth, M. D., D. D., superintendent of the mission, now in America; Miss Kate Harlan, also in America, and Misses Gaines and Strider, detained by mission duties.

In the absence of the Bishop and the superintendent, it was necessary to elect a president, pro tem, and Rev. J. W. Lambuth, D. D., the veteran of forty years' service in mission work, was chosen to preside. This was a deserved honor, and one worthily bestowed. Our mission, as a whole, rejoices in the zealous and continued labors of this father in Israel, and we pray that he and his faithful wife, whose hands are always full of labors for her Lord, may be spared to the church for many years.

Our sessions were harmonious and spiritual. The heat was intense; but still much hard work was done, and plans promising good results were inaugurated.

The mission has found for several reasons that the Fall is not the best season of the year for our annual sessions, much time being lost and our plans for the next year's work being seriously hindered by a Fall meeting, and so unanimously requested the College of Bishops to appoint our sessions "not later than the first Wednesday in July." It is earnestly desired that this request be granted, as it is a matter of considerable importance to our work. Nearly all of the other missions in Japan hold their annual meetings in the Spring or early Summer—in fact, I do not recall any that hold them in the Fall.

The mission also adopted a resolution requesting the College of Bishops, if possible, to have one of their number visit us annually. None but those who are out in the mission field can fully appreciate what the visit of a Bishop means to the little band of struggling laborers who are working so far away from the church at home. His wise counsels, sympathy, words of encouragement and prayers go far "to strengthen the weak hands and confirm the feeble knees" of the toilers in the field, and to send us forth with renewed inspiration for the work of another year. The mere matter of expense should not enter into the question at all. The annual visit of a Bishop to our two missions in the East is worth so much to our work that it can not be compared to its cost in dollars and cents.

The reports from the different members of the mission showed that the year had been the most successful one that the mission has ever had. This fact is full of encouragement and contains great promise for the future. The work of the past year has been accomplished in the face of many unusual difficulties and in the presence of a decided reaction against Christianity and Western civilization.

The Japan Mail, the principal English paper of the Empire, in commenting on the annual report of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions—the largest mission in Japan—for last year, says:

To the report, however, we have turned with special curiosity because the interval to which it refers was one of doubt and trial to the missionary class in Japan. They found themselves in the presence of a national sentiment which has been described by some critics as a reaction against occidental civilization. . . . So far as concerns the evangelistic section, the record is not favorable. The increase in church membership was smaller than in previous years. . . . There can be no doubt that Christian propagandism, like everything else of foreign origin, has had to suffer a certain setback during the past two years. This influence has made itself felt in the missionary schools also.

And yet in the face of this "setback" all of our mission work, in every branch, has shown a decided and marked increase for the year. Surely God has been with us, and his blessings have been upon our feeble efforts! There was a gain of over one hundred church members. This brings our roll of native members beyond four hundred. Our Sunday-schools showed such an increase that the chairman of the Sunday-school Committee said that when he footed up the columns, he could scarcely believe his eyes, for they showed a net increase of 17 schools and 567 scholars. The educational work reported an advance in every school, with an increase of over two hundred pupils, and, best of all, many of the pupils were converted during the year and joined the church, thus clearly showing that our school work is owned of God and is valuable as an evangelistic agency.

The Kobe Church reported a forward step in the important matter of self-support. During the year they made their native pastor a monthly payment amounting in all to sixty yen—about $50 in gold. This, as a beginning, was very gratifying, and was a considerable sum in view of the smallness and general poverty of the membership. We expect this year that the amount will be increased, and that, at least, two more churches will make a beginning in this direction.

During the year two new churches were organized and two church-buildings, together with land, were provided for. The houses are now being built, and the congregations will move into them by winter.

But greatest of all the results of the year, and one which causes devout gratitude to God, was the presentation of three young men, graduates of our biblical school, at the doors of our annual meeting for admission on trial into the traveling connection. These young men have been members of our church over four years, and, having taken a three years' course in theology, under Bros. Newton and Demaree, go out into the work, as we believe, called of God, and with the credentials of our own theological school. We have great hopes of them, and believe that they will be used of God to do a great work in their native land.

The Missionary and Church Extension Societies held their usual anniversaries, and vindicated their right to exist by the report of the good work they had done, which had been considerable. Their annual collections reached the sum of 400 yen and 245 yen, respectively, or about $320 and $200 in gold. I do not believe that there is another annual gathering in our entire church that gives as liberally as the Japanese Mission to those causes. If there is, I would like to hear of it.

I shall never forget the earnest appeal made to the annual meeting for more missionaries by a native worker from a circuit that covers a coast line of about one hundred and fifty miles, and embracing a million and a half of people. Here, in the midst of all this ignorance and darkness, a little band of believers have been struggling for three years; but we can do nothing for them, for our hands are tied for lack of men and money.

Bro. Wilson, who has been in charge of this circuit, traveled last year 5,290 miles in prosecution of his work, taught from fifteen to eighteen hours every week, and held from seven to eight services a week, besides language study and the time spent in receiving many visitors and enquirers. What was the result of these severe labors in a climate hostile to foreigners? Just what was to be expected. Bro. Wilson, a man of robust health and strong constitution, came to Kobe at the beginning of Summer so worn-out and broken down that he has only just begun to be himself again at the end of a three-months' rest. Bro. Wilson says that he will not be able to do the same work this year, and he certainly should not. Such a thing as a missionary, the representative of a great church of 1,200,000 members, laboring to the point of breaking down in order to supply the church's lack of service toward their worker should not be necessary, and is a serious reflection either on the piety or liberality of the church. That the church has men willing to come to our help there is no doubt, for many are saying, "Here am I; send me." But the hands of the Board are tied, hardened, as they are, by a debt of $118,000 and hindered in their work by slow collections from a church, many of whose members are rich and prosperous; and so the Lord's cause must suffer and souls go down in dark despair into Christless graves by the hundreds and thousands. These things ought not to be! On! for the glad day when the church of God will come up to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord against the mighty!

The appointments for the ensuing year are as follows:

KOBE DISTRICT.

Kobe district, J. W. Lambuth.
Kobe station, W. E. Towson, K. Usaki.
East Osaka, O. A. Dukes.
West Osaka, J. M. Rollins.
Kwansei Gakuin—Professors in Theological Department, J. C. C. Newton, T. W. B. Demaree, S. H. Wainright; professor in Literary Department, and school chaplain, N. W. Utley.
East Kobe mission, S. H. Wainright.
Kakogawa, J. C. C. Nowton.
Himeji, T. W. B. Demaree.
Kobe Bible Woman's School, Mary F. Bice.

HIROSHIMA DISTRICT.

Hiroshima district, B. W. Waters.
Hiroshima station, B. W. Waters, Y. Tanaka.
Hiroshima Girls' School—principal, N. B Galnes.
Hiroshima Girls' School, L. C. Strider.
Yamaguchi circuit, S. Suaw.
Iwakuni, to be supplied.

MATSUYAMA DISTRICT.

Matsuyama district, C. B. Moseley.
Matsuyama circuit, C. B. Moseley, E Nakayama.
Oita, W. A. Wilson.
Uwajima, W. A. Davis.

W. E. TOWSON.

Kobe, Japan, Sept. 9, 1891.

Notices.

The Rev. C. H. Owen died at Bellvar, Miss., Oct. 15. He was a member of the Relief Association of the North Mississippi Conference. Members will take notice and pay their mortuary dues (five dollars) within sixty days from this, Oct. 17, 1891.

THOS J. NEWELL, Sec'y.

To the Members of the Louisiana Ministerial Brotherhood:

Dear Brethren: Rev. B. F. Alexandor having been called to his reward on Sept. 29, you are hereby notified to pay in Assessment No. 2, according to Article 8 of our Constitution. Remit the amount—five dollars—to the financial secretary at Plaquemine, La.

S. S. KEENER,
Financial Secretary.

To the Members of the North Mississippi Conference:

Will the presiding elders please send me the names of all delegates-elect and applicants for admission into the Conference. All brethren who want to bring their wives with them to Conference must notify me of the fact by the first day of November. Any notifications after the above date can not be considered. I will do the best I can to accommodate all that notify me before Nov. 1. J. H. MITCHELL.

Macon, Miss.

The preachers of the Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences who have Millsaps College endowment notes in their hands—notes that have been sent them for collection, or have come to hand in any other way; notes that mature at any time, past or future—will please mail them at once to A. F. Watkins, agent, Jackson, Miss.

Please do not neglect this, as it is important in view of the approaching Conference sessions and the collections to be made in the meanwhile.

A. F. WATKINS, Agent.

Jackson, Miss.

Every systematic housekeeper keeps Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup on hand. Price 25 cents.

For pain in the joints, rheumatism and gout, Salvation Oil has no equal. Price 25 cents.

Church Extension.

The following are the Conference appointments of the Church Extension Secretaries:

Dr. Morton will attend Tennessee, North Texas, Texas, Arkansas, Memphis, N. W. Texas, Little Rock, East Texas, Louisiana and White River.

Dr. Morris will attend Mexican Border, W. Texas, German Mission, W. North Carolina, Virginia, North Carolina, N. Alabama, N. Mississippi, Mississippi and Alabama.

Woman's Duty.

She owes it to herself and to the entire human family to fight the inroads of disease. Creole Female Tonic eradicates disease and makes the weak woman strong.

Purchasing Bureau.

Special attention given to orders from country stores and for household and family supplies by D. L. Mitchel, business manager of this paper, who has had many years' experience as city and country merchant. Please address Purchasing Bureau, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

All orders must be accompanied with cash.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post-Office. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

$65 A Month and board, or highest commission and 30 days credit to Agents, Teachers, Students, Young Men or Ladies to canvass for New Book. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia, Pa., or St. Louis, Mo.

Episcopal Visitation for 1891 and 1892.

Conference.	Date.	Place.	Bishop.
Tennessee	Oct. 28	West End, Nashville, Tenn.	Wilson
Mexican Border	Oct. 28	Laredo, Texas	Haygood
West Texas	Oct. 28	San Marcos, Texas	Fitzgerald
Indian Mission	Nov. 1	Oklahoma City, Oklahoma	Hendrix
West North Carolina	Nov. 5	Asheville, North Carolina	Galloway
German Mission	Nov. 5	New Fountain, Texas	Fitzgerald
Virginia	Nov. 11	Petersburg, Virginia	Keener
North Texas	Nov. 11	Terrell, Texas	Hendrix
Central Mexico	Nov. 11	City of Mexico, Mexico	Haygood
Texas	Nov. 18	Austin, Texas	Fitzgerald
North Carolina	Nov. 19	Greenville, North Carolina	Galloway
Arkansas	Nov. 25	Russellville, Arkansas	Duncan
Memphis	Nov. 25	Mayfield, Kentucky	Key
Northwest Mexican	Nov. 25	El Paso, Texas	Haygood
Northwest Texas	Nov. 25	Cordenna, Texas	Fitzgerald
South Georgia	Dec. 2	Cordele, Georgia	Keener
South Carolina	Dec. 2	Darlington, South Carolina	Granbery
Little Rock	Dec. 2	Arkadelphia, Arkansas	Duncan
North Mississippi	Dec. 2	Macon, Mississippi	Hendrix
North Alabama	Dec. 2	Decatur, Alabama	Galloway
Mississippi	Dec. 9	Brookhaven, Mississippi	Hendrix
North Georgia	Dec. 9	Cartersville, Georgia	Key
East Texas	Dec. 9	Henderson, Texas	Fitzgerald
Louisiana	Dec. 16	Alexandria, Louisiana	Keener
White River	Dec. 16	New Port, Arkansas	Duncan
Alabama	Dec. 16	Selma, Alabama	Hendrix
Florida	Jan. 8	Tampa, Florida	Granbery
Baltimore	Mar 24	Harrisonburg, Virginia	Keener

Special Offer

FOR

New Subscribers

AND

Renewals.

All new subscribers paying $2 in advance will receive this paper until January 1, 1893.

All renewals paying their present indebtedness during the next twenty-five days will be credited with three months' subscription.

PRIZE OFFERS.

Anyone sending in $2 for a new subscriber will be paid a commission of fifty cents, and, in addition, those sending in ten new subscribers between now and the meeting of their Annual Conference will be given a beautifully printed, bound and illustrated copy of "Farrar's Life of Christ," worth $3.

Those sending in five new subscribers during the above period will be given a silvered-bound copy of Prof. Henry Drummond's five great addresses, entitled, "The Greatest Thing in the World," "Pax Vobiscum," "The Changed Life," "A Talk with Boys," and "How to Learn How." This book is sold at $1.25.

All payments must be in either cash to the preacher in charge or sent to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

N. B.—In addition to the above, the person sending the largest number of cash new subscribers by the time their Annual Conference meets, will be presented with five pounds of Stuart's celebrated pecan nuts for planting and ten choice Stuart pecan trees.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the large and spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All Its Branches and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this Institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director,
169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

MAGIC LANTERNS AND STEREOPTICONS

afford the best and cheapest means of object teaching for Colleges, Schools and Sunday Schools. Our assortment of Views, illustrating art, science, history, religion and travel, is immense. For Home Amusement and Parlor Entertainment, etc., nothing can be found as instructive or amusing, while Church Entertainments, Public Exhibitions and Popular Illustrated Lectures—

An instrument with a choice selection of Views makes a splendid Holiday present. We are the largest manufacturers and dealers and ship to all parts of the world. If you wish to know how to order, how to conduct Parlor Entertainments for pleasure, or Public Exhibitions, etc., for MAKING MONEY, send us your name and address on a postal card (naming this paper), and we will mail you our 208 PAGE BOOK FREE.

PAY WELL.

McALLISTER, Manufact'g Optician, 49 Nassau St., N. Y. City.

BRYANT & STRATTON Business College

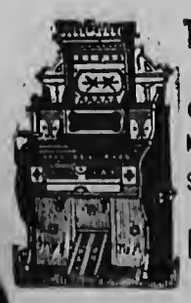
BOOK-KEEPING, SHORTHAND, TELEGRAPHY, &C.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND FULL INFORMATION. LOUISVILLE, KY.

GOOD NEWS
FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF
Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a
TINY LIVER PILL
which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of
TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS
is shown in the border of this "ad."

Of Making Books
there is no end, and the following list comprises some of the best:

The Story of a Musical Life. An Autobiography, by Geo. F. Root. Cloth, $1.25. Gospel Hymns No. 6, the new Gospel Song book by Sankey, McGranahan and Stebbins. 35c. by mail. Musical Analysis. A system designed to cultivate the art of analyzing and criticising music. By A. J. Goodrich. Cloth, $2.00. The Thorough Banjoist. A standard method for this favorite instrument. By F. W. Wessenberg. $1.00. Popular College Songs. The best collection of its kind ever issued at a low price. Compiled by L. Honore of Harvard College. 50 cents.
Florens, the Pilgrim. A beautiful Cantata for children and adults. By David Gow and Geo. F. Root. 30 cents. Jacob and Esau. A Cantata for Adults. By A. J. Foxwell and Geo. F. Root. 50 cents.
☞ Any of the above sent postpaid on receipt of price.
THE MUSICAL VISITOR contains Anthems and Organ Voluntaries for Choirs and Organists. Price 15cts.; $1.50 a year. Special terms to Clubs of five or more.
—PUBLISHED BY—
THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,
74 W. 4th St., CINCINNATI, O. 18 E. 16th St., NEW YORK



THIS ORGAN
ONLY $29.00
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.
ADDRESS
H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, N. J.

IF YOU WANT AN ORGAN AT A BARGAIN
BUY NOW
SPECIAL SUMMER SALE
500
FINE ORGANS at Way Down Prices—to close.
Easy Terms—$3 to $5 monthly —or $10 Cash, balance in Fall. No Interest.
GREAT BARGAINS
Must be sold. Can't hold.
Write for Bargain Sheet.
LUDDEN & BATES,
SAVANNAH, GA.

GOLDEN MEMORIES
BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.
8 Col'd Plates, 60 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations!
A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ART!
A Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown, sold at a price within the reach of all.
AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP.
HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE
Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., FOR Catalogue.

BAILEY'S
Improved light-spreading Silver-plated Corrugated Glass
REFLECTORS
A wonderful invention for lighting Churches, Halls, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Catalogue and price list free.
Handsome designs.
BAILEY REFLECTOR CO.
1026 Penn Ave. Pittsburgh, Pa.
For Electric Light or Gas
For Oil

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1 at Druggists.

How To Cure Piles.
We will send our new, highly endorsed scientific booklet, "How to Cure Piles," free to any one troubled with Piles or Constipation, if they mention this paper and enclose a 2c. stamp for postage. Send quickly, the number of free books is limited.
THE GLOBE MEDICINE CO. Cincinnati, O.

AGENTS send for How I Made a House and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a Home, or business change. $75 to $100 Monthly. Teachers and ladies find big pay for spare hours. TREASURY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS TO BLYMYER BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Best quality Copper and Tin BELLS
For Churches, Schools, &c.
Also CHIMES AND BELLS.
Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

CANCER and Tumors CURED - no knife! Book Free. Drs. GRATIGNY & NORRIS No. 163 Elm street, Cincinnati, O.

ASTHMA—DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE CURED never fails; send us your address, we will mail trial BOTTLE FREE
THE DR. TAFT BROS. M. CO., ROCHESTER, N.Y.

HOME LIFE.

HOEING AND PRAYING.

Said Farmer Jones, in a whining tone,
To his good old neighbor Gray,
"I've worn my knees nigh through to the bone,
But it ain't no use to pray.

"Your corn looks just twice as nice as mine,
Though you don't pretend to be
A shinin' light in the church to shine,
An' tell salvation's free.

"I've prayed to the Lord a thousand times
For to make that 'ere corn grow;
An' why yourn beats it so, an' climbs,
I'd give a deal to know."

Said Farmer Gray to his neighbor Jones,
In his easy, quiet way:
"When prayers get mixed with lazy bones,
They don't make farmin' pay.

"Your weeds, I notice, are good an' tall
In spite of all your prayers;
You may pray for corn till the heavens fall,
If you don't dig up the tares.

"I mix my prayers with a little toil,
Along in every row;
An' I work this mixture into the soil
Quite vigorous with a hoe.

"An' I've discovered, though still in sin,
As sure as you are born,
This kind of compost well worked in Makes pretty decent corn.

"So while I'm praying I use my hoe,
An' do my level best
To keep down the weeds along each row,
An' the Lord, he does the rest.

"It's well for to pray both night and morn,
As every farmer knows;
But the place to pray for thrifty corn
Is right between the rows.

"An' so I believe, my good old friend,
If you mean to win the day,
From ploughing clean to the harvest's end,
You must hoe as well as pray."

—Christian Leader.

COVETOUSNESS.—It has been said that the great sin of the church is covetousness. Whether this is true or not, we all know that covetousness is a great sin, and a sin which, there is reason to fear, prevails extensively among the membership of the church. It is not generally looked upon as a low and degrading sin, which it really is. One who is covetous does not think he is guilty of a sin closely allied to fetichism; yet this is a fact. "Covetousness is idolatry." Idolatry is to give the creature the place in our hearts which belongs to the Creator. If, instead of trusting in God, we are "trusting in uncertain riches," we are covetous—are idolaters. Christians, especially those upon whom God has bestowed an abundance of this world's goods, ought to guard against this sin. Everyone ought to desire to know whether or not he has fallen into it. We should not content ourselves and quiet our conscience by the thought that we are giving to the Lord somewhat liberally, and even more generously than many of our brethren. We ought to be sure that in the performance of this, as of every other, duty we are doing what God requires us to do.

What makes this sin peculiarly dangerous is that one may profess to be a Christian and yet be covetous, without losing social or religious standing among respectable people. If he were a thief or a drunkard, he would soon be brought into disgrace. But he may keep on robbing the Lord and withholding "the tithes and offerings" all his life, and yet be considered a respectable man.

It is, without doubt, the prevalence of this sin in the church that causes the great lack of means for carrying forward the missionary work of the church. If all were free from this form of idolatry, and giving as the Lord has prospered them, the treasuries of all the boards would be filled to overflowing, and from the opened windows of heaven God's blessing would descend upon the whole church.—United Presbyterian.

PESSIMISM.—In all ages a class of men magnify the faults of the present. In one way or another, according to them, things are getting worse. We are in a bad age. Things used to be better. It is not easy to see how they arrive at such conclusions. The public conscience marks the highest degree of morality ever attained in any age. In what other age would Parnell, Ilike and the Prince of Wales have met such crushing condemnation at the hands of the public as they have undergone this year? Where are the dram-drinking preachers of the past to be found to-day? In what age was the real meaning of the command, "Go preach the gospel to every creature," understood and obeyed as it is to-day? When was the public ever half so ready to defend the oppressed against the oppressor as now? In all our cities societies are being formed to prevent cruelty to dumb brutes even. The enlightened public conscience which these great strides toward higher morality and spirituality so clearly demonstrates is a danger signal to the criminal. What our pessimistic friends look on as disregard of law is sometimes a righteous indignation against a wrong under the color of law. This is not the age for submitting to things essentially hurtful because, forsooth, there is the shadow of custom and order a century old in the way. It is an age for getting at what ought to be in the directest manner. The public may be trusted more safely to-day than at any other period of the world's history, for no harm can come to law and order with a public sentiment so strongly set against crime as it is in this age. We wonder, too, why it does not occur to some of our censors the combined sentiment of the best people is about as likely to be right as their own individual opinions.—Holston Methodist.

LACK OF COURTESY AMONG WOMEN.—The Sunday-School Times ventures the opinion that the average American woman is behind the average American man in point of courtesy, and finds a reason for this condition of things in the fact that boys are, almost from babyhood, trained to yield and defer to the other sex:

"On the other hand, from their girlhood women are accustomed to have deference shown to them, rather than to show deference to others; and they naturally come to expect what they are accustomed to receive. They are not trained to give precedence to those of the other sex; and if they are trained to give it to any of those of their own sex, it is something contrary to the main tendency of their education so far. Girls are not taught to stand aside while boys pass a crossing, or to rise and give boys their seats. As they grow to womanhood, they grow into the habit of being deferred to, and this habit comes to be their second nature. When, therefore, there is any occasion for their competitive struggle with others, or for any assertion of their individual rights in a public place, women are liable to be impelled by all the innate desire for precedence which possesses a man, without being restrained by that habit of giving the first place to another which is a result of the average man's training."

The Sensible Girl.

The sensible young woman is self-reliant. She is not merely a doll to be petted, or a bird to be supported; but though she may be blessed with a father able and willing to care for her every want, she cultivates her capabilities. She seeks to prepare herself for possibilities, and though she may not need to, she qualifies herself to feed and clothe herself, so that, if left alone, she can stand upon her own feet, dependent upon no human being. With the multiplied ways of honest toil now open for young women, it seems quite excuseless for any one of them to be helpless.

There are but few nobler sights than that of a young woman who, though she may have a good home with father and mother that are willing to indulge her to the utmost, realizing the limitation of their means and their hard self-denial, says, "Father shall not be burdened by me; I will be self-reliant and clothe myself; yea, I will help him to educate the younger children." Such an one is a thousand times superior to the pale-fingered, betrizzled, bejewelled substitutes for young women who are good for nothing but to spend a father's hard-earned money.

The sensible young woman is brave. Heroism is not most seen upon great occasions, but in little things. The strength of life is in the power of each little common act. Bravery is best exhibited not in enduring things we can not help, but in the small matters one might help. In such a little thing as dress is a field of heroism—in willingness to be neat and not fashionable, in daring to wear last Winter's cloak or last Spring's bonnet, until you can afford to have another—in being superior to the laws of style. Some young women who would be willing to die for the flag of their country will almost die, in another sense, for the want of a little ribbon.

The sensible young woman makes the best of everything. What we want and what we need are not the same. What we want and do not need makes life miserable. A sensible young woman treats herself as she does her plants. She gives them all the sunshine there is. If there is but one little window in her room, she gives them the benefit of that; and if the sun comes round to them but once a day, she gives them the benefit of that. She does not lock them up in her closet and stifle what life they have because they are so small, but she makes all the more of them because of their smallness. So the sensible young woman lets all the light there is come into her heart, pushes back her fears and throws out her smiles, and thus her life grows in contentment and gladness.—Exchange.

THE PERFECTION OF POLITENESS.—In a company in which I found myself lately, says a writer of the New York Star, the conversation turned upon politeness, which some one well defined as "timely thoughtfulness, with human sympathy behind it." One member of the party told of the most thorough bit of true politeness he ever saw.

"Some time ago," said he, "a friend of mine gave a little dinner, to which a young friend, his wife, and their little child were invited. The child, only three years old, was a very precocious, bashful, and sensitive little one. During the dinner she upset a glass of water upon the table-cloth, and hastily noticed the looks in her direction. Her lips quivered, and her eyes filled with tears. At that moment my friend who gave the dinner knocked over his own glass with a crash that drew every eye in his direction. He laughed over the matter, said it made no difference, etc., and completely succeeded in withdrawing attention from the child, who soon smiled again.

"That I consider to have been the perfection of politeness."

PROMPTLY TRANSPEARED.—Among the stories contributed to the Editor's Drawer in Harper's Monthly, for September, are several by David Ker, the litterateur, of encounters between a wise and witty British Bishop and a grouty general, who had served her Majesty in India and had his temper badly rasped by the climate. On the day of his embarkation for England the general was accompanied by a vast crowd of friends, to whom he began to distribute various small tokens of his regard. "Well, General," asked the Bishop of Calcutta, who was one of the party, "have you no memento to leave to an old friend like me?" "O, I have not forgotten you, my lord," cried the general. "On the contrary, I have bequeathed to you my entire stock of impudence." "Ten thousand thanks, my dear general," replied the undaunted Bishop. "You have given me by far the largest and most valuable part of your property." And then the Bishop's wife turned to her husband, and said, sweetly, "My dear, I am glad to see that you have come into your legacy so soon."

POLITENESS.—"O, he's just as polite!" said little Mabel, ecstatically. "He picks up things, and runs for things, and says, 'Excuse me.'"

"Who?" I asked.

"That Carver boy," she said, pointing to a handsomely dressed little fellow across the room.

"That boy," I cried. "Why I'm visiting at his house, and he bangs the doors, and whistles while his mother is talking, and says, 'Don't bother me,' when she asks him to shut the window. Are you sure it is that boy?"

"Yes," answered Mabel. "Though folks do say his manners are all put on away from home."

When do you put on your manners? And when do you take them off?—Selected.

PAINTING FOR ETERNITY.—When Apelles, the Greek painter, was asked why he bestowed so much labor upon his pictures, he replied, "Because I am painting for eternity." He used the word as a bold figure of speech; but we may use the word literally when we say we are painting the picture of our lives for eternity. We use fast colors. Whatever pure and holy word or deed be wrought into that picture, will stand there, imperishable and immortal. Whatever selfish or sinful thing be painted on that life-canvas can never be washed out except by the application of the blood of Jesus here in this present life. Now or never that precious blood availeth. When death comes, the process of painting stops. No guilty spots can be washed out then. The painting is finished, and it is finished forever.—Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D.

SHE DIDN'T.—Mr. Martin was talking at the dinner table about the inconsistency of women. "These young ladies who protest that they are never going to marry!" he broke out. "Everybody knows they will belie their own words at the very first opportunity." He paused, and evidently hoped that Mrs. Martin would come to the rescue of her sex; but that discreet woman held her tongue. "Why, Mary," he continued, "you remember how it was with yourself. I have heard you say more than once that you wouldn't marry the best man alive." "Well, I didn't," said Mrs. Martin.—Youth's Companion.

Physicians Seldom Indorse
patent medicines, but Magulre's Benne Pinnt is recommended and used by a majority of them because of its superiority over anything for bowel diseases. 75c. per bottle; expressage paid if three bottles are ordered.
J. & C. MAGUIRE, St. Louis, Mo.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

TIT FOR TAT.

BY H. R. HUDSON.

(THE GIRL.)

Now, Pussy Gray,
Come here, I pray;
Listen to what I have to say.
Sit on the cushion at my side
And have your ribbon neatly tied;
You must not scratch, nor growl, nor bite,
And you must never steal, nor fight,
But clear the house of rats and mice,
And keep your fur and whiskers nice.
The things that other pussies do
Would not be right at all for you.
You are my cat,
Remember that.

(THE CAT.)

O, Mistress May,
Your Pussy Gray
Has quite as much as you to say;
You should not scold, nor pinch, nor strike,
Nor feed me only when you like,
Nor shut me out to freeze at night
When you are tucked up warm and tight,
But treat me always in the way
You'd like if you were Pussy Gray.
The things that other people do
Are none the nearer right for you.
I am your cat,
Remember that.

MR. EDITOR: Seeing the example you gave the cousins in your last week's paper, I decided to send my solution of the same. According to my calculation, the boy had 301 nuts in his basket. Give us another example, and I will try my hand on it. Your friend,
MENDRA HILLIARD.
Dublin, Miss., Oct. 9, 1891.

MR. EDITOR: I have been thinking some time about writing to you. I am a constant reader of the children's department, and have never noticed any letters from this part of the country. I am a little girl ten years old. I have two little sisters and no brother. We have service once a month in the Methodist Church. Bro. Morse is our pastor, and we like him very much. We have organized a Sunday-school at Paine's Chapel, and may the Lord help us to keep it up. Hoping to escape the waste-basket, I remain,
Very respectfully, STELLA HAYLIS.

Righteous Monopoly.

A French writer calls kindness "a language which the dumb can speak and the deaf can hear." He might have added, "It is a smile that the blind can see." Kind words and kind acts lose nothing of their lustre when set all by ragged surroundings, as in a case mentioned by the Chicago Herald:

A gentleman wanted an evening Post, and seeing a blind man standing on the street corner with a bundle of papers under his arm, made up to him; but the blind man had sold his last Post, and the customer hailed a passing newsboy.

"Ain't he got none?" said the boy, jerking his grimy thumb toward the blind man.

The gentleman explained that he had already tried to buy one of him.

"P'raps he ain't got none," said the boy, with a cautious look at the customer, "and p'raps he has. You just wait a bit."

He went over to the blind man and handed him a paper, saying something at the same time. Then he came back and informed the would-be purchaser that the blind man could supply him; but before going for his Post, the gentleman wanted to know what the boy's motion meant.

"Well, yer see," said the lad, in answer to the customer's inquiry, "we's agreed to let the blindy have this corner all to himself. We don't none of us sell papers here. If any fellow does, why, he just gits licked. See?"

On being asked who would do the "licking," he replied, "All of us."

It was learned afterwards the blind man himself had had no hand in securing the monopoly, but that the newsboys had given it to him of their own motion.

A BOY'S ESSAY ON TOBACCO.—Tobacco grows something like cabbage, but I never saw none cooked. I have heard men say that cigars that was given them election days for nothing was mostly cabbage leaves. Tobacco stores are mostly kept by wooden injuns, who stand at the door and fool little boys by offering them a bunch of cigars which is glued into the injun's hands, and is made of wood also. I tried to smoke a cigar once, and I felt like Epsom salts. Tobacco was invented by a man named Walter Raleigh. When the people first saw him smoking they thought he was a steamboat, and were frightened. My sister Nancy is a girl. I don't know whether she likes tobacco or not. There is a young man named Leroy who comes to see her. I guess she likes Leroy. He was standing on the steps one night, and he had a cigar in his mouth, and he said he didn't know as she would like it, and she said, "Leroy, the perfume is agreeable." But when my big brother Tom lighted his pipe, Nancy said, "Get out of the house, you horrid creature; the smell of tobacco makes me sick." Snuff is injun meal made out of tobacco. I took a little snuff once, and then I sneezed.—Ex.

This note from Lord Macaulay may be serviceable to some of our readers:

When a boy I began to read very earnestly, but at the foot of every page I read I stopped and obliged myself to give an account of what I had read on that page.

At first I had to read it three or four times before I got my mind firmly fixed. But I compelled myself to comply with the plan, until now, after I have read a book through once, I can almost recite it from the beginning to the end.

It is a very simple habit to form early in life, and is valuable as a means of making our reading serve the best purpose.

A mite of three years came into the house with an egg in each hand and the front of her dress in a condition that suggested the "goneness" of several more. "Why, Mary, I told you that you must not go into the hen-house, and that you must not touch the eggs. Now I must punish you for breaking them." "Me didn't break eggs, mama; me held 'em so tight they came to pieces." Mama looked at the ruined dress, then at the sweet, truthful baby face. "You dear little omelet!" she said, as she kissed and forgave her.

Mr. P. D. D. Delacroix, Cypremort P. O., La. Nov. 30, 1888, says: "Three years ago an agent representing Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar came into my store. Being busy, was unable to give him any time. Before leaving he gave me a sample bottle of Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, asking me to give it to anyone suffering with a cough or cold. Several days afterward I caught a heavy cold. Remembering the sample, thought I would try it. Six teaspoonfuls cured me. Ordered a supply at once, and have sold it with satisfaction to all. It acts like magic on all my family, and I would not be without it. I take pleasure in recommending it at all times." One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as 50c. bottles.

SCIENTIFIC.

Venus as a Sister-World.

While watching these graceful windings of the planet, we naturally inquire as to its real condition. Readers are familiar with the idea that it is a world like our own earth, travelling in a smaller but otherwise almost similar orbit around the sun. On more minute inquiry we find that the likeness between it and our earth is in some points very great—greater, in fact, than in the case of any other planet. In the fundamental element of size they are almost alike, our earth being 7,900 miles in diameter, and Venus 7,500. The force of gravity on the surface of the latter is very nearly nine-tenths of what it is with us. Its density is almost the same fraction of that of the earth. These facts show that if transported to the surface of Venus we should feel more at home, so far as some essential features of experience are concerned, than on any other planet known to us. We should weigh just about nine-tenths of our present weight, and should find distances bearing much the same ratio to our muscular power of walking that they do in this world; while in all probability the surface rocks and earth, if such be formed there, would be compacted and constructed like those we daily see around us. This would not be the case on planets so much smaller than the earth, as Mercury or Mars, or, so much larger, as Jupiter, Saturn, or Neptune. Again, the year on Venus would be about two hundred and twenty-five days in length, a good deal more like what we have on earth than is the case on any other planet. In the length of the day we should find a still more home-like experience, as the difference would be imperceptible except to careful observation. Venus rotates in 23 hours, 21 minutes, 23 seconds, and the earth in 23 hours, 56 minutes, 4 seconds. The day, of course, depends a little on the motion of the sun in the sky, but the difference between this as seen on our earth and from Venus would not appreciably affect the similarity of the days in each. These likenesses to the length of our day and year to our world's density would cause a similarity, in all probability, in the important matters of mountain form and of vegetation. In fact, so far Venus is nearly the twin-sister of our world.—Chamber's Journal.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST CATARACT.—The Interior of Labrador undoubtedly is the largest unexplored area on this continent. Up the Grand River, which empties into the Atlantic Ocean at Hamilton Inlet, are the Grand Falls, which, if everything is true about them that is reported, are the most stupendous falls in the world. They are only about 160 miles up the river, but only two white men have ever seen them. Mr. R. F. Holme, three years ago, went from England to visit the Grand Falls. He organized a little party to accompany him inland, and arrived within about fifty miles of the falls, when he was compelled to return on account of the failure of his provisions. The Labrador Indians say these falls are haunted, and they carefully avoid them, believing that they will die if they look upon them. The two white men who have seen them are Mr. Maclean, who, as he was ascending the river, in 1839, was stopped by the falls, and Mr. Kennedy, who over thirty years ago had charge of the Hudson Bay post in Labrador. Mr. Holme says the height of the falls is not certainly known, but, in some respects, there is little doubt that they are the greatest in the world. Though inner Labrador is so inadequately known, we are aware that it is a vast tableland whose limits are quite clearly defined. In the southeast the descent from the tableland is quite sudden, and almost immediately after leaving the plateau a level is reached that is very little above that of the sea. The Grand Falls are the place where the Grand River tumbles over the edge of this tableland, and almost the whole of the great drop is effected in this one descent. Prof. Hind gives the height of this plateau as 2,240 feet. It has been estimated that the region at the foot of the fall is only 200 feet above sea-level, and that, therefore, the waters of Grand River have a perpendicular descent of about 2,000 feet.—Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine.

SMALL SCREWS.—The smallest screws in the world are made in an American watch factory. They are cut from steel wire by machine, but as the chips fall down from the knife it looks as if the operation was simply cutting up the wire for fun. The fourth jewel-wheel screw is next to invisible to the naked eye. With a glass, however, it is seen to be a small screw, with 250 threads to the inch and with a very fine gloss the threads may be seen very clearly. These little screws are .001 of an inch in diameter, and the heads are double the size. About 1,000,000 of them are made a month, but no attempt is ever made to count them. In determining the number, 100 of them are placed on a very delicate balance, and the number of the whole amount is determined by the weight of these. All of the small parts of the watch are counted in this way, probably fifty out of the 120. After being cut, the screws are hardened and put in frames, about one hundred to the frame, heads up. This is done very rapidly, but entirely by the sense of touch instead of sight, so that a blind man could do it just as well as the owner of the sharpest eyes. The heads are then polished in an automatic machine, 10,000 at a time. The plate on which they are polished is covered with oil and a grinding compound, and on this the machine moves them rapidly by reversing motion until they are fully polished.

SUNNY ROOMS FOR HEALTH.—The rooms occupied by children should be made bright, light and pleasant. It is seldom thought of as much as it should be, how essential to the health of children plenty of light—especially sunlight—is. One reason why poor people's children thrive in the face of most adverse surroundings is that they are nearly all day out of doors in the full light of day and in the air. Keeping children excluded from sunlight and putting them in dark, gloomy rooms, is similar to caging a young bird and keeping it always in the shade; it will soon droop and lose all brightness, becoming dull and songless. Some children look pale and delicate, although surrounded with every comfort—nay, luxury—well fed, well looked after, and the real cause is often want of light—want of sunlight—and want of cheerfulness in the people, and in the rooms they inhabit.—Ex.

THE LOCATION OF THE SOUL.—Considerable speculation has heretofore attended the precise location of the soul, but, according to the Electrical World, the mystery is now solved. Dr. A. H. Stevens, of Philadelphia, has located it in the corpus callosum, a little spongy body situated at the base of the brain, which has defied the efforts of physicians in their endeavors to ascertain its uses in the human anatomy. "The corpus callosum," says the doctor, "is the seat of the imperishable mind, and is the great reservoir and storehouse of electricity, which is abstracted from the blood in the arteries, and conveyed through the nerves up the spinal cord to the corpus callosum."

Christopher Columbus.

Just 400 years ago the renowned discoverer landed on these shores. Events no less important, are the discovery of Creole Female Tonic and the wonderful cures it effects among weak and sickly women.

Nothing On Earth Will MAKE HENS LAY
LIKE
Sheridan's Condition Powder!
It is absolutely pure. Highly concentrated. In quantity it costs less than a tenth of a cent a day. Strictly a medicine. Prevents and cures all diseases. Good for young chicks. Worth more than gold when hens Moult. "One large can saved me $10, send six for $5 to prevent romp," says a customer. If you can't get it send us 50 cents for two packages. Five $1. A 2½ pound can $1.20 post-paid; 6 cans $5, express paid. "THE BEST POULTRY PAPER," sample copy free. Poultry Raising Guide free with all orders or more. L. S. JOHNSON & Co., Boston, Mass.

Stop that
CHRONIC COUGH NOW!
For if you do not it may become consumptive. For Consumption, Scrofula, General Debility and Wasting Diseases, there is nothing like
SCOTT'S EMULSION
Of Pure Cod Liver Oil and HYPOPHOSPHITES Of Lime and Soda.
It is almost as palatable as milk. Far better than other so-called Emulsions. A wonderful flesh producer.
Scott's Emulsion
There are poor imitations. Get the genuine.

Heavy Crops!
The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.
Royal Germetuer

An Only Daughter Cured of
CONSUMPTION.
DR. HENRY JAMES, a retired physician of great eminence, discovered, while in the East Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis and General Debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. His child was cured, and is now alive and well.
He has proved to the world that consumption can be positively and permanently cured. The Doctor now gives this Recipe free, with certificates of cures from physicians, ministers and other eminent persons, only asking that each remit two two-cent stamps to pay expenses.
There is not a single case of Consumption that it does not at once take hold of and dispute—night sweats, peevishness, irritation of the nerves, failure of memory, difficult expectoration, sharp pains in the lungs, sore throat, chilly sensations, nausea at the stomach, inaction of the bowels and wasting away of the muscles.
Address CRADDOCK & Co., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia, naming this paper.

HOPKINS'
PRINTING OFFICE,
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.
ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 388 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

IF you wish to advertise anything any where at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

MARRIAGES.

ALEXANDER—WILLIAMS.—By the bride's father, Rev. F. M. Williams, Mr. James W. Alexander, editor of the Meyersville Spectator, and Miss Atlantic Williams, of Tryus P. O., Lawrence county, Miss.

SULLIVAN—FARNELL.—In Lake Charles, La., Oct 6, 1891, by Rev. Thos. J. Upton, Mr. Paul Sullivan to Mrs. Emily C. Farnell, all of Lake Charles, La.

AMMEN—MULLAN.—At Rayne Memorial Church, Oct. 15, 1891, by Rev. J. M. Beard, Mr. Charles Ammen to Miss Theresa J. Mullnn, both of New Orleans.

OBITUARIES.

VAUGHN—Mrs. S. E. VAUGHN was born July 28, 1825; married to G. W. Vaughn, April 11, 1842; "fell on sleep," Oct. 4, 1891.

Mother made a public profession of religion and joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1862, in whose communion she lived a consistent Christian life till summoned to the church triumphant. Her love and loyalty for her church and pastor were true and Christian. No itinerant preacher ever had a truer friend; always glad to see them, and to help them in their labor of love. Her chief aim was to make all happy around her by administering to their wants in sickness and in health. To do good of every possible sort was the inspiring thought of every act of her Christian life. And the commandment she obeyed was also experienced.

One of the happiest scenes and recollections of my early life is that of a Wednesday-night prayer meeting, near my father's home, when but a boy I offered my first public prayer. Mother got happy, I got happy, and all present became happy. Oh! what a happy time that was! My soul now rejoices as I write this over the recollection of that hour.

Thus has passed to the land of rest a devoted wife, a fond, loving mother, a kind and thoughtful friend. She was a sufferer for ten years, but latterly it was intense. Yet amid it all she was patient, submissive, suffering in the true sense the will of God. As the end of her pilgrimage drew near, she was conscious of it, but feared not, for she was ready and waiting. Seemingly dismissing her own case and suffering from her mind, her thoughts were turned to others. Calling her grief-stricken husband and each member of the family present around her bed-side, she gave them her parting admonition and blessing. How thoughtful of the ones to be so soon left behind! How tender and considerate of other's feelings and interests!

Love, patience and sympathy were prime features of her every-day life. She was ripe for the heavenly reaper. I asked her at the conclusion of family prayer, "Ma, is the way clear?" She answered distinctly, "Yes!" She was conscious almost to the last moment. The last distinct sentence she uttered, while holding her in my arms to take some water, was, "Lay me down and let me go to Jesus." Thus she lived until Sunday morning, Oct. 4, when God called her up to spend the eternal Sabbath with him.

Farewell, dear mother, till we (the family) meet thee in the city of God, where parting will be no more. HER PREACHER BOY.

NUGENT—Maj. R. J. NUGENT, long and widely known in Mississippi and Louisiana, departed this life in New Orleans, Aug. 8, 1891. His father came from Ireland early in the present century and settled in St. Landry parish, La. Here he reared a large family of children and became one of the leading citizens of his section. He also identified himself with the people called Methodists, and his children were trained up in the solid, character-building principles and doctrines of his chosen church. He was a Methodist of the early type, and his home was the asylum for the weary itinerant. In these surroundings Bro. Nugent grew up, having imbibed the religion of his parents. He became a Methodist of the primitive type, and was a strong believer and advocate of the doctrines of Methodism.

He had the privilege of a liberal Christian education, and, being endowed with a strong mind, became a leading business man in New Orleans, where he entered into business. In 1859 he was married to Miss Cora Smith. In 1868, after the death of his wife, he moved to the Delta country of Mississippi, where he spent the remainder of his life. He was a gallant soldier during the late war, and was a liberal patriot from its close till his death.

Maj. Nugent was a notable figure in any company. He had a powerful physique and was as straight as a West Point professor. He was as dignified as a judge, and honorable and just in his conduct with all men. He loved his church. He always planned largely for the temporal interests of Zion. He was in full sympathy with all her enterprises. He believed and practiced the tithe system as the rule of his giving, and in exigencies would go beyond his limit. He read extensively and had a well-stored, intelligent mind, and enjoyed the companionship of his friends. He was a good citizen and was honored by the people, serving in various public trusts with fidelity, and enjoying the confidence of his constituents.

He was a firm, kind and generous father, neighbor, friend. The death of such a man seems like a public calamity. He was pure and noble in his bearing toward the world. He will be missed in the Church and in the State, in his home and community. After a long, acute illness he died in peace.

C. H. OWEN.

KEEN—September 30, at just twelve o'clock, after fourteen days of the most intense suffering, our precious little FRANK PLATT, aged five months and three days, breathed his last.

Favored little voyager! He has reached the port of eternal safety not only without a shipwreck, but even without a storm. He has entered into rest without ever having toiled. He has got the victory without the battle; therefore, looking up through our tears and beholding the face of him who doeth all things well, it is with a strong assurance and a holy composure that we are able to say: "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

We confidently expect that, by and by, some sweet day, our little boy, in all his sweetness and lovableness, sanctified and glorified, will be restored to our embrace. Oh, how happy we will then be that we have a little babe in heaven! Our anguish is great, but our consolation is greater. The gospel we preach stands the test of practical trial. This temporary darkness but brings us the closer pressure of the divine bosom, and we are nestling there.

FRANK M. KEEN,
SALLIE A. KEEN.

MIMS—Little DONALD and ELLEN L., infant children of Samuel D. and Ellen M. Mims, were born June 18, 1891. Little Donald died Aug. 16, and little Ellen, Sept. 4, 1891.

How fondly the heart loves the little ones of earth; how sorrowfully it grieves when they are called for by the angel of death! How joyfully it learns that of "such is the kingdom of heaven!" SISTER.

SPEARMAN—Mrs. MARY JANE SPEARMAN, of Grand Cane, is dead. She was born in the State of Georgia, where she spent her minority with her parents. Just previous to the late war she was happily united in wedlock to Mr. Benj. Thoms Spearman, who soon thereafter entered the army as a private soldier. He came from the war with nothing but an honorable character, as a loyal subject of his country. When peace was proclaimed they emigrated to Louisiana, and settled in DeSoto parish to mend their wasted fortunes. Here for a time, struggling against poverty and inconvenience, they succeeded in making an honorable living, sufficient to meet the demands of a rising family. But Bro. Spearman was permitted to live only a short term of years, when he was called from labor to rest, leaving the burden of life's cares to be borne by his widow and orphan children. Sister Spearman showed herself equal to the emergency. By her industry and indomitable energy she supported her children, giving them the means of education and placing them in a respectable sphere in life.

In August, while on a visit to her daughter in Abilene, Texas, she was attacked with typhoid fever, and lived only a short time.

As to her religious life and experience, I am not provided with dates. I knew her only as a Christian. I never heard her spoken of in any other light than that of a Christian, and that, too, of the highest type. She, doubtless, was a Christian from her childhood. Having boarded with her for three years, we had the best opportunity of testing her virtues as a devoted and patient Christian, and can say she was one among the most consecrated Christian women I ever knew. She endured hardships as a good soldier. She was patient in tribulation. She had her trials. She was especially merciful to the sick and poor. Her devotion to her church and its interests was not surpassed by anyone. She did her whole duty—yea, more; her duty was limited only by the necessities of the case. She lived the life of the righteous and died the death of the saint, and we shall always think of her as a bright and happy one on the other and shining shore. May her virtues be imitated by the bereft ones!

J. P.

WEIBEN—Bro. PETER RUDOLPH LEWIS WEIBEN died at his home in Roxie, Miss., Tuesday, Sept. 8, 1891, at 2:55 P. M., aged forty years three months and twenty-eight days.

Bro. Weiben was born in Oldenburg, Germany, May 10, 1851, and when but fourteen years old he was sent to sea, where he served five years as a sailor. He came to this country in 1870, and Nov. 20, 1872, became a citizen of the United States of America. In 1879 he joined the M. E. Church, South, at old Mt. Carmel, and, when called by the angel of death to the church triumphant, fell peacefully to rest on the King's highway of holiness, a pure, devoted Christian, and a loved and loyal citizen.

Bro. Weiben said, a few months before his death, that he had laid his heart, his life, his all, unreservedly on the altar of Christ; in all things he wished to do his holy will. The writer, who was last year his pastor, and always since his intimate friend and sympathizer, never knew a more unselfish, a sweeter spirited Christian character. His was a life worthy of imitation, and in his death the church lost an earnest, faithful worker; the community, a valued, honored citizen, and his saddened home a tender, loving husband and father. But God knoweth best. He doeth all things well. We will not murmur at his providence now, but humbly bow and pass under the divine rod. May his sorrowing loved ones be gathered to eternal life, where the redeemed meet to part no more! CHAS. W. CRISLER.

SHEWMAKE—Mrs. CORNELIA FRANCES SHEWMAKE, the wife of W. S. Shewmake, died Aug. 3, 1891, in Webster county, Miss. She was born Sept. 3, 1833; was married to W. S. Shewmake, Feb. 6, 1849, and was the mother of ten children, of which five are living and five dead. Her maiden name was Carver. She professed religion and joined the M. E. Church, South, September, 1866, and lived an acceptable member until her death.

On her death bed she said to her husband that she was ready and willing to die, and that she had never doubted her conversion from the time she found Christ to the present, and that it was giving her victory over death. The writer knew her well, and he can say that she was a good neighbor, wife, mother and Christian. Let us all live so we will meet her in heaven, where she lives with Christ.

T. W. CASTLE.

TANKERSLEY—Bro. J. O. TANKERSLEY was born in Lincoln county, Ga., Oct. 7, 1827; moved to this State during the year 1854; joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1856, of which he lived a member until his death. He was married to Miss S. J. Blackwell, Dec. 18, 1856, with whom he lived until his death, which occurred Sept. 18, 1891.

Bro. Tankersly expressed assurance of acceptance with God through Christ during his illness, though he had trouble on this subject at the beginning of the sickness; yet gave himself to God, and accepted Christ and found rest. His great regret was that he had not been useful during his life. May his children learn the lesson that his experience would teach them, and spend their lives for the Savior! May God comfort the wife and children!

ROBERT RANDLE, P. C.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props.,
Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

There is nothing which succeeds like success; and the success of any publication which admits advertising is also the success of the advertisers.

The Philadelphia Record is authority for the statement that London firms spend nearly $2,500,000 in advertising every week.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

THE BEST COMPANY

Is the company which does the most good; and the company which does the most good is that which issues and maintains the largest amount of assurance.

	Am't of Assurance issued during 1890.	Assurance in force Dec. 31, 1890.
EQUITABLE -	$203,826,107	$720,662,473
MUTUAL - -	161,365,921	638,041,180
NEW YORK - -	159,576,065	569,338,726
PENN MUTUAL - -	20,663,272	90,278,701
MANHATTAN -	12,962,401	54,500,754

THE BEST COMPANY MUST ALSO BE THE SAFEST COMPANY.

	Surplus.	Ratio of Assets to Liabilities
EQUITABLE -	$23,740,447	125
MUTUAL - -	9,981,233	107
NEW YORK - -	14 898,451	114½
PENN MUTUAL - -	1,634,452	110
MANHATTAN -	1,036,632	109

The above companies are from nine to eighteen years older than the Equitable.

Write to the undersigned before insuring your life.

R. P. LAKE, General Agent, Jackson, Miss.

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.

SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel, Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices!! | Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND AND DOOR FACTORY,

299, 301, 303, 305, 307 Gravier Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

ROBERTS & CO., Proprietors.

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Flooring and Jelling, Newels, Balusters, etc., always on hand. Work made to order.

Orders promptly attended to.

Plantation Cabins a Specialty.

BRANCH OFFICE: No. 51 CARONDELET ST.

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and

Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash, mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1360½ Tchoupitoulas street.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware, Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cages, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS: E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

Watches, Diamonds, FINE JEWELRY! Silver and Silver-Plated Ware, SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

(Established 1817)

119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

For Sale.

FARMER'S CANNING OUTFIT!

Will Pay for Itself in One Season.

Includes Syrup Evaporator—50 gallons per day. Two boilers with siphon connection, cranes for handling cans, fire pots, soldering coppers, etc., for 2,000 to 3,000 cans per day. One portable Iron Furnace for Canning, making Pickles, Jellies, etc. Evaporating Syrup. All latest improvements, with full directions.

Price, $150,000 to $200,000.

State and County Rights for Sale.

Address the Patentee and Manufacturer,

D. J. McMILLAN,
South Washington, N. C.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - -	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - -	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - -	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - -	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - -	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JNO. J. BARR, J. B. LEVERT, W. B. BLOOMFIELD,
JOS. BAYLE, ANDREW STEWART, E. BORLAND, W. T. HARDIE,
JNO. BARKLEY, CHAS. CHAFFE, P. B. RICE, THOS. SEFTON

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge, Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,

Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,

Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,

Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention the paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO. LIMITED New Orleans, La.

HARDWOOD AND MARBLEIZED SLATE

MANTELS.

GRATES AND FIRE-PLACE TRIMMING. Tiles for Hearths, Mantels, Floors and Vestibules. Stained and Decorative Glass.

GEO. M. LEAHY, - 112 Camp Street

CATARRH CURE! GIVEN AWAY.

Send name and get a FREE PACKAGE DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON, GA

GRANT'S FURNITURE STORE

NEW STORE, AT 28 and 30 Camp Street, NEW ORLEANS

BEAUTIFUL PARLOR GOODS.

I have one entire floor devoted to the display of these goods alone, and have over sixty different varieties to select from. Complete Suits anywhere from $35 to $650, and odd pieces—such as Sofas, Divans, Easy Chairs, Patent Rockers, Window and Reception Chairs—at as low prices in proportion as the Complete Suits. I have these goods in Cherry, Mahogany and Walnut, and can give you your choice of any of the following coverings: Crushed, Embossed, Plain and Silk Plushes, Hair Cloth, Mohair, Raw and Spun Silks, Satins, English Tapestries, French Valours, Potit Point, Brocatelle or Damasks. I make a specialty of these goods, have many of the patterns made specially for my own trade, and can offer a greater variety at lower prices than any other house in the South.

NEW STOCK

in all departments, and every grade of goods, from the cheapest to the most expensive, in endless variety. I have all the latest and most fashionable designs, and, as I have only purchased from factories whose goods I have been selling for the past six years, can and do guarantee every piece of Furniture that leaves my establishment.

LOW PRICES

are the order of the day, and I propose to sell strictly reliable goods at a lower price than has ever before been quoted in the South. My store has long been known as "The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans," and this season I intend to add to the reputation it has gained in this respect. I only ask a chance to save you money.

HANDSOME BEDROOM SUITS.

A very extensive assortment of these goods in every style; and whether you wish to pay $40 for a Complete Suit of twelve pieces, or from that price anywhere up to $1,000, I can sell you what you require. I have these goods in Black Walnut, Natural and Dark Cherry, and Natural and Dark Mahogany, or in imitation of any of these woods, and can furnish the very latest, neatest and most artistic designs.

I have also a large and carefully selected stock of Hall, Library, Dining-room and Kitchen Furniture; Reed, Rattan and Wicker Chairs, Rockers, Lounges and Cribs; Brackets, What-nots, Easels, Music Stands and Fancy Top Tables; Carpets, Carpet Strips, Matting, Shades, Curtains, Curtain Poles, and everything necessary to furnish a house completely throughout.

LARGE SALES.

I have a large city trade and am shipping goods extensively to every Southern State. My country trade has increased very rapidly during the past year, and the facilities which my new store affords me for carrying a larger and better stock will enable me to still further extend it, and to give complete satisfaction to my customers.

J. G. GRANT,

28 and 30 Camp Street, - - NEW ORLEANS.

Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. J. T. Benns, J. M. Morse, A. W. Jones, B. F. Phillips (2), D. F. Gunce, E. S. Lewis, J. H. Holland, F. D. Van Valkenburgh, H. Armstrong, J. M. Pugh (2), H. S. Gilmore (2), H. P. Lewis, A. Gottschalk, J. F. Wynn, Isaac L. Peebles, James A. Parker, B. H. Sheppard, S. S. Keener, B. F. Lewis, J. W. Medbeck, J. W. Ellison, D. L. Cogdell, J. W. Tinnin, J. E. Benson (2), F. P. Spencer, M. Ferrell, W. W. Simmons, R. C. Morehead, W. A. Dollar, J. L. Pierce, W. T. Woodward, D. T. Mc Leod, J. R. Ray, A. B. Jones, T. W. Lewis, F. M. Williams, L. D. Worsham, R. Bradley, T. W. Adams, J. J. Lovett, H. M. Young.

Messrs. S. J. Holmes, F. M. Floyd, John R. Gerald, W. J. Greaves, B. L. Dyer, Dr. M. D. Cushman, R. L. Bennett, S. R. Moody, W. P. Thompson, M. L. Scott, R. E. Blume, Thomas Price, F. G. Lambeth, D. D. McKee, H. C. Davis, A. J. Sturgis, H. D. Chaney, I. E. Breland, J. M. Black, J. W. Scott, J. A. Leggett, R. C. Gavin.

Mesdames R. R. Parker, M. E. Berus, H. B. Moore, A. L. Lauderdale, M. S. M. Scales, Mary M. Lowrie.

Oct. 20.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demoustrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

From Seven Thousand Dollars to Twenty-One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Three Dollars.

Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three dollars has just been paid by The Mutual Life Insurance Company on an original $7,000 insurance policy.

A result never equaled or even approached by any other company in the world. The fortunate assured was Mr. Charles Dellinger, of Mobile, Ala., who was forty-one years old when he became a member of the company.

RECAPITULATION.

1—Cash value of the dividends 100 per cent. of premiums.

2—Additions to policy 143 per cent. of premiums.

3—Insurance paid 312 per cent. of original amount.

4—Investment, 3 per cent. compound interest.

5—Insured 44 years, from age 41 to age 85.

6—No taxes, care or expense connected with the insurance.

Remember this company is purely mutual; all profits belong to the members. It is also the largest and most profitable company in the world. Mr. T. H. Bowles is the general agent, 120 Common street, New Orleans, La.

Reduced rates on the certificate plan have been granted by the Queen and Crescent Route for the following occasions:

General Christian Missionary Society, Allegheny, Pa., Oct. 16 to 25. United Typothetæ of America, Cincinnati, O. Oct. 20 to 22. Carriage Builders' National Association, Cincinnati, O., Oct. 20 to 22. American Missionary Association, Cleveland, O., Oct. 20 to 22. American Public Health Association, Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 20 to 23. American Street Railway Association, Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21 to 23. American Gas Light Association, New York City, Oct. 21 to 23. Brotherhood of St. Andrew, St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 22 to 25. National Wholesale Druggists' Association, Louisville, Ky., Oct. 23 to 24.

Fashion's Edict.

"The time was," remarked the old physician, "when frail health was fashionable with ladies."

All that is changed now—Creole Female Tonic has been the means of restoring robust health to thousands of ladies that formerly were victims of that popular fad.

A Great Manufactory.

No branch of the industries of this country has made such rapid strides in this progressive age as the art of Piano making, and none more deserves mention in this connection than the celebrated Piano manufactories. WM. KNABE & Co., of Baltimore and New York. They commenced operations in Baltimore fifty-four years ago, and by their indomitable energy, and striving always for the highest and best in their art, united with the greatest probity in their dealings have worked up one of the largest business in the world in their line, and it is a well-known fact, that no manufacturer in this country has done more to advance the American Piano manufacture to its present high state than WM. KNABE & Co. Their factory is one of the largest in the world, and their business extends to all parts of the globe. The Knabe Pianos have established their excellence wherever they have been introduced.

Do not forget that you can get all school books at Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh's, No. 106 Camp street, New Orleans.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.

Low ordinary	5¾	— —
Ordinary	6 3-16	— —
Good ordinary	6¾	— —
Low middling	7 11-16	— —
Middling	8 5-16	— —
Good middling	8 8-16	— —
Middling fair	8 11-16	— —
Fair	10 1-16	— —
Galveston middling	— —	— —
Mobile middling	— —	— —
Memphis middling	— —	— —

SUGAR.

OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fully-fair	8¾	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	— —	— —
Prime yellow	3 3-16	3 15-16
Gray white	— —	— —
Choice white	— —	— —
Standard granulated	— —	— —

MOLASSES

OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	34	35

RICE.

No. 2	2 5-18	— —
Good	4⅛	4⅛
Fair	4	4⅛
Prime	4⅛	4⅞
Rough, ₩ bbl	2 25	4 30
Polish, ₩ ton	22 00	24 00

FLOUR.

Extra Fancy	4 90	5 00
Fancy	4 45	4 70
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	5 00	5 50
Winter wheat patents	5 12½	5 20
Minnesota bakers	5 00	5 50

CORN PRODUCTS.

Corn meal	3 10	3 15
Cream meal	3 85	3 70
Grits	3 75	— —
Hominy	4 00	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	87	68
Yellow	76	71
Mixed No. 2	69	70
OATS:
Western	88	88½
Texas rust-proof	58	59
BRAN:
₩ ewt	90	92½
HAY:
Prime	18 00	14 50
Choice	15 00	15 50

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess (Standard)	11 00	12 00
Prime Mess	10 50	10 75
Rumps	— —	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	— —	11½
Shoulders	6½	6⅝
Sides, short rib	8½	8⅝
Sides, long clear	8½	8⅝
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10½	11
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	6½	6⅝
Sides, short rib	8½	8⅝
Sides, long clear	8½	8⅝

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	18¼	— —
Fair	17½	— —
Common	14½	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
No.	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	32	38
Western Dairy	21	24
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	6½	6¼
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7¾	— —
Coal, cases	18½	14
Cotton seed, crude	26	27
Lard, Extra No. 1	50	— —

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ head	— —	— —
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 70	1 80
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 40	2 50

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb. ₩ yard	7¼	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb. ₩ yard	— —	6¼
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	7¼	12½
TIES:
₩ bundle	— —	1 35

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	5 00	6 50
Young Chickens	3 00	4 00
Chickens, Southern	3 00	4 00
Young	2 25	3 00
Turkeys, Southern	10 00	13 00
EGGS:
Western	19	20
Southern	19	20
WOOL:
Lake ₩ lb	21	21½
Louisiana	17	19
Hurry	10	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	3½	— —
Dry salted	5	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	9 00	— —
Meal	22 50	— —
Pure ground bone	30 00	32 00
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	2½
Sulphuric acid	— —	2½

—New Delta, Oct. 20.

Patent medicines differ—One has reasonableness, another has not. One has reputation—another has not. One has confidence, born of success—another has only "hopes."

Don't take it for granted that all patent medicines are alike. They are not. Let the years of uninterrupted success and the tens of thousands of cured and happy men and women place Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription on the side of the comparison to which they belong. And there isn't a State or Territory—no, nor hardly a country in the world, whether its people realize it or not, but have men and women in them that're happier because of their discovery and their effects.

Think of this in health. Think of it in sickness. And then think whether you can afford to make the trial if the makers can afford to take the risk to give your money back, as they do, if they do not benefit or cure you.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Assistant Secretary Spalding has notified the collector of customs at San Francisco that Chinese persons are not to be allowed to land unless they produce a certificate from their government showing that they are not of the prohibited class.

General Nelson A. Miles, in his annual report, recommends that the national guard of the country be mobilized or assembled at the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893, and that Congress be requested to make an appropriation to pay the cost of transportation.

The Manufacturers' Record reports the sale to a Belgian syndicate of 150,000 acres of coal, iron and timber lands in Eastern Kentucky, including the Cumberland Valley Colliery Company's plants at Pineville. The total investment, including the purchase money and capital for the development of the property, is $5,000,000.

After six months' investigation officers of the secret service have made a report to the Treasury Department, showing the existence of an opium smuggling ring, which includes many prominent men and United States government officials. In extent it has not been equalled since the famous whisky ring of 1876. At least two United States senators and five congressmen are implicated.

The Democratic State Central Committee, which met in this city last week, adjourned on Oct. 17, to meet in Baton Rouge, Dec. 14. All the pending propositions failed to meet with unanimous sanction. A decision was reached that there should not be a party vote upon the lottery amendment through the medium of Democratic white primaries, but that it should take its place among the other issues in the general campaign.

In the report of the Board of Visitors to the Military Academy at West Point, among other things, the assertion was made that neither of the instructors in modern languages were able to speak the languages they taught. It also condemns the practice of appointing instructors exclusively from the army, except in those branches that are purely military; recommending the appointment of civilian experts to teach modern languages, drawing, history, geography and ethics.

In a letter addressed to the postmaster general of Canada, Postmaster-General Wanamaker says the Louisiana Lottery Company has established an agency at Toronto and is flooding the United States mails with its circulars in sealed envelopes from that point. As the act of mailing constituting the offense does not occur within our jurisdiction, the postmaster general says, the penal clause of the law can not apply. As all lottery tickets and lottery circulars are held by the treasury department to be liable to customs duties, postmasters at all United States exchange offices have been instructed to place upon mail matter which they believe to contain dutiable articles the words "Supposed liable to customs duty." At the office of destination such matter is opened by the addressee in presence of the customs officer, and if found to contain lottery matter is forfeited to the United States.

FOREIGN.

The Italian ministry has unanimously decided to abolish the decree against American pork, and to issue a public manifesto to that effect.

Herr Staeffel, the recently elected deputy for Savern, has published a letter in which he says that the Alsatians no longer desire reunion with France, as the present generation has become Germanized.

It is officially stated that Mr. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, will succeed the late Right-Hon. Wm. Henry Smith as first lord of the treasury, carrying with it the conservative leadership in the House of Commons.

The Pope, in a note to the powers, says that the recent Pantheon disorders between pilgrims and citizens were of extreme importance, and insists that it is impossible for both the Italian government and the papacy to remain in Rome.

The Chinese government has consented to pay the sums borrowed fraudulently or contracted for by an ex-member of the Chinese legation in Paris. The relations of the ministers of powers with the Pekin government have taken a turn which tends toward a more harmonious state of affairs.

The British Admiralty claim to have produced in the new warship Blake the largest, swiftest and most powerful cruiser in the world. She is guaranteed to steam twenty-two knots an hour, the boilers will develop 20,000 horse-power, and she has a phenomenal coal-carrying capacity. The cost of the vessel is $2,500,000.

A numerously signed petition for the admission of female students into the universities will shortly be presented to the German Landtag. It is possible that the low house of diet will favorably consider the matter, although it has already several times rejected similar proposals. It is looked upon as a certainty, however, that the upper house will never give its sanction to such a movement.

"Weak and weary," describes the condition of many people debilitated by the warm weather, by disease or overwork. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed to build up and strengthen the body, purify and quicken the sluggish blood, and restore the lost appetite.

The Bureau of American Republics is informed that the government of Costa Rica has granted to M. O Keith, of Brooklyn, N. Y., one-sixteenth of the entire public lands, amounting to 800,000 acres, in consideration of which Mr. Keith undertakes to extend the railroad system of the republic. He has also made a contract with the government for the construction of a suspension bridge over the Revantazon river.

"I often prescribe Johnson's Anodyne Liniment for Erysipelas," said a physician to us.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Winona circuit	Oct.	22
Poplar Creek circuit		24, 25
Sallis	31, Nov.	1
Newport		3
Ethel		4
Rural Hill		5
Weir		7, 8
Hebron		14, 15
Ebenezer		20
Lexington		21, 22
West		24
Richland		26
Black Hawk		28, 29

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GRENADA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Tillatoba	Oct.	24, 25
Charleston	(Tu.)	27
Coffeeville	(Wed.)	28
Abbeville		31
Oxford circuit (by Rev. S. D. Long.)	31, Nov.	1
Oxford		1
Toccopola	(Tu.)	3
Carrollton		7, 8
Chapel Hill	(Tu.)	10
Grenada circuit		14, 15
Grenada		16, 16
Atlanta		21, 22
Pittsboro	(Mon.)	23
Cherry Hill	(Tue.)	24
Banner	(Thu.)	26
Water Valley circuit	(Sat.)	28
Water Valley		29

J. W. PRICE, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Starkville circuit, at Steel's Chapel	Oct.	24, 25
Chester circuit, at Chester		30
Starkville station	31, Nov.	1
Walthall circuit, at Empire		7, 8
Tampico circuit, at Pleasant Grove		12
Macon circuit, at Macon		14, 15
Sturges circuit, at Sturges		21, 22
Brooksville circuit, at Brooksville		28, 29

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pleasant Ridge circuit	Oct.	22
Marietta circuit		24, 25
Blackland circuit	31, Nov.	1
Booneville and Rienzi		7, 8
Blue Springs circuit		13
Guntown circuit		14, 15
Jonesboro circuit		17
Ripley circuit		19
Ripley and New Albany		21, 22
New Albany circuit		28, 29

W. S. LAGRONE, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Holly Springs circuit	Oct.	24, 25
Shawnee	31, Nov.	1
Pine Mountain		7, 8
Red Banks		14, 15
Mt. Pleasant		21, 22
Olive Branch		28, 29

JNO. W. HOSWELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Horn Lake	(Th.) Oct.	22
Lewisburg		24, 25
Chewalla	31, Nov	1
Mt Vernon		7, 8
Chulahoma		14, 15
Coldwater mission	(Th.)	19
Pleasant Grove		21, 22
Panola circuit	(Th.)	26
Courtland		28, 29

J. J. WHEAT, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Aberdeen station	Oct.	24, 25
Oklohoma circuit		28
Tremont	31, Nov.	1
Nettleton		4
Buena Vista		7, 8
Athens		14, 15
Smithville and Fulton		18
Ebenezer		21, 22
Houston and Wesley		27
Shiota		28, 29

J. H. STONE, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Vancleave, at New Prospect C. O.	Oct.	25, 26
American at Pleasant Hill	31, Nov.	1
Williamsburg, at Bethel	31, Nov.	1
Moss Pet.		1, 2
Bay St. Louis, at Biloxi	(Wed.)	4
Whittington, at White Plains		7, 8
Pearlington	(Wed.)	11
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs		14, 15
Purvis, at Purvis	(Thu.)	19
Columbia, at Columbia		21, 22
Perry, at Isabella	(Wed.)	25
Mt Carmel, at Mt Zion		28, 29
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	(Tu.) Dec.	1
Heidelberg, at Philadelphia	(Thu.)	3
Eastabutchie, at Eastabutchie		5, 8

E. H MOUNGER, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Walnut Grove at Pleasant Hill	Oct.	24, 25
Hillsboro, at Hillsboro		25, 26
Carthage, at Liberty		27
Lake, at Mt Gervais		29
Decatur, at Good Hope		30
Rose Hill, at Mission ary	31, Nov.	1
Newton and Hickory, at Newton		2
Westville, at Pleasant Grove		7 8
Shiloh, at Shiloh		14, 15
Raleigh, at Raleigh		21, 22
Mt. Rose, at Cedar Grove		22 23
Trenton, at Polkville		28, 29
Homewood, at Wesley Chapel		30
Marvin	Dec.	5, 6

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Daleville station	(Thu.) Oct.	22
Linwood circuit, at Pleasant Grove		24, 25
DeKalb circuit at DeKalb	(Mon.)	26
Porterville ct., at Porterville	(Wed.)	28
Rinneyville and W	31, Nov.	1
Shubuta circuit at Shubuta		7, 8
Meridian, at East End		14, 15
Meridia , at West End		15, 16
Lauderdale circuit, at Lauderdale		21, 22
Meridian ct., at Bunkey	(Thu.)	26
Winchester circuit		28, 29
Marion circuit, at Curtis Chapel	Dec.	5, 6
Meridian a Central	(Mon big t.)	7

The preachers in charge will please see that the trustees have ready written reports in answer to Ques 24. All local preachers must be prepared with written reports to answer Ques 16. All exhorters are expected to present written reports. Reports from the missionary societies will be gladly received. Let the stewards be prepared to report collections in full. Let us pray and look for the presence and power of the Holy Spirit.

T. L. WELLEN, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Amite and Mission, at Salem	Oct	23
Gloster and Centerville, at Centerville		24, 25
Wilson, at Gayden	31, Nov.	1
Port Vincent, at French Settlement		7
Covington		10
Tall Pecks		12
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel		14, 15
Zachary station		21, 22
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford		23
Live Oak, at Pine Grove		28, 29
Jackson station	Dec.	2
St. Helena, at Greensburg	(morning).	5
Amite City, at Amite City	(night).	5, 6
Franklinton, at Fisher's		7

C. McDONALD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Dublin	Oct.	25
Larkscale		28
Belen	Nov.	1
Jamestown		2
Lula		8
Bald		15
Friar's Point		16
Bolivar		22
Stoneville		29

Preachers will please forward amount assessed for delegates to Ecumenical Conference to me at Greenville.

R. M. STANDIFER, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Utica, at Learned	Oct.	24, 25
Vicksburg	31, Nov.	1
South Vicksburg	31, "	1
Mayersville, at Mayersville		7, 8
South Warren, at Wesley Chapel		10
Warren at Wesley Chapel		14, 15
Meadville		21, 22
Rodney	(Mon.)	28
Anguilla, at Anguilla		28, 29
Rolling Fork		29, 30
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	Dec.	5, 6

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Caseyville, at Bethel	Oct.	24, 25
Chilla Grove, at Tylertown	31, Nov.	1
Magnolia, at Magnolia		1, 2
Beauregard, at Mathis Chapel		7, 8
Hazlehurst	(at night)	12
Crystal Springs circuit		13
Bowerton, at Rehoboth		14, 15
Brookhaven station	(at night)	18
Adams circuit, at Adams		21, 22
Summit, at Summit		22, 23
Gallman circuit, at Mt. Pleasant		26
Providence		28, 29
Pleasant Grove ct., at Pleasant Grove	Dec.	3
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel		5, 6

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sharon, at Sharon	Oct	24, 25
Yazoo city	31, Nov.	1
Flora and B., at Flora		7, 8
Mt Olive., at Anding	(Wed.)	11
Silver Creek		14, 15
Lake City and Lodi		21, 22
Edwards	(Wed.)	25
Spring Ridge, at Oak Hill	(Fri.)	27
Jackson, at First Church		28, 29
Jackson, at Capitol street		28, 29
Reuben	(Tue.) Dec.	1
Yazoo circuit	(Wed.)	2
Canton		5, 6

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Evergreen and LeCompte, at E.	Oct.	24, 25
Simsport, at Simsport	31, Nov.	1
Melville and B. S., at Melville		7, 8
Pineville, at Slash Bayou	(Wed.)	11
Centerville, at Jean		14, 15
Vidalia and Black River		21, 22
Columbia at Columbia		28, 29
Castor, at Ebenezer	(Tu.) Dec.	1
Colfax and Boyce, at Boyce		5, 6
Bayou Boeuff, at Fairview	(Wed.)	9
Alexandria		12, 13
Aca		13, 14

J. IVY HOFFPAUIR, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Grand Chenier, at Grand Chenier	Oct.	24, 25
Lake Charles	31, Nov.	1
Saline Mission, at Haygood		7, 8
Sulphur Mine, at Vinton		14, 15
Indian Bayou		21, 22
Patterson and Morgan City, at M. City		28, 29
Franklin	Dec.	5, 6

JOHN A. MILLER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sparta, at Providence	Oct.	24, 25
Ringgold, at Rocky Mound	31, Nov.	1
Downsville, at Willites		7, 8
Farmerville, at Farmerville		14, 15
Tulip and Simsboro, at Tulip		21, 22
Gibsland, at Gibsland		28, 29
Indian Village, at Indian Village	Dec.	5, 6
Ruston at Ruston		8
Arcadia, at Mount Moriah		12, 13

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Floyd, at Floyd	Oct.	24, 25
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg	31, Nov.	1
Waterproof, at Waterproof		7, 8
Providence, at Providence		14, 15
Lind Grove		21, 22
Winnsboro		28, 29
Delhi, at Tallula	Dec.	5, 6

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

"Universal household remedy," is the common people's name for Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

The Russian government has closed the University of Kieff, and has placed 500 of the students under arrest. This action has been taken in view of the recent revolutionary behavior of the students.

By using Hall's Hair Renewer, gray, faded or discolored hair assumes the natural color of youth, and grows luxuriant and strong, pleasing everybody.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H Beals, Jr.

Summer.

Summer, with its worries and sickness, is with us. Four fifths of the sickness that wears out temper and health can be disposed of by using Creole Female Tonic.

Low Rate to Dallas, Texas.

For the State Fair and Exposition at Dallas, Texas, Oct. 17 to Nov. 1, agents of the Queen and Crescent Route at coupon stations—Chattanooga and South thereof—will sell Excursion Tickets to Dallas and return on Oct. 19, at one and one third fare for the round trip. Tickets good for return until Nov. 5.

The World's Fair power plant will be of 24,000 horse-power, and will require the services of 250 engineers, firemen and attendants.

INFANTILE SKIN AND SCALP DISEASES CURED BY Cuticura

EVERY HUMOR OF THE SKIN AND SCALP of infancy and childhood, whether torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, with loss of hair, and every impurity of the blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, is speedily, permanently, and economically cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES consisting of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Purifier and Beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. Parents, save your children years of mental and physical suffering. Begin now. Delays are dangerous. Cures made in childhood are permanent.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Skin and Blood Diseases."

Baby's skin and scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP.

Kidney pains, backache, and muscular rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.

T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

KNABE PIANOS.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.

We should like to give a new chimney for every one that breaks in use.

We sell to the wholesale dealer; he to the retail dealer; and he to you.

It is a little awkward to guarantee our chimneys at three removes from you.

We'll give you this hint. Not one in a hundred breaks from heat; there is almost no risk in guaranteeing them. Talk with your dealer about it. It would be a good advertisement for him.

'Pearl top' and 'pearl glass,' our trade-marks—tough glass

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & Co.

DONALD KENNEDY

Of Roxbury, Mass., says

Kennedy's Medical Discovery cures Horrid Old Sores, Deep Seated Ulcers of 40 years' standing, Inward Tumors, and every disease of the skin, except Thunder Humor, and Cancer that has taken root. Price $1.50. Sold by every Druggist in the U. S. and Canada.

CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS Containing new Carols and a Responsive Service that may be used with or without the Carols 16 pages. Price, 5 cents a single copy.

The CHRIST of BETHLEHEM. A beautiful New Cantata for Sunday-schools. By J. E. BALL. Contains all the instructive Responsive Service interspersed with New and appropriate Carols. Price, 5 cents a single copy. OTHER SERVICES of the same character and at the same price are "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Lore," "Good Will to Men," "Noel," and "Tidings of Joy."

A CHRISTMAS VISION —A NEW CANTATA for Children By C. L. Burnham & C. F. Root, well known, will be sure to meet with a cordial reception. This new work is the best and most entertaining Christmas Cantata published. Price, 30 cents a single copy. OTHER CANTATAS for the Christmas Season are "One Christmas Eve," Burnham & Co.; "The New Santa Claus," "Catching Santa Claus," "Judge Santa Claus," "Santa Claus' Mistake," and "The Waits' Christmas." Price of each, postpaid, 30 cents.

THE WONDERFUL STORY Relates in song the interesting incidents in Christ's life on earth. Beautiful and instructive. Price, 5 cents a single copy.

BETHLEHEM. A Cantata for Adults only by Bishop Peck's parishioners. Price, 5 cents a copy. By C. F. Root. Send 10 cents for sample copy of "Musical Visitor" to Church.

—PUBLISHED BY—

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 200 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 19 E. 16th St., New York.

OUR BOOK COLUMN.

THE HANDY RELIABLE DICTIONARY.

Over 30,000 words. Illustrated. 10 cents each; $1 per dozen. Send for a copy and examine it.

THE MOTHER'S PRIMER.

5 cents; 50 cents per dozen. The very thing for home or Sunday-school use. Try it.

THE MAN OF GALILEE.

By Atticus G. Haygood, D. D. A book for the times and the people.

"A work of genius that will live in freshness and power long after the author has passed away from among men."—Dr. Cunningham, Sunday-school Editor.

"Meets the unbeliever on his own ground. It assumes nothing, but the argument is a complete as it is possible for human thought and language to make it."—Dr. Lafferty Virginia.

Over 10,000 sold. It still sells. 50 cents.

A JOURNEY TO PALESTINE.

By Rev. B. Carradine, D. D. A wonderfully interesting and instructive book of travels. Price, $1.50.

THE METHODIST STEWARD.

Everyone interested in Church Finances should send for a copy. Price, 75 cents.

THE LANDS OF THE ORIENT.

By Rev. M. B Chapman, D. D., one of the editors of the St Louis Christian Advocate.

12 mo. Cloth, 600 pages. $1.50.

Over fifty illustrations.

"As a mere book of travels, this is one of the most charming and instructive volumes that has fallen into our hands in many a day."—Southern Christian Advocate, Columbia, S. C.

A column could be filled with testimonials as to the value and attractiveness of this charming book. Order a copy at once.

LEAVES FROM THE TREE OF LIFE.

A valuable book of Bible reading. $1.

LIFE AND TIMES OF BISHOP PIERCE.

$2, $3 and $4. Every Methodist should own and read this book.

METHODIST HISTORIES.

HISTORY OF METHODISM.

By Bishop McTyeire. $2, $2.50, $3 and $4.

No more valuable book can be put in a Methodist Library.

METHODISM IN TEXAS. $1.
METHODISM IN MISSISSIPPI. $1.50
METHODISM IN MISSOURI. $2.

NEW BOOKS.

CLARA CHRISMAN. $1.
MAN, MONEY AND THE BIBLE. 80c.
JUDGE LONGSTREET. $1.

Any Book Mailed at Prices Given.

F. D. Van Valkenburgh,

106 CAMP ST., - - NEW ORLEANS.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 44. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1836.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

TERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
J. C. GRANT, Publisher.
Rev. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY. Remittances should be made only by money orders, express company orders, registered letters, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or merchants. Drafts on country banks occasion loss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AIRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

cond Ecumenical Methodist Conference.

BY REV. J. W. CORNELIUS.

SIXTH DAY, AFTERNOON SESSION.

The topic discussed at the afternoon sion was, "Woman's Work in the urch." Rev. Benj. St. James Fry, D., editor of the Central Christian ocate, read the first essay. He said t the spread of evangelical religion d of Christian civilization was giv- a new life to everything pertaining humanity. It was restoring to us spirit and practice of apostolic istianity. Jesus preached to the ltitudes, healed the sick, gave his ediction to the poor. This is to be e by the church in every century. man bears an important relation to work. She was in the Jewish urch highly honored, like Hannah, h, Esther, and many such; but in er nations she was a slave. She seen in the crowds that waited on s, among his associates and dis- es, and in the work of his church. rough him she is emancipated from y inequality. There were four en in one family in the apostolic ch whom God called to prophesy. tever the disabilities of her sex her duties in the home, she may e in the blessedness of ministering hose for whom Christ died. The an's Foreign Missionary Society gained an access to the mothers homes of heathendom which could r have been gained by men. Dea- sses and other female workers are ing their own sex, and many of ther sex, from degradation. They not seeking worldly honors; they ask for the opportunity. The test should be applied to them, that only, which is applied to . As evangelists, deaconesses, 's Daughters, Epworth Leaguers, we give them God speed.

v. Wm. Gorman, of the Irish Meth- Church, complimented Bishop e's address, and believed that we now hearing God's voice for the cipation of woman from the thral- of the ages. In the work of the ch she is not behind the very st of her lords. How is it that can bring all her graces to the ? She may sing, may help her and to prepare his sermons, may in the Sunday-school, may do orts of hard work, and yet not h. She is the very angel of God hat human hell, the battlefield, wherever the bodies and souls of people are to be ministered to. should she be compelled to or- ze for her own liberation from the les of prejudice?

of. J. P. Landis, of the United hren Church, said that woman, had proved herself capable of ing of presiding in the drawing- of crocheting, etc., and had ved the highest distinction in lit- re, art, science, music and poli- had also shone with the greatest ancy in the work of Christ. Her in a thousand ways among the the sick, the Sunday-schools and ionary societies, class-rooms, etc., d often put us to the blush. It is as successful and just as full of the spirit of the Lord as the same work done by men. In point of self-sacrifice and entire consecration, it is often far superior. What is the design of preaching? To win souls to Christ. What are the qualifications? Piety, knowledge, skill and tact. In these, and in their effects, woman is amply vindicated. Will you say she is not capable of public speaking? Look at Miss Dickinson, Mrs. Livermore, Miss Frances Willard. What right has the church to say "Nay" to indisputable evidence?

Rev. Thomas H. Hunt, of the Primitive Methodist Church, could have wished that women had their proper representation in this assembly. The world is to be evangelized. Men have not done it; let women be admitted equally to the work. If we persuade them to take charge of a bazaar or run a mission, why not give them a chance at higher work? If their work is in the home, have they not, therefore, worked beyond the home? Are our wives and daughters only maids and house servants? We want mature women and young women for ministrations to the poor, the sick, the fallen, to promote temperance, to preach the gospel. If woman is not ordained when possessing suitable gifts, why not? If God has ordained her, why shall not the church recognize it?

J. W. Lewis, of the M. E. Church, South, did not believe that a popular and widely spreading public sentiment was any indication of Providence. He believed God's order was male and female, not female and male. The natural order is father, brother, son; then mother, sister, daughter. The future must bring us the answer to the sphere of woman's work.

Dr. Buckley believed that woman must not be in dominion over man, nor have authority in the legislation and government of the church. Some of the platitudes we hear are very old chestnuts.

A. B. Slack thought woman must discover for herself what is her sphere, and not be fettered by regulations made for her by man. What would we think of a large convention, composed exclusively of women, discussing what the sphere of men should be?

Dr. Hoss, M. E. Church, South, said that if there were any persons present who had more respect for women than he, he would like them to show their faces. A large number stood up, amidst great laughter. He did not believe this was a question of equality. Much of what has been said here he took to be logical jugglery.

Dr. Hamilton thought it a travesty upon learning for Methodists here to quote Paul against the widest spheres of Christian work for woman, when such great Methodist expositors as Wesley, Adam Clarke, Whedon, etc., did not so interpret Paul.

Mr. Breed, M. E. Church, South, a missionary from China, pleaded for the ordination of women to work in pagan countries, to preach, to baptize, to administer the Lord's Supper, where it was impossible for men missionaries to perform those duties in the homes of China and India.

Hugh Price Hughes thought we ought to disabuse our minds of sophistries. Paul never contradicted Jesus; let us imitate Jesus. If woman is allowed to do everything else, why not take a part in government of Church or State? He thought the strength of Dr. Buckley's language was the weakness of his argument. He rejoiced, however, that there was such advanced ground taken by all. It is not generous in men to legislate down the women.

Mr. Hoosen rejoiced that the Primitive Church, which he represented, has had lady preachers and lady traveling preachers for eighty years. They have not disgraced us; they have honored us. They give the truest signs of their calling by winning many to Christ. God has given them the ability; it is discreditable in us to limit it.

Several others spoke on the same subject.

SEVENTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 14.

The general topic discussed throughout the day was, "Education." In the morning Rev. W. Morelpy read a paper which had been prepared by Rev. W. M. Fritchett, of Australasia, which treated on the religious training of the young. The pulpit must not relegate to the Sabbath-school, the church, a duty to children. The minister's chief ally is the parent. The father or mother is everything, almost Providence, to the child during the first years of life. The State should promote primary education everywhere, for ignorance is a menace to good citizenship. But its work must be secular education only. It can not teach all creeds, nor enforce one creed on all; but even State education must recognize a moral law, and, therefore, in primary education the Bible should have a place.

Rev. T. B. Appleget, of the Methodist Protestant Church, spoke on "The Family." He said the Epworth home, under the superintendence of Susannah Wesley, was the beginning of Methodism. God says, "Take this child and nurse it for me." Our children ought never become too old to go to Sunday-school; nor should parents ever abandon the habit of taking their children to church.

Rev. Robert Culley read the essay of Hon. John Evans, who was detained by sickness. The subject was, "The Sunday-school." Rapid strides have been made during the last few years in Sunday-school work and methods. Sunday-school rooms are architecturally improved. Books, religious tract societies, teachers' helps, etc., have reached a high standard. The attitude of the church toward Sunday-schools is very much improved. It is more important to save a child than an adult. Sunday-school teachers should be well trained in their work, so as to be qualified to instruct and to retain their scholars.

L. J. Coppin, of the African Methodist Church, believed that the international lesson system had been a great uplift, and that if a young child who dies is fit for the society of God and angels, it is fit for the society of Christians while it lives.

In the afternoon session, before the subject was called, a resolution was adopted appealing to the United States Commissioners to prevent the opening of the Fair on Sunday. Dr. Lewis Curtz, in presenting the report of the committee to whom this had been referred, said that the clamor for opening the Exposition on Sunday came from the railroads, the street car companies and the brewers, whose motive was purely mercenary; therefore, we appeal over them to the Commissioners of the United States.

Rev. John Smith discussed elementary education.

Rev. J. D. Hammond, D. D., spoke on the ethics of elementary education, and J. R. Croufield, Esq., on the education by the State.

Hon. J. C. Daney, of the A. M. E. Church, also made an address.

The last speaker argued that mind, not education, makes the man, and that mind is not circumscribed by race. For the present secondary education is the ruling school force.

EIGHTH DAY, THURSDAY, OCT. 15.

Rev. M. T. Myers read a paper on "Present Position of Romanism." Sixty years ago few in Great Britain cared for Romanism; but now the order of Jesuits is restored, and Rome boasts that one hundred of the nobility belong to her, and one million and a half of the people. Gen. Booth in twenty years has secured more followers than Rome in one hundred years. Rome depends on pilgrimages, deadwood, old clothes, and anything dependent on such things is doomed. Education is the battle-ground. Rome hates it with an intensity never surpassed in any former period.

The next address was by Rev. Dr. Fiske. The Church of Rome is an evolution. She subordinates the spiritual to the political. She has shaped her being according to earthly, not heavenly, models. Judged by historical records, here has been a career of usurpation. The Pope is the church. One will rules over 200,000,000 of men; but the energy and drift of modern thought is too much for the papacy. The flesh is sloughing off at the ends.

Dr. Nicholas, of Ireland, said there is both truth and goodness in the Roman Church, but there are many gross corruptions. Her ecclesiastical miracles are puerile and contradictory. Cardinal Newman urges their acceptance without examination. The Pope sends his blessing to the holy coat, while not endorsing it as a real relic. The Virgin Mary is crowned above her Son. The present Pope has written a volume on humility, which he calls the very first, highest and most beautiful flower of virtues. But what is this humility? Simply absolute submission. Rome seeks to control public opinion by controlling the press, and by assuming the Protestant garb.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON SESSION.

The topic was "Temperance." Rev. I. H. Mahon said that intoxicating drinks cost this country every year $900,000 000—more than we spend for bread and meat by $90,000 000; $137,000,000 more than we pay for all woolen goods, boots, shoes, salaries of ministers and support of missions. Besides this vast waste, the poverty, shame and crime created must be taken into account and show the responsibility of the Christian Church.

Thomas Worthington, Esq., believed in reforming the liquor traffic out of existence. We must influence the State, even by taking hold of politics. It is not enough to apply fire to water for creating steam, but we must control the steam.

Rev. C. N. Phillips, of the Colored M. E. Church, believed it was impossible to regulate anything so vicious. We have laws against murder, theft, impurity, etc., so that we must have laws that will be executed against the saloon.

Rev. James Pickett believed that the drink traffic could be swept from existence before the twentieth century if the church would do her part. If we have a right to regulate it, we have a right to annihilate it.

Bishop Haines, of Georgia, believed that the drink traffic could be broken up, just as slavery was broken up, and by very much the same means. If the political parties had not taken hold of slavery, it would still have existed.

NINTH DAY, FRIDAY, OCT. 16.

The discussions of the day were upon "Social Problems." Before the regular order the subject of Methodist federation in Great Britain was again discussed, and resolutions recommending it were unanimously adopted. Resolutions also expressing sympathy with British Christians who are seeking an appeal of the opium legislation, were adopted.

The first essay was read by Hon. Alden Speare, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, on the relation of the church to labor and capital. He discussed the American system of protection by tariff, and believed it had great advantages over the system of Great Britain. Our capitalists should feel a great responsibility in the protection of labor and in the diffusion of intelligence and Christianity amongst laborers. Most of the men of large wealth in America have acquired it by their own efforts, and it is now their duty to be liberal contributors to education and benevolence. He commended Hon. Leland Stanford, of California, who has endowed a university with $20,000,000, and who will also be a contributor to the American University at Washington.

Rev. J. Berry, of Australia, spoke of combinations and strikes. Some combinations of capital are necessary, but there are some very wrong uses of money in combines or trusts. It is often necessary for labor to organize for its own protection.

I. R. Inch, LL.D., of Canada, also spoke on combinations.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON SESSION.

Rev. Peter Thompson read an essay on the "Obligations of the Church to the Social Condition of the People." In London 1,300,000 of the people are in almost absolute poverty. Christians are now awaking to this appalling degradation. The liquor traffic is the main cause. Crowded tenement-houses and terrible crime are the result.

The next address was on "Christian Work among the Poor," by Wm. McKee. There will be a reflex influence on ourselves. Its benefits will be seen upon pastors and all others in the church.

Rev. Thomas Allen spoke upon "Christian Work among the Rich." They need to pass through the same processes of divine grace as the poor. Methodism, at the beginning, touched the aristocracy, Salina, Countess of Huntington, was a patron of Whitefield and the Methodists.

Dr. Hartzell spoke on Christian work in agricultural districts, asserting that a large proportion of the students in our colleges are from villages and rural districts.

E. J. Brailsford said that when the British government wants solid people to colonize its provinces, it does not go to the large cities for them, but to the villages.

W. T. Anderson, who was born a slave, said that the colored people do not expect or desire social equality with the whites, but they do ask the whites to lift them up.

FRIDAY EVENING SESSION.

The topic was "Missions." Rev. W. J. Townsend said the rush of the nineteenth century has broken into the stillness of great heathen countries like China and India; yet it is said to remember that only twelve of the twenty-nine Methodist bodies represented in this Ecumenical Conference are sustaining foreign missions. Two or three of the smaller bodies ought to unite, if they are not able to do it singly. Why not have Methodist missions in foreign countries federated?

Rev. C. H. Kiracofe detailed the new mission fields which have been entered since 1881.

Thomas Mitchell, of the Primitive Church, was glad that those he represented began their foreign mission work twenty-one years ago.

Dr. Leonard read a very important and elaborate paper on missions in Christian lands. Different plans may be needed in different countries. He also urged Methodist federation in mission work both in the Old World and in the New.

Several other animated addresses were made on the same subject.

TENTH DAY, SATURDAY, OCT. 17—MORNING SESSION.

Previous to the regular order, Hon. Mr. Foster, secretary of the U. S. Treasury, greeted the Conference very heartily. Though not a member of the Methodist Church, he said he had been a trustee in his own city, and was also a trustee in the Ohio Wesleyan University.

Bishop Wayman, of the African M. E. Church, announced that at a meeting of all the colored delegations to this body, a unanimous sentiment was expressed in favor of the organic union of colored Methodism.

Thomas Snape, Esq., of England, read a very excellent essay on "International Arbitration."

Hon. John Noble, Secretary of the Interior, was introduced. He said a few days ago he welcomed the geologists from all parts of the world, and recognized the great physical forces of the earth. Now he was impressed with the incalculable moral resources of the world.

Hon. Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States, was introduced, and made a very cordial address to the delegates of the Conference.

ELEVENTH DAY, MONDAY, OCT. 19.

William Marsden, Esq., of the Wesleyan Reformed Union, presided.

The Business Committee presented a resolution, which was adopted, recommending that the week beginning Sunday, Nov. 15, shall be a week of prayer for the baptism of the Holy Ghost on our Methodist Churches throughout the world.

The Committee on Statistics reported that the most reliable information from the public censuses of America, Great Britain and elsewhere, and official reports of churches, had shown since the last Ecumenical Conference a general increase of nearly thirty per cent. In England there are 4,481 ministers, 915,284 church members, 4,209,601 adherents. In Asia there are 533 ministers, 34,334 members, 114,968 adherents. In Africa 291 ministers, 71,147 members, 283 376 adherents. In Australia and Polynesia 786 ministers, 93,141 members, 488,183 adherents. Total number of Methodist ministers in the Eastern Section, 6,094; members, 1,113,905; adherents, 5,096,128. In the Western Section there are 36,601 ministers, 5,380,494 members, 20,281,976 adherents. Total Methodist ministers throughout the world, 42,696; total members, 6,494,399; total adherents, 25,378 104.

The topic of the day, "The Church and Public Morality," was taken up. Rev. Dr. W. V. Tudor, of Richmond, read an essay prepared by Hon. B. W. Hill, on "Legal Restraint of the Vices in Society." While law can not generate righteousness, statutes are necessary both in Church and State. The law authorizing Louisiana lotteries, for instance, makes men immoral; so laws authorizing the display of lewd pictures, the sale of liquor, etc., make men immoral by permitting what was permitted in Pompeii. So laws restraining vices do make men moral by law. Law should be a lofty standard of sentiment, and sentiment should create righteous laws.

Joseph Fossett, D. D., spoke on lotteries, betting, gambling, etc. The crime is not in the degree, but in the act itself. A man who wins or loses a few shillings by gambling is just as essentially wrong as a prince who loses or wins hundreds of thousands of pounds. Stock gambling comes under the same principle. Though different in form, it is one and the same thing. As we dealt with slavery, extirpating it by law, so must we deal with lust, with cruelty to little children, with gambling and all vices.

Hon. H. L. Sibley made an address on marriage and divorce laws. He believed that not only adultery, but also desertion, was a sufficient cause of divorce. He did not believe that Jesus intended to state the entire divorce law when he alluded to the former as a sufficient cause, because Paul afterwards stated other sufficient causes for divorce.

James A. Johnson, of Bermuda, condemned church entertainments, which cultivate the appetite for engaging in chances.

Mr. Simon, of England, alluded to the prevalence of betting and gambling on ocean steamers.

MONDAY AFTERNOON SESSION.

Bishop E. R. Hendrix, of the M. E. Church, South, presided.

Rev. Dr. T. G. Steward, of the A. M. E. Church, read the first essay on "The Lord's Day." He believed the Sabbath of the Lord was as binding on us as on the church in any former period. Jesus did not abrogate it. By his authority and that of his apostles, all its essentials were transferred to the first day of the week. It is essential to the existence of the church, and, therefore, the existence of religion and of theoretical and practical morality. It is also essential for the preservation of physical health and vigor, and to the general prosperity of any people. The dangers to the sanctity of the Sabbath are fourfold: desire of gain, mere recreation, disposition of governments, and the indifference of the church itself.

Rev. T. Bromage delivered an address upon the same subject. God's benediction comes in our physical, mental and moral and social nature through the Sabbath. Universal experience proves that the world needs it. Home life would be impossible without it. We could not develop the life of God without the Sabbath. On this day, more than any other, the church realizes her mission, accomplishes her greatest work, and reaps her greatest successes. Cheerfulness should characterize our observance of it, and the pulpit should give definite teachings upon its nature.

Rev. T. Ruddle read an essay on "The Attitude of the Church toward Amusements." He believed that Christians should encourage pure amusements. The enjoyment of pleasure and the faculties of risibility are gifts of the Creator. But we should say, "Hands off," to wrong amusements. The religious novel is a nuisance in literature. We do not oppose amusements, but we oppose sin.

Bishop Foss said that no godly pastor could suppose this subject of amusements to be unimportant. The friendship of the world is, indeed, enmity to God; but a Christian standard allows large personal liberty. Man is the only laughing animal; our imaginary evolutionary ancestor could only raise a grin. Children play, and many a tired man ought to play. The greatest Presidents, like Lincoln, have been the best story tellers. After a great defeat of the Union Army, Lincoln joked with Sumner, and said, "If it were not for these funny stories, I should die." We condemn only things that are essentially demoralizing. Of things harmless, the jollier the better.

Rev. Joseph Nettleton did not believe that we could retain whiteness of soul at the race course, in the ball-room, at the billiard table, or any such environments. The main question is, Does the recreation lead myself or another to sin, or does it glorify God?

Dr. B. M. Messick believed the Sunday newspaper to be one of the most degenerating and wicked of agencies. There is no greater foe of the Bible and of the church and of the Sabbath. There is money in it. The almighty dollar dominates it. There should be no recognition and no toleration of it by Christians.

Continued on Fifth Page.

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

1819-1891.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

Thou shouldst have sung the swan song for the choir
That "wed our groves with music till the day
Let fall its hilltop with its reddening fire
And evening listened for thy lingering lay.

But thou hast found thy voice in realms afar,
Where strains celestial blend their notes with thine;
Some cloudless sphere beneath a happier star
Welcomes the bright-winged spirit we resign.

How nature mourns thee in the still retreat
Where passed in peace thy love enchanted hours!
Where shall she find an eye like thine to greet
Spring's earliest footprints on her opening bowers.

Have the pale wayside weeds no fond regret
For him who read the secrets they enfold?
Shall the proud spangles of the field forget
The verse that lent new glory to their gold?

And ye whose carols wooed his infant ear,
Whose chants with answering woodnotes he repaid
Have ye no song his spirit still may hear
From Elmwood's vaults of overarching shade?

Friends of his studious hours who thronged to teach
The deepest scholar all your varied lore,
Shall he no longer seek your shelves to reach
The treasure missing from his world-wide store.

This singer whom we long have held so dear
Was nature's darling, shapely, strong and fair;
Of keenest wit, of judgment crystal clear,
Easy of converse, courteous, debonair.

Fit for the loftiest or the lowliest lot,
Self-poised, imperial, yet of simplest ways;
At home alike in castle or in cot
True to his aim, let others blame or praise.

Peace to thy slumber in the forest shade!
Poet and patriot, every gift was thine;
Thy name shall live while summers bloom and fade,
And grateful memory guard thy leafy shrine!

—Atlantic.

OUR CONTRIBUTORS.

An Open Letter.

BY D. W. FOSTER, M. D.

MR. EDITOR: In the ADVOCATE, of July 2, you criticised a brother, sans ceremonie, for not letting the presiding elder have a part of his "tithe" to waste for a weed, with which to poison himself and impair his usefulness! Now, you said that was "a good brother." You might have said "the presiding elder" would have been one of the best, perhaps, but for tobacco. And you ought to have said that brother's tithe, "and all the tithes of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the Lord's: it is holy unto the Lord. And the tithe of the herd, and of the flock" also; and that neither that brother, nor anybody else, has any right to let the Lord's tithe, that may be in his hands, be wasted by the presiding elder, or anybody else, and that for a poisonous weed, or any other poison or other thing, to dissipate into his injury, and that of others also. Ought a preacher to receive money to dissipate in whisky? Then why in tobacco, and not in opium, etc.? Every individual is held responsible by the Almighty for the proper distribution of his tithes.

Now, you brethren of the pulpit administer to us of the pews bitter doses sometimes, when you think we need them. And we take them with what grace we may have, and are frequently benefited by your treatment; and you must allow us to doctor you in turn, when we think you need it; and you must take our medicine with, at least, as good grace as we do yours. "Turn about is fair play," says an adage; and that "one good turn deserves another." But the pew would not discourage the pulpit, in its present state of embarrassment, with the wholesome aphorism, "Physician, heal thyself;" but would rather encourage you all by "stirring up your pure minds by way of remembrance."

Now, to very many, if not to most of the intelligent, thoughtful and conscientious people, tobacco appears to be an evil; and we are commanded emphatically to "abstain from all appearance of evil." The italics are borrowed to emphasize the law in the case, which might be rested upon that alone. But St. James' comment on it is too good to not be given. He says positively that "whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, is guilty of all." And that construction of the law is as correct as the law itself is just; for when "a man is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed" into one sin, the only reason he don't indulge in another also is because he is not "tempted" with quite sufficient "enticement" into that other one also. "His own lust don't draw him that way" with quite force enough; that don't happen to be "his way of sinning," or the occasion is not equally favorable. That is all that keeps him out of some other sin. It is not purely the love nor the fear of God, at least, that restrain him. If so, why does not the same proper regard for the law of God restrain him from the other, and from all other sins? It is the motive that constitutes the nature of the act, in every case, and in all cases. The same act may be good or bad, according to the motives; and if we don't keep the law purely from the motive to please God, but in deference to public opinion, or for other purposes, we don't keep it at all, in his estimation. And he is the one with whom we have to do, and to whom we will have to render the final account, which will eventually settle our destiny forever. And "God knoweth the secret thoughts and intents of the heart," and there is no way of hiding from him, or of evading our responsibility to him, and it is just as offensive to God for a man to "take his name in vain" as it is to take another man's property—"steal" it. Each and every sin is heinous in the sight of God, if not equally so, because it is a defiance to him. Whoever appropriates to his own unhallowed use the Lord's day, in violation of his positive command to "remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," becomes a thief in the sight of God, however much he may disdain to appropriate another man's horse to his own private use, in violation of public opinion. And, further, the Lord declares emphatically that when we misappropriate or withhold from him our tithes, we "rob God!"—become "robbers!" Such is the view the Almighty takes of these things; and he is the one that's to decide the matter finally, and there can be no appeal!

Now, what are you tobacco brethren going to do? Are you going to "abstain from the appearance of the evil," or not? That the chewing and smoking of tobacco does appear to be an evil, and that the wasting of the Lord's money for it does also appear to be evil, nobody can deny, unless his moral sensibilities have been very seriously perverted and obtunded by it, or some other poison. And, if so, that of itself is an unanswerable argument against its use.

But, before going into the argument of the case further, let me disabuse your mind (and the minds of others, perhaps) of an egregrious mistake you seem to labor under. You have taken the position that "a good brother" can't be "consistent" or "honest" if he attends church and refuses to supply the preacher with money to worse than throw away for tobacco, for instance. You say "that would be getting something for nothing." What? For what? Don't you, of the pulpit, deceive yourselves with the idea that we, of the pews, attend church for just what we may (and may not) "get" from the preacher! What did the Tabernacle, with the priest and the altar, the Sanctum Sanctorum and the Mercy Seat, amount to without the Shekinah? Right there comes in a world of trouble. "Paul may plant, and Apollos may water," but without "God to give the increase," all must ultimate in failure and disaster. If the ministers of the Most High had always and would always "tarry at Jerusalem until they be endued with power from on high," and never had and never would venture forth in their own unhallowed strength, the world would be infinitely better off to-day, and would soon become the Lord's sure enough, as it ought to have been before now. But the Lord, in his great mercy and goodness, provides for his saints. He has assured us that "where two or three are gathered together in his name, there he is in the midst of them;" and the communion of the saints, together with the Lord, can, and often does, prove both joyous and profitable; and the Lord even graciously promises to meet with and bless each and every individual in his own private closet, if he will enter therein right. But yet the injunction is, "Let us consider one another, to provoke unto love and to good works; not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is, but exhorting one another," etc. "We are glad when they say unto us, 'Let us go into the house of the Lord.'" We humbly approach the throne of grace to receive a blessing direct from the Lord; not to "get something for nothing" from the preacher alone! We go to give the preacher something also—the encouragement of our presence, etc. "Iron sharpeneth iron; so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend;" and "as in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man." And we go also to help "hold up the hands" of the preacher with our prayers, and to set an example for others to do likewise. The benefits, when there are any, of public worship are reciprocal and mutual, as far as depends upon human instrumentality.

But don't let me be misunderstood. I believe fully in the ministry—their divine call and high mission. To be instrumental in the hands of God in saving the world is, I consider, the grandest employ on earth; and will these God-called and high-commissioned messengers, sent forth on the all-important and pressing errand of life everlasting or death eternal, loiter on the way to barter the Lord's money for a poisonous weed, and pollute themselves with it? "God forbid!" Don't do it, brethren, for heaven's sake! If you do, ejaculate every time, "Lord, if this be wrong, please convict me of it, and help me quit it." I suppose, of course, if any tobacco preacher attempts to defend the use of the poisonous weed, he will do just like the whisky man who attempts to defend the use of alcoholic liquors—resort to the specious plea of "personal liberty" and "individual rights!" But all such sophistry can but have for its baseless foundation the preposterous absurdity that society has no "liberty" and no "rights;" but that each and every individual, however ignorant or vicious he may be, must be allowed to do just as he pleases! It has not been too long ago to talk about since preachers of the gospel and manufacturers and sellers of whisky were all united, not only in the same plea for the whisky bowl, but in the bowl also, as well as in the use of the pipe and the quid! What a mess they must have had among themselves, and what an incongruous set of bed-fellows they must have been—preachers of the abstemious and pure gospel of Christ and manufacturers and vendors of the devil's poisonous and demoralizing tobacco and whisky, all chewing and smoking tobacco and drinking whisky together, and singing their consciences to sleep with the silly lullaby of "personal liberty" and "individual rights!" Think you the Savior would waste money for tobacco to chew and smoke, or for whisky to drink? Do you think he would "go about doing good" with a pipe or a quid in his mouth, much less a bottle in his pocket?

But "the world does move," for the preacher has quit the other fellow's whisky. Mr. Wesley said, as long ago as when he lived: "Use no tobacco, unless prescribed by a physician (!). It is an uncleanly and unwholesome self-indulgence." And the Discipline of the Methodist Church (North) reads:

1. That the General Conference advises all our ministers and members to abstain from the use of tobacco as injurious to both soul and body.

2. The General Conference recommends to the Annual Conferences to require candidates for admission to be free from the habit, as hurtful to their acceptability and usefulness among our people.

But, my! my! how some of our Southern preachers do yet cling to the poisonous weed, and angrily contend for the putative "personal liberty" and "individual right" (!) to chew and spit amber in the presence of others, however "uncleanly" and disgusting it may appear to them, and to burn and puff the smoke into other people's faces, however sick it may make their stomachs, or however badly it may make their heads ache!

"Wad some power the giftie gie us
To see oursils as ithers see us."

Years ago I remonstrated with a promising young preacher, the son of a good and great man, and personal friend of mine, about using tobacco; but my well-meant advice met with no response, but a look of displeasure. To-day that unfortunate brother is in a deplorable condition—ruined by tobacco. His sun went down long ago in dismal night!

I have been told that one preacher said he would quit the Methodist Church before he would give up his tobacco! Does he "love Cæsar the less, or Rome the more?" Another good preacher, and personal friend of mine, told me he would talk with me on the subject; but when I asked him if he would read a little book written specially on that subject, he said, "Not if it comes from them Georgia fellows, for," said he, with some vehemence, "they take up an idea and run wild with it, and want to force it upon others." I understood him to have reference to the doctrine variously termed "entire sanctification," "the second blessing," and "holiness." My mind ran away back about 1,900 years ago, when one said to another, "We have found Jesus of Nazareth," and I heard a voice spoken then, but reproduced by the phonograph of imagination, saying, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" and another voice replying, "Come and see." And I knew another preacher—well educated, too—who did love to chew tobacco, and he did spit mightily; but, on one occasion, while he was staying in "Sodom" or "Gomorrah," so called, it seems that his finances ran low—at least, so thought an outsider, who saw him hurrying to and fro, apparently in a very distressed state and abstracted manner, and he jumped to the conclusion he must be out of tobacco, as he didn't see him chewing and spitting, as usual; so he gave him some money to buy tobacco, he said, "just because he loved to see him chew and spit!" But he didn't say anything about loving to hear him preach that I know of. The excuse that preacher gave for using tobacco was, "because he loved it." And that is about as good as any of them can give. But can't the whisky drinker give the same excuse with equally as much propriety? And could not the poor, benighted Chinaman, with equal propriety and greater extenuation of his folly, say he eats and smokes opium just "because he loves it?"

Jay Gould, the railroad magnate, once came near being disabled for business by tobacco. He consulted a physician, who told him tobacco was the cause of his trouble. Whereupon he, with his characteristic sound judgment, quit the dissipation, and became himself again.

A bold lawyer was elected to Congress, and while at that centre of so-called refined dissipation, he found himself unnerved and unmanned, without courage or capacity to present a bill or to speak to one. In his well-grounded alarm he consulted a physician, who told him tobacco was ruining him. He had sound sense enough left to quit the dissipation, and was restored to himself again. Recently an eminent lawyer told me that tobacco had so upset and prostrated him that he had felt tired all the time, in both body and mind, and had to stop and rest often, and yet he could not sleep—he was too nervous and restless. His liver and stomach, he said, were all out of order, and he had become a miserable dyspeptic. And his eyesight was impaired and fast failing. His memory had lost its retentiveness, and his reasoning powers were so overthrown he could not think connectedly enough to follow out a line of argument to a correct and safe conclusion. In short, tobacco was fast making a complete physical wreck of him, and had produced in his mind "a species of insanity" (were his own words). But he quit the use of the fast-destroying poison, and recovered entirely his physical and intellectual powers, and gained remarkably in flesh and general appearance. I knew the son of an affluent father who destroyed his mind utterly with tobacco. The first thing, after saluting anyone, anywhere, in his droll way, would be, "Gim'me chaw tobacco!" And he would hunt for old cigar stumps and pick up all he could find and devour them with the avidity of a tobacco worm, sure enough! I knew the son of another man of position, who was so completely demented and depraved by tobacco, that he killed his own father with a hoe in the garden.

But time and space fail me to tell of the cases of ruin wrought by tobacco—their name is legion.

"Are there no foes for us to face?
Must we not stem the flood?
Is this vile weed a friend to grace?
To help us on to God?"

If not, why waste the Lord's money for it, since it produces such dreadful effects otherwise?

(To be continued.)

The Lord's Prayer.—No. 5.

BY REV. J. B. WALKER, D. D.

"Thy kingdom come." The word "kingdom" is used in various senses in the Holy Scriptures. When spoken in reference to God's government, it sometimes means his dominion over the material universe, as when it is said, "The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens and his kingdom ruleth over all."

It sometimes means the visible kingdom or the church, as when Daniel says, "In the days of their kings (the Roman Emperors) shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed."

Then the "kingdom of heaven" also means that inward spiritual kingdom which a man can not see unless he is born from above. This kingdom comes not with observation, as with bannered armies, pomp and royal array. It is a kingdom within, ruling the intellect and spirit of man. This kingdom consists not in external, material and visible things, as meats and drinks (that is, in sacrifices and offerings), but in "righteousness" (or justification), "peace," as the outcome and fruit of pardon and joy in the Holy Ghost, for "joy is a fruit of the Spirit." God is the king who reigns in righteousness and love in this inward spiritual kingdom. He will reign supreme in this kingdom. We are to love him with all our heart, and with all our soul, and with all our mind. This is the first command or law of this spiritual kingdom. God will tolerate no divided heart; we must cast each cursed idol out that dares to rival him. This kingdom must be sought with "the whole heart." So long as we make any exception or reserve we seek in vain. We must be frank and transparent with him, whose eye flames with the brightness of a thousand suns into the deepest and darkest recesses of the soul; all is open and naked to him with whom we have to do.

We pray not that we may come to this kingdom, but that it may come to us. It comes to us as our ransom; we come to it as to our triumph. It comes to us as the kingdom of grace; we come to it as the kingdom of glory. God must come to us before we can come to him. It is true, as God fills immensity, he is everywhere present, but he does not reign in depraved and rebellious natures; he only reigns over them. The kingdom of God has not come to come in the sense that they recognize it. The kingdom is all about us like the light of the sun; and as the blind can not see it, so the spiritually blind can not see the light of the Sun of Righteousness shining in his kingdom. The prayer commands each man to pray that the kingdom of God which is "within us" may be set up and permanently established in his own spiritual nature.

If we are earnest and consistent in our prayer, "Thy kingdom come," then we will live and give as we pray. To do otherwise is a most glaring inconsistency. We make ourselves absurd. It should be the labor, as well as the prayer, of every professed subject of God's kingdom that that kingdom should come and cover all the earth as the waters do the face of the great deep, until every form of religious heresy and superstition should be destroyed by the light of eternal truth, and the song of triumph and gladness roll up in a thousand tongues, "Alleluia! the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth." No conceivable consummation can be so beneficent and glorious as the coming of God's kingdom. Oh! it would be a "new earth" wherein would dwell righteousness! The nations would learn war no more. They would beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning-hooks. The lion would lie down with the lamb and the desert should rejoice and blossom as the rose. The nations free from the horrors of war; the burdens of taxation, crime and pauperism banished; education would be universal; deltas, marshes and deserts would be reclaimed and smile with plenty.

"Thy kingdom come." There is to be a higher and more glorious kingdom in which and over which our glorified Lord is to reign with all the blood-besprinkled hands and immortal millions of the good and glorified. Good men confidently believe that they shall form a part of the countless millions of the blest, shall mingle in the exalted company of the noble and glorified, join in their songs of rapture, and, above all, be "forever with their Lord."

Woman's Missionary Society.

My Sisters in Christ:

From my home on the banks of Red river, near Shreveport, I extend to each one of you greeting. I have been reading missionary literature until my soul is all aglow with zeal. I wish I could talk with you face to face, this quiet Sunday evening, of the glorious work, its needs and our relation to it.

The field is so vast and each one of us is such a small factor, and yet the Savior's command, "Go into all the world," is as direct to each one of us as if we stood alone with him on Mt. Olivet.

In view of this fact, let us each answer a few, pointed test questions:

"Do I love my Savior?"

"Yes," answers my heart promptly.

"Do I want to prove my love?"

"Yes."

"Have I taken vows to obey him?"

"Yes."

"He says, 'If ye love me, keep my commandments.' Have I kept his command to go?"

"No."

"Why?"

"Ah! my heart—it would take a long time for me to repeat the excuses for not going; suffice it that, however much I might desire to go, my environments utterly forbid it. Is there no alternative?"

"Yes; either go or send. Have you sent?"

"Certainly; there are missionaries who have gone in my stead. They have left everything the world holds dearest, and gone into strange lands among strangers on every side. They are grappling with the powers of darkness, enduring persecution and reaching down into the depths to reclaim the priceless souls bought with a Savior's blood, utterly forgetful of self. They are enduring privation, poverty, hardships, isolation from congenial companionship, counting themselves rich in the fellowship with the Man of Sorrows. They are working truly for their Savior and ours, and they are faithful, even unto death. Oh, yes!—our sent missionaries are obeying the command and winning bright crowns to be worn that day."

"But, my heart, tell me wherein and how much I am interested in this sending? Answer honestly. Have I invested any gifts of time, talents or gold in this sending to bear me interest of spiritual blessing in this world and eternal life in the next? Have I sacrificed any comfort or even luxury in this sending? Have I paid my honest debt—the tenth? Have I given any part of my time or talents to advance the interest of the work? Have I held up the hands of those who are trying to arouse the church on this vital question? Do I attend my missionary meetings, and by my presence encourage the weak? Do I ever speak a word for the cause or try to induce others to more faithfulness? Do I bring any thank-offerings or free-will offerings to the treasury for all God's benefits to me? Do I read the missionary Advocates and reviews and study the needs of the sent missionaries, thereby keeping in touch with them? Do I even send my pitiable dime to the monthly meetings? Do I even belong to the missionary society? Ah! my heart, what can I show as an offset to my not going?

In the depths of humility I confess my unworthiness, my unfaithfulness, and, as an earnest of better things, I pledge myself to a thank-offering this blessed day. Will not everyone of you, my dear Christian women, recon-secrate yourselves to the mission-ouse? Listen to this voice from ov-the seas from our veteran missionar-Dr. Y. J. Allen:

Oh, that the church at home co-realize the depth of the need he-where heroes are fainting and ready-perish while they withhold the need-help! It would seem that the ve-stones must cry out in such a case-this. It is a call now to rescue-the heathen, but a Living stone; to sa-the dear ones who are sent to the fro-and whose lives are now imperile-The strain can not endure mu-longer. Action should be promp-There is no time for delay.

These are the missionaries we boa-of having sent, and then God forgi-us, leaving to sink or swim as be-they can.

Our State work languishes. At o-last annual meeting there were repor-ed 1,326 members—$959 92.

Where are the women of the chor-and what are they doing to hasten-coming kingdom of Christ? Our mi-isters are, almost to a man, thorough-in sympathy with our honest efforts-extend the work. They are ev-ready with heart, voice and (to o-shame be it spoken!) presence to he-us. Our officers and district secret-ries are anxious to organize and re-der all the assistance possible. T-W. M. S. is an open door to useful-for every woman and child.

The cause knocks at the door-every heart, and it returns to you-faithfully espoused, an hundredfo-blessing for all you give it. It is e-tirely for Christ's sake. In his na-I beg you to join the society and pro-your love for Jesus. The needs of-work are so great and the laborers-few and overburdened. The doors-heathendom are all ajar. Of all-Christian women of our beloved Sta-are there not a few who will g-their bright young lives, their be-their all to their Savior. And will-our sisters who can't go, honestly-faithfully help to send?

Our own Miss Phillips, our o-Louisiana missionary, writes me she-more endeared to the work than ev-Another writes from China: "It-hard, but there are ample compen-tions, and retreat is not once to-thought of." And she adds, "Co-my sisters, let us put head to he-shoulder to shoulder, and heart-heart, in this building for eternity."

There is no need for fanaticism-this work. Earnest, consistent con-cration is what is needed; is all that-needed, and interferes with no woma-family, social nor financial duties.

If we would indulge a hope of fi-reward, we must not turn a deaf-to the cries of, "Help! help!" wh-comes wailing from the millions-darkness. "Help! help!" from-overburdened missionaries. "He-help!" echoed by our Mission Boar-"Help! help!" calling the watche-on Zion's towers to a million chu-members, while the crucified, ri-Savior, with "great eyes fixed on-stars," says to each of us, "In-Father's house are many mansion-room for all. Go tell the good ne-to the uttermost parts."

MRS. THOS. P. FULLILOVE,
Pres. W. M. S., La. C.

"Things that Ought to Be Changed."

I want to shake hands with t-brother who gave us that timely a-cle under the above heading in-last issue of the ADVOCATE. He-struck the keynote. Our districts-too large. Something must be d-to lessen the number of appointme-so that all the quarterly meetings-embrace a Sunday. To effect this-only practicable plan is to form-districts. One presiding elder's-trict in the North Mississippi Con-ence has eighteen pastoral char-This forces him to hold two q-terly meetings during the week, m-ing the district, at least, one-th-larger than it should be, and, for on-am ready to cry for a change. If-presiding elder can't hold my quart-meeting including a Sunday, I-rather he would stay at home, and-me hold it myself. I have been a p-tor for some time, and have each-had one quarterly meeting during-week; but have never seen one-held that accomplished a particle-good. Give us smaller districts, b-by all means, give us presiding el-who will stay at home and attend-their work. A presiding elder wh-district includes eighteen past-charges has no time to spend at-Springs and especially none to sp-away from his district during-fourth round. A PREACHER.

(We infer from the brother's-sentence that he wants not only sm-districts, but bigger men for the p-siding elder's office. It is well-look at a great question from all-phases. If the world is a big fail-it is altogether owing to the little-that will not measure up to its op-tunities.—EDITOR pro tem.)

Rev. Phillips Brooks was ord-Episcopal Bishop of Massachuset-Boston, Oct. 14. The crowd and-tendance of clergy were an ova-Bishop Brooks' honors are well-and will be worthily worn.

THE LOTTERY.

What the Lottery Offers Louisiana.

BY REV. J. A. PARKER.

For a long time the lottery advocates played on the figures representing aggregates from the "revenue amendment"—as they are pleased to call it. Recently, however, they seem to have become impressed with the inadequacy of the price for the political freedom and moral rectitude of Louisiana, and have adopted a "comparison" system of figuring, in which they ignore everything except the schools, and questions relating thereto.

First. They dispute the only official source of information—the report of the State Superintendent of Education—and draw on all sorts of unofficial and unreliable statements for their facts.

Second. They add the amount promised by the New York Jockey to the present revenues of the State to school purposes, and anticipate the action of the Legislature, adding from one-half to the whole amount promised to the "General Fund" of the State, thereby making the sum seem nearly three times as large as that actually proposed by the lottery gamblers.

(Right here I want you to answer this question: If these lottery people do not intend to control the Legislature, what right have they to promise one cent of the amount of the lottery money, which, by the terms of the bill, is to go into the General Fund of the State?)

Third. They systematically ignore the only true feature of the whole thing, viz: THE INDIVIDUAL BENEFIT of the lottery offer to the people of the State.

The census report of the population and the amount of money offered by the gamblers to the State of Louisiana is suspiciously similar: Population (supposed on census basis), 1,250,000; money offered by these gamblers, $1,250,000! Whether or not the intention of the framers of the lottery bill was to fix the price of the sovereignty, virtue of the people of Louisiana at one dollar a head, it is certain that that is just the amount of money offered—$1 each!

But they talk about the children—the poor, ignorant children—and what seems, when taken in the aggregate, a large sum of money, and promise more still by controlling the future action of the Legislature. Divide it out among the children—negroes and white children alike—and see how much each one will have to aid in education. Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars divided among a little more than 354,000 school children—less than 90 cents each. Ninety cents a head is what is offered for the education of our children!

There is another great charity. We must not overlook this: $50,000 to disabled Confederate soldiers! Surely that is worth something! Let us see how much this would probably give each "poor soldier." The report of the auditor shows that Louisiana furnished the Confederate Army 55,820 soldiers. A comparison of the roster of the United States Army in the same year reveals the fact that one-twelfth of the entire army was on the pension rolls before the last reckless pension bill was passed by Congress. Applying this rule to the ex-soldiery of Louisiana, out of the 55,820 soldiers we should have a fraction over 4 651 pensioners on this fund. Dividing $50,000 amongst 4,651 soldiers, gives each one about $11 a year.

Then as to the drainage of New Orleans, that is about 20 cents a head for the population of the city.

What about charities? Well, the per capita tax for charities is about 12 cents per capita, or 12 cents for each citizen of Louisiana.

How about the levees? "The levees!" has been the cry of the lottery press for a long time. This I can not answer definitely as in the other items. It has been said that Louisiana has 2,000 miles of public levees, small and great, along the rivers and bayous. If this be true, then the amount offered is about $27 per mile. At 20 cents per cubic yard—which is about the average price of levee work—this sum ($27) would not build one yard of a 60-feet levee, having a 60-feet base and 6-feet crown. At this rate the whole fifty-two fund would build about one mile of levee such as is above described.

Here, then, is what the lottery offers for our civil liberties and our moral character:

For Pensions, per Disabled Soldier	$11 00
For General Fund, per capita	14
For Schools, per scholar	90
For Drainage and Sanitation in New Orleans, per capita	20
For Charities, per capita of population of the State	20
For Levees, per capita of population of the State	28

In tooting up the above figures, it will be found that the result is not one dollar per head of our population. The reason for this is, that the amounts for drainage, etc., in New Orleans, for schools and for pensions are distributed to the class for which these sums are specifically named, while the amounts for levees, charities and general fund only are distributed to the population of the State.

The whole amount, if distributed among the people of our State, amounts—as nearly as it can be calculated—to just

ONE DOLLAR PER HEAD.

Will you vote for the establishment of a crime for that?

The Lottery Question.

This is the rock that unfortunately divides our people. I look forward, therefore, with great anxiety to the dissensions which the demand of the lottery company for a recharter may produce. Some of our good people are giving their support to the lottery company because of the large pecuniary benefits which the company proposes to confer upon the State. Some of our friends who have hitherto most bitterly opposed it, propose now to resort to the expedient of a lottery company in order to supply the waste of war and disasters. The strongest arguments against the lottery company may be found in the former utterances of some of its most powerful advocates. While I do not think it is any answer to the suggestions which they make to indulge in crimination and abuse, they at least should be slow to censure those who still cherish their former opinions. But I, for one, can not see the force of the arguments which have led them to the support of the lottery company. I have always been opposed to monopolies, and this will be the greatest monopoly ever organized in any State of the Union.

It may be able to confer temporary advantages upon our people, but the price the people must pay will be their public liberty and permanent prosperity. We shall establish a political despotism, and in the end shall suffer all the disorders and the impoverishment which have always attended oligarchical forms of government. The lottery company, having amassed colossal fortunes, should be content. Our people can not be enriched by the lottery company. We may as well make up our minds to strike out of the Constitution of the State the words, "People of Louisiana," and insert the words, "Lottery Company of Louisiana," for the obligation which the lottery company proposes to assume of paying $1,250,000 per annum into the treasury is so great and hazardous that the company inevitably will have to take control of public affairs, and will surely do so. Our debtor company, having the power, will possess itself of our estate and administer it for its own benefit. It is too much to expect that a corporation should withstand such temptation, and the opportunity to gain the power necessary to its very existence and wealth—the master passion of mankind—against the domination of which the people have rarely succeeded in erecting barriers. The political organization by which the charter may be carried at the next election will be preserved—growing more efficient and powerful with time—to defend and perpetuate the lottery indefinitely, and to govern the State absolutely. Our young men will find public positions of usefulness and honor closed to them unless they yield allegiance and support to the lottery company.—Senator Gibson, in the New Delta.

Whoever the lottery still exists it argues a low moral tone among the people, and a spirit in the government far in the rear of modern ideas of either the right or the expedient. It has been forbidden by law in England for more than sixty years; since 1830 in Belgium also; and even in France, where it once flourished beyond almost any other country, it is now prohibited by law.

One of the chief reasons for the abolition of the lottery in the countries named above, and for its condemnation by all writers upon morals and upon political economy, is its essentially demoralizing effect upon the individual, and so upon society itself. "The legislators who sanction it," says one of the most eminent of these writers, "vote a certain number of thefts and suicides every year; there is no pretext of expense that can justify provocation to crime."—The Standard.

There is nothing more foolish than an investment in a lottery, except for a State to license one. A single ticket may result in greater gain than loss to the purchaser—though in the long run it rarely happens—but a hundred thousand tickets, which a whole State would buy, are certain to result in a tremendous loss, and this loss keeps on increasing with the demoralization that ensues. We are glad to record the protest which the Chief Justice of North Dakota made to one of the State senators. He begged him to "save the State from the stigma of being the tool of gamblers under the guise of a lottery. Poverty we can stand; infamy, never."—The Christian Union.

The wrongfulness of dealing in lotteries is, perhaps, not so obvious as of some other sins. Yet it is no less real. The whole scheme is based on an effort to get a neighbor's property away from him without giving him an equivalent. And this is a violation of the eighth commandment.—Christian Observer.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

PERIODICALS.

—THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN Architects' and Builders' Edition, profusely illustrated in colors and in wood engravings, has been received at the ADVOCATE office.

—THE TRAVELERS' OFFICIAL GUIDE of the Railway and Steam Navigation Lines of the United States and Canada, for October, has been received. There is a vast amount of information for tourist travelers and business men included in maps, railway time tables, etc., covering nearly eight hundred pages. The price of the Guide is fifty cents.

—From the Methodist Book Concern, New York, has been received the OFFICIAL PROGRAMME AND HAND-BOOK of the Second Ecumenical Methodist Conference. Price, twenty-five cents.

The Address of the Ecumenical Conference.

To the Methodist People throughout the World:

We, the members of the second Ecumenical Convention of Methodists, assembled in Washington, greet you, brethren, in every land to which our common faith has spread. Grace unto ye, and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

We glorify God for prosperity which he has given to our churches. By his blessing they have grown until they number some 25,000,000 of adherents. An organization which has grown so rapidly in the free competition of the churches, and even crippled in some of its branches by many artificial disabilities, must be in vital harmony with its environments. By the most inexplicable test, Methodism is proved to be singularly qualified to the needs of men. Though the adjustments and developments must undoubtedly be made to accomplish fully our mission, let us beware of thinking that any vital changes are necessary.

Faithfully using our present means, under the blessing of God, our prosperity will grow. We rejoice to recognize the substantial unity which exists among the various Methodist bodies. Its firm basis is a common creed. We are all faithful to the simple scriptural and generous theology which God, through the clear intellect and loving heart of John Wesley, restored to his church.

Intellectual movement and the social changes of our time may have led to some change in the form of expression or some shifting of the emphasis of our teaching; but they have not led us even to reconsider that living theology which so abundantly proved itself upon our pulses; indeed, it would be strange if, while other churches are drawing toward it, we should have departed from it. And there are other grounds of unity. We are proud of the same spiritual ancestry; we sing the same holy hymns; our modes of worship are very similar, and, what is most important of all, the type of religious experience is fundamentally the same throughout the Methodist world. Our ecclesiastical principles are not so various as the forms in which they are accidentally embodied. Rejoicing in these things, we think that the time has come for a closer co-operation of the Methodist Churches, both at home and abroad, which shall prevent waste of power and unhallowed rivalry. The standing evils of society are aggravated by the close pressure in our great cities and are discovered to the eyes of all in our daily newspapers. Let us preach and live the gospel of Christian integrity, dismissing all narrow conception of our duty.

God forbid that any of our churches should become the instrument of political parties. It is doubtless necessary that individuals should have party attachments, and Methodists are found in all the great historic parties. But when a member of our church has taken his place in that political connection which is most in harmony with his ideas and convictions, let him never forget that there are great moral interests superior to all party exigencies, in which he must first seek the kingdom of God and his righteousness.

Intemperance, the fruitful mother of the brood of evils, is largely created by legalized temptation. Snares are planted in almost every street for the unwary and unsteady. Is it too much to ask that our people will combine to use all legal instruments to abate this wanton solicitation of men to vice and crime? Let us discourage in every way gambling and betting, which spring from the love of excitement and the lust of gain—two of the betting evils—and let us abstain from all reckless speculation in business which can not be distinguished from gambling.

It is to be hoped that the multiplication of ministers may not tempt us to think that lay preaching is unsatisfactory. We thank God for the young men and women in our mission hands who are carrying the gospel to remote villages and into the alleys and courts of our crowded cities. We distinctly approve of associations in which, unfettered by any vow, godly women may be organized for ministration to human needs and sorrows.

The children of our church have occupied the attention of the Conference. In the formation and wonderful progress of the great societies on the American continent, in the Epworth League we especially rejoice. We should be glad if similar societies, adapted to other conditions, would be established in other parts of the Methodist world.

Christopher Columbus.

Just 400 years ago the renowned discoverer landed on these shores. Events no less important, are the discovery of Creole Female Tonic and the wonderful cures it effects among weak and sickly women.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H Beals, Jr.

The Superior remedy for all diseases originating in impure blood; the

MEDICINE

which may always be relied upon to give the best satisfaction, is

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Cures others, will cure you

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,

831 Broadway, NEW YORK.

IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.

W. H. KRONE, BUILDER,

586 Baronne St., - New Orleans.

Box 71, M., D., and L. Exchange.

WALL PAPER.

Never in the history of the Wall Paper business has the line of patterns equalled those which will be shown this Fall, and, as we carry the makes of every manufacturer, nowhere else in the South can such an assortment be found. In Dining room, Parlor and Bed-room Papers there are several very pretty novelties, and also an innovation in the way of a Bath-room Paper, which can be splashed with impunity and not damaged.

Matting, Chinese AND Japanese,

From 10 cents up. WINDOW SHADES, 25 cents up. OIL CLOTH, 25 cents up.

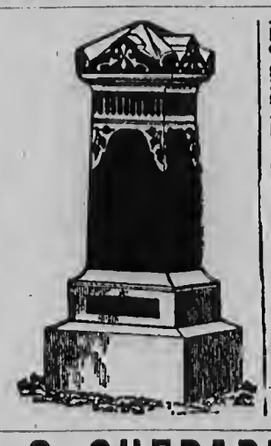
RUGS, COCOA MATTING UPHOLSTERING GOODS and LINOLEUM in immense assortment.

Write for a catalogue.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp St., New Orleans.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

W. C. SHEPARD,

94 CAMP STREET.

BEAUTIFUL

China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL

Semi-China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL CHAMBER SETS.
PLATED WARE, all kinds,
WOOD WARE, all kinds,
TIN WARE all kinds,
GLASS WARE, all kinds.

House Furnishing Store, Cheap as the Cheapest

ALL THE NOVELTIES OF THE DAY.

Wringers and Curtain Stretchers.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF

PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.,

Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,

NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

Peculiar

To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 7:55 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 5:15 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express 5:45 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express 8:00 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train" 10:20 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train" 6:50 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 3 Lim. Ex. 7:15 am	No. 4 F'st Ex. 7:45 am
No. 5 F'st Ex. 7:05 pm	No. 8 Coast. 3 45 pm
No. 7 Coast. 9:25 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex. 7 50 pm
Lim. express, 4:45 pm	Fast mail. 8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

No. 1. Local Mail and Express. 7:20pm	No 2. Local Mail and Express. 7:00am
No. 41 Chic and St. L. F. Mail. 8:25am	No 42 Chic and St. L. F. Mail. 6:05pm
No 45. Chic and N. O. Lim. 8:00pm	No 46. Chic and N. O. Lim. 12:01noon
No 41 Memphis and K. Ex. 8:25am	No 42 Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:05pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom. 8:50am	No. 6. McComb City Accom. 4:30pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 52 California Express. 7:30 pm	No. 51 California Express. 8:00 am
B. Rouge, local. 10:25am	B. Rouge, local. 3:50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 18 Califor. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local. 8 00 am
No. 17 Local. 7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor., 5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd. 2:30pm	No. 2, Lim'd. 5:00pm
No. 3, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 3, Fast Line. 8:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO.
(Via Meridian.)

No. 5, Fast Line. 7:30am	No. 2, Limited. 5:00pm

P. AND F. EAST LA.
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.

Arrive. 8:30 am	Leave. 4:15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pt. a-la-Hache 8h Bch. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:10 p m.	Pt. a-la-Hache 8h. Bch. 7:00 a. m., 10:30 a m., 5:15 p. m.

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

FROM

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City.

Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 34 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.

J. C. GAULT, General Manager.

D. O. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

To SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT and

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't,
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,

JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.

Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:15 p. m	7:54 a m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	8:30 a. m	8:45 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train"	3:50 p. m	10:30 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

P. R. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Agt.
B. F. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt.

FOR SALE!

40 Acres of Land

IN FRONT OF

Millsaps College.

This is a rare chance for persons wanting to live near the college, or for speculation. Lots 80x160 are selling for $150, not nearer than half-mile off. I offer this property in one-acre lots on the association plan, which will give a saver of one share costing $250 and at wholesale rates. As soon as the forty shares are sold, the property will be auctioned off for choice of lots, no one but shareholders being permitted to bid. Whenever a lot is sold for more than the share price, the excess shall be placed to the credit of the shareholders pro rata, thereby reducing the cost of lots as they are bid in. Persons buying a share will place the $250 in bank in this city; and when the auction sale takes place each shareholder, on the day of said sale, will receive his or her deed to the lot bought. Each buyer of a share will receive notice one week before the sale, so that they may be represented in person or by proxy. This property will go readily on this plan; so, if you want to get in the procession, send along your checks. The property is pretty, every acre of it. Not an acre that is not worth five hundred dollars. Address,

R. J. MALLETT,

Real Estate Agent,

316 EAST CAPITAL ST., JACKSON MISS.

REFERENCES.—Rev. W. C. Black, R. W. Millsaps, W. L. Nugent.

The Best, Swiftest and Lightest-Running Sewing Machine in the World is the SINGER.

Especially Adapted for Family Use. In Elegance, Convenient and Artistic Cabinet Work, with our New (patented) Stand, and all Modern Improvements.

THE ONLY PERFECT ATTACHMENTS

More Popular Than Ever, They Defy Competition.

Sold on the Most Liberal and Easy Terms. Full Instructions Given and Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Send for Illustrated Price List.

Needles for all kinds of Sewing Machines, 10, 20 and 25 cents per dozen; postage extra. Parts and Attachments for the Singer.

The Singer Manufacturing Company,

CENTRAL OFFICE:

185 Canal, New Orleans, La.

Branch offices at Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery, Ala.; Memphis and Nashville, Tenn.; Vicksburg, Miss.; Dallas, Galveston, Houston, Marshall and San Antonio, Tex.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study. Practical Lecturers and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this College has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has no unpassed facilities and equipments.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.—Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools, in Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Port Gibson Female College,

PORT GIBSON, MISS.

Opens Sept. 15, 1891. Closes June 15, 1892.

A school for the higher education of girls, under the patronage of the Mississippi Annual Conference, M. E. Church, South.

Located in the hill country of the State, on the L., N. O. and T. R. R. (Valley Route), six hours run above New Orleans, and one below Vicksburg.

For catalogue address

Miss M. E. COMPTON, Pres.

New England Conservatory

Founded by DR. E. TOURJÉE.

CARL FAELTEN, Director.

MUSIC Instruction in Piano, Organ, Voice, Violin, Solfeggio, Harmony, Etc. Class Tuition, 20 lessons, $10 to $30. Private lessons given. Recitals, Lectures, Choral and Orchestral Practice FREE to all pupils. ELOCUTION—Oratory, Dramatic and Lyric Action, Fine Arts, Languages, Literature, Piano and Organ Tuning. A comfortable HOME for Lady Students. Calendar free.

Fall Term Begins Sept. 10, 1891.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager, Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR,
Member of Board of Trustees,
No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

$65 A Month and board, or highest commission and 30 days credit to Agents, Teachers, Students, Young Men or Ladies to canvass for New Book. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia, Pa., or St. Louis, Mo.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.

Thursday, October 29, 1891.

Just as we go to press, a dispatch from his daughter at Webster Groves, Mo., announces the death of Rev. John Pipes, of the Louisiana Conference. A man greatly beloved by all has been called home. We are greatly grieved at this news.

Briefs.

Read the appeal of Bishops Wilson and Key for church extension help, and then act.

What lies on the conscience of the church so directly and weightily as foreign missions?

No money will save more souls and build more finances than that which is given to the noble cause of church extension.

The Ecumenical closed October 20, with a prayer meeting of thirty minutes' duration. That was better than, at least, an half-dozen five-minute speeches.

If there is anything that Louisiana needs "bad, worse and worst," it is more Methodist churches, and to that end large collections for the church extension fund.

The Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society for Louisiana, concerning which organization we had an able and instructive article from the pen of Bishop Hendrix in the last ADVOCATE, will hold its first State Convention at the Carondelet Street Church, in this city, Thursday, Dec. 3. The Woman's Department of Church Extension is to be merged in the new organization, and in the interest of this noble work Mrs. S. S. King, the State secretary of the former, is now making a tour of the State. Every pastoral charge in the Conference is urged to send delegates, who should be reported a week or ten days beforehand to Mrs. S. S. King, 277 Josephine St. Brethren, pastors, help these good women and their good cause, which is our's and Methodism's and Christ's!

Second Ecumenical Methodist Conference, Washington, D. C.

A CALL TO PRAYER.

Believing that the great need of the Church of Christ is a plentiful baptism of the Holy Spirit; that such a baptism would give energy and efficacy to all our agencies and organizations, and that without it all our efforts must fail of their one high purpose—the salvation of men; believing, moreover, that such a baptism may certainly be secured by those who will humbly and diligently wait upon God for it in persistent and faithful prayer, we earnestly and affectionately invite the ministers and members of the Methodist Churches to devote the week commencing on Sunday, Nov. 15, to special supplication for the outpouring of the Holy Ghost. We earnestly beg that such prayers be offered in private, in the family, in day and Sunday-schools, and in such social or public services as may be arranged by the authorities of the several churches.

T. BOWMAN STEPHENSON,
President of the Wesleyan Methodist Church.
J. WOODS BALLARD,
Vice-President of the Irish Methodist Church.
HENRY T. MARSHALL,
President of the Methodist New Connexion.
JOSEPH H. FERGUSON,
President of the Primitive Methodist Church.
FREDERICK W. BOURNE,
President of the Bible Christian Church.
M. T. MYERS,
Pres't of the United Methodist Free Churches.
THOMAS BROMAGE,
President of the Wesleyan Reform Union.
BISHOP THOMAS BOWMAN,
Methodist Episcopal Church.
BISHOP J. C. KEENER,
Methodist Episcopal Church, South.
GEN'L SUPT. A. CARMAN,
Methodist Church, Canada.
BISHOP A. W. WAYMAN,
African Methodist Episcopal Church.
BISHOP J. J. MOORE,
African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church.
BISHOP W. H. MILES,
Colored Methodist Episcopal Church.
Oct. 20, 1891.

Editorial Correspondence.

The trustees of the American University gave the Conference a reception in the parlors of the Arlington Hotel on Thursday evening. There was a large gathering and a bountiful collation and some very effective speech-making, all tending to the great object of building up a great Methodist University in the National Capital. The project is now fairly under way, and has the endorsement and help of other denominations as well as Methodists. The scholarly and wide-awake Bishop Hurst has the leadership, and it is no prophecy to say that he will reach success. There are three members of our church in the Board of Trustees.

The ninth day was one of great interest, the topics of discussion being "Social Problems and Missions." Labor and capital, combinations and strikes, in their moral aspects were discussed with conspicuous ability. Christian work among the rich and among the poor and in the agricultural districts were all handled in an interesting manner. The various churches all contributed speakers on these themes. The mission question received some attention in the evening of this day, to be resumed on the evening of the eleventh day.

On the tenth day, while discussing "War and Peace and International Arbitration," we had the agreeable episode of a visit from President Harrison and two of his Cabinet, Secretary Foster, of the Treasury, and Secretary Noble, of the Interior. The two Cabinet officers made neat little speeches, and the President a more elaborate one. President Harrison is a man of good presence, and a very graceful, though slow, speaker. He made a fine impression by his remarks.

Another episode of the morning was that Bishop Wayman, of the African M. E. Church, rose in his place and stated that the A. M. E. Church, the A. M. E. Z. Church and the Colored M. E. Church in America had agreed to organic union of those bodies, and he gave a cordial invitation to all other Colored Methodists to join with them. This announcement was greeted with immense and prolonged applause. I think if this Conference produces no other result than this union of the Colored Methodist Churches, it has rendered itself immortal. For several mornings during the week the resolutions below were discussed with great zeal and earnestness, and finally passed without a dissenting vote:

Resolved, That the Conference recognizes, with gratitude to God, the growing desire for closer union amongst the Evangelical Churches of Christendom, and especially hails with devout thankfulness the extension of that desire amongst the various Methodist Churches.

Resolved, The Conference can not doubt that concerted action upon many questions would be greatly to the advantage of the kingdom of God. The Conference would suggest that such concerted action might be possible and useful in the following great provinces of the Methodist world, viz.: (a) Great Britain and Ireland including its affiliated Conferences and Missions; (b) The United States, including its Missions and Mission Conferences; (c) Australasia with Polynesia and its other Missions; (d) Canada, with its Missions.

Resolved, This Conference, therefore, respectfully requests the churches represented in this Conference to consider whether such concerted action be possible, and if so, by what means and in what way, and directs the secretaries to forward a copy of this resolution to the senior Bishop or president of every Conference represented here.

The Southern representatives to a man voted for these resolutions.

The second Sunday was a good day for the Methodist Churches in Washington, all their pulpits being filled by men of the Conference. I had the pleasure to hear Dr. Stephenson, the president of the Wesleyan Conference, in the morning, at our church, Mount Vernon Place, and Dr. Waller, the secretary of the same Conference, at night, in a Presbyterian Church. Curiously enough, both sermons were on the same subject, the texts, though different, being taken from the same chapter. They were both real gospel sermons, edifying and uplifting with intense and fervent personal applications to the audience.

The eleventh day the essays and speeches were upon the "Church and Public Morality." Hon. B. W. Hill, of our church, had an essay on the "Legal Restraints on the Vices of Society," which was an excellent paper. Rev. J. Posnett, of the Wesleyans, spoke on "Lotteries, Betting, Gambling and Kindred Vices," and Hon. H. L. Sibley, of the M. E. Church, on "Marriage and Divorce Laws."

The afternoon session was given to two subjects—"The Lord's Day," and "The Attitude of the Church toward Amusements." On this latter subject, Bishop Foss, of the M. E. Church, made one of the best addresses that was made before the Conference.

The evening session was a missionary session. Addresses were made by various missionaries from China, Japan, Africa, India, Fiji Islands, all of which were interesting and well received.

The topics of the morning session of the twelfth day were the Christian Resources of the Old World, and of the New World. On the latter, Chancellor Mayes, of Mississippi, read a very able and interesting essay. Dr. Watts, of the Methodist New Connection, and Dr. Chapman, of the M. E. Church, made interesting speeches. Under the five-minutes' rule Bishop Keener got in one of his characteristic speeches and brought down the house, especially the English part of it.

The evening session was occupied with a discussion of the "Church of the Future." Dr. Buckley read the essay; and W. J. Dawson, of the Wesleyans; Bishop Hendrix, of our church, and F. W. Bourne, of the Bible Christians, made the addresses. I think there was more of value said at this session than at any other.

After resolutions of thanks, eloquently presented by Dr. Stephenson and others, and a short prayer meeting, the great Conference was dismissed with benediction, and its work became a matter of history.

C. W. C.

A Revival.

The word revival philologically means the renewal of something which possessed life, but has lost it either wholly or partially, though usually the latter. Thus vegetation, deprived of vivescence by the cool night air, is revived by the morning sun, and flowers which have suffered loss of vitality by the influence of withering heat revive under the breath of evening. Properly speaking, dead things can not live without a resurrection, and this is so radical and mighty a change that they must be said to return from the dead, rather than to continue inspirational being at some other angle of it. Life at best, while the most precious, is by far the most tentative of human possessions, and may be impaired or destroyed by the most trifling accidents; not more than one-third of the human family, it is said, surviving infancy, and not more than one-half the period of puberty.

But life in its more spiritual and less worldly character and adaptiveness is so awkwardly lodged in the average human breast, and is a thing so prone by the very operation of its own laws to change or extinguishment, that death may be said to be the rule, and not life by even so slight a majority as in the former comparison. It is heavenly treasure "in earthern vessels," which is not only subject to evaporation, but to loss by accident and the malice of enemies; and which, if it should survive these dangers, must be studiously prolonged by a replenishing of food and drink, and pure atmospheres and warm sunlight. Whether it would stand a fast of forty days, begun under the most favorable conditions, is a fact which has yet to be verified without the presence of a miracle. The reason that many were "weak and sickly," and a multitude "slept," in the apostle's time, he attributed to the subjection of that which is pure heavenly to a worldly hygiene; but, doubtless, many more had succumbed to starvation, and there is good reason to believe that spiritual famine and not sacrilegious gluttony was the leading factor in Zion's mortuary rate. But whether this is true or not, and speaking after the manner of men, the man who has three meals a day and a good night's rest enjoys, at least, four revivals from sunrise to sunrise, and it is easy to draw the inference that the average Christian convert can not keep spiritual life in him with less constant attention to the laws of its being. He must eat, drink, sleep, exercise with endless routine, and with keen appetite for "spiritual supplies" and rest and discipline, or die. The reason that a great many people need a "second blessing" is found in the fact that the old one has been long dead and buried. And the new coming with a force "stronger than death" to enforce itself upon the listless conscience that still reluctates, it is readily mistaken for heaven itself when it is only God's image in a new creation. To bring an army numerous and valiant and rejoiceful from "a valley of dry bones"—very dry and very scattered—was a greater miracle than Pentecost, we reverentially submit. No blessing that the Creator has to bestow can duplicate the former, life and its accessories, and to call anything second to that first is to belittle both the Great Giver and that breath of immortality which he has imparted to a clod.

Having obtained eternal life, the next thing in order and importance is not to get sanctified, but to conserve the infinite treasure by heavenly safeguards, and rejoice every day because we are God's children. If that life suffers injury, the need is revival, and not sanctification nor even consecration. If a church is diseased or dying or dead, it wants life and not sanctity. One blessing is intended to last for one lifetime, and it must, or there will be a miscarriage which no "second blessing," as such, can ever remedy. The brother or sister or church which has a second blessing is revived, not translated; they are, in the main, at least, restored backsliders, and not the pioneers of free grace. But transposing subject for object, neither is sanctification the "second blessing," nor the genius of confusion, nor yet the mother of intolerance, but it is the sweetness of heaven expending itself upon human life; it is exhaling to God by a gentle process of his fervency and radiancy, as the sun drinks up the grossness of our atmospheres, and this imparts rarefaction to them.

That there is something worse even than holiness meetings and the objectionable second-blessing movement, so prolific of strifes, heresies and seditions, we are more than free to admit, and among those which occur to us at this moment none are so vivid to the mental eye as that spire-crowned image of death, an imposing ecclesiasticism, faded, withered, dead, mummified, which will neither be galvanized into motion by the most spiritual kind of preaching nor envitalized by the pungent rays of the Sun of Righteousness at meridian. But the remedy is not "the second blessing," as we said in the introduction to this article, but the first blessing. "Let all things be done decently and in order."

Every Day.

Every day and its duties, is a sunlight sketch of a person's life. Our life will not average better than our average day, and the man who takes care of the latter's moments will make a miserly use of the former's periods and opportunities. "To live a day at a time" may be a wise saying, but, then, it is no more than every-day philosophy. To practice on each day will make a perfect life somewhere. Saying "good-morning" to our neighbor, and hearing it in turn from his lips, ought to acquaint us each of the dawn of a new and great responsibility. Nothing will make a man so strong for duty in the morning as a prompt recognition of the latter, and nothing will send him to bed in the evening with such a sweet thrill of content in his bosom. The analogue between these shorter and longer periods might be sketched thus: In the dawn we are vigorous and full of hope; as the morning advances we exchange hope for enthusiasm, and strength for a giant's confidence, while with the coming of noon we stand on a meridian of good fortune and worldly exaltation; as evening approaches we still enthuse with no loss of strength or majestic triumph, but possibly with a soberer estimate of that which lies beyond; in the middle of the afternoon we have met a sore disappointment, and a jolting consciousness that our strength and wisdom together is as nothing to that of God or even of federate man; with twilight, "we are sore broken in the place of dragons," but in the measure that we have parted with self-hope we have found a growing confidence in Him "who doeth all things well;" and finally when night falls, tired from the pleasures and cares of the world, and sick with its exhaustions, but with mighty faith in the dawn which is lying in wait behind the eastern hills, we fall into the deep slumber which is death's counterfeit, or death. If we have lived that day of life as we should, death will not be for us a criminal sentence from an inexorable Judge, but a sweet poem whose epilogue will be spoken or sung by angels. "While I live, I purpose to live," one of our modern world conquerors is credited with having said, and it was a noble sentiment to which any earnest individual is equal, since God sets our task every twenty-four hours and watches with us to its close, as well as rehearses us for the drama of death as often as our limbs and faculties become weary from the strife. Then let us gather up the golden days as heavenly treasures and roll them on before us into the greater sphere of eternity, when we shall come to possess them again as the least of the bright dowry of one who awakes from pleasant dreams of days well spent, to behold "the perfect day."

Let our pastors in Louisiana and Mississippi not forget that they are leaders as well as watchmen during these last weeks of the Conference year. It was "the thunder of the captains" that was relied on for victory in Job's time, and the moderns have not improved on those tactics.

Let us not forget our marching orders.

Notes from the Ecumenical.

Rev. William Arthur, in his open sermon, voiced a great fact when said, "Too many people put religion in the place of righteousne

One speaker at the Ecumenical troduced himself and his speech, w the woman question was up, with words, "Mr. President, ladies gentlemen and female brethren," one eye on the galleries, presuma

Our English brethren seem to b fond of speaking as the average Am oan, and oftener obtained the fl and much oftener finished their speeches before the gavel fell. Ne everyone who spoke had some defi idea of what he wanted to say, said it. They do not, as a rule, sp as distinctly as our men, and con quently it was sometimes difficul catch their words.

Bishop Galloway's address, on "Present Status of Methodism in South," contained some truths wh were real eye-openers to those of ot latitudes. They were told that real Methodism was found in all pristine purity in the Southern pa lels, and was working, like a lea among the masses. Though he rapped down before he was more half through, his address made a d impression upon the Conference.

Our English brethren manifes their approval of a speaker by call loudly, "Hear, hear;" while our p ple manifested their approval by cl ping their hands. Our English breth were not slow to manifest their dis proval by loudly exclaiming, "N "no," "no;" while our people ma fested their disapproval by a dog silence, which was sometimes v painful. Which is the better way, leave the reader to find out for hims

The harmony and good order d played in the routine of business w remarkable. The only interrupt was sometimes seen in the efforts persons to catch the eye of the p siding officer, and thus obtain the fl for a speech. At times this speci was ludicrous, at other times it ridiculous, and sometimes almost christian. The debates were char terized by good sense, propriety, very few personalities were indulg Some of the five-minutes' speec were rich and racy and spicy. Th was about some of them a rich fla of genuine humor.

The popularity of the Conferen was demonstrated by the crowds l assembled at the doors long bef the opening hour. The people w admitted by ticket, and it was v unsatisfactory to almost everybo The average American can not und stand why he should have a ticke procure an entrance to that sort service which costs nothing. Notwi standing this, the church and galle were generally crowded with es listeners and interested on looke The irrepressible and seemingly o nipresent book-seller was on hand w his wares! Whoever saw a Con ence in these latter days that was pestered by these same book-peddl They were at the Ecumenical in la force, and we suppose "ill paid lo there."

Hugh Price Hughes and his w lectured several times on their work the West London Mission, and crowds packed from door to a greeted them at all their lectures. Peter Thompson, of the East Lond Mission, also spoke to multitudes his work among the poor and ouls children of that section of the gr metropolis. These lecturers gave so most pathetic recitals of scenes w nessed almost every day in their no work. It is enough to make any he bleed to contemplate the sin misery that lie at our doors in great cities, and then think how li effort is being made by the church relieve them! Ah! what a respon bility is laid upon the church of day, and what an account she have to give!

Dr. Carlisle, of South Carolina, Bishop Hurst, of Washington C brought the Conference under pecu obligations of gratitude by a display some rare old Wesleyan relics. Au graph letters of John Wesley, Ad Clarke, Dr. Coke and Richard Wh coat were inspected by these e through a glass case. Some rare Bibles, reaching back to 1185, w the chain to attach them to the sta were seen. Also the manuscript Adam Clarke's commentary on Gospel of St. Matthew was seen. most notable thing about the Conf ence-room was the president's ch made from two beams from the City Road Chapel. It was made un the direction of Dr. Stephenson, president of the Wesleyan Conferen and cost, in our money, about $2 A description has already been p lished in a former number of t paper.

Silas Ganderfoot's Hoosier chroni about churches and church people, the Ram's Horn, ought to be book and given to the public in that fo It is fun at the expense of folly, in t most laughable dialect conceivable.

Second Ecumenical Methodist Conference.

Continued from First Page.

TWELFTH DAY, TUESDAY, OCT. 20.

The Business Committee recommended the appointment of an Executive Committee of 80 persons—50 from the Western, 30 from the Eastern Section—to provide for the next Ecumenical Methodist Conference. Adopted.

Rev. J. S. Simon read an essay on the "Christian Resources of the Old World." The number of ministers has lately remarkably increased. Outside of Methodism, there have been great revivals of spiritual Christianity, as among the Baptists under the leadership of Spurgeon. The resources of the church have greatly augmented among the Wesleyans also. Christ is yet the Centre. We are true to our doctrines; we are maintaining our traditions. The Salvation Army has attacked English heathenism with better methods, and with a more sustained effort than has ever been done before.

Dr. J. C. Watts believed that there are far greater providential resources than at any previous time in the history of the church—widening intelligence, universities and colleges, Sunday and day-schools, modern culture, science and biblical criticism. Even High-Churchism prevents the aristocracy from relapsing into total depravity.

Chancellor Edward Mayes read a paper on the "Christian Resources of the New World." There are in America 14,327,000 Protestants, 2,410,000 Roman Catholics, estimating actual communicants. There are 118,144 Sunday-schools, 421,999 Sunday-school teachers, 9,206,477 scholars, and 700,000 Roman Catholic scholars.

Rev. Dr. Chapman said the New World affords, in the amplest measure, the highest and most complex mission of the Christian Church. Our educational facilities are the bulwark of our institutions. When they are scattered through the agricultural districts, there will no longer be great aggregations of population in the cities.

Bishop Keener spoke upon "Higher Criticism." Within a few hours' ride of this place there are fossil beds which show the bones of almost all known animals of the world. Knock the time out of Darwinism and out of evolution, and there is nothing left to disturb Christianity. These fossil beds near Charleston, S. C., do knock the time out of them.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON—LAST SESSION.

Bishop Hurst presided.

A resolution recommending our Methodist people throughout the world to resist the pretentions of the Roman hierarchy was adopted.

Dr. J. M. Buckley read an essay on "The Church of the Future." He described the degeneracies and dangers of the present church, and, on the other hand, the purity of doctrine, unity, philanthropy, revival spirit, education, work of women, etc., which give us great hope.

Bishop Hendrix, of the M. E. Church, South, said that the church of the future will be built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief cornerstone. The battle of the twentieth century will be the battle for the conversion of the world.

The closing exercises were then held. Dr. Stephenson presented resolutions of thanks to Bishop Hurst, Dr. Corey, the secretaries and others who have greatly aided in preparations for this Conference and in providing for the comfort of the delegates. Also resolutions of thanks to the citizens for their extraordinary hospitality; to the local Press of Washington and the Associated Press of America. Dr. Carman, Hon. Mr. Way and Mr. Atkinson also reciprocated the great kindness which had been shown by the Western Section toward the Eastern.

Bishop Hurst made a final address, and the Conference adjourned.

The Louisiana National Bank.

During the past week the fact that the Louisiana National Bank had been robbed of $190,000 caused some stir, and it was feared that the public would be anxious as to its effect; but as soon as the statement of the financial condition of this strong bank appeared (it is published in another column of this paper) all apprehension subsided. On the writer visiting the bank on the day following the announcement of defalcation, he found no excitement, no crowd, the usual routine business going on. Mr. R. M. Walmsley, the able financier, stated that as soon as he learned that this large sum had been extracted from the assets of the bank, he immediately strengthened the bank, so that in case of alarm every claim should be promptly met. He also stated that this $190,000 does not lessen the capital of the bank, nor was it taken from the depositors' funds, but from the surplus fund, which still amounts to $150,000, while the total resources of this bank are $4,593,218.80, with cash assets subject to check amounting to $2,182,531.51.

Our friends doing business with this bank need have no fears of the stability of this well-managed institution. It may not be generally known that Mr. R. M. Walmsley is a Christian gentleman of the right kind, whose integrity and unflinching honesty are his distinguishing characteristics.

Death of Rev. R. Abbey.

I have just returned from Yazoo City, whither I was summoned to attend the burial of Rev. R. Abbey, the oldest and most distinguished preacher in Mississippi. Born Nov. 16, 1805, in a few weeks he would have reached his eighty-sixth year. His last illness was of short duration. Vigorous, alert, active, he seemed destined for a century of service; but the Master sent an earlier summons which found him, to use his own triumphant words, "ready to go; willing to stay."

A great leader in our Israel has fallen—a citizen of large usefulness and broad sympathies, a Christian of sturdy and many virtues, a theologian of profound and varied learning, an author of world-wide fame, a man of unblemished and beautiful character, has been gathered to his fathers. Full of years and honors, the friend of all, the enemy of none, a Christian philosopher, ends his modest life in perfect peace.

His birth-place was near Rochester, New York, but when sixteen or seventeen years of age he came South, and found employment with a merchant in Natchez, Miss. By extra-diligence and sterling integrity, studying late at night and early in the morning, he not only rose to the headship of the firm, but became a man of great learning. In connection with his duties as a clerk he edited a newspaper for several years, and there acquired that facility in the use of his pen which made a voluminous writer and author. He published thirteen volumes, besides a number of pamphlets and multitudinous articles for reviews and magazines. His name has for years been familiar to the columns of all our Advocates.

In early life he became a Christian and a Methodist, was a steward and class leader for years, and was licensed to preach in 1841. Though lacking the elements of oratory, his preaching was instructive and eminently edifying.

I have known few men as discriminating in judgment, as profound in learning, as rigid in analysis and as luminous in statement.

He was an honest seeker after truth. Without stopping to consider whither it was to lead or whether it would support or overthrow previously accepted doctrines, he pursued it to the end, and had the independence to acknowledge and proclaim it. His mental hospitality was like John Wesley, and, with him, was also tenacious of truth established.

But I do not purpose in this an extended memoir—only a note to inform our wide connection that one of our masterful leaders has fallen on sleep. His death comes to me as a sore, personal bereavement. He presided in the Quarterly Conference which gave me license to preach, and through all the intervening years has been a trusted friend and father.

He died peacefully—without fear or tremor. The night before the end came, when the pastor of his family, the Rev. R. J. Jones, arose to go to the prayer meeting, he beckoned him to his bedside and repeated, with strong voice and discriminating emphasis, the twenty-third Psalm. After that he scarcely spoke. With strong faith he walked through the valley of the shadow of death.

In 1882 his wife, whom he married in his young manhood, was taken from him. Since then he has lived with his only daughter, Mrs. Dr. Magruder, who with her children treasure his precious memory.

What a cheerful, happy, active old age was his! He never seemed old—never out of sympathy with the current thought and life of the world. Up to the last his pen was busy, his brain at work, his heart solicitous for the prosperity of Zion. Only a few weeks ago, a veteran of eighty-five years, he attended as a delegate the State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association.

A modest Christian, a great theologian, fond father, a pure man—let us cherish his memory and emulate his spirit. I hope to give more extended mention of my glorified friend.

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 24, 1891.

Liberty is a great boon, and as the ages go by men who are without it desire it all the more. But with the great privileges of freedom enjoyed under the most advantageous circumstances, the happiness of life is much overshadowed if they are not accompanied by freedom from disease.

Pain puts the stamp of misery on all it touches here below. Age, inherited weakness, and the wear and tear of labor, and the burdens of life affect all alike. Humanity would be sadly off if there were not panaceas provided so general in character as to relieve almost every form of pain.

The greatest of known panaceas is Mansfield's Magic Arnica Liniment which for outward application in wounds and cuts, burns and scalds, headache, toothache, neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, and all the long list of complaints, accompanied by pain, gives relief not only quicker than any other preparation, but invariably by continued use accomplishes a permanent cure. Its reputation has grown with years, and it can always be relied upon to do its work. Mansfield Drug Company, Memphis, Tenn.

Personal and Otherwise.

Majorities are absorbent, or they are nothing.

We are glad that it is not worse than bissiparous. Methodism, we mean.

"Faith works by love," and faith and works and love work by prayer.

In some localities, perhaps, it should read, "Thou shalt not muzzle the 'giraffe' that treadeth out the corn."

"The powers that be are ordained of God," the apostle said of both civil and ecclesiastical magistrates. Strange, is it not?

Bro. Stuart, of Ocean Springs, gave us a hearty call last week. He is, as of old, enthusiastic against heresies of all kinds.

It is too bad to compel a man to walk a plank when he is endeavoring to spread himself out over two political platforms.

When a man reaches the point of avarice, no matter how amiable or wise, he is fit only for "treasons, stratagems and bribes."

Rev. Dr. Richard Abbey died at his home in Yazoo City, last week. For a long time Dr. Abbey has been a conspicuous figure in church polemics. He had passed his fourscore years, and was a ripe sheaf.

We regret to announce the death of Rev. A. J. Witherspoon, of this city. He was for many years chaplain of the Seamen's Bethel, and was much beloved by all who knew him. The Presbyterian Church has sustained a great loss in his death.

The following note from Rev. R. S. Woodward gives us great pain: "Bro. A. D. Miller, of Bowerton circuit, is sadly afflicted of paralysis of the right side of the face. We ask prayers in his behalf that God may spare to the church one of our most effective preachers and a faithful pastor."

Our College of Bishops has appointed Dr. W. A. Candler, of Emory College, fraternal delegate to the General Conference of the M. E. Church, which meets next May, and Bishop C. B. Galloway, fraternal delegate to the Wesleyan Methodist Conference, which meets next July. These are eminently appropriate appointments.

For bruises, sprains and scalds, nothing equals Salvation Oil, the pain eradicator. 25c.

Easy to take and swift to cure—Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Sold by all druggists for 25c.

The Spring gushes, but never remarks, "I'm a gusher."

Hall's Hair Renewer contains the natural food and color-matter for the hair, and medicinal herbs for the scalp, curing grayness, baldness, dandruff, and scalp sores.

Millsaps College Notes.

It is a pleasant fact to report that the work of the brick-layer has begun upon the main building of the college, and now Millsaps College has a local habitation, and an existence other than in the faith of its friends. The contractor reports that a fine foundation has been secured, and now the brick-work will be pushed with vigor.

Morton has lately increased her subscription to the endowment fund of the college by $96.50, and Black Hawk, under the influence of the genial, generous and loyal B. F. Phillips, reports an additional contribution of $76.

Sixty dollars, contributed by several parties from various points, have recently been handed to the agent, and $200 are reported on the "W. H. Watkins scholarship." So the endowment funds still grow.

Remittances are beginning to come in more briskly for the cancelling of notes. This is the work of prime importance now; upon this hinges the success of our whole enterprise. Every note ought to be paid, and paid at once. It can not be done in all cases without self-sacrifice; but this is a time for self-denial and sacrifice, and surely "the people called Methodists" are not strangers to this grace of their fathers. Let the liberality, which impelled to the promise, have added to it the self-denial which compasses the payment, and twin-jewels will adorn the soul.

Some of these notes were due in December, 1889, and many of them in December, 1890. They ought to be paid at once, with the accrued interest. Many are now approaching maturity. These ought to be paid as they fall due, even if we have to borrow the money with which to pay them. Here is a moral and legal obligation, and upon its fulfillment depends the success of a great enterprise, and the very seriousness of the crisis warrants the borrowing of the money to meet the acknowledged claim.

Some of these notes do not fall due until December, 1892, or later; but in many cases these could, with little or no trouble, be taken up now.

The honor of the church is involved. Let her notes be worth one hundred cents on the dollar.

A. F. WATKINS.

An Important Matter.

Having been in attendance upon the stated meeting of the Board of Church Extension, Oct. 1, 1891, it has seemed proper that a word be said to the church by us on behalf of this work. Much has been accomplished by this arm of our service. Since 1882, when it was organized, the Board has received into its treasury from all sources $504,990.83. (This embraces the receipts up to Oct. 1, 1891.) They have disbursed this money in 2,216 appropriations: donations, 1,821; loans, 107, and parsonages, 288. These have been scattered throughout every Conference in the connection, in 31 States and Territories, and the Republic of Mexico.

This work stands as the highest vindication of the wisdom of the General Conference in organizing it. The exhibit of the Board exceeds the expectations of its most hopeful friends. And yet the church is not doing what this interest demands, and what her ability justifies us in asking her to do.

The reports from the Conference Boards show a steady increase in the amount of collections. Nearly every Conference held so far this year reports larger contributions than last year, but there are some exceptions. There are strong Conferences which have been the beneficiaries of this Board in large amounts which are falling behind last year's figures. And it is a noticeable fact that there are some hundreds of charges in the connection which report no collection for this cause. Some of these are mission charges, but by no means all. We learn with regret that there are large circuits and strong stations whose reports in this column are blank.

It can hardly be true that our people do not appreciate the importance of this work. It is a matter so necessary and so palpable that all ought to see it, if it be brought to their notice. It seems strange that our preachers would not be interested in this collection, since it lies so close to their work, and, besides, they are obliged to it by the most solemn promises. If collections had been taken and were very small, there would be room to doubt where the fault lies, but when no collections have been taken we are forced to conclude that the preacher has failed in his duty.

We suggest to our preachers everywhere that they inform themselves of the work of this Board, and that it be made a part of their regular, prayerful, and heart-felt ministry. There is not in the church's service an arm that is more needed, and that, with God's blessing, may be made more efficient for good.

A. W. WILSON,
JOSEPH S. KEY.

Notices.

To the Class of the First Year of the Louisiana Conference:

The class will meet the committee in the Methodist Church in Alexandria at ten A. M., on Tuesday, Dec. 15. Let every member of the class be there on time. J. M. BROWN, Chairman.

The Rev. C. H. Owen died at Bolivar, Miss., Oct. 15. He was a member of the Relief Association of the North Mississippi Conference. Members will take notice and pay their mortuary dues (five dollars) within sixty days from this, Oct. 17, 1891.

THOS. J. NEWELL, Sec'y.

To the Members of the Louisiana Ministerial Brotherhood:

Dear Brethren: Rev. B. F. Alexander having been called to his reward on Sept. 29, you are hereby notified to pay in Assessment No. 2, according to Article 8 of our Constitution. Remit the amount—five dollars—to the financial secretary at Plaquemine, La.

S. S. KEENER,
Financial Secretary.

Those parties that have not paid their subscription to the special missionary collection, taken by Dr. Potter, at the last Louisiana Annual Conference, will please forward same as soon as possible. Brethren, please give this your earliest attention.

C. B. CARTER, Treas.,
112 Camp St., New Orleans.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Episcopal Visitation for 1891 and 1892.

Conference.	Date.	Place.	Bishop.
Indian Mission	Nov. 1	Oklahoma City, Oklahoma	Hendrix
West North Carolina	Nov. 5	Asheville, North Carolina	Galloway
German Mission	Nov. 5	New Fountain, Texas	Fitzgerald
Virginia	Nov. 11	Petersburg, Virginia	Keener
North Texas	Nov. 11	Terrell, Texas	Hendrix
Central Mexico	Nov. 11	City of Mexico, Mexico	Haygood
Texas	Nov. 18	Austin, Texas	Fitzgerald
North Carolina	Nov. 19	Greenville, North Carolina	Galloway
Arkansas	Nov. 25	Russellville, Arkansas	Duncan
Memphis	Nov. 25	Mayfield, Kentucky	Key
Northwest Mexican	Nov. 25	El Paso, Texas	Haygood
Northwest Texas	Nov. 25	Corsicana, Texas	Fitzgerald
South Georgia	Dec. 2	Cordele, Georgia	Keener
South Carolina	Dec. 2	Darlington, South Carolina	Granbery
Little Rock	Dec. 2	Arkadelphia, Arkansas	Duncan
North Mississippi	Dec. 2	Macon, Mississippi	Hendrix
North Alabama	Dec. 2	Decatur, Alabama	Galloway
Mississippi	Dec. 9	Brookhaven, Mississippi	Hendrix
North Georgia	Dec. 9	Cartersville, Georgia	Key
East Texas	Dec. 9	Henderson, Texas	Fitzgerald
Louisiana	Dec. 16	Alexandria, Louisiana	Keener
White River	Dec. 16	New Port, Arkansas	Duncan
Alabama	Dec. 16	Selma, Alabama	Hendrix
Florida	Jan. 8	Tampa, Florida	Granbery
Baltimore	Mar. 24	Harrisonburg, Virginia	Keener

Special Offer

FOR

New Subscribers

AND

Renewals.

All new subscribers paying $2 in advance will receive this paper until January 1, 1893.

All renewals paying their present indebtedness during the next twenty-five days will be credited with three months' subscription.

PRIZE OFFERS.

Anyone sending in $2 for a new subscriber will be paid a commission of fifty cents, and, in addition, those sending in ten new subscribers between now and the meeting of their Annual Conference will be given a beautifully printed, bound and illustrated copy of "Farrar's Life of Christ," worth $3.

Those sending in five new subscribers during the above period will be given a silvered-bound copy of Prof. Henry Drummond's five great addresses, entitled, "The Greatest Thing in the World," "Pax Vobiscum," "The Changed Life," "A Talk with Boys," and "How to Learn How." This book is sold at $1.25.

All payments must be in either cash to the preacher in charge or sent to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

N. B.—In addition to the above, the person sending the largest number of cash new subscribers by the time their Annual Conference meets, will be presented with five pounds of Stuart's celebrated pecan nuts for planting and ten choice Stuart pecan trees.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the Large and Spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All Its Branches and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director.

169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

MAGIC LANTERNS AND STEREOPTICONS

ment and Parlor Entertainment, etc., nothing can be found as instructive or amusing, while Church Entertainments, Public Exhibitions and Popular Illustrated Lectures— An instrument with a choice selection of Views makes a splendid Holiday present. We are the largest manufacturers and dealers, and ship to all parts of the world. If you wish to know how to order, how to conduct Parlor Entertainments for pleasure, or Public Exhibitions, etc., for MAKING MONEY, send us your name and address on a postal card (naming this paper), and we will mail you our PAY WELL. 208 PAGE BOOK FREE.

McALLISTER, Manufact'g Optician, 49 Nassau St., N. Y. City

TELEGRAPHY Thorough, Practical Instruction. Graduates assisted to positions. Catalogue FREE. Write to Bryant & Stratton Business College, LOUISVILLE, KY.

GOOD NEWS
FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF
Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a
TINY LIVER PILL
which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of
TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS
is shown in the border of this "ad."

CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS Containing new Carols and a Responsive Service that may be used with or without the Carols if pages. Price, 5 cents a single copy.

The CHRIST of BETHLEHEM. A Beautiful New Christmas Service consisting of an Introductory Responsive Service interspersed with New and Appropriate Hymns. Price, 5 cents a single copy. OTHER SERVICES of the same character are published, as follows:

A CHRISTMAS VISION A NEW CANTATA By C. H. Burnham & L. F. Root. These two writers is sufficient guarantee that the work is the best, most entertaining, and most original produced thus far. Price, 40 cents a single copy. OTHER CANTATAS for Christmas are: "Santa Claus and the Heathen Children," "Santa Claus Arrives," "The New Santa Claus," "Cat'ring Kriss Kringle," "Santa Claus Mistake," and "The Wade Christmas." Price of each, 40 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY Relates in verse, scripture readings and music, By M. B. Brooks & G. F. Root, the principal events of Christ's life on earth. Beautiful and instructive. Price, 40 cents a single copy.

BETHLEHEM. A Cantata for Adults only (no children's part) that cannot fail to please when rendered. Price, 40 cts a single copy. By G. F. Root. Send 25 cents for sample copy of "Musical Visitor for Choirs."

—PUBLISHED BY—
The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 200 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 13 E. 16th St., New York.

GOLDEN MEMORIES
OF THE BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.
8 Col'd Plates, 50 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations
A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ART!
A Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown, sold at a price within the reach of all.
AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP.
HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT REFLECTORS FOR OIL, GAS OR ELECTRIC LIGHT
I. P. FRINK.
551 PEARL. ST N.Y.

THIS ORGAN ONLY $29.00
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.
ADDRESS
H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, N. J.

HAVE YOU GOT PILES
$100. FOR AN INCURABLE CASE.
Itching Piles are known by moisture like perspiration, causing intense itching when warm. This form as well as Blind, Bleeding and Protruding, yield at once to which acts directly on parts affected, absorbs tumors, allays itching and effects a permanent cure. 50c Druggists or mail. Circulars free. Bosanko Co. Piqua, O.
DR. BO-SAN-KO'S PILE REMEDY

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE
Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm H. Morrow, No. 9 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn.
— FOR — Catalogue.

SKIN DISEASES Tetter, Eczema, Chapped Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by CRYFF'S OINTMENT. 50c. Druggists HISCOX & Co., N.Y.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE
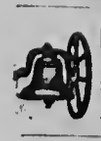
Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Asthma, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion. Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.
HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & Co., N. Y.

How To Cure Piles.
We will send our new, highly endorsed scientific booklet, "How to Cure Piles," free to any one troubled with Piles or Constipation. If they mention this paper and enclose a 2c. stamp for postage. Send quickly, the number of free books is limited. THE GLOBE MEDICINE CO. Cincinnati, O.

AGENTS send for How I Made a Fortune and Lost It in One Year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a Home, or business change. $75 to $100 Monthly. Teachers and Ladies find big pay for spare hours. TREASURY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. N. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

"THE NEW METHOD" for good health cures all chronic cases. Rev. A. Albro, D. D., Utica, N. Y., writes: "One of the greatest boons to mankind in modern days." Infinitely better than the Hall System. Half the price. Send for testimonials. HEALTH SUPPLIES CO., 113 BROADWAY, N. Y.



McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Best quality Copper and Tin BELLS for Churches, Schools, &c.
Also CHIMES AND BELLS.
Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

CANCER and Tumors CURED; no knife; book free. Drs. GRATIGNY & NORRIS No. 163 Elm street, Cincinnati, O.

ASTHMA DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE CURED never fails; proof in your address, we will mail trial BOTTLE FREE
DR. TAFT BROS. M. CO., ROCHESTER, N.Y.

HOME LIFE.

WE SHALL KNOW EACH OTHER THERE.

When we hear the music ringing
Through the bright celestial dome,
When sweet angel voices singing
Gladly bid us welcome home
To the land of ancient story,
Where the spirit knows no care—
In that land of light and glory,
"Shall we know each other there?"

When the holy angels meet us,
As we go to join their band,
Shall we know the friends that greet us
In the glorious spirit-land?
Shall we see their kind eyes shining
On us as in days of yore?
Shall we feel their dear arms twining
Fondly round us as before?

Yes, my earth-worn soul rejoices,
And my weary heart grows light,
For the thrilling angel voices
And the angel faces bright,
That shall welcome us in heaven,
Are the loved of long ago;
And to them 'tis kindly given
Thus their mortal friends to know.

O, ye weary ones and sad ones,
Droop not, faint not by the way;
Ye shall join the loved and lost ones
In the land of perfect day!
Harpstrings, touched by angel fingers,
Murmur in my raptured ear;
Evermore their sweet tone lingers—
We shall know each other there.

—Western Christian Advocate.

Exact.

Joseph Ericsson, the inventor, had not only genius, but the "immense capacity for taking pains," which sometimes accompanies it. All his work was so exactly done that he could demand from workmen the most rigid observation of details in the drawings furnished for their guidance, without fear that they might go astray.

When the steamer Columbia was built, its engines were put in according to his designs. It was customary at that time to get the length of the piston-rod from the engine itself, and as a man was one day engaged in measuring it with a long baton, Captain Ericsson chanced to be on board at that moment, and, going up to the workman, he roared:

"What are you doing there, sir?"

"Getting the length of the piston-rod, sir."

"Is it not on the drawing?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then why do you come here with sticks? Go and get the length from the drawing, sir! I do not want you to bring sticks, when the drawing gives you the size."

At another time, a workman was endeavoring to put in the engines of a steamship, and found great difficulty with a small connection which is described as being "crooked as a dog's hind leg." Finally he went to Ericsson and informed him that the rod could not be put in place.

"Is it right by the drawing?" was his query.

"Yes, sir."

"Then it will go in."

And on another trial it did. The master brain had left nothing to be supplied by the ingenuity of others.—Youth's Companion.

A Singular Horse.

A funny story is told of Dean Swift, who was a witty man, and fond of a joke at the expense of other people, as most witty people are. One very cold night, when he was traveling, he stopped at a little inn. There was only one fire in the house, and the guests of the inn, crowding about it, left no place for the newcomer.

With a solemn face Dean Swift called to the hostler, and told him to get a peck of oysters immediately and take them out to his horse.

"Will your horse eat oysters, sir?" asked the astonished man.

"Just take them out and see," said the horse's master.

The people around the fire stared at the man who owned this curious horse, and nearly everyone of them left his seat and went out to see the remarkable horse eating oysters.

Then the cunning Dean made himself comfortable in the warmest corner, and ordered his supper.

Presently back came the hostler, with the disappointed crowd after him.

"He won't touch them, sir!" cried the hostler.

"Then take the foolish animal all the oats he can eat," replied Dean Swift. "You can bring the oysters here. I'll eat them for supper myself."—Harper's Young People.

Try It for a Month.

Pray three times daily for a month, and note the general effect on your daily life.

Pray daily for the salvation of one or more souls, and see how God will change them.

Pray for those who despitefully use and abuse you, and observe how fervently you will learn to love them.

Pray for a pure heart, for a sanctified nature; "for this is the will of God, even your sanctification," "and if we ask anything according to his will, we know that he heareth us."

Pray for a revival in your community, and mark the results.—The Ambassador.

PLATE VALUED AT $2,000,000.—It is probable that at the state banquet which the Queen recently gave to William II. at Windsor Castle there was plate in the room to the value of £500,000. There are two state dinner services—the one of gold, which will dine 130 persons, the other of silver—both of which were formed by George IV., who regarded them as his own property; but William IV. made them over to the Crown. The great silver wine cooler which was made by Rundell & Bridge for George IV., and which weighs 7,000 ounces, was also used on this occasion. It is enclosed with plate glass, and the silver is superbly chased and ornamented. The royal plate at Windsor is altogether worth about £1,800,000. There are quaint pieces which were taken from the Spanish Armada; a peacock of precious stones from India, which is valued at £40,000; a tiger's head (also from India), which has a solid ingot of gold for its tongue, and crystal teeth, and a wonderful collection of splendidly ornamented gold shields, one of which was made for George IV. out of his snuff-boxes, and is worth £10,000. There are 100 plates, which cost 26 guineas each.

All our oculists are of one opinion that the greatest enemy to the eyes of young men is the cigarette. There exists a disease among smokers which is dangerous, and which our best authorities were for a long time at a loss to understand. After careful investigation, this peculiar malady has been traced to the paper-covered cigarettes. It is now known as the "cigarette eye," and requires for its cure a very long and careful treatment. Its symptoms are dimness and a film-like gathering over the eye, which appears and disappears at intervals.—Morning Star.

Only One Caterpillar.

While I was walking in the garden one bright morning, a breeze came through and set all the flowers and leaves fluttering. Now that is the way flowers talk; so I pricked up my ears and listened.

Presently an old elder-tree said, "Flowers, shake off your caterpillars."

"Why?" said a dozen all together—for they were like some children who always say "Why" when they are told to do anything. The elder-tree said, "If you don't, they'll eat you up."

So the flowers set themselves shaking till the caterpillars were shaken off.

In one of the middle beds there was a beautiful rose which shook off all but one; and she said to herself, "Oh! that's a beauty! I'll keep that one."

The elder-tree overheard her, and called out, "One caterpillar is enough to spoil you."

"But," said the rose, "look at his brown and crimson fur, and his beautiful black eyes, and scores of little feet; I want to keep him; surely one won't hurt me."

A few mornings afterwards I passed the rose again. There was not a leaf on her; her beauty was gone; she was all but killed, and had only life enough to weep over her folly, while the tears stood like dew-drops on her tattered leaves.

"Alas! I didn't think one caterpillar would ruin me."

So it often happens that one very little bad habit will in time grow so much as to spoil the good characters of boys and girls.

A YOUNG GIRL'S ROOM.—A young girl's room may be as full of costly articles as wealth can make it, or it may be the result of taste and ingenuity with but trifling expense, but the one who looks in upon it can, if choosing to take the pains to do so, tell at once the character of the occupant by the mere arrangement or disarrangement of the place. There is, of course, the pretty artistic ensemble that at first glance seems to be only confusion, but which presently resolves itself into a harmony of form and tint, any change in which would be discord, which tells something interesting concerning the artist in the arranger. Then there is the precise and prim manner, in which everything is at right angles; every book is exactly in position on every other book; no folderols are allowed; nothing that indicates a waste of time or a love of pleasure; and everything that indicates methodical, utilitarian, and exacting traits, with little love of beauty, indicates a character that will by and by possibly make life a burden to everyone in the house. There is the confusion, again, which is disorder, where everything has been tossed at random; there is no place for anything, and nothing is in its place, thus telling a lamentable tale of its first cause. And then there is the abode of neatness without tastical and pragmatical effort for it, of order without primness, of grace and spotlessness combined; a room where a little of the artist is to be seen, a little of the precision and something of the perfect love of order without its exactness.—Harper's Bazar.

The proposed new liquor law of Germany allows the granting of a license only where the need for a dramshop is shown; it can be refused to anyone of immoral character; liquor must not be sold to minors, to drunkards, or to persons when intoxicated; drunken men can not be expelled from the premises except by sending them home. The police is empowered to forbid sale of liquor before 8 A. M. Inn and saloon-keepers must furnish unintoxicating liquors when desired, and they must not sell intoxicants on credit except when taken with meals. Common drunkards can be placed under legal guardianship; a fine up to one hundred marks and imprisonment up to four weeks can be imposed upon anyone who becomes intoxicated while engaged in work connected with the saving of life, the prevention of fire, etc. In publishing the law, the Reichsanzeiger presents an exhaustive article of eleven columns, giving reasons why the law is proposed, sustained by scientific and statistical authorities. These reasons are the greatly increased consumption of alcoholics, and that it is a cause of pauperism, of disease, insanity and crime; these facts being proved, government feels it its duty to avert the threatened danger as far as possible.—Union Signal.

ABOUT BAD TEMPER.—A bad temper is one of the worst things with which a man or woman can be afflicted. It is a curse to the possessor, and those who are obliged to live in the same house with the possessor of the complaining temper are martyrs. It is often said that we should not let the bad temper of others influence us, but it would be as unreasonable to spread a blister of Spanish flies on the skin and not expect it to draw, as to think of a family not suffering on account of the bad temper of one of its members. It is like the sting of a scorpion, or of several scorpions, a perpetual source of irritation, destroying your peace and rendering life a burden. To bear one everlasting complaint and growl proceeding from what is aptly called "a chronic kicker," to have every agreeable thought chased away by this evil spirit of disputatiousness, is more than flesh and blood can stand. This would be a better world if the people who lose their tempers would never find them again.—Texas Siftings.

TEMPTATION.—This is what Prof. Drummond, of Glasgow, says about a boy's temptation: "You have heard of the old castle that was taken by a single gun. The attacking party had only one gun, and it seemed hopeless to try and take the castle, but one soldier said, 'I can show you how you can take the castle,' and he pointed the cannon to one spot and fired, and went on all day, never moving the cannon. About nightfall there was a few grains of sand knocked off the wall. He did the same thing the next day, and the next. By and by the stones began to come away, and by steadily working his gun for one week, he made a hole in that castle big enough for the army to walk through. Now with a single gun firing away at everybody's life, the devil is trying to get in at one opening. Temptation is the practice of the soul, and if you never have any temptation, you will never have any practice. A boy that attends fifty drills in a year is a much better soldier than one that drills twice. Do not quarrel with your temptation; set yourself resolutely to face them."

CHILD TRAINING.—"Train up a child in the way he should go." Oh, mothers, don't be deceived. If you want your children to be the Lord's when they grow up; if you want your boy to withstand the unknown temptation of the future; if you want him to come out a man of righteous principle, integrity and honor, superior to all the doubleness, chicanery and deviltry of the world, you must train him to look upon the world's prizes as dross compared with the joy of a pure conscience and a life of usefulness to his fellow-men. And if you want your daughter to be a true woman, willing to suffer in the interests of humanity and truth, you must teach her that she is an independent, responsible being, whom God will call to as severe a reckoning for the use or abuse of her talents as he will her brother man.—Mrs. Booth.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

IN A BEECH WOOD.

BY MARIAN DOUGLAS.

A golden arch above my head,
A path with golden carpet spread,
Each side the golden-mantled trees
Soft singing in the faint, sweet breeze,
Down-fluttering leaves in golden showers,
A gold gleam of witch-hazel flowers,
And, dazzling my uplifted eyes,
The sunlight in the golden skies:
What magic spell has compassed me?
What strange new world is this I see?
Gold! gold! above, below, around;
I tread upon enchanted ground.
A dream-land Queen, who only knows,
To-morrow, when the east wind blows,
Her dream and all its glory goes!

—Harper's Bazar.

"The Children's Crusade."

"The Children's Crusade" against ignorance, as embodied in the effort upon the part of the Methodist boys and girls in Mississippi to endow the "Children's Scholarship" in Millsaps College, ought to enlist the sympathy and interest of every young person in the State. It is meeting with favor, as the following report shows:

H. Otis White	$1
Ethelbert H. Galloway	1
Thos. B. Rowan	1
David L. Bingham	1
Louise E. Bingham	1
Chas. Galloway Bingham	2

This may not seem a long list; but, like the little folks whose names are upon it, it is going to grow wonderfully. If there is one thing that children can do, it is grow; but will the growth of the children be much more wonderful than the growth of the dollars that they give? Who can estimate the value of these dollars after fifty years?

This is our new "roll of honor." Other children are coming. I know of two little fellows who are now picking cotton for the money, and another who has made seventy cents of his dollar. Who will be the next to report?

A. F. WATKINS.
Jackson, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: As I have not yet seen a correct answer to the question about the little boy and the basket of nuts, I thought I would write what I think is the number. The number I found was 301. I am eleven years old, and go with my brother, on horseback, to the Waterproof Sunday-school, about three miles from home. Wishing the ADVOCATE much success, I am, Your friend, LEONARD WAILES.
Goldman, La.

MR. EDITOR: I was glad to see that I had answered your first problem correctly, and have tried to work out the last. The only number that I can find that leaves 1 when divided by all the numbers except 7 (and even when divided by 7) is 2,401. So my answer is that he had that number of nuts in his basket. Hoping that I am right, I remain, Your little friend,
MARY F. MCLEAN.
Gayden, La.

The Mistakes of a Small Boy.

A boy would not be worth much if he never made mistakes, and was never told of them. There is hope for a boy in proportion to the number of mistakes he makes and afterward corrects.

One of the most common mistakes of a boy is what he wants. He is apt to want most the things he hasn't, and one of the things a small boy hasn't, and hankers after most of all, is size. Oh, how he does pine for size! He waits and counts days, and scratches the wall with pencil marks, and stretches himself up trying to catch up with his big brother. And all the time he may be more of a man than his big brother, if only he would put the right kind of measure in place of the foot-rule.

You have heard of the Irishman who went to market to buy the most for his money, and, finding that turnips were so much cheaper than potatoes, bought four bushels of turnips instead of two of potatoes. But he was much surprised to learn that the turnips were seventy-five per cent. water, and that he might have bought a package he could have carried in his vest-pocket that would have contained the same amount of nutriment as his four bushels of turnips.

That was a case where size was deceiving, and that is the way the small boy is often taken in. It's not the size of a man's fist, or the breadth of his shoulder, or the height of his stove-pipe hat that counts. I have seen a seven-foot bully do a thing so mean and unmanly that a seven-year-old boy ought to blush for it. And I have seen a boy pass along after him, and pick the whining dog up that he had kicked by a kick, and treat it with such pity and tenderness that, if we still lived in the days of chivalry (and we do in more ways than one), that boy would have been knighted and spurred, and received the applause and smiles of fair ladies and noble men and his king, and the hulking giant would have been given to some magician to be changed into a flea, or a potato-bug, or some petty, noxious insect. If a boy would only hanker after the things that ought to go with size, and let size take care of itself, he would make no mistake.

Another thing that the small boy is apt to overrate is physical strength. He is always bragging about what he can do, and the strongest boy in a crowd is sure to have things pretty much his own way. The whole world used to be boys once in that respect. The man who could strike the hardest blow, and ride the fastest and jump the farthest, and use his arms and legs the best, was the best man. Now it is the man who can use his head the best. It is the man who has the best heart. The Indian said when he first heard a pistol fired and saw the deadly effects, "He heap little, heap land, heap go quick and hit hard." A boy who is little need not be sad, but if he can "go quick," and hit the mark clean through is doing his duty, he is manlier than some who wear arms's clothing. It is not the exhibition of strength, it is the just and kind use of strength, the intelligent and judicious use of strength, that makes great. The horse has more strength than the man; but the man, with his less strength and his superior mind, makes the horse go as he pleases, and subdues the wildest and most ferocious beast.

Don't ache for size; don't ache for strength. Don't lie awake nights thinking how to get either. Let those things take care of themselves, and be just the kindest, most truthful, patient, industrious, merriest, happiest boy you can, and get all the love you can from others, and give all the love you can to them, and man will one day say of you, "What a power he is!"—and maybe you could not lift a five-pound dumb-bell. But all I say will be true, nevertheless.—Our Morning Guide.

Physicians Seldom Indorse
patent medicines, but Magnire's Bonne Plant is recommanded and used by a majority of them because of its superiority over anything for bowel diseases. 75c. per bottle; expressage paid if three bottles are ordered.
J. & C. MAGUIRE, St. Louis, Mo.

SCIENTIFIC.

The Birth of an Iceberg.

The dynamical law by which the glaciers abutting on the sea generate their bergs is still somewhat vague. In earlier days it was held that the glacial tongue broke off by its own weight. To this has succeeded the following explanation; perhaps more popularly than scientifically accepted. Moving down the fiords to the ocean the glacier's front enters the waves, at first ploughing up the sea-bottom into a deep furrow. But as the ice grow pushes out over the sloping ocean floor, the weight resting upon the bottom steadily diminishes. The floating power of the water tends constantly to lift the ice, which is held down by the rigidity of the glacial sheet below its normal sea line. Moving on still, the glacier's front reaches the point in deeper waters where it is lifted from the bottom altogether. Still it remains unbroken, the strength of the sheet, hundreds of feet in thickness, holding it. But as it proceeds, the awful leverage on the unsupported tongue waxes. It is like the van of an army drawn further and further away from its main body, and encountering increasing attacks of the foe. Each surge of the tide, every onset of storm, racks its structure. At last comes the point where the hardly sustained equilibrium of forces ends, and the glacial tip breaks away into the floating berg. Finally we have a third and more recent hypothesis based on the differential movement of the upper and lower parts of the glacier. This latest theory asserts that the glacial front is thrust over from above by the swifter descent of its upper portion a movement which may be roughly likened to the breaking comb of a sea wave sweeping to the shore.

But whatever the specific direction of the force which expels the berg from the glacier, the grandeur of the phenomena which often attend it is without question. Constantly the brow of the glacier over the sea is shaking off with sharp explosions smaller masses of ice, which drop to the water in clouds of spray. Suddenly there comes a set of louder and deeper blasts that blend into a subteranean roar. A great section of the disrupted front of the glacier bends, with water-falls pouring from its sides, and obscured in clouds of vapor from the cold surfaces newly exposed to the air. As these clear away, the broken-off glacial tongue surges down, forcing up a wave of water dangerous to near vessels, to boats or men at the water's edge. Up and down the new-born berg sways, moving, meanwhile, slowly away from the glacier, and out to sea. It has been born amid the travail of the icy elements to begin its life journey, that is to be long or short, according to its own size and the places to which the currents of air and water are to bear it.—Clarence Deming, in Harper's Weekly.

WHAT IS "ONE-HORSE POWER?"—When men begin first to become familiar with the methods of measuring mechanical power, they often speculate on where the breed of horses is to be found which can keep at work raising 33,000 pounds one foot per minute, or the equivalent, which is familiar to men accustomed to pile driving by horse power, or raising 300 pounds 100 feet per minute. Since 33,000-pound raised one foot per minute is called one-horse power, it is natural for people to think that the engineers who established that unit of measurement based it on the actual work performed by horses. But that was not the case. The horse-power unit was established by James Watt about a century ago, and the figures were settled in a curious way. Watt, in his usual careful manner, proceeded to find out the average work which the horses of his district could perform, and he found that the raising of 22,000 pounds one foot per minute was about the normal horse-power. At this time he was employed in the manufacture of engines, and had almost a monopoly of the engine-building trade. Customers were so hard to find that all kinds of artificial encouragements were considered necessary to induce power-users to buy steam engines. As a method of encouraging business, Watt offered to sell engines reckoning 33,000 foot pounds to a horse-power, or one-third more than the actual. And thus what was intended as a temporary expedient to promote business has been the means of giving a false unit of a very important measurement to the world.—Kansas Miller and Manufacturer.

The human skin contains more than 2,000,000 openings, which are the outlets of an equal number of sweat glands. The skeleton consists of more than two hundred distinct bones. An amount of blood equal to the whole quantity in the body passes through the heart once every minute. The full capacity of the lungs is about three hundred and twenty cubic inches. About two-thirds of a pint of air is inhaled and exhaled at each breath in ordinary respiration. The stomach daily produces nine pounds of gastric juice for digestion of food; its capacity is about five pints. There are more than five hundred separate muscles in the body, with an equal number of nerves and blood-vessels. The weight of the heart is from eight to twelve ounces. It beats 100,000 times in twenty-four hours. Each perspiratory duct is one-fourth of an inch in length; of the whole about nine miles. The average man takes five and one-half pounds of food and drink each day, which amounts to one ton of solid and liquid nourishment annually. A man breathes eighteen times in a minute, and 3,000 cubic feet, or about three hundred and seventy-five hogsheads of air every hour of his existence.

AN ELECTRICALLY-OPERATED MICROSCOPE.—A Munich institution has made a magnificent microscope for the World's Fair, at a cost of $8,750. An electric current supplies the light, which, placed at the focus of a parabolic aluminium reflector, reaches an intensity of 11,000 candle power. Electricity also centres the quadruple condensers by an automatic mechanism. The heat generated by the intense light makes necessary a cooling apparatus, which is an electrically regulated machine liberating a fine spray of fluid carbonic acid from copper reservoirs in which this substance is stored under a pressure of 21 atmospheres. So great is the cold produced by its vaporization that the carbonic acid used need not exceed in quantity four or five grains per hour. With ordinary objectives, the highest magnifying power of the instrument is about 11,000 diameters, but with the oil immersion this may be increased to 16,000.

A guild in London has for its object the training of musicians in the art of soothing the nerves of the sick.

For over fifty years Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar has cured coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, throat and lung affections. It is the regular prescription of a physician of extensive practice, who, after prescribing it for twenty years, was induced by the gratifying results to make it a proprietary medicine. Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar soon became known as the best remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Why? Because it has merit and will cure. A. C. Haffenfinger, Philadelphia, says: "I know a man suffering with his lungs who was in the hospital a year without benefit. I induced him to take Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and to-day he is well. I know it saved his life." TRY IT.

PARSONS

PILLS
MakeNewRichBlood
"Best Liver Pill Made."
They positively cure SICK HEADACHE and BILIOUSNESS, all Liver and Bowel Complaints. In Glass Vials, Thirty in a bottle, one a dose. They expel all impurities from the blood. Delicate women find great benefit from using them. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 25 cts. in stamps; five bottles $1.00. Full particulars free. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass.

Some Children Growing Too Fast become listless, fretful, without energy, thin and weak. But you can fortify them and build them up, by the use of
SCOTT'S EMULSION
OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND HYPOPHOSPHITES
Of Lime and Soda.
They will take it readily, for it is almost as palatable as milk. And it should be remembered that AS A PREVENTIVE OR CURE OF COUGHS OR COLDS, IN BOTH THE OLD AND YOUNG, IT IS UNEQUALLED. Avoid substitutions offered.

Heavy Crops!
The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.
Royal Germetuer

Each Man Speaks.
Gentlemen:—Please send another $12 box of Cannabis Indica. It has entirely cured me of Bronchitis and Catarrh. I gained nine pounds in two weeks. The $36 spent with you has done more good for me than the $200 paid to doctors.
BENJ. F. JONES.
No. 820 Garrison Ave., St. Louis, Mo.
"This is the remedy that cured me of Consumption 18 years ago, and one of the medicines I hold in high estimation. Inclosed is $27 for another box of Indian Hemp.
"J. G. LITT, Pastor Evangelical Church,
"South Cayuga, Ontario."
$2.50 per bottle, or three bottles for $6.50. Pills and Ointment, $1.25 each.
CRADDOCK & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Sole Proprietors.
Ask your druggist for Dr. H. James' Imported Remedies, or send to us direct, naming this paper.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post-office. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.
ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

IF you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

MARRIAGES.

ROBERTSON—FAIRCHILD.—At Vinton, La., Oct. 14, 1891, by Rev. Thos. J. Upton, Mr. John Robertson to Miss Louisa O. Fairchild, both of Vinton, La.

JOHNSON—OWENS.—At the Brandon parsonage, Sept. 10, 1891, by Rev. Isaac L. Peebles, Mr. William Johnson, of Hattiesburg, Miss., to Miss Jessie Owens, of Goshen, Miss.

HURST—DANA.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Warren county, Miss., Oct. 7, 1891, by Rev. C. W. Campbell, Rev. W. W. Hurst, of the Mississippi Conference, to Miss Lucy Dana.

CONGER—WALLACE.—At the Methodist Church, Coldwater, Miss., Oct. 14, 1891, by Rev. J. W. Malone, Mr. Levi A. Conger, of Arkabutla Miss., to Miss Minnie Wallace, of Coldwater.

BELL—CAVITT.—At the Washington Hotel, Vicksburg, Miss., Oct. 16, 1891, by Rev. Frank M. Keen, Mr. Andrew J. Bell, of the Ruston (La.) Telegraph, to Miss Jennie T. Cavitt, of Clinton, Miss.

FORBES—BURNEY.—In the Methodist Church, Ebenezer, Holmes county, Miss., Sept. 17, 1891, by Rev. J. C. Lowe, Mr. F. J. Forbus and Miss Josie A. Burney.

COX—HARDING.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Holmes county, Miss., Oct. 15, 1891, by Rev. J. C. Lowe, Mr. S. M. Cox and Miss Ida Harding.

PARKER—STAMPLEY.—At the residence of the bride's father, Sept. 22, 1891, by Rev. D. F. Gulce Mr. R. L. Parker, of Natchez, Miss., to Miss Ella Stampley, of Hamburg, Miss.

MCPHERSON—KINERSON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Oct. 8, 1891, by Rev. D. F. Gulce Mr. Daniel McPherson to Miss Ola Kinerson, both of Franklin county, Miss.

RAGSDEDER—FAVRE.—At the Methodist Church, Pearlington, Miss., Oct. 14, 1891, by Rev. Thomas W. Adams, Dr. Marcus J. Magruder, of New Orleans, La., to Miss Eva A. Favre daughter, by adoption, of Hon. T. M. Favre.

WILEY—FAVRE.—At the Methodist Church, Pearlington, Miss., Oct. 15, 1891, by Rev. Thomas W. Adams, Mr. Walter C. Wiley, of Tyler Texas, to Miss Louise Eucharist Favre, daughter of Capt. J. A. Favre.

BROWN—JONES.—At the residence of F. A. Jones, Oct. 1, 1891, by Rev. N. S. Cornell, Mr. W. H. Brown and Miss Mattie E. Jones, all of Catahoula parish, La.

HARRISON—NICHOLS.—At the residence of Mr. Henry Nichols, Oct. 7, 1891, by Rev. N. S. Cornell, Mr. Jas. P. Harrison and Miss L. Ella Nichols, all of Tensas parish, La.

SMITH—SKINNER.—At the residence of the bride's mother, in the town of St. Joseph, Oct. 14, 1891, by Rev. N. S. Cornell, Mr. Phil. C. Smith and Miss Jessie Skinner, all of Tensas parish, La.

SNYDER—CASTLEMAN.—At the residence of R. L. Castleman, on Lake St. John, Oct. 15, 1891, by Rev. N. S. Cornell, Mr. J. G. Snyder and Miss Mary E. Castleman, all of Concordia parish, La.

HEARD—JOHNSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. I. M. Johnson, Sept. 30, 1891, by Rev. N. J. Roberts, Mr. L. G. Heard to Mrs. Etta Johnson, both of Hinds county, Miss.

OBITUARIES.

THOMAS—Died at Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 6, 1891, of chronic diarrhœa, Mrs. VICTORIA H. THOMAS (nee Dickson), aged fifty-two years, wife of Capt. S. M. Thomas, of Caddo parish, La., and a communicant in the First Presbyterian Church at Hot Springs. Capt. Thomas had visited Hot Springs for the benefit of his health, and while there he was seriously injured by a polygon fragment from blasting rock adjacent to the hotel where he was, striking and breaking his right leg below the knee. On hearing of this disaster, his wife went immediately from their home to the bedside of her stricken husband, and while there administering to him her weak and frail body succumbed to its malady after a bed-confinement of two weeks.

Sister Thomas was universally beloved and highly esteemed by all who knew her. A woman like her, of such benevolence, hospitality and kind-heartedness, would be greatly missed in any community, especially by the young people, of whom she was particularly fond; and delighted to make the threshold of life pleasant and joyful to them; and no tongue can tell, nor heart feel, but the bereaved kindred, brother and sisters, and her own home how much she is missed. She was a kind and loving wife, a self-denying, devoted mother, a thoughtful and affectionate sister; but they do not mourn without hope of meeting her beyond the troubled, boisterous sea of this sublunary life, in the haven of reposo and eternal rest, where the wicked cease to trouble.

She remarked to her daughter, that she was at peace with God; that she felt nothing in her heart against anybody, and that she was fully resigned to die. LEWIS A. REED.

DAVIES—On July 17, 1891, Miss GEORGIE F. DAVIES entered into rest, aged twenty-one years eleven months and eleven days.

Miss Davies was a devout and consistent member of the M. E. Church, having professed conversion and joined Parker Chapel four years previous to her death. I knew her as her pastor over two years, and was deeply impressed with her consistent walk and conversation. She was regular in all her church duties, and permitted nothing to interfere except ill-health, from which she suffered a great deal the last few years of her life. As a Sunday-school scholar, she was earnest, punctual, attentive.

Her last illness was one of suffering; but she passed through without murmur or complaint, gentle and patient to the end. Her testimonies were clear and emphatic. She spoke much of the comfort of the Savior's presence. She told me repeatedly that her trust in Christ was firm and sure. There was light in her soul—a light that burst forth in expressions of joy at times. Her end was peace. It was a triumph over pain, sin and death itself. She gently fell asleep to awake in his likeness.

F. N. P., P. C.

SELMAN—Died July 9, 1891, W. R. SELMAN. He was born Jan. 22, 1821, in Pike county, Miss., and on Sept. 25, 1851, was united in marriage to Miss Kate Baker, of Franklin county, Ala. In 1868 he settled in Lawrence county, Miss., where he raised a large and respected family.

He was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, in North Alabama when quite a young man, and ever after lived a consistent Christian life. He had the courage of his convictions, and did right because it was right; and, therefore, he met all the obligations of life in good faith. The first time I visited him during his last illness, and asked him how he was, he said, "I am near heaven;" and at every subsequent visit I found him in the same state of mind. He talked of heaven and he dreamed of heaven; and with heaven in his soul he passed into the spirit-world, ever to be with Christ. May his mantle fall upon each of his surviving sons, and the bereaved widow and daughters be the subjects of God's special favor!

F. M. WILLIAMS.

SHELTON—Died, at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. J. R. Kirkland, in Issaquena county, Miss., on Monday morning, Sept. 21, 1891, Mrs. S. V. SHELTON, in the sixty-seventh year of her age.

Sister Shelton's maiden name was Ilves. She was born near LaGrange, Tenn., and was the widow of the late Rev. J. H. Shelton, of the Mississippi Conference, formerly pastor of the Methodist Church at Mayersville, to whom she was married, at her father's home, at Augusta, Sharkey county, Miss., in 1858.

She was an exemplary Christian, having been a member of the M. E. Church, South, many, many years. Her sweet temper and pure, Christian character had made her beloved by all who knew her. Suddenly, indeed, was her death to her friends and loved ones; she having attended services at the Methodist Church in Mayersville the Sunday a week before her death, and appeared then to be in perfect health and strength. She leaves several children, all of whom are grown. To them we will say, "The Lord giveth, and the Lord taketh away; blessed be the name of the Lord." "He knoweth best, and doeth all things well." Her soul "sleeps in peace."

JNO. W. CHISLER.

WALTON—ESTELLA WALTON, daughter of John W. and Fannie Walton, was born Nov. 26, 1871, in Arkansas, but was raised in DeSoto county, Miss. She died, Sept. 16, 1891, in Quitman county, Miss., where she had gone to attend a sick sister. Her father had moved to Coahoma county, Miss., nearly two years ago, where he still lives.

Miss Estelle professed religion a little more than two years ago, and joined the M. E. Church, South, and lived a consistent member. She was a second daughter in a family of six children—four boys and two girls. She was a great favorite in the family. Her piety at home was remarkable, while she carried sunshine to all with whom she came in contact. She was never simple or vain. She never neglected her prayers under any circumstances. Her obedience and devotion to her mother, also her attachment to her elder brother, was just beautiful, indeed. She was an exceptional daughter, a loving sister, and kind to everyone. She was much loved by all who knew her. Oh! how she is missed at home and by her friends. We can only say to parents and kindred, Get ready to meet her in heaven.

W. M. YOUNG, P. C.

FULYHUM—Died, GEORGIA FULYHUM, the adopted daughter of Bro. J. Q. and Mary E. Cribbs, of Glendale, Coahoma county, Miss.

Georgia was a bright little girl. She came to a sad death by a railroad train. The circumstances are as follows: While she and Mrs. Cribbs were getting off the train, a signal was given to start, and she was thrown between the cars and crushed instantly. She was nearly thirteen years old, and the sunshine of the home. Bro. and Sister Cribbs had no children of their own. They were perfectly devoted to Georgia. She was a good student, and did fair to be very useful. We tender our sympathy to the bereaved family. W. M. YOUNG.

MCDOWEL—NAT. B. MCDOWEL, son of James M. and Ollie McDowel, was born July 25, 1879, and died Sept. 22, 1891.

Nat was an intelligent and an industrious boy. He was always ready to share his part of the labor at home. He was good and kind to his parents and brothers and sisters. Nat. was converted about two weeks before his death, and would pray at the family altar with the family. We can sympathize with the bereaved ones, and can say: Nat. is in a far brighter world than this, where golden glories ever shine beyond the thought of day's decline.

His pastor, GEO. W. HUFF.

HARPER—Resolutions of the Ladies' Missionary Society, Hickory Auxiliary:

Whereas, It has pleased our heavenly Father, in his providence, to remove from this life and transplant to the happy life above our sister, comrade and co-worker, Miss LUCY HARPER; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in her death our Missionary Society has lost one of its most earnest and efficient workers, the church a faithful, consistent and zealous member, and her parents a loving and devoted daughter.

Resolved, That we tender our deepest and most heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family, relatives and friends, and direct them to that kind Father who ever "tempers the wind to the shorn lamb."

Resolved, That we ever cherish her memory, setting her Christian example before us as a standard, remembering that while we lose a true worker, one more star has been enlisted in the angelic band who will meet us at the "pearly portals" to welcome us in; and, "Their voice of weeping shall be heard no more in the eternal city. Neither dying, nor sickness, nor pain, nor sorrow; for God shall wipe away all tears." The disciple that Jesus loved says in God's eternal Truth: "Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may enter in through the gates into the city."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the parents of our deceased sister; also a copy sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and Newton County Progress for publication. MRS. H. V. HOPKINS, for Com.

BRISCOE—The Ladies' Co-operative Society of the M. E. Church, of Port Gibson, adopted the following resolutions in regard to the death of Sister E. E. BRISCOE:

Whereas, God, in his providence, has seen fit to call from labor to rest our dear sister, as a society, we mourn her loss and bow submissively to the will of him who is too wise to err, too good to be unkind; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of our sister our society has lost a zealous member and a faithful friend, and her interest in the society work was unabated, although often detained from its meetings.

Resolved, That we cherish her memory, and know that while we say farewell to her lovely spirit, that she will be sadly missed from our midst.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to her bereaved children, commending them to God who has promised to be their comfort and support.

Resolved, That this tribute of respect be spread upon the minutes of our society, and a copy furnished her afflicted children, also a copy be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, with request to publish.

MRS. E. S. DRAKE, for Com.

A Philosophical Family.

Amelia has pimples, and sores in the head,
From humors internal her nose has grown red;
She's a boil on her neck that is big as a bell,
But in other respects she is doing quite well.

And pa has dyspepsia, malaria and gout,
His hands with salt-rheum are all broken out;
He is prone to rheumatics that make his legs swell,
But in other respects he is doing quite well.

And ma has night sweats and a troublesome cough,
That all of our doctors can't seem to drive off;
She wakes every night and coughs quite a spell,
But in other respects she is doing quite well.

There is nothing like philosophy to help one bear the ills of life, but in the case of this family what is most needed is a good supply of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It would cleanse Amelia's bad blood, cure pa's ailments, and check ma's cough. The "Golden Medical Discovery," by its action on the liver, cleanses the system of impurities. It cures humors, ulcers, boils, scrofula, salt-rheum, erysipelas, and all kinds of sores and swellings. The only guaranteed blood purifier.

The Philadelphia Record is authority for the statement that London firms spend nearly $2,500,000 in advertising every week.

The Dearest Spot on Earth is the spot that's washed out without Pearline. It costs in clothes, in the rubbing and scrubbing that wears them out quickly; it takes twice the time, and double the labor. It's expensive washing before you get through with it—and the cost comes home to you, no matter who does the work.

Pearline saves money by saving work, wear, and time. It hurts nothing; washes and cleans everything. It costs no more than common soap, but it does more. It's cheap to begin with—but it's cheapest in the end.

Beware of imitations of PEARLINE which are being peddled from door to door. 196 JAMES PYLE, New York

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.

SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices! | Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND AND DOOR FACTORY,

199, 201, 203, 205, 207 Gravier Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

ROBERTS & CO., Proprietors.

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Flooring and Jelling, Newels, Balusters, etc., always on hand, or made to order.

Orders promptly attended to.

Plantation Cabins a Specialty.

BRANCH OFFICE: NO. 53 CARONDELET ST.

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and

Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Canes, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS—E. P. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

Watches, Diamonds,

FINE JEWELRY!

Silver and Silver-Plated Ware,

SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

(Established 1817)

119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

For Sale.

FARMER'S CANNING OUTFIT!

Will Pay for Itself in One Season.

Includes Syrup Evaporator—50 gallons per day. Two boilers with siphon connection, cranes for handling cans, fire pots, soldering coppers, etc., for 2,000 to 3,000 cans per day. One portable iron Furnace for Canning, making Pickles, Jellies, etc. Evaporating Syrup. All latest improvements, with full directions.

Price, $150,000 to $200,000.

State and County Rights for Sale.

Address the Patentee and Manufacturer,

D. J. McMILLAN,
South Washington, N. C.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510 584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. O. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JNO. J. BARR, J. B. LEVERT, W. H. BLOOMFIELD,
JOS. BAYLE, ANDREW STEWART, E. ROBLAND, W. T. HARRIS
JNO. BARKLEY, CHAS. CHAFFE, P. H. RICE, THOS. SEFTON

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,720.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT MCGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge, Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,

Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pullevs, Shafting,

Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,

Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED New Orleans, La.

HARDWOOD AND MARBLEIZED SLATE

MANTELS.

GRATES AND FIRE-PLACE TRIMMING.

Tiles for Hearths, Mantels, Floors and Vestibules.

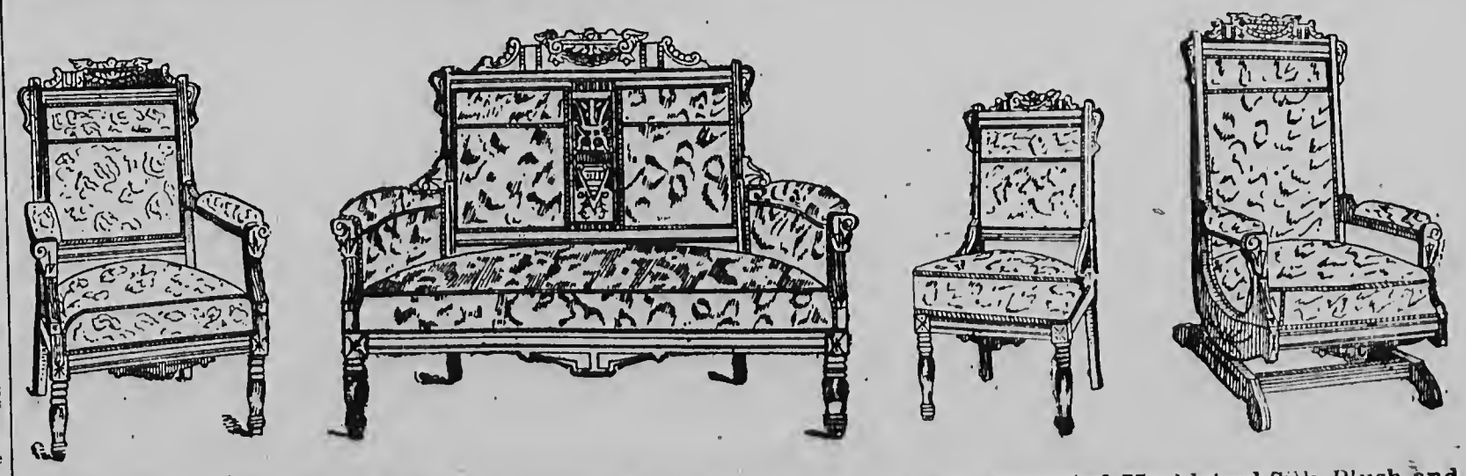
STAINED AND DECORATIVE GLASS.

GEO. M. LEAHY, - 112 Camp Street.

CATARRH CURE!

GIVEN AWAY. Send name and get a FREE PACKAGE DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON, GA

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:—one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs. Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $20 up-wards. Quality at top—prices at bottom. I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30 | J. G. GRANT, | CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF
NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs R. A. Sibley, W. F. Sanders, G. A. Mantleville, H. R. Caldwell, W. F. Henderson, J. M. Pugh, E. H. Rushing, John W. Crisler, R. A. Meek, W. J. Dawson, L. W. Wood, W. H. Lewis R. C. Grace, F. F. Spencer, P. S. Woodward B. Jones, C. M. Lyons, B. F. Phillips, J. C. Lowe C. M. Crosby, R. D. Norsworthy, J. C. Ellis B. C. Gray, W. H. Saunders, N. M. Clark, A. J. Browning, J. M. Johnston (2), W. J. Porter.

Messrs W. G. Hancock, C. A. Grote, J. M. Johnson, J. F. Redding, L. P. Whittington, S. T. Jackson, J. W. Billington, W. J. Rossett, J. A. Bamm, A. Trotter, S. J. Holmes, Robt. F. Reed, M. Brown, Shell Brothers, M. Truly, Frank Garrett, T. W. McCoy, Prince Minse J. Oscar Howell, J. Henry.

Mesdames R. G. Rapp, F. E. Thomason, W. H. Jones Eliza J. Rivers, Catharine P. Danks, J. F. Prophet, Margaret Spoke.

Misses Lizzie Beauchamp, Mollie Cooper, Adelia M. Butler.

Oct. 27.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Purchasing Bureau.

Special attention given to orders from country stores and for household and family supplies by D. L. Mitchel, business manager of this paper, who has had many years' experience as city and country merchant. Please address Purchasing Bureau, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

All orders must be accompanied with cash.

BAD COMPLEXIONS, WITH PIMPLY, blotchy, oily skin, Red, Rough Hands, with chaps, painful finger eruds and shapeless nails, and simple Baby Humors prevented and cured by CUTICURA SOAP. A marvel of beautifier of world-wide celebrity, it is simply incomparable as a Skin Purifying Soap, unequalled for the Toilet and without a rival for the Nursery. Absolutely pure, delicately medicated, exquisitely perfumed, CUTICURA SOAP produces the whitest, clearest skin, and softest hands and prevents inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of pimples, blackheads, and most complexional disfigurations, while it admits of no comparison with the best of other skin soaps, and rivals in delicacy the most noted and expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin soaps.

Sold throughout the world. Price, 25c.

Send for "How to Cure Skin and Blood Diseases."

Address POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Aching sides and back, weak kidneys, and rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

STATEMENT OF

Louisiana National Bank

At Close of Business, October 22, 1891.

RESOURCES.

Bills discounted		$1,813,489 21
Louisiana 4 per cent. consols, Elyton Land Co. Liv. Trust bonds, N. O. Gas Light Co. stock and other stocks and bonds —market value	$287,500 00
United states bonds and premium on same to secure circulation	58,500 00
		415,800 00
Redemption fund with United States Treasurer		2,250 00
Banking-house and other real estate		101,494 40
Demand loans	$457,715 50
New York exchange	258,381 86
Due from approved reserve agents	385,488 91
Due from banks and bankers	21,712 98
Checks on local banks	310,183 86
Cash in vault	748,545 18
		2,182,531 51
United States and other taxes paid and expense account		17,469 18
Collateral accounts		30,193 50
		$4,503,218 80

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$300,000 00
Surplus fund	150,000 00
		$ 450,000 00
Undivided profits		49,241 54
Circulation		415,800 00
Dividends unpaid		710 00
Reduction of capital stock		800 00
Deposits		3,387,467 26
Bills payable		200,000 00
Total		$4,503,218 80

The bank announces the demication of its Paying Teller, amounting to $150,000. The amount has been charged to profit and loss, reducing our ample surplus and undivided profits to that extent.

The above statement represents the actual condition of the bank to day, after making entries as above stated.

The condition of the bank now is—

An unimpaired capital of	$300,000 00
Surplus	150,000 00
Undivided profits	49,241 54

R. M. WALMSLEY, President.
A. LURIA, Vice-President.
LEON F. JANIN, Cashier.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

Do not forget that you can get all school books at Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh's, No. 106 Camp street, New Orleans.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.

Low ordinary	5¾	●— —
Ordinary	6 3-16	— —
Good ordinary	8¾	— —
Low middling	7 13-16	— —
Middling	8 1-16	— —
Good middling	8 5-16	— —
Middling fair	8 13-16	— —
Fair	10 3-16	— —
Galveston middling	— —	— —
Mobile middling	— —	— —
Memphis middling	— —	— —

SUGAR.

OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	3¼	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	2¾	3⅛
Prime yellow	3⅜	3½
Gray white	— —	— —
Choice white	3 15-16	4
Standard granulated	— —	— —

MOLASSES

OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	34	35

RICE.

No. 2	2 5-16	— —
Good	4⅜	4½
Fair	4⅛	4⅜
Prime	4⅜	4⅝
Rough, ₩ bbl	2 60	4 10
Polish, ₩ bbl	22 00	24 00

FLOUR.

Extra Fancy	4 90	5 00
Fancy	4 45	4 70
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	5 00	5 50
Winter wheat patents	5 12½	5 20
Minnesota bakers	5 00	5 50

CORN PRODUCTS.

Corn meal	3 10	— —
Cream meal	3 55	3 70
Grits	3 80	3 85
Hominy	4 00	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	— —
Yellow	— —	— —
Mixed No. 2	— —	— —
OATS:
Western
Texas rust-proof	37½	39
BRAN:	— —	60
₩ cwt	90	95
HAY:
Prime	13 50	14 50
Choice	15 00	15 50

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess (Standard)	10 75	11 00
Prime Mess	10 50	10 75
Rumps	— —	— —
BACON:
Extra Breakfast	— —	11⅛
Shoulders	6⅛	6⅜
Sides, short rib	8⅜	8½
Sides, long clear	8⅜	8½
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10½	11½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	6⅛	6⅛
Sides, short rib	7⅜	7⅜
Sides, long clear	7⅜	7⅜

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	18¼	— —
Fair	17½	— —
Common	14½	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
He-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	24	35
Western Dairy	23	25
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	5⅞	6
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7¾	— —
Coal, cases	18½	14
Cotton seed, crude	25	28
Lard, Extra No. 1	55	— —

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ head	5	7
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 55	1 80
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 40	2 50

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb. ₩ yard	7	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb. ₩ yard	— —	3⅛
Lone Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	7⅛	12½
TIES:
₩ bundle	— —	1 35

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	5 00	5 50
Young Chickens	3 00	4 00
Chickens, Southern	3 00	4 00
Young	2 25	3 00
Turkeys, Southern	10 00	13 00
EGGS:
Western	20	21
Southern	20	21
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	21	21½
Louisiana	17	19
Burry	10	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	2½	— —
Dry salted	5	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	18 00	— —
Meal	21 50	— —
Pure ground bone	30 00	32 00
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	2¾
Sulphuric acid	— —	2½

—New Delta, Oct. 27.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props.,
Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

There is nothing which succeeds like success; and the success of any publication which admits advertising is also the success of the advertisers.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The fifth annual fair of the South Mississippi Fair Association opened in Summit, on Oct. 26, with bright prospects.

Rev. A. J. Witherspoon, D. D., in charge of the Seamen's Bethel in this city since 1878, died on Oct. 24, aged sixty-seven years.

The Louisiana State Fair and Shreveport Exposition will hold its sixth annual session, opening on Nov. 3 and closing on Nov. 7.

By a boiler explosion in Louisville, Ky., on Oct. 26, one man was killed, several persons injured, and nearly half a million dollars' worth of property destroyed.

Great indignation is being manifested in official circles at Washington over the recent assault upon American sailors at the port of Valparaiso, and satisfaction will be demanded of the Chilian government.

The levees in front of the Second District in this city are sinking, and the tracks of the Louisville and Nashville and Southern Pacific railroads and the Harrison Line wharf are in a dangerous condition, caused by the shifting alluvial soil.

A circular has been issued from the office of the Lend a Hand Magazine, Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, editor, in which it is stated that the petition to the Czar of Russia with regard to his treatment of Siberian exiles has been signed by more than 1,000,000 citizens of this country.

A fire broke out at Bird's Point, Mo., on Oct. 23, which resulted in the greatest conflagration that has visited that section since the disastrous fire several years ago. The Anchor Line steamer City of Natchez, the towboat Hays and several barges of cotton, entailing a loss of half a million dollars, were destroyed.

The bids for the carrying of foreign mails on American steamships under what is popularly known as the postal subsidy bill of the last Congress were opened at the Postoffice Department last Monday afternoon. Under the advertisement the mails are to be carried to all the prominent ports in Europe, South America, China, Japan and Australia.

Political work is actively in progress at the national headquarters of the Farmers' Alliance in Washington. President Polk is absent in California, which is reported to be one of the most promising fields he has yet visited. An official dispatch from the head of the movement in California states that the Alliance in that State has now as great a political strength as either of the old parties, the membership having grown in thirteen months to 100,000. The dispatch says that next year the Alliance will elect the presidential electors in California beyond the shadow of a doubt.

FOREIGN.

The municipal authorities of St. Petersburg have appropriated a sum of money equivalent to £625,000 for the relief of the sufferers by the famine.

Great floods have occurred in the streams fed by the mountain torrents of the eastern Pyrenees. Many peaceful valleys have been inundated and crops and buildings washed away.

A bill will shortly be submitted to the Australian Parliament providing for a loan of $50,000,000. The money thus raised will be employed in the construction of railways and other productive works.

The Peace Congress, which is to be held at Rome next month, under the presidency of Signor Bongli, will be directed no less against the principles of the Triple Alliance than against the customs alliance.

The floods in England, a result of the recent two weeks of successive heavy gales, continue to do a great amount of damage. The river Thames, for instance, in some places, extends for a mile or so beyond its banks.

The Reichstag will reassemble on Tuesday, Nov. 17, and the session will be opened by Emperor William in person. It is predicted that the leading feature of his speech will be congratulations upon the reformation of a union between Germany, Austria and Italy.

The Socialist Congress at Erfurt has had the result of bringing socialistic policies to the front, and politicians in England and throughout the continent are eagerly discussing the best means of making people better satisfied with their station in life, and thus lessening the field for the agitation of the wilder spirits of socialism.

At a conference of the Social Purity Society of Dresden, held recently, resolutions of protest were adopted against the government's tolerance of impurity. The meeting also approved the Emperor's project for the suppression of drunkenness. The bill will be among the first matters considered by the Reichstag at its coming session.

While Vienna has been spoken of as a possible place of refuge for the Papal court, there is much better authority for the statement that the Pontiff favors Malta, where he would be even more independent than in Rome, and where England has given formal acknowledgment of the supremacy of the Roman Church in religious matters affecting the Catholics of that island.

The reports that have been circulated to the effect that the representatives of the foreign powers in Pekin have demanded from the Chinese government a large sum, by way of compensation for the loss of life and property in the recent riots, are erroneous. The course which has been agreed upon by the authorities on both sides, and which has been followed already in certain localities, is to appoint a joint commission, composed of the British consul and the chief local Chinese authority, to take evidence from the claimants as to the loss they have suffered and to assess the amount.

You've No Idea

How nicely Hood's Sarsaparilla hits the needs of people who feel "all tired out" or "run down," from any cause. It seems to oil up the whole mechanism of the body so that all moves smoothly and work becomes delight.

We use Alcohol

pure alcohol to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING. Alcohol is good for leather; it is good for the skin. Alcohol is the chief ingredient of Cologne, Florida Water, and Bay Rum the well known face washes. We think there is nothing too costly to use in a good leather preservative.

Acme Blacking retails at 20c.

and at that price sells readily. Many people are so accustomed to buying a dressing or blacking at 5c. and 10c. a bottle that they cannot understand that a blacking can be cheap at 20c. We want to meet them with cheapness if we can, and to accomplish this we offer a reward of $10,000

for a recipe which will enable us to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. We hold this offer open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

N. W. Ayer & Son's Directory.

The limitations of human knowledge are very narrow, and the limitations to profitable business enterprise very real. Both are to be met in the publication of American Newspaper statistics.

We believe that nowhere else can the Newspaper man find so full, so fresh and so reliable particulars of this great profession, while its Tables of Publications, Lists of Editorial and Press Associations, Populations, Political Majorities, etc, can not but be of great and frequent utility to him.

It contains advertisements, it is true—the expense of the work demands it—but the purchaser pays for none of our own. Moreover we claim that such advertisements as the Annual contains give an additional value to such a publication. They possess intrinsic interest, while the cash basis under which they are inserted insures that something like the relative importance of the papers is preserved. Certainly no system of "Sight or Unseen" trading gives to obscure or unprofitable mediums great space in which to make misleading claims.

The Twelfth (1891) Edition is now ready. We believe that publishers will find it still better than its predecessors. We invite any corrections or suggestions which use of the book may show to be desirable.

Price $5.00, carriage paid.

Payable by publishers, in future advertising.

N. W. AYER & SON,
Newspaper Advertising Agents, Philadelphia.

Summer.

Summer, with its worries and sickness, is with us. Four fifths of the sickness that wears out temper and health can be disposed of by using Creole Female Tonic.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

From Seven Thousand Dollars to Twenty-One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Three Dollars.

Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three dollars has just been paid by The Mutual Life Insurance Company on an original $7,000 insurance policy.

A result never equaled or even approached by any other company in the world. The fortunate assured was Mr. Charles Dellinger, of Mobile, Ala., who was forty-one years old when he became a member of the company.

RECAPITULATION.

1—Cash value of the dividends 100 per cent. of premiums.

2—Additions to policy 143 per cent. of premiums.

3—Insurance paid 312 per cent. of original amount.

4—Investment, 3 per cent. compound interest.

5—Insured 44 years, from age 41 to age 85.

6—No taxes, care or expense connected with the insurance.

Remember this company is purely mutual; all profits belong to the members. It is also the largest and most profitable company in the world. Mr. T. H. Bowles is the general agent, 120 Common street, New Orleans, La.

Fashion's Edict.

"The time was," remarked the old physician, "when frail health was fashionable with ladies."

All that is changed now—Creole Female Tonic has been the means of restoring robust health to thousands of ladies that formerly were victims of that popular fad.

What else is Holy Scripture but a letter from the Almighty God to his creature. The King of heaven, the Lord of men and of angels, has sent you a letter to conduct you to eternal life, and yet you delay to read it zealously. Learn the mind of God in the Word of God.—Gregory of Rome.

"I remember Johnson's Anodyne Liniment," said an old man, "when I was a boy." Same now.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sallis	31, Nov. 1
Newport	8
Ethel	4
Rural Hill	5
Weir	7, 8
Helzons	14, 15
Ebenezer	20
Lexington	21, 22
West	24
Richland	26
Black Hawk	28, 29

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GRENADA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Abbeville	Oct. 31
Oxford circuit (by Rev. S. D. Loug.)	31, Nov. 1
Oxford	1
Toccopola	(Tu.) 3
Carrollton	7, 8
Chapel Hill	(Tu.) 10
Grenada circuit	14, 15
Grenada	15, 16
Atlanta	21, 22
Pittsboro	(Mon.) 23
Cherry Hill	(Tue.) 24
Banner	(Thu.) 26
Water Valley circuit	(Sat.) 28
Water Valley	29

J. W. PRIOR, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Americus, at Pleasant Hill	31, Nov. 1
Williamsburg, at Bethel	31, Nov. 1
Moss Point	1, 2
Bay St. Louis	(Wed.) 4
Whitlington, at White Plains	7, 8
Pearlington	(Wed.) 11
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	14, 15
Purvis, at Purvis	(Thu.) 19
Columbia, at Columbia	21, 22
Perry, at Isabella	(Wed.) 25
Mt Carmel, at Mt. Zion	28, 29
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	(Tu.) Dec. 1
Heidelberg, at Philadelphia	(Thu.) 3
Eastabutchie, at Eastabutchie	5, 6

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

China Grove, at Tylertown	31, Nov. 1
Magnolia, at Magnolia	1, 2
Beauregard, at Mathis Chapel	7, 8
Hazlehurst	(at night) 12
Crystal Springs circuit	13
Bowerton, at Rehoboth	14, 15
Brookhaven station	(at night) 18
Adams circuit, at Adams	21, 22
Summit, at Summit	22, 23
Gallman circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	26
Providence	28, 29
Pleasant Grove ct., at Pleasant Grove	Dec. 3
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel	5, 6

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Shreveport station	Oct. 24, 25
Annaconco, at Beach Grove	28, 29
Many, at New Hope	31, Nov. 1
Sabine, at Bayou Scie	2
Klsatchie, at New Church	7, 8
North Rossier, at Collinsburg	11
Valley, at Cotton Valley	14, 15
Bellwood, at Oak Grove	21, 22
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches	22, 23
Grand Cane, at Bethel	28, 29
Caddo circuit, at Keachie	29, 30
Mansfield station	Dec. 5, 6
Shreveport mission	12, 13

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Craps Street	Oct. 25
Grosse Tete and False River	Nov. 1
Dryades Street	8
Baton Rouge	15
Moreau Street	22
Felicity Street	29
Carrollton	Dec. 6
Carondelet Street	13

CHAS. F. EVANS, P. E.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Advices from British Columbia are to the effect that great excitement exists there among the white laborers over the refusal of the Dominion government last session to adopt legislation restricting the immigration of Chinese, who arrive in hundreds by every steamer from Hong Kong, and although hundreds made their escape across the boundary line into the United States, a considerable number remain in the Pacific provinces. A bill is now before the British Columbian Legislature, making it illegal to employ Chinamen in coal mines.

To avoid a colt and lameness from wetting, rub the chest with Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

The Ameer of Afghanistan has sent a messenger to St. Petersburg to conclude a Russo-Afghanistan treaty.

Woman's Duty.

She owes it to herself and to the entire human family to fight the inroads of disease. Creole Female Tonic eradicates disease and makes the weak woman strong.

The proposition to make the proposed Methodist University at Washington City an ecumenical enterprise is certainly in the right direction. Surely the two Methodisms can unite in this effort to build up, under the shadow of the nation's capitol, a great school that shall expound and perpetuate the thought and genius of Wesleyanism. We see mighty possibilities multiplying themselves in this fusion of force.—Pacific Methodist Advocate.

We should like to give a new chimney for every one that breaks in use.

We sell to the wholesale dealer; he to the retail dealer; and he to you.

It is a little awkward to guarantee our chimneys at three removes from you.

We'll give you this hint. Not one in a hundred breaks from heat; there is almost no risk in guaranteeing them. Talk with your dealer about it. It would be a good advertisement for him.

'Pearl top' and 'pearl glass,' our trade-marks—tough glass

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

DONALD KENNEDY

Of Roxbury, Mass., says

Kennedy's Medical Discovery cures Horrid Old Sores, Deep Seated Ulcers of 40 years' standing, Inward Tumors, and every disease of the skin, except Thunder Humor, and Cancer that has taken root. Price $1.50. Sold by every Druggist in the U. S. and Canada.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus:

JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, LONDON, ENGLAND.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear-cut and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brewer, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEAREST, FINEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

DEATH TO THE DANCE

Such is the charming little book,

"Mary Singleton."

Scatter it far and near. One copy, 20c; per dozen, $2.

L. L. PICKETT, Columbia, S. C.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.

T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

KNABE PIANOS.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash, mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1380½ Tchoupitoulas street.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

PIANOS! PIANOS! PIANOS!

Organs! Organs! Organs!

All of the Leading Makes To Be Had Here.

Lowest Prices. | Easiest Terms.

Liberal Discounts to Teachers and Schools.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 45. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1837.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
J. G. GRANT, Publisher.
Rev. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorised Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY. Remittances should be made only by money orders, express company orders, registered letters, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or merchants. Drafts on country banks occasion loss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

The Lord's Prayer.—No. 6.

BY REV. J. B. WALKER, D. D.

Thy will be done. The will of God is the ground or basis of moral obligation. God's will is the original and supreme source of all authority. No higher reason can be given for obedience than that it is God's will. The extent and character of our obedience is set forth and illustrated to us by the phrase, "in earth as it is in heaven." As all creatures in heaven, from the humblest to the most exalted, are perfectly holy, it is legitimate to conclude that God's will in heaven is done cheerfully, perfectly, and universally. In uttering these comprehensive words, we are asking only what all creatures should do; but we are asking a great thing, and from a human standpoint a most difficult thing—a thing as yet almost immeasurably far from its realization. Sinful men by millions are almost continually doing what God has said, "Thou shalt not."

This was Christ's prayer in the awful agony of Gethsemane, when he felt the crushing weight of the guilty race bearing down upon his soul as the burden of a thousand mountains. His soul was exceeding sorrowful, even unto death; yet so adoringly unselfish and submissive was he that he exclaimed, "Oh, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt." And such, too, in substance was the language of Job in the season of bereavement and heart-crushing sorrow: "The Lord hath given, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord." It is often the case that it is difficult to say, "Not my will, but thine, be done." Nearly all of us have a programme, and to realize that programme seems the best consummation. But God, who overlooks the whole field of possibilities, sees that our programme would not be best for us; so he providentially intervenes, so as to prevent our plans, and help us to wiser and better ways, comforting us the while with the assurance that all things work together for good to them that love God. In such a case nothing but faith in the perfect truth and absolute goodness of God can enable us heartily to say, "Not my will, but thine, be done." Poverty, disappointment, sickness and bereavement are hard to bear; but we have the assurance, as our days so shall be our strength.

We pray not that God may do his will, but that it may be done, that we may do it. We pray not in regard to the government of the universe, but in regard to his will as revealed in his Word, and as it applies to the moral government over men. Nor, again, do we pray that our will should be wholly absorbed and lost in the will of God, but only that it should be conformed to his will, and subordinated to it; that God's will may, indeed, be done, but so that his will may be our will.

I think a good many think that if they do not specially resist and antagonize God's will by open sins, that they are, morally and spiritually, doing fairly well. But this is short of duty; we must do God's will. The will of God is specifically set forth in the Ten Commandments, and these ten commands each contain the highest form of the things commanded or forbidden. For illustration: The greatest injury that can be done to human life is to destroy it; hence the command prohibits this first of all, "Thou shalt not kill." This includes all the lateral and inferior branches of the great trunk crime of murder. So also the greatest wrong to truth is perjury—"Thou shalt not bear false witness." This prohibits all lesser and inferior infractions of the truth, and so on through the whole revealed will of God, which is "perfect, holy, just and good."

This prayer, "Thy will be done," implies, of course, that all opposition to God's will must be eradicated from the heart, with all complaining and murmuring and impatience with God's will and ways. This prayer implies, as a matter of course, the gift of grace to do and suffer God's will, for without this gracious help we can not do God's will in all things. We must know the will of God. Saith St. Paul, "Be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is." The will of man often runs counter to God's will. We pray in this petition that this impediment may be removed, and that God would incline our wills to do that which is his will. God, in his Word, and in the leadings of his providence, in the rule of parents, teachers, ministers and governors, and by the conclusions of reason and the voice of conscience, clearly and amply reveals to us the path of duty.

What a grand thing we are asking for when we say, "Thy will be done on earth as in heaven!" What a glorious consummation—all wills flowing in the same channel with God's will! What harmony and peaceful order would bless every tribe, kindred, tongue and nation! Amen! And if it please God, right early.

Woman's Work.

We heard with pain and sorrow of the death of Mrs. Kate Hearn, known to us as Miss Kate Roberts, a missionary of the Woman's Board of Missions.

We rejoice at the recovery of our president, Mrs. Hays, who sends the following:

In view of our great need of more laborers in our mission fields, and certain peculiar demands for wisdom from above, I beg the observance of Wednesday, Nov. 25, as a day of humiliation before God for fasting, prayer, and thanksgiving.

The power of special prayer is omnipotent. It can be wielded by the humblest woman in our connection. I call on you, my sisters of the Woman's Missionary Society, individually, to lay hold on this power, and never let go till the victory is gained.

JULIANA HAYS,
Pres. Woman's Board of Missions.

One of the secretaries of the American Board has well said: "A work conceived and born in prayer, as this missionary work assuredly was, must be sustained also and completed in prayer."

Shall we not ponder well the appeal of Dr. Young J. Allen, contained in a letter to our Foreign Secretary, and that of Mr. Carpenter, with the facts and comments of the Woman's Missionary Advocate, which says: "We have the money in hand to-day to send ten new missionaries to China. Can they be found?"

Our foreign workers, with hands more than full, are tired, oh! so tired. Some are falling, some resting. How many of us at home are tired enough in the Master's service to enjoy rest? Will it be well with us if we remain at ease and not observe the holy teaching, "Bear ye one another's burdens"?

Oh, that the Mississippi Conference would come to the rescue, and share in filling the places made vacant! We trust that reinforcements will go as quickly as possible, that no more experienced workers will have to abandon their positions, and that the great work done in China will move grandly on.

MRS. E. D. JONES,
Editor W. M. S., Miss. Conf.

Carlisle, Miss.

Woman's Work.

Hoping it may encourage my sister workers to "sow beside all waters," I wish to say a few words concerning our Woman's Missionary Society at this place. Two of the most cultured ladies of our town, both members of a sister church, have joined our society, and are valuable workers. These Christian women are true to their own church; but having no missionary organization of their own at this place, and feeling that they ought to be at work for the Master, they have cast in their lot with us.

Some words spoken one day while making a call, explanatory of our work, induced a lady to say, "I wish to join your society, and here are my dues for five months."

Dear sisters, let us talk about our work. By using a little womanly tact we can, on almost any occasion, speak a few words for our society, and words arouse interest and stimulate inquiry.

"In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withhold not thy hand, for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, either this or that."

Our Sunday-school missionary society has done a grand work this year, and this without a single "festival" or "entertainment" of any kind.

MRS. REV. J. S. PARKER.
Hattiesburg, Miss.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. J. M. Huggin, Abbeville, Miss.: "The good ladies of Abbeville are adding much to the attractiveness of our parsonage here. One room has been nicely carpeted and furnished for a parlor. Other articles will be added to the furniture. The house will be painted soon. The room mentioned has been alabastined. Fences will be repaired and extended so as to enclose all the parsonage grounds. Our Abbeville Normal School opened splendidly."

Rev. T. S. Rendle, Opelousas, La., Oct. 27: "I have been engaged in protracted meetings for the last two months, and have had some good meetings. At Bethel and here, in Opelousas, we had glorious times. The church was greatly revived. Many were made to rejoice and praise God for his blessings. We have had fifteen accessions to the church, and several conversions—some as bright as I have ever witnessed; that kind which moves men and women to work for the Master. The revival at Bethel resulted in the organization of a Sunday-school and prayer meeting, which we could not organize before. We are making very good progress in our collections; hope to have them in full at Conference. We are all well at this time."

Rev. A. D. Miller, Barlow, Miss., Oct. 27: "The Rehoboth High School, Copiah county, Miss., will open its first session for a term of eight months about Nov. 16, 1891, with Prof. C. F. Emery, A. M., of Ocean Springs, Miss., as principal. Good church, with preaching by pastor twice a month; class meetings and Sabbath-school all the year round, good community, church-house and parsonage only about one hundred and fifty yards from school-building, mail four times a week, and will soon have daily mail. Board can be secured in private families from one to two miles around, including washing, for $8 per month. Tuition reasonable. Apply for further information to A. D. Miller, Barlow, Copiah county, Miss. I will assist parents in getting board for their children."

R. P. Miller, Indianola, Miss., Oct. 30: "Some days since I wrote you a short letter regarding the work of Bro. J. W. McCullough, pastor of Indianola Church. Having seen no publication of same, I have concluded that it was misplaced; and, feeling that he is due public praise for the able manner in which he has conducted the work assigned him, I again reiterate that it is doubtful whether any man in this State, all things considered, could have done as much as has Bro. McCullough. It is true that the additions have not been large; but to one acquainted with the state of lifelessness of members—not only of Methodists, but all others—each denomination seemed determined to do less than the other in the right direction. There was a deadness that was alarming and discouraging to any pastor. Still, Bro. McCullough has created a forward movement that promises great good in the future. His earnest and upright life and labor attest his loyalty to the cause of Christ, and his able sermons have been felt and acknowledged by all sincere Christians of all faiths."

Mrs. Julia Edgecombe, Grand Prairie, Lower Coast, La.: "We have had a happy time here. Our protracted meeting was commenced on Oct. 5, and lasted until Oct. 15, which was carried on by our faithful pastor, J. F. Scurlock. Bro. Sawyer came to his assistance, and nobly did he show his brotherly love. We have never had a revival here but once, and then Bro. Scurlock had to do all the work alone. We are all new beginners in this work, and our pastor has had a hard time down here to get us all together, and teach us our duty as Christians. His health has been poor, but he has not failed to keep his appointment every time. I have seen him ready to faint at the altar, and yet he did not give up his work of mercy. He has done us much good, and may the richest of blessings follow him wherever God may send him! We had no church where we live until he came as a messenger sent from God. We had no Sunday-school until he established one for us, and I can say that we have not had one since I was a child, years ago. Now everything is moving along. We have church, Sunday-school, and ladies' prayer meeting on Friday, and general prayer meeting on Sunday. We have our church land paid for, and title made. We shall start out soon to see what we can do in collecting for the building of our church, which we hope, with God's help, to get built as soon as possible. We have church in a house given to us by Berkson & Bro., for which we are very grateful to them; and may God reward them for their kindness! This meeting has been a great blessing to us. All the old and young have received comfort and peace. We had twenty-eight come into the church, and many converts. We had a happy time. May God send Bro. Sawyer to us at some future day to stir those sleepy souls to the knowledge of their danger! Bro. Sawyer is an old friend of Bro. Scurlock's, and they were very happy in being together at this point."

Rev. W. S. Shipman, Cleveland, Miss.: "I'm sorry, indeed, Mr. Editor, that I see so few revival reports from the Greenville district, of the North Mississippi Conference. The Summer is almost past, and the harvest ended, and so few souls have been gathered for the Master out of this great and rich district. We have, perhaps, nothing to equal it in fertility and richness of soil in all our connection. But it seems the less trouble it is to feed the body, the harder it is to get the soul to take nourishment. How careful we, the preachers, even of this great Delta country, have to be, to be entirely given up to God and his work! 'Tis so easy to drift with the tide, and to partake of the nature of the things with which we are surrounded. I speak from my own personal experience, for this is my fifth year without an interval. Mr. Editor, I would not have you nor my brethren think me pessimistic. I recognize the great work that we have accomplished in the last six years, and the hundreds of good people scattered all over this valley. But, brethren, have we made the best use of our great opportunities? 'Let us search and try our ways.' I feel a little 'limp' after passing through my meetings, doing all the preaching, with the exception of three sermons—one by Bro. Ceran, Baptist preacher from Vicksburg (and a good sermon he preached, too), and two from Rev. R. O. Brown, one of the finest characters in our Conference. Results of our meetings: 26 added to the church at Cleveland, and 13 at Shelby, and I think 4 or 5 more to join. Of course, I feel thankful for this much; but how can I be satisfied when so many of my congregation are in their sins, away from God, and day by day getting closer and closer to hell, and occasionally one falling in? Our little church at Shelby seems to be much encouraged at the arrival of these new recruits, for a very small band have been holding and keeping up the colors of the Master for two or three years. We have been able to secure the deed to our very valuable church and parsonage property in Cleveland this year, and hope we will be able to furnish shelter for the coming preacher of 1892."

ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT.

We are now in the midst of our fourth round of Quarterly Conferences. In some respects the year has been a delightful one, and my first year's experience as presiding elder has been helpful to one man at least. A goodly number has been added to the church in the bounds of the district, many converted, and the churches revived. Most of the preachers have done faithful work.

Last week we held a meeting in the bounds of the Sugar Town circuit, where Bro. Grace and his good people have built a neat new church. This is the first house of worship belonging to the Methodists in the bounds of the Sugar Town circuit. Heretofore the houses built have all been schoolhouses and union houses. This is a church, and was dedicated by the writer on Sunday, the eighteenth. This dates a new departure for Methodism in the bounds of this circuit. We think it will be followed by the building of many more. They are needed.

Other visible results of the meeting: nine accessions, with good prospect of more to follow, a number of conversions, and the church revived. The meeting was still going on in the midst of great rejoicing when I left.

The low prices of cotton last year and this, and the enormous prices paid for grain, is telling perceptibly on finances; but we hope to have a fair report at Conference.

JAS. I. HOFFPAUIR P. E.

SALEM CAMP MEETING.

This camp meeting commenced Oct. 8, and closed on Oct. 11. There were five ministers present: Revs. T. W. Adams, of Pearlington; M. L. White, of Vancleave. Local: E. Roberts, J. King, and J. H. Havens. Also three exhorters present that were helpers in the meeting: G. Alexander, from Vancleave circuit; A. F. Jones, and R. G. Williams, of Americus circuit. The preaching was plain, clear, positive, pointed, and scriptural. The Word did not return void, but accomplished its desire—the salvation of sinners. Six joined the church, and twice as many converted. God wonderfully blessed his servants in delivering his Word. The preachers filled with holy fire, it caught from breast to breast until we could not have been called anything else but Methodists of the old type. After three o'clock service each day, prayer meeting in the grove. These meetings were a grand success. The good order of behavior was never better; the congregation was equal to that of other years. The tents were all occupied except one. This is an old camp ground. Hundreds, and I might say thousands, have been converted here. The tabernacle was rebuilt this year, which stands as a credit to the brethren. The first camp meeting was held here in the year 1826 by Thomas S. Abernathy, J. P. Haney. Next year was O. L. Nash, R. H. Herbert; next was William H. Turnley, J. W. Man; next was Jeptha Hughes, Preston Cooper. Two of these brethren mentioned were together on this circuit, and Richmond Nolly and John Shrock were here as pastors in 1813. I thank God for men like Nolly and Shrock, who planted Methodism here. These three years that I have been traveling here I have been encouraged when I felt that Nolly's voice had rang in these woods. I will close by asking the prayers of my brethren.

LYMAN R. ROBERTS, P. C.
Americus, Miss., Oct. 29, 1891.

SHILOH CAMP MEETING.

Shiloh Camp Meeting began Oct. 9, and closed on Oct. 14. Seventeen sermons were preached by the following brethren: I. L. Peeblea, C. C. Griffin, J. J. Smiley, V. D. Skipper, D. P. Bradford, J. F. Robinson, and our two locals, Kendall and Miller—to all of whom we return thanks. The preaching, from first to last, was good, plain and practical, just such as is needed at camp meetings. I have never attended a better camp meeting. The Lord was with us in every service. The work done was deep and, we think, thorough. Seed was sown which time can never uproot. Our children's service, on Tuesday evening, conducted by Bro. Skipper, was a success, a grand and lovely sight. At its conclusion the door of the church was opened, and eighteen children, from fifteen to six years of age, came forward and asked to be admitted. Old people wept for joy. Bro. Skipper knows how to interest and instruct the "little ones." There were in all thirty-two applications for membership, twenty-seven of whom were received—two by letters, four by baptism, and twenty-one by profession—leaving five yet to be received. There were quite a number of conversions—some bright ones.

Dr. C. McDonald, presiding elder of Woodville district, dropped in on us the last evening in time to baptize six infants (two were baptized that morning by the pastor) and receive in the new members. Many thanks, Doctor; your many old, tried and true friends were glad to see you; and were I to write all that was said in your favor, there would have to be some condensing done to get this letter in the ADVOCATE. Wish you could have come earlier and stayed longer. Right here let me say, some say "infant baptism does not pay." Out of thirty-four accessions, I have had to baptize only seven. These are facts, and facts are stubborn.

We have licensed one young man, Bro. Willie Lane, to preach, who is now at school at the Montrose District High School, and have two more at the door waiting. Two, if not all three, will in the near future knock at the door of our Annual Conference.

We—i. e., wife, children and myself—were the recipients of many favors from the "tenters." Shall I mention a few of the nice things sent to the "parsonage tent?" Large cakes, hams, pies, pickles, mutton, chickens, boxes and baskets of catables, shoes and money, etc. We are still feasting.

I have been confined to my bed since Friday with fever; to-day am quite weak, yet am feeling better. Love to all the brethren.

R. S. GALE, P. C.

LEAF RIVER CAMP MEETING.

Rev. G. R. Ellis, of the Mississippi Conference, is acquiring fame as a projector of camp meetings. While supplying Covington circuit, he established St. Tammany Camp Ground, and the latest enterprise is the Leaf River. Estabuchie circuit is comprised of a string of appointments up and down Leaf river, some forty miles in extent, among what is termed "poor piney-woods people." It has been mission ground for nearly the last forty years.

Bro. Ellis has wonderful faith and zeal. After taking charge and getting his bearings, he determined to have a parsonage to live in, and in three months after Conference the church owned a neat and comfortable building free of debt. I expected that the circuit would go into bankruptcy after this investment. Judge, then, of my surprise when, shortly after, I learned that Bro. Ellis had determined to have a camp meeting. I shook my head, and said, "I fear, for once, his zeal is without knowledge."

August 17 Leaf River Camp Ground slumbered in the repose existing since the creation. I had left my home to help in a protracted meeting at Hopewell Church, near by, and, to my surprise, I found Bro. Ellis and a dozen neighbors hard at work clearing the forest and laying the foundation for a tabernacle-shed. A beautiful location was selected, quite near Estabuchie, or Leaf, river; one and a half miles from Tuscanois Station, 122 miles north of New Orleans, and some 77 south of Meridian, on the New Orleans and Northeastern railroad.

October 9 I visited the spot again, and the transformation was complete. There stood a well-covered tabernacle, 40x60, surrounded by candelabra, or fire-stands, loaded with resinous pine, ready for illumination. A snug tent for the preachers; ten families tenting—men, women, children, crying babies, horses, oxen, wagons, and the omnipresent dog. The following preachers preceded me: Dr. T. S. West, J. S. Parker, H. D. Howell, and L. W. Wood. Away eastward Col. Ryan had spread his pavilion tent, and was prepared to feed the transient multitude. About seven P. M. the bugle note of a hunter's horn proclaimed the fact of the initial service, and that God had honored the faith and zeal of his humble servant, Bro. Ellis. L. W. Wood spoke from the words, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." Saturday morning brought Revs. H. J. Harris, Alex. F. Watkins, W. W. Hopper, A. B. Nicholson, N. B. Young, Jas. A. Taylor, D. Merchant, and G. W. Evans. Multitudes began to crowd the encampment, numbering at one time some 1,500 souls. I never noted better behavior, night and day—not one violation of good order. Of course, with the corps of preachers named, the sermons were most excellent. There were many conversions, and fifteen united with the church. Many, for the first time, heard the gospel as Methodists preach it. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper, after the eleven o'clock sermon, Sunday, was very impressive. The grace of liberality was given development, resulting in a public collection of one hundred, or more, dollars. Several friends presented Bro. Ellis with a copy of "Character Sketches," as a token of remembrance.

The influences of this meeting were for good, and are wide-reaching in extent, and next year, Mr. Editor, you must be sure to attend.

ROBT. B. DOWNER.

A SERMON IN RHYME.

BY REV. D. C. HOYT.

If you have a friend worth loving,
Love him. Yes and let him know
That you love him ere life's evening
Tinge his brow with sunset glow.
Why should good words ne'er be said
Of a friend till he is dead?

If you hear a song that thrills you,
Sung by any child of song
Praise it. Do not let the singer
Wait deserved praise long.
Why should one who thrills your heart
Lack the joy you may impart?

If you hear a prayer that moves you,
By its humble, pleading tone,
Join it. Do not let the seeker
Bow before his God alone.
Why should not your brother share
The strength of "two or three" in prayer?

If you see the hot tears falling
From a brother's weeping eyes,
Share them, and by kindly sharing
Own your kinship with the skies.
Why should any one be glad
When a brother's heart is sad?

If a child's laugh goes rippling
Through the sunshine of his face,
Share it. 'Tis the wise man's saying—
For both grief and joy a place.
There's health and goodness in the mirth
In which an honest laugh has birth.

If your work is made more easy
By a friendly, helping hand,
Say so. Speak out brave and truly,
Ere the darkness veil the land.
Should a brother workman dear
Falter for a word of cheer?

Scatter thus your seeds of kindness,
All enriching as you go;
Leave them. Trust the Harvest Giver,
He will make each seed to grow.
So, until its happy end,
Your life shall never lack a friend.

—Watchman.

OUR CONTRIBUTORS.

An Open Letter.

BY D. W. FOSTER, M. D.

(Continued.)

Let everybody, particularly every preacher, whose mind is not clear about tobacco, send $1 to the Publishing House, at Nashville, and get a little book written specially on that subject, by Rev. I. B. Wright, and entitled "Tobacco: Its Use and Abuse." It is "a good thing" if it did "come out of Georgia." If any honest man will get one and read it with an unprejudiced mind, and then write me that he don't conscientiously believe it is worth the money, I will refund it, and send the book to somebody else who may be more benefited by it.

These preachers who claim the "personal liberty" and the "individual right" (!) to chew and smoke ad nauseam of others, seem to claim also and equally the right to anathematize "the good brethren" for not letting them have the Lord's money to buy it with! Will they say they have the right to spend money as they please? I have read in the Scriptures "that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel." But I haven't read that there is any tobacco in the gospel. If there was, a preacher couldn't live on it to save his life; but he can die on it very quick. I read in the Bible, "Thou shalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn." But if the people had raised tobacco instead of corn in those days, that injunction would not have been made, because there would have been no need of it; the ox had too much sense or unerring instinct to eat tobacco. But, my! my! when anybody in the South talks about muzzling the preachers, as the Methodist Church in the North has, to keep them from devouring the poisonous weed, what a big fuss some of our Southern preachers do make! Brethren, everyone of you ought to have more sense than an ox. But what is the use of having it unless you put it to better use?

But "I sorrow not, even as others which have no hope;" for I have faith in the ministry to believe that the preachers will not always lag behind in this reform. I have hope that ere long they all will open their eyes to the great folly of using tobacco. And I hope they will all soon awake from their tobacco stupor and rectify their own glaring inconsistency of preaching against indulgence in one poison while they themselves are indulging in the same, or another equally as unjustifiable. And, instead of trying to condemn and vilify their brethren for refusing to let them have the Lord's money to waste in the dissipation of chewing and smoking a poisonous weed called tobacco, while they themselves ostracize the poor heathen Chinese for chewing and smoking a less poisonous one called opium, I hope you all will soon be "bravely maintaining a consistency that is consistent," sure enough. I hope you all will soon be found in the front ranks of this and all other true reforms, contending strenuously that nobody has any more God-granted "liberty," or "right," to waste money for tobacco than for whisky to poison themselves and demoralize others. For nicotine, the active principle of tobacco, is as deadly a poison as alcohol, opium, chloral, hashish, et id genus omne. It stupefies the nervous system, paralyzes the muscular, and disorders every function of the whole body and soul. And thus the whole man is disabled in a greater or less degree, physically, intellectually and spiritually. And consequently such a complete wreck can not possibly measure up to his responsibilities and duties to God or man. Therefore, he is as guilty as if he had disabled himself by cutting off all four of his extremities, plucking out both of his eyes, and cutting out his tongue, for if all these members be disabled by poison, they are just as useless as if removed from the body entirely. And the disabled individual is as worthless and more in the way than a fruit tree with all the limbs and branches too dead to bear fruit. The Savior says, "Cut it down; why cumbereth it the ground?" Look out, you tobacco addicts!

Now, as I hear some thoughtless or reckless individual say, "Pshaw! don't we see people using tobacco every day without suffering any such dreadful consequences?" I might make the same silly reply about whisky drinkers, if I didn't know better. If alcoholic liquors destroy mankind, so does tobacco, as well as opium and the other poisons indulged in so detrimentally and even destructively by the thoughtless and the reckless. And that is not all by a great deal. It is a fact that tobacco causes a thirst for whisky, and, consequently, it is responsible for much of the enormous evils of that other diabolical destroyer of soul and body. Nicotine, after an evanescent excitement, depresses all of the vital powers, and suspends or derangos all their functions correspondingly; and, consequently, a felt want or need of stimulation supervenes; and that monster stimulant, whisky, being so universally present at almost every cross-road, and even between the cross-ways, it is resorted to by the tobacco victim to revive his drooping spirits. And thus tobacco often makes drunkards of its deluded victims. Is it not a notorious fact that whisky and tobacco are almost universal companions. There may be just enough exceptions to establish the rule.

If the long and striking list of nervous disorders, neuralgias, mental aberrations, imbecilities and dementias, despondencies and suicides, liver diseases and dyspepsias, diseased throats and impaired visions, debilities and heart failures, premature decays and deaths, both sudden and protracted, with much suffering, and a thousand other impurities and maladies caused by tobacco directly and indirectly, were known and read of all men as they ought to be, there would be no need of my writing this earnest warning. As an old physician of long and extensive experience, I declare solemnly that the ailments and diseases caused by tobacco are manifold and grave. It may be graphically paraphased thus:

"Vile tobacco stands thick through all the ground
To push us to the tomb,
And its many fierce diseases wait around
To hurry mortals home." (Wherever that be.)

But that is not all, nor the worst of it. An individual preacher here and there, who has destroyed himself deliberately and wantonly by using a poison, is a small matter—as a drop of water out of the ocean or a grain of sand from the shore. The Lord can "burn his works and save him as by fire" possibly. And while hurrying him out of the way, he can raise up another more prudent and useful and put in his place, and thus carry on his own work better without a break in it. But had those poor, unfortunate preachers not fallen victims to such an unreasonable and ruinous practice, and wasted the Lord's money in disabling themselves from fulfilling their high and holy mission, how happily different many things might have been! They might have lived longer and been able to accomplish so much more good at home, or to have gone and told the story of the cross to the brethren, and many of them might have been saved thereby from death eternal; and their own widows and orphans, and the widows and orphans of more godly and useful preachers, and more deserving preachers, themselves worn out in God's service, but still lingering on the shores of time waiting and watching for the summons to go home to their rewards—all these might have been saved from want and suffering and made comfortable and happy.

Let us look a little into the statistics of that dreadful tobacco weed. According to those of 1880 (the latest I happen to have before me), there were then 638,791 acres of land (much more now probably) being misused in the United States alone for growing the poisonous weed for the destruction of mankind. What else was accomplished by it? It certainly did nobody any good. It certainly did a great many much harm. And the millions of people and money employed in producing and preparing the poison for use wasted much valuable time and means that ought to have been devoted to far better purposes. It is the devil who has tobacco and whisky made and fixed up enticingly to allure people away from God, and destroy them soul and body in hell. He employs those two powerful agencies which go hand in hand to defeat the Savior in his grand and glorious mission to earth to save the world. And if the preachers don't patronize the arch-enemy of mankind for his whisky, too many, alas! do patronize the great soul and body destroyer for his lethal tobacco. Now this is just as true as any preaching.

Estimating one person for every two acres of land in tobacco, there were in the United States alone, in 1880, the large number of about 300,000 human beings, with immortal souls and God-given capacities, toiling and sweating day in and day out the live-long year to produce some 500,000,000 pounds, or more, perhaps, of the poisonous weed. What for? Not to benefit a solitary human being, or animal even! For the 300,000 toiling human beings, bending low with aching backs, spent many long weary days turning leaf after leaf of the poisonous plants intently hunting for the poor defenseless worms (which crawling, loathsome things alone the Creator intended should devour the vile stuff), but they were diligently searched for and destroyed by men that they might take by greedy and unscrupulous rapine their weeds for human beings "made in the image and likeness of God" to chew and spit out of their mouths or smoke and puff away, and thus waste about $600,000,000 annually in the United States alone! and thus damage themselves and millions of others, directly or indirectly, in body and soul for time and eternity. But "Gallio cared for none of those things!" And will a tobacco man care no more for another's well-being than for that of a crawling worm, when money is courted by the one and the weed is craved by the other, whose taste and appetite are depraved by the poison? I heard a voice coming down, sullen and husky, from the primeval age of man, saying, "Am I my brother's keeper?" In answer to the searching question, "Where is thy brother?" asked by "the Lord," who further asked, "What hast thou done?" and said, "The voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me, and now thou art cursed!" Hear, all ye tobacco people, the voice of God, and tremble on account of your folly which encourages and helps waste so much precious time and money and ruin the souls and bodies of so many people. The American Board Almanac gives the stunning figures found below, showing "how the money goes:"

Liquors	$900,000,000
Tobacco	600,000,000
Bread	505,000,000
Meat	303,000,000
Woolen goods	237,000,000
Cotton goods	210,000,000
Education	85,000,000
Missions	5,500,000

Ye ministers of the Most High God, who help waste $600,000,000 in this demoralizing and destructive tobacco dissipation, behold your idol, and "choose ye this day whom you will serve!" And recollect that your idol, to which you help sacrifice so much in time and money, souls and bodies, is also further responsible for much of the other idol, liquor's waste of $900,000,000, and the incomputable evils attending the worship of both, which rob God and man.

God will not always wink at all this folly and waste and damage. "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption."

Now, "I am not mad, most noble Festus, but speak forth the words of truth and soberness," in the same spirit and for the same purpose and with the same hope that you and others preach against any other great evil. "I speak as unto wise men; judge ye what I say."

Plaisance, La.

"These All Died in Faith."

In my report to our annual meeting, held last month, as pastor of Kobe Church, in referring to the state of the work, I wrote the following words: "Some of our older Christians are sweetly ripening for heaven, and the 'gladsome day when he will come' for them can not be far off." In less than four weeks I have been called on to bury three of our members. Never before has death invaded our ranks so rapidly; but we rejoice that "these all died in faith," and that "some sweet day" we will meet them in the "better country, that is, an heavenly."

KENTA OKA.

He was our third native Christian in Japan. The register of the Kobe Church shows that he was baptized May 1, 1887, by Rev. W. R. Lambuth, M. D. For over four years he lived an active, earnest, Christian life and was the means of bringing several into the church; one of them being his own father. A member of one of the better class families, well educated and a teacher by profession, he laid his all on the altar and served God faithfully unto the end. During the past year he was my personal teacher; but ill health prevented full service. I knew him well and loved him. A day or so before he died, when he was very weak, I asked him, "Are you trusting in Jesus?" With an effort he replied, "Always." This was all, but it was enough, for we knew his life. Bro. Oka was a native of the Island of Kinshiu, where over two hundred and fifty years ago a fearful persecution was waged against the native Roman Catholic Christians, more than forty thousand being massacred, besides several thousands of them who were hurled headlong from a high cliff into the sea. After the persecution had done its work the bitter hatred held toward Christianity continued and was so intense that the officers of the different provinces went around regularly requiring the citizens, young and old, to stamp in the dust a cross in token of their detestation of him who died thereon. Bro. Oka told me that he and others of his family had been required to do this.

Bro. Oka was a member of a samurai family—the soldier class under the old regime; his grandfather being a prominent retainer of his Daimyo, or Prince. Two days before he died he called me to his bedside and gave me a short sword, which he said he had had for a long time. Afterwards I learned that it had been in the family about eighty years and was an heirloom received from his grandfather. The higher class of Japanese men up to about fifteen years ago always carried two swords—one of which, the larger, was for enemies; the other, the shorter, was for the wearer's own body, to be used, as was very frequently done, in committing harakiri, the legalized form of suicide. The sword was the badge of the Japanese gentlemen, and in no country has it been an object of so much honor as in this. Japan has been called "The land of many blades." "The girded sword is the soul of the samurai," and privilege to wear it was granted only those of higher birth. Among the mottoes formerly graven on Japanese swords was this: "In the last days one's sword becomes the wealth of one's posterity." Valuable blades were handed down from one generation to another, and the last thing that an old samurai gave away was his short sword. I promised Bro. Oka that I would never part with this memento of our friendship, and told him that I prized it very highly. But the days of the sword in Japan are about over; only the police are permitted to wear them now, and one of the political parties of the land has the abolition of its use by them as a plank in their platform. Japan is rapidly gathering together another class of soldiers, a spiritual samurai, retainers of Prince Immanuel, "the weapons of whose warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds," and the sword that they wield is "the sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God."

We buried Bro. Oka late in the afternoon, Dr. J. W. Lambuth preaching his funeral sermon to a large and interested congregation. He sleeps well, for he sleeps in Jesus.

MITANI MOTO,

Mother of Rev. T. M. Datte, our second local preacher in Japan, and the first native preacher in our mission to receive an appointment at the hands of a Bishop. She came to us about a year ago from the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, and was privileged to sit under the ministry of her son for about twelve months. Her life ended just as the Conference year closed. She was sick but ten hours, so that her son, who was in Tokyo at the time, was not able to be with her when she died; but she did not lack for tender sympathy and attention, the church members supplying, as well as they could, the loving ministration of her absent son. Japan is blessed with a number of native Christian physicians, and just as her life was going out the doctor, with several others, sang a song and had prayer with her. In answer to a question from one of them, as to her prospects of heaven, she replied that all was well, and I have no doubt but that when her spirit quit its old casket, that she went to be with her Lord whom she loved so well.

She was one of the happiest, sweetest Christians that I have ever met anywhere. Before she came to Kobe, Bro. Moseley, who used to labor in Wakayama, where she lived, gave me the same testimony. The story of her conversion to Christianity is most interesting, and illustrates very strikingly the ways of Providence. Her son went to America fifteen years ago, and had been there but a few days when he was most soundly converted. At once his heart was moved toward the conversion of his mother in Japan, who was an intense Buddhist. As his business would not permit his immediate return, he wrote her about his conversion, and sent her a Bible. This he followed up with a number of letters, explaining the way of salvation, and several tracts. One day, about three years after his own conversion, his heart was gladdened by the receipt of a letter from his mother, announcing that she had forsaken her idols and had accepted Christ as her Savior, and desired to be baptized. But what was the son to do, for there wasn't a Christian in all her city of fifty thousand people? Led by the Spirit of God, he sent a letter to Rev. A. D. Hall, of the Cumberland Presbyterian Mission, saying that he thought his mother had been converted, and asking him to go to her home in Wakayama and examine her, and if she was found ready, to baptize her. The letter came while Mr. Hall was on a missionary tour, and was sent to him by his wife, reaching him in the very town where the subject of its contents resided. Losing no time, Mr. Hall, taking his helper, went to her house, and, to his surprise, found her so well prepared for baptism that then and there, at a late hour of the night, in the heart of a heathen city, he baptized her and received her into the church. After this she desired the communion, and using a piece of a cracker, the only remains of his lunch, and some native wine that she had in the house, they celebrated the sufferings and death of her new-found Savior. Mr. Hall told me that this was one of the sweetest communions he had ever attended. The reception of Mrs. Moto into the church was the beginning of a great work in Wakayama, a place where the Cumberland Presbyterians had long tried to secure footing, but in vain. Mrs. Moto was the first member of what is now a church of over one hundred, and among them all she was one of the most useful and active, being the instrument of bringing a number to Christ. I preached her funeral sermon from Rev. xiv, 13: "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from henceforth: yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them." We buried her while the shadows of evening were falling about us, and covered her grave with a mass of pure white flowers, fit emblems of her spotless Christian life.

RYOSAKU OKA,

Father of Kenta Oka, whose name is mentioned first in this list, died Sept. 21, 1891. He became interested in Christianity while living with his son, who was, at that time, Dr. Duke's native helper. Visiting Matsuyama, in company with Dr. W. R. Lambuth, Dr. Dukes kindly asked me to baptize Mr. Oka, which I did with pleasure. This was in February of last year, so that he had been in the church but one year and a half. Dignified, educated, a devoted student of the Four Books and Five Classics of Confucius, with the best of samurai blood in his veins, and the embodiment of gentleness and true politeness, he was a Japanese gentleman of the old school. I visited him in company with the assistant pastor and some of the native Christians the night he died, and even then, in the hour of his pain and extremity, he greeted me with all the politeness of his former self. He seemed to appreciate the prayers we had with him, and answered very satisfactorily the questions propounded. I do not think that he had gone very far into Christian theology; but I am satisfied that his faith grasped the central truth, that Christ is the Savior of the world, and that he was clinging to that. He might have known more about it, if he had had time; but it wasn't his fault that he had not heard of Christ earlier in life. Will he suffer loss because others failed in their duty? Certainly not. But how about those who knew and did not send the truth?

Our Japanese Methodists "die well." Their death-beds are precious in the sight of their Lord. I am sure that the angels of God hover around them, eager to bear their redeemed souls into the presence of their King, and that in the last day, among that "company whom no man can number" there will be found the three whose names are here recorded. W. E. TOWSON.

Kobe, Japan.

"Things That Ought to Be Changed."

I write simply to give my hearty endorsement to the views on the above heading, as they appeared in your issue of Oct. 15, over the nom de plume, "A Member of the N. M. C." We were forced to give up week-day preaching, as we had it on our old-time large circuits, as other Christian denominations came in and preached on Sundays only, and we will have to reduce the appointments of our presiding elders for the same reasons, unless we are to consider these brethren mainly as officers of the church, whose work is mostly of a business character. We do not want it that way. We want business men and our best business men in the office, but we want preachers also, and our best preachers, too, in the office, to preach to our people. Give them and us a chance for this, and we will have no difficulty in supporting them.

And then that Sunday question, Mr. Editor, is one of the gravest importance. Imagine one of us "corn-field men" putting in a heavy charge against Sabbath-breaking generally, and aiming specially at train running and riding on trains on Sunday, and announcing that he would "let off" on Sunday night, when, lo and behold! on reaching the church, his presiding older meets him, having come in on the train, and presents him with the compliments of one of the "chief pastors" with whom he has just parted on the train. Mr. Editor, did you ever go hunting when a boy with a flint and steel-lock gun and be caught in a shower? You had as well go home. You can not get up as much as a flash in the pan. Let's have a change. ANOTHER MEMBER.

Report of Treasurer of Woman's Missionary Society, North Mississippi Conference.

FOR QUARTER ENDING SEPT. 30, 1

WINONA DISTRICT.

Winona	$28 40
Pickens	6 50
Pickens Pickers	2 60
Sallis	1 00
Acona	3 00
Bethany	4 65
Black Hawk	26 35
Carrollton	1 00
Juveniles of Carrollton	50
Greenwood	12 10
Juveniles of Valden	50
Conf. collect'n at Winona	11 48
Juveniles of Greenwood	2 60
Juveniles of Acona	1 60
Midway	3 20
Juveniles of Black Hawk	2 20
West	2 45
"West's Best" (Juvenile)	25
Sallis	2 85
Eden	5 15
Lexington	4 55
Lexington Juveniles	7 42
Kosolusko	3 40
Juveniles of Kosclusko	2 25
Ebenezer	1 70
	$161

ABERDEEN DISTRICT.

Aberdeen	$ 6 05
Juveniles of Aberdeen	2 60
Tupelo	4 70
Verona	9 45
Juveniles of Verona	4 70
Tranquil	1 00
McCondy	1 00
Juveniles of Houston	6 20
Helen Fant, of Fulton	10 00
Okolona	3 90
	$ 49

SARDIS DISTRICT.

Sardis	$14 10
Coldwater	6 25
Juveniles of Coldwater	1 55
Senatobia	9 00
Juveniles of Senatobia	4 20
Batesville	1 60
Juveniles of Batesville	1 85
Juveniles of Sardis	1 00
McGehee's Chapel	17 05
Juv. of McGehee's Ch'l	11 70
Courtland	1 00
Harmony	1 05
Como	4 10
See's Chapel	95
	$ 75

COLUMBUS DISTRICT.

Columbus	$ 5 00
Crawford	7 00
West Point	9 75
Macon	3 55
Macon Jewels	22 20
Starkville	6 10
Juveniles of Starkville	3 15
Juveniles of Crawford	1 70
Trinity	7 00
	$ 68

CORINTH DISTRICT.

Corinth	$ 8 20
Ripley	6 80
Iuka	11 35
Guntown	1 00
Iuka Juveniles	3 25
Corinth Juveniles	3 70
Boonville	3 15
Ripley Juveniles	5 20
	$ 47

GRENADA DISTRICT.

Grenada	$ 8 00
Juveniles of Sunnyside	5 00
McNutt	5 10
Sunnyside	1 00
Water Valley	1 30
Coffeeville	2 70
Minter City	26 75
Juv. of Water Valley	2 20
Juveniles of Coffeeville	1 15
Oxford	8 00
Strathmore	59 02
Juveniles of Grenada	15 25
	$139

GREENVILLE DISTRICT.

Greenville	$ 8 80
Indianola	5 00
Jonestown	1 05
Lilies of the Delta*	5 00
Juveniles of Jonestown	5 55
Brooklyn	6 25
Lula	2 60
Clarksdale	7 50
	$ 41

HOLLY SPRINGS DISTRICT.

Holly Springs	$ 7 30
Early Grove	5 00
Lochie Rankin Band†	3 55
Salem	2 15
Victoria	5 00
	$ 23

Total amount received this second quarter... $609 7

* Greenville.
† Holly Springs.

MOLLIE A. CLARK,
Conf. Treas. W. M. S., North Miss. Conf.

Indian Mission.

I want to make my last appeal before the meeting of the Mississippi Conference in behalf of the Indians in Mississippi. I want to ask every brother and sister that intend to assist in the salvation of the Indians to send their contributions at once, and especially those that have promised and have not made the first payment. Please remit to me or to your pastor so he may hand it to me at Conference. Brethren and sisters, please do not put off this matter any longer, as we must do what we do this winter; that is, we must commence the work. We have the promise of a missionary, and now we want the means. Brethren, in the name of a kind Redeemer, and for the salvation of the poor, lost Indians, and for the salvation of our own souls, let us rise up and possess the Indians for Christ. Let us bring them into his glorious kingdom. Send, as before, to Harlow, Copiah county, Miss.

A. D. MILLER.

Idleness is the dead sea that swallows up all virtues, and the self-made sepulchre of a living man. The idle man is the devil's urchin whose livery is rags, and whose diet and wages are famine and disease.—Isaac Barrow.

Rev. C. H. Owen.

In the death of the Rev. Charles H. Owen, which occurred Oct. 15, the North Mississippi Conference has lost one of its brightest and best members. He died at the parsonage, in Bolivar, of hematuria. He was just finishing his second year at that place, and his eighth to the Conference. Though quite a young man, being but thirty-three years old, and comparatively young in the Conference, he had won the confidence and admiration of the entire body. All who knew him loved him, and those who knew him best loved him most. His consecration to the work was a thorough one. All his thoughts and affections were for his church, and he was ready at any time to suffer that his Lord might be honored. He said to me but a short time ago, "I am needed at my work this Summer, and will not leave the bottom." And he prayed, knowing fully the peril of spending the Summer in this miasmatic climate. Had he been less zealous, he would have gone to his wife and children, whom he had sent to the hills for the Summer, and remained with them. But he felt that duty called him another way, and he was ready to obey. He remained at his post and had just finished repairing the parsonage and doing other needed work about the place.

Possessed of a strong mind, he made himself felt in the pulpit. Bro. Owen was not an ornate speaker, but a clear, sound, logical one. He dealt in the real, not in the imaginary. But he was by no means dry or prosy; there was life and vigor and energy thrown into every sermon. If the listener was not convinced, he was made to feel the earnestness of the preacher. He was a hard student, and was cultivating the mind with which he had been so richly endowed. The lamented Rev. John Barcroft once said to me, "Bro. Owen has the best mind of any young man I know." And his mind was well stored with information which he used advantageously.

Whatever he considered wrong, he threw his whole weight against, and was uncompromising. To him sin was sin, of whatever grade, and he tried to destroy it. Had he had more policy, he would have had more friends; but his conscience told him to do what he thought was right, which he did, disregarding whom it involved.

He had a rich, mellow heart, and his affection and sympathy were easily touched. Having a deep love for God, he had a deep love for humanity. He had a burning desire to help save souls, and it was the burden of his heart. Just before he died he said to me that he wished to recover, that he might preach the gospel. It was his study how he might help fallen humanity.

All that human skill could do was done for him; but to no avail. From the start the disease had marked him for a victim. He was told of his helpless condition, and he awaited patiently and uncomplainingly the end. His loving wife was not well, and could not be at his bedside all the time; but his aged father and mother and one brother and brother-in-law were with him, and watched sorrowfully the ebbing life. The good people of Bolivar were unceasing in their attention, and their hearts were all saddened at his death. Rev. T. W. Lewis and myself were with him to the last.

His remains were carried to Mt. Pleasant, Miss., where they were interred. The Revs. J. W. Honnoll, Joseph Johnson, J. A. Leech and the writer were present, and each took part in the last sad rites.

The noble wife is left broken-hearted and disconsolate. May God look kindly upon her in this, her greatest of bereavements!

W. W. WOOLLARD.

The Favorite.

For twenty-five years Marsden's Pectoral Balm has been well and favorably known in the South. It is an unfailing cure for la grippe, coughs, colds and croup in children.

Program for the Week of Prayer and Thanksgiving.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY, M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Auxiliaries are expected to hold daily meetings for prayer.

Pastors are earnestly requested to call attention to these services, and to give all the aid they can in their observance.

Monday, Nov. 23—Confession and supplication. Humble confession to God of all our shortcomings and failures in the past, and supplication for a spirit of renewed zeal and consecration. Scripture readings: Psalm xxxii; Eph. iv, 1-16. Hymns 851, 852, 873 and 364.

Tuesday, Nov. 24—Prayer for those in authority, for those having the control and direction of our affairs. Pray that special grace and wisdom and help from on high may be given them; that self may be put completely out of sight, and that the spirit of love and devotion may prevail all along the lines. In this connection make earnest petition for the life and health of our venerable President and of our Secretary of Foreign Affairs. I. Timothy ii. 1-10; I. Peter ii, 1-12. Hymns 750, 751 and 868.

Wednesday, Nov. 25—For the workers. Pray for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the workers in the various mission fields. Mention each by name. Pray for peace in China; that the health and lives of our missionaries in Brazil may be guarded against epidemics; that renewed successes and blessings may crown the efforts of our workers in Mexico and on the Mexican border, and that greater results than ever may be had in our labors among the wild Indian tribes. Readings: Ezekiel xxxiv, 11-16, and Isaiah lii. Hymns 670, 665 and 658.

Thursday, Nov. 26—Thanksgiving. Thank God fervently for the success that has so far crowned the labors of our missionaries, for his goodness in preserving their lives, for the many blessings that have rested upon the work everywhere. Let special thanks be rendered for the encouraging increase in the number of home workers and in the collections, and for the prosperity that has attended our training-school enterprise. Beseech God for a continuance of all these blessings and benefits. Readings: Psalm lxvii, Isaiah xii; Philippians iv, 4-9. Hymns 6, 41 and 727.

Friday, Nov. 27—For more workers. Let earnest, supplicating prayer be made on this day to the God of harvests, that he will send more laborers into the fields that are white to the sickle. Besiege the throne of grace with the full outpourings of heart and lip, humbly reminding our Father in heaven that he himself has commanded us to pray for laborers to be sent into his harvest fields. (Read leaflet for September.) Scripture readings: Isaiah lxiv, and Matthew ix, 27-38. Hymns 756, 763 and 768.

Sunday, Nov. 29—A sermon on missions, if possible. United petitions for blessings upon the work of our Woman's Missionary Society. Let the prayer for more workers be renewed with fervent supplication. Offerings may be taken up at this service if desired. A circle of secret prayer about sunset.

Note.—The offerings collected from day to day are to be sent through the regular channels into the general treasury.

Talking of patent medicines—you know the old prejudice. And the doctors—some of them are between you and us. They would like you to think that what's cured thousands won't cure you. You'd believe in patent medicines if they didn't profess to cure everything—and so, between the experiments of doctors, and the experiments of patent medicines that are sold only because there's money in the "stuff," you lose faith, in everything.

And, you can't always tell the prescription that cures by what you read in the papers. So, perhaps, there's no better way to sell a remedy, than to tell the truth about it, and take the risk of its doing just what it professes to do.

That's what the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., does with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

If they don't do what their makers say they'll do—you get your money back.

THE LOTTERY.

Lotteries and Gambling.

It is said that Louisiana Lottery tickets are being scattered in Canada. There are a great many forms of gambling, of which lotteries are in some respects one of the worst, because they ensnare people who would not be likely to engage in other kinds of gambling. All forms of gambling are demoralizing. Those who have recourse to this illusory means of securing wealth are in undue haste to get rich. They lose their faith in the paths of honesty and industry, and turn aside to crooked and doubtful ways. Risking money in lotteries creates a feverish expectation of gain that must, in the great majority of cases, end in disappointment and mortification. This indulgence unfits for the ordinary work of life, in which alone true success can be won. Even in the case of the few who get prizes, they are demoralized by baseless hopes of future success which can never be realized. It would hardly be too much to say, that the person who gets a prize is more an object of commiseration than those who lose their money. Those who fail to get anything may possibly receive a lesson that will keep them from repeating their folly. But he who gains a prize is likely to be tempted to keep on at an evil practice, which never fails to unsettle the mind, by kindling a morbid desire for money, which is only to be got from people who generally can ill afford to lose what they foolishly risk.

We are surprised to find that some people, from whom better things might be expected, purchase lottery tickets, as if it was a proper thing to do. A man by doing this seeks to get money for which he gives nothing in return. If it be said, that somebody gets what others lose, this does not make it any better. The drunkard who wastes his money on liquor, and the gambler who spends his fortune at the gaming tables, might with equal point say that somebody else gets what they lose. No man has a right to waste his substance by giving it to those who have no just claim to it. Some say that speculating in land is just as bad. No doubt, any kind of speculation, by which men expect to get rich rapidly, has a bad effect upon the mind. But a man buying land, or anything else, with the hope of selling it at a higher price, is a wholly different thing from investing in a lottery, where the majority must lose. The habitual indulgence in this form of gambling begets an aversion to patient industry, is a preparatory training for other forms of dishonesty, and produces a form of mental excitement that has often ended in insanity. The law should be stringently enforced against this practice, which has been a blight and a curse to every community where it has flourished.—Christian Guardian.

The Suppression of Lotteries.

The lottery business is not as great an evil as it was a quarter of a century ago, but it is still of sufficient magnitude to do a great deal of harm. There are a number of Southern States in which it is protected by the law, and throughout the North it is conducted secretly on a scale that would surprise anyone who had not occasion to investigate the matter. In the District of Columbia the sale of tickets is carried on openly, and it is common rumor that the manager of the office there boasts that he has never been arrested, although his place has been closed sometimes. Even in this city there is one daily newspaper at least that prints the results of alleged drawings.

As a means of making money, the lottery, as it is conducted in this country, is considerably inferior for outsiders to a well-regulated faro bank or the race-course. Temporary winnings are sometimes made, but in the long run the simpleton who indulges in this kind of gambling always loses. The people who patronize the lotteries are almost without exception of the ignorant or superstitious class, and they ought to be protected from these harpies. On the same principle that the police make war on confidence men, the United States is justified in interfering to prevent its citizens being robbed by lotteries.

The bills that have been introduced or are about to be introduced into Congress to prevent the use of the mails in any way whatsoever by the lottery companies ought to be amended so as to include the express companies, too. Thus amended, they ought to accomplish the desired end without any interference with the rights of the different States. There are five of them in all, and they seek to attain the desired end in different ways. The passage of any of them, however, will be a serious blow to the lottery companies, as it will probably prevent the use of the United States mails in any way for the forwarding of matter pertaining to the lotteries, or of registered letters with money for the purchase of tickets. A law of that nature would cut off a great portion of the companies' business at one fell swoop. It is to be hoped, certainly, that one of these bills—preferably the most severe—will be passed by Congress at the present session. It is a measure upon which all parties can unite without difficulty.—New York Star.

Lottery.

A "Woman's Anti-Lottery League" of Thibodeaux and Lafourche has been formed, and the following resolutions adopted:

Whereas, It is the conviction of those daughters of Louisiana, here assembled, that the time has now arrived when not only the sons of our beloved State should put forth every effort to defend her honor and save her from ignominious bondage to the Louisiana State Lottery, but her women also should use every means in their power to aid in this sacred cause; therefore, be it

Resolved, That, realizing in this lottery a malignant and dangerous foe to our laws of liberty, the integrity of our people and the morals of the rising generation, we do apprehend from its rechartering, in addition to existing evils, many of which we already see the foreshadowing, and from which we would pray to be delivered.

Resolved, That we regard the Louisiana State Lottery as opposed to the laws of God and man, an abomination which must be cast out, and we do pledge ourselves, by the help of that God who is "of purer eyes than to behold iniquity," severally and in union, to use our influence against it, and to do what we can to aid in its extinction.

The ADVOCATE has been requested to publish the following:

Whereas, The good people of Louisiana are now making a heroic struggle against the perpetuation of the great Louisiana Lottery swindle; And whereas, It is an evil that seeks to invade and corrupt all society, religion and good order; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the Mississippi Baptist Association, pledge our sympathies, prayers and most hearty co-operation, as individuals and Christian citizens, to the people of that State in their effort to break the power and drive out this great public iniquity.

P. HEMBY, Clerk of Ass'n.

Dyspepsia

Makes many lives miserable, and often leads to self destruction. Distress after eating, sick headache, heartburn, sour stomach, mental depression, etc., are caused by this very common and increasing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy digestion, relieves sick headache, clears the mind, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia. Read the following:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, all-gone feeling. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

N. B. Be sure to get only

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

CROUPY SOUNDS

At night, from baby's crib, are distracting to parents who are at a loss for a medicine equal to the emergency. Not so with those who have Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. A dose of this medicine affords certain and speedy relief. To cure colds, coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, and the various disorders of the breathing apparatus, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has no equal. It soothes the inflamed tissue, promotes expectoration, and induces repose. Call For Capt. U. Carley, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for thirty years and have always found it the best remedy for croup, to which complaint my children were subject."

"I use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice, and pronounce it to be unequaled as a remedy for colds and coughs."—J. G. Gordon, M. D., Carroll Co., Virginia.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists; Price $1; six bottles $5.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,

831 Broadway, NEW YORK.

IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.

W. H. KRONE, BUILDER,

586 Baronne St., - New Orleans.

Box 71, M., D., and L. Exchange.

WALL PAPER.

Never in the history of the Wall Paper business has the line of patterns equalled those which will be shown this Fall, and, as we carry the makes of every manufacturer, nowhere else in the South can such an assortment be found. In Dining-room, Parlor and Bed-room Papers there are several very pretty novelties, and also an innovation in the way of a Bath-room Paper, which can be splashed with impunity and not damaged.

Matting, Chinese AND Japanese,

From 10 cents up. WINDOW SHADES, 35 cents up. OIL CLOTH. 25 cents up.

RUGS, COCOA MATTING, UPHOLSTERING GOODS and LINOLEUM in immense assortment.

Write for a catalogue.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp St., New Orleans.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

W. C. SHEPARD,

94 CAMP STREET.

BEAUTIFUL

China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL

Semi-China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL CHAMBER SETS.
PLATED WARE, all kinds,
WOOD WARE, all kinds,
TIN WARE, all kinds,
GLASS WARE, all kinds.

House Furnishing Store, Cheap as the Cheapest

ALL THE NOVELTIES OF THE DAY.

Wringers and Curtain Stretchers.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF

PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.,

Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,

NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS.

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 7:55 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 5:15 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express..... 5:45 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express..... 8:00 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train"..... 10:20 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train"..... 9:50 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 3 Lim. Ex. 7.45 am	No. 4 F'st Ex... 7:45 am
No. 5 F'st Ex... 7:05 pm	No. 8 Coast.... 3:45 pm
No. 7 Coast..... 9:23 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex. 7 30 pm
Lim. express.. 4:45 pm	Fast mail..... 8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

No. 1, Local Mail and Express.. 7:20pm	No. 2, Local Mail and Express.. 7:00am
No. 41, Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 8:25am	No 42, Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 6:00pm
No 45, Chic. and N. O. Lim.... 8:00pm	No. 46, Chic and N. O. Lim. 12:01noon
No 41, Memphis and K. C. Ex. 8:25am	No 42 Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:00pm
No. 5, McComb City Accom.... 8:20am	No. 6, McComb City Accom.. 4:30pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 13 California Express. 7:30pm	No. 51 California Express. 8:00 am
B. Rouge, local. 10:25am	B. Rouge, local. 3 50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 19 Califor. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local.. 8 00 am
No. 17 Local.... 7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor.. 5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd . .2.30pm	No. 2, Lim'd..... 5:00pm
No. 1, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 6, Fast Line.. 8:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO.
(Via Meridian.)

No. 1, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 2, Limited.... 5:00pm

P. AND F. EAST LA.
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.

Arrive..... 8:30 am	Leave..... 4:15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pt. a-la-Hache Sh Reh. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:00 p. m.	Pt. a-la-Hache Sh. Reh. 7:00 a. m., 10:00 a. m., 5:00 p. m.

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

FROM

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City.

Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 84 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.

J. C. GAULT, General Manager.

D. G. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

To SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT and

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't, B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,

JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.

Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train.....	Leaves. 5:15 p. m	Arrives 7:55 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	8:30 a. m	5:45 p. m
Bal. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:50 p. m	10:30 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

P. B. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Agt. R. F. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt.

FOR SALE!

40 Acres of Land

IN FRONT OF

Millsaps College.

This is a rare chance for persons wanting to live near the college, or for speculation. Lots 80x160 are selling for $150, not nearer than half-mile off. I offer this property in one-acre lots on the association plan, which will give a buyer of one share costing $750 an acre at wholesale rates. As soon as the forty shares are sold, the property will be auctioned off for choice of lots, no one but shareholders being permitted to bid. Whenever a lot is sold for more than the share price, the excess shall be placed to the credit of the shareholders pro rata, thereby reducing the cost of lots as they are bid in. Persons buying a share will place the $750 in bank in this city; and when the auction sale takes place each shareholder, on the day of said sale, will receive his or her deed to the lot bought. Each buyer of a share will receive notice one week before the sale, so that they may be represented in person or by proxy. This property will go readily on this plan; so, if you want to get in the procession, send along your checks. The property is pretty, every acre of it. Not an acre that is not worth five hundred dollars. Address,

R. J. MALLETT,
Real Estate Agent,
316 EAST CAPITAL ST. - JACKSON, MISS.

REFERENCES.—Rev. W. C. Black, R. W. Millsaps, W. L. Nugent.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

Is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study, Practical Lectures and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this college has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has unsurpassed facilities and equipments.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.—Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools. In Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE—Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Port Gibson Female College,

PORT GIBSON, MISS.

Opens Sept. 15, 1891. Closes June 15, 1892.

A school for the higher education of girls, under the patronage of the Mississippi Annual Conference, M. E. Church, South.

Located in the hill country of the State, on the L., N. O. and T. R. R. (Valley Route), six hours run above New Orleans, and one below Vicksburg.

For catalogue address

Miss M. E. COMPTON, Pres.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC FOUNDED BY Dr. EBEN TOURJEE.
CARL FAELTEN, Director.
Piano, Organ, Violin, Voice, Etc.

Systematic courses in class and private lessons. Tuition, $10 to $30 for 20 class lessons. Many free Classes, Lectures, Recitals, etc. Elocution, Oratory and Dramatic Action, Fine Arts, Literature, Languages, Piano and Organ Tuning. COMFORTABLE HOMES for Lady Students. Calendar Free.

Fall Term begins Sept. 10, 1891.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager, Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR,
Member of Board of Trustees,
No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

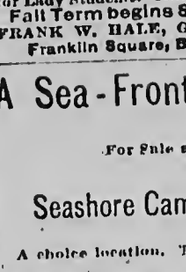
$65 A Month and board, or higher commission and 30 days credit to Agents, Teachers, Students, Young Men or Ladies to canvass for New Book. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia, Pa., or St. Louis, Mo.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

PLAYS Dialogues, Speakers, for School, Club and Parlor. Catalogue free. T. DENISON, Publisher, Chicago.

IF YOU WANT AN ORGAN AT A BARGAIN

BUY NOW
SPECIAL SUMMER SALE
500
FINE ORGANS at Way Down Prices—to close.
Easy Terms—$3 to $5 monthly—or $10 Cash, balance to suit. No Interest.
GREAT BARGAINS must be sold. Can't hold. Write for Bargain Sheet.
LUDDEN & BATES, SAVANNAH, GA.



THIS ORGAN ONLY $29.00

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

ADDRESS

H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, N. J.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.

Thursday, November 5, 1891.

Briefs.

On account of the plenitude of Ecumenical matter, "News from the Work" has been crowded out now for two issues. This "news" is now old and must stay out. Let not the brethren be discouraged, however, for hereafter we will give the church "news" as heretofore. A brief statement of interesting facts is what our readers want, and they read such with avidity.

In the United States and Canada the Young Men's Christian Associations number 1,385, with a membership of 225,000, and 231 buildings, worth $9,946,085. There is being contributed annually $1,800,000 for local purposes and $190,000 for general work. Among the associations are 345 college, 98 railroad, 11 German, 37 colored, and 24 Indian Associations. They have 649 libraries, with 437,347 volumes; 779 reading rooms, 407 gymnasiums, 133 literary societies, and 190 boys' departments.

The following from Dr. J. J. Lafferty is in line with what we have been urging for years, viz: first-class men with good salaries for mission work at home.

Why should the "meadows of Dan" not have a Bledsoe, a Starr, a Sledd, a Tudor? Or why should not the mission called the "calf pasture," still growing in sassafras after decades of "appropriations," be brought to the best tilth by a man costing $2,500? The church would save money by it; and the man doing the work could not be kept out of the bishopric even if there were a dozen "bureaus to sound and suggest" a suitable candidate to new voters.

The church would not only "save money," but the "waste places would be built up."

The number of Methodists in the world, according to the statistics of the Ecumenical Conference, is as follows: Europe—ministers, 4,481; members, 915,284; adherents, 4,209,601. Asia—ministers, 533; members, 34,334; adherents, 114,968. Africa—ministers, 294; members, 71,148; adherents, 283,376. Australasia and Polynesia—ministers, 786; members, 93,140; adherents, 488,183. Totals for Europe, Asia and Africa—ministers, 6,094; members, 1,113,905; adherents, 5,096,128. America—ministers, 36,601; members, 5,380,494; adherents, 20,281,985. Grand total—ministers, 42,695; members, 6,494,399; adherents, 25,478,104.

The Publishing Committee of this paper held its annual meeting in our office, Wednesday, Oct. 28. The affairs of the paper were carefully considered, and the business management and editorial work for the past year were highly commended. The arrangement of affairs for the next year was committed to the Executive Committee, with full power to act. One of the good things that happened to the committee was an elegant dinner at the Christian Woman's Exchange, given by our business manager, Bro. Mitchel. It was enjoyed by all, and full time was taken to discuss thoroughly the merits of eight courses. We consider that a dangerous precedent for the business manager to establish.

Dr. J. M. Mason has resigned the editorship of the Alabama Christian Advocate, and Dr. J. W. Newman has been elected to fill the vacancy. We are sorry to lose Bro. Mason from the tripod, and extend a hand to Dr. Newman. Dr. Mason goes back to the pastorate.

The Publishing Committee.

At the recent annual meeting of the Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE I was appointed to write up its proceedings for publication.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we have listened with pleasure to the report of Dr. Carter, and that we highly appreciate his labors as editor.

Resolved, That a vote of thanks is due and is hereby tendered to J. G. Grant, publisher, for his faithful and successful management of the paper.

Resolved, That the Publishing Committee are gratified at the success achieved by Rev. D. L. Mitchel, as business manager.

These resolutions are not merely a part of an annual routine; they are justified by the facts in the case. The ADVOCATE has had a very prosperous year, having had a net increase in its subscription list of 1,132 names. The circulation is now 7,400—a number far larger than at any time since Alabama withdrew her patronage. This fact is the best evidence that the ADVOCATE is growing in favor with the people. The advertising patronage is good, and on the increase. The increase in assets has been such as to enable the Publishing Committee to provide for the payment of an indebtedness that has long been an incubus upon the paper.

The following resolutions were also adopted by a unanimous vote:

Resolved, That the publisher be requested to employ an assistant editor as soon as the finances of the paper will justify.

Resolved, That each pastor in the patronizing Conferences be urged to secure, at least, five new subscribers in order to enable the publisher to make this forward movement, and that this subject be brought before the Conferences through their Committees on Church Publications.

Resolved, That the Executive Committee are directed to elect an assistant editor when they deem it practicable.

Will this ever be practicable? some one is ready to say. I answer: There are two things, the doing of either of which will bring about the desired result. One of these is so simple and easy a thing as the payment of the money now due by subscribers. The books show an indebtedness on subscription list of $7,511, exclusive of amounts in the hands of preachers. Let this indebtedness be liquidated, and the Executive Committee will at once elect an assistant editor. Every delinquent subscriber ought, therefore, to soliloquize thus, "I am not only neglecting to pay an honest debt; I am also by my negligence standing in the way of progress of a great enterprise of the church."

This forward movement can also be made in the way indicated in the above resolutions, viz.: by an increase of the subscription list. If each pastor will secure five additional subscribers, the problem will be solved. Can not this be done? Let the brethren think how important a matter this is. Excellent though the paper is, it can be vastly improved by an increase of editorial force. No one man, however talented and laborious, can do all the editorial work that ought to be done on such a paper as the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE. What I have said is sufficient to show that the friends of the paper have it in their power vastly to enlarge the field of its usefulness. Will they do it?

W. C. BLACK.

We are glad to note the fact that under the management of Christians a mission is to be opened during this month on Tchoupitoulas street, near Calliope. Such a thing is greatly needed in that densely populated locality, and we pray that our friends may have the wisdom to inaugurate a mission that will be a blessing to that section of the city.

Rev. John Pipes.

John Pipes was born in Ouachita parish, La., Feb. 21, 1818. In his boyhood the church services of the neighborhood were held at his father's house. He was converted Oct. 14, 1840, while on his way to a camp meeting near Minden, La., at which place he was received into the church by the Rev. Richmond Randle. In 1842 he received license to exhort from the Rev. Edwin Phillips, pastor of Ouachita circuit. In 1843 he was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference where the Rev. D. M. Wiggins, P. E., presided, and was admitted on trial into the Mississippi Conference at Woodville, at the close of this year, and was sent to Caddo circuit as junior preacher, with the Rev. P. M. Goodwyn. In 1844 Bishop Janes, who presided at the Conference convened at Port Gibson, sent him to Monroe circuit as junior preacher with the Rev. R. M. Crowson. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Soule at New Orleans in 1845, and was sent to East Feliciana circuit as junior preacher with the Rev. Thomas Clinton. In January, 1847, he was present at the organization of the Louisiana Conference, and was sent to Andrew Chapel in New Orleans. At the next Conference, which met at Minden, Bishop Paine ordained him elder, and sent him to Preston Colored Mission, which work he served three years successively, viz., 1848, 1849 and 1850. In 1851 he was sent to Chicot circuit, and in 1852 to Milliken's Bend, La.; in 1853 and 1854 to Mansfield and Pleasant Hill; in 1855 to Homer circuit; 1856 and 1857 to Bastrop; 1858, 1859 and 1860, Shreveport district as presiding elder. In 1861 and 1862 he served the Pleasant Hill circuit; in 1863, 1864 and 1865—as a war measure—the Natchitoches mission. The next four years, from 1866 to 1869, he was on Mansfield circuit, when he was placed on the Shreveport district from 1870 to 1873. Thence he was moved to DeSoto circuit, which he served four years, from 1874 to 1877, and was sent the next four years to Logansport mission. In 1882 and 1883 he was on the Caddo circuit, and in 1884 was placed on Grand Cane circuit. At the Conference in Minden, January, 1885, Bro. Pipes, in a very affecting talk, asked to be placed upon the superannuated list, which was done with regret by all. From that time on he lived for heaven, and, as far as he was able, worked for the good of his fellows. In 1849 he was married to Miss Harriet Postell Shaffer, who bore to him four children, and who, for over forty-two years, was a helpmeet worthy of such a man.

Bro. Pipes was a man of the most transparent character. His simplicity was very marked. His integrity of purpose was above question. His earnestness in work was rarely equalled. His love for his friends was beautiful to see. His devotion to the church was never excelled. His quietness of manner was most striking. His preaching was fervent, practical and pathetic. His administration of discipline was loving and judicious. His purity of life was a most attractive exhibition of the power of divine grace. He loved God and worshipped him most devoutly. He loved men and wrought diligently for their physical, mental and moral improvement. Louisiana Methodism has received much from the life and work of her loved and loving son, Rev. John Pipes.

For several years Bro. Pipes has been in a low state of health. He went on a visit to his daughter in the early Summer, in hope that a more bracing climate would recover him sufficiently to enable him to meet his brethren once more in Conference. This was the great desire of his heart, expressed in a letter to the editor just as he was leaving for Missouri. God had better things for him. That trip was the last earthly journey, and in the midst of those he loved so well he passed into the beatitudes above. The writer loved him as a father, and the tears flow at the thought that we shall see him no more on earth. Respected by all his brethren, highly esteemed by his friends, honored of all men, loved by his Savior, he lived and wrought and has attained to his reward. A day before his death he dictated the following letter:

Dear Bishop Keener and Members of the Louisiana Conference—

It was my greatest earthly desire to see you again and be with you at Conference. This I am denied. Since Aug. 1, three long months, I have been prostrated from sickness; not able to get up when I was down without help. I shall see you no more, my precious friends, especially mine among the older members of the Conference. I learned to love you all very much, especially you, my dear Bishop. I have been deprived these three months of any religious privileges—have not seen a Methodist preacher. When you think of me, think of me as being very, very happy on the other shore. This is what I have lived for, and I have attained to my reward. My dear love to you and the brethren.

Yours in love,

JOHN PIPES.

P. S.—

Dear Dr. Carter: All that love can do has been done for my precious father, but without avail. He is passing from us. He dictated the above letter this morning, a copy of which he wished sent to you.

MRS. W. R. JONES.

Webster Groves, Mo., Oct. 25, 1891.

An Incident—Its Lesson.

Several years ago quite a large number of Methodist preachers were traveling on a steamboat en route to the seat of an Annual Conference. There were ministers of every grade—from the venerable and courtly Bishop Paine to the newly licensed applicant for admission on trial. Whoever has journeyed with a company of preachers on a steamboat knows something of the good and enjoyable time that everybody has. One day five or six were seated around the Bishop on the forecastle, talking principally upon Scripture subjects. Finally that much-ventilated subject—Peter's great confession—came up. A young brother who, the brethren thought, was coming to the front of his Conference in fine style, began to elaborate his views on the much-disputed passage. About the time he had rolled out two sonorous sentences, the Bishop gently laid his hand upon the young preacher's shoulder, and said: "Brother, if you have carefully, thoughtfully, prayerfully studied the subject, we will gladly hear what you have to say; but if you have not, you had better keep silent." That young preacher received a lesson which he has not forgotten to this day. The Bishop's words and manner, his voice and eye, all said plainly, "Thorough study is necessary to the mastery of any subject, and only the masters can interest and instruct others." How often a preacher goes into the pulpit without this thorough study of his subject, and, as a result, preaches an uninteresting sermon to an uninterested audience! How often a writer rushes into print without this thorough study, and the result is, the public is treated gratuitously to an exhibition of ignorance that is ignorant of its own existence!

In regard to thorough preparation, as between the preacher and the writer, the latter has the advantage of the former. The much-abused editor, in the kindness of his heart, often saves the writer from public exposure of his ignorance by withholding his contribution. The preacher, alas! has nobody to step in between his shallowness and his hearers, and is impaled upon the points of his own temerity. One such exhibition will work disaster that may require years to remedy. For pulpit work, for literary work of every kind, thorough study is a necessity. Successful preachers study their subjects over and over and over, and successful writers write and rewrite and rewrite again before coming before the public. In each department there is nothing more important than thoroughness.

Important Information.

Some people do not know what others are doing. If they did, the same people would do more than they do. A number of years ago a few brethren, I believe chiefly ministers, in the Mississippi Conference formed a Ministerial Educational Aid Association. Their object was and is to aid young men who need aid in preparing for the ministry. This work they have been doing systematically. Last year they sustained five preachers in Centenary College, paying their board. This year, up to date, they have sent us three. Last year we enrolled twenty-two preachers and fifteen others who were sons of preachers. To all of these we are enabled to afford free tuition by the general collection for education. The educational collection from the two Conferences has never yet equalled the amount of the tuition of these students. It came nearer doing so last year than ever before. Meantime our faculty has been enlarged annually and other expenses have increased.

The young men who have been helped by the Aid Association of the Mississippi Conference have been, without exception, worthy and faithful students. Several other young preachers have been helped by churches and by friends in Louisiana and in Mississippi, and have done well. Some who were here last year are not with us this year, I fear for lack of means. I would say to those who have contributed to the support of these young preachers: Your money has been well expended. It might be proper for the association to require quarterly reports from those they aid. In addition to their regular studies, I conduct on Saturdays a preachers' meeting, at which the young preachers are specially instructed in various things which pertain to the work of the ministry, as well as cultivated in spirituality and personal piety. I take a deep and joyous interest in this part of my work.

It seems that not many of the wealthy are called to the work of preaching the gospel. Here the church may help to answer her own prayers for a faithful and efficient ministry by providing for the education and training of those who are to fill her pulpits.

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.

North Mississippi Conference.

Delegates and visitors to the Conference, to be held at Macon, Dec. 2, will pay full fare over the various railroads, obtaining a certificate to this effect from the agent when purchasing ticket. This certificate, when signed by the secretary of the Conference, will entitle the holder to return at one-third of the usual rate. Brethren will please secure a certificate for each ticket purchased.

J. S. OAKLEY, Sec'y.

Columbus, Miss.

Grenada, Miss.

The tabernacle meeting held by Revs. Sam P. Jones and G. B. Stuart closed this evening with great results. The whisky traffic in Grenada is doomed. At an early day it will be a thing of the past. Rev. J. T. Moody, pastor in charge of Kosciusko and Durant, is very sick. Fears are entertained as to the result. But we are praying for his recovery. The Grenada Collegiate Institute is in a prosperous condition.

Nov. 1. G. W. BACHMAN.

Notes.

The echoes of the Ecumenical still flying around. After all, it "a pretty big denominational affa

The Ram's Horn has this bit of dom: "The man who needs a ne paper the most is generally the to stop it."

"When a man is angry, he, at le thinks he is standing on his digni but when he is a sycophant, he standing on himself."

"Religious loafers" about a chu somehow make things look as if th was something the matter with running gear of the establishment.

Charles Kingsley has said, "T Bible is the rich man's warning a the poor man's comfort." But ma rich men do not take the "warnin and many poor men do not receive "comfort."

"A man's Christianity is shown much by his attitude toward man as his attitude toward God. And atheis shows itself in contempt of man truly as in denial of God. Christiani is divine because it is so human."

"The religion of some people terribly lop-sided; they think so mu of God that they have no time to thi of man. They are so absorbed in t contemplation of heaven's ecstatic jo that they have no place in the thoughts for earth's heart-breaki miseries."

As between God and man "religio is evenly balanced. One side of th equation reads: 'Thou shalt love th God.' On the other side it is written 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor.' Th one is as imperative as the other. Th love of God and man are one."

We hear much these days of th optimist and the pessimist. One o our exchanges gives this definition o a pessimist—"a man whose breakfa has disagreed with him." If that correct, then everybody can give th definition of an optimist. He is th opposite of pessimist.

In my preaching I propose to pre sent the common sense of Christianit to the common sense of those wh listen to me, and I will not be afraid o the results. The gospel is sense, an is just as much needed now as it eve was.

So said a preacher the other day and we think he struck the key-not for successful preaching.

Is it a good thing to keep our cit churches closed six days in the week Many a passer-by, weary with heart ache, would go in and spend a few minutes in communion with God, if he only could! Are we doing the right thing by hindering him in that holy exercise by keeping closed doors? Nay, verily. Nay, verily.

It is not hasty reading, but seriously meditating upon holy and heavenly truths, that makes them prove sweet and profitable to the soul. It is not the bee's touching on the flowers that gathers honey, but her abiding for a time upon them and drawing out the sweet. It is not he that reads most, but he that meditates most on divine truth, that will prove the choicest, wisest, strongest Christian.—Hall.

We think it would be well for our Boards of Stewards to make some arrangement by which a preacher's "moving expenses" may be supplied. This is often a serious embarrassment to a preacher with a move ahead of him. The church ought to bear this expense, and not the preacher. Let the stewards of all our circuits and stations attend to this matter, and thus free the preacher from this expense.

We have received from the author, Rev. John T. Browning, of the Texas Conference, a little pamphlet, entitled "Patriotism; or, the Essential Elements of National Prosperity." The pamphlet is the outgrowth of a sermon preached by the author, and is a fine discussion of the subject from the standpoint of the Sacred Scriptures. We heartily commend its perusal, and sincerely wish that more of our preachers would discuss such an important theme in their pulpits. The patriotism of this country seems to us to be degenerating, and our pulpits everywhere should ring out the great Scripture truth that Christian patriotism is the only safeguard for the welfare of the State.

Zion's Herald:

Nothing is so characteristic of the true disciple of Christ as a deep and permanent sense of humility. Paul everywhere manifests this feeling. He is "the least of all saints." Though the most remarkable of all the helpers of the Master in the work which he is called to do, yet he ever gives the credit of what he achieves to Jesus. "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me," is his happiest word of obligation. John Wesley, while placing the standard of Christian attainment very high, was strikingly modest in his own assumptions of personal achievement. Luther said that because "it was in the nature of God to make something out of nothing, he might make something out of him." This is the relation of the Christian to his Savior—"all of Christ and none of self." Spiritual egotism has no place in the true disciple.

Personal and Otherwise.

Rev. H. R. Singleton, at the late session of the Pacific Conference, was appointed to Sacramento.

The American International Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations has appointed Nov. 8-14 as a week of prayer.

Bro. Frank Parker, assisted by Bro. Wimberly, has had a very successful meeting during the past week, and the good work is still going forward.

All the Publishing Committee were present at the annual meeting, last week, except Rev. R. J. Jones, of Yazoo City. Bro. Jones' absence was regretted by all.

A private note from Prof. Sullivan says: "We are moving along well at Centenary. The students are well-behaved and doing good work. Ninety-two have been enrolled."

Bro. Deminick, the Mississippi Conference colporteur, gave us a pleasant call last week. He represents colportage as succeeding beyond his expectations. We rejoice to know that.

Dr. Morris, the Assistant Secretary of Church Extension, will attend the North Mississippi and Mississippi Conferences. Dr. Morton, the Secretary, will attend the Louisiana Conference.

Dr. George G. Smith has been holding very successful meetings principally with the children of Jackson, Miss., during the week past. This Georgian seems to know how to work with the little people.

Rev. R. M. Blocker, Plaquemine Brulee, La., Oct. 23: "After a malarial attack of about six weeks, I am again able to go out on my circuit and look after the Lord's cause. In the meantime Bro. Kent, my helper, did nearly two men's work."

Dr. John Hannon having finished a four years' term at Centenary Church, San Francisco, the brethren presented him with a gold watch, the sisters presented him with a dressing gown, and Bishop Haygood sent him to oversee the flock at San Jose for the next year.

Too late for insertion in last week's issue came a note from Bro. M. T. Boswell, of Kosciusko, Miss., that Rev. J. T. Moody had been ill for ten days with typhoid fever and was very much prostrated. No immediate danger was apprehended by his physicians. We trust our brother is by this time improved.

Speaking of his late revival (the account of which was lost in the editor's absence), Rev. T. Cameron writes:

Well, Wyatt, of Como, helped me, as did the zealous Cumberland Presbyterian pastor, and there were twenty-five or thirty conversions. Fifteen joined the Methodist Church, nine the Cumberland Presbyterian, and the others will join elsewhere. If there are any "more to follow," I don't know it.

Notices.

Applicants for admission on trial into the North Mississippi Conference will please meet the Examining Committee at three o'clock P. M. of Monday, Nov. 30, in the basement of the Methodist Church in Macon.

"Ordinary branches of an English education" will embrace English grammar, composition, arithmetic and geography.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, for Com.

Those preachers who expect to bring their wives to the Louisiana Conference will please inform me at once. This information is imperative for two reasons: First, that homes may be provided for the ladies, and, second, that in the stationing of the preachers there may be no confusion nor any mistakes. I hope the brethren will see the cogency of this request and comply without unnecessary delay.

T. K. FAUNT LEROY,
Conference Host.

Alexandria, La., Oct 29, 1891.

As the name indicates, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is a renewer of the hair, including its growth, health, youthful color, and beauty. It will please you.

A Correction.

MR. EDITOR: Thanks for your prompt publication of my last appeal to the Mississippi women. There is one typographical error which distorts my meaning, and which I would be glad to see corrected, if you can find space. "Our ministers are, almost to a man, thoroughly in sympathy with us," etc. "They are ever ready with heart, voice and (to our shame be it spoken!) presence to help us." It should read, "purse to help us." Their presence is always appreciated. Their purse has so many demands that the women's offerings should not include ministerial gifts.

MRS. THOS. P. FULLILOVE.

Shreveport, La., Oct. 29, 1891.

The World's Fair.

The South may claim, without prejudice, to have more than its share of the world's fair. The acknowledged beauty of the ladies of the South is due in a great degree to the use of Creole Female Tonic, the ladies' friend and favorite, and sure cure for all female ailments.

In Memoriam.

"I am saved; cut the cords and let me go."

Those were the last words of that grand minister of Jesus Christ, Rev. B. F. Alexander. The writer was called to preach his funeral sermon and put him away to await the resurrection morning. While others have eulogized our sainted brother, I esteem it not only a duty, but a high privilege, to offer a tribute to his memory. I knew him, with all that this statement implies; and as all earth's friends pass before me in retrospection, Bro. Alexander stands out more distinctly than any other and one is compelled to exclaim involuntarily, "This was a man!"

As a minister of Jesus Christ, he was faithful to the trust reposed in him, loyal to God and to the truth. More than one struggling young preacher has cause to bless his memory, for in him they found a friend in the best sense of that word. While severe with sin, he was sympathy and tenderness personified with the sinner. As I knew him, he was tender, patient, loving, forgiving, and in all things exhibited the spirit of his Master. The reverence I have for Bro. Alexander is that of a son for an indulgent father; and, as I write, I see reflected in memory's mirror the many favors I received at his hands.

He is not dead. He lives to-day in the hearts of those to whom he endeared himself by a thousand tender ties, and who will say in all sincerity that "he being dead, yet speaketh." His body sleeps, and may he rest in peace until that glorious morning, when, the night of earth forever past, he shall enter in through the gates into the city, to bask forever in the light of the sun that shall find no zenith, whose congregations ne'er break and Sabbaths have no end!

"I am saved; cut the cords and let me go," were among his last words. How indicative of the character of the man! Who shall say that in the moment the silver cords were being loosed, when the pitcher was about to be broken at the well, that he did not have a vision of heaven and a foretaste of the unspeakable glory that lies beyond the silent confines of the tomb! As we meditate upon this victorious stand of the dying soldier of Jesus Christ, as he is about to enter upon eternal life and immortal bliss, might we not well exclaim, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his"! Twine for him a wreath of immortelles if you will. Angel hands have wreathed his brow with the laurels of eternal victory.

This is but a faint tribute of affection to the memory of a true, pure, good man who fell asleep in Jesus.

Sleep on, beloved; sleep, and take thy rest;
Lay down thy head upon the Savior's breast.
We loved thee well, but Jesus loved thee best.
Good-night! good-night! good-night!

In the land of unclouded sky and never-setting sun we will, doubtless, meet him again. W. WIMBERLY.

King among Liniments is Johnson's Anodyne, because it can be taken internally by everyone.

W. C. T. U. Lunch House.

We are always glad to note the movements of practical Christianity, and, as such we regard the effort now being made by the temperance ladies of New Orleans to establish a lunch house where for fifteen cents a good lunch may be had by their husbands, brothers and sons and by other wage-earners of the city. In a late magazine we have read with interest of similar enterprises in operation in other large centers of population. Great coffee palaces, offsetting the liquor saloons, have been successfully carried on in London, England, and in Toronto, Canada, and also in some of our large Northern cities. The first company was formed in Liverpool in 1875, and had a share capital of $200,000. That company, it is said, has now 63 houses, and its declared dividends have never been less than 10 per cent. In 1877 there was formed in Birmingham, England, a coffee-house company with a capital of $100,000. It now runs some 23 houses, and pays a dividend of from 10 to 15 per cent. The celebrated Toynbee Hall, in the East End, London, and Oxford House are similar institutions and have wrought wonders in saving "hundreds of human beings from the grip of the jail, the brothel, the gallows, and the temptations that lead there." There is a congregation in New York City that pays an annual rental of $2,500 for a building for this work, and eight of whom pay $3,000 a year for its prosecution. In the account of this New York establishment we find the following suggestive item: "There is a regular coffee bar where a customer can call for his coffee, cocoa or chocolate, drink it at the bar, pay three cents and walk out; or, if he wants bread and butter with it, the charge is five cents; or, if he desire something still more substantial, he can have a square meal, consisting of beefsteak, pudding and vegetables, for twelve cents."

There is no telling how many thousands of men have been started along the road of the moderate drinker to the drunkard's grave and hell by daily indulgence in the "free lunch" of the liquor saloon, with its accompaniment of a drink at the bar. If our ladies can open an attractive lunch house, easy of access from the business centers, and serve a toothsome lunch to all who come, and do it for twelve or fifteen cents, we can not see why they should not meet with great success. All who can should help them to the accomplishment of their laudable purpose, and should help them at once. Where are the eight, or fifty, or hundred persons to put $3,000 into their hands for the sorely needed temperance lunch house?

JOHN T. SAWYER.

New Orleans, La.

Mississippi Items.

Prof. S. R. Young, near Summit, lost his residence by a recent fire. There was no insurance. A valuable library worth $500 and everything except the clothing of the family was lost.

Sam Jones is in a large measure responsible for the erection of two new churches in Jackson, the Baptist and Presbyterian. During his preaching here he ridiculed both congregations into a movement for the erection of new buildings, and promised material aid to one—and perhaps both.—Clarion-Ledger.

Rev. Sam Jones was greeted with a large and most appreciative audience at the Capitol on Saturday night. His subject was "Get There," and he got there after an hour and a half of such wit, humor and pathos as only the fertile brain and the warm heart of the inimitable Sam Jones can produce. Those who had heard him before were delighted to see and hear him again, and those who had heard him for the first time enjoyed a treat as rare as it was rich.—Clarion-Ledger.

The Clarion-Ledger is authorized by Miss Holmes to make the following statement:

At the October meeting just held, in Pittsburg, of the Board of Missions for Freedmen of the General Assembly (North) the recommendation by Rev. Mead Holmes and Miss Mary E. Holmes, of Rockford, Ill., that Jackson be the site for the Memorial Literary and Industrial School for Colored Girls of Mississippi—The Mary Holmes Seminary—was unanimously ratified. Work will be prosecuted as rapidly as possible, and the school will open in the Fall of 1892.

Miss Holmes, in communicating the foregoing to the Clarion-Ledger, says: "We have not told our own press reporters here yet, feeling that as the other halled from Jackson, this had better also, if so desired."

The reporter for the Clarion-Ledger has this about the work on Millsaps College:

Arriving at the college we found a force of thirty skilled workmen laying brick, mixing mortar, wheeling barrows and carrying hods on the foundation walls of the future great Methodist institution of learning. The outer walls are being made extra strong, the width of three bricks placed together endwise, whilst the inner foundations are two and a half. Since the work was begun the weather has been remarkably suitable and such rapid progress has been made that the ground story is almost complete and ready for the flooring supports. The foundation walls are eight or ten feet below the surface in some places, and rest on the firmest of hard soil, thus precluding the danger of cracks in the building for many years to come.

Col. Taylor, the contractor, is determined to make the Millsaps College building a lasting monument to his memory, and takes special pride in seeing that every brick is a good one, and properly cemented in the walls.

How is your cold? Use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment or it may last all winter; certain fact.

Louisiana Notes.

Arcadia has a new compress.

The farmers of DeSoto are experimenting in the line of wheat culture.

A recent decision of the Supreme Court settles the Bossier court-house muddle. Benton gets the court-house.

The sugar-house on the Garden City Plantation, St. Mary, was destroyed by fire on Oct. 25. Loss, $40,000.

The two artesian wells in Alexandria have been completed, and fall short of contract requirements. The Times says they will cost the city $2,594.22.

The capacity of the central refinery on the Fusilier Plantation in St. Mary, built and operated by Oxnard & Sprague, is 150,000 pounds of granulated sugar daily. It will be called the Adeline Central Refinery.

Tried in the Balance.

Marsden's Pectoral Balm is not an experiment. For twenty-five years it has been "tried in the balance" and not found wanting in its ability to speedily and permanently cure coughs and colds.

Shorter Time to New York.

The Queen and Crescent Limited, which leaves New Orleans at 5 P. M. with a Through Sleeping Car for New York, now arrives at the latter point at 5:50 P. M. second evening instead of 6:20 P. M., as heretofore.

Don't forget to buy your school books of all kinds and your stationery from Bro. Van Valkenburgh, 106 Camp St. (near Poydras). Preachers sending him orders for books could make it to their interest to include paper, pens and ink for their own use.

To Whom It May Concern.

This is to certify that Thos. M. Yates, of Nashville, Tenn., is not a married man, and that Thos. M. Yates, of Hillsboro, Tenn., is the man that married Miss Davis, of Americus, Miss. Said Mr. Yates, of Nashville, is now in or near Jackson, La., and will soon go to Reduey and Hermanville, Miss.

Yours,

THOS. M. YATES, of Hillsboro.

Leek, Miss., Oct. 21, 1891.

School Wanted.

A lady who is a graduate and an experienced teacher, competent to teach all branches of a thorough English education, desires a situation as governess, private tutor, teacher, or any employment suitable for an educated lady. Testimonials and best of reference furnished. Address "Teacher," care of this office.

Business Notices.

OFFICE OF
NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. J. E. Breland, H. J. Boltz, H. Bradford, J. L. Pierce, R. B. Bowner, H. D. Howell, F. P. Spencer, W. L. C. Hunnicutt, H. P. Lewis, S. S. Holliday, O. L. Savage, R. S. Woodward, B. F. Phillips, J. T. Cunningham, E. F. Mullins, Geo. H. Lipscomb, W. A. Dollar, Fitzgerald Sale Parker (2), O. Switzer (2), W. S. Rye, W. J. Hurt, G. E. Greene, Wilson Moore, H. O. White, D. G. W. Ellis, H. B. Trevillon, C. W. Perkins, R. S. Collier, W. M. Young, S. D. Long, E. H. Moon, M. H. Moore, W. B. Lewis.

Messrs. John Carlowitz, J. W. Treadwell, Chas. Ehlers, D. H. Rundle, Thos. B. Clifford, R. O. Brown, Willie Browning, T. M. Yates, F. M. Bennett, G. H. Haynes, J. S. Strickland, E. H. Thompson, J. A. Williams, C. W. Rich, J. P. Unger, G. J. Bahin, S. M. Watts, A. Riser, A. J. Knighton, A. A. Moore, John B. Harlow, Geo. W. Vorhis, J. A. McDaniel, S. F. Granberry.

Mesdames Alice D. North, G. O. McNeil, S. A. Harrison, S. F. Talliaferro, D. Coon, E. B. Wansley, Abby E. Peuce, A. M. Griswold.

Miss Josie Pope.

Nov. 3.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

AGENTS WANTED

For PANSY'S Latest and Greatest Work,

"The Prince of Peace;"

OR,

"The Beautiful Life of Jesus."

See what a few of our own preachers say about it:

Rev. W. H. LaPrade, Pastor Carondelet Street Church, says: "I have been waiting for it. Put me down for two copies."

Rev. Chas. F. Evans, D. D., Presiding Elder of New Orleans District: "One of the most excellent of modern books. The wood cuts are magnificent."

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, Pastor Dryades M. E. Church, South, says: "Almost excellent book for the young."

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, says: "I have read the book with pleasure and satisfaction."

Rev. Jno. T. Sawyer, Pastor Felicity Street M. E. Church, South, says: "This is a most excellent book to put in the hands of the young; and older persons will be benefited by it as well."

Hundreds of testimonials can be furnished. Agents are doing splendidly with it. Send $1 for outfit, and secure territory at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans, La.

DEATH TO THE DANCE

Such is the charming little book,

"Mary Singleton."

Scatter it far and near. One copy, 20c; per dozen, $2.

L. L. PICKETT,
Columbia, S. C.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash, mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1300½ Tchoupitoulas street.

Episcopal Visitation for 1891 and 1892.

Conference.	Date.	Place.	Bishop.
West North Carolina	Nov. 5	Asheville, North Carolina	Galloway
German Mission	Nov. 5	New Fountain, Texas	Fitzgerald
Virginia	Nov. 11	Petersburg, Virginia	Keener
North Texas	Nov. 11	Terrell, Texas	Hendrix
Central Mexico	Nov. 11	City of Mexico, Mexico	Haygood
Texas	Nov. 18	Austin, Texas	Fitzgerald
North Carolina	Nov. 19	Greenville, North Carolina	Galloway
Arkansas	Nov. 25	Russellville, Arkansas	Duncan
Memphis	Nov. 25	Mayfield, Kentucky	Key
Northwest Mexican	Nov. 25	El Paso, Texas	Haygood
Northwest Texas	Nov. 25	Cardonna, Texas	Fitzgerald
South Georgia	Dec. 2	Carlisle, Georgia	Keener
South Carolina	Dec. 2	Darlington, South Carolina	Granberry
Little Rock	Dec. 2	Arkadelphia, Arkansas	Duncan
North Mississippi	Dec. 2	Macon, Mississippi	Hendrix
North Alabama	Dec. 2	Decatur, Alabama	Galloway
Mississippi	Dec. 9	Brookhaven, Mississippi	Hendrix
North Georgia	Dec. 9	Cartersville, Georgia	Key
East Texas	Dec. 9	Henderson, Texas	Fitzgerald
Louisiana	Dec. 16	Alexandria, Louisiana	Keener
White River	Dec. 16	New Port, Arkansas	Duncan
Alabama	Dec. 16	Selma, Alabama	Hendrix
Florida	Jan. 8	Tampa, Florida	Granberry
Baltimore	Mar. 24	Harrisonburg, Virginia	Keener

Special Offer

FOR

New Subscribers

AND

Renewals.

All new subscribers paying $2 in advance will receive this paper until January 1, 1893.

PRIZE OFFERS.

Anyone sending in $2 for a new subscriber will be paid a commission of fifty cents, and, in addition, those sending in ten new subscribers between now and the meeting of their Annual Conference will be given a beautifully printed, bound and illustrated copy of "Farrar's Life of Christ," worth $3.

Those sending in five new subscribers during the above period will be given a silvered-bound copy of Prof. Henry Drummond's five great addresses, entitled, "The Greatest Thing in the World," "Pax Vobiscum," "The Changed Life," "A Talk with Boys," and "How to Learn How." This book is sold at $1.25.

All payments must be in either cash to the preacher in charge or sent to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

N. B.—In addition to the above, the person sending the largest number of cash new subscribers by the time their Annual Conference meets, will be presented with five pounds of Stuart's celebrated pecan nuts for planting and ten choice Stuart pecan trees.

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.

SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel, Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices! | Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

PIANOS! PIANOS! PIANOS!

Organs! Organs! Organs!

All of the Leading Makes To Be Had Here.

Lowest Prices. | Easiest Terms.

Liberal Discounts to Teachers and Schools.

GOOD NEWS
FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF
Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a
TINY LIVER PILL
which is of exceedingly small size, yet containing all the virtues of the larger ones. They are gum-coated purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of
TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS
is shown in the border of this "ad."

CHRISTMAS
CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS Containing new Carols and a Responsive Service that may be used with or without the Carols if desired. Price, 5 cents a single copy.
The CHRIST of BETHLEHEM. A beautiful New Christmas Service by J. E. Hall.
OTHER SERVICES of the same character and of the same price are "The Message and Mizpah," "Bells," "Good Will to Men," "Noel," and "Peace on Earth."
A CHRISTMAS VISION By C. H. Burnham & G. F. Root. NEW CANTATA by these two well-known writers is sure to be popular with Choirs and Singing Classes. Price, 40 cents each; $4.00 per dozen.
OTHER CANTATAS by Dr. Robert Lowry, "Santa Claus and His Friends," "Santa Claus' Mistake," and "The Haunted Mill." Price of each, 40 cents per single copy.
THE WONDERFUL STORY Relates in verse, with appropriate readings and music, the principal events of Christ's life on earth. Beautiful and instructive. Price, 30 cents a single copy.
BETHLEHEM. A Cantata for Adults only (no children's parts) that cannot fail to please wherever rendered. Price, 50 cts. A single copy. Send 10 cents for sample copy of "Musical Visitor" for Choirs.
PUBLISHED BY
The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 156 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 13 E. 16th St., New York.

Each Man Speaks.

Gentlemen:—The inclosed $12 is for another box of Dr. H. James' remedies. I think your Cannabis Indica saved my life five years ago, when I lived at Hickory Prairie, Ark. I still use a bottle occasionally, and recommend it to others.
Gratehill, Rev. B. H. MALONE, A.M.
Decatur Circle, Decatur, Tenn.

"Mother has been suffering with Bronchitis nearly twenty years, and tried most all kinds of medicine, and says the Cannabis Indica is the only thing that gives her relief." JANE A. ASHBROOK, Lockwood's, Ballard Co., Ky.

$2.50 per bottle, or three bottles for $6.50. Pills and Ointment $1.25 each.
CRADDOCK & Co., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia, Sole Proprietors.
Ask your druggist for Dr. H. James' Imported Remedies, or send to us direct, naming this paper.

GOLDEN MEMORIES
BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.
8 Col'd Plates, 50 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations
A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ART!
A Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown, sold at a price within the reach of all.
AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP.
HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

BAILEY'S
For Electric Light or Gas
Compound light-spreading Silver-plated Corrugated Glass REFLECTORS
A wonderful invention for lighting Halls, Churches etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Catalogue and price list free.
Handsome designs.
BAILEY REFLECTOR CO.
706 Penn Ave. Pittsburgh, Pa.
No Oil.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE
Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

How To Cure Piles.
We will send our new, highly endorsed scientific booklet, "How to Cure Piles," free to any one troubled with Piles or Constipation, if they mention this paper and enclose a 2c. stamp for postage. Send quickly, the number of free books is limited.
THE GLOBE MEDICINE CO. Cincinnati, O.

AGENTS send for How I Made a House and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a home, or business change. $75 to $200 Monthly. Teachers and ladies find big pay for spare hours. TREASURY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

"THE NEW METHOD" for good health cures all chronic diseases. Rev. A. Albro, D.D., Utica, N.Y., writes: "One of the greatest boons to mankind in modern days." Infinitely better than the Hall System. Half the price. Send for testimonials.
HEALTH SUPPLIES CO., 110 BROADWAY, N. Y.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS IN THE MEYER BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS. CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Best quality Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, &c. BELLS
Also CHIMES AND PEALS.
Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

CANCER and Tumors CURED; no knife! Book free. Drs. GRATIGNY & NORMAN No. 163 E. 9th street, Cincinnati, O.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 66½ Whitehall St.

ASTHMA DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE CURES never fails; send us your address, we will mail trial BOTTLE FREE. TAFT BROS. M. CO. ROCHESTER, N.Y.

HOME LIFE.

IF WE KNEW.

If we knew, when walking thoughtless
Through the crowded, noisy way,
That some pearl of woudrous whiteness
Those beside our pathway lay,
We would pause where now we hasten,
We would often look around,
Lest our careless feet should trample
Some rare jewel in the ground.

If we knew, when friends around us
Closely press to say, "Good-bye,"
Which, among the lips that press us,
First should 'neath the daisies lie,
We would clasp their arms around us,
Looking on them through our tears,
Tender words of love eternal
We would whisper in their ears.

Hereditary Traits.

It is a serious matter to be under the despotism of one's ancestry—the worst of all forms of tyranny, surely, mankind has to suffer. To be under the mastery of inherited dispositions which are regarded as unhappy, and be unable to throw off the ever-galling yoke, however sorely we strive to do so, is indeed an affliction! The progress of scientific discovery may, perhaps, give us fresh light and hope on this subject, which concerns every human being, and demonstrates to us, after the "germ plasm" has been thoroughly explored, that we come into this world untrammelled and uncontaminated by any malevolent tie or taint that may have blemished the lives of our ancestors. But till the revelation has been announced and accepted, it is perhaps safer to admit that there may be some truth in what, up till now, at all events, has been regarded as a fundamental factor in heredity, viz., that we are under the dominion of our ancestry in respect to the transmission in us of their characteristics. Is it possible, however, to live down or even to throw off those transmitted traits to any extent, or entirely? Generally speaking, it is not possible. But a person with very remarkable will power may determine to checkmate his ancestry by thwarting his inherited dispositions, especially if these are unfortunate. This has repeatedly been accomplished. A case in point may be quoted. A lady, known to the writer, came of a line of dipsomaniacs; in fact, dipsomania was the family curse, and had been so for several generations. Wisely apprehending the evil inheritance, she bravely confronted it, and, by the exercise of will, in time overcame its power. After a long and useful life, though with its struggles, she died the victor over an inherited vice, and her children bid fair to emulate her heroic example!

In another case where insanity was "the shadow of the line," and had exhibited itself in at least three successive branches of the family, the constant exercise of the will power to thwart the evil resulted in so far taming the madness as to enable the person trained to live a useful life, and die a peaceful and even noble death. In insanity will power is ordinarily a minus quantity, and, therefore, it might be said to have had little or nothing to do, in this instance, with the cure effected. But, as a matter of fact, it had much to do with it. The person referred to—a man of excellent education and social position—determined when but a youth to throw off the galling yoke, and by so shaping his life, and trusting in a higher Power, to shape his life wisely and well—excepting a few trifling eccentricities observable when health was below par, he lived and died a sane, a successful man. And, speaking generally, we are all more or less in a state or condition of domination, in all hereditary respects, by our ancestry; we are, as Shakespeare's fine line renders it,

"Subdued to what we work in, like the dyer's hand."

Physically, the fact is unassailable. For, have we not all been familiar with the common family likeness that has been transmitted, more true to nature than even the camera could copy it, to representative members; even of the third and fourth generations?—Cassell's Family Magazine.

THE REMEDY FOR WORRYING.—A correspondent in the Advance relates the following incident, which teaches us a most useful lesson. Worry wears more than work, and the temptation to it in this busy age is very great:

"Last night I had a long talk with a lawyer, distinguished and able. He is now fifty years old. I remarked as to his apparently vigorous health. 'Yes,' he said, 'I am perfectly well. Two years ago I turned over a new leaf. I have broken down two or three times in my life, and I knew that unless I did something, I should break down again.' 'And what did you do?' I asked. 'I made up my mind that I would not worry about my business.' 'And were you able, by this act of your will, to stop all worrying?' 'Yes,' he replied, 'I was. No matter how hard a case I have, or how discouraging the outlook is in any line of the business, I never let it trouble me out of the office. Why, the other night I slept twelve hours.' I stood in astonishment before this wise jurist and strong man, in admiration for such determination. Not every man, possibly, has this power of will. Not every man at the age of fifty can give up worrying. But I believe that most men by the supreme power of will could cause themselves to worry much less than they do."

THE BOYS.—Try to interest your boys in plants. It may save them from unworthy pursuits, and encourage a love for the beautiful. If you want soil for your plants, get up an earth party and go to the woods. Be sure to take a big basket of provisions, a light spade, and a small express wagon if you have it. Encourage the boys to find the rich leaf mould in old stumps and fence corners.

A good bulb to give a boy is a Chinese Sacred Lily. Sacrifice your best glass preserve dish, if necessary, to get him interested, and encourage him to get pretty pebbles to prop up the bulb with. It will grow in the window and send out roots right in plain site from day to day. A good present for a boy is a microscope. One mother can keep her restless boy busy and interested for hours picking bugs off her plants and examining them with his magnifier.

THE IDEAL FAMILY.—The first great essentials of the ideal home and the ideal family are constant love, confidence, devotion, unselfishness, willingness to spend and be spent in the services of one another. The ideal home is one where the children shall say: "When we marry and have homes of our own, we wish to love and be loved as our father and mother love each other." It is where the sons are taught respect for all women, by the deference and kindness of their father to their mother; it is where daughters learn from their mother's patient example how beautiful a thing wifely and motherly affection is, learn the beauty of daily, unselfish devotion to the good of all. It is one where the atmosphere of love and kindness is so all-pervading, that it softens every privation, ennobles every humble duty, stimulates constantly all noble and unselfish aims.—Exchange.

Courtesy at Home.

Says a writer in Good Housekeeping: "Why is it so many people keep all their fine manners for the outer world and have none left for home? Why do mothers train their little ones, in every way but by example, to be always courteous, and then wonder that they are sometimes rude? If you fail to say as surely as to their elders 'Thank you,' 'I beg your pardon,' or 'If you please,' to a child, so certain will that ready little wit take on the conviction that politeness is not for every-day use nor for home consumption. No husband has a right to read his wife's letters in justice to the friends who wrote them and the woman who reads. No wife has a right to pour her husband's coffee with her hang entwisted in last night's curl-papers. No parent has a right to give away a child's plaything without that child's consent.

"Why should we show our love by our impoliteness? I remember once, when my sister and I were taking our departure, after a call upon two other sisters, we jostled one another at the door. Upon our mingled apologies one of the girls broke in with a laugh, 'Do you do that to each other?' she cried, 'I should never think of begging Lily's pardon!' Yet they were well-mannered young persons, too—truly gentlewomen in their relations to the world.

"I have never forgotten an incident of my childhood. I was away from home for a few days, and on my return the younger ones fell on me at once. Letters had come from two absent brothers, they said, and addressed to me; so to all their entreaties to open them our mother had said no one could do that but myself, and they thrust the envelopes in my hand. Could a daily lecture have taught the precept in so sure a manner as that practice?"

Receipts for Sunshine in the Soul.

1. Look at your mercies with both eyes and at your troubles and trials with only half an eye.
2. Study contentment. Keep down the accursed spirit of grasping. "What they don't have" makes thousands wretched.
3. Keep at some work of usefulness. Work for Christ brings forth health.
4. Keep your heart's windows always open toward heaven. Let the blessed light of Jesus' countenance shine in. It will turn tears to rainbows.

This last receipt is the best one. It is all very well to say, "Do right and you'll be happy;" but there is something more than that needed. We must let the spring of our lives be in Christ, letting his spirit guide us in all we do.—Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler.

FEED THEM BETTER.—The average salary of ministers in the United States is under four hundred dollars a year. The world wonders that, with such a rousing theme as the gospel, and with such a grand work as saving souls, the ministry should ever be nerveless. Some ascribe it to lack of piety, and some to timidity of temperament. We believe that in a great number of cases it is from the lack of nourishing food. Many of the clerical brotherhood are on low diet. After jackets and sacks have been provided for the eight or ten children of the parsonage, the father and mother must watch the table with severest economy. Coming in suddenly upon the dinner-hour of the country clergyman, the housewife apologizes for what she calls a "picked-up" dinner, when, alas! it is nearly always picked-up. Congregations sometimes mourn over dull preaching when themselves are to blame. Give your minister more food and he will have more fire. Next to the divine unction, the minister needs blood; and he can not make that out of tough leather. One reason why the apostles preached so powerfully was that they had healthy food. Fish was cheap along Galilee, and this, with unbolted bread, gave them plenty of phosphorus for brain food.—Talmage.

MAKING A FUSS.—Many years ago a prominent clergyman was consulted by the ladies of his congregation about certain clerical work in which they were interested. Smiling at their earnestness, he said: "That's right, ladies; make a fuss—make a fuss! That's the only way to get work done in this world! Set about it yourself, and make a fuss while you do!" And so it is. Thinking about wrongs and sighing over them never mended one. But the people who exert themselves to right the wrong, making a good stir about it while they do, and worrying at other people to exert themselves too, will often force the other people into activity in sheer self-defense. The other people would like to sit quiet and take it out in sighing, but these energetic fussers will not let them. At last to get rid of the agitators, they rouse up, go to work with a will, and accomplish what is asked of them for the sake of the peace they obtain thereby. But whatever their motive, all mankind has the benefit. It is not only well to get wrongs righted; it is also well to get sluggish people stirred up occasionally.—Harper's Bazar.

LET CHILDREN SLEEP.—A plea in behalf of giving more sleep than is customarily allowed to the young has been set in circulation through the newspapers of Germany by a physician who erroneously enough is named Dr. Cold, despite the evidence he gives of being warm-hearted. A healthy infant, he says, sleeps most of the time during the first weeks, and in the early years people are disposed to let children sleep as much as they will. But from six or seven, when school begins, there is a complete change. At the age of ten or eleven the child sleeps only eight or nine hours, when he needs at least ten or eleven, and as he grows older the time of rest is shortened. Dr. Cold believes that, up to twenty, a youth needs nine hours' sleep and an adult should have eight or nine. With insufficient sleep, the nervous system, and brain especially, not resting enough and ceasing to work normally, we find exhaustion, excitability, and intellectual disorders gradually taking the place of love of work, general well-being and spirit of initiative.—American Analyst.

WHITEFIELD'S POWER.—Archdeacon Farrar writes of Whitefield in the Sunday Magazine. He says of him that "he came as a heaven-born orator, intensely in earnest, confining himself to a few great truths of tremendous import, and rediscovering the commonest truths of vital Christianity, which had been practically forgotten. He was often bathed in tears as he preached and his hearers wept with him. He would extemporize some quaint saying with great effect, as when he suddenly thundered out: 'Works! works! A man get to heaven by works! I would as soon think of climbing to the moon by a rope of sand!' When he compared the sinner without religion to a blind man whose dog has escaped him on the edge of a precipice, and whose staff slips out of his hand and goes skimming down the abyss as his foot is just on the sheer descent, and the cold-hearted Chesterfield started up from his seat with the cry, 'Good God, he's over!'"

The Best I Ever Used.

So says Dr. S. S. Herrick, former secretary of the Louisiana State Board of Health, speaking of Marsden's Pectoral Balm, which he recommends as the best remedy for coughs, croup, colds, bronchitis and sore throat.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

TELLING FORTUNES.

BY ALICE CARY.

I'll tell you two fortunes, my fine little lad,
For you to accept or refuse;
The one of them good, the other one bad;
Now hear them, and say which you choose.

I see by my gifts within reach of my hand,
A fortune right fair to behold;
A house and a hundred good acres of land,
With harvest fields yellow as gold.

I see a great orchard with boughs hanging down
With apples russet and red;
I see droves of cattle, some white and some brown,
But all of them sleek and well fed.

I see droves of swallows about the barn door,
See the fanning-mill whirling so fast,
I see them threshing wheat on the floor—
And now the bright picture has past.

And I see rising dismally up in the place
Of the beautiful house and the land,
A man with a fire-red nose on his face,
And a little brown jug in his hand.

O! if you beheld him, my lad, you would wish
That he were less wretched to see;
For his boot toes they gape like the mouth of a fish,
And his trousers are out at the knee.

In walking he staggered now this way, now that,
And his eyes they stand out like a bug's,
And he wears an old coat and a battered-in hat,
And I think that the fault is the jug's.

For the text says the drunkard shall come to be poor,
And that drowsiness clothes men with rags,
And he doesn't look much like a man, I am sure,
Who has honest hard cash in his bags.

Now which will you choose?—to be thrifty and smug,
And be right side up with your dish,
Or go with your eyes like the eyes of a bug,
And your shoes like the mouth of a fish?

MR. EDITOR: You were so kind to publish my little sister Emma's letter, that I thought I would write you one. I expect you will be bothered with her letters right often now, as our dear old great-aunt (living in Texas) saw her letter in the ADVOCATE, and sent her a gold pen just to write to the ADVOCATE with. So you may look out for a letter soon. I am eleven years old, and am a member of the Methodist Church. We have preaching only once a month by our pastor, B. S. Ruyner. He is a faithful worker, and he has done a great deal of good in the church this year. If he is not given to us again next year, we will dislike it very much. We have a good Sunday-school here, and have sixty members, and there are more children in town that do not go. I think it is so strange, because I dearly love to go. We have a missionary society of twenty members, and I am very sorry to say that the members take but little interest in it. I am making a quilt to sell, and am going to give the money I sell it for to the society. Our school will begin Monday, and I am dearly glad, for I love to go to school. But I am afraid I can not go long at a time on account of my eyes. I have to wear glasses, and the oculist says I will have to wear them all the time. I am taking music lessons. I love music very much. I sometimes play for the Sunday-school when the organist is not present. Well, I have written you a long letter; so I will close by asking the cousins some questions: How many letters are there in the Bible? How many times does the word "Lord" occur in the Bible? Your friend,
NELLIE BYRD HAMBLEN.
Vossburg, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: We are three little cousins that thought we would write a letter to the ADVOCATE. Our ages are thirteen, eleven and nine. We belong to the juvenile missionary society. The name of our society is Clara Chrisman Workers. We have been working very hard this year for our society. When the Woman's Missionary Society of the North Mississippi Conference met in Winona, June 27, our lady manager pledged five dollars for our society to get up for a training school, and she gave each member a nickel to start with. We have made from the three nickels $3.15. We have been working three months. We will tell some of the ways we made our money. It may help some of the little cousins in making their money. We first bought goods and made handkerchiefs to sell, and the money from them we used to buy Indian-head domestic and made a chair-tidy, washstand slasher, table scarf, napkins, dresser cover, and several other articles out of the same kind of goods. We would like for some of the cousins to tell how they make their missionary money. We live in the same house together, and we have a nice time. We will now ask a question: Where is the word "girl" found in the Bible? We will close, hoping to see this letter in print. We are
Your little friends,
THOY THIANLE,
JESSIE MORGAN,
EDNA MORGAN.
Coldwater, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: I think there were 301 nuts in the basket.
MAGGIE LEE MAULDIN.
Water Valley, Miss.

[The editor will say that all who have answered the question about the nuts by giving 301 as the answer have answered correctly.—EDITOR.]

Poor Memory.

There is a smart little boy of our acquaintance whose memory is a good deal like his trousers' pocket—a receptacle for all sorts of odds and ends, which are retained with no little pertinacity, but in more or less picturesque disorder. Things pop up now and then in an odd way. The other night this little boy undertook to say his prayers before going to bed. He began all right:

"Now I lay me down to sleep;
I pray the Lord my soul to keep;
If I should—"

Here he "got stuck" for a moment and seemed to be groping about for the remainder of the lines. And then, all at once, he stammered ahead:

"If I should chance to fall below
Demosthenes or Cicero,
I pray the Lord my soul to take."

Timothy Davis, postmaster at Pattersonville, La., says: "Some years ago, while living in Algiers, I contracted a cough that everyone thought would cause my death. I was unable to sleep—had night-sweats, and soon became too weak to work. I had several doctors and tried many remedies, but with no improvement. An old friend hearing of my condition recommended Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. It had cured him of a serious lung trouble, and he had great confidence in Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar. Before three bottles had been taken I was up and about, a well man. It saved my life. I always recommend it for consumption, asthma, bronchitis, any lung or throat trouble." One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

SCIENTIFIC.

Edison's Latest Marvels.

Thomas A. Edison, the electrical wizard, has just completed two inventions before the wonderful and far-reaching results of which all his other remarkable discoveries are comparatively insignificant.

One is the practical application of electricity to great railroad lines, by which speed far beyond anything achieved by steam may be attained, and the other the application of electricity to the propulsion of street cars without the use of the dangerous, unsightly and inconvenient overhead construction.

For two years Mr. Edison has been engaged on experiments in this direction. He has met with almost insuperable difficulties, but he has stuck to his work with that dogged pertinacity for which he is famous, and at last he has been successful.

The general principle of the street car invention is that the electric current passes down through one line of rails, is picked up by the car, passes through the motor beneath it, and goes out on the other side and returns through the other line of rails to the central power station.

At the first thought the bare idea of this is paradoxical. The question will naturally occur why the electric current does not dissipate itself in the ground. To this no positive reason can be assigned except the bare statement that it does not. In general terms the effect is accomplished by having the current one of low voltage or pressure. It is a well settled principle of electrical research that the higher the voltage the greater must be the insulation, and that the lower the voltage can be brought the less need of insulation. Mr. Edison's experiments have all been in this direction—that is to say, in the endeavor to construct a motor sufficiently powerful to do the work, in which the voltage was reduced to so low a point that the natural tendency of the electric current to fly off to the ground and be dissipated would be overcome, and the passage through the motor to the opposite rail would be easier for the current than to pass through the ground to the central station.

The plan of having a central rail for the return current was experimented on for a long time, but when the motor had been perfected so that it would work efficiently Mr. Edison found that he could dispense with the central rail and return the current directly to the station through the opposite rail.

ON THE EXPERIMENTAL TRACK.

The experiments were conducted at the great laboratory in West Orange. Here an experimental track, nearly a quarter of a mile long, was constructed through the laboratory yard down to the yard of the Edison Phonograph Works. In its length it presented all the various kinds of difficulties that actual use would encounter. A part of it was laid on a very heavy grade of nearly three hundred feet to the mile, there are several sharp curves in the road, and a portion of it runs through a sunken spot where the track could be flooded with water or covered with mud. In this way all the varying conditions of actual use were provided.

The experiments have now been fully completed and the invention passes out of the first experimental stage into the second stage, its adaptation to practical work. The experiments have been made by Mr. Edison for the Edison General Electric Company, and until Mr. Edison has turned the invention over to that company for actual work, the minute details of the invention are of necessity withheld from the public. Enough, however, has been said to show the character of the invention. The voltage of the current employed will be, as has been said, very low, less than 100, while the average voltage of the overhead trolly system is in excess of 500. From this it will be seen how great a revolution the new invention will effect in the whole matter of electric traction. Several prominent horse railroad systems have offered their lines to the Edison General Electric Company for the introduction of the invention, and it is probable that a selection will be made in the near future and arrangements made to put the first practical experimental line in operation.

The most remarkable feature of the invention is in the "pick ups," that take the current from one line of rails. A novel and ingenious mechanism has been so arranged that it will work with perfect certainty and effect through six inches of mud or slush or water.

NEW SPEED RECORDS PROMISED.

Mr. Edison's other great discovery is to obviate the difficulty met in the attainment of high speed on the ordinary steam railway, which is the interference of steam. The injection and exhaust of the steam into and from the cylinders is so rapid in its alternation that beyond a certain limit it is impossible to work, and this is an inherent defect in all steam propulsion because of the necessity of the conversion of reciprocating motion into rotary motion. In the new electric motor this difficulty vanishes, and the limit of speed is only that of the endurance of the machinery and the strength of the tracks.

With this invention of Mr. Edison a speed of 100 miles or more an hour will be more easily attainable than the ordinary speed of fifty to sixty miles an hour. This is also in the hands of the Edison General Electric Company, and negotiations are now in progress for the application of the system to one of the long lines of railway.—New York Herald.

MUMMIES OF DOGS.—As there were cemeteries for cats, there were also for dogs, where their mummies are to be found by the thousand. I am cognizant of them at Siout, Sheik Fadl, Feshn, Sakkarah, and even Thebes, and most of the Egyptian museums possess more or less well preserved specimens of them. One of these mummies was recently opened and drawn by Herr Beckmann, a German. It was a small barrier, about eighteen months old. There is hardly anything left of it but the bones and the skin, and a few bits of muscular tissue between the teeth, reduced to dust. It had been wrapped in a wide band of course cloth glued to the skin by a thick layer of bitumen. A net-work of fine cloth was thrown over the part which answered to the body, so arranged as to design parallel rows of superposed squares along its length; a kind of armament which is found on many mummies of small animals, as of the cat, ichneumon, the ibis and the hawk. According to usage, the head was covered with a pasteboard mask, in which the physiognomy of the animal was reproduced as far as possible. It was painted a dark brown, except around the eyes, the lips and the nostrils, which were white. The half-opened mouth showed the points of the teeth, and the ears rose above the head.—Popular Science Monthly.

As the fire-fly shines only when on the wing, so it is with the human mind—when at rest, it darkens.

Army Surgeons and Physicians

In charge of public hospitals find Maguire's Benna Plant their greatest aid in the treatment of Diarrhœa, Dysentery and kindred diseases. It never fails to cure. Price 75c. per bottle; sent free by express where three bottles are ordered. J. & C. MAGUIRE, St Louis, Mo.

Nothing On Earth Will MAKE HENS LAY LIKE Sheridan's Condition Powder!

It is absolutely pure. Highly concentrated. In quantity it costs less than a tenth of a cent a day. Strictly a medicine. Prevents and cures all diseases. Good for young chicks. Worth more than gold when hens moult. "One large can saved me $10, send six for $5 to prevent roup," says a customer. If you can't get it send us 50 cents for large packet five $1. A 2 1-4 pound can $1.20 post-paid. 6 cans $5 express paid. "THE BEST POULTRY PAPER" sample copy free. Poultry Raising Guide free with $1 orders or more. L. S. JOHNSON & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is an old-fashion notion that medicine has to taste bad to do any good.

Scott's Emulsion is cod-liver oil with its fish-fat taste lost—nothing is lost but the taste.

This is more than a matter of comfort. Agreeable taste is always a help to digestion. A sickening taste is always a hindrance. There is only harm in taking cod-liver oil unless you digest it. Avoid the taste.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

Heavy Crops!

The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Royal Germetuer

DONALD KENNEDY
Of Roxbury, Mass., says

Kennedy's Medical Discovery cures Horrid Old Sores, Deep Seated Ulcers of 40 years' standing, Inward Tumors, and every disease of the skin, except Thunder Humor, and Cancer that has taken root. Price $1.50. Sold by every Druggist in the U. S. and Canada.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post-Office. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

IF you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

MARRIAGES.

WOODWARD—BACOT.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Holmesville, Miss., Oct. 21, 1891, by Rev. R. S. Woodward, Rev. W. T. Woodward to Miss Rosa J. Bacot.

SWEET—HUGHES.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. D. W. Hughes, Laddonia, Mo., Oct. 20, 1891, by Rev. P. A. Johnston, Mr. John S. Sweet, of Hamilton, Ohio, to Miss Pearl B. Hughes, of Laddonia, Mo.

PEAVY—SARTOR.—At the residence of the bride, near Aberdeen, Miss., Oct. 18, 1891, by Rev. F. P. Spencer, Rev. J. W. Peavy, M. D., of Lowndes, and Mrs. Mary E. Sartor, of Monroe county.

LACKEY—BEALL.—At the residence of the bride, Crystal Springs, Miss., Oct. 21, 1891, at eleven A. M., by Rev. Wm. T. Beall, M. D., Mr. Geo. M. Lackey, of McComb City, to Miss Emma K. Beall.

TAYLOR—FLANAGAN.—In the Methodist Church, Morton, Miss., Oct. 15, 1891, by Rev. C. McDonald, Mr. C. W. Taylor, of Pelahatchie, to Miss Eula J. Flanagan, of Morton.

VOGLER—COOK.—At the residence of the bride's father, Col. E. G. Cook, Oct. 22, 1891, at ten A. M., by Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, Mr. Herman J. Vogler, of San Antonio, Texas, to Miss Olive M. Cook, of Hazlehurst, Miss.

THIEL—DAWSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Jackson, La., Oct. 8, 1891, by Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, D. D., Mr. Max Thiel and Miss Alice Dawson.

BRELAND—RUTHERFORD.—At the Methodist Church, Jackson, Miss., Oct. 22, 1891, by Rev. Dr. Black, Mr. R. L. Breland, of Louisville, Miss., to Miss Rena Rutherford, of Jackson, Miss.

LIPSCOMB—EDDARDS.—At Oak Grove Church, Oct. 25, 1891, by Rev. H. Bradford, Mr. Ed Lipscomb to Mrs. Siera Eddards, all of East Feliciana parish.

PENDICK—STREET.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Lake City, Miss., Oct. 21, 1891, by Rev. W. L. Linfield, Mr. John L. Pendick to Miss Bessie G. Street.

SMITH—HOLLINGSWORTH.—At the residence of the bride, Oct. 21, 1891, by Rev. T. S. Randle, Capt. Jones P. Smith to Miss Anna C. Hollingsworth, all of St. Landry parish, La.

PICKETT—MONTGOMERY.—At the residence of Mr. R. F. Hardesty, Washington, La., Oct. 22, 1891, by Rev. T. S. Randle, Mr. R. A. Pickett to Miss Emily Montgomery, all of St. Landry parish, La.

OBITUARIES.

GOBER—ELIZABETH GOBER was born in Franklin county, Ga., March 5, 1809, and died at her home in Attala county, Miss., May 1, 1891 at the ripe old age of eighty-six years one month and twenty-six days. She joined the Methodist Church at the age of ten years, and for seventy-six years lived to honor and bless our beloved Zion, as few can claim, never for one moment causing a word of reproach against her church. In 1824 she was married to H. W. Gober, with whom she lived a devoted wife and mother more than sixty years. She was the mother of eleven children—eight sons and three daughters—all of whom she dedicated to God in infancy. Some of these have long since crossed over the river; others still live to bless her memory and the church she so much loved. About forty-six years ago she moved to Mississippi and placed her membership with God's people at Bethel Church, in Attala County, from whose roll she was transferred to God's roll in heaven.

Sister Gober was a great sufferer for many years and for, at least, twenty years was blind, the most of the time not being able to see at all. No one ever possessed more fortitude. It was a benediction to any child of God to visit her at any time and listen to her sweet words of counsel and cheer.

With tears in his eyes, one of her stewards told the writer that it always strengthened him to call on old Mother Gober. Her quarterage was always ready, and even in her last illness she was not willing to be released from the stewards' roll. She selected her own Scriptures (II. Tim. iv, 6-9) and hymns also to be used at her funeral, which were rendered before a large and appreciative audience, Oct. 11, by the writer.

A very handsome volume might be written on the life of our sainted sister; but to the present we must desist. May the blessings of our Father in heaven rest upon the children and friends! R. M. EVANS, Pastor.

MAXWELL—LOUISIANA MAXWELL, only daughter of Dan Hamblen, was born April 6, 1871, and died in Camden, Miss., Sept. 19, 1891. She became the happy, devoted wife of W. A. Maxwell, a very worthy young merchant of Camden, Dec. 11, 1890. Never were two hearts and lives more perfectly blended; never was a sundering of earthly ties more deplorable.

Louie, as she was familiarly called, was universally beloved. She possessed the charms of beauty and grace which, combined with the endowments of heart and mind, rendered her notable indeed.

She was received into the M. E. Church, South, in Camden, Oct. 23, 1883, by Rev. John W. Chambers.

Her young life was a very checkered one. She lost her Christian mother when only a small child; consequently she was deprived of a mother's counsel, love and sympathy. Being the only daughter, she became the idol of a fond father and the pet of all who knew her. She loved her father with all the ardor of her warm heart, and loved him unto the end; and when asked what message she wished sent him, said, "Telegraph him my love, and that I am dead." And such a calm, peaceful, beautiful death (if death may be called beautiful) was never before witnessed by those who were present.

This writer was privileged to spend several hours with her, praying and talking of the soul and of Christ and heaven. Oh! what a beautiful example of Christian resignation! How solemn, and yet how inexpressibly touching, the scene as she bade the large assembly not to weep for her, and, clasping warmly the hand of all in turn, kissed them a final farewell. Thus dear Louie "fell on sleep."

She leaves a sweet little babe as a token of a wife's affection, a disconsolate young husband, a fond father and many relatives and friends to mourn their loss. May all meet again to part no more! E. F. EDGAR.

RICHARDSON—ENOCH PAYNE RICHARDSON, little son of Sylvester E. and Mamie L. Richardson, was born Feb. 18, 1888, and died Sept. 26, 1891, being only three years seven months and eight days old.

"Payne" was the first love of his young parents, a bright and interesting child. His suffering was intense for a little over two days and nights. He was buried at Mt. Zion Church, on the line between Grant and Winn parishes, La., six miles from the town of Montgomery, La., to await the resurrection morn. "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of heaven." May the Lord sustain the parents, and bring them to meet their loved boy in that bright land above! W. L. R.

HINTON—JAMES W. HINTON, son of Samuel and Alcey Hinton, was born in Abbeville district, South Carolina, on Jan. 13, 1819, and departed this life in Jasper county, Miss., Oct. 12, 1890, aged seventy-one years nine months and twenty-one days. His father emigrated to the State of Tennessee when he was about five years old, and lived there about thirteen years, and then moved to the State of Alabama, and remained there three years, and then to the State of Georgia. He was married in the State of Georgia to Miss M. A. Thompson in the year 1843. Then he moved to the State of Mississippi in the year 1844, and settled in Jasper county, where he lived until death.

He was converted in 1842, and joined the M. E. Church, South. He was a member of the church forty-eight years. He always had a bright evidence of his conversion, and was always an active worker in the church.

He was sick and confined to his bed nearly four months, and his sufferings were great at times, but he bore his afflictions with great patience and fortitude. He was sustained by the grace of God all through his sickness. He would say to his family that he was ready and willing to go whenever the good Lord saw fit to take him. He was shouting happy a great many times during his sickness. He had a wife and four children that preceded him to the glory-world. He was twice married. His second marriage was on Sept. 1, 1881, to Miss Abba Lewis. He left a wife and seven children to follow him. Wife, children, look up; he is at the beautiful gate waiting for you.

DAVIES—The following resolution was adopted, Oct. 15, 1891, by the Ladies' Aid Society of Parker's Chapel:

Whereas, Almighty God has laid his hand on and snatched from our little band one of our faithful members; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we bow in submission to the will of his divine power, knowing that he doeth all things well, and that she has gone to that friend, Jesus, to whom she looked as her guide and comforter.

She gave us every evidence that God sustains and strengthens, and even when the last enemy was around she conquered the very last attack of Satan, and as she said with her own lips, "safe in the arms of Jesus."

Our dear sister and member, GEORGIE DAVIES, passed away to her heavenly home, the seventh month, eighteenth day, and ninth hour. We all sadly miss her; but our loss is her gain. The chair once occupied by so faithful a Christian is vacant now. God took her away to show us who are left behind to watch and pray and die the Christian death she died. Her sickness and death-bed scene were beautiful, praising God through it all. "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord." (Job i. 2c.)

SHELTON—Mrs. SARAH V. SHELTON, daughter of O. C. Rives, and wife of the late Rev. J. H. Shelton, of the Mississippi Conference, was born near Lavrange, Tenn., 1820, and died at her daughter's (Mrs. J. R. Kirkland's, near Mayersville, Miss., Sept. 21, 1891. She was converted and joined the Methodist Church when quite a girl, and soon became a zealous, faithful worker in the church, and after her marriage to Bro. Shelton, in 1838, she was always ready to assist him or to make any sacrifice for his success and comfort in the ministry. She was a faithful wife, a devoted mother, a kind neighbor; gentle and pleasant and always cheerful. She loved God, and was always ready to speak a word for Jesus and to lend a helping hand to bind up the broken-hearted. She was the mother of five children. Three children, with her husband, preceded her to the glory-land, leaving two daughters behind to mourn their loss. Her last illness was brief—only five days from the time she was taken sick until the summons came; but she found her ready, waiting for the coming of the Master. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." W. W. SIMMONS.

JOHNSON—Sister MINNIE LEE JOHNSON nee Clower, wife of Byron B. Johnson, a member of Sweet Water Society, Black Hawk circuit, North Mississippi Conference, was born Dec. 19, 1867; joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1881; was married to Bro. Johnson in 1886, and fell on sleep in Jesus, July 14, 1891.

Sister Johnson was a great sufferer for a long time before God called her home; but, no doubt, her afflictions were sanctified to her eternal good, and that she went from the furnace to enter the rest "prepared for the people of God." It was my privilege to visit her often in her last illness and the last word she ever spoke to her pastor was such as to inspire a living faith that I shall meet her again "where the old is ever new."

Sister Johnson leaves to mourn her departure a devoted Christian husband, two sweet little children a loving mother, brother and sisters and a host of kindred and friends. May we all worship her God, live in his service, die triumphantly and meet her in heaven!

B. F. PHILLIPS.

DICKEY—FRANKLIN CLEVELAND, son of W. E. and H. E. Dickey, was born June 17, 1885, and died Oct. 16, 1891. His stay in the world was brief, yet not without its influence. Cleveland was a good boy, the idol of the family. His fond attachment for his father has scarcely been equalled; still it was the constant endeavor of the parents to teach him to do right. He was obedient, and always ready to do as told.

His sickness was of short duration—so short that when he was borne away to the silent grave it seemed untrue that he was dead. The tears of sorrow shed around his grave, the sobs, the bowed heads—all told us the little flower that had bloomed so sweetly had been plucked by death's cruel hand. A home has been saddened, a Sunday-school has lost a pupil. Our sorrow is not like the sorrow of those who are without hope; but the bereaved ones have the assurance that little Cleveland is safe with his Savior in the better land. E. S. LEWIS.

Wits are never tired of poking fun at the bald-headed man. Whether as the victim of flies in Summer-time, in the front row at the ballet, or the most respectable of deacons the shafts of humor are aimed constantly at his head.

The bald-headed woman is unknown in literature, for so important do Eve's daughters regard the loss of their fairest of ornaments that they seldom hesitate to hide the ravages of disease or the results of neglect by artificial means. But everyone who has given the matter any attention knows that the use of artificial hair, including wigs, while concealing, helps along the process of decay if any natural hair be left.

There are few scalps that will not respond to proper treatment and proper stimulants and restoratives. The good effects of the Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer have been proved in thousands of cases. It not only imparts the natural color when seemingly lost, but it gives just the proper degree of moisture and stimulants to the scalp that is requisite for a good growth of hair. No one whose hair shows signs of weakness or decay should be without this invaluable and widely known restorative and dressing. It is sold by druggists at one dollar per bottle. Mansfield Drug Company, Memphis, Tenn.

THE BEST COMPANY

Is the company which does the most good; and the company which does the most good is that which issues and maintains the largest amount of assurance.

	Am't of Assurance issued during 1890.	Assurance in force Dec. 31, 1890.
EQUITABLE -	$203,826,107	$720,662,473
MUTUAL - -	161,365,921	638,041,180
NEW YORK - -	159,576,065	569,338,726
PENN MUTUAL - -	20,663,272	90,278,701
MANHATTAN -	12,962,401	54,500,754

THE BEST COMPANY MUST ALSO BE THE SAFEST COMPANY.

	Surplus.	Ratio of Assets to Liabilities
EQUITABLE -	$23,740,447	125
MUTUAL - -	9,981,233	107
NEW YORK - -	14,898,451	114½
PENN MUTUAL - -	1,634,452	110
MANHATTAN -	1,036,632	109

The above companies are from nine to eighteen years older than the Equitable.

Write to the undersigned before insuring your life.

R. P. LAKE, General Agent, Jackson, Miss.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the Large and Spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All Its Branches, and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this Institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director,

169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

SHORTHAND Thorough, Practical Instruction. Graduates assisted to positions. Catalogue free. Write to BRYANT & STRATTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, LOUISVILLE, KY.

LOUISIANA

STEAM

SASH, BLIND AND DOOR

FACTORY,

199, 201, 203, 205, 207 Gravier Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

ROBERTS & CO., Proprietors.

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Flooring and Ceiling, Newels, Balusters, etc., always on hand. Orders to order.

Orders promptly attended to.

Plantation Cabins a Specialty.

BRANCH OFFICE: NO. 62 CARONDELET ST.

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and

Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tunnelers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware, Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cages, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS: E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, Jr., P. H. Mackie.

Watches, Diamonds,

FINE JEWELRY!

Silver and Silver-Plated Ware,

SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

(Established 1817)

119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

For Sale.

FARMER'S CANNING OUTFIT!

Will Pay for Itself in One Season.

Includes Syrup Evaporator—50 gallons per day. Two boilers with siphon connection, cranes for handling cans, fire pots, soldering coppers, etc., for 2,000 to 3,000 cans per day. One portable Iron Furnace for Canning, making Pickles, Jellies, etc. Evaporating Syrup. All latest improvements, with full directions.

Price, $150,000 to $200,000.

State and County Rights for Sale.

Address the Patentee and Manufacturer,

D. J. McMILLAN,
South Washington, N. C.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - - -	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - - -	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - - -	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - - -	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - - -	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JNO. J. BARR, J. B. LEVERT, W. B. BLOOMFIELD,
JOS. BAYLE, ANDREW STEWART, E. ROBLAND, W. T. HARDIE,
JNO. BARKLEY, CHAS. CHAFFE. P. R. RICE. THOS. SEFTON

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GAILY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge. Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1850.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

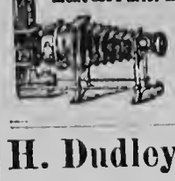
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES issued on Desirable Fire Business

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas

MAGIC LANTERNS AND STEREOPTICONS



afford the best and cheapest means of object teaching for Colleges, Schools and Sunday Schools. Our assortment of Views, illustrating art, science, history, religion, and travel, is immense. For Home Amusement and Parlor Entertainment, etc., nothing can be found as instructive or amusing, while Church Fairs, Public Entertainments, Public Exhibitions and Popular Illustrated Lectures—and Holiday present. We are the largest manufacturers and dealers and ship to all parts of the world. If you wish to know how to order, how to conduct Parlor Entertainments to please, sure, or Public Exhibitions, etc., for MAKING MONEY, send us your name and address on a postal card (naming this paper), and we will mail you our 208 PAGE BOOK FREE. An instrument with a choice selection of Views makes a pleasant present. McALLISTER, Manufact'g Optician, 49 Nassau St., N. Y. City

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,

Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,

Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,

Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low.

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

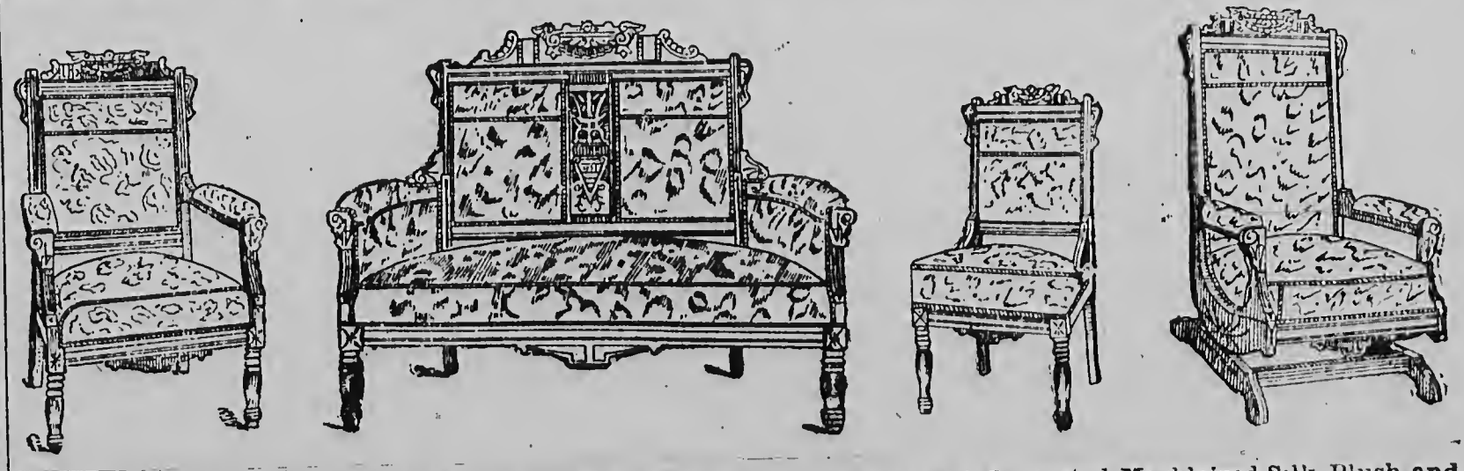
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED, New Orleans, La.

CATARRH CURE!

GIVEN AWAY.

Send name and get a FREE PACKAGE DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON, GA

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:—one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs. Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $40 up to $1000. Dining room suits, eight pieces, from $17 upwards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 upwards. Quality at top—prices at bottom. I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded.

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30 | J. G. GRANT, | CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Werlein's Piano and Organ Emporium.

We call special attention to the large advertisement of Mr. Phillip Werlein, which appears elsewhere in this paper. He is the well-known and reliable dealer in pianos, organs, musical instruments, as well as in book and sheet music.

He has been and continues to be one of the most enterprising and popular wholesale and retail merchants in his line in the South. His long experience in the music business and abundant capital give him a high position in this trade, and enable him to sell goods at favorable prices and on easy terms. Those desiring goods in his line should either visit his elegant establishment or write him. His address is Phillip Werlein, Esq., 135 Canal street, New Orleans, La.

Mr. Werlein is a prominent, zealous and liberal Methodist. He is also connected with several of the great reform movements of the day, such as the Young Men's Christian Association and Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Purchasing Bureau.

Special attention given to orders from country stores and for household and family supplies by D. L. Mitchel, business manager of this paper, who has had many years' experience as city and country merchant. Please address Purchasing Bureau, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

All orders must be accompanied with cash.

The pious man and the atheist always talk of religion: the one speaks of what he loves, and the other of what he fears.—Montesquieu.

EVERY SKIN AND SCALP DISEASE, whether torturing, disfiguring, humiliating, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, with loss of hair, from pimples to the most distressing eczemas, and every humor of the blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, is speedily, permanently, and economically cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Purifier and Beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. This is strong language, but true. Thousands of grateful testimonials from infancy to age attest their wonderful, unfailing and incomparable efficacy. Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin and Blood Diseases."

Pimples, blackheads, chapped and oily skin prevented by CUTICURA SOAP.

Rheumatism, Kidney Pains, and Muscular Weakness relieved in one minute by the CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

STATEMENT OF

Louisiana National Bank

At Close of Business, October 22, 1891.

RESOURCES.

Bills discounted		$1,813,489 21
Louisiana 4 per cent. consols, Elyton Land Co. Inv. Trust bonds, N. O. Gas Light Co. stock and other stocks and bonds—market value	$787,300 00
United States bonds at premium on same to secure circulation	58,500 00
		445,800 00
Redemption fund with United States Treasurer		2,250 00
Banking-house and other real estate		101,494 40
Demand loans	$157,715 50
New York exchange	28,381 86
Due from approved reserve agents	385,488 91
Due from banks and bankers	21,712 90
Checks on local banks	310,183 86
Cash in vault	748,745 48
		2,182,531 51
United States and other taxes paid not expense account		17,460 18
Collateral accounts		30,193 50
		$1,593,218 80

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$300,000 00
Surplus fund	150,000 00
		$ 450,000 00
Undivided profits		49,211 54
Circulation		15,000 00
Dividends unpaid		710 00
Reduction of capital stock		800 00
Deposits		3,347,467 26
Bills payable		500,000 00
Total		$4,593,218 80

The bank announces the defalcation of its Paying Teller, amounting to $150,000. The amount has been charged to profit and loss, reducing our ample surplus and undivided profits to that extent.

The above statement represents the actual condition of the bank to-day, after making entries as above stated.

The condition of the bank now is—

An unimpaired capital of	$300,000 00
Surplus	150,000 00
Undivided profits	49,211 54

E. M. WALMSLEY, President.
A. LURIA, Vice President.
LEON T. JANIN, Cashier.

KNABE PIANOS.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.

Do not forget that you can get all school books at Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh's, No. 106 Camp street, New Orleans.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.

Low ordinary	5¾	— —
Ordinary	8 8-18	— —
Good ordinary	6¾	— —
Low middling	7⅛	— —
Middling	7⅞	— —
Good middling	8⅛	— —
Middling fair	8⅝	— —
Fair	10	— —
Galveston middling	— —	— —
Mobile middling	— —	— —
Memphis middling	— —	— —

SUGAR.

OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fully fair	2 15-18	— —
Good fair	2¾	— —
Common	2	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	2	2⅞
Prime yellow	3 1-18	3⅛
Gray white	3⅛	3 5-18
Choice white	3 9-18	3⅝
Standard granulated	— —	— —

MOLASSES

OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	28	30
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	22	30

RICE.

No. 2	3 5-18	— —
Good	4¼	4⅜
Fair	4	4¼
Prime	4⅛	4¾
Rough, ₩ bbl	2 00	4 00
Molasses, ₩ bbl	22 00	24 00

FLOUR.

Extra Fancy	4 90	5 00
Fancy	4 45	4 70
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	5 00	5 50
Winter wheat patents	5 12½	5 20
Minnesota bakers	5 00	5 60

CORN PRODUCTS.

Corn meal	3 10	— —
Cream meal	3 65	3 75
Grits	3 80	3 85
Hominy	4 00	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	— —
Yellow	— —	— —
Mixed No. 2	— —	78
OATS:
Western	88	89
Texas rust-proof	— —	60
BRAN:
₩ ton	90	92½
HAY:
Prime	14 00	14 50
Choice	— —	15 50

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess (Standard)	18 75	11 00
Prime Mess	10 50	18 75
Rumps	— —	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	— —	11½
Shoulders	8½	8¾
Sides, short rib	8⅝	8½
Sides, long clear	8¾	8½
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10½	11½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	8½	8¾
Sides, short rib	7¾	7⅞
Sides, long clear	7⅝	7⅞

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	17¾	— —
Fair	17	— —
Common	14	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Ho-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	34	35
Western Dairy	28	25
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	5⅞	6
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7⅜	— —
Coal, cases	13½	14
Cotton seed, crude	25	26
Lard, Extra No. 1	50	— —

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ head	4	6
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 50	1 75
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 40	2 50

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb. ₩ yard	7	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb. ₩ yard	— —	6½
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	7½	12½
TIES:
₩ bundle	— —	1 35

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 50	5 00
Young Chickens	2 00	3 50
Chickens, Southern	3 00	4 00
Young	2 00	3 00
Turkeys, Southern	10 00	15 00
EGGS:
Western	21	22
Southern	22	23
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	21	21½
Louisiana	17	19
Burry	15	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	3½	— —
Dry salted	5	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	18 00	— —
Meal	23 50	— —
Pure ground bone	30 00	32 00
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	2¾
Sulphuric acid	— —	2½

—New Delta, Nov. 3.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75 cents.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

In the elections on Nov. 3 the Democrats elected governors in New York, Iowa, Massachusetts and Maryland, while the Republicans carried Ohio.

A fire in Franklin, Tenn., last week, destroyed nineteen buildings in the business portion of the city. The City Hall went down in the conflagration.

During a political parade in Baltimore, last week, a reviewing stand gave way and precipitated about 200 persons into the street. Many were injured, though none seriously.

The Texas State Fair, which opened on Oct. 17, came to a close on Oct. 31. The attendance has been fully up to any of the preceding ones, and it was the most successful agricultural, stock and machinery exhibit ever held in the State.

The city council of Philadelphia is about to order the construction of an electric plant in Moyamensing Prison, at the suggestion of the Pennsylvania Prison Society. It is proposed to place an incandescent lamp in each cell and arc lights in corridors and yards.

About 2,500 miners, armed with Winchesters, liberated 300 convicts employed in the mines at Brioeville and Coal Creek, in Tennessee, Oct. 30. No resistance was made and no blood shed. Many of the convicts were given citizens' clothes, and, after destroying much property, scattered in all directions.

The Maverick National Bank, of Boston, one of the largest in New England, has failed. Its failure was precipitated by the suicide of a Boston broker recently, who owed the bank $200,000. Ten days before its failure there was on deposit in the bank $10 000,000. Millions have been withdrawn since then, including $00,000 of the State's money.

The steamboat Oliver Beirne, in the Bayou Sara trade, was burned to the water's edge and sunk at Milliken's Bend, at four A. M., on Oct. 29. She had about eighty deck and twenty cabin passengers, about twenty of whom perished. The cargo consisted of 700 bales of cotton and 100 tons of miscellaneous freight. The boat and cargo are a total loss.

The Commercial Club, of Kansas City, has called a convention to meet there to urge upon Congress the systematic improvement of the Missouri and Lower Mississippi rivers. The convention will be held Dec. 15 and 16, and will be composed of delegates from Montana, Colorado, the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The Israelites of this city will organize an association to ameliorate the condition of Russian refugees. The president of each congregation, society and lodge, and the rabbi of each congregation, will be asked to join together to form a local committee charged with the duty of organizing a general association. The latter will co-operate with the national body in securing homes and employment for Russian refugees, taking care, of course, not to interfere with established labor interests.

FOREIGN.

The Teachers' College in Berlin has been closed, owing to an epidemic of infinenza among the persons who attended the institution.

The Prince of Wales' residence in London was destroyed by fire on Nov. 1. The total amount of damage is estimated at £15,000. The Prince of Wales and his family were absent at the time.

The French Chamber of Deputies, by a vote of 265 to 204, adopted a resolution holding the railway directors responsible for the numerous accidents which have occurred recently on their various lines.

The epidemic of influenza which has been raging in Moldavia, Roumania, has, according to a dispatch from Bucharest, reached that capital, where the disease is accompanied by a skin eruption.

There is a contest between the rival factions of the Irish party in Cork for the seat in Parliament made vacant by the death of Parnell. Last week the Parnellites and McCarthyites met, and a free fight ensued, in which many were wounded.

The Royal Mail steamship Moselle, from Liverpool via Barbados for Montevideo, has been totally wrecked on the coast of the United States of Colombia. The passengers and mails have been saved. The specie amounting to over $200,000 is reported to be a total loss.

The vote of the French Senate placing the duty on American pork at 25 francs per 100 pounds removes the prohibition in principle, even if it does not in fact. The general belief is that the Chamber of Deputies will accept the duty fixed by the Senate without any further discussion.

There have been terrific earthquakes along the southern coast of Nipon (Hondo), the principal island of Japan. The shocks were most severely felt at Osaka and at Koibe, where most of the foreign merchants, etc., of the port of Hiogo have their homes. Hundreds of houses have been destroyed, but the extent of the fatalities is still unknown and may remain so for some time to come, owing to the destruction of the telegraphic lines.

In Canadian circles in England great disappointment is expressed at the failure of the British postoffice authorities to make the necessary arrangements for a fast mail service between the Dominion and Great Britain. The sum of $750,000 was offered by Canada as a subsidy to assist in maintaining fast mail service between the dominion and England, but even that amount of money does not seem to have been indnoement enough for English capitalists to become interested in an Anglo-Canadian fast mail service.

"My Daughter's Life

Was saved by Hood's Sarsaparilla," says Mr. B. B. Jones, of Alna, Maine. "She had seven running sores in different places on her body, but since giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla she has become well, strong and healthy."

We Can't do it

but are willing to pay for learning how to make as good an article as WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING of cheap material so that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c.

Our price is 20c.

The retailer says the public will not pay it. We say the public will, because they will always pay a fair price for a good article. To show both the trade and the public that we want to give them the best for the least money, we will pay

$10,000.00 Reward

For above information; this offer is open until January 1st, 1893.

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

Pik-Ron is the name of a paint which does work that no other paint can do. New wood painted with it looks like the natural wood when it is stained and varnished.

PAINTERS AND BUILDERS

will find it profitable to investigate. All paint stores sell it.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

From Seven Thousand Dollars to Twenty-One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Three Dollars.

Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three dollars has just been paid by The Mutual Life Insurance Company on an original $7,000 insurance policy.

A result never equaled or even approached by any other company in the world. The fortunate assured was Mr. Charles Dellinger, of Mobile, Ala., who was forty-one years old when he became a member of the company.

RECAPITULATION.

1—Cash value of the dividends 100 per cent. of premiums.

2—Additions to policy 143 per cent. of premiums.

3—Insurance paid 312 per cent. of original amount.

4—Investment, 3 per cent. compound interest.

5—Insured 44 years, from age 41 to age 85.

6—No taxes, care or expense connected with the insurance.

Remember this company is purely mutual; all profits belong to the members. It is also the largest and most profitable company in the world. Mr. T. H. Bowles is the general agent, 120 Common street, New Orleans, La.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sallie	31, Nov.	1
Newport		3
Ethel		4
Rural Hill		5
Weir	7,	8
Belzona	14,	15
Ebenezer		20
Lexington	21,	22
West		24
Richland		26
Black Hawk	28,	29

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GRENADA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Abbeville	Oct.	31
Oxford circuit (by Rev. S. D. Long.)	31, Nov.	1
Oxford		1
Toccopola	(Tu.).	3
Carrollton	7,	8
Chapel Hill	(Tu.).	10
Grenada circuit	14,	15
Grenada	15,	16
Atlanta	21,	22
Pittsboro	(Mon.).	23
Cherry Hill	(Tue.).	24
Banner	(Thu.).	28
Water Valley circuit	(Sat.).	28
Water Valley		29

J. W. PRICE, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Cockrum	31, Nov.	1
Mt. Vernon	7,	8
Chulahoma	14,	15
Coldwater mission	(Th.).	19
Pleasant Grove	21,	22
Paoola circuit	(Th.).	28
Courtland	28,	29

J. J. WHEAT, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Tremont	31, Nov.	1
Nettleton		4
Buena Vista	7,	8
Athena	14,	15
Smithville and Fulton		18
Ebenezer	21,	22
Houston and Wesley		27
Sparta	28,	29

J. B. STONE, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Blackland circuit	31, Nov.	1
Booneville and Rienzi	7,	8
Blue Springs circuit		18
Guntown circuit	14,	15
Jonesboro circuit		17
Ripley circuit		19
Ripley and New Albany	21,	22
New Albany circuit	28,	29

W. S. LAGRONE, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Shawnee	31, Nov.	1
Pine Mountain	7,	8
Red Banks	14,	15
Mt. Pleasant	21,	22
Olive Branch	28,	29

JNO. W. BOSWELL, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Chester circuit, at Chester	Oct.	30
Starkville station	31, Nov.	1
Walthall circuit, at Enpora	7,	8
Tampico circuit, at Pleasant Grove		12
Mahen circuit, at Mahen	14,	15
Sturges circuit, at Sturges	21,	22
Brooksville circuit, at Brooksville	28,	29

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Americus, at Pleasant Hill	31, Nov.	1
Williamsburg, at Bethel	31, Nov.	1
Moss Point	1,	2
Bay St. Louis, at Biloxi	(Wed.).	4
Whittington, at White Plains	7,	8
Pearlington	(Wed.).	11
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	14,	15
Purvis, at Purvis	(Thu.).	19
Columbia, at Columbia	21,	22
Perry, at Isabella	(Wed.).	25
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Zion	28,	29
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	(Tu.). Dec.	1
Heidelberg, at Philadelphia	(Thu.).	6
Eastabutchie, at Eastabutchie	5,	6

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Chita Grove, at Tylertown	31, Nov.	1
Magnolia, at Magnolia	1,	2
Beauregard, at Mathis Chapel	7,	8
Hazlehurst	(at night).	12
Crystal Springs circuit		13
Bowerton, at Rehoboth	14,	15
Brookhaven station	(at night).	18
Adams circuit, at Adams	21,	22
Summit, at Summit	22,	23
Gallman circuit, at Mt. Pleasant		26
Providence	28,	29
Pleasant Grove ct., at Pleasant Grove	Dec.	5
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel	5,	6

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Binnsville and W	31, Nov.	1
Shubuta circuit at Shubuta	7,	8
Meridian, at East End	14,	15
Meridian, at West End	15,	18
Lauderdale circuit, at Lauderdale	21,	22
Meridian ct., at Chunkey	(Thu.).	28
Winchester circuit	28,	29
Marion circuit, at Hurtis Chapel	Dec.	5, 6
Meridian, a. Central	(Mon. night.)	7

The preachers in charge will please see that the trustees have ready written reports in answer to Ques 23. All local preachers must be prepared with written reports to answer Ques. 16. All exhorters are expected to present written reports. Reports from the missionary societies will be gladly received. Let the stewards be prepared to report collections in full. Let us pray and look for the presence and power of the Holy Spirit.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Wilson, at Gayden	31, Nov.	1
Fort Vincent, at French Settlement		7
Covington		10
Tallahack		12
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel	14,	15
Zachary station	21,	22
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford		23
Live Oak, at Pine Grove	28,	29
Jackson station	Dec.	2
St. Helena, at Greensburg	(morning).	5
Amite City, at Amite City	(night).	5, 6
Franklinton, at Fisher's		7

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Belen	Nov.	1
Jonestown		2
Lula		8
Bond's		15
Friar's Point		16
Bolivar		22
Stoneville		29

R. M. STANDIFER, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Vicksburg	31, Nov.	1
South Vicksburg	31, "	1
Mayersville, at Mayersville	7,	8
South Warren, at Wesley Chapel	(Tu.).	10
Warren, at Wesley Chapel	14,	15
Meadville	21,	22
Roxie	(Mon.).	23
Anguilla, at Anguilla	28,	29
Rolling Fork	29,	30
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	Dec.	5, 6

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lake, at Centerville	Oct.	29
Decatur, at Good Hope		30
Rose Hill, at Missionary	31, Nov.	1
Newton and Hickory, at Newton		2
Westville, at Pleasant Grove	7,	8
Shiloh, at Shiloh	14,	15
Raleigh, at Raleigh	21,	22
Mt. Rose, at Cedar Grove	22,	23
Trenton, at Polkville	28,	29
Homewood, at Wesley Chapel		30
Marvin	Dec.	5, 6

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Yazoo city	31, Nov.	1
Flora and B., at Flora	7,	8
Mt Olive, at Anding	(Wed.).	11
Silver Creek	14,	15
Lake City and Lodi	21,	22
Edwards	(Wed.).	25
Spring Ridge, at Oak Hill	(Fri.).	27
Jackson, at First Church	28,	29
Jackson, at Capitol Street	28,	29
Benton	(Tue.). Dec.	1
Yazoo circuit	(Wed.).	2
Canton	5,	8

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Simsport, at Simsport	31, Nov.	1
Melville and B. C. at Melville	7,	8
Pineville, at Slash Bayou	(Wed.).	11
Centerville, at Jena	14,	15
Vidalia and Black River	21,	22
Columbia, at Columbia	28,	29
Castor, at Ebenezer	(Tu.). Dec.	1
Colfax and Boyce, at Boyce	5,	6
Bayou Bouff, at Fairview	(Wed.).	9
Alexandria	12,	13
Ada	13,	14

J. IVY HOFFPAUIR, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lake Charles	31, Nov.	1
Sabine Mission, at Haygood	7,	8
Sulphur Mine, at Vinton	14,	15
Indian Bayou	21,	22
Patterson and Morgan City, at M. City	28,	29
Franklin	Dec.	5, 6

JOHN A. MILLER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ringgold, at Rocky Mound	31, Nov.	1
Downsville, at Wilhites	7,	8
Farmerville, at Farmerville	14,	15
Tulip and Simsboro, at Tulip	21,	22
Gibsland, at Gibsland	28,	29
Indian Village, at Indian Village	Dec.	5, 6
Ruston, at Ruston		8
Arcadia, at Mount Moriah	12,	13

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg	31, Nov.	1
Waterproof, at Waterproof	7,	8
Providence, at Providence	14,	15
Lind Grove	21,	22
Winsboro	28,	29
Delhi, at Tallula	Dec.	5, 6

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Craps Street	Oct.	26
Grosse Tete and False River	Nov.	1
Dryades Street		8
Baton Rouge		15
Moreau Street		22
Felicity Street		29
Carrollton	Dec.	3
Carondelet Street		13

CHAS. F. EVANS, P. E.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1082 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H. Beals, Jr.

The people's preference—Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.—Why? Because it never disappoints.

For nervous affections, such as neuralgia, sciatica, etc., Salvation Oil is without a peer.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys are made of tough glass that costs four times as much as common glass; and the work on them costs a good deal more than the work on common chimneys, just as the work on a dress is proportioned to cost of stuff.

The dealer is right in saying he can't afford to sell them at the prices of common glass chimneys.

And what will become of his chimney trade if his chimneys never break? He is apt to be wrong there. He can afford to charge a fair price and give new chimneys for all that break in use.

Have a talk with him.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus:

JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, LONDON, ENGLAND.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear-cut and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brewer, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEAREST, FINEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.

T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

OUR BOOK COLUMN.

THE HANDY RELIABLE DICTIONARY.

Over 30,000 words. Illustrated. 10 cents each; $1 per dozen. Send for a copy and examine it.

THE MOTHER'S PRIMER.

5 cents; 50 cents per dozen. The very thing for home or Sunday-school use. Try it.

THE MAN OF GALILEE.

By Atticus G. Haygood, D. D. A book for the times and the people.

"A work of genius that will live in freshness and power long after the author has passed away from among men."—Dr. Cunningham, Sunday-school Editor.

"Meets the unbeliever on his own ground. It assumes nothing, but the argument is as complete as it is possible for human thought and language to make it."—Dr. Lafferty, Virginia.

Over 10,000 sold. It still sells. 90 cents.

A JOURNEY TO PALESTINE.

By Rev. B. Carradine, D. D. A wonderfully interesting and instructive book of travels. Price, $1.50.

THE METHODIST STEWARD.

Everyone interested in Church Finances should send for a copy. Price, 75 cents.

THE LANDS OF THE ORIENT.

By Rev. M. B. Chapman, D. D., one of the editors of the St. Louis Christian Advocate. 12 mo. Cloth. 800 pages. $1.50. Over fifty illustrations.

"As a mere book of travels, this is one of the most charming and instructive volumes that has fallen into our hands in many a day."—Southern Christian Advocate, Columbia, S. C.

A column could be filled with testimonials as to the value and attractiveness of this charming book. Order a copy at once.

LEAVES FROM THE TREE OF LIFE.

A valuable book of Bible reading. $1.

LIFE AND TIMES OF BISHOP PIERCE.

$2, $3 and $4. Every Methodist should own and read this book.

METHODIST HISTORIES.

HISTORY OF METHODISM.

By Bishop McTyeire. $2, $2 50, $3 and $4.

No more valuable book can be put in a Methodist library.

METHODISM IN TEXAS. $1.

METHODISM IN MISSISSIPPI. $1.50.

METHODISM IN MISSOURI. $2.

NEW BOOKS.

CLARA CHRISMAN. $1.

MAN, MONEY AND THE BIBLE. 80c.

JUDGE LONGSTREET. $1.

Any Book Mailed at Prices Given.

F. D. Van Valkenburgh,

106 CAMP ST., - - NEW ORLEANS.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 46. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1838.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
J. C. GRANT, Publisher.
Rev. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY.—Remittances should be made only by money orders, express company orders, registered letters, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or merchants. Drafts on country banks occasion a loss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AIRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

The Lord's Prayer.—No. 7.

BY REV. J. B. WALKER, D. D.

Give us this day our daily bread. By his providence our Father makes bread. He does not need it; he makes it to give away, to give to us. We can not pay God for anything, for all things are his; so we ask him to "give" us our daily bread. All of life's unnumbered mercies are God's free gifts—the light, the air, the water, the bread, the sunshine and shower, the clustered vines, the golden fruits and the precious harvest, with all our senses and endowments that make us capable of joy. We are encouraged to ask because God has already given us the very words we are to utter in asking; and in this asking we are to show forth fraternal sympathy. It is not, "Give me this day my daily bread," but, "Give us this day our daily bread." We are all God's children, seated about our Father's table, and we all ask him, who opens his hand and satisfies the desire of every living thing.

We ask for "this day." The rich fool said to his soul, "Thou hast much goods laid up for many years." He had forgotten God, and presumed on "many years," though he could not assure himself of even a single day. The Christian lives a life of trust; he walks by faith; he is taught to live a day at a time. Possessions beyond our needs, laid up in store for many years, are sources of care and trouble, and engross the heart to the exclusion of God. Divine wisdom teaches us to take no anxious thought about the distant and unknown future; but to confine our thoughts and requests to our real needs.

"Give us this day our daily bread." This is a daily and continuous recognition of our dependence on him in whom we live and move and have our being. By fair implication we promise moderation and resignation in asking only for our daily bread. We do not ask for dainties and luxuries, but things needful and convenient. Our personal capacity for comfortable use is confined to but a few pounds and ounces per day. The prayer limits us as to time: this day; and as to quantity: to "our daily bread." The term, "bread," is, no doubt, here used, generically, as embracing all needed supplies. Our inordinate desires for large possessions show a want of faith in God's providential care, and also tend to an idolatrous frame of mind, making a god of material and temporal things. Lord, send us what we need, and send it at the best time. Could we feel and live the spirit of this prayer, from what a burden of care it would relieve our weary and anxious minds!

Our blessed Lord said, "I am the Bread of Life," "for the Bread of God is he which came down from heaven, and giveth his life unto the world. He that cometh to me shall never hunger." No wonder the disciples said, "Lord, evermore give us this bread." To think only of the material bread that perishes is to be like the sensuous Jews that followed Christ for the loaves and fishes.

Man is a spirit; he is immortal, but for the present lives in a body that is perishable and perishing. The soul made in the likeness and image of God is the real and noblest part of his compound nature. The immortal mind can not be fed on material food. It was thoughtless ignorance or moral madness that made the rich man say to his soul, "Thou hast much goods; eat, drink, and be merry," as if the deathless spirit could be fed on such inferior food. The divine Savior is the living vine; all his children are the "branches," and draw their life and fruitfulness from the vine. Christ is our life; so in breathing forth the prayer, "Give us this day our daily bread," we should never forget to raise our thoughts to the Bread of Life, of which material bread is but a type and prophecy.

All our sufficiency is of God. Without his graces and himself we nothing good can do. There is in our present state no light in us. It is the reflected light of the Sun of Righteousness that makes Christians the light of the world. They shine in borrowed rays divine. As, then, our bodies stand in daily need of the nourishment of bread in order to healthy physical life, so we are taught to ask for the Bread of God, in order that our spiritual affections may be nourished and developed, and that in all things we may grow up into him who is our living Head.

Nashville Notes.

The past week has been one of surpassing interest to Christian workers in the city of Nashville. The special occasion was the assembling of the twelfth Annual Convention of the American Inter-Seminary Missionary Alliance. Some words in regard to the purpose of the organization may not be out of place in this connection.

As the title indicates, the membership is composed of students of the various denominational seminaries of America. The character of the alliance is distinctively missionary. Its aim, as set forth in the Constitution, is to further practical interest in, and consecration to, the cause of missions on the part of theological students, both as prospective missionaries and as prospective pastors.

The movement originated in the year '79 among the students at Princeton; Harvard lent its co-operation, and the next year there assembled twenty-two delegates, who held a preliminary conference, which saw fit to call an Inter-Seminary Convention, which was held at New Brunswick, N. J., in October, '80. Since that time yearly convocations have been held with ever-increasing interest.

The idea of itself is very significant. It shows most clearly how far the age is influenced by the missionary spirit. It also presents to us the fact that the church is awaking to the truth that there is need of unity of spirit and purpose in this line of work, at least. In this alliance we have men of every shade of theological belief, forgetting, for the time, their doctrinal differences, and all working with heads and hearts to solve the great questions that confront the church as she endeavors to carry out her Lord's command.

Such a gathering as assembled here on the morning of the twenty-second suggests several encouraging considerations. In the first place, it evidences the fact that Christianity is not on the decline. When the very pick of the men of the country, the leaders in our colleges, come together to discuss means for the further promotion of the gospel and the uplifting of the human race, it means that, notwithstanding the material tendencies of our times, and the loud and oft-repeated boasts of infidel men and books, assisted, shameful to tell, by the manifest disinterestedness of many professed followers of the Lord Jesus, there is still power in that which brought no blush to Paul. Moreover, it brings to our minds what available resources the church has in the way of missionary advance. Could the church have displayed such ardor in this cause fifty years ago, our eyes would have seen the universal proclamation of the gospel. Never before in the history of the world were such strenuous and zealous efforts put forth for its evangelization. Granted the sincerity of the enthusiasm manifested in missions by the church of to-day, it should not be thought an hard thing for the kingdoms of this world to own, ere long, their rightful Lord.

Let us now regard some specific facts brought out prominently in the convention. There were present delegations from about thirty of our leading theological seminaries. Reports from twenty-three of these showed that there are now in the alliance 2,191 students. Fifty-one have already gone out in the foreign field as representatives of these, while there are in the volunteer bands of the several societies 284 men, whose intention is to enter the work when they shall have completed their courses.

Truly this is a force not to be despised. Its value is far from exhausted when we simply mention the bare figures. These numbers represent a greater power to-day than they ever could have done in any past age. We have here not men who have a mere missionary impulse—as transient as it is intermittent—but men who have realized the missionary conviction, and, having yielded their wills and their lives to the call of Christ, are thoroughly fitting themselves for the work of the foreign field. Never, since the days of Paul, has it taken so much to make a true missionary as it does to-day; and the supply of just such men is increasing year by year. Had not Christianity in it the divine principle of self-propagation, long ago would the darkness of heathendom have shut out its feeble ray. As it is, the light has been continually dispelling the gloom. The Sun of Righteousness is still rising; his meridian splendor has not yet been seen; but the brightness of the dawn betokens its near approach.

But the object of the convention was not to paint the glories of the coming millennium, but to face the stern realities of the present. Some sad disclosures were brought to light. While the resources of the church are encouraging, the condition of the work in many parts is pitiable in its littleness. An instance of this was embodied in a report given by a missionary from Korea. In this peninsula there are twelve million people, among whom there are but twenty-two Christian workers. Of these, only six are ordained ministers; and this is a nation pleading for the gospel. One preacher to every two millions! The church at home has one minister to every five hundred. Evidently she has yet an experience of blessedness in store which will descend when she recognizes the truth of her Lord's saying, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Right here is the unanswerable argument for missions. The gospel is a trust; nowhere is it denoted a gift. Eternal life is the gift; the gospel is the channel through which the gift comes. The only limit to the gift is the boundless love of the Giver. The channel has its limitations in the loyalty of those into whose keeping it has been entrusted. No man has an exclusive claim on the gift of God. The price of redemption was sufficient to redeem the world. Methodism preaches a universal atonement; but her missionary pittances deny point blank the sincerity of her sermon! If Christ died for all, what right have those who know the precious truth to keep others in ignorance concerning it? This is one of the questions that will be answered speechlessly at the day of reckoning.

The great delusion of the church is, that there are two distinct fields of operation. By some means, or other, she has drawn a wide line of demarcation—sometimes it seems an impassable gulf—and has named this part "home," and the other "foreign." This distinction has, no doubt, grown up out of human affairs; but it surely has no foundation in the divine commission. The words, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel," leave us to surmise that the gospel will be at "home" on every soil and among every people. Happily the church is beginning to learn that the gospel belongs to the world; and that no matter how pressing the "home" claim—as we are wont to call it—may be, still that can in no wise be used as a plea to deprive all others of their due. The church has had time to read enough of her own history and that of the world to accept the fact that inaction means loss of energy and consequent death. The most successful periods of her history, as regards inward purity and outward strength, have been periods of intense missionary zeal; and the present exertion put forth by the church prophesies that history will repeat itself on this wise in the days of the coming generation. They tell us that the closing years of the nineteenth century will form one of the crises in the world's life. Surely this is true in the case of missions. The church has it in her power to hasten or retard, in these few years, the coming of the kingdom, at least, a thousand years. Which course will she adopt? The prayer of the alliance was that, by earnest effort, she might "prepare the way of her Lord," and not check the progress of his kingdom by slothfulness. May this century see its answer as the nations of the world come into their long withheld inheritance—"the gospel of the blessed God"!

TEECE.

Nashville, Oct. 26, 1891.

Letter from California.

It has been over a year since my last communication from the golden shore. My failure to write has not been because of loss of interest for my old friends in the bounds of your patronage. I was made presiding elder of the San Luis Obispo district last year. The territory was extensive and difficult to travel. It covers territory nearly half as large as the whole North Mississippi Conference, and is mountainous, sparsely settled, and has very inefficient and costly means for travel by public conveyance. I was away from home so much, and had so much to occupy my time and thought, that I could never find a suitable opportunity to write. I have also experienced what I suppose is common with people who move into new sections: what I saw for some time was new to me, and I was so little removed from the feelings of my former friends that I could realize their interest in what was interesting to me, and I could easily write about it; but things have now lost their novelty to me, and, in a great measure, the incentive to write about them is gone.

I have been reduced to the ranks again, and as the demands on my time and mind are much less, I can now write some. It pleased the people I served year before last to ask for my return, and Bishop Haygood thought best that I should come back. The people have given me a hearty and substantial reception, and I confidently look forward for a pleasant year for myself, and profitable for the Master's cause.

The last session of the Los Angeles Conference showed a year of prosperity in its bounds. The statistics show a net gain in membership of about fourteen per cent., and a corresponding growth in other respects. This increase has been gathered in from new material, for the statistics show that we have dismissed more by certificate than we have received. It has been the work of revivals, and shows that the fires of divine life burn among us. The statistics show that our people paid, per capita, for church purposes $9 50. How does this compare with the church in the bounds of your patronizing Conferences? I wish to impress the fact that our people here are by no means rich. In fact, they will not average, financially, better than in Mississippi or Louisiana. It might be supposed that they collect a great portion outside of the church; but my observation is, that our people here collect less from the people outside of the church than anywhere I have ever been. Our growth has ranged from thirteen per cent. up to twenty-five during the three years I have been here, which shows it to be normal and healthy. I am sure the church has not thrown its labor away on this coast, and we may look forward for strong Conferences here at no very great distance in the future, and a large interest to be returned for every expenditure made.

We think we are fortunate in having Bishops Haygood and Fitzgerald both on this coast. No two men could be selected better suited. One is, to my mind, the complement of the other. Bishop Haygood proved himself a master both in the pulpit and the chair. He evidently searched closely into the needs and peculiarity of the work here, and understands them.

The Conference was increased by seven transfers and one readmitted. Three transferred from us, two were taken from the active and placed on the supernumerary list. Notwithstanding the new men added, the Bishop was compelled to employ several local preachers, and then leave a number of important places to be supplied. We need a number of consecrated young men to man the work demanding our labors.

We were greeted by a fraternal delegate from the Southern California Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the late session of our Conference. His address was hearty, brotherly, and eloquent, and our hearts were warmed in love for our sister church under his burning words. We passed resolutions corresponding with this state of feeling, and Bishop Haygood replied with brotherly courtesy, and we requested him to appoint a member of our body to return our fraternal greeting. The Bishop appointed Rev. W. B. Stradley, D. D., who was duly received by their Conference, and discharged his mission in a spirit to correspond with that shown by the brother who came to us. Bishop Mallalieu, who was presiding, responded. In his response he took a wide range, and expanded on the defects of the South in general, and the M. E. Church, South, in particular. He said that he, by his own effort, had collected more money for the education of the colored people in the South than Dr. Stradley's whole church, and that the colored people were driven into second-class and smoking cars to ride, and he exhorted Dr. Stradley that there was an opportunity for the M. E. Church, South, to do some missionary work among the managers of railroads in the South, and many other things of like character. Bishop Haygood came out in some of the city papers, and in no uncertain terms gave the public to understand the true status of the matter, and, so far as I have been able to learn, the whole affair is likely to turn to our advantage.

Q. A. OATS.

Norwalk, Cal., October, 1891.

Chapter Six in the Experience and Observation of a New Presiding Elder.

As the fourth round of Quarterly Conferences draws to a close, and the Annual Conference casts its shadow before, the most cheerful preachers are found to be those who have administered the discipline and maintained order in their churches, and who looked after their collections in the early part of the year. The most hopeful stewards and the happiest looking are those who have been most faithful, and have not postponed collecting the preacher's salary to the end of the year.

By the change made in the territory of the district last Conference, we lost about one thousand members; but the revival meetings and the faithful preaching of the Word at the stated services have resulted in almost that many accessions. Three pastoral charges will show a decrease. Notwithstanding the "hard times," the collections will be well up with those of last year; and I shall be greatly surprised and disappointed if they are not ahead. Seven or eight new houses of worship will be reported, costing all the way from $250—for Burton's Chapel, Porterville circuit—to $2,500—for East End Church, Meridian. But there has not been much improvement in the parsonages for the preachers, and the presiding elder is required to live in his "own hired house." There has been quite a revival on the subject of infant baptism, and our people are less neglectful of their children. New Sunday-schools have been organized, and greater interest is being taken in this branch of church work. Only in two places are our people tangled up in so-called union Sunday-schools. Elsewhere they are loyal to the church and to the Discipline. Not a single Sunday-school superintendent has a deck of cards in his house, and not a teacher plays cards or dances. Theater-going is at a discount in the Meridian district among the people called Methodists. The tendency is upward and onward—"it is daybreak everywhere."

With few exceptions, our local preachers are doing good work, faithfully co-operating with the preachers in charge, and God is blessing their labors. Personal mention is due to Alex. Trotter, D. C. Rawls, H. S. Gunn, J. N. Broadway and Ira F. Hawkins, of the local brethren. In L. B. Moore and Geo. T. Hoskins we have useful and efficient exhorters. This year two other useful men have been licensed to exhort, and a most promising young man licensed to preach. Our superannuated local preachers—J. B. Baldwin, H. S. Gilmore and Samuel Jones—merit more than a passing notice.

In my last chapter I gave an item on geography, and another on Scripture exegesis. This will conclude with some items of interest to my friends who put D. D. S. after their names, and are sometimes called "tooth dentists." One item came from a well-known, skillful dentist in old Kemper, and the other from an observing brother. The doctor not infrequently encounters competition that baffles his skill, as in this instance, when "a wise woman" guaranteed to cure toothache by running round a tree, and saying, or singing, "Where is now the wandering Jew?" He would have learned all the prescription but for an interruption. The other cases were, first, a sure way to prevent toothache, by wearing a hog's tooth on a string tied around the neck; and, second, a certain way to make babies cut teeth easily, by wearing two feet of a mole on a ribbon tied around the neck of the baby! These remedies will hardly find a place in the text-books at the Vanderbilt! Truly "the schoolmaster was abroad," and not in the neighborhood, when such folly fastened in the minds of those simple folk. And yet it is said that nearly every steamboatman on the Mississippi river, from captain down to roustabout, carries an Irish potato in his pocket, either to cure or to prevent rheumatism!

T. L. MELLEN.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. P. Howard, P. C., Greensburg, La.: "Assisted by Bros. Trovillion and Carroll, we have just closed a good meeting at Old Centre Church, St. Helena circuit, Mississippi Conference. Results: Seven accessions, many professions—most of them among the members; the church much revived. To God be all the praise."

Rev. R. C. Calloway, P. C.: "We have just closed a meeting at North Mountain, assisted by Revs. Langley and Hinse, resulting in 42 accessions to the Methodist Church and quite a number of conversions. Old difficulty settled in the church. A prayer meeting established; peace and harmony prevail."

Rev. R. A. Davis, Downsville, La., Nov. 3: "Protracted services began at Mt. Nebo, on the Downsville circuit, Oct. 17, and continued to the night of the twenty-third (Friday). Bro. M. C. Manley was there, and did all the preaching (except at night). The blessed Spirit came in power, and baptized the pulpit and pew. About 30 professed conversion, 23 were added to the church, and, we trust, the membership was greatly revived. To God be all the praise."

Rev. A. D. Miller, Barlow, Miss., Nov. 3: "I wish to say to my brethren and friends that through the kind providence of God, the faithful and efficient attention of our family physician, Dr. R. A. McCallum, and in answer to the prayers of my family and dear friends, I have been nearly restored from my attack of paralysis. I am able to do good work; think I will be fully restored. Oh! how thankful I feel to God, to my physician, to my family and dear friends for my restoration. God bless all that have prayed for me."

Rev. J. M. Morse, Newton, Miss., Nov. 5, 1891: "This is a new charge formed by Bishop Galloway last Conference from an old work. My predecessor, Rev. J. S. Parker, by diligent work and faithful preaching had prepared this people for a half station. We are moving on nicely; the tendency is upward and onward. I have held two protracted meetings, and was assisted by Bros. Bradford and Barr at Hickory. By their faithful work, preaching and prayer 41 were added to the church at that place. At Newton I was assisted by Bros. V. D. Skipper, W. W. Morse and J. T. Nicholson. These brethren all preached with power. We had no accessions at this place, for almost every one is a member of some church; but our church was greatly revived. We have had 88 accessions during the year, and as many conversions. Our people are paying all assessments. Not a week passes that these people do not remember the parsonage inmates by sending in something nice. Our work is composed of two growing little towns, each having a high school, with Methodism considerably in the ascendency. We have two Woman's Missionary Societies and two Juveniles, all doing good work. Our presiding elder was with us on Nov. 2, closing his fourth year. He has been faithful in meeting his appointments, and the district has made advancement every year. It was a mission district of about $600 when he came on it, and his assessment this year is $1,200. So you can see what has been done by him."

SOMETIMES IN QUIET REVERY.

BY THOMAS MACKELLAR.

Sometimes in quiet revery
When day is growing dim
The heart is singing silently
A sweet, unwritten hymn.

The strains are not to measure wrought
By cunning of the mind,
But seem like hymning angels brought
From heaven and left behind.

The misty hills of bygone grief,
Once dark to look upon,
Stand out like blessings in relief
Against the setting sun.

The rain may fall, the wind may blow
The soul unhindered sings
While like the bird 'neath sheltering bough
She sits with folded wings—

A brief and pleasant resting space
A glance at Beulah-land,
Before she girds herself apace
For work that waits the hand.

Then, giving thanks to him who poured
Refreshments in her cup,
She hears the calling of her Lord,
And takes her labor up.

—Woman's Journal.

Dr. B. M. Palmer before the Ladies' Anti-Lottery League.

Mr Chairman and Ladies of the Anti-Lottery League

When I received the flattering invitation to address you to-day, it seemed to be clearly a work of supererogation. The instincts of true womanhood are against vice in all its forms; and when it is remembered that the Lottery Company poses before the world, in its enticing and yet delusive offers, as the father and mother of all the future gambling of this country, it did not seem to me that I could render anything but a left-handed service in exhorting against such an institution.

But I am here, and I am here to speak my mind with entire freedom, for I suppose that this is the last opportunity I shall enjoy of presenting my thoughts in relation to this matter before the ides of November, which are so close upon us. I shall, therefore, feel that I am not simply addressing the audience which is listening to me, but that the ears of the larger audience will be reached by the reporters recording what I shall say.

Our friends on the other side of the line are exceedingly scandalized, that the women of the country should meddle with politics. They say the same thing about the preacher. Permit me to add that politics sometimes rises to the plane of patriotism, and it certainly does whenever the honor and the life of the State are at issue.

It may be politics, inasmuch as the issues now before us are to be determined by votes, but it is that kind of politics which no patriot can possibly turn his eye from, which no patriot can turn his voice from, which no patriot can turn his hand from.

We are citizens, whether we be preachers or women, for the outside world classes us together as being in their mind ourselves half women. It is for us to know that, though we are shut out from the discussion of all party issues, we are, nevertheless, citizens of the country. Our fortunes are here. We are here spending our lives, and we will transmit our names to those who come after us.

It is not possible, therefore, that the moral sentiments of those who are ordinarily shut out from the discussion of political topics should be silent when politics rises to the high plane upon which the lottery has pushed up the politics of to-day. I go a step further, ladies. If there is a class in society who are summoned to bring the influence of their character to bear upon this issue, it is the women of Louisiana. Why, it is your sex that makes society. There is not a home anywhere over which a woman does not preside; and if by custom or by law you are shut out from some of the so-called privileges of the sterner sex, you have the rich compensation in the quasi retirement which shuts you up in your homes of holding that purifying influence by which the world is to be preserved from stagnation and death.

As my eye ranges over this audience, there are mothers here who have sons to raise—raise in the presence of great temptation in this city in which we live; and a mother's counsel and a mother's prayers are around and about her boys through all the hours of the day; and now this vicious influence comes forth from its concealment, and attempts, without disguise, to make that boy of yours a gambler. When you put the twenty-five cents into his hand to buy his top or his kite, or any other instrument of amusement, he is to be met at the corners of the streets with the suggestion that for twenty-five cents he may buy a ticket which may win a sum that will supply him with tops and kites and marbles until he is gray with age.

Does it not concern you, as a mother, to know what kind of influence is tampering with the virtue of your boy?

Some of you are wives. Your husbands are in the toil and uncertainty of lawful business, when oftentimes a great pinch comes upon him; and in the moment when they know not where to turn in order to be relieved of an immediate necessity, here comes the tempter with a ticket which he may purchase for a few dollars and relieve the pressure, and which will make him a millionaire the rest of his days. The very wife who, morning and night, prays God's richest blessings upon him who is her joy, is to be indifferent when he is assailed by tempters and temptations such as these.

My objection to the Lottery Company is not simply that it is like other gambling concerns. These last do their work at night in the dark, and are sought only by those who have already been entrapped, and who seek them out in their secret places. My objection to the Lottery Company is, that it is the propagandist of gambling; that it goes forth with the avowed purpose of making us a nation of gamblers, pushing its entreaties on all the streets of the city, and enticing women, children and servants throughout the whole land with all the agencies they can employ, their very success depending, as represented by the learned gentleman on my right, upon converting this country into a country of gamblers. It is, by all odds, the most vicious institution that ever threw out its sign and demanded the recognition of the public.

There is no vice which, when it once fastens upon a man, holds him more securely than the vice of gambling. Let me give you an instance which fell under my personal observation:

There was a widow, a member of my church, but a few years ago dependent upon a son, who, according to her representation, was a perfect model of propriety in all respects but one—affectionate, considerate of his mother's wants, an expert at the business which he plied; always able to find a situation when temporarily thrown out; but unfortunately he could not resist the propensity to gamble, and all his earnings were spent in that way until that widowed mother finally, in her despair, carried him bodily out of the city into a distant State, that he might be preserved from these temptations.

Does a mother here wish her boy to be a son after that type? Does a wife here desire to see her husband a man after that type? Is there a sister in this assembly who will sit down in the enjoyment of pleasure while her brother, whom she is seeking to mould to virtue, becomes a lost man after that type? And is that impudent company, living by this vice, to say that you women shall not speak your minds in reference to that which is debauching society all around, and seeking to ensnare those who are the nearest and dearest to your hearts?

I have another objection to the lottery—and I hope that the reporters who are taking down my words will take this with great distinctness—that the lottery, when it spreads its temptations, deludes its victims, just like the burglar who enters into a house at midnight chloroforms his victim before laying his hands on the bidden treasures.

They come with delusive offers of gain to the poor, the ignorant and the unwise, and by the spell thus cast upon them filch away the small earnings which ought to go to the support of those who are in need.

Look at it for a moment. You select a number which is upon one of their tickets. It may be a number which combines three figures, and if that combination of figures happens to come out in the turning of the wheel, it determines you to be the winner of the prize indicated by that number. Well, now, any arithmetician who sits down to calculate upon the doctrine of chances will tell you in regard to those figures that the chance are over seventy thousand times against one of winning that prize. And yet the delusion practiced upon the victim is that he has a fair show of getting that prize.

Now, I call that a swindle, and with my friend upon my right (Mr. H. C. Miller), I say I am not willing that a swindle shall be incorporated into the Constitution.

If men will gamble, let them go where the gamblers go, and carry on their practices upon something like an equal game, the parties understanding each other, and understanding the principles on which they proceed; but do not let our boys, our servants, our market-women be enticed by delusive promises which the tempters know can not be realized except under the tremendous disadvantage which I have already shown.

I have some respect for a highway robber who meets me in the mountain pass, pistol in hand, and says, "Deliver," because he, at least, gives me a chance of making him deliver; but I have no respect whatever for a sneak thief, who puts his fingers into your cook's basket going to market, and takes a nickel to-day, a nickel to-morrow, and a nickel the next day, until there is enough gotten together to make her independent of cooking ever afterwards.

These are my objections to the lottery—that it is the avowed champion of gambling; that it can only win what it obtains by converting thousands upon thousands who are comparatively free from vice into those who shall live at its wheel of fortune, and that they do this by presenting promises which they know can not be fulfilled except in the chance of one against seventy thousand.

They are enormously generous. They will give to the pauper State of Louisiana a million and a quarter of dollars a year for certain franchises; and the lottery press, which always deals in large figures in order to make it sufficiently attractive, invariably presents it as $31,250,000.

Now, this sum, when it is massed together, is intended to fall with its due and proper weight upon the tender conscience or wavering judgment of those whom they wish to seduce.

Ladies, suppose the Presbyterian Church, in which I happen to be a minister—(and the illustration is just as good with any other church of the country—the Episcopal Church, or the Methodist Church, or the Baptist Church, or the Catholic Church—but I select, for the sake of illustration, the church to which I belong)—suppose that the Presbyterian Church should come before the people of the State of Louisiana, and say: "We will give you a million and a quarter of dollars a year, or thirty-one millions and a quarter of dollars in twenty-five years, if you will only grant us certain franchises," what would you say about it? What would you think about it? What would be the voice coming up from every part of the State of Louisiana, from the north to the south, from the east to the west, and that, too, with a perfect howl, about the long since abolished union between Church and State? The church that offers this bid declares that she will educate the youth of Louisiana. The State of Louisiana replies, "I don't care to have all the children of Louisiana educated by the Presbyterians." "We will build your levees; we will drain your city, which stands so much in need of drainage; we will support all your hospitals and your asylums, and we will be a blessed providence to you, showering down our favors upon every department of public service and public benevolence until you shall accept us as though we were in the place of God."

If the Presbyterian Church, or the Episcopal Church, or any other church should say: "We have a constituency all through the land, and count up our members by hundreds and thousands, and can well afford to throw this money into your lap if you will only grant us our desire," why, the cry would come immediately from every heart and through every lip, What is behind that mask? What have you got behind that bid, Presbyterians? What are you after in making it? Without looking into the proposition itself, every mind would know instinctively that there was something behind which is not submitted to view.

Now, though that Presbyterian Church—which is a body of the highest type of men and women, mostly Christians, I hope, accustomed to fear God and worship him—should come to the State of Louisiana, and say: "We will build school-houses, not only all over Louisiana, but through the whole country, and we will organize churches and put ministers in them, supported out of our treasury; and we will do such an immense amount of good with money if you will only grant us these franchises," nevertheless the State of Louisiana would say: "We can not afford to trust you. There is something hidden which you have not shown, and we cast you and your bribe behind our backs."

Now, ladies, I have to ask if the State of Louisiana should deny that to as respectable a body as the Presbyterian Church is, or as the Methodist Church is, or as the Episcopal Church is, or as the Catholic Church is, upon the bare offer of the proposition, why should it grant it to one man stalking from the State of New York, of whom you had no antecedent knowledge until he came down on this business, with two or three other men behind his back whom you do not know, and a whole lot behind, whose faces are under an iron mask?

I claim that the Presbyterian Church is just as respectable in point of character as the Lottery Company; and if the State of Louisiana should reject that proposition to the Presbyterian Church, it ought to reject it to the Lottery Company.

Let us look now a little closely at the offer which is made by this Lottery Company to the State of Louisiana. Mr. Miller has represented it as an enormous sum, and, indeed, it is more than I expect to accumulate if I should live to be as old as Methuselah. They offer this sum of a million and a quarter a year, provided you will give them the monopoly of gambling in the State of Louisiana and throughout the country, asking the State of Louisiana to become a partner in a work which is denounced by all the States of this Union as a crime. Asking the State of Louisiana to array itself against the legislation and statutes of all the other States of the Union; putting us in the position in which we become a pestilent nuisance to the whole country from Maine down to the Gulf.

Now, for this they offer us $1,250,000 a year. I have seen it stated in the papers, and I have seen no denial of it, that the Louisiana Lottery Company gains more than twice that amount in the daily drawings in this city alone.

I want to know who pays this $1,250,000? Does it come from the Lottery Company at all if they gain that and as much more? Why, it is these poor people that have been filched out of their hard earnings that pay the money.

Look at it again. I hold in my hands statements which I give upon the authority of Mr. Farrar, published in a speech reported in The Delta of yesterday, that the estimated value of the real estate in the city of New Orleans is $128,000,000, and that each year the Louisiana Lottery Company gathers into its coffers one-fifth of that amount. So that whilst they offer $1,250,000 a year, by reason of their franchise they are getting $25,000,000 a year and for which they pay the enormous amount of one twentieth of what they receive.

If it be true—and Mr. Farrar, after making this statement flung out his challenge upon the air, daring the lotterytes to meet him in argument about it, challenging them to deny his statistics, challenging their orators and challenging the press to meet him in denial of the statements which he makes in the paragraph which I am now reciting to you—if in each year they make one-fifth of $128,000 000, why you can cipher it out without a pencil; it is over $25,000,000 a year which they receive into their coffers. Now, let them hold this $25,000,000 each year and in five years they will own the entire valued estate of the city of New Orleans. And that is the bribe they offer to the State of Louisiana. "Just put us in the condition to buy you out bodily, so that not one soul of you shall own a house; not one of you dare own one acre of ground or one of the small lots into which that acre can be divided; put us in a position to do all that, and we will give you a million and a quarter which will swell up in twenty-five years to the enormous amount of $31,250,000." I beg your attention to another fact: If they get $25,000,000 into the treasury each year of the twenty-five years during which the franchise is to run, and hold it until the end of that period, you have only to multiply the twenty-five millions of dollars by twenty-five years to find them possessed of $629,000,000—not exactly that much because they are to pay thirty-one and a quarter millions to the State; and this reduces the small amount of $625,000,000 to $593,750,000.

I think, ladies, it is a very small offer to make for so much money. Why, it heats the banks and the merchants all put together. They are making such a small amount of money out of such a large outlay. They offer a bribe which strikes the mind of many people. They will build our levees. Our river is all the time overflowing its banks and washing the quicksand underneath, and bank after bank tumbles into its turbid waters. Ladies, I would rather have that than have the Lottery Company with its vicious tide washing away the substance and character of our men.

The little boys that are growing up are in process of forming character, and no man knows how strong his character is until his principles have been tried; unhappily virtue sometimes crumbles, and when strong temptations come and wash in from underneath you are astonished—well, I was going to use a word which I did not mean to use. You are astonished at the terrible defalcations which are daily occurring. But one word before I pass away from that.

Have you considered how since the war there has been a growing demoralization of the country all over? I know that war always has that evil effect, and it takes more than a generation to bring a country up from demoralization into which the shock of war invariably aligns it; but it used to be a rare thing to hear of a breach of trust, and now you can not take up a paper anywhere, not only in Louisiana, but everywhere, in which you will not find an account of some clerk who has robbed his employer or some cashier who has absconded into Canada with the funds of the bank. What is the cause of that? Ah! our poor South, God help her! Our poor South, when she first rose from her knees after the crash she found herself almost a beggar. One stroke of the pen swept away two-thirds of her possessions, and the remaining third was rendered almost useless by the confiscation of the rest, and there came upon her an almost insane passion to recover what she had lost. Hence it is that our youth growing up under this sentiment fall so easily under the temptation which tells that by the turn of the wheel they may be lifted out of their deep poverty, and have all the resources and respect usually shown to wealth.

I do not know but in the inscrutable providence of Almighty God this struggle with the lottery is designed to call the attention of the people of this State and of the whole land to resist the demoralizing influence of an insane passion to be rich.

The rock upon which this country is to fail, if fail it does, will be through the corruption of its wealth; wealth accumulating upon wealth, oftentimes gained by unholy methods and sapping the foundation of all private and public virtue.

Ladies, I am sure that you feel in reference to your sons, your husbands and your brothers, that you would rather have them men who can stand erect and dare lift their eyes to heaven; men who can survey the generation in which they live and feel that they are without fear and without reproach. What we want in private life is to save the virtue of our people, and what we want in public life is to save the honesty of those who are in power.

I will not tax your patience, but I have this question to ask: If this amendment should be engrafted upon the Constitution and this Lottery Company receive a recharter granting the franchises they claim—and I do not by any means intimate that they will not fulfill their part of the contract, although I do see intimations thrown out by the press that there has been left more than one loophole out of which the parties can creep and not fulfill their obligations, but I have nothing to say about that. That would be going into politics, and all those aspects of the question I leave to the politicians of the land. Then it becomes the educator of your children. It will appoint the Board of Public Education, and what kind of a board is it going to be? Do you suppose Mr. Miller would be on that board? Will Mr. Fortier have any sort of a chance, even with his sweet Creole tongue of getting a place on that board? It will be a lottery board all through, and that lottery board will put out one by one all the teachers who are not lottery teachers, and in less than twenty-five years, covering only the lifetime of a generation, you will have had three generations of little boys and girls grown up into manhood and womanhood, educated in the morals of the lottery, educated to believe that gambling is respectable, regarding their fathers and mothers who protested against it as old fogies who didn't know anything about real life. Money, money, is the chief good. It ought to grow upon the trees; wonder that God did not put it there. It is the supreme good of human life. Only let us have money, and he we ever so vicious and so abandoned we will buy respect because we are rich. They will be undermining the character of these three generations of boys and girls growing up under the influence of this Lottery Company and its code of morals. The State of Louisiana will putrify by the end of twenty-five years. She will rot clear through. And that is what we are asked to give to the Lottery Company—the very life and honor of the State in which we live.

Now, ladies, I am done. I have probably said more than enough.

I shall re-echo in my closing remarks the closing sentence of my friend, the jurist upon my right (Mr. Miller). This is but the beginning of the conflict with the lottery. I have been accused of being an anarchist and of undertaking to fight with bludgeons, and even my excellent friend here, Mr. Johnston, has spoken of my blowing up people with dynamite. I am as peaceful a man as ever lived in the State of Louisiana, as patient and as forbearing in all the troubles with which our country is afflicted, but at the same time I have got a conscience; I think I have a heart; I have got a conscience that tells me that some things are right and tells me that other things are wrong. I have a heart which loves what is true and good and turns away in abhorrence from that which is wrong; and so long as this hand can be raised in appeal to heaven and this voice ring out a prayer to the Most High, it will be that God Almighty, in the infinite resources of his power, will, if we are defeated at the election, come to our rescue, and having made the appeal to him, I will appeal to the conscience, to the integrity, to the honor and to the good faith of the brotherhood of these States brought together under a common constitution, to deliver us from the vampire. And the deliverance will come, not by fire and sword, as I am accused of advising, as I am persistently accused, when the full text of the speech upon which those accusations are founded was before the eyes of those maligners and accusers. The deliverance will come; the voice of sixty millions of people will be heard, and when it speaks it will speak through its constitutional modes, by which this country will be delivered forever from every self-constituted lottery.

I never recognized defeat. I was whipped badly in the late war, but I was not defeated. I will stand for the right under the full conviction that God is always just; and however severe or protracted the contest, or however we may be bruised under the issues that are presented, truth will prevail and right will be king.

"Things That Ought to Be Changed."

Oh! how many, many changes ought there not be effected in this world! One change devoutly to be wished for is for the time to come when brethren will subscribe their name in full to every article they send our papers. In the first place, the contributor should be satisfied in his own mind that he has something to write about. Second, that it is for the good of the greatest number that he writes. Third, that he is writing from an honest conviction that his article will accomplish good. Then, in a true Christian spirit, he ought to put his thoughts to paper; read and revise his manuscript, eliminating everything that does not have the ring of pure Christian gold. Then write his name in full and send it to the world through the columns of the paper. Under the above caption we have an article in the ADVOCATE, of Oct. 15, signed, "A Member of the N. M. C." I suppose that means the brother is a preacher in the North Mississippi Conference. All right. This week we have another article with same caption, signed, "A Preacher." One would judge from his article that he was a Methodist traveling preacher, but as to what Conference his membership belongs we are left in the dark.

I am opposed to such appropriations. I, myself, am "a preacher." I am a member of the North Mississippi Conference, but I am not the only preacher. Nor am I the only member of the North Mississippi Conference. I endorse every word written by "A Member of the N. M. C.," but I am unwilling to father the communication written by "A Preacher," because of the thrusts made at his presiding elder. "These things ought not so to be."

That we need re-districting, I suppose not ten men in our Conference would deny. But how are we to effect it? The Bishop who will preside at our next Annual Conference will arrange the work for the ensuing year. The presiding elders will be his advisers. We can all of us talk freely with our presiding elders between this and Conference, and I venture the assertion that if we do and we can convince them that it will be for the glory of God, that there is not a presiding elder in the North Mississippi Conference but that will readily advise Bishop Hendrix there ought to be "a change." B. F. PHILLIPS.

Black Hawk, Miss.

Letter from Mexico.

A DAY IN THE COUNTRY.

Since my return to Mexico, and long before, I have planned to give the children of our mission school a day in the country that they might see the green fields and breathe the pure air outside the city gates.

Mr. Weems chartered a car, and my friends in the States gave me a trunk of clothing to bring back with me. I had the children sent up-stairs two at a time; had them washed and dressed in nice, clean clothes. And I would the dear children of Livingstone, Ala., who gave me the clothes could have seen them. A brighter, happier band of children you never saw, and the day was one of intense pleasure. We took them to Chapultepec, where all was a scene of beauty and grandeur to them; twenty children reached around Montezuma's tree. They went to the door of the cave, watched the various animals with delight; then in the miniature lake was a most curious fowl which greatly amused. Time and space would not allow me to enumerate all they saw. After a dinner on the ground they gathered round us and sang an English song. Then followed the games they play in this country. One that was interesting and curious to us was The Saints. Each child striking some attitude, graceful or ludicrous, and picturing some saint. It was most curious, and they enjoyed it very heartily. Our two American girls were as happy as the poor Mexican children. The wonders in and around this world-renowned castle was a delight to them. We took Saturday, so as not to interfere with our school and demoralize the children, so that they could not get back to their books all right. When we saw our children well dressed, with clean faces, we were amazed to find so many of them beautiful and bright. I have arranged for Refugio de Cruz, the Bible woman, to begin work at the new church in this city. She will be supported by the dear sisters of Carondelet Church in New Orleans. But after perfecting all my arrangements and writing my friends, she tells me that it is impossible for her to arrange all her affairs so as to begin before the last day of this month or the first day of November. So that, I trust, there may be no more delay after this, and she may do a great work for Christ, our Lord.

I trust all our friends will unite with me in praying that my husband's strength may speedily be restored. Remember us and poor sin-cursed Mexico daily at a throne of grace. May God bless all who have helped us a thousandfold! S. G. WEEMS.

Avenida Balderas No. 3,
Mexico City.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

All books received will be acknowledged in this column. A fuller notice will depend upon the interests of our readers.

PERIODICALS.

—ENTERTAINMENT has a good table for amusement and recreation. Council Bluffs, Iowa. Price, $1.

—THE PULPIT is a magazine of sermons published by Edwin Rose, Buffalo, New York. There are some good sermons in this number. Price, $2.

—THE TREASURY, for November, has a crowded table of good things for pastors and people. E. B. Treat, New York. Price, $2 50; clergymen, $2.

—THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL, for November, is a Thanksgiving number and is especially good. Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. Price, $1. This number, ten cents.

—OUR LITTLE ONES, for this month is full of good things, which we are sure will be enjoyed by all the "little tots," male and female. Russell Publishing Company, Boston. Price, $1.50.

—THE MISSIONARY REPORTER, our monthly missionary magazine, is replete with missionary matters, which ought to be interesting to every Christian. Nashville, Tenn. Price, fifty cents.

—THE GOSPEL IN ALL LANDS devotes its pages this month to the consideration of South America, and is a valuable contribution to missionary literature. Hunt & Eaton, New York. Price, $1.50.

—THE BOOK-BUYER is a summary of American and foreign literature, and keeps one posted in regard to all new publications that are of value. It is published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, for $1.

—ST. NICHOLAS, for November, lies on our table full to overflowing with all sorts of good things. This young people's monthly needs only to be seen and read to be appreciated. Century Company, New York. Price, $3.

—WIDE-AWAKE, for this month, has some notable features, among them The Boyhood of Hawthorne. This will interest all our boys, and men, too, for that matter. Margaret Sidney's popular story of the Five Little Peppers is finished in this number. D. Lothrop Company, Philadelphia. Price, $2.40.

—THE FORUM, for November, is a very able number of this able monthly. The Politics and the Armies of Europe are discussed by Prof. Edward Freeman and W. R. Thayer; University Life for Women, by Anne J. Clough; The Profits of Good Country Roads, by I. B. Potter; The Danger of the Farmer's Alliance, by Senator John T. Morgan; The Commercial Future of the Pacific States, by W. L. Merry. Forum Publishing Company, New York. Price, $5.

—THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS, for November, has the Young German Emperor, by W. T. Stoad, and Three Fallen Leaders, Parnell, Boulanger and Balmaceda. Under the head of "Progress of the World" this periodical publishes a wonderful amount of information. "Leading Articles of the Month" gives a concise, yet good review of periodical literature. Then comes the "Periodicals Reviewed." There are also other important and interesting articles. All these make up the completest monthly that we know anything about. The price is now $2, to be advanced to $2.50 next February. Address, The Review of Reviews, 13 Astor Place, New York.

BOOKS.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR PRIMER. By Lewis H. Reid. A. D. F. Randolph & Co., New York.

This is a very simple statement of the principles of grammar, and, therefore, is specially adapted to beginners. It presents to the child the facts and principles governing the use of our language in a manner easy to be comprehended, and for this reason will, doubtless, command the patronage it seeks.

THE PANSY FOR 1891. Edited by "Pansy." Cloth, $1.75; boards, $1.25. Boston: D. Lothrop Company.

The volume, for 1891, is in keeping with the excellent record that Pansy has secured in previous years. A large amount of editorial and special work for the volume has, of course, been done by Mrs. Alden, who, under her pen name of "Pansy," has for so long a time brought help and strength in purpose and in deed to thousands of young people all over the land. Among other familiar names in this year's volume are Dr. Felix L. Oswald, Faye Huntington, Mrs. C. M. Livingston, Myra Spafford, Margaret Sidney and others who by name or initials are known to thousands of readers.

WHITE SLAVES; OR, THE OPPRESSION OF THE WORTHY POOR. By Rev. Louis Albert Banks, D. D., author of "The People's Christ."

The Rev. Dr. Banks has made a personal and searching investigation into the homes of the poorer classes, and in the White Slaves the results are given. The work is illustrated from photographs taken by the author, and the story told by pen and camera is startling. It should be borne in mind that the author's visits were made to the homes of the worthy poor, who are willing to work hard for subsistence, and not the homes of the criminal and vicious. It is a story that should be read by all. One-half the well-to-do know absolutely nothing of the misery and woe that are in a stone's throw of them, and yet the suffering poor present the greatest opportunity for Christian benevolence. The book is brought out in good style by Lee & Sheppard, Boston, and for sale here by Wharton & Bro. Price, $1.50.

The motives of the best actions will not bear too strict an inquiry. It is allowed that the cause of most actions, good or bad, may be resolved into the love of ourselves; but the self-love of some men incites them to please others; and the self-love of others is wholly employed in pleasing themselves. This makes the great distinction between virtue and vice.—Swift.

Pastoral Address of the Second Ecumenical Methodist Conference, Washington, D. C., October 20, 1891.

The Second Ecumenical Methodist Conference to the Ministers and Members of All the Methodist Churches throughout the World—Greeting:

We, the members of the Second Ecumenical Methodist Conference, assembled in Washington, greet our brethren in every land to which our common faith has spread. "Grace be unto you and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ."

We glorify God for the prosperity which he has given to our churches. By his blessing they have grown until they number some twenty-five millions of adherents. This is full of encouragement. An organization which has grown so rapidly in the free competition of systems, and even crippled in some of its branches by many artificial disabilities, must be in vital harmony with its environment. By the most inexorable test Methodism is proved to be singularly adapted to the needs of men. Although many adjustments and developments must undoubtedly be made to accomplish fully our mission, let us beware of thinking that any vital changes are necessary. Faithfully using our present means, under the blessing of God, our prosperity will grow.

We rejoice to recognize the substantial unity which exists among the various Methodist Churches. Its firm basis is a common creed. We are all faithful to the simple scriptural and generous theology which God through his clear intellect and loving heart of John Wesley restored to his church. The intellectual movement and the social changes of our time may have led to some change in the form of expression, or some shifting of the emphasis of our teaching; but they have not led us even to reconsider that living theology which has abundantly proved itself upon our pulses. Indeed, it would be strange if, while other churches are drawing toward it, we should have departed from it. And there are other grounds of unity. We are proud of the same spiritual ancestry; we sing the same holy hymns; our modes of worship are similar; and, what is most important of all, the type of religious experience is fundamentally the same throughout the Methodist world. Our ecclesiastical principles are not so various as the forms in which they are accidentally embodied. Rejoicing in these things, we think that the time has come for a closer co-operation of the Methodist Churches both at home and abroad, which shall prevent waste of power and unhallowed rivalry. While before the eyes of many of us has passed the delightful vision of a time when, in each land where it is planted, Methodism shall become for every useful purpose one, and the Methodism of the world shall be a close and powerful federation of churches for the spread of the kingdom of Christ.

We need to combine our energies, for the work that we have to do is vast and urgent. The skepticism and indifference which are so natural to the human heart have been reinforced by an abuse of science and philosophy. The hard lot of millions makes it very difficult for them to believe in God our Father. There is so much that the churches have not done to redress the wrongs and heal the sufferings of mankind, that it is hard for many to believe in their divine mission. The standing evils of society are aggravated by the close pressure in our great cities, and are discovered to the eyes of all in our daily newspapers. Let us preach and live the gospel of Christ in its integrity. Dismissing all narrow conceptions of our duty, let us trace the moral evil of men to its true sources in their surroundings, their physical nature, their ignorance, their passions, and their will, and set ourselves to deal comprehensively with it. To the specific ailments of mankind let us apply specific remedies. To do this it will be necessary for the members of our churches to make a full use of their political rights. To allow the great powers of law and government, and their still greater influence, to fall into the hands of ungodly men, would be inordinable folly and sin. God forbid that any of our churches should become the instrument of political parties. It is, doubtless, necessary that individuals should have political attachments, and Methodists are found in all the great historic parties. But when a member of our church has taken his place in that political connection which is most in harmony with his ideas and convictions, let him never forget that there are great moral interests superior to all party exigencies in which he must seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness. Every proposal that imperils the sanctity of the home, the purity of woman, the innocence of children, that violates the Christian Sabbath, that sanctions and increases wrong, should be impartially and earnestly resisted.

Of a few of the great evils which admit in some degree of public treatment we can not be silent. Intemperance, the fruitful mother of a brood of evils, is largely created by legalized temptations. Snares are planted in almost every street for the unwary and unsteady. Is it too much to ask that our people will combine to use all legal instruments to abate this wanton solicitation of men to vice and crime? Let us discourage in every way betting and gambling, which spring from the love of excitement and the lust of gain, two of the besetting evils of the modern world, and let us abstain from all reckless speculation in business which can not be distinguished from gambling. Excessive and unfair competition, which is secreting so much bitterness in the breasts of men, and depositing so many of the materials of convulsion in society, should be steadily avoided and discountenanced. And shall we not do all we can in quiet times to mould public opinion and to establish Courts of Arbitration so that the complicated crime of aggressive war may be averted?

It is necessary to employ with the utmost economy all our resources. One secret of the strength of Methodism has been the free play which it allows to the gifts and energies of its laity. The pastoral work of our class-leaders has been of the highest value. Local preachers, both in England and America, were of great service in the early history of our churches. It is to be hoped that the multiplication of ministers may not tempt us to think that lay preaching is unnecessary. We thank God for the young men and women in our mission bands, who are carrying the gospel to remote villages, and into the alleys and courts of our crowded cities.

Among the wasted treasures of the church are the delicate sensibilities, the tact, the tenderness, and the persuasive power of holy women. We are all agreed that the needs of the world require, and that the conditions of the age allow, that such women should take a more prominent place in the work of the church. The social means of grace in which Methodism is so rich are a congenial sphere for their best talents. In the benevolent work which is springing up on every hand, and is one of the most hopeful features of the time, their gifts are indispensable and invaluable. We distinctly approve of associations in which, unfettered by any vow, devoted women may be organized for ministry to human need and sorrow. But we hope that with their enlarging opportunities women may not be tempted to undervalue the sphere in which they are not only supreme, but alone, as the sun in his path through the heavens, that of the mother in the home.

The children of our church have occupied the attention of the Conference. In the formation and wonderful progress of the great societies on the American continent, such as the Epworth League, we greatly rejoice. We should be glad if similar societies, adapted to other conditions, could be established in other parts of the Methodist world. To bring young people together under its hallowing influence, to watch over their reading and recreation in which so many perils lie, to combine and direct their ardor and energy to suitable forms of benevolent work, is surely one of the highest duties of the church. We feel that our Sunday-schools have not as yet realized their vast possibilities. But the home is the great nursery of religious faith and life. There are one-sided theories of conversion which prevent our looking for signs of the religious life with the dawn of intelligence and the first development of will. False tests, in which the nature of a child is quite forgotten, prevent us from finding them. We would that parents should feel that they can hardly look too early for the faint beginnings of the spiritual life in the hearts of their children, nor too carefully foster them. At the same time we must insist, as we have always done, that the mature religious life should be definite and conscious. It may arise as gradually and gently as a Summer morning breaks; it ought to become as clear and self-attesting as the Summer noon.

The education of our young people is of great concern to us. We shall never cease to oppose every system of national education which unduly favors any particular church. In these days, when out of science is perversely forged a weapon to attack our faith, one of the foremost duties of every church is to guard her sons against the danger, and enable them to do something to vindicate for true science its high place as a handmaid of pure religion. To this end we rejoice in the establishment of higher schools and in every step which tends to give us our right place in the university systems of the various lands in which our people dwell.

Among the foremost objects of our interest are the foreign missions of our church. The motto of our founder. "The world is my parish," has never ceased to echo in the hearts of his spiritual children. Some of the brightest pages in our annals tell the story of the patience, the sacrifice, and the triumphs of our brethren on the mission field. In the present day, when our numbers are increasing and our resources growing, when through the inquiry of scholars, the adventure of travelers, the enterprise of traders, and the spread of the Anglo-American race, the world is becoming known and open, and the call of God is loud in every listening ear, it is impossible for our missionary ardor to decline. We acknowledge with joy the increased activity of some of our churches, and especially what our women are doing for their heathen sisters.

Against the trade in spirits and the trade in opium, which are doing so much to defeat and discredit our missions in Africa and China, we shall never cease to raise our voice.

While loving all them that love God, and desiring closer co-operation with them in his service, we renew our protest against every ecclesiastical system which invades the rights of conscience, which claims to be the only channel of the infinite grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and which sets up the human priest as an indispensable mediator between the soul and God.

Let us beware of taking a narrow view of our mission and our resources. Let us carry on our work with equal earnestness in sequestered villages and in crowded cities; let us appeal alike to the rich and to the poor, to the cultured and to the illiterate. Let us consecrate our wealth by building churches which shall be constant witnesses in our busy streets to the repose and dignity of our religion, and let us preach in the open air. Let us use every means, the pulpit and the press, the school and the university, science and art, social influence and the ballot-box. Let the clear intellect and the loving heart and the strong will have their rightful place. Let order be harmonized with the free play of individuality, and let us impose no limits on reverent inquiry.

The increase of our people in number and wealth and power has laid us under a great responsibility. It seems probable that before long Methodists will constitute nearly a fourth of the people who use the English tongue. We are a factor of growing importance in that great race which by a restless impulse is spreading its dominion, its trade, and its civilization over vast regions of every continent. Let us rise to the height of our calling. We ought to go wherever our race goes, to multiply our churches, to increase our communications, and so become a bond of union among the wide-spread peoples of English blood. And we should strive to check that dangerous temper into which adventurous and governing races so easily fall. So shall we do our duty to our fellow-men, and play our part in the great plan of God.

Before another Ecumenical Conference we shall have passed into another century. Ten critical years of the swiftly moving modern world will have rolled away. Opportunities will have offered themselves which will never come again. We pray that our churches may clearly see and rightly interpret the signs of the times, and, discerning the will of God, may yield themselves entirely to it.

Brethren, we need not remind you of the deep springs of the spiritual life. Thoughtful reading of the Word of God, regular seasons of prayer in secret, in the family, and in the church, the class meeting, public worship, and the Holy Sacrament, where we remember that the Lord gave himself for us and gives himself to us—from these are drawn the grace of life. In them we learn to do justly and love mercy and walk humbly with our God, and we gather that wisdom and strength without which our vast enterprises are but folly and vanity.

We especially commend to your faithful and earnest observance the Week of Special Prayer which will shortly be held throughout the Methodist world.

"Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work, to do his will, working in you that which is well pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen."

(Signed) T. BOWMAN,
J. C. KEENER,
T. B. STEPHENSON,
A. CARMAN,
H. T. MARSHALL,
H. W. WARREN,
W. ARTHUR,
J. W. HOOD,
M. T. MYERS,
R. K. HARGROVE,
D. J. WALLER,
J. T. MURRAY,
J. FERGUSON,
E. G. ANDREWS,
J. DONNELLY,
A. W. WAYMAN,
F. W. BOURNE,
W. W. DUNCAN,
W. MORLEY,
T. G. WILLIAMS,
W. MARSDEN,
E. R. HENDRIX,
T. ALLEN,
G. SARGENT,
J. F. HURST,
Presidents of the Conference.

J. M. KING,
E. B. RYCKMAN,
J. BOND,
T. SNAPE,
Secretaries of the Conference.

The above statement of matters on which the Second Ecumenical Methodist Conference took action is from the official records of the Conference,
JAMES M. KING, Secretary.

It requires a clever man ordinarily to tell the true from the false. Lapidarians say that only the most skilled experts can tell a really fine diamond from one that may be "doctored."

The efficacy and value of medicines, the truth or falsity of their curative properties can only be found by experience and trial. All doctors admit this axiom.

The universally acknowledged merit of Mansfield's Magic Arnica Liniment has tempted others to put forth various preparations having arnica as their basis, but it need barely be said that they have little value as compared with this standard and long-used specific against every form of pain. Its value, especially in the treatment of horses and other animals, has been attested in almost every State in the Union. The cost is trifling—fifty cents—and there is probably not another preparation known that is so valuable to have around, or so likely to prove useful in cases of emergency.

There is not a known pain, from the most ordinary cut or bruise to rheumatism or neuralgia, that Mansfield's Magic Arnica Liniment will not cure. Be sure that the name is all right. In case your druggist should not have it, send to the Mansfield Drug Company, Memphis, Tenn.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H. Beals, Jr.

For rheumatic and neuralgic affections, Salvation Oil has no peer. Price, 25 cents.

Chosen by an immense majority—Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price only 25 cents.

Uninterrupted sunshine would parch our hearts; we want shade and rain to cool and refresh them.

What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone, for scrofula combines the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. For all affections of the blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled, and some of the cures it has effected are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula in any of its various forms, be sure to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

THE BEST

protection against sudden changes in the weather is to purify the blood with

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It vitalizes and enriches the life-current, and makes the weak strong.

Has Cured Others

will cure you.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,
831 Broadway, NEW YORK.
IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.

SHEPARD & SON,
94 CAMP STREET.

BEAUTIFUL
China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL
Semi-China Dinner and Tea Sets,

BEAUTIFUL CHAMBER SETS.
PLATED WARE, all kinds,
WOOD WARE, all kinds,
TIN WARE, all kinds,
GLASS WARE, all kinds.

House Furnishing Store, Cheap as the Cheapest

ALL THE NOVELTIES OF THE DAY.

Wringers and Curtain Stretchers.

WALL PAPER.

Never in the history of the Wall Paper business has the line of patterns equalled those which will be shown this Fall, and, as we carry the makes of every manufacturer, nowhere else in the South can such an assortment be found. In Dining-room, Parlor and Bed-room Papers there are several very pretty novelties, and also an innovation in the way of a Bath-room Paper, which can be splashed with impunity and not damaged.

Matting, Chinese AND Japanese,

From 10 cents up. WINDOW SHADES, 35 cents up. OIL CLOTH, 25 cents up.

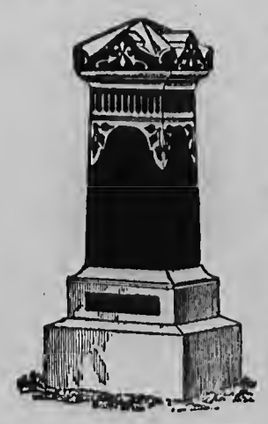
RUGS, COCOA MATTING, UPHOLSTERING GOODS and LINOLEUM in immense assortment.

Write for a catalogue.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,
116 Camp St., New Orleans.

W. H. KRONE,
BUILDER,
586 Baronne St., - New Orleans.
Box 71, M., D., and L. Exchange.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

W. W. CARRE,
LUMBER MERCHANT
AND MANUFACTURER OF
PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.,
Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,
NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train, 8:10 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train, 5:00 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express.....5:35 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express.....8:10 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train".....10:00 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train".....3:45 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 3 Lim. Ex. 7:45 am	No. 4 F'st Ex...7:45 am
No. 5 F'st Ex...7:05 pm	No. 8 Coast....3:45 pm
No. 7 Coast....3:20 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex..7:30 pm
Lim. Express...4:45 pm	Fast mail.....8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

No. 1. Local Mail and Express..7:20pm	No. 2. Local Mail and Express..7:00am
No. 41. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 8:25am	No 42. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 6:00pm
No 45. Chic. and N. O. Lim....8:00pm	No. 46. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 12:01 noon
No. 41. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 8:25am	No 42. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:00pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom....8:50am	No. 6. McComb City Accom..4:30pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 13 California Express. 7:30 pm	No. 51 California Express. 8:00 am
B. Rouge, local. 10:25am	B. Rouge, local. 5:50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 18 Califor. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local....8:00 am
No. 17 Local....7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor.. 5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd . .2:30pm	No. 2, Lim'd.....5:00pm
No. 3, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 3, Fast Line. .8:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO.
(Via Meridian.)

No. 3, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 2, Limited....5:00pm

P. AND E. EAST LA.
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.
Arrive.....8:30 am | Leave.....4:15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pt. a-la-Hache 8h Bch. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:50 p m.	Pt. a-la-Hache 8h. Bch. 7:00 a. m., 10:00 a m., 5:00 p. m.

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.
FROM
New Orleans to Cincinnati.
94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City. Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 34 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.
J. C. GAULT, General Manager.
D. G. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.
GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.
Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to
MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change
TO SPRINGFIELD, MO., PORT SCOTT and
KANSAS CITY.
ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS
FROM NEW ORLEANS TO
Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.
EL PASO ROUTE.
THE DIRECT LINE TO
NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,
to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars
Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't,
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,
JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.
Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.
L., N. O. and T. R'y.

Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	Leaves. 5:00 p. m	Arrives 8:10 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	8:10 a. m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:45 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

P. R. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Agt.
R. F. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt.

AGENTS WANTED

For PANSY'S Latest and Greatest Work,

"The Prince of Peace;"
OR,
"The Beautiful Life of Jesus."

Some what a few of our own preachers say about it:

Rev. W. H. Laffrade, Pastor Carondelet Street Church, says: "I have been waiting for it. Put me down for two copies."

Rev. Chas. F. Evans, D. D., Presiding Elder of New Orleans District: "One of the most excellent of modern books. The wood cuts are magnificent."

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, Pastor Bryan Mem. M. E. Church, South, says: "A most excellent book for the young."

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, says: "I have read the book with pleasure and satisfaction."

Rev. Jno. T. Sawyer, Pastor Felicity Street M. E. Church, South, says: "This is a most excellent book to put in the hands of the young, and older persons will be benefited by it as well."

Hundreds of testimonials can be furnished. Agents are doing splendidly with it. Send $1 for outfit, and secure territory at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
106 CAMP ST., New Orleans, La.

DEATH TO THE DANCE

Such is the charming little book,

"Mary Singleton."

Scatter it far and near. One copy, 20c; per dozen, $2.

L. L. PICKETT, Columbia, S. C.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear-cut and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brewer, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEAREST, TRUEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study. Practical Lectures and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this College has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has unsurpassed facilities and equipments.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.—Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools, in Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE—Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

New England Conservatory
Founded by DR. E. TOURJÉE.
CARL FAELTEN, Director.

MUSIC Instruction in Piano, Organ, Voice, Violin, Solfeggio, Harmony, Etc. Class Tuition, 20 lessons, $10 to $30. Private lessons given. Recitals, Lectures, Choral and Orchestral Practice FREE to all pupils. ELOCUTION—Oratory, Dramatic and Lyric Action, Fine Arts, Languages, Literature, Piano and Organ Tuning. A comfortable HOME for Lady Students. Calendar free.

Fall Term Begins Sept. 10, 1891.
FRANK W. HALE, General Manager
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground,

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR,
Member of Board of Trustees,
No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

IF you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash, mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1360½ Tchoupitoulas street.

IF YOU WANT AN ORGAN AT A BARGAIN

BUY NOW
SPECIAL SUMMER SALE
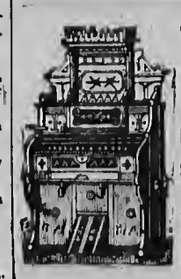
500
FINE ORGANS at Way Down Prices—to close.
Easy Terms—$10 to $5 monthly —or $10 Cash, balance in Full. No Interest.
GREAT BARGAINS
Must be sold. Can't hold. Write for Bargain Sheet.
LUDDEN & BATES,
SAVANNAH, GA.



THIS ORGAN
ONLY $29.00
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.
ADDRESS
H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, N. J.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.

Thursday, November 12, 1891.

Briefs.

Perhaps there are many of our members who will not see the Pastoral Address of the Ecumenical Conference, which we publish in full on the third page. We, therefore, think that it would be a good thing for each pastor to read the address to each of his congregations. Our people ought to know what that Conference said to them. A word is sufficient to a wise pastor.

Ecumenical or Ecumenical. Which is correct? The English use the former pronunciation; the most of the Americans the latter. In this respect the English are unquestionably correct. So says Webster, and so we might naturally gather from the Greek original of the word.—Nashville Advocate.

What edition of Webster does Dr. Hoss use? We have the New Edition with Supplement, 1888, and the "International" Webster of 1890, and both these are against Dr. Hoss' Webster! Is our brother behind the times that far?

The Convention of the World's and National W. C. T. U will be held in Tremont Temple, Boston, Nov. 13-18, 1891. This will be the first convention of the World's W. C. T. U., and the eighteenth of the National society. Both organizations are the sober second-thought of the great temperance crusade by women, dating back to 1874, and having as its chief center Ohio and surrounding States. In the interval this movement has been organized and systematized, with methods of work under the heads of Preventive, Evangelistic, Educational, Social and Legal, subdivided into forty national departments. Scientific temperance education has been introduced into all the States, into all the provinces of Canada, and in great centers throughout the world. A petition has been circulated in every civilized nation for the total suppression of the legalized traffic in alcoholics and opium. A publishing house, sending out over one hundred million pages annually, has been founded in Chicago; also a National Temperance Hospital, and a Woman's Temperance Temple, costing over a million of dollars, and intended by its rentals to serve as a source of income by which to carry on the temperance work of women. There are ten thousand local societies in the United States, with a following of half a million members and adherents.

Bethesda Mission.

The Bethesda Mission, at 267 Tchoupitoulas St., was opened by the superintendent, Mr. Frederic Stanley, on last Saturday night. The occasion was a success and greatly encouraged the workers.

The large hall was about two-thirds full of interested persons, and, considering the character of the community, the order kept was fairly good. This mission is being conducted for the present as an independent experiment, and if it proves successful by January 1, an effort will be made to organize a Board of Directors or mission society, or some such body, to take full control of the work. The prospectus contemplates a sewing-school, mothers' meeting, kindergarten, free dispensary and other departments similar to the missions of Chicago and the East.

The next service will be held next Saturday evening at half-past seven, and the friends of city mission work are urged to attend and see the workings of this new effort.

Our Old Ministers.

We mean by this caption, our ministers who have passed the crown of the hill of life and are going down the decline that slopes into the ocean of eternity. A more interesting group of men can not be found in any department of human society. They began their work in the morning of youthful strength and hopeful enthusiasm. Called of God, and authorized by the church for the work of the ministry, they heeded the call and obeyed the authority by going forth and consecrating their lives to the grand work of publishing the "good tidings of great joy" to all to whom they were sent. While the great world refused its help and looked on with pity, Heaven placed within their reach the infinite resources of divine grace, and, equipping themselves as they went, they marched forth to the battle with as brave spirits as ever kept step to a drum-beat. Convinced by a personal experience, whose testimony could not be doubted, that there was a tremendous reality in the religion which they had received, and that Christ's last command, "Go ye," was their every-day marching orders, and assured by the same order that "all power in heaven and earth" was back of them, they moved with the freedom and courage of victors under a banner that had never been struck to a foe! They marched and fought, and acquired toughness from every march and gained strength in every fight and took on fresh enthusiasm with every victory. "Enduring hardness as good soldiers," and rounding up their characters in the sufferings incident to each campaign, they became veterans in the "wars of the Lord," from whose flashing blades the tallest sons of Anak fled in terror!

That they had troubles and trials and tribulations—that they "knew how to be abased"—that most of them had a very intimate acquaintance with poverty and its privations, goes without saying. Yet they moved in the highest society of the church, as well as along its lowest stratas, and to their influence, exerted both in the highest and lowest planes, is to be attributed the prominent fact that to-day the church occupies a loftier position than ever before. They prepared the church to do better work for the Master, and then led her out into broader fields for the exercise of her growing energies and laid larger plans for the usefulness of her expanding activities. By their earnest and faithful preaching of the simple gospel, and the example of their godly lives, re-enforcing the truth of that gospel, they grounded the church firmly in the Methodist faith, and contributed to build her up to the proud position of having modified and corrected and settled for all time to come the theology of the world. They helped to inaugurate and put in motion many of the agencies which are to-day wielding the largest power in the extension of Christ's kingdom among men. They have left the impressions of their faithfulness in thousands of the households of our Israel, and there the savor of their lives is as "ointment poured forth." The memory of their pastorates still perfumes with rich fragrance the many circuits and stations where they "labored in the Lord," and in hundreds of social circles men and women, whose lives have been influenced for righteousness by them, "rise up and call them blessed." Jealous for the honor of their Lord and zealous for the salvation of souls and desirous that every man should become Christ-like in his character and life and work, they preached and prayed and sung and shouted a gospel adapted to every man's need and circumstances, "the Lord working with them with signs following," until now they look out upon a field of vision from which the horizon has been lifted away, and see a larger promise of unlimited extension and indefinite expansion for the kingdom of God than ever before greeted their watchful eyes!

Oh, ye heroes of these conquests of the church, as you look back upon what has been accomplished in your day and by your help, what a thrill of joy must pulsate through your whole being! Whose honors are as fadeless as yours in the church militant? Whose rewards will equal yours in splendor and magnificence in the church triumphant? Oh, ye veterans of the cross, we hail you in the name of the Lord! Distinguished in the church for your splendid achievements, may your last fight crown probation with the magnificent victory that wins eternal peace, and in the joy of your Lord may you pass the ceaseless cycles of eternal blessedness!

"Evangelists," and Their Methods.

We have fallen upon times wherein novelties are at a premium, and that which is of real value is at a discount. The Methodist Church, from her birth distinguished for her revival power, is, through certain influences now at work, perceptibly weakening in that respect. One of these influences and, perhaps, the chief of these, is the presence in our midst of a certain class of irresponsibles whom we have fallen into the habit of calling "evangelists."

Perhaps, if we examine closely the meaning of the term "evangelist," we will find this to be rather a misnomer when applied to the class of men mentioned above.

What is the New Testament idea of the office of evangelist? Certainly not a man who goes only to well-organized churches in our largest towns and cities to hold revival meetings, and for which service he can boast that he receives more money in a year than do the whole College of Bishops of the M. E. Church, South. Certainly not that; but one who goes to places of religious destitution—places "where Christ is not named"—and seeks out "the lost sheep of the house of Israel." Philip Schaff says they (the evangelists, Eph. iv, 11) were "itinerant missionaries. The name itself indicates that their chief business was to proclaim the glad tidings of salvation, primarily among nations yet unconverted, but not exclusively."

Does anybody hear of the "evangelist" of to-day going out into the poor rural districts and uncultivated fields to "proclaim the glad tidings of salvation?"—and that without hope or prospect of earthly reward? If there be such an one in all this land, I would like to shake hands with him.

Now, the worst feature of this whole business, perhaps, is its undeniable tendency to discount the pastorate and bring the regular ministry into disrepute with the masses.

The most noted of these evangelists has recently conducted a meeting in a Mississippi town. On one occasion, during that meeting, he stated publicly that among the hundreds of thousands of people whom he had met during the last several years he did "not know of more than twenty thoroughly consecrated preachers, nor more than one hundred laymen of like character." Here is a sweeping statement, the correctness of which is not borne out by the facts. The author of the statement has conducted revival meetings in various towns and cities in, perhaps, every State where Southern Methodism exists, and has, perhaps, made the acquaintance of thousands of our preachers and hundreds of thousands of our good men and women in the South and elsewhere, and yet among these he knows of no more than twenty of the preachers and one hundred of the members who are "thoroughly consecrated." Surely we are in a bad fix!

But a "thoroughly consecrated" man is described as "one who gives no thought or time to finances or secular matters of any kind, but just gives himself wholly to the work of soul-saving?" Indeed! And has the secular business of the godly layman, conducted on Christian principles, no relation to soul-saving? It is a very easy matter, I suppose, for a man to give himself no concern about finance who gets more for one month's evangelizing than any man out of a large majority of our preachers gets for a year of hard labor and hard living. A preacher, or layman either, with a family to support on very limited means is bound, as a Christian, to study finance. And such study may be just as consecrated service as prayer, or flinging coarse slang at an audience.

Abuse of the preachers and good people generally, together with vulgar insinuation and anecdote and the language of the slum and saloon, will "draw" a certain element of society to hear a man; but I unhesitatingly take the position that no permanent good is accomplished by such methods. Talking with a pastor in my Conference, a few years ago, about the fruits of a revival held in his pastorate a year or so before by one of these evangelists, he said to me, "I would sell out the stock taken in that meeting at seventy-five per cent. discount." When I repeated this to another, who had a similar experience, he said, "I'll sell out cheaper than that—I'll take ten cents on the dollar for mine." The secret here revealed is this: Men and women who get into the church through such methods as those under discussion must be kept there by such methods, must be fed on the same funny and sensational pabulum, or they are worthless as church members. The good accomplished by the modern evangelist—and there is good accomplished, and may God speed such work!—is not the result of his fun and coarseness and his indiscriminate abuse of good people, but of his more sober and religious efforts. This being true, I say the same amount of real and permanent good would be wrought by them without these questionable and reprehensible things in the pulpit.

The time has come, it seems to me, for us to pause and reflect on these things. The minister of the gospel is "in Christ's stead," and, therefore, he ought boldly and unsparingly to preach against sin; but he stands as the representative of Christ, in the cleanness of his lips and the chasteness of his language; and neither Christ nor his apostles ever employed doubtful language or doubtful methods. "Let us enquire for the old paths," and get back to them, and let every Methodist pastor become a revivalist. Then let them stress the great cardinal principles of the gospel, preach repentance and the need of the new birth, faith in Jesus as a present and personal Savior, and the witness of the Spirit, and so shall men not simply "hold up their hands," but be genuinely, soundly converted.

T. CAMERON.

The form of words in which our fathers expressed the mission of Methodism needs to be changed a little these days. Instead of saying that it is our work "to spread scriptural holiness over these lands," we ought to add, and "to spread scriptural holiness along every street and alley and up and down the corridors of every tenement-house within our cities."

Wanted.

All the Christians of our land to enter into a covenant to pray every day at any certain time most convenient to the individual to Almighty God to help us defeat the lottery.

It is said we can not defeat the lottery, since it has the money, which is power. Well, the odds would be against us but for this fact: We, as Christians, have God for our Father, and "if God be for us, who can be against us?" (Rom. viii, 31.) Why then need we fear? "Behold the Lord's hand is not shortened, that he can not save; neither his ear heavy, that he can not hear." (Isa. lix, 1.) "If two of you shall agree on earth, as touching anything that they shall ask, it shall be done for them, of my Father which is in heaven." (Matt. xviii, 19.)

Let us then agree to ask God to defeat the lottery. "Let us ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given us. But let us ask in faith, nothing wavering." (James i, 5, 6.) "For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil." (I. Peter iii, 12.)

Have we not great encouragement from these words to call upon the Lord, and to expect the victory? Therefore, let us go forth with the words of Asa, King of Juda, as our prayer. "And Asa cried unto the Lord his God, and said, 'Lord, it is nothing with thee to help, whether with many, or with them that have no power: help us, O Lord, our God; for we rest in thee, and in thy name we go against this multitude. O Lord, thou art our God; let no man prevail against thee.' So the Lord smote the Ethiopeans before Asa, and before Juda; and the Ethiopeans fled." (II. Chron. xiv, 11, 12) "All things whatsoever ye ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive." (Matt. xxi, 22.)

E.

[This suggestion of our correspondent is an excellent one, and we trust that every Christian reader of the ADVOCATE will set apart a certain portion of every day to pray to Almighty God to send confusion into the ranks of the lottery advocates, and to bring to naught all their counsels and to defeat overwhelmingly their iniquitous devices. God is on the side of right, and we may pray with confidence of success. There are too many instances of God's direct interposition to save his people, for any Christian to doubt. At the same time we ourselves must fight the foe with all our power.—EDITOR.]

Attention!

In the city of New Orleans, on Thursday, Dec. 3, 1891, a meeting for the purpose of organizing a Conference Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society will be held in Carondelet Street Methodist Church. The district secretaries and other Conference officers are earnestly requested to attend. Each auxiliary is urged to send a delegate. And we would be glad to have a representative from every church in the Louisiana Conference. Pastors are also cordially invited. Those who will attend must send in their names promptly, that necessary arrangements may be made for their entertainment.

SALLIE S. KING,
Conf. Sec. W. P. and H. M. Society.
277 Josephine St., New Orleans, La.

Dr. Field, editor of the Evangelist, gives this paragraph in description of Bishop Phillips Brooks:

Analyze it as you will, you come back at last to this conclusion, that Phillips Brooks is a great preacher, because he is a great man; not of intellect surpassing other men, so much as of a great heart, a heart inspired with the love of humanity, a love that is born of religion, for in humanity he recognizes the race into which Christ came, and that was redeemed by his blood. He loves men, not merely for what they are in themselves, but as those whom Christ loved and for whom he died.

The Educational Assessment.

It is very desirable that the full educational assessment in the two Mississippi Conferences be raised this year. In each Conference provision was made for two educational enterprises: in the North Mississippi Conference the Grenada Collegiate Institute and Millsaps College, and in the Mississippi Conference, Centenary and Millsaps Colleges. Let it not be supposed that because Millsaps College did not open this Fall, the assessment will not be needed. We purpose, if possible, having the fund in hand before making an appropriation, and thereby meet the demands upon us more intelligently and satisfactorily. We will need every dollar of the assessment in both Conferences. Presiding elders and pastors will please give this matter special attention.

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.
Jackson, Miss.

Notes.

The Indiana Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church has elected a woman to the next General Conference of that body, and it is thought other Conferences will do likewise.

The preacher's office is no longer a power with the multitude; but if he is a true and real man, his power is in his manhood. There never has been, never will be, any discount upon true manhood. That wins every time.

According to Hugh Price Hughes, large and attractive halls, lively music, short prayers, and short but inspiring sermons, active interest in the physical and social welfare of the people, sisterhoods as well as brotherhoods, have united in crowding the churches in English cities that but a short time ago reported very small congregations.

A writer in the Standard says:

If a man know how to preach the everlasting gospel, if he be himself a living incarnation of its perennial freshness and force, its life and peace and joy, its power to heal and harmonize and every way help men groping their ways among glided ashes; if he be a voice that can speak, not simply the seminary's lore, but the Savior's love—then there never was a time when he could have a more open and inviting field, or a more grateful welcome among thronging men, or a fairer hope of achieving large and lasting results.

The majority of Christians need a new conscience; a conscience cleared of selfishness and prejudice; a conscience that feels God's law pressing its tremendous sanctions into the very core of being; a conscience that regards men as of more value than a herd of cattle; a conscience that appraises the souls and bodies of men as more precious than fine gold; a conscience that will stir them out of their lethargy to earnest desire and restless solicitude and unceasing work to lift the race and leave the world better than they found it.

A good deal is being written about "charity to the deserving poor." Our opinion is that the "deserving poor" do not need charity, not even "Christian charity," but Christian justice. The divinest charity is that which seeks to furnish the "deserving poor" with "employment under conditions consistent with health, intelligence and morality." Anything below this is below the level of the teachings of the Son of man. Efforts on this line are arguments in favor of the divinity of the Christian religion, which outweigh all the "evidences" in the books.

We have received a little pamphlet from our House, entitled, "The Money Problem; or, Our First and Last Great Struggle," by Rev. Crawford Jackson, of the North Georgia Conference, with an introduction by Dr. W. A. Candler, president of Emory College. Price, ten cents per copy; $5 per hundred. This is an able discussion of a most important subject. No subject now needs to be ventilated more than the subject of money-getting, money-holding and money-giving. If our Methodist people could be waked up on this question, all our financial troubles would vanish as mist before the morning sun.

We copy from the Northwestern Christian Advocate:

In this better day free grace ought to have free access to slums and palaces alike. Hugh Price Hughes declares that Oxford graduates, if glorified by godly zeal, are just the men for the forlorn hopes of squalid east end missions. Peter Thompson, the loved Methodist apostle of Whitechapel Missions, is none the less like Christ because he respects his grammatical moods and tenses. When a devout scholar cleaves to the people, he touches the hearts of the rich also, who honor the apostle that regenerates those who never wrote a bank check in all their lives. When the besotted poor rise and begin to shine, despite their poverty, the rich begin to see that riches are of secondary value. Such fruits open the hearts of the rich, who, in their turn, deserve the evangelizing ministry of him who had not where to lay his precious head.

Haven't we been saying such as that for several years? The well-organized churches can get along pretty well with second-rate men, but the mission work must have a first-rate man, or it will not be a success.

Personal and Otherwise.

Rev. E. B. Chappell, of San Antonio, Texas, goes to Lafayette Park Church, St. Louis.

The New York Presbytery, before which Prof. Briggs was tried on the charge of heresy, dismissed the case by a vote of 94 to 39.

Mrs. Davis has decided to have the remains of her husband, President Jeff. Davis, interred in Hollywood Cemetery, Richmond, Va.

The Pacific Methodist Advocate, of Oct. 29, reports Dr. John Hannon as "in feeble health," and that "his physician thinks it will be some time before he will be fully recovered."

Rev. J. G. Sibley writes from Summit, Miss.:

The ladies of Summit have graciously pounded the occupants of the Methodist parsonage again, and it still continues.

We have received the Minutes of the Fourteenth Session of the Montana Conference. It is an interesting document, showing the progress our brethren are making in that far-away region.

We are always cheered by a visit from President Fitzhugh, of Whitworth College. We had this cheer last Saturday. The president represents the college as having a very successful beginning this session.

Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi—a W. C. T. U. organizer—spent several days in our city last week. She delivered some temperance speeches in various churches, which greatly pleased those who heard them.

In the navy yard at Washington City we saw some big guns in process of manufacture, and learned that the cost of firing one of them for one time would be about $1,000. Pretty expensive shooting, and maybe a miss at that!

Let none of our pastors forget that next Sunday, Nov. 15, the Methodist week of prayer will begin. It is to be a united prayer going up from every part of the world for an outpouring of the Spirit of God upon our church. We trust that every pastor in our connection will observe it.

Dr. Luther Sexton, formerly of Wesson, Miss., gave us a pleasant call last week. Dr. Sexton has accepted the chair of assistant surgeon in the Tulane University, and has come to cast in his lot among us. He is an enthusiast in his profession, and a good Methodist, and we extend to him a warm welcome.

We call special attention to two articles in this week's issue of the ADVOCATE: The address of the Ecumenical Conference to the Methodists scattered over the world, and Dr. Palmer's address before the Ladies' Anti-Lottery League of this city. These two addresses are well worth careful perusal.

Dr. Bennett, the editor, and George Thornburgh, the business manager, of the Arkansas Methodist, have been appointed colporteurs for the Little Rock, Arkansas and White River Conferences. We think that is a great deal better than to have a colporteur for each Conference. Why can't our three Conferences do something like that? Why fritter away our strength by division?

New Prospect Camp Meeting.

Our twelfth annual camp meeting at New Prospect convened on Oct. 23, 1891. All the tents were occupied (14); one public tent. Large congregation at first service. Bro. T. W. Adams preached the opening sermon from Acts ii, 1. Very affecting and impressing. Bros. Adams, Holland, Mounger, L. R. Roberts and Jamee King did the preaching. The Word was attended with power. After sermon by Bro. Mounger, Sunday, at eleven o'clock, from St. Luke xiii, 23, 24, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered by Bro. Holland to 120 communicants. Meeting said to be among the best ever held here. The best of order prevailed. The Lord bless the tent-holders for their firmness and liberality! I wish the world was filled with men and women like them. Meeting resulted in 13 children baptized, 4 adults; 16 accessions to the church, about 10 conversions, and the membership of the circuit greatly benefited. I hereby tender my thanks to the preachers for their help in camp meeting; also to Bros. King, Roberts, Havens, Flurry, Brown, and D. G. Alexander for ministerial help during the year. The good Lord has greatly blessed us this year. All the assessments will be paid in full. Accessions to date, 71. The people in the bounds of this circuit are very appreciative, and have the name, and deserve it, of taking care of their preacher. M. L. WHITE.

Nov. 8, 1891.

You Can Rely

Upon Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for every form of scrofula, salt rheum, boils, pimples and all other diseases caused by impure blood. It eradicates all impurity and tones and vitalizes the whole system.

North Mississippi Conference.

Applicants for admission on trial into the North Mississippi Conference will please meet the Examining Committee at three o'clock P. M. of Monday, Nov. 30, in the basement of the Methodist Church in Macon.

"Ordinary branches of an English education" will embrace English grammar, composition, arithmetic and geography.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, for Com.

The class of the second year will meet at the Methodist Church in Macon, on Tuesday morning, Dec. 1, at 8:30 o'clock. Brethren, be prompt.

HESLEP R. TUCKER,
E. H. CASEY,
G. W. GORDON,
Committee.

The class of the third year will meet at 7:30 P. M., at the Methodist Church in Macon, Nov. 30. Let all be present at the beginning of the examination and save much trouble.

R. A. ELLIS,
Chair'n of Committee.

Winona, Miss., Nov. 4, 1891.

Mississippi Conference Notice.

Those intending to come to Conference will please note the following concerning railway rates, and act accordingly:

As the I. C. agent at Brookhaven can not ticket delegates returning beyond his own line, certificates of the I. C. road only can be presented to him. And to get reduction over other lines, they should ask for ticket to the I. C. junction point only, securing a certificate wherever they purchase. Arrangements have been completed over all the lines, by which full fare is paid coming, as per certificate receipted by agent, and one-third fare for the return trip. W. H. HUNTLEY.

Brookhaven, Nov. 6, 1891.

Beware!

To Whom it May Concern:

For good and sufficient reasons the recommendation heretofore given by me to Rev. John H. Welsh, a superannuated member of the Arkansas Conference, of the M. E. Church, South, and Prof. J. W. Beardslee (the one being the president and the other the vice-president of the Mississippi Orphans' Home) is hereby withdrawn and the public duly warned. I have cause for deeply regretting having signed said recommendation.

T. L. MELLEN,
Presiding Elder, Meridian District.

Meridian, Miss., Nov. 6, 1891.

Special Notice.

To the Members of the North Mississippi Conference:

Brethren: Please prepare your statistical reports and hand them to the statistical secretary the first day of the Conference without fail. Exercise care in putting down all your figures, so that each one will be in its proper place, showing the difference between dollars and cents.

STATISTICAL SECRETARY.

Mississippi Conference Notice.

Candidates for admission on trial will please meet the Examining Committee at the Methodist Church in Brookhaven, Tuesday morning, Dec. 8, at nine o'clock.

W. B. LEWIS, for Com.

Notice.

The pastors of the Louisiana Annual Conference will please obtain all information in regard to the Conference claimants living within the bounds of their pastoral charge and report same to the Joint Board of Finance. This is your duty. Do it.

JOINT BOARD OF FINANCE.

The World's Fair.

The South may claim, without prejudice, to have more than its share of the world's fair. The acknowledged beauty of the ladies of the South is due in a great degree to the use of Creole Female Tonic, the ladies' friend and favorite, and sure cure for all female ailments.

A Good Medicine.

I wish to commend Compound Oxygen to all invalids by a statement of a strong case. Miss Maggie Beslie, of Madison county, Miss., was a bed-ridden invalid for nine years of spinal trouble. At my instance, a two months' treatment of the Compound Oxygen was ordered of Drs. Starkey & Palen, Philadelphia, Pa. Soon after beginning the treatment, she began to improve in health, and, with exception of a sharp attack for a little while, continued to improve until cured, and married soon after; well enough to walk four miles without trouble. This Compound Oxygen was a gift to this saintly young lady by these noble and generous doctors. This cure occurred in 1878.

WM. B. HINES.

Waynesboro, Miss., Oct. 26, 1891.

Louisiana Notes.

Plaquemine has voted a five mills' tax for waterworks.

The citizens of Jackson are making efforts to secure the extension of the Mississippi Valley railroad from Clinton to their town.

The Ruston postoffice has been changed from fourth to third class, which brings it under presidential appointment, with a salary of $1,000.

The Delhi Compress Company was organized recently with a capital stock of $20 000. It is expected to begin compressing cotton in less than a month.

At a recent meeting of the police jury of DeSoto parish an appropriation of $500 was made to send two beneficiary cadets to the State University at Baton Rouge.

The bridge over the Ouachita at Columbia has been finished so far as passage of trains is concerned; and it is expected that by the last of December the H., C., A. and N. railroad will be completed to Alexandria.

Louis Rawlings, for many years pilot on the Ouachita Consolidated Line's Saturday packet, will enter an independent boat in this trade as soon as water permits. His boat will have a capacity of 2,000 bales, and, as he is one of the most popular men ever on the river, will, no doubt, receive a liberal patronage.

The October crop statement, issued last week by Secretary Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, shows the largest movement of cotton during any single month in the history of the trade, the total number of bales in sight during the thirty-one days having reached 2,024,143, against 1 743,287 in October, 1890, and 1,631,219 in October, 1889—an increase of 280,856 over last year, and 392,924 over year before last.

The East Baton Rouge Farmers' Club held an interesting meeting last week, receiving a report from the committee appointed to solicit stock for the Baton Rouge sugar refinery. The committee reported $5 200 subscribed of the required $10,000, and the secretary was directed to write to Mr. Deming and request him to name a day as early as possible when he can come up and lay his entire plan before the stockholders, after which the balance of the stock will be readily subscribed.

Mississippi Items.

Work has begun on the Scranton ice factory. It is expected to begin operations the first of January.

The cotton gin on the McCutcheon Plantation, near Greenville, was destroyed by fire lately, together with twelve bales of cotton and thirty tons of seed. The gin was valued at $2 500.

The census office has announced the population of Mississippi. The population of the State is given as 1,289,600, against 1,131 597 in 1880. Of the 75 counties in the State 11 show decreases.

Gov. Stone has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest of the murderer of Mrs. J. M. Williamson. The citizens of Hattiesburg also offer a reward of $1,000; Ellisville, $100; another place, $100; Mr. Williamson, $500—making a total of $2,200.

A building firm has contracted with Mr. S. Wachenheim, a large owner of real estate in Vicksburg, Miss., to build thirty-four cottages on the latter's city property. The buildings are designed to meet the demand for small houses, arising from the increased force of mechanics now employed here in the Valley railroad shops. They will be built at once.

Jackson has to-day more miles of paved streets, more handsome public buildings, more elegant residences, churches, school-houses, colleges, finer waterworks, electric lights, and institutions of that character than any city its size in the South. These are living facts that can not be controverted, and while we are on the upward and onward grade with two more big colleges in the near future, there are two things needed to assist us in keeping abreast of the times and with other live cities.—Clarion-Ledger.

Those two things are: a system of sewerage and an extension of the street car lines.

Discussing the G. and S. I. R. R., the Biloxi Herald says:

The Gulf and Ship Island railroad has secured one hundred and fifty-six thousand acres of the land grant of the United States government, which is estimated to be worth from $750,000 to $1,000 000, which will complete and fully equip the road as far as Hattiesburg. This land has been secured to the road beyond all contingency, and is owned by the corporation. Should the present Congress, which will assemble on the first of December next, fail to pass an act of forfeiture of the remainder of the grant, and leave the question open, more land may be got out of it if the road should pass into the hands of men who have the capital to go to work and build one or two hundred miles more.

The Favorite.

For twenty-five years Mareden's Pectoral Balm has been well and favorably known in the South. It is an unfailing cure for la grippe, coughs, colds and croup in children.

Revival at Parker Chapel.

We have just closed a successful meeting at Parker Chapel, continuing two weeks. Bro. Wimberly did most of the preaching, which was "in demonstration of the Spirit and power." Results: Sixteen accessions, upwards of twenty-five conversions; also a number of professing Christians sought and obtained deeper experiences of the cleansing power of Christ's blood. It was a genuine revival of religion.

The chapel has been thoroughly repaired, and improvements, which add both to utility and beauty, have been made; a sum of near $1,400 having been expended in this work. This has been done through the faithful efforts of our beloved and venerable soldier of Christ, Rev. J. D. Parker. Sunday afternoon, Nov. 8, the chapel was reconsecrated to the service of God. Our editor, Dr. Carter, gave us a strong, helpful sermon on "The Furtherance of the Gospel." It was just the sermon for the occasion. After singing "A charge to keep I have," Bro. J. D. Parker made a statement of the work done, stating that all indebtedness was cancelled. After prayer by Dr. Beard, Bro. Sawyer raised the collection, $168 25. This amount is to finish paying for an adjacent lot recently purchased by the Board of Trustees. It affords me great pleasure to say that this amount, excepting $46, was given by members of the chapel. This indicates their disposition. May God bless their noble and faithful efforts! This formed a delightful close to our meeting.

We embrace this opportunity of thanking all our friends who have come to our help in this enterprise. With gratitude to God, we are more than ever determined to spend and be spent in "the furtherance of the gospel." F. N. PARKER, Pastor.

If you want a reliable dye that will color an even brown or black, and will please and satisfy you every time, use Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers.

Resolution of Commendation.

The following is the form of a resolution adopted by the fourth Quarterly Conference of Madison circuit, which is forwarded by request for publication in the ADVOCATE:

Whereas, By the turn of the great itinerant wheel of our church, our presiding elder, Rev. D. A. Little, is to be assigned another field of labor at the annual meeting of our Conference; therefore, be it

Resolved, That during the four years of service with us we have recognized in him a man eminently qualified for such an office, and a vigilant watchman on Zion's walls; that we will cherish his godly precepts and example; and after the church's law has been satisfied we would hail with pleasure his return to the Jackson district.

C. L. RAY,
R. J. GOODLOE.

Oh, stop that toothache! Johnson's Anodyne Liniment will relieve any severe pain promptly.

Resolutions of the Quarterly Conference of Bay St. Louis charge, Seashore district, Mississippi Conference, held at Biloxi, Nov. 4, 1891:

Whereas, The Methodist Church in its book of discipline forbids drunkenness or the drinking of spirituous liquors, unless in cases of necessity (that is, as a medicine), and forbids doing harm by avoiding evil of every kind; And whereas, Our General and Annual Conferences have declared the liquor license a sin, and the saloon the greatest of all enemies to God, the church and society—a sentiment voiced by Christian churches generally, and accepted by a large majority of the people in and out of the church; therefore, be it

Resolved, That, as members of this Quarterly Conference, we pledge our hearty support to our rule of discipline and the resolutions of our General and Annual Conferences, as referred to above, on this subject.

W. A. WHITE, Sec.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

Special Offer

FOR

New Subscribers

AND

Renewals.

All new subscribers paying $2 in advance will receive this paper until January 1, 1893.

PRIZE OFFERS.

Anyone sending in $2 for a new subscriber will be paid a commission of fifty cents, and, in addition, those sending in ten new subscribers between now and the meeting of their Annual Conference will be given a beautifully printed, bound and illustrated copy of "Farrar's Life of Christ," worth $3.

Those sending in five new subscribers during the above period will be given a silvered-bound copy of Prof. Henry Drummond's five great addresses, entitled, "The Greatest Thing in the World," "Pax Vobiscum," "The Changed Life," "A Talk with Boys," and "How to Learn How." This book is sold at $1.25.

All payments must be in either cash to the preacher in charge or sent to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.

SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel, Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices! | Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

PIANOS! PIANOS! PIANOS!

Organs! Organs! Organs!

All of the Leading Makes To Be Had Here.

Lowest Prices. | Easiest Terms.

Liberal Discounts to Teachers and Schools.

B. D. WOOD & SONS,

113 Common Street.

COAL AND COKE

We are prepared to furnish Families, Planters, Foundries, Steamships, Steamboats and all consumers of Coal or Coke at Lowest Market Rates.

Chops as Shown

BUY THE ENTERPRISE TINNED

MEAT CHOPPER

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

SOLD BY THE HARDWARE TRADE.

No. 10 $3.00. Send for Catalogue, FREE. ENTERPRISE M'F'G CO., PHILADELPHIA.

The Great Church LIGHT.

FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

GOOD NEWS
FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF
Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a
TINY LIVER PILL
which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of
TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS
is shown in the border of this "ad."

Taking butter from milk was known in the earliest times. It was left for our time to make a milk of cod-liver oil.

Milk, the emulsion of butter, is an easier food than butter. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is an easier food than cod-liver oil. It is rest for digestion. It stimulates, helps, restores, digestion; and, at the same time, supplies the body a kind of nourishment it can get in no other way.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.
25

CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS Containing new Carols and a Responsive Service that may be used with or without the Carols 16 pages. Price, 5 cents a single copy.

The CHRIST of BETHLEHEM. A Beautiful New Christmas Service By J. E. HALL. containing an Instructive Responsive Service interspersed with New and Appropriate Carols. Price, 5 cents a single copy. OTHER SERVICES of the same character and at the same price, are "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Eve Bells," "Good Will to Men," "Noel," and "Peace on Earth."

A CHRISTMAS VISION A NEW CANTATA By C. L. Burnham & G. F. Root. Mr. Burnham, a children in these two well known writers is sure to meet with a cordial reception. This new work is the prettiest and most entertaining they have produced thus far. Price, 30 cents a single copy. OTHER CANTATAS for the Christmas Season are "One Christmas Eve," "Santa Claus & Co.," "The New Santa Claus," "Catching Kriss Kringle," "Judge Santa Claus," "Santa Claus' Mistake," and "The Waits Christmas." Price of each, 30 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY Relates in verse, scripture readings and music the principal events of Christ's life on earth. Beautiful and instructive. Price, 20 cents a single copy.

BETHLEHEM. A Cantata for Adults only (no children's parts that cannot fail to please wherever rendered). By G. F. Root. Price, 50 cts a single copy. Send 10 cents for sample copy of "Musical Visitor" for Choirs.

—PUBLISHED BY—
The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 156 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 13 E. 16th St., New York.

GOLDEN MEMORIES
OF THE BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.
8 Col'd Plates, 50 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations!
A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ARTI
A Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown.
Sold at a price within the reach of all.
AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP.
HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn. FOR Catalogue.

SKIN DISEASES Tetter, Eczema, Chapped Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by GREVE'S OINTMENT. 50c. Druggists. HISCOX & CO., N.Y.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE
Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Asthma, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion. Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.
HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & Co., N. Y.

HAVE YOU GOT PILES
$100. FOR AN INCURABLE CASE.
Itching Piles are known by moisture like perspiration, causing intense itching when warm. This form as well as Blind, Bleeding and Protruding, yield at once to which acts directly on parts affected, absorbs tumors, allays itching and effects a permanent cure. 50c. Druggists or mail. Circulars free. Bosanko Co. Piqua, O.
DR. BO-SAN-KO'S PILE REMEDY

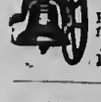
How To Cure Piles.
We will send our new, highly endorsed scientific booklet, "How to Cure Piles," free to any one troubled with Piles or Constipation. If they mention this paper and enclose a 2c. stamp for postage. Send quickly, the number of free books is limited.
THE GLOBE MEDICINE CO. Cincinnati, O.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. H. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

AGENTS send for How I Made a Home and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a Home, or business change $75 to $100 Monthly. Teachers and Ladies find big pay for spare hours. TREASURY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Best quality Copper and Tin BELLS for Churches, Schools, &c.
Also CHIMES AND BELLS.
Price and terms free. Name this paper.



BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

CANCER and Tumors CURED no knife! book free Drs GRATIGNY & NORRIS No. 163 Elm street, Cincinnati, O.

ASTHMA DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE address, we will mail trial CURED never fails; send us your BOTTLE FREE
THE DR. TAFT BROS. M. CO., ROCHESTER, N.Y.

HOME LIFE.

LOWLY SERVICE.

In some still nook dost toil unknown?
Thy simple fare unnoticed take,
Keeping true heart asleep, awake
While deeds less brave than thine have flown
Where fame's proud trump is lendly blown?
Work patiently for God's dear sake,
Give what thou canst to hearts that ache;
Thy Lord some day will claim his own.
And when he counts his treasures o'er
Upon eternity's bright shore,
It may be he will value more
The fragrance of the lily's bell,
Shed richly in its narrow dell,
Than stars whose praise the ages tell.

—Methodist Magazine.

How to Labor.

Not long ago some work was presented for par inspection which it was desirable to have done in as nearly perfect a manner as possible. While viewing it critically for a moment, the young operative, standing anxiously by, remarked, "I did the very best I could," and even had the work been less well performed than it was, that earnest, honest avowal would have gone far toward commending it to kindly approval.

That is all the oldest and the wisest can do—their very best. One of the hardest lessons to be learned in life is that of adaptation to our particular place and line of work. It forever appears as though our capabilities should have been greater, our sphere of action wider, and our life-work of more importance than it is. Virtues which shine lightly and appear as if inherent in other natures are discouragingly lacking in our own, and do our best, advancement is slow and uncertain. Henry Ward Beecher, that cheery apostle of faith, courage and perseverance, says: "Do not be troubled because you have no great virtues. God made a million spears of grass where he made one tree. The earth is fringed and carpeted not with forests, but with grasses. Only have enough of little virtues and common fidelities, and you need not mourn because you are neither a hero nor a saint." And just so you need not mourn because your life-work is not that of a hero or a saint. The season has come when thousands of toilers resume their accustomed places in the office, the school-room, the store, and the home. Every-day life is apt to seem a little humdrum after the relaxation and delightful change of vacation days. But inasmuch as "life is real and life is earnest," the season of recreation and freedom from care must form the rare exception to the general rule.

It is not so much what we do, as how we do it, that forms the criterion of worthy and well-performed labor. God apportions the work, and what may seem an ill-adapted or unprofitable choice is often clearly his ordering.

We read from Amiel: "Despise not your situation; in it you must act, suffer and conquer. From every point on earth we are equally near to heaven and to the Infinite." And from Robertson: "It is not by change of circumstances, but by fitting our spirits to circumstances in which God has placed us, that we can be reconciled to life and duty." It is rare consolation to know that whether occupying one of the high places in the work of the world or working in the kitchen, the factory or the mine, we are equally near to heaven and to the Infinite. This of itself ought to reconcile any Christian man or woman to the circumstances and the position in which God has placed them. And let it be remembered that often a change of circumstances which has seemed greatly desirable and been ardently longed for, has been effected only to show that the superior advantages of the new position were fancied, and the unfortunate malcontent would gladly go back to the former position when it is too late to change again.

Experience soon teaches that the safest, surest course for short-sighted mortals is to trust the superior wisdom and fatherliness of God, who appoints to each of his children the lot that in His eyes is the best one for him, and lays on him the cross he is best fitted to bear. Old people are continually looking back, and telling how plainly they can see how God has led them all the way, giving them work to do which was not their choice, but which became blessed when performed in his fear and in the best way they knew.

So it is only by fitting the yoke to the shoulder and working steadily, patiently on, that contentment comes to the soul.

Says Cardinal Gibbons: "I can not conceive any thought better calculated to ease the yoke and to lighten the burden of the Christian toiler than the reflection that the highest type of manhood had voluntarily devoted Himself to manual labor." While the Savior was fashioning the frame of wood in his simple, useful calling, he was also perfecting the only faultless character the world has ever seen. Like him, we are modelling not only the garment, or working at the desk, in the office or behind the counter, but a life is being rounded out which at last must undergo the inspection of a Judge who makes no mistake in his estimate of how the work has been done. Let it be so worthily done as to insure the blessed verdict of "Well done! good and faithful servant!"

"If thou canst say in earnestness of thought
That thou hast done thy best,
And that each task with all thy might is wrought,
What matters for the rest?

"And it may be that other workers shall Take this heart of grace, and see
In labor humble and unmusical
Some beauty given by thee.

"And unto them thy life, where all things sweet
Are left unfinished yet,
May be revealed in cadences complete,
To heaven's own music set."

—Christian at Work.

SHARE YOUR COMFORTS.—If you keep your eyes open, you will discover that some boy or girl in school never has any fruit or meat or cake for lunch. Would it not be fun to take a lunch to school for them and put it in their coat or desk when they did not know it? Then you might some time find a way to drop a warm pair of stockings or gloves or a comforter into their desk as a glad surprise; or some little comfort for their brothers or sisters, or even their father or mother. Nothing shows the Christian lady or gentleman more truly than the way they do acts of kindness or benevolence.

Last winter, at one of the Boston railroad depots two young men left a train. One wore a thick ulster trimmed with fur, a fur cap and gloves; the other was lame, had no overcoat or gloves, and seemed to shrink inside of his clothes every time a gust of wind struck him. He rubbed his ears with his hands, and altogether was the picture of misery. The warmly clad young man suddenly pulled off his fur gloves and thrust them into the cripple's hand, and in a moment had disappeared in the crowd. First a puzzled, then a glad look came into the face of the cripple, who was warmed as much by the expression of sympathy from another as by the actual warmth imparted by the gloves.—Our Sunday Afternoon.

What Is Life?

BY REV. J. W. HARMON.

Existence is not the voluntary act of any human being; but when ushered into life man finds himself under laws both human and divine—laws about which he had nothing to do as to their origin or framing, and yet laws to which he is held amenable by an inexorable logic, as fixed as the laws of the universe. The question is, Who shall get the best out of it?

There is a class of men, and among them some professed Christians, who suicide all cheerfulness out of their lives, take pride in austerity, and wear cast-iron countenances. This rigid class of sour-milk religionists study out the dark elements of life, and, inticing their hearts to sunny thoughts and love's sweet smiles, drink only at the streams of sour godliness.

I came across one of these marred editions of manhood, who remarked, "I never want my wife or children to speak to me until after breakfast." Like an old chestnut-bur, he was ready to sting all who came in contact with him. No wonder that such homes are like some desolate heath, where the wild beasts of passion rove at will; where the volatile mirth of childhood, the joyous laughter of youth and the cheerful outbursts of genial hearts never find pleasure in the presence of such blurred editions of humanity! The dull passage of days and months to them is not life in any true sense. For such men to drag round in the chronic tread-mill of life with clouded faces, morose in speech, irascible in temper, turning all the moral and menial machinery of existence into lottery schemes for money-getting, is the profane degradation of human existence, and is not life in any of its nobler and sweeter departments. This sort of living opens none of those secret and holy chambers of the heart where the sanctities of the inner life voice themselves in prayer; where the divinity of the soul holds all the powers and passions in sacred and willing captivity to truth and righteousness; where the soul dwells alone, all alone with God in his secret pavilion.

Real life is not sensual, but spiritual; is not dullness, but cheerfulness; is not ignorance, but knowledge divine; is not bitterness, but gentleness; is not falsehood, but truth; is not doubt, but faith; is not hatred, but love; is not profanity, but holiness: a life embossed all over with truth and goodness.

These are the mighty forces that stir to their deepest depths all the sacred and mysterious machinery of human life, burdened, as it is, with the measureless majesty of the soul's redemption in the blood of the Divine Master.

This is true life. All else is false, dangerous and destructive. The real life is divine, eternal.

THE PEACE OF GOD.—The peace of man is a truce; the original trouble remains, ready to break out anew into fierce strife or perpetual struggle. The peace of God is a reasonable and final settlement by disposing of the points at issue. The cause of the trouble is removed. The sin, which alone separates between the soul and the divine Father, is forgiven, blotted out, and put far away as the east is from the west. If any future trouble arise, it must be on a new issue; the old one is disposed of and forever relegated to oblivion. The sin is not only forgiven, but so forgotten that the sinner is treated as though the sin had never been committed. He comes back into the divine favor and confidence under a covenant, which, on the divine side, can never be violated. The love extended to us will be as lasting as the grasp of our faith upon the divine promises.

The peace of man is too often formal, unsubstantial—the pledge upon the lip, the uttered salam, the mere husk without the kernel; the peace of God is real—the streaming into the soul of divine light and life, the tranquillization of all the faculties under the control of him whose voice stilled the waves. At the sound of that same voice the sea of human passion becomes calm. The peace of God is a great calm.

The peace of man is scant, inadequate, there are great voids in the soul; the peace of God is full, the soul overflows.—Zion's Herald.

NERVE WASTE.—Nerve waste is somewhat a new field of consideration for people of studious habits. People think that the supply of vital energy is inexhaustible, and that repair goes on as fast as waste. Then comes a crash and they are puzzled. They should not be. Nerves should be economized as carefully as a bank account. You can not get out what is not put into the nerves any more than into the bank. Sleep is nature's way of winding up the machine. When we begin to get sleepless the nerves are then exhausted; and either insanity or some other form of nerve depression is near at hand. Railroad traveling, even in a sleeper, is not like a bed. Rapid mental work for short hours is better than a long struggle to do mental work when we are weary. The Master said, "Come aside and rest awhile," and Summer vacations are as good now as then.—Mid-Continent.

GOOD ADVICE.—To use this terse and homely phrase, my friend, let us mind our own business. There is enough to decide in our lives; let us be unmindful of the affairs of others, except in so far as we can be helpful and of real benefit. Let us be charitable in all our conclusions, mindful of the fact that we so often need the cloak of charity ourselves. As we would wish to be judged, so let us judge others—always with a kindly spirit, ever with a belief in the better part of self. Strew a flower where others throw a stone. Fill your life so full of sunshine that evil reports will find no place where you are. Stop petty scandals by some pretty story of womanly kindness. Make your life a bright spot in this world, and where you see a frown there throw a smile, and whether it be morn, dusk or night, let the sunny side of your nature always be at full meridian.—Selected.

BUSINESS AND RELIGION.—A really Christ-like man could no more keep his religion out of his business or out of his politics than he could keep air out of his lungs. As the body lives by breathing the air of heaven, so the spirit lives by communion with God; and that communion can be enjoyed only by one who habitually seeks to do the will of God in every act of life. How then can a man separate his religion from his business or from his politics without cutting himself off from the source of his spiritual life?—New York Weekly Witness.

Every house-mother should rest occasionally and for this purpose a lounge in the sitting-room or a rocker in the kitchen, to be used at any spare five minutes for resting, will save many an hour of pain. There are numberless little offices of domestic work which can be accomplished by the hands while the body rests; it is not necessary to use the feet as well, to stand while doing anything that can be accomplished sitting down. All this indulgence may be permitted without meriting the reproach of idleness, for our civilization would be useless, indeed, if it did not increase the measure of our daily comfort.

Beauty, though it is a pretty varnish, yet is of frail constitution, liable to abundance of accidents, and is but a short-lived blessing at the best.—Collier.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

TWO SKETCHES IN SAND.

BY SAMUEL K. COWAN, M. A.

Some tiny toilers, busy, spade in hand,
Building their towers of Babel on the sand,
With sweet confusion of gay tongues, and din
Of merry laughter—as the Tide comes in.

A crumbling castle, slipping, grain by grain,
At the tide's touch, back into dust again;
And children watching with a smile, without
One Joy-link broken—as the Tide goes out.

A world of toilers, building Babel-dreams,
And, from Time's sands, their sky-ascending schemes:
Who, day by day, like children, toil and spin
Hope's golden visions—as the Tide comes in.

And Man, with child-like spirit, day by day,
As, one by one, each bright hope fades away,
Watching the rain with a smile, without
One Faith-link riven—as the Tide goes out!

—Belfast News.

Your Best Friend.

Most of you have a mother, I hope. You can never have but one, my dear boys. Do you ever think of that? She probably has spoiled you; very likely she has taken your part when nobody else would; she has sided with you against father and the girls; and even has gone so far as to aver there never was such a boy before, and never can be again one just like her Tom. Now Aunt Fannie prayerfully trusts there will be better ones. She isn't blinded by mother love, not a bit of it. She knows a thing or two, and puts several of them together. And out of the little faults that mother scarcely recognizes she—puts one, which translated, reads selfishness; every boy, even the minister's knows the meaning of that word.

Every time mother's back aches it is because of some burden she is bearing, or has borne for you. And if you only knew how she appreciates the slightest act of thoughtfulness on your part, you would not give so grudgingly a little of the time you devote so unsparingly to your companions.

Never allow anybody or anything to interfere with the duty you owe to your mother. She, your first, is next to God your best friend. So, boys, cherish your mother; let no one tempt you to set her aside.

One of the most beautiful as well as manly of all traits in a big, strong man, is his devotion to his mother; it never fails to command the admiration and respect of all whose opinion is worth having. And if you are blessed with a Christian mother, there is no place so distant that her love and her prayers can not reach. So wherever you may be you are compassed about by mother's prayers. Remember that, you who are the sons of God-fearing mothers. Hard, indeed, must he the heart that is unresponsive to a mother's love.

Some day in the home there will be felt a sense of desolation; the tie that bound the different hearts together is snapped, the vacant chair is there never to be occupied again—for mother is gone. On the other shore she awaits your coming; then you have a mother in heaven. Try to do as she would have had you do, to meet her again in a land where there are no partings.—Christian at Work.

He Saw Too Much.

AN ANECDOTE THAT MAY BE WISELY APPLIED BY MANY A LAD.

As a rule an employer requires the persons he employs to be bright and acute at all times, and when an employee is discharged it is generally for not keeping his eyes open. It occasionally happens, however, that an employee sees too much for his own good, as in the case of the Virginia planter who hired a field hand.

One day the planter came along and accosted the new hand:

"Did you see a coach go down the road awhile ago?"

"Indeed I did, sir. One of the horses was a gray horse, and the other was a roan and lame in the off leg."

"I thought that I heard some hunters there on the edge of the woods."

"Yes, sir. One of them was Col. Jones. He was the tall one. The second one was Maj. Peters, and the third one was Tom McKee. Col. Jones had one of them new-fangled, breech-loading guns that break in two."

"Did you see those wild pigeons fly over just now?"

"See 'em! Guess I did! There was nineteen of 'em. They lit in that cornfield down yonder."

"Well, you see too much for a man that is hired by the day. Here's your wages. When I want a man to keep watch of what is going on, I'll send for you."—Golden Days.

She Was Too Cheap.

Perhaps all the good children do not live in Brooklyn, but I think a fair share of the bright ones do.

Max is five years old and his best friend and playmate is Stella, a little girl who lives next door.

Stella has a naughty fashion of losing herself, and the other day her mama was greatly frightened when she could not be found, for she is a wee mite of three years.

In came Max, bright and eager, to assure Mrs. S— that he would find her. In a few moments he made good his word by appearing on the scene leading a very rebellious and dirty little runaway whom he delivered to her mama.

Hastily seizing the first coin her fingers touched when she put her hand in her pocket, she thanked Max and gave it to him without noticing its denomination.

It was a penny.

"Mama," said Max when he reached home, "that little girl can't be worth very much, can she?"

"Why, dear?"

"'Cause her mama only gave me a penny for finding her. I don't think I'll care to play with her any more if that's all she's worth."

MR. EDITOR: I see so many little letters in the ADVOCATE, and none from our little town; so I thought I would write one. I am a little girl twelve years old. I go to school; I have seven studies. We have a very nice Sunday-school here, and we have preaching twice a month—Methodist and Baptist. I am a Methodist; joined last year during Mr. Hayes' protracted meeting. Our protracted meeting for this year will begin Thursday night. Bro. Howell is our pastor. I like him very much. The year is growing to a close, and we will regret very much if we have to give up Bro. Howell. My papa is a merchant. My mama is dead, and she died when I was quite young. I have three brothers; two older than myself.

Your little friend, DAISY CLEVELAND.
Lumberton, Miss.

The Best I Ever Used.

So says Dr. S. S. Herrick, former secretary of the Louisiana State Board of Health, speaking of Marsden's Pectoral Balm, which he recommends as the best remedy for coughs, croup, colds, bronchitis and sore throat.

SCIENTIFIC.

Carnegie's Great Tower.

The Stars and Stripes, it was decided to-day, are to wave 1,120 feet above the ground—higher than ever flag has waved before. It is to be done during the World's Fair from an American tower that will beat the Eiffel Tower. The builder is to be Andrew Carnegie, of Pittsburg.

Over twenty-five thousand people will be accommodated in the tower at one time, and two of the many elevators are to start from the ground and run more than 1,000 feet up without change or stop directly to the lookout landing. The width of the lower at the foundation level is 440 feet in each direction.

After long continued negotiations the Keystone Bridge Company, of Pittsburg, one of Andrew Carnegie's concerns, has made offers in writing that are satisfactory to the promoters. A conference was held at the Union League Club to-day with Mr. A. L. Griffin, president of this company, and Mr. Edward F. Cragin, representing the promoters and several capitalists. As a result the Keystone Company has agreed in writing to construct the metal portion of the tower and have it completed Feb. 1, 1893. The company will have to pay heavy forfeits per day for any delay over that time.

MAY BE FINISHED NEXT YEAR.

President Griffin expects that the tower, however, will be built by Oct. 12, 1892—less than one year from date. In that case a bonus is exacted for the time saved.

Options have been secured on grounds immediately adjoining the World's Fair site and arrangements made with the World's Fair officials, if desired, so that the tower grounds shall be included under their jurisdiction. After long and careful study the designs have been completed by Engineer George S. Morrison, of this city. He estimates that the earning capacity will be nearly four times that of the Eiffel Tower.

The actual cost will be about $1,500,000. The cost of the Eiffel Tower was a little less than $1,700,000. The difference is in the greater simplicity of design of the American tower and the use of standard and merchantable sizes of steel.

Doubts as to the completion of the tower in time are largely discounted by the fact that the Carnegie concern have a capital of between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 and employ 25,000 men. The Keystone Company, the concern with which the contract is made, built the first St. Louis bridge, the bridges at Keokuk, Dubuque, Kansas City and other places.

Subscriptions and pledges have been received from Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburg and elsewhere.

HOW THE TOWER WILL LOOK.

The three landings will be circular platforms, the first 250 feet in diameter and 200 feet from the ground. The second will be 150 feet in diameter and 400 feet from the ground, and the upper landing, more properly called the "lantern," will be 60 feet in diameter and 1,000 feet above the ground.

At the first landing there will be a grand colonnade around the outside 15 feet wide and 738 feet mean circumference. On this colonnade five thousand people can be accommodated at one time. Inside of this colonnade will be space, in addition to the space required for elevators and machinery, sufficient to build four hotels or restaurants.

In addition to the restaurants there will be provided numerous kiosks or booths, constructed in accordance with the architecture, styles and customs of various countries, which will be used for the sale of curios, ornaments, fabrics and other articles produced and manufactured in all lands.

WILL ACCOMMODATE THOUSANDS.

Within the restaurants 6,000 or 8,000 guests may be comfortably seated and served at one time. Within and about the booths and surrounding platforms 3,000 more people will have room to move about, make purchases, etc.

The second landing is designed as a grand promenade and picnic quarters in the daytime, and as a dancing hall in the evening. It will accommodate at one time 5,000 or 6,000.

The upper landing is to be finished as the grand lookout, will be two or three stories high, and accommodate at one time 1,200 to 1,500. Above this will be four offices for signal service and scientific investigation. Above this will be the circular electric railway carrying electric lights at night and signals by day. Above this is the lighthouse, to be provided with the most powerful revolving light ever constructed, surmounted by the flag-staff and the Stars and Stripes.—New York Herald.

Army Surgeons and Physicians in charge of public hospitals find Maguire's Hoarine Plant their greatest aid in the treatment of Diarrhœa, Dysentery and kindred diseases. It never fails to cure. Price 75c. per bottle; sent free by express where three bottles are ordered. J. & C. MAGUIRE, St. Louis, Mo.

World's Fair Items.

The foundation work of the Administration Building is all finished, and the material for the iron-work of the edifice itself is being received on the grounds. This building is constructed of material to last but two years, and it will cost $650,000, although it covers a space of but 250 feet square. It is designed to represent in itself one of the noblest achievements of modern architecture, and will occupy the most commanding position on the exposition grounds. The building consists of four pavilions, 81 feet square, one at each of the four angles of the square of the plan, and connected by a great central dome, 120 feet in diameter and 260 feet high.

Aside from the cost of the great exhibition buildings, which will not be far from $7,000,000, the following are among the sums which have been, or will be, spent in preparation of the exposition grounds: Grading and filling, $150,000; landscape gardening, $325,500; viaducts and bridges, $125,000; piers, $70,000; waterway improvements, $225,000; railways, $500,000; steam plant, $800,000; electric lighting, $1,500,000; statuary, $100,000; vases, lamps, etc., $50,000; lake front adornment, $200,000; water supply and sewerage, $600,000; other expenses, $1,000,000; total, $5,013,500.

The great extent of the fair can hardly at present be measured, but some idea of its immensity may be gathered from the fact that the space thus far set apart for exposition purposes is three times the area of the Paris Exposition grounds, or about the size of Central Park, New York, between 700 and 800 acres.—Scientific American.

Many people neglect a cold, thinking it will go as it came. Frequently with serious results, the cold of to-day may be the pneumonia of to-morrow. Nothing will cure a cough or cold so rapidly as Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. Its reputation has been established for over fifty years as the best remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, all throat and lung troubles. For croup and whooping-cough it is invaluable. Mothers will be saved much anxiety and loss of children by having Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar always on hand. Consumption lar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

PARSONS PILLS
PARSONS PURGATIVE PILLS.
Make New Rich Blood
"Best Liver Pill Made."
They positively cure SICK HEADACHE and BILIOUSNESS, all Liver and Bowel Complaints. In these Pills Thirty in a bottle, one a dose. They expel all impurities from the blood. Delicate women find great benefit using them. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 25 cts. in stamps; five bottles $1.00. Full particulars free. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., 21 Custom House St., Boston, Mass.

Heavy Crops!
The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.
Royal Germetuer

DONALD KENNEDY
Of Roxbury, Mass., says
Kennedy's Medical Discovery cures Horrid Old Sores, Deep Seated Ulcers of 40 years' standing, Inward Tumors, and every disease of the skin, except Thunder Humor, and Cancer that has taken root. Price $1.50. Sold by every Druggist in the U. S. and Canada.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.
EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.
Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus:
JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists
LONDON, ENGLAND.

A FEW MORE
Good Agents Wanted
For that Wonderful Chart,
"The Tree of Methodism."
Address
F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
106 CAMP ST., - - New Orleans.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my Infallible remedy. Give Express and Post-office.
H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.
ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

MARRIAGES.

MILES—PURVIS.—At Rayville, Oct. 28, 1891, by Rev. H. O. White, Mr. Frank A. Miles, of Delhi, La., to Miss Hattie E. Purvis, of Rayville, La.

GRESHAM—ONEAL.—At the bride's residence, Oct. 21, 1891, by Rev. W. W. Cammack, Mr. C. K. Gresham to Mrs. Alice E. Oneal.

ADAMS—KNIGHT.—In the Methodist Church, DeSoto, Miss., Oct. 28, 1891, at eight P. M., by Rev. J. P. Drake, Mr. George M. Adams to Miss Flora Knight, both of DeSoto.

GUNN—MOORE.—At the home of the bride, Oct. 26, 1891, by Rev. J. E. Buck, Mr. G. W. Gunn, of Scott county, Miss., to Miss Mary Moore, of Winston county, Miss.

FERRAND—REDDITT.—At the Methodist Church, Columbia, Oct. 28, 1891, by Rev. C. M. Lyons, Mr. Charles Ferrand to Miss Ada Redditt, both of Columbia, La.

McCAULEY—BULLOCK.—At the residence of the bride's mother, July 30, 1891, by Rev. G. E. Greene, Mr. R. S. McCauley to Miss Maggie Bullock.

BIGELOW—LEWIS.—At the residence of Mr. Thos. McDowell, Sunday, Sept. 20, 1891, by Rev. G. E. Greene, Mr. W. I. Bigelow to Mrs. Matilda Lewis.

AHRENS—ROGERS.—At the residence of the bride, Sept. 17, 1891, by Rev. G. E. Greene, Mr. F. H. Ahrens to Mrs. M. A. E. Rogers.

HUDSON—HIGGINBOTHAM.—At the residence of the bride's father, Oct. 7, 1891, by Rev. G. E. Greene, Mr. T. E. Hudson to Miss Emalee A. Higginbothaiu.

DAVIS—WATSON.—At the home of the bride's parents, near Russum, Miss., Oct. 15, 1891, by Rev. J. M. Cowan, Mr. J. J. Davis to Miss Susan Watson.

SATCHER—TROTTER.—At the residence of the bride's mother, near Orango Hill, Miss., Oct. 28, 1891, by Rev. J. M. Cowan, Mr. S. W. Satcher, of Bolton, Miss., to Miss Mamie Trotter.

OBITUARIES.

HOOD.—We are pained to chronicle the death of our beloved brother, WM. HOOD. He was born in Perry county, Miss., April 19, 1819; was sheriff of Perry county in his young manhood, and in his riper years was Judge of Probate of Jones county. He was a soldier in the Confederate war, and a worthy brother Mason. He died near Tuscannola, Jones county, Miss., July 17, 1891, and was buried July 19, at old Hopewell Church in the same graveyard where many of his friends and family relations sleep. On Saturday, of the Leaf River Camp Meeting, the Masons assembled and held a lodge of sorrow to his memory. We could not help noticing one brother, Thomas Rainey, who was too old and feeble to march in the procession, yet he came by conveyance several miles to be present. He occupied a chair in the middle of the circle, and always joined the brethren in the grand honors for the dead.

Bro. Hood's family are all grown, and nearly all of them living around old Hopewell Church. They constitute our best citizenship and the strength of our church in that community. His widow is somewhat advanced in years, but among her dutiful children she has no fears of coming to want.

May the Lord bless the widow and children of our deceased brother! His last days were spent in lingering decline. His manly form, once so vigorous and strong, slowly bowed under the weight of sickness and age until he sank into the grave. Death did not find him unprepared. Farewell, Bro. Hood; death claims you for its victim. Go to thy resting-place in the grave. Then shall thy body sleep, to await the resurrection; but thy spirit has gone to the God who gave it.

E. J. TAYLOR.

GURLEY—MRS. MAGGIE H. GURLEY, daughter of Rev. R. H. and Jennie C. Norsworthy, was born in Wilkinson county, Miss., April 21, 1870, was married to Mr. F. A. Gurley, Meridian, Miss., April 21, 1885, in Edwards, Miss., and died at her home in Meridian, Miss., at five o'clock P. M., Oct. 17, 1891. She was baptized by Rev. Geo. H. Wade at Bethel Church, Wilkinson county, Miss., while an infant, and was formally recognized as a member of the church in Canton, Miss., in 1879.

She leaves her husband and three little children—one daughter and two sons. Oh, how sad to be called away in the midst of her useful and happy living, and to have so many tender ties to be so ruthlessly sundered! She had almost everything she could have asked to make life bright and promising. A pleasant home, adorned by flowers of her own rearing; a fond and confiding husband, sweet little children, a father and mother who almost idolized her, and a great many appreciative relatives and friends. Everything was done that could be by skillful and attentive physicians and by affectionate, faithful attendants. Her father and mother came from their distant par-lounge-home and ministered unto her as no one else could.

Her father wrote with a heart almost bursting: "Our precious daughter, loving and true, has left us, and we are sad. But we hope to see her again on the other side, where all is light." God be praised for that blessed hope!

C. G. ANDREWS.

CRISLER—Death has entered his children's home and borne away their father; but he has joined the ransomed throng in glory with their mother. Bro. JOS. CRISLER was born Nov. 6, 1816, in Elbert county, Ga., where he married Miss Penelope Ann Sayers, Nov. 7, 1839; moved to Mississippi in 1840, near Raymond; thence a few miles from there to Midway, Miss., where he remained till he fell asleep in Jesus, Oct. 9, 1891. Five children survive him, whose sad loss is his great gain. His wife and two infant children preceded him.

Perhaps he was converted at the great revival at Spring Ridge in 1840, as he often referred to that time when talking with the writer on the subject of religion, where he has been a consistent and efficient member ever since. From the first of this year it seems he has had a presentiment of his death, as he stated to the writer and others that if he lived through the fall, he would not live longer than next spring, and that he only dreaded the "sting of death."

I was to see him just a few days before his death. He was rational and calm and patiently awaiting his Master's call. May God bless the bereaved!

J. C. ELLIS, P. C.

STEVENS—MARY, infant daughter of Arwilda and Joseph Stevens, died at their home, near Sunflower river, in Sharkey county, Sept. 22, 1891.

Little Mary lived eleven months and ten days. The home is made desolate and lonely, for the little one had begun to prattle and lisp the name of papa and mama. She was the almost idolized pet of loving and doting parents, grandparents, relatives and friends. But she was too pure for this vale of sorrow and tears, and God took her to himself. The Lord's will, not ours, be done. Look up, dear parents; she has only gone before, and is standing, watching and waiting at the beautiful gate.

ONE THAT LOVED HER.

MARTIN—Died, at her residence near Phœnix, Yazoo county, Miss., Aug. 28, 1891, Mrs. SALLIE L. MARTIN, daughter of G. W. and Sarah Smith.

The subject of this brief memoir was born Aug. 18, 1861. She was blessed with a religious education, embraced religion in her fourteenth year and joined the M. E. Church, South. She was married to Mr. John Martin, Feb. 14, 1883. They were blessed with four children; the youngest, an infant, died a month before its mother. Sister Martin, as a daughter, mother, wife, was all that could be desired—amiable, affectionate, pious. It would seem hard in the eye of the world for one so young, so amiable, so much needed for training and bringing up her young children, to be taken away, and it was hard for her friends to give her up. But they sorrow not as those who have no hope. Her pious life and hopeful death assure them that she has gone from the evils to come—gone to rest in the home of the blessed.

May her hopeful death inspire the excellent young husband and surviving friends to prepare to meet in that upper and better world, where the parting of friends is known no more!

G. W. ALEXANDER.

NELSON—Dr. J. B. NELSON was born July 27, 1826, and died at his home, O'Neal, Amite county, Miss., Oct. 13, 1891. He joined the M. E. Church in 1847, and was converted soon after, or about the time of his connection with the church.

In early manhood he prepared himself for the practice of medicine, and while he lived he did all he could to alleviate human suffering; and if he had been avaricious, could have accumulated a large fortune; but more anxious to do good than to lay up money, he died poor, but rich in faith and good works.

He was an invalid for about a year before his death, and much of this time unable to visit the sick, but continued to prescribe for some up to the time of his death.

He was the preacher's warm friend and wise counsellor. He was a loyal Methodist, a liberal contributor to the church and every good cause. He was a good husband, an affectionate father, and a peaceable citizen.

He died in full triumph of a living faith, loved and respected by all who knew him. He leaves a young widow, two children and many friends to mourn his loss. May God sanctify this affliction to their good!

W. W. CAMMACK.

JONES—MIRTHA L. JONES nee McCormick was born Oct. 1, 1856, and died Aug. 31, 1891.

Sister Jones was a consistent member of the M. E. Church, South. She and her husband, Dr. H. N. Jones (a steward of Freeman Chapel Church), had by baptism consecrated their children to God; therefore, as he called for them one by one, they could, with Christian resignation, say, "Thy will be done."

Sister Jones was the mother of ten children, six of whom preceded her to the better land. Four of the number—Perry Oliver, aged two years; Emma, aged six; Mary Eunice, aged fifteen years; and a little infant—were all taken within five months next preceding her departure. When the accustomed hour for family worship came for the last time with her, she asked one of the brethren to lead in prayer, at the close of which she said, "Amen," and then requested her grief-stricken vigils to sing, "Take the name of Jesus with you," and then closed her eyes in death. May God comfort the bereaved husband and motherless children!

W. J. PORTER, Pastor.

EDWARDS—Miss ANN BERTON was born in Rapides parish, La., September, 1815. She was married to J. S. Edwards, March 19, 1836, and moved to Bayou Boeuf, in St. Landry parish, La., where she lived until death, which occurred Aug. 15, 1891.

Sister Edwards joined the M. E. Church, South, about the year 1858, and lived a faithful and joyous Christian until a short time before her death, when she became despondent and gloomy, which was caused by disease. For a time she seemed to have almost lost her mind, but before she died all seemed to be well.

I visited her during her last illness and found her in a condition to enjoy singing and prayer. She delighted in the songs of Zion—those old soul-stirring songs which draw us nearer to God. No doubt they called up memories of the past, when she attended the services of God's house and enjoyed them. She has gone to be with Jesus. She leaves several children, grandchildren and many friends to mourn her death. May they all meet her in heaven!

T. S. R.

JOHNSON—The following resolutions of respect were passed by the First Methodist Church Sunday-school, at Jackson, Miss., to the memory of GEO JOHNSON, deceased:

Whereas, We, the members of the Sunday-school of the First Methodist Church of Jackson, Miss., are called to mourn the loss of Geo. Johnson, one of our fellow-students; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the mysterious and sudden death of our beloved school-mate we recognize a dispensation of Divine Providence which we will neither attempt to explain nor question, but to whose will we humbly bow.

Resolved, That we, of the class to which Geo. Johnson belonged, recognized in him a close student of the Scriptures—quick to apprehend the truth and of an intellectual grasp beyond the average.

Resolved, That the secretary of our school convey to the family of the deceased our sincere condolence, and assure them that their loss is also our own, and although our association was a brief one, we are encouraged to believe by his prompt attendance and intense interest in our school that the divine truth found such a personal application in his life as to insure to him the promise of our blessed Lord who, when he himself was called to meet a tragic end, gave to his disciples these parting words, "Let not your hearts be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me."

JESSE BARR, for Com.

We'll write it down till everybody sees it

Till everybody is sick of seeing it

Till everybody knows it without seeing it—that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of chronic catarrh in the head, catarrhal headache, and "cold in the head." In perfect faith, its makers, the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., offers to pay $500 to anyone suffering from chronic catarrh in the head whom they can not cure.

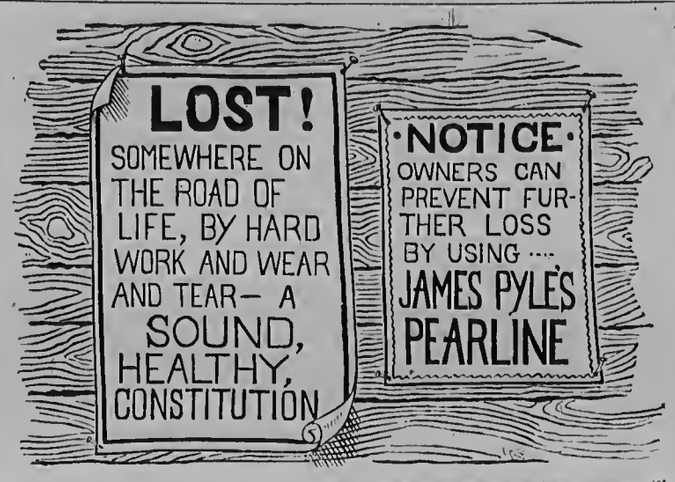
Now if the conditions were reversed—if they asked you to pay $500 for a positive cure, you might hesitate. Here are reputable men, with years of honorable dealing; thousands of dollars and a great name back of them and they say—"We can cure you because we've cured thousands of others like you—if we can't, we will pay you $500 for the knowledge that there's one whom we can't cure."

They believe in themselves. Isn't it worth a trial? Isn't any trial preferable to catarrh?

Whilst just government protects all in their religious rites, true religion affords government its surest support.—Washington.

The signature A. Johnson is on every genuine bottle label of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.



Send it back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 397 JAMES PYLE, New York.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the Large and Spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All its Branches, and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this Institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director,

169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

BOOK-KEEPING, Thorough, Practical Instruction. Graduates assisted to positions. Catalogue free. Write to BRYANT & STRATTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, LOUISVILLE, KY.

The Best, Swiftest and Lightest-Running Sewing Machine in the World is the

SINGER.

Especially Adapted for Family Use. In Elegant, Convenient and Artistic Cabinet Work, with our New (patented) Stand, and all Modern Improvements.

THE ONLY PERFECT ATTACHMENTS

More Popular Than Ever, They Defy Competition.

Sold on the Most Liberal and Easy Terms. Full Instructions Given and Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Send for Illustrated Price List.

Needles for all kinds of Sewing Machines, 15, 20 and 25 cents per dozen; postage extra. Parts and Attachments for the Singer.

The Singer Manufacturing Company,

CENTRAL OFFICE:

185 Canal, New Orleans, La.

Branch offices at Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery, Ala.; Memphis and Nashville, Tenn.; Vicksburg, Miss.; Dallas, Galveston, Houston, Marshall and San Antonio, Tex.

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and

Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware, Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cages, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS—E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

Watches, Diamonds,

FINE JEWELRY!

Silver and Silver-Plated Ware,

SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

(Established 1817)

119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

For Sale.

FARMER'S CANNING OUTFIT!

Will Pay for Itself in One Season.

Includes Syrup Evaporator—50 gallons per day. Two boilers with siphon connection, cranes for handling cans, fire pots, soldering coppers, etc., for 2,000 to 3,000 cans per day. One portable Iron Furnace for Canning, making Pickles, Jellies, etc. Evaporating Syrup. All latest improvements, with full directions.

Price, $150,000 to $200,000.

State and County Rights for Sale.

Address the Patentee and Manufacturer,

D. J. McMILLAN,
South Washington, N. C.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RICE, W. R. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge, Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

MAGIC LANTERNS AND STEREOPTICONS afford the best and cheapest means of object teaching for Colleges, Schools and Sunday Schools. Our assortment of Views, illustrating art, science, history, religion and travel, is immense. For Home Amusement and Parlor Entertainment, etc., nothing can be found as instructive or amusing, while Church Entertainments, Public Exhibitions and Popular Illustrated Lectures—did Holidays present. We are the largest manufacturers and dealers, and ship to all parts of the world. If you wish to know how to order, how to conduct Parlor Entertainments for pleasure, or Public Exhibitions, etc., for MAKING MONEY, send us your name and address on a postal card (naming this paper), and we will mail you our 208 PAGE BOOK FREE. An instrument with a choice selection of Views makes a splendid Holiday present. PAY WELL.

McALLISTER, Manufact'r Optician, 49 Nassau St., N. Y. City

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,

Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,

Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,

Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low.

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

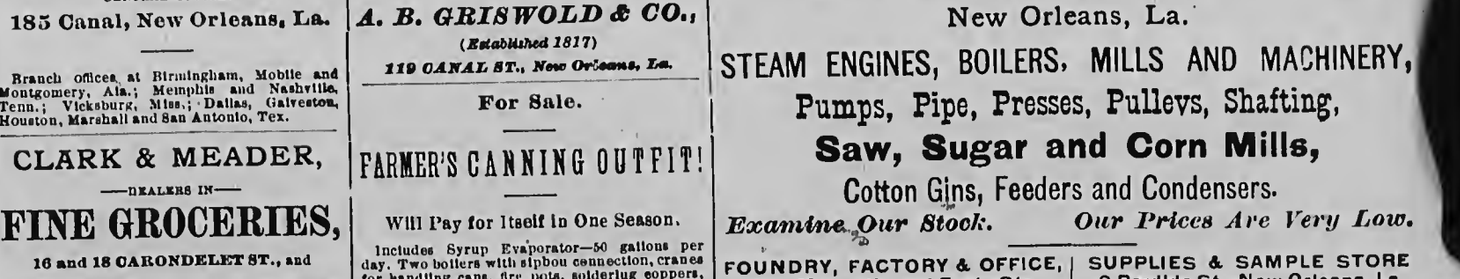
If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED, New Orleans, La.

CATARRH CURE!

GIVEN AWAY. Send name and get a FREE PACKAGE DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., OALTON, GA

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:—one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs. Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $40 up to $1000. Dining room suits, eight pieces, from $17 upwards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 upwards. Quality at top—prices at bottom. I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded.

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30 | J. G. GRANT, | CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30

Royal Baking Powder Has no Equal.

The United States Official Report

Of the Government Baking Powder tests recently made, under authority of Congress, by the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., furnishes the highest authoritative information as to which powder is the best. The Official Report shows the ROYAL superior to all others in leavening power; a cream of tartar powder of highest quality.

The Canadian Tests:

"The strength of the Royal is shown to be 23 per cent. greater than any other.

"As a result of my investigations I find the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others. It is pure, contains none but wholesome ingredients, and is of greatest strength.

"F. X. VALADE,
"Public Analyst, Ontario,
"Dominion of Canada."

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

Sir John Waltham, the British minister to China, has been directed to give the Chinese government until the end of the month to reply to the ultimatum demanding punishment of the leaders in the recent riots, when, failing satisfaction, the combined foreign fleet will seize Shanghai and other treaty ports on the Yangtze Kiang. The powers will take control of the customs of each port until the matter in dispute is arranged.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75 cents.

It is understood in Washington that the reciprocity treaty between United States and Germany, which was discussed some time ago, has been concluded and will be announced first in Germany. The basis of the treaty is said to be concessions of duties of cereals by Germany and free entry of beet sugar by the United States. It is understood that Germany will lower the duties on wheat, wheat flour, corn and rice in consideration of sending her sugar free to this country.

From Seven Thousand Dollars to Twenty-One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Three Dollars.

Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three dollars has just been paid by The Mutual Life Insurance Company on an original $7,000 insurance policy.

A result never equaled or even approached by any other company in the world. The fortunate assured was Mr. Charles Dellinger, of Mobile, Ala., who was forty-one years old when he became a member of the company.

RECAPITULATION.

1—Cash value of the dividends 100 per cent. of premiums.

2—Additions to policy 143 per cent. of premiums.

3—Insurance paid 312 per cent. of original amount.

4—Investment, 3 per cent. compound interest.

5—Insured 44 years, from age 41 to age 85.

6—No taxes, care or expense connected with the insurance.

Remember this company is purely mutual; all profits belong to the members. It is also the largest and most profitable company in the world. Mr. T. H. Bowles is the general agent, 120 Common street, New Orleans, La.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF
NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. B. F. Phillips, P. Howard, Bishop Haygood, R. G. Porter, H. Bradford, R. W. Tucker, J. M. Porter, T. H. Holloman, J. E. Thomas, James G. Galloway, J. V. Penn, S. S. Keener, G. H. Thompson, J. D. Harper (2), H. R. Caldwell, J. L. Hoffpauir, W. H. Lewis (3), J. M. Pugh, G. E. Greene, F. P. Spencer, S. L. Pickett, Geo. P. McKeown, R. D. Norsworthy, J. C. Park, D. P. Bradford, A. C. Flowers, C. G. Andrews, J. M. Morse, A. D. Miller, E. L. Rawls, L. W. Wood, W. M. Hays, F. A. Whitson, J. L. Gibson, W. C. Black, J. P. Drake, W. F. Sanders, N. H. Harmon, James M. Rollins, H. R. Singleton, R. J. Jones, J. A. H. Jones, M. L. White.

Messrs. F. H. G. Taylor, H. S. Shute, J. W. Long, W. D. Matthews, G. W. Edwards, J. C. W. Smith, M. S. Wright, J. S. Davis, G. J. Bahin, L. Cornish, Geo. E. Foster, E. A. Lindsley, Wright Brothers, Jno. Fitzgerald, J. M. Knight, Frank A. Parker, A. E. Kiblinger, J. C. T. Chaffe.

Mesdames R. S. Dunn, J. F. Mars, Eula Nelson, R. B. Borden, H. C. Cochrane, Alice A. Wright.

Miss Emma J. Reed.

November 10.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

To Whom It May Concern.

This is to certify that Thos. M. Yates, of Nashville, Tenn., is not a married man, and that Thos. M. Yates, of Hillsboro, Tenn., is the man that married Miss Davis, of Americus, Miss. Said Mr. Yates, of Nashville, is now in or near Jackson, La., and will soon go to Rodney and Hermanville, Miss.

Yours,

THOS. M. YATES, of Hillsboro.

Leck, Miss., Oct. 24, 1891.

School Wanted.

A lady who is a graduate and an experienced teacher, competent to teach all branches of a thorough English education, desires a situation as governess, private tutor, teacher, or any employment suitable for an educated lady. Testimonials and best of reference furnished. Address "Teacher," care of this office.

Glideroy's "Odd Hours" delights me. The young people—older ones also—who read it will find it good for them. It is sound, pure, good, funny, entertaining, instructive. I wish every boy would read it; it would help him to be a man.

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD.

The Parsonage, Los Angeles, Cal.

Shorter Time to New York.

The Queen and Crescent Limited, which leaves New Orleans at 5 P M. with a Through Sleeping Car for New York, now arrives at the latter point at 5:50 P M. second evening instead of 6:20 P. M., as heretofore.

Into the Union Depot at Atlanta, Ga.

Passengers via the Queen and Crescent Route are now landed in the Union Depot at Atlanta in the center of the city. By this arrangement all transfer of passengers to connecting lines is avoided.

Don't forget to buy your school books of all kinds and your stationery from Bro. Van Valkenburgh, 106 Camp St. (near Poydras). Preachers sending him orders for books could make it to their interest to include paper, pens and ink for their own use.

Tried in the Balance

Marsden's Pectoral Balm is not an experiment. For twenty-five years it has been "tried in the balance" and not found wanting in its ability to speedily and permanently cure coughs and colds.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Fifty of the Tennessee convicts released by the miners at Briceville and Oliver have been captured in Kentucky and sent to Tennessee.

The cap stone of the new Masonic Temple in Chicago was laid on Nov. 6 with appropriate ceremony. It is the highest structure of the kind in the world, being nineteen stories.

Ex-President Hayes, who is traveling in the South with Dr. J. T. M. Curry and his son, R. B. Hayes, in the interest of the Peabody and Slater School Funds, was the guest of the Augusta (Ga.) Exposition on Nov. 7, and addressed a large audience in Music Hall.

The candidates for offices in the next House of Representatives are arriving in Washington, and preparing for the canvass. The candidates for speaker will shortly establish themselves in Washington and set to work in earnest. There will be six principal contestants—Messrs. Crisp, Mills, McMillen, Springer, Bynum and Hatch.

Some of the more sagacious and temperate Democrats are not inclined to boundless exultation over the fact that the candidates of their party were elected to the governorships of Massachusetts, New York and Iowa. They think it was really more important that the Democratic party should have secured control of the Legislatures in those States.

A fire occurred at Terry, Miss., on Nov. 8, with most disastrous results. The depot building, telegraph office, the cotton platform, the hotel, ten business houses, a livery stable, six residences, ten or twelve shanties and 130 bales of cotton were burned. All but two business houses were destroyed, and the loss is about $200,000.

A call has been issued to the citizens of New York for a mass meeting at Chickering Hall, on the twelfth instant, for the purpose of sending words of cheer and God-speed to their friends of Louisiana who are fighting the lottery. The Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter will preside, and addresses will be made by the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, President Seth Low, Rabbi Gottheil, Rev. Father Elliott, General George D. Johnston, and others. The call is signed by a number of prominent gentlemen.

General Palmer, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has issued an order to that organization, in which he says, among other things: "A comrade wearing the badge or uniform of the order, participating in any demonstration where the rebel flag is displayed, violates his obligation to maintain true allegiance to the United States of America; to honor its Constitution; to discountenance whatever tends to weaken loyalty, incite treason or rebellion, and to encourage universal liberty and justice to all mankind, and brings disgrace upon the order of which he is a member."

FOREIGN.

It is announced that the Pope is suffering from cerebral anæmia, due to old age. His condition causes grave apprehension.

The existence of a plot against the new government of Chili has been discovered. The government is urged by the people to adopt stringent measures against the supporters of the late dictators and bring the conspirators to justice.

Mr. Martin Flavin, the McCarthyite candidate for the seat in Parliament for Cork City, left vacant by the death of Charles Stewart Parnell, has been elected by a plurality of 1,512 votes over the Parnellite candidate, Mr. John E. Redmond.

The movement inaugurated by the Emperor of Germany to suppress the morally depraved classes extends to every populous center of the empire. The army officers in Berlin and other garrisons have been warned by the Emperor to mend their ways.

The police in Dublin and other parts of Ireland, England and Scotland, have received information as to a probable influx into Great Britain of members of the Irish Party of Action in America. It is said a revival of Fenian operations is suspected.

Baron de Reuter, head of Reuter's Telegram Company, has received the sanction of the Queen to assume in England the title of baron, conferred upon him by the duke of Saxe-Coburg. This privilege is in special recognition of the services of Baron de Reuter in establishing a system of international intelligence.

The Congress of Brazil having refused to ratify the plan for the settlement of the boundary disputed with the Argentine Republic, the question has been referred to the President of the United States as arbitrator. The arbitration proceedings will be held in Washington this winter.

The Congress of the Brazilian people recently passed certain laws limiting the powers of the president, and that official promptly dissolved the offending Assembly and assumed a dictatorship. Martial law has been proclaimed. Much discontent and disorder are manifested at this arbitrary proceedure.

Catarrh, Not Local, But Constitutional

Dr. Dio Lewis, the eminent Boston physician, in a magazine article, says: "A radical error underlies nearly all medical treatment of catarrh." It is not a disease of the man's nose; it is a disease of the man, showing itself in the nose—a Local exhibition of a Constitutional trouble." Therefore, he argues, the use of snuff and other local applications is wrong, and while they seem to give temporary relief, they really do more harm than good. Other leading authorities agree with Dr. Lewis. Hence, the only proper method of cure for catarrh is by taking a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, reaching every part of the body through the blood, does eliminate all impurities and makes the whole man healthier. It removes the cause of the trouble and restores the diseased membrane to proper condition. That this is the practical result is proven by thousands of people who have been cured of catarrh by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

WOLFF'S
ACME BLACKING

USED BY MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN.
A SHINE LASTS A WEEK.
LEATHER PRESERVER.
A HANDSOME POLISH.
IS WATER-PROOF.
20c. A BOTTLE.

1 cent a □ foot
will pay for changing the appearance of old Furniture so completely that it will look like new.
PIK-RON IS THE NAME
OF THE PAINT THAT DOES IT.

Do not forget that you can get all school books at Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh's, No. 106 Camp street, New Orleans.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary		5¾
Ordinary	3 3-16	— —
Good ordinary		6¼
Low middling	7 0-16	— —
Middling		7¾
Good middling		8
Middling fair		8⅛
Fair		8⅞
Galveston middling	— —	— —
Mobile middling	— —	— —
Memphis middling	— —	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	3⅛	3
Prime yellow	3 3-16	3⅛
Gray white	3 3-16	3 7-16
Choice white	— —	3⅝
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	24	29
RICE.
No. 2	2¼	— —
Good	4½	4¾
Fair	4⅛	4⅜
Prime	— —	— —
Laugh, ₩ bbl	2 00	4 00
Polish, ₩ ton	22 00	24 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	4 90	5 00
Fancy	4 45	4 70
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	3 00	3 50
Winter wheat patents	3 12½	3 20
Minnesota bakers	3 00	3 30
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	3 00	3 10
Cream meal	3 50	3 60
Grits	3 30	3 70
Hominy	4 00	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	70
Yellow	— —	70
Mixed No. 2	— —	70
OATS:
Western	— —	40
Texas rust-proof	55	80
BRAN:
₩ cwt	85	07½
HAY:
Prime	14 00	15 00
Choice	15 50	16 50
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	10 00	10 25
Prime Mess	10 37½	10 50
Rumps	— —	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	— —	11½
Shoulders	3¼	3½
Sides, short rib	3	— —
Sides, long clear	3	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10	11
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	3	— —
Sides, short rib	6⅜	— —
Sides, long clear	3⅞	7
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	17¾	— —
Fair	17	— —
Common	14	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Ho-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	34	— —
Western Dairy	22	28
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	3½	— —
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7¾	— —
Coal, cases	13½	14
Cotton seed, crude	25	26
Lard, Extra No. 1	50	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ head	3	7
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 50	1 70
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	3 75	4 00
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb. ₩ yard	7	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb. ₩ yard	— —	6¼
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	7½	12½
TIES:
₩ bundle	— —	1 35
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 50	5 00
Young Chickens	2 50	3 50
Chickens, Southern	2 75	3 00
Young	2 35	3 00
Turkeys, Southern	7 00	12 00
EGGS:
Western	21	22
Southern	22	23
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	21	21½
Louisiana	17	19
Burry	10	13
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	3½	— —
Dry salted	5	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	10 00	— —
Meal	25 50	— —
Pure ground bone	30 00	32 00
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	2¾
Sulphuric acid	— —	2½

—New Delta, Nov. 10.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally found a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	Nov. 14, 15
Purvis, at Purvis (Thu.)	19
Columbia, at Columbia	21, 22
Perry at Isabella (Wed.)	25
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Zion	28, 29
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg (Tu.)	Dec. 1
Heidelberg, at Philadelphia (Thu.)	3
Eastabuchie, at Eastabuchie	5, 6

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Hazlehurst (at night)	Nov. 12
Crystal Springs ct. colt	13
Bowerton at Rehoboth	14, 15
Brookhaven sta'lo (at night)	18
Adams circuit, at Adams	21, 22
Summit at Summit	22, 23
Gallman circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	26
Providence	28, 29
Pleasant Grove ct., at Pleasant Grove	Dec. 3
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel	5, 6

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meridian, at East End	Nov. 14, 15
Meridia , at West End	15, 18
Lauderdale circuit, at Lauderdale	21, 22
Meridian ct., at Hunkey (Thu.)	26
Wheeler circuit	28, 29
Marion circuit, at Curtis Chapel	Dec. 5, 6
Meridian a Central (Mon night.)	7

The preachers in charge will please see that the trustees have really written reports in answer to Ques. 21. All local preachers must be prepared with written reports in answer Ques 18. All exhorters are expected to present written reports. Reports from the missionary societies will be gladly received. Let the stewards be prepared to report collections in full. Let us pray and look for the presence and power of the Holy Spirit.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Tall-heck	Nov. 12
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel	14, 15
Zachary station	21, 22
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford	23
Live Oak, at Live Oak	28, 29
Jackson station	Dec. 2
St. Helena, at Greensburg (morning)	5
Amite City, at Amite City (night)	5, 6
Franklinton, at Fisher's	7

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Bond's	Nov. 15
Friar's Point	16
Bolivar	22
Stoneville	29

R. M. STANDAFER, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Warren at Wesley Chapel	Nov. 14, 15
Meadville	21, 22
Roxie (Mon.)	23
Anguilla, at Anguilla	28, 29
Rolling Fork	29, 30
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	Dec. 3, 3

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Shiloh, at Shiloh	Nov. 14, 15
Raleigh, at Raleigh	21, 22
Mt. Rose, at Cedar Grove	22 23
Trenton, at Polkville	28, 29
Homewood, at Wesley Chapel	30
Marvin	Dec. 3, 6

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Silver Creek	Nov. 14 15
Lake City and Lodi	21, 22
Edwards (Wed.)	25
Spring Ridge, at Oak Hill (Fri.)	27
Jackson, at First Church	28, 29
Jackson, at Capitol street	28, 29
Rent n (Tue.)	Dec. 1
Yazoo circuit (Wed.)	2
Canton	3, 3

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND

Valley, at Cotton Valley	Nov. 14, 15
Bellwood at Oak Grove	21 22
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches	22 23
Grand Cane at Heikel	28, 29
Cando circuit, at Keachie	29, 30
Mansfield station	Dec. 5, 6
Shreveport mission	12, 13

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sulphur Mine, at Vinton	Nov. 14, 15
Indian Bayou	21, 22
Patterson and Morgan City, at M. City	28, 29
Franklin	Dec. 5, 6

JOHN A. MILLER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Farmerville, at Farmerville	Nov. 14, 15
Tulip and Bonboro, at Tulip	21, 22
Gibsland, at Gibsland	28, 29
Indian Village, at Indian Village	Dec. 5, 5
Ruston at Ruston	6
Arcadia, at Mount Moriah	12, 13

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Providence, at Providence	Nov. 14, 15
Lind Grove	21, 22
Wilsboro	28, 29
Delhi, at Tallula	Dec. 5, 3

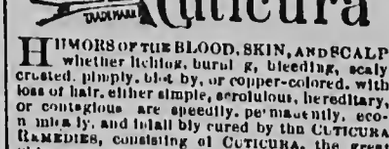
H. O. WHITE, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Baton Rouge	Nov. 15
Moreau Street	22
Felicity Street	29
Carrollton	Dec. 6
Carondelet Street	13

CHAS. F. EVANS, P. E.

It seems from an authenticated report that the damage caused by the earthquake in Japan, on Nov. 20 was confined almost entirely to prefectures of Aichi and Gifu. According to the report, 6 500 persons were killed and 900 injured, 75 000 houses totally destroyed and 12 000 were badly damaged.



HUMORS OF THE BLOOD, SKIN, AND SCALP whether itching, burning, bleeding, scaly crusted, pimply, blotchy, or copper-colored, with loss of hair, either simple, scrofulous, hereditary, or contagious are speedily, permanently, economically, and infallibly cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Purifier and Beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the only infallible blood and skin purifiers, and daily effect more great cures of blood and skin diseases than all other remedies combined. Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Blood and Skin Diseases."

Pimples, blackheads, chapped and oily skin prevented by CUTICURA SOAP.

Backache, kidney pains, weakness, and rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

KNABE
PIANOS.

UNEQUALLED IN
Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.

Tough glass lamp-chimneys. Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" are made of tough glass. They rarely break except from accident.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

Music

For the Church.

BARNETT'S SELECTIONS AND VOLUNTARIES.

By James G. Barnett, Musical Director Yale College. 185 pages. Price, $1.00.

This volume contains nearly 250 of the latest and best selections and voluntaries, of every variety.

MALE VOICE CHOIR.

Compiled and edited by L. O. Emerson. Price, postpaid, $1.

A book of devotional pieces for men's voices, containing more than 100 excellent songs, adapted for revival meetings and religious conventions.

VOICE IN PRAISE.

By J. G. Barnett, Musical Director Yale College. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

The music is of the higher order, but exceedingly pleasant, effective, and useful, and within the capacity of all well-constituted choirs of average ability. Solos, duets, and trios are included in the 39 songs.

CHOICE SACRED DUETS.

By Standard Authors. Heavy paper, $1; boards, $1.25; cloth gilt, $2.

Thirty sacred duets arranged with excellent taste and rare judgment. The new arrangement of the standard songs of the Church will especially please lovers of these charming songs.

CHOICE SACRED SOLOS.

Thirty-nine songs. 150 pages. Paper, $1; boards, $1.25; cloth gilt, $2.

An exceptionally fine collection of Sacred Solos, adapted for soprano, mezzo-soprano, and tenor voices. The songs are not difficult, and are of that high, dignified character that always pleases singers who desire solos of this class.

Any book sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price.

OLIVER DITSON CO.,
453-463 Washington Street, Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 867 Broadway, N. Y.
J. E. DITSON & CO., 1228 Chestnut St., Phila.

1892.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

The Magazine will celebrate the fourth Centenary of the Discovery of America by its new DISCOVERY, through articles giving a more thorough exposition than has hitherto been made of the RECENT UNPRECEDENTED DEVELOPMENT OF OUR COUNTRY, and especially in the GREAT WEST. Particular attention will also be given to DRAMATIC EPISODES OF AMERICAN HISTORY.

The FIELD OF THE NEXT EUROPEAN WAR will be described in a Series of Papers on the Danube "From the Black Forest to the Black Sea," by POULTNEY BIGELOW and F. D. MILLET, illustrated by Mr. MILLET and ALFRED PARSONS. Articles also will be given on the German, Austrian and Italian Armies, illustrated by T. DE THULSTRUP.

Mr. W. D. HOWELLS will contribute a new novel, "A World of Chance," characteristically American. Especial prominence will be given to SHORT STORIES, which will be contributed by T. B. ALDRICH, R. H. DAVIS, A. CONAN DOYLE, MARGARET DELAND, Miss WOOLSON, and other popular writers.

Among the literary features will be PERSONAL REMINISCENCES OF NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE, by his college classmate and life-long friend, HORATIO BRIDGE, and a Personal Memoir of the Brownings, by ANNE THACKERAY RITCHIE.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE,	Per Year	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY,	"	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR,	"	4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE,	"	2 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The volumes of the MAGAZINE begin with the Numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order. Bound Volumes of HARPER'S MAGAZINE for three years back, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of $3.00 per volume. Cloth Cases for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, post-paid.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

IN THE SELECTION OF A CHOICE GIFT
or of an addition to one's library, elegance and usefulness will be found combined in

A New Book from Cover to Cover.

WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

Revision cost over $300,000.

SUCCESSOR OF THE UNABRIDGED.

Ten years revising. 100 editors employed. Critical examination invited. Get the Best. Sold by all Booksellers. Pamphlet free.

G. & C. MERRIAM & CO., Springfield, Mass.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.

T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

THIRTY CENTS

WILL get you TWO good papers, THE WAY OF FAITH (weekly), THE SOLDIER (monthly), for THREE MONTHS, 8 sweet songs, and our Liberal Terms to Agents. Address

GOSPEL MISSION, Columbia, S. C.

Mention this paper.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 47. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1839.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
J. G. GRANT, Publisher.
Rev. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY. Remittances should be made only by money orders, express company orders, registered letters, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or merchants. Drafts on country banks occasion a loss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

The Lord's Prayer.—No. 8.

BY REV. J. B. WALKER, D. D.

And forgive us our trespasses as we forgive them that trespass against us. The conjunction "and" seems to show a necessary connection—that as God only can give us bread, so he only can forgive our sins; and, further, that forgiveness is as essential as bread, and to be asked for in the same breath. The words "trespasses," "debts" and "sins" seem, in Matthew's and Luke's Gospels, to be used interchangeably as importing the same thing, though the words are, no doubt, intended to show us different aspects and phases of sin.

The asking forgiveness is a confession of sin, and a desire to be saved from its condemnation and guilt. Few, if any, can be found, even among the professedly religious, who do not sin, at least, by omission. We are so filled with duties, cares, or pleasures, that it requires great watchfulness to be awake to all our opportunities and possibilities. The poet's song is most true, that we need God every hour; the efficacy of atoning blood "every hour."

In this prayer we ask God to forgive us our sins. No allusion by our Lord is made to any creature, however exalted or holy, as having anything to do with the pardon of our sins. We are not authorized to invoke any finite name; nor the least encouraged in the Gospels and Epistles to the churches to do so. The practice of the Roman Church is an uninspired addenda, a bold and gratuitous assumption. Only God can forgive sins.

Under the great remedial system, under whose gracious administration we live, we come unto the Father by the Son, through the help of the Holy Spirit. There is but one "way," and one only name. All calling on the Blessed Virgin, apostles and saints is foolish, futile and idolatrous. "When thou prayest, thou shalt say, Our Father."

The wages of sin is death; the soul that sinneth shall die. Our only escape from death spiritual and death eternal is by forgiveness. We, as sinners, are condemned already; we have no merit, no resources. We owe all the reverence, obedience and love of which we are capable; owe it every moment of our being, and owe it forever. We can not blot out our sins; we can not cancel our debts. We have incurred an obligation from which we can not relieve ourselves, nor can we escape its imperative and tremendous claim. If forgiven, if saved from sin, it must be "by grace," through faith in the all-atoning Lamb, who takes away the sin of the world. But there is an imperative part for us to perform. We must "ask" if we would "receive" forgiveness. The Savior also teaches that we must ask to be forgiven our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. We do not understand this, as we think some seem to do, that we are to forgive those who have sinned against us by some act of wrong, without any conditions. To forgive one who slandered me, robbed me, or sought to wound and dangerously hurt my body, before he confessed or forsook the wrong-doing, would be to connive at, if not to indorse, the wrong he had done. To say, "It makes no difference," when, in fact, there is a difference as great and as wide as there is between sin and holiness, right and wrong. The Holy Ghost has taught us through St. Paul our duty along this line. The inspired Word says, "If any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye." Christ forgave us freely, without any merit on our part; but he did not forgive us until we "ceased to do evil," until we forsook and confessed our sins. Neither would he have done so to all eternity if we had not confessed and forsaken our sins. God has not two standards of forgiveness—one for himself, and another and different for us. "As Christ forgave ye, so also do ye." Of course, we must hear and cherish no malice, must not revenge ourselves, but be ready to forgive; and though the sinner, by his persistence in wrong, will not let it be right for us to forgive him, we must pray for him, that God may have mercy and lead him to a better mind. The wisest mere man on whose lips the wisdom of God ever flamed, said, "It is the glory of a man to pass by a transgression." To take no vindictive, revengeful notice of it; to rise superior to the man and to his evil doing, and leave it in the hands of the Lord. A mean, low fellow dogged and pelted with epithets the great Pericles, of Athens, about the streets all day, and at twilight followed him to his home. Pericles never noticed, nor regarded, but said to a servant, "Take a lamp and light this man home." He was as high above him as heaven is above earth.

To Presiding Elders Throughout the Church.

Dr. H. K. Carroll is intrusted by the United States Government with the duty of compiling and tabulating the church statistics of the United States for the census of 1890. He proposes to prepare maps for every State, showing the location of all churches belonging to the various denominations. In order that our church may be properly represented, it is highly important that all presiding elders, and others to whom application is made, should fill out all blanks, and answer all inquiries made by Dr. Carroll. The time is short, and prompt attention only will secure correct representation. Dr. Carroll informs me that, up to the present time, the reports received from the M. E. Church, South, have been more satisfactory than those from any other church. Let us be careful to go on the record with a correct showing. Early attention is solicited.

W. P. HARRISON,
Book Editor, M. E. Church, South.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

By the President of the United States: It is a very glad incident of the marvelous prosperity which has crowned the year now drawing to a close, that its hopeful and reassuring tone has been felt by our people. It has been wide as our country, and so special that every home has felt its comforting influence. It is too great to be the work of man's power and too particular to be the device of his mind. To God, the beneficent and all-wise, who makes the labors of men to be fruitful, redeems their losses by his grace, and the measure of whose living is as much beyond the thoughts of man as it is beyond his deserts, the praise and gratitude of the people of this nation are justly due.

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States, do appoint Thursday, Nov. 26, present, to be a day of joyful thanksgiving to God for the bounties of his providence, for the peace in which we are permitted to enjoy them, and for the preservation of those institutions of civil and religious liberty which he gave our fathers the wisdom to devise and establish, and us the courage to preserve. Among the appropriate observances of the day are rest from toil, worship in the public congregation, the renewal of family ties about our American firesides, and thoughtfulness towards those who suffer lack of the body or of the spirit.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this thirteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and sixteenth.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

By the President:
JAMES G. BLAINE, Sec. of State.

MILLSAPS COLLEGE, JACKSON, MISS.

Millsaps College.

The ADVOCATE readers this week have the privilege of seeing an admirable cut of the Millsaps College building, now in course of erection at Jackson, Miss. It is a graceful, symmetrical structure, carefully selected from a number of plans presented in the sharp competition by competent and skilled architects in several States. On the elevated, commanding site just north of the city limits, in full view of every passing train on three, and possibly four, lines of railway, it will be a conspicuous object-lesson of the enterprise and liberality of the "people called Methodists" in the State of Mississippi. All who have examined carefully the detailed drawings and the attractive perspective, agree that the building will not only be very handsome, but excellently adapted to all the demands of the art department in a first-class college. As may be seen, it is four stories high, including the basement, which contains a chemical laboratory, work-room, coal-room, closets, and ventilating passages. The basement-rooms are well lighted, and will have cemented floors.

The first floor contains two offices for the president, a library, two rooms for the sub-freshman department, and a large chapel, which will accommodate 600 persons. The second and third floors, divided into sections by halls and corridors, have ample rooms for the several departments, and two large halls for the literary societies. By a wise economy of space and skilled arrangement, the facilities and equipments will be admirable and modern, without unnecessary outlay in brick and mortar.

The entire building will be of brick—two sides of smooth, pressed brick laid in red mortar—all handsomely trimmed with stone, the perspective delightfully relieved by numerous gables, cornices and projections. The contractor, Col. H. M. Taylor, says the foundation, of hard gravel, is one of the best he has ever seen. He is showing community, as well as professional, pride in the construction, and promises a building that will surpass the expectations of friends and the Board of Trustees. A large force is daily at work, and the strong walls are already well up above the first floor. It will be completed in the Spring, and in good time furnished for the initial term.

There is a large, roomy residence on the beautiful grounds, which will probably be converted into one of the "Students' Homes." Several of these will in time be built, in which students will have cheap board and the advantage of a Christian home. Each building will be in charge of a Christian family. Thus the college authorities avoid the evils of the old dormitory system, and bring young men in constant contact with the most wholesome influences.

The campus will contain about eighty acres, and is susceptible of being made one of the most charming of "classic groves." The drainage is perfect, and the sanitary conditions almost unequalled. A distinguished minister from a distant State visited the site a few days ago, and expressed delightful astonishment. Having seen most of the universities and colleges of the country, he regarded the location of Millsaps College as unsurpassed.

Space has been reserved for the corner-stone, which it is expected will be formally laid on the afternoon of the adjournment of the Mississippi Conference. On that occasion it is hoped many preachers of the two Mississippi Conferences will be present, when addresses will be delivered by Bishop E. R. Hendrix and others.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. T. B. White, Colfax, La., Nov. 10: "The fourth quarterly meeting of this work for the year is to be held in Boyce, embracing the first Sunday in December. Our beloved presiding elder is to be with us several days, we hope. The meeting is to continue over the week, and including the second Sunday. The brethren in North Louisiana are cordially invited to call and spend a few days in revival services on the way to Conference. Pray for the divine baptism."

Rev. T. S. West, Wesson, Miss., Nov. 10: "I am almost through one of the hardest year's work of my ministerial life. When I was on Seashore district I thought I had the biggest thing in the Mississippi Conference; but I was simply mistaken. I think I have it now. It's too big for me. Wonder if Bro. Monnger would like a change. I have received this year just twelve dozen members, and would like to receive just half a dozen more, to round off, in round numbers, at a hundred and a half. Forty-two names have been removed from the roll; net gain, 102, leaving a balance on hand of nearly seven hundred, concisely and precisely."

Rev. J. M. Pugh, Daleville, Miss., Nov. 2: "We have just closed a meeting of a week's continuance at this place, held under many discouragements; but the Lord gave us a gracious revival, with an addition of five young men and two young ladies, who, we hope, will make good and true members of the church. Bro. N. M. Clark, of the Lauderdale circuit, was the instrument, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, and did all the preaching. We feel grateful for his labors, and if any of the brethren need an earnest, faithful worker at their meetings, let them secure Bro. Clark's services."

Rev. W. L. Hamil, Harrisonburg, La., Nov. 12: "Our fourth Quarterly Conference convened at this place Oct. 31, and a protracted meeting followed, lasting till Wednesday night. The fires began to burn at the first service, and continued to increase in intensity to the end. On the last day business houses and offices were all closed, and in the afternoon the Christian ladies of the town held a prayer meeting, invoking the presence and power of the Holy Spirit at night. The church was greatly revived, sinners convicted, mourners converted, and seventeen accessions to the church. But very few left to advocate the cause of Satan. Our beloved presiding elder, Rev. H. O. White, was with us, and did valiant service. Thank God for such a holy man to preside over us, and also praise his name for the presence and power of the Holy Spirit on this occasion!"

Rev. J. W. Bell, Iuka, Miss., Nov. 10: "We have just closed an interesting meeting at Iuka, Miss. Bro. W. M. McIntosh, of the North Alabama Conference, was with us some ten days. He is gifted for revival work. His preaching is pointed and full of power. He invited sinners to come to the altar and kneel, and he made the church to come forward and talk to them. More than twenty made profession at the 'mourner's bench;' others elsewhere. Twenty members were added to our church. We held a meeting in July, and had five to join the church. Have received forty-nine during the year. I am closing my third year with the most religious people I ever served. Service to such a people is a real joy."

Rev. Isaac L. Peebles, Brandon, Miss.: "We began a meeting here on Sunday, Oct. 18. From the first some of the brethren were heartily enlisted. On the following Tuesday, Bro. D. P. Bradford, of Morton, came to our assistance. His preaching was principally to the church, and the interest increased all the time. On Friday he had to leave us, and we were alone until the following Monday evening, when Bro. J. T. Nicholson, of Edwards, came to our relief. On the next day Bro. V. D. Skipper, of Walnut Grove, came also. These brethren began work in earnest, preaching alternately until Bro. Skipper left on the following Monday after his arrival. The meeting closed on Tuesday night, after a protraction of more than two weeks. Bro. Nicholson continued with us until it ended. Some of the brethren say it was the best meeting that has been held in Brandon for a long time. Twenty-four were added to our church, two to the Baptist, and one to the Campbellite."

Rev. D. C. Barr, Vernon, La., Nov. 9: "We have held revival services at all of our churches on the work—six in number—and in every instance the Lord graciously revived and prospered his work. We have had 125 conversions and 68 accessions, and 50 children have been baptized, and there has been an evident increase in the spirituality of the membership. Bro. J. L. Wright has faithfully stood by us through the conflict, of whom it may be said: that he is, as ever, powerful in prayer, fervent in spirit, and wonderful in exhortation. And I want to say to you, my dear Doctor, that I regard your ADVOCATE as a great factor in our revival work, and I feel that I have been reaping the fruit of the seed that you have been sowing in the ADVOCATE. The ADVOCATE has a good circulation here. We would further say that the anti-lottery seed that you have been sowing has fallen on good ground in our midst, and in evidence of the fact, it has, in part, through its influence furnished an editor for our anti-lottery paper in the person of our brother, A. M. Wailes."

Rev. M. E. Tumlin, Nettleton, Miss., Nov. 7: "Our last meeting for the Nettleton charge was held at Nettleton, commencing on the second Sunday in October, and continued for two weeks. The new Methodist Church had just been opened for religious service, and is the prettiest building in the town. The meeting was good and spiritual from the beginning. On Monday that magnetic man of God, Rev. J. A. Bowen, of Aberdeen station, came to us 'in the fullness of the blessing of the gospel of Christ.' Under his earnest and inspiring ministry Christians were quickened and led to a higher life in Christ, backsliders were reclaimed, and many sinners were convicted and converted. Between 40 and 50 persons were received into the Methodist Church on profession and by certificate. Other churches shared with us in this work of grace. We have organized a men's prayer meeting for Monday night, and the ladies have a prayer meeting for Tuesday night, beside the regular union prayer meeting held every Wednesday night. Men are praying in public and holding family prayers now whose influence was very unwholesome before the meeting. We have had 131 accessions on profession of faith on this charge, and about 150 conversions. 'What hath God wrought?' Yet there remains much more to be done, and the 'fields are white unto the harvest.' The next District Conference for the Aberdeen district is to be held here. Thank God for two happy and successful years on this circuit. I shall soon (D. V.) leave for Conference with love in my heart for all."

Rev. J. E. Thomas, Grenada, Miss.: "We have had a gracious revival in Grenada. Rev. Sam P. Jones, assisted by Rev. Geo. R. Stuart and Prof. E. O. Excell, were with us for nine days. Many thousands of people from the surrounding country came to the meeting. The tabernacle would seat five thousand, and it was always packed with eager, anxious hearers. Grenada and the country for many miles around have been moved as they were never moved before. Many souls were converted, hundreds decided to lead a better life, Christians were revived, and hundreds have been lifted to a higher and better life. I have never heard such powerful appeals to men to turn from sin and serve the Lord. There was no compromise with sin, no easy way of obtaining salvation, no sugar-coating repentance and taking it in capsules; but repentance, faith and regeneration, as taught in the Bible, were emphasized, and men were urged to repent and believe that they might be saved. Perfect and thorough consecration to God in everything, and all the time, was urged with marvelous power and great effect. One result of the meeting will be the closing of the saloons in Grenada and Grenada county. The petition asking the Board of Supervisors of Grenada county to order an election is all ready to be presented, and there is no doubt but the saloons must go. Our town and the surrounding country have been wonderfully blessed."

Rev. T. W. Lewis, Greenville, Miss.: "We are making some improvement on our church by building a gallery at the rear end of the house. Our congregations are very good now, although our prayer meeting is not as large as it should be. Why is it that so many of our men do not attend prayer meeting? The Y. M. C. A. of Greenville is doing a splendid work. Its greatest foe is a social club organized some time ago. We have some noble young men who do not defile their garments by visiting the club, where drinks and cards are the chief amusements. Financially, our church is in good condition; spiritually, it is not doing so well. 'Things That Ought to Be Changed' endorsed. I wish to offer my hearty endorsement of the articles that have appeared recently under the above heading. The fact can not be disguised that our people are not satisfied with week-day quarterly meetings. Even in our stations our people are beginning to feel that the necessity for the presiding eldership is not as great as it once was. Our beloved presiding elders tell us if the districts are cut down in size, that their support will be meagre; but I believe the contrary will be found true. I believe ten presiding elders, serving ten districts in the North Mississippi Conference, would be as well supported as the eight are now. Take a country circuit of four appointments. Let the presiding elder appoint a week-day quarterly meeting at one of these churches, in the Spring or Autumn, when the people are busy, and they feel that it is too much to expect them to turn out and make the quarterly meeting a success at that inopportune time. That circuit would rather pay $100, and have a Sunday included in each quarterly meeting, than to pay $75, and have one or two of their quarterly meetings in the week. I have seen this fact demonstrated. The presiding elder is too much hurried if his district includes eighteen appointments. Not only is he kept away from his family, and has but little time to study, but he can not devote that attention to the work that its importance demands. The memorial service at our next Conference will be a sad one to me. In the death of Bro. Owen I feel that I have lost a warm, personal friend. Thoroughly consecrated, possessing a mind of rare analytical power, young and full of promise to the church, his death is a great loss. The workmen are laying down their work and entering upon their reward. May God sustain the bereaved ones!"

Continued on Fifth Page.

THE HOMESTEAD.

BY JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER.

Oh wanderers from ancestral soil,
Leave noisome mill and chattering store,
Gird up your loins for sturdier toil
And build the home once more!

Come back to bayberry scented slopes
And fragrant fern and groundnut vine;
Breathe airs blown over hill and copse,
Sweet with black birch and pine.

What matter if the gains are small
That life's essential wants supply?
Your homestead's title gives you all
That idle wealth can buy.

Ah, that the many-dollared crave,
The brick-walled slave of 'change and mart,
Lawns, trees, fresh air and flowers you have,
More dear for lack of art.

Your own sole masters, freedom-willed,
With none to bid you go or stay
Till the old fields your fathers tilled,
As manly men as they!

With skill that spares your toiling hands,
And chemic aid that science brings,
Reclaim the waste and outworn lands,
And reign thereon as kings.

OUR CONTRIBUTORS.

The Collections Again.

BY "X."

Our beloved presiding elders are required by the Discipline of the church to bring the subjects of missions and church extension "prominently before the Quarterly Conferences, and to see to it that efficient and well-devised methods are adopted for raising funds for these two causes." I have never yet known a presiding elder to do this, nor have I ever known a method of any kind to be adopted by a Quarterly Conference to raise money for missions, or any of the collections ordered by the Conference. So far as my observation goes, these clauses of the law are dead letters on the face of the book, and they had as well be expunged. If these matters are named in Quarterly Conference, as they generally are by the pastor, some brother moves to leave that whole question in the hands of the preacher, and the presiding elder puts the motion, and that is an end of it, so far as any help the pastor is going to get is concerned. He is left with the bag to hold, or rather with all the work to do in filling the bag. This is custom, and a bad custom, but not the law of the church. If our beloved presiding elders would hold Quarterly Conferences to the law, instead of allowing them to follow a vicious custom, the laymen of our church would soon wake up to the fact that they had a personal interest in missions and church extension. As it is, about nine out of ten of our prominent and official laymen have come to think and believe that the preachers alone are responsible for raising the general collections; and that if they do not come up in full, the preacher is to blame for it. I do not know how we are to get out of this bad custom that has grown up among us right in the face of a good law. If one or two preachers who happen to have a financial report short on the collections would, when called to explain, stand flat-footed, and say, "Well, Mr. President, my presiding elder did not bring these matters prominently before the Quarterly Conference, and he did not have that body to adopt a method of raising these moneys, as the law required him to do, and so I was left without help, sympathy or support, and, sir, this, I believe, is the main cause of the present shortage." A report of that kind would wake up an Annual Conference, and it might result in the transfer of an impudent, though truthful, preacher. Anyway, I will say that this is one law that is violated rather than administered where I have been. Presiding elders need to wake up right along here. I have heard some of them say, "The Discipline makes it the duty of the preacher to take up all the collections ordered by the Conference; and if these collections are not full, he only is to blame for it." That is random talk. It is not by the law laid down in the book. It is announcing a custom as the law of the church.

The Annual Conference has the right to say how the Bishop's fund shall be raised, and some of the Annual Conferences, one in particular, have said, "The presiding elders shall raise the assessment for Bishops;" and I do not know a presiding elder that does it, or even tries to do it. He leaves this, like the rest, in the hands of the pastor. If there is a deficit in the general collections, the average presiding elder says to the preacher: "Make the Bishop's money full. It will not do to let him go unpaid."

That is a good sentiment, and it covers up the presiding elder's neglect of duty. In the public report and in the printed minutes the beloved presiding elders seem to have been the most faithful of men. I have often wished some preacher had the moral courage to let the Bishop's collection alone, and when called on to explain would say, "Well, sir, this Conference made it the duty of the presiding elder to take up this collection, and he didn't do it." That preacher would move, but the presiding elders would mend up the next year.

There is really some fitness in making the preachers responsible for the Conference collection, the money to support worn-out preachers and the widows and orphan children of deceased preachers. But it is an outrage and a shame to pack off all the collections on the shoulders of the preachers. It is contrary to the Discipline of the church.

Now, take a care. In M. station there are seven stewards, and each steward has $165 to raise during the year; and they have a well-devised and an efficient plan for raising it. The pastor is expected—really, by a custom he is required—to raise $350, with no plan for raising it; and the only body authorized to devise and adopt a method of raising the larger part of it ignoring the whole thing; and the only man charged with seeing that this is done allowing the whole matter to go by default. This is most certainly a lawless way of administering the law. It puts the preacher in the attitude of making brick and furnishing his own straw. And yet the presiding elder allows this to go on year after year, and his "official administration" passes muster. "X" has no spite at presiding elders. He has spent some years in that corner, and he knows just how it is.

Lastly, the Bishops, of course, know the law, every word of it; but some of them have dealt with the preachers in open Conference in such a way on their financial reports, as to make the impression on the younger preachers and on most of the laymen present, that the preachers were wholly responsible for the collections, and that they, mainly, were to blame if they did not come up in full. And so it has come to pass that money collecting is the great gift—the only gift worth coveting. Money is the main thing, and it must be raised fairly, if we can; wrongly, if we must. All depends on getting it in full.

The Church Conference has the reserved right to say how the pastor's salary, the Conference collection and the Bishop's fund shall be raised. The powers and the rights to devise plans to raise all the collections are conferred on three of our Conferences, and then the preachers are held responsible for doing all the work, and they are blamed if it is not done. Was ever any proposition more unfair, more unjust?

Proselytism.

There are some things we condemn as wrong and very hurtful to the cause of Christ in those who are members of the church, and should be the friends of its true interests. The above word, with some explanation, will convey my idea of the wrong-doing. The proselyting we condemn is within the bounds of orthodoxy. What I mean by orthodoxy is where regeneration is preached, and its fruits expected or required in those who profess Christ. We believe if a person is regenerated by the Spirit of God, and manifests the fruit of the Spirit, which is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and temperance (Gal. v, 22, 23), he will surely get to heaven, regardless of the branch of the Christian Church he may belong to. It is the grace of God that saves, and not the church or its rites. When a person belongs to any orthodox branch of the church, he ought to be let alone. There is work enough for all Christians to save the millions who are outside of the pale of the church. I do not, in the least, reflect on those who change from one denomination to another of their own accord, because their doctrinal views have changed. This class, when they leave us, have a kindly feeling for their first love—their former nursing-mother. The wrong is in going from house to house and privately trying to unsettle the doctrinal views, especially of those who are uninformed on doctrine, or of those who may chance to be disaffected, or when a church is stirred by its own internal trials. The first work of the professional proselyter is to prejudice the member against his own doctrines. The contest is often very unequal, as the proselyter is an expert, and his subject not very well informed, and, besides, unsuspecting as to the true design. If he gets his subject confused on doctrine, the next step is to give him what he calls the true faith. "Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte; and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell than yourselves." (Matt. xxiii, 15.) It is a notable fact that those who are proselyted from us are the most prejudiced against us. The means used are culpable. The subject is generally told that he does not belong to the church, or that he has not been baptized, or that he is not in the right succession, or similar statements made in the most dogmatic manner, as their ignorance or bigotry may prompt them to say. And these things are said so as to make the unwary fear that salvation depends on them. Now, if the ecclesiastical marauder told his subject that he was wrong in heart because he had no religion, he could give him a prompt denial from his conscience; but when the question to be settled is about the forms or externals of religion, he may be perplexed, as the Christian Church is divided on these things. The wonder is, that so many Christians put so much stress on such small matters. The work of the proselyter is on the technicalities; not about the grand essentials. His work proposes a descent from a higher to a lower spirituality. The most spiritual branches of the church do not encourage such work, nor does a really high-toned Christian gentleman engage in it. It is done by persons of a low type of spirituality. A fanatic or bigot may delight in it. The moral phase should be noticed. For one pastor to make inroads upon the flock of another, if he is not grossly ignorant, he must be prompted by one of two motives. First, to get the members of the other, so as to increase his own support, which is morally dishonest. Or, in the second place, it may be for vainglory, so as to boast of numbers. This is manifested by a greater triumph over capturing a member from some other, fold than by winning a real sinner from Satan. I suppose a person thus captured will sooner or later feel that he has become the dupe of some designing bigot. Common fairness and honesty should prompt men to let alone the rights of others. It is, no doubt, easier to go into the fold of another and steal his sheep than raise them or capture the wild sheep on the mountains. It is easier to go into your neighbor's field and take his ripe corn than to cultivate a crop for yourself. But is it right? I had as lief Satan in some other form would come into my fold as in the guise of an angel of light. The "grievous wolves" and "ravening wolves" (Acts xx, 29; Math. vii, 15) are to be dreaded by the faithful pastor. Please don't steal my sheep.

C. McDONALD.

Jackson, Miss.

Letter from Mexico.

MR. EDITOR: A good sister in Brookhaven, Miss., gave me $2.50, and another in New Orleans, through you, gave me $5, for Sister Culhuaca, who is teaching one of our schools free of charge, that her husband, who was to teach the school in connection with his work as pastor, might devote all his time to preaching. And the following is a translation of her letter to me acknowledging the receipt of the money:

Appreciated Brother in Christ: I have this day received the money you had the goodness to send me by express, for which I give to you the most grateful thanks; and I beseech you to place me at the orders of your friends, the ladies, who had the great goodness to help me in my humble home. For them I shall always pray with all the strength of my soul that God may give them happy homes and life eternal. My husband and myself are praying without ceasing that God may restore you to health and to the work. Salute your good wife, whom I have not the honor of knowing.

Your humble sister in Christ,

C. S. DE CULHUACA.

As the state of my health would not permit me to undergo the fatigue and exposure, I did not get to the last Quarterly Conference on the work of these good people. But the pastor reports a net gain in the membership of seventeen, all the assessments on his charge paid in full, and some money for the support of the pastor in charge and the presiding elder.

In many respects I regard the condition of the church in the bounds of my district in a far better condition than at any time since I have known it; but I feel very sad and fearful of the consequences of having to dismiss all my schools next year for lack of the money to carry them on. Not only will there be between six and seven hundred children in my district alone without the religious and other instruction that our schools alone can give, but the disorganization of our schools for only one year will lose to us all our tried and experienced teachers. They are poor, and will have to look elsewhere for employment; and then when we want them, we can not get them. Only those who have the experience in securing good teachers, and know their worth to the present and the future of the church, know what all this means.

Your brother, J. M. WEEMS.

Avenida Balderas No. 3, Nov. 2, 1891.

Letter from Japan.

MR. EDITOR: I regret to write you the sad news of the loss of our Hiroshima girls' school by fire on the night of Thursday, Oct. 15, at midnight. The origin of the fire is not known. Miss Strider was the first to give the alarm, and Miss Gaines and Miss Strider, two native teachers and all the pupils only had time to escape in their night-clothes, losing all their clothing, bedding, books, furniture, etc. Miss Gaines and Miss Strider had to walk to Bro. Waters' place, some distance away, in their bare feet. The native Christians were all very kind to them, and some Japanese, who were not Christians, were very kind to them. We feel truly thankful to our kind heavenly Father that their lives have been spared to us and to the church and to their friends. It is a sad loss to the mission and the church, and a great loss to the ladies, and especially to Miss Gaines, who not only lost all by the fire, but she had put a good deal of her money in the kindergarten building, which was wrecked by the late typhoon. The kindergarten building is being rebuilt. Miss Gaines' kitchen, the kitchen of the school-building, dining-room and bath-room were all saved. The material for the kindergarten was also saved. The ladies of our mission in Kobe and Osaka, and the ladies of other missions, are doing what they can to help them. Their great need now is clothing and bedding for the Winter, for themselves, their teachers, and for their pupils. I am glad to say help is coming in already. I trust the ladies of churches at home, who know Miss Gaines and Miss Strider, will do something to help them, for they have lost all, but have gone nobly ahead, and have already opened in a native building for the present. They deserve all honor for their faithfulness.

Your brother in Christ,

J. W. LAMBUTH.

Kobe, Oct. 20, 1891.

"Things That Ought to Be Changed."

Several of the brethren have taken up the pen to reiterate the cry of "some things that ought to be changed." I am glad that the subject is being discussed, for thereby we may be benefited. I would say some things, not already said, that suggest themselves to my young mind as being sadly in need of rectifying, were it not for the fact that I would be set down at once as belonging to that unpopular class called "pessimists," and charged with not having "enjoyed my breakfast." Now, Mr. Editor, I do enjoy a good breakfast (when I can get it) and am not dyspeptic, but I will say some things, if it brings a storm of anathemas at me. It seems to me that we have sadly degenerated from the early type of Methodist ministers. I remember how I used to venerate such men as Geo. Shaeffer, Wm. Murrah, and others, whose very presence in the home was a benediction; and such a thing as a preacher coming into the home and not invoking the blessing of Almighty God before leaving, was unknown. I am afraid many of our preachers do not do so now. We are too light and frivolous, and do not appreciate as we should the awful responsibility of standing between the living and the dead, as ambassadors for Christ. I heard of one minister (and a good man) whose own child said that she would be very much surprised if her father should talk to her on the subject of religion. Many of us enjoy much more telling a good joke than being about the Master's business.

The question of Sunday trains, of which "another member" speaks, is an important one. Many of our preachers have no conscience of this subject whatever. They accept the theory that Sam Jones set forth, when he said that he would "ride the devil's horse to serve the Lord," or some such words. "Robbing Peter to pay Paul." Better say at once, "Do evil that good may come."

Another thing, Mr. Editor. What would you think of a presiding elder, or a preacher, who buys a secular paper on Sunday afternoon and reads it until time for preaching? Would you imagine that he would preach as if he had just emerged from communion and contact with God, or that "his lips had been touched" "with a coal" "from off the altar?" Nay, verily! If the grand and sainted Wesley could stand in our midst to-day, would he recognize the dapper, dainty, frivolous preacher of to-day as one of his pupils? Or, what is more important, Have we the spirit of our blessed Lord and Master in all things?

By all means let us have more districts, smaller districts, and more true, vital piety. Less traveling on Sunday, less preaching on week days and better preaching at all times.

ROB.

Woman's Work.

At the request of the president, through Bro. Bradley, pastor in charge, I was present at a meeting of the "Fayette Circuit Financial Aid Association," last July, when they became an auxiliary to the Parsonage and Home Mission Society under the new law, with several vice-presidents representing different portions of the circuit.

Utica Parsonage Society re-organized under the new law. Auxiliaries W. M. S. should at once furnish their pastors with written statements of moneys expended since the Annual Conference, December, 1890.

At the last annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society 1,232 adult members were reported; 375 (only) Missionary Advocates taken. Will not everyone who takes it circulate it, being sure that those members who do not have the opportunity of reading it? Ministers and others who will make efforts to secure subscribers, can obtain sample copies by notifying me, as Conference agent.

We, as a society, are being more and more indebted to Dr. Carter and the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and, of course, should labor for it.

MRS. E. D. JONES,
Editor W. M. S., Miss. Conf.

Carlisle, Miss.

In Memoriam.

REV. WILLIAM WOOD.

Just as the gray heralds of day were ushering in the Sabbath of Sept. 13, 1891, the Master called the spirit of his faithful servant, Rev. William Wood, home to his eternal Sabbath in the skies.

Bro. Wood was born March 8, 1824, in Holmes county, Fla., and his parents had him dedicated to God in baptism in early infancy by the Rev. Morgan C. Tarrantine. When about six years of age he moved with his parents to Lauderdale county, Miss. He united with the Methodist Church at an early age, and when nineteen years old was soundly converted at a woods prayer meeting. On Jan. 21, 1846, he married Miss Martha G. Parish, and on the next day he and his young bride started for Arkansas, where they settled in Drew county, near Monticello. Six children were born of this union, four of whom remain to mourn their departed loved one. In 1852 he was called to preach, and he hastened to procure the required license and begin the work. From that time he was earnest and zealous in efforts for God's glory and the salvation of the immortal souls of his fellows about him, and kept a full round of appointments. In October, 1860, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Geo. F. Pierce, and in 1872 he was made an elder by Bishop W. M. Wightman. In 1868 he returned to Mississippi, locating in Hinds county, from which, after four years, he moved to Amite county, where he remained till death opened the way and he moved on to the bright fields of glory to which he had so long held a clear, full title.

Bro. Wood was from the inception of his ministerial life faithful and aggressive, carrying the triumphant banner of his Commander into the very heart of the enemies' country, and glorying only in the strength of his great Chief. He never shunk back from stony, thorny paths and bloody fields, and he sweetened the toils and embalmed the pains of the campaign by association with the Captain. God blessed his labors with fruit and joy, and many names on the register of the Adams circuit were placed there by his efforts.

In November, of 1888, he suffered a fall from his front gallery to the ground, which almost completely disabled him and compelled him to abandon preaching. This was a sore trial to him, and a few weeks before his departure Providence permitted him again to resume the active combat and be happy in the use of the same burnished arms in the ranks of the victorious Leader.

He was taken slightly sick Sunday, Sept. 6, with some stomach trouble, which grew gradually worse and caused him much suffering to within a few hours of his death. Consciousness never left him. His family and faithful physicians did all they could for him, but God had said, "It is enough," and called him away. One of his daughters, seeing the end was near, asked: "If the Lord called you, would you be ready to go?" And, as if surprised at such a question, he answered: "Why, yes, Mattie; I've been preparing for this for nearly fifty years." On the evening before he died, to the family and friends who were with him he again asserted his readiness and willingness to go. He especially thanked God that his parents committed him to God by baptism in infancy, and he rejoiced that he had given to his family the same precious doctrine. This led him into a pointed and most excellent talk on infant baptism, and his frequent quotations of Scripture were very appropriate and their application most beautiful.

If death can linger to so beautifully talk of this doctrine, can it be all a myth? His cup was full, and his enraptured soul found fit expression in Psalms ciii, 1, "Bless the Lord, oh, my soul: and all that is within me, bless his holy name!" He closed his talk by quoting with emphasis and fervor: "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which, according to his abundant mercy, hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation, ready to be revealed in the last time." (I. Peter i, 3, 4 and 5).

After this he was more quiet, and, as the mists and darkness of night fled before the approaching light of day, so quietly the mortality made way for the eternal; and the eye that had, through the glass of humanity seen darkly awhile, opened in unclouded vision on that perfect day, home at last, at rest in God!

The deceased brother leaves an aged wife, two sons and two daughters with many grandchildren to mourn the loss. Our hearts go out to them in sympathy and our prayers ascend to their faithful Friend and Father. But though the cloud may hover round their hearts, the brightness of the Christian's hope gilds each dark prospect with pure, burnished gold. "I go to prepare a place for you." Yes, Jesus is making it home-like with those we know and love.

H. M. ELLIS.

Rev. R. Abbey.

Truly may it be written, "That there is a prince and a great man fallen in Israel," in the death of our lamented Dr. Abbey. Having lived in the same house with him while a school-boy, meeting him at the family board and around the family altar, and associating with him in the unrestrained freedom of the family circle, I learned to love and appreciate him as a sympathizing friend of the young. Perhaps there is not another minister among us who knew him so well in those relations. Though apparently indifferent to the presence of children, no one appreciated their rights and pleasures more than he. No one took greater delight in the improvement of the young, and no one was more ready to instruct and counsel them. He especially admired the text-books of the present, and the improved mode of teaching as much superior to that of his childhood. Many of his best thoughts and illustrations were gotten from his associations with the children of the home. More than once has he expressed his belief that his "Christian Cradlehood" was the best book of his life. He took great interest in the young preachers, and watched with evident pleasure their growth in wisdom, and rejoiced in their success in the Master's work.

During my pastorate of four years in Yazoo City, I was again associated with him in the work of the church and frequently visited him at his home. Here, again, I found him a true friend and a ready helper in the work of the Lord. A great thinker and thorough reasoner, when he once formed a conclusion he was tenacious of his position and hard to combat. He delighted in the companionship of those who were given to much thought, always having under consideration some subject on which he was ready to ask questions to elicit discussion or secure information. He was an incessant, tireless thinker. He was not hasty to commit his thoughts to paper, but looked at his subject carefully, and from every point. His theory was, especially in hook-making, that the author should be certain of his position and fear no man's criticisms.

Dr. Abbey was a modest man, notwithstanding his powers as a thinker and writer. Often, when I would ask him to fill the pulpit, he would decline, saying, "No, the people would prefer to hear you;" and while I felt myself in the presence of a giant, he was always the most attentive of listeners, and thus relieved the young preacher of all embarrassment.

The last two sermons which it was my pleasure to hear him preach were full of pathos and unction. The text of one was Psalms lxxiii, 24: "Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory." The other was the oft-repeated sixteenth verse of the third chapter of John's Gospel. His hearers were delighted and his own face shone with heavenly splendor. More than once great tears filled his eyes as he discoursed of the love of God and the prospects of glory.

Two more opposite characters than Drs. Abbey and Marshall could scarcely be found, and yet they were exceedingly fond of each other. The one admired the genius and eloquence of the other, and the other esteemed the learning and logic of his friend.

At the last session of the Mississippi Conference we had them to tea with us at the parsonage, and their conversation and evident pleasure in each other were a charm to all. When the bell rang for service, one of them not feeling well, they both remained in the parlor, and spent the evening until ten o'clock like brothers, indeed, conversing of the past history of the church they loved, and her prospects for future good. Their love was like that of David and Jonathan, and their souls were knit together. How little did they think that their separation should be so short! To-day they speak of more glorious experience and realize all their fondest hopes. Their enrichment is our poverty; but we trust that their mantles shall fall on some who are young and strong to prosecute the work which they have laid down.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

The hours of a wise man are lengthened by his ideas, as those of a fool are by his passions. The time of the one is long, because he does not know what to do with it; so is that of the other, because he distinguishes every moment of it with useful or amusing thoughts, or in other words, because the one is always wishing it away, and the other always enjoying it.—Addison.

THE LOTTERY.

The Business View.

In his speech at the second ward mass meeting on Monday night, as an illustration of what a bad business it had been for the State to take $40,000 a year from the Louisiana Lottery Company, as a commutation of all taxes and licenses, Mr. Farrar read the annexed tabulated statement and challenged the lottery press to publish it or to deny its statements. Of course they did neither. We give the table in full.

Statement showing amount of taxes that the Louisiana Lottery Company would have had to pay from 1880 to 1891 if they had been taxed on the value of their stock as fixed by the bids for the same in the New Orleans Stock Exchange in January of each year:

Year	Value of Stock.	Rate of City and State Taxation.	Amount of Taxes Payable on Stock Valuation.
1880.....	$110	2.421 per cent.	$26,631
1881.....	150	2.384 "	34,960
1882.....	250	3.775 "	87,775
1883.....	250	2.6 "	67,600
1884.....	350	2.6 "	91,000
1885.....	300	3.14 "	94,000
1886.....	300	2.62 "	78,600
1887.....	500	2.62 "	131,000
1888.....	650	2.62 "	170,300
1889.....	825	2.62 "	216,150
1890.....	1,100	2.72 "	299,200
1891.....	500	2.72 "	136,000
Total amount of taxes payable.....			$1,433,216
Amount actually paid in 12 years....			480,000
Loss to the State and city.....			$953,216

It thus appears that the State and city have together lost in taxes alone, exclusive of licenses, the sum of $953,216. 11, during the same period the company had been made to pay a license tax, like all other companies, upon the amount of its gross receipts, ranking it as a manufacturing corporation. It would have paid to the city and State the additional sum of $15,000. Add this sum to the above, and it appears that in these twelve years alone, the city and State have lost $68,216 more than the lottery company will have paid in the whole twenty-five years of the charter's existence at the rate of $50,000 a year.

Mr. Farrar demonstrated, and challenged the lottery press either to publish or deny the statement, that if the lottery stock of the company should be valued at what the lottery stock of the old company actually sold for in the year 1890, to-wit, $1,350 a share, the annual taxes to be paid the city and State would be $1,836,000. If to this is added a license tax, graded according to the existing law for large corporations—that is, a license of $8,000 a year each to the city and State—it becomes manifest that the aggregate of these taxes and licenses would be $602,000 more per annum than the lottery proposes to pay for the franchise and be exempt from taxes and licenses. This would be a loss to the city and State in twenty-five years of FIFTEEN MILLION AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.—New Delta.

The Lottery Fight.

The citizens of Louisiana who have the morals and good name of the State at heart are engaged in a vigorous effort to rid themselves of the lottery curse which for nearly twenty-five years has weighed them down. Louisiana and New Orleans have been the scene of its operations, but the company, with all its ill-gotten wealth, was born in this city, and here are its most active promoters. This lottery company gathers its spoils throughout the land, and with its seductive and lying temptations wins patrons from well-nigh every hamlet. It is stated on competent authority that Boston and Chicago each contribute $50,000 a month to enrich these gamblers, and New York does as much and probably more. The lottery craze not only reaches the poor negroes, who thus squander their earnings and are kept from gaining habits of economy, but even invades our colleges, particularly of the Eastern States, and exerts its demoralizing influence in quarters least suspected.

The managers of the lottery present to the people of Louisiana, as an argument for the renewal of the charter, that ninety-three per cent. of the $22,000,000 of annual receipts come from outside the State. This, in itself, makes it a matter of concern to every law-abiding and patriotic citizen of the Union.

For years the legalized lottery has had but this one resting-place in the nation. In every State in the Union lotteries, as gambling, have long been interdicted by law, save only in Louisiana. The charter under which the Louisiana Lottery Company has carried on its operations was obtained at the instigation of a band of gamblers in New York as far back as 1868, and was for the term of twenty-five years. Public sentiment in the State has again and again expressed itself as adverse to this infamous business. In 1879 the Legislature repealed the charter, but a decision by the United States District Judge for Louisiana nullified the action, and anew fastened upon the State its disgrace. Immediately after a Constitutional Convention was called, and an amendment to the Constitution was adopted, that after Jan. 1, 1895, all lotteries should be prohibited in the State, and this was ratified by popular vote. The managers of the lottery Company appeared to acquiesce, and it was supposed that the contest was over. But as the time draws near for their iniquitous, but lucrative privileges to end, with the cunning of Satan and with a fund of over six million dollars amassed for the express purpose of buying back their profitable charter, they are moving toward the repeal of this provision and the extension of their charter for another quarter of a century. They have so far succeeded as to secure an act of the Legislature, passed over the governor's veto, and by barely the requisite number of votes, submitting a constitutional amendment in April of next year, repealing the present prohibition and giving the gamblers another twenty-five years' lease of power.

The struggle is a desperate one, between those who have at heart the welfare and good name of the State, and the shrewd and conscienceless gang enriched by the cultivated mania for gambling. The corruption fund is immense; it is used as occasion calls for; not an unnecessary vote is purchased, but ever enough for their purpose. The skill with which it seeks its end is consummate. It bribes every taxpayer by the offer to relieve the State of much of its burdens. For the twenty-five year charter it will pay the sum of $31,250,000, or $1,250,000 per annum. Of this, $350,000 to be for levees; $250,000 for education; $100,000 for drainage and sewerage in New Orleans; $150,000 for State charities; $50,000 for Confederate pensions; and $350,000 for the general fund. By this specious apportionment of its dotation it appeals strongly to many and varied interests, particularly as many of them have been inadequately and with difficulty cared for.

One readily sees how strongly this apparent aid in building up the industries and material interests of the State must appeal to the politicians and voters. By one device or another the press of the State has, to an alarming extent, been brought to favor the scheme of the gamblers. All the papers of New Orleans are in the interest of the lottery, and fully three-fourths of those in the State. To counteract this unfavorable attitude of the press, the opponents of the lottery have been compelled to establish in New Orleans a paper, The New Delta, by which their views are advocated. This is sustained by donations, and widely circulated. Contributions to its support is an efficient method for those outside the State to aid in the fight which, under adverse circumstances, is being waged by the friends of good order and morality.

As has been noted, this is not a merely local matter, but one which concerns the entire nation. If the gamblers win the fight in Louisiana, the contest will at once be carried into the politics of the nation, to secure for their demoralizing business once again the freedom of the mails, and not without the possibility of success. A business which aggregates $22,000,000 per annum, nearly fifty per cent. of which is profit—the shares of the Lottery Company which were worth $35 in 1879 had advanced in 1890 to $1,200—can accomplish much in debauching even national politics when the balance between parties is so close and apparently determinable by corrupt methods.

It is time the moral and Christian sentiment of the nation should be aroused to the importance of what many have regarded as a merely local issue, and the people arise in their might and stamp out this reproach upon the nation and one of its fairest States. If no other way can be found an amendment to the Constitution should be enacted prohibiting any State from legalizing any lottery or other form of gambling.—Christian Intelligencer, N. Y.

The Christian at Work says:

It is clearly within the limits to say that no organization of any kind has ever existed in this country, outside of the banded liquor interests, that has worked so much evil, has been so productive of so much crime and demoralization, as this New Orleans Lottery Company.

The people of the North in general have as yet only a faint realization of the tremendous struggle in which the people of Louisiana are now engaged. If the Lottery Company succeeds in its efforts to secure an extension of its charter for twenty-five years, it will practically own the whole State and have things all its own way in the future. And not only this, but if it succeeds in Louisiana, it will then reach out and endeavor to secure a footing in other States. It will aim at nothing less than a place of power at Washington, where it can control legislation affecting its interests. That these are its hopes and designs we are assured on the most reliable authority. Surely then the outcome of the present struggle in Louisiana should be an object of extreme solicitude to every good citizen of the United States. The anti-lottery forces in Louisiana have the odds against them so far as money and political influence in the State are concerned. They need and should have the moral and financial support of all men everywhere who count themselves the friends of morality, law and order.

To retain an abundant head of hair of a natural color to a good old age, the hygiene of the scalp must be observed. Apply Hall's Hair Renewer.

The World's Fair and the Sabbath.

In regard to opening the Chicago Fair on the Sabbath day the Ecumenical Methodist Conference adopted the following memorial addressed to the commissioners:

The Ecumenical Methodist Conference, composed of 500 ministers and laymen, and representing the Methodist Churches throughout the world, respectfully petition your honorable body to prevent the proposed opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on the Lord's day. We make this petition for the following reasons:

1. It is the religious conviction of the great majority of Christian people that man needs and God commands the observance of the Sabbath.

2. The opening of the Exposition on Sunday would violate the Sabbath-keeping traditions of the American people and their Anglo-Saxon ancestry, and also the laws of the United States and Illinois.

3. The Columbian Exposition ought to exhibit to visitors from other lands a characteristic Christian American Sunday rather than a weekly secular holiday.

4. The proposed opening Sunday would deprive the thousands of employees in the service of the Exposition of their right to one day in seven for rest and worship. The same injustice would be done to the many thousands in the service of the transportation companies. It would also furnish an excuse to employers for refusing to grant holidays for the purpose of visiting the Exposition, which would otherwise be given to their employees.

5. The spirit of the movement to open the Exposition Sunday is not philanthropic, but mercenary. It is not primarily to give the workman a chance to visit the Exposition, but to increase the gains of the transportation companies and others who are large stockholders in the Exposition.

6. As an offset to the plea that the stockholders will lose money if the Exposition is not open Sunday we beg leave to remind you that the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia was a financial success with the gates closed Sunday.

7. We have reason to believe that many of the exhibitors from Great Britain and other Christian lands will refuse to expose their exhibits on Sunday, thus rendering the Sunday exhibit very unsatisfactory to visitors, and at the same time silently rebuking the mercenary spirit that would open the gates that day.

Resolved, That a copy of this petition, duly certified, be forwarded by the secretary of this Conference to the secretary of the United States Commission of the World's Columbian Exposition.

The Parsonage and Home Mission Society.

A PAPER TO REPRESENT IT.

Frequent requests for such a paper having been made, the Central Committee, Sept. 30, decided to publish one quarterly. It will be called The Parsonage and Home Mission Quarterly. The price of subscription is twenty-five cents a year.

As it will contain many items of interest to the society not otherwise to be obtained, no member—especially no officer—of the society should be without it. Everyone recognizing the need of "home missions" should know what is being done by the first and only general movement in our church for united effort in that line.

This paper will not supply the place of the regular church papers. It will not answer the same purpose. One prominent idea in view in the publication of this paper—and one to which we desire to call special attention—is to give to our young people a class of literature for which there is a constant demand, including interesting stories, serials, that will not only interest, but cultivate a literary taste of the highest order. The children will not be forgotten. We hope to have in each number a programme for public meetings of children.

It shall be our policy to oppose no work for Christ authorized by our General Conference—lest "haply we may be found fighting against God"—but to give aid and encouragement where we can.

The first number will be out in January. Subscribe at once. Send money and addresses to Miss Luolnda B. Helm, 1,500 3rd Ave., Louisville, Ky.

There are a number of tricks by clever sleight-of-hand performers, the success of which depend entirely upon the substitution of a sham article for a real one which it closely resembles. It is to be regretted that in these days of counterfeits, success is often aimed at in other departments by very similar methods. Even the humane art of healing, that of all others should be free from it, is not exempt, and there are meek medicines just as there are quack doctors.

Merit and excellence wherever found have always had their imitators, and the popular preparations of the Mansfield Drug Company have not escaped. The success of Mansfield's Magic Arnica Liniment has led to the introduction of various so-called arnica liniments, which are offered in various parts of the country, especially the Southwestern States. But no skilled pharmacist, any more than any patient who has ever found relief from Mansfield's Magic Arnica Liniment, need be told that it differs from those nostrums as thoroughly as a true fabric differs from the shoddy, and is not to be classed with them.

If your druggist or merchant is without it send fifty cents, with address, to Mansfield Drug Company, Memphis, Tenn., and it will be forwarded.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H. Beals, Jr.

Catarrh

Is a complaint so common that comparatively few people are entirely free from it, so insidious that it gains a firm hold almost before its victims are aware of its presence, so dangerous as to seriously threaten the general health, and liable to develop into bronchitis or

Consumption.

It is a mistake to consider Catarrh merely a local trouble. It is unquestionably a disease of the blood, and, therefore, the right way to cure Catarrh is to remove from the blood the impurities which cause and feed it. This is to be done by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which effectually expels all traces of poison and germs of disease.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me of Catarrh, and built up my general health, so that I am feeling better than for years.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only medicine I know of which will cure miller's catarrh." GEO. FOSTER, Logan, Ohio.

N. B.—Be sure to get Hood's.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kags, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cages, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS—E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

COSTIVENESS

If not relieved by judicious and timely treatment, is liable to result in chronic constipation. As an aperient that may be used with perfect safety and satisfaction, Ayer's Pills are unsurpassed. Unlike most cathartics, these pills, while they relax and cleanse, exert a tonic influence on the stomach, liver, and bowels, causing these organs to perform their functions with healthy regularity and comfort. Being purely vegetable and free from mineral of any kind, their use is not attended with injurious effects. Good for old and young of every climate, Ayer's Pills are everywhere the favorite. G. W. Bowman, 26 East Main street, Carlisle, Pa., says: "Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills, and I deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. I would not willingly be without them."

Cured by

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

Every Dose Effective.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,

831 Broadway, NEW YORK.

IN BUSINESS OVER 50 YEARS.

SHEPARD & SON,

94 CAMP STREET.

BEAUTIFUL

China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL

Semi-China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL CHAMBER SETS.
PLATED WARE, all kinds,
WOOD WARE, all kinds,
TIN WARE, all kinds,
GLASS WARE, all kinds.

House Furnishing Store, Cheap as the Cheapest

ALL THE NOVELTIES OF THE DAY.

Wringers and Curtain Stretchers.

WALL PAPER.

Never in the history of the Wall Paper business has the line of patterns equalled those which will be shown this Fall, and, as we carry the makes of every manufacturer, nowhere else in the South can such an assortment be found. In Dining-room, Parlor and Bed-room Papers there are several very pretty novelties, and also an innovation in the way of a Bath-room Paper, which can be splashed with impunity and not damaged.

Matting, Chinese AND Japanese,

From 10 cents up. WINDOW SHADES, 25 cents up. OIL CLOTH, 25 cents up.

RUGS, COCOA MATTING, UPHOLSTERING GOODS and LINOLEUM in immense assortment.

Write for a catalogue.

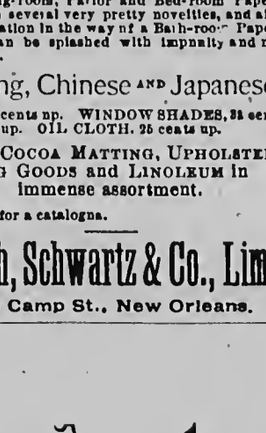
Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp St., New Orleans.

W. H. KRONE, BUILDER,

586 Baronne St., - New Orleans.

Box 71, M., D., and L. Exchange.



Kursheedt's Marble Works — 120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF

PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.

Nos. 542, 544, 546 and 548 Howard Ave.,

NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 8:10 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 5:10 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express..... 5:35 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express..... 8:10 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train"..... 10:00 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train"..... 3:45 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 3 Lim. Ex. 7:45 am	No. 4 F'st Ex... 7:45 am
No. 5 F'st Ex... 7:05 pm	No. 8 Coast.... 8:45 pm
No. 7 Coast.... 9:20 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex.. 7:30 pm
Lim. express,.. 4:45 pm	Fast mail..... 8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

No. 1. Local Mail and Express.. 7:20pm	No. 2. Local Mail and Express.. 7:00am
No. 41. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 8:25am	No. 42. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 6:00pm
No. 45. Chic. and N. O. Lim.... 8:00pm	No. 46. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 12:01 noon
No. 41. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 8:25am	No. 42. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:00pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom... 8:50am	No. 6. McComb City Accom.. 4:30pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 93 California Express. 7:30 pm	No. 51 California Express. 8:00 am
B. Rouge, local. 10:25am	B. Rouge, local. 3:50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 19 Califor. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local.... 8:00 am
No. 17 Local.... 7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor.. 5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd . . 2:30pm	No. 2, Lim'd..... 5:00pm
No. 3, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 6, Fast Line.. 8:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO.
(Via Meridian.)

No. 3, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 2, Limited.... 5:00pm

P. AND P. EAST LA.
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.
Arrive..... 8:30 am | Leave..... 4:15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pt. a-la-Hache 8h Bch. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:30 p. m.	Pt. a-la-Hache 8h. Bch. 7:00 a. m., 10:00 a m., 5:00 p. m.

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

FROM

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City. Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 34 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.
J. C. GAULT, General Manager.
D. G. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

to SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT and

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't, B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,
JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.
Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train.....	5:00 p. m	8:10 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	8:10 a. m	5:35 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:45 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

P. R. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Agt. R. F. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt.

AGENTS WANTED

for PANSY'S Latest and Greatest Work,

"The Prince of Peace;"

OR,

"The Beautiful Life of Jesus."

See what a few of our own preachers say about it:

Rev. W. H. DePrade, Pastor Carondelet Street Church, says: "I have been waiting for it. Put me down for two copies."

Rev. Chas. F. Evans, D. D., Presiding Elder of New Orleans District, says: "One of the most excellent of modern books. The wood cuts are magnificent."

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, Pastor Dryades M. E. Church, South, says: "A most excellent book for the young."

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, says: "I have read the book with pleasure and satisfaction."

Rev. Jno. T. Sawyer, Pastor Felicity Street M. E. Church, South, says: "This is a most excellent book to put in the hands of the young, and older persons will be benefited by it as well."

Hundreds of testimonials can be furnished. Agents are doing splendidly with it. Send 85 for outfit, and secure territory at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
106 Camp St., - New Orleans, La.

DEATH Such is the charming little book,

"Mary Singleton."

TO THE

DANCE Scatter it far and near. One copy, 20c; per dozen, $2.

L. L. PICKETT, Columbia, S. C.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear-cut and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brewer, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEAREST, FINEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation (atlas of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study, Practical Lectures and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this College has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College, by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has unsurpassed facilities and equipments.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.—Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools, in Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE—Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC FOUNDED BY DR. EBEN TOURJÉE.

CARL FAELTEN, Director.

Piano, Organ, Violin, Voice, Etc.

Systematic courses in class and private lessons. Tuition, $10 to $30 for 20 class lessons. Many free Classes, Lectures, Recitals, etc. Elocution, Oratory and Dramatic Action, Fine Arts, Literature, Languages, Piano and Organ Tuning. COMFORTABLE HOME for Lady Students. Calendar Free.

Fall Term begins Sept. 10, 1891.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager, Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR, Member of Board of Trustees, No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

IF you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO. No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1360½ Tchoupitoulas street.

IF YOU WANT AN ORGAN AT A BARGAIN

BUY NOW

SPECIAL

SUMMER SALE

500

FINE ORGANS at Way Down Prices—to close.

Easy Terms—$3 to $5 monthly—or $10 Cash, balance in full. No Interest.

GREAT BARGAINS Must be sold. Can't hold. Write for Bargain Sheet.

LUDDEN & BATES, SAVANNAH, GA.

CANCER and Tumors CURED; NO Knife! book free. DRS. GRATIGNY & NORMAN No. 163 Elm street, Cincinnati, O.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.

Thursday, November 19, 1891.

The Burial of Rev. John Pipes.

Before he died the Rev. John Pipes requested that he be buried in Grand Cane, La., among the people he loved, in the bounds of his own Conference, and in Louisiana soil, in the land where his great life-work had been accomplished.

On the morning of Oct. 28 his body arrived at Grand Cane, accompanied by his wife, his son, his daughter and her husband. A large assembly of people gathered at the Methodist Church to show their regard for the memory of the deceased, and but few eyes were dry as they viewed for the last time the countenance of this greatly loved minister, and none seemed to feel his death more deeply than the Sunday-school children. His face bore a cheerful expression as one asleep in Jesus. The chancel and the pulpit surroundings were beautifully decorated with flowers to remove all gloom from the scene and to correspond with the happy and peaceful manner of his death. Conscious to the last, he said, "All is well." The following ministers were present: Rev. J. B. Cassity, Rev. T. L. Lallance, Rev. S. H. Whatley, Rev. E. C. McVoy, Rev. A. D. McVoy, Sr., and Rev. Dr. Courtney, of the Baptist Church. A memorial service was held, participated in by the ministers present, each paying a sad tribute to the memory of our beloved brother. His long, useful career as a faithful minister of Christ, his bright, cheerful disposition, his strong, unwavering faith in God, his great influence for good among men, his strong devotion to the church, his consecrated character were all alluded to most feelingly by the speakers.

Dr. Courtney said that after the services he would come down from the pulpit, and, placing his hand upon the casket that contained all that remained of his dear friend, he would, in silent prayer, pledge his life for a greater consecration to the cause of the Master. He called upon the people to do the same. One by one the congregration advanced to the casket, presenting a striking and impressive scene not soon to be forgotten. A long procession followed to the cemetery, and we lowered the body of this grand old soldier of the cross into his resting-place until the end shall come.

As a minister of the gospel, he was true to his convictions, never wavering a moment through a long, useful life. He was universally respected and loved by man, woman and child, because he was gentle, kind and loving himself. His labors of love advanced the cause of Christ wherever he went, and many rise up to call him blessed. His piety was genuine, always reflecting the likeness of the Savior. His presence charmed as that of a holy man. No one who knew him but had confidence in his Christian integrity and in the wonderful simplicity of his character. The history of his life runs along parallel with that of his Conference and with the preaching of the gospel in Louisiana. Gathered to his great reward, he leaves a memory worthy to be cherished as long as life endures with those who knew him.

A. D. McVoy.

Mansfield, La., Nov. 11, 1891.

There is one question which every Christian ought to ask himself quite frequently, and that is, "Does God believe in me?"

"Who Will We Get?" and "Where Will I Go Next Year?"

BY "X."

These two questions are frequently on the lips of our Methodist preachers and people at this time; and no great wonder, for both are interested. If the "who" and the "where" were confidently and earnestly left in the hands of God, it would be better every way for both preachers and people. It is exceedingly difficult to do this where self-will has not been brought into subjection to God. In many cases we would rather say "who" we want and "where" we are to go than for God to say. If we get the man we want and go to the place we desired, we are willing enough to admit that God had a hand in it. We like to be on good terms with God, and we are willing to say complimentary things of him when we have our own way. If, however, things go the other way, we are ready to say, if we really do not believe, "God had nothing to do with it"—the presiding elder and the Bishop alone are to blame for it. We seem to think God always agrees with us and never differs from us. May not our disappointments, as well as our appointments, be from God? Why not acknowledge the hand of God in the one as well as in the other? After all, the preacher you want may not be the one you need. The fact is, we generally want what we do not need, and need what we do not want. God understands the case exactly; we do not. He will do the best thing for us if we leave the matter in his hands.

Israel wanted a king. They did not need one, but they wanted one and longed for one. God let them have what they wanted. He selected a king for them, and they selected one. They were cross-ways with God about the thing and the man for the place. They wanted a tall, large, fine-looking man for king—one they would be proud of—a man after their heart; and God wanted a man after his heart. God was willing to let them have the thing they wanted if they would allow him to choose the man; but, no, they must have all, and choose all or none. Well, as often happens in cases of this kind, God let them have their way until they got sick of it, and so got ready to take God's man for king.

This thing, in the principle of it and spirit of it, occurs again in the matter of churches and preachers. Churches often have to be beaten with their own canes before they learn any sense, and preachers kill themselves and ruin their influence for good by being allowed to have their own way. We are so thick-headed, hard-hearted and self-willed that we are left to whip ourselves before we learn any sense—any sort of submission to God. We think we know so much more, and so much better, about what we need and want that really we are not willing for God to have a finger in the pie at all. We profess to leave it all to God; but we do not—not a bit of it. This is clearly seen by the way we take it after it is all over. Churches failing to get the man they wanted set themselves against the one sent to them, and so spoil a whole year's work. They stew and pout like spoiled children. The preacher failing to get what he wanted, gets into a stew, falls to growling, goes in a bad spirit, tells his trouble to everybody, lets it stick out if he doesn't say it, "This place is not good enough for me," and so ties his own hands and hurts the cause he was sent to help. Before and during Conference he lets it stick out so far that he wanted to go to Lovetown station that everybody sees it but himself; and yet all the while he is loud in his professions of loyalty to our economy and of his abiding confidence in the providence of God in the fixing of the appointments. The contrast "before taking and after taking" is very striking. In this case the good picture is before taking. In some cases I had rather hear the opinions of preachers and people on our economy after Conference than before; and their professions of faith in Providence after the provision has been made. If these matters are really and truly submitted to God in the spirit of meekness, love and obedience; if the appointee and the appointment are received as from God; if we do our best to co-operate with what we have accepted as God's plans, then the best will come of it, and we will see that the Lord's hand was in it. Often, if not generally, the desire of the church for a certain preacher, and of the preacher for a certain appointment, is unholy. If this statement is doubted, sift the matter with the sieve of God's Word and see. Candidly, now, why do you want that man? Why do you want that appointment? Is the glory of God and the advancement of his cause uppermost?

Sublime in Lowliness.

Longfellow touched and thrilled the great sympathetic heart of the world with the wondrous beauty and pathos of his well-known Psalm. It is the spirit of the song that caught the ear and riveted the attention of the restless human throng. The true genius of poesy, distinct as the call and burden of prophecy, is shown in this matchless production. It here consists, I think, in pointing upward from the ordinary plain of life to the heights where dwell in light and glory the sublime attainments and illustrious examples of great men. The poet, like his own "Excelsior," essays to lead his disciples in thought and action, while he climbs high and higher, above the regions of low and sordid things, to those serene altitudes. But all the while he is in closest union and touch with the throng. It is to them he calls, it is for them he sings, and the "great men" with "lives sublime," they are but to remind the lowlier in what paths to follow. But there is one glory of the mountain and another glory of the valley. There are lives terrestrial, moved by the force of worthy ambition and lofty aspiration, so well as those apparelled in the celestial light of immortal fame. The hopes, the struggles, the day dreams of grandeur, and night visions of lofty purpose, if we could know but half of these, what a sublime revelation it would be! But, now, none can know all these things, for they belong to that penetralia where only God and self may enter. If the shop-talk and every-day conduct of some child of genius interests us, how much more should the same elements in the lives of those that move and have their being on the common level elicit our attention? Alpine travellers tell us of the beautiful little flower that blooms in the upper regions where eternal winter reigns. Only a few adventurous spirits, who scale these mountains, look upon this rare gem of the floral kingdom. Down in the valleys the modest violets, half-hidden in leafy coverings, dispense their fragrance to the delight of myriads. So those things which are nearest, after all, are the best and most useful. What's the use to risk life and limb in climbing mountain crags for the small white snow-flower of earthly fame, when deeds of mercy and kindness, waiting to be done, lie all around us thicker than violets? At best it is very cold and lonely in the upper realm of selfish ambition. "Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls." Oh, the grace, the grandeur, the beauty and real sublimity of such life and service! When Richter said, "I love God and little children," how grand he made the little children appear! And how great is one of the least of these in the heavenly kingdom? Only the Infinite Father above can know. I have heard men try to tell the worth of such as these and fail most signally. The great Teacher never uttered truth more sublime than when he told the woman at the well, of the nature of God and how men should worship him. Yet to the ordinary man the circumstances would have seemed most unpropitious and trivial for such teaching. If comparisons are permissible, with regard to great truths he taught, I can not recall any instance when he expressed as greater. Not even in the temple, with the wise and learned rabbis among his auditors, nor yet on the mountain slope, neither by the seaside, with the great multitude before him, did he so directly speak of the spirituality of the Father, and the one true mode of spiritual adoration. After awhile we may learn that God has hidden some of the richest, fairest jewels in the divine casket "from the wise and prudent and revealed them unto babes; even so Father: for it seemed good in thy sight."

It is that wisdom from above which subsidizes all the elements of life, and looks to the future, that is in God's keeping, for the unveiling of mysteries and solution of perplexing questions. This principle, once thoroughly incorporated, gives a grandeur to life that is simply inexpressible in its nature. Like a martyr's smile of triumph from the encircling flame, it fears no foe, and snatches victory from out the shadow of death. With an imperial sweep of vision it glances at two worlds; then, like as nestling infant, sinks into the arms of a restful faith. This, indeed, is sublime, and gives a fuller joy and purer zest to the soul when the lesson is learned.

S. J. Davies.

Campo Bello, La.

"The Most Noted Evangelists."

We have had Rev. Sam P. Jones and Rev. George Stuart in Grenada. I heard them with great pleasure and profit. I had not heard them before, and knew of Mr. Jones only through the press; and had just as correct an idea of them and their work as anyone can get from reading Bro. T. Cameron's article in the Advocate, of Nov. 12. Bro. Cameron is a good man, but he don't know.

I am not surprised that Mr. Jones has met so few "thoroughly consecrated" men, since I have heard him describe such an one. We are not in "a bad fix" because Sam Jones does not meet them, but because they are not. No man can draw the picture of such a man with one stroke of the brush, nor in four lines, as Bro. Cameron would do. Consecrated! Consecrated! Thoroughly consecrated! Are you?

I do not know how well Mr. Jones' work will abide? May I not ask how far is a preacher responsible for the abiding of his work? If Christ's own followers turned back, whose work failed? Whose? Christ's? Bro. Cameron's little piece has done more harm in Grenada to-day than he ever did good here in his life. His work may abide. That present good is done, thousands bear witness over all these parts. Shall we conserve it, or shall we smile and talk about the supposed spot on the sun until we are in the throes of spiritual death?

Faith in Christ, the new birth, and purity of life and heart can not be preached stronger and clearer than all these Christian doctrines were preached by these men of God. I am not surprised that Mr. Jones gets large pay, as some think, for his work. He preached to more people and produced more perceptible effect in one week than all the preachers here have done in a year; and I am one of them. He reached and started men heavenward that have been reached by no other man. He does not say things as I say them, and the man who tries to say things as Mr. Jones does is foolish. Call his words what you may, God uses him and his words, and no man can do the things that he does except God be with him.

Let somebody call the people to God. If he blows a ram's horn, let him blow; and when the people start don't stop them by calling attention to the old horn.

I have not written this to defend these men who have been with us and whom I have learned to love. They do not need that I speak for them. I have written in the interest of the thousands who have heard them. We do not need to stop these men that we may get into the "old paths;" we need to get nearer to God and men ourselves.

Thos. J. Newell.

Grenada, Miss.

Important Meeting.

As president of the Conference Board of Church Extension in Louisiana, and by request, I wish to call special attention to the official call for a meeting on Dec. 3 to organize a Woman's Home Mission and Parsonage Extension Society in this Conference. The meeting will convene at ten o'clock, on above date, in auditorium of Carondelet Street Church, and will be composed of pastors, delegates, and all who feel interested in the movement, and after a free discussion a new and permanent organization to facilitate woman's work for home missions and the building of parsonages will be perfected by the election of officers, and other details. The meeting will last but one day, and the exercises at night will partake of the character of a celebration—a large choir from the city churches and an elaborate singing programme being one of the features. Dr. Morton, of Louisville, the eloquent champion of church extension, has been invited to deliver an address. Should Dr. Morton fail to come, a competent substitute has been secured, and the occasion can not fail to be a popular success. The public is cordially invited to attend both the day and night sessions, which will be presided over by Mrs. S. S. King, who has done so much for the good cause in our city and State, and who has been authorized by the competent authority both to do this and all the work outlined above. Delegates arriving from the country should report to Mrs. King, at 277 Josephine St.

J. M. Beard.

The United States statistics show that in 1800, when the population was 5,305 925 inhabitants, there were 3,030 churches and congregations, having 2,651 ministers, with 364,872 communicants. That was, about every fourteenth person was a communicant of the church. In 1850 the population had increased to 23,191,876, and the churches had increased to 43,072, having 25,555 ministers, and 3 529,988 communicants. By this time the church had increased its membership, so that about every seventh person was a communicant of the church. In 1870 the United States showed the population to be 38,558,371, and the churches increased to 70,148, with 47,609 ministers and 6 673,396 communicants; and still gaining upon the population, so that every sixth person was a communicant of the church. Ten years later, 1880, when the population had become 50,152,866, there were 97,090 churches, with 69,879 ministers and 10,065,963 communicants. This shows th every fifth person was a comm nicant of some church! A the present United States pop lation of 1890 is 62,622,250, t churches having nearly doubl in ten years and number 151,28 with 103,203 ministers and 2 757,071 communicants!—Trea ury.

Notes.

Dr. Cuyler says, "When your pra meeting gets below freezing-poi then expect no liberal contributio no conversions, and no growth."

Bishop Potter, in his sermon at t consecration of Bishop Phillips Brook had this thought which we comme to the meditation of every preache "An enduring belief in the redeemab qualities of the vilest manhood is t most potent spell in the ministry Christ."

One of our Methodist exchang from the North reports that within t bounds of its territory there are 1,3 charges on which there are 11,3 official members who take no chur paper! We thought we were b enough, but that beats us. An avera of more than seven officials for ca charge who take no church paper!

A great deal is being written a spoken about creeds and revisions creeds. One trouble with creeds these days is, they are too long. T almost universal cry is for short creed short sermons, short songs. Ever thing and everybody is shouti "Condense, shorten, boil down." practice a creed may be shorten easier than a sermon or a song. A specimen of a condensed creed give the following: "All men a sinners, and Jesus Christ is their on hope." We commend this to the pe ple who are crying out for a shorten creed.

Passing along Camp street, the oth day, we saw a horse fall, and, bei entangled in the harness, he was n able to rise, though making strenuo efforts to do so. In a few secon several men had come to his help, an having unbuckled the harness a pushed the wagon back, the horse w able to regain his feet by one effo Why is it that we are not as quick help a fallen man as a fallen hors Have we more religion for a horse trouble than for a troubled man? religion means anything, it mea helpfulness; at least, that is the mea ing of the religion of Christ!

A great many Christians act li they considered religion as a piece private property. There never was greater mistake than this. If religi is looked upon as property, accordi to the New Testament, it is proper in trust, and its possessor is a trust He is to administer the trust accordi to the will of him who has constitut the trusteeship, and that will "preach the gospel to every creature The obligation upon this trustee is disseminate the religion he holds trust. Brother, sister, do you see t point clearly? Then "go and te what great things the Lord hath do for thee!"

Hugh Price Hughes, in a sermon heard, said: "Christianity is an extr It is not a substitute, but a supplemen to everything else that is good in t world."

The same preacher is reported have said this also:

Whether or not the preacher sa anything about the sins of which reads in the Book of Genesis, he bound to say something of the sins which he reads in the daily newspape and if he does this faithfully, he m hope to bring about the ethical re ormation which the times sorely nee and which, when once it is effecte will make this land in reality what now sometimes thoughtlessly call it Christian country.

John Ruskin says, "Every duty omit obscures some truth we shou have known." Thomas Carlisle say "Without hands a man might ha feet and could still walk; but consid it—without morality, intellect we impossible for him; a thoroughly i moral man could not know anything all. To know a thing, what we c knowing, a man must first love i thing, sympathize with it; that is, virtuously related to it." These a but the echoes of the profound ph osophy of Jesus Christ, who said: any man will do his will, he shall kn of the doctrine." Clear knowledge truth is dependent upon implicit ob dience to duty.

In regard to Christian work in o cities, hear Bishop Fowler, of the E. Church:

How shall we reach them? W shall reach them by ordinary mean if we reach them at all; that is, preaching the gospel, use of t agency of the church, of the Wo of God, of song, of the power prayer, and the word of exhortatio We will reach them by going aft them. We will not reach them othe wise. We will have to do as they in England. Select the best ma surround him with helpers and appliances, and let him work and wo on. The question is first as to t ability of the man; and, second, as means to back him.

Appointing powers, do you he that?—"select the best man!"

FROM THE WORK.

Continued from First Page.

Rev. T. Cameron, Batesville, Miss., Nov. 16: "I report a fine revival at Wesley last week. It was a time of great power and rejoicing. Souls were saved, and God brought 'the boys' into the church. There are left out of the church in that neighborhood now only three or four men and boys. W. J. O'Bryant helped me, and I want no better help than he."

Rev. E. S. Lewis, P. C., Dublin, Miss., Nov. 13, 1891: "We are rounding up our work for Conference, which is only two weeks away. The year has been hard in a sense, though successful otherwise. Our people appreciate an earnest effort, though it may be ever so weak. On account of shortness of the cotton crop finances are behind. But despite the scarcity of money, and hard times, the church is moving forward. We have secured a lot at Webb, valued at $150 or $200, upon which we propose to erect a church in the near future. We intend to plan wisely, making provision for the success of the church in this rapidly growing country."

Rev. O. L. Savage, Australia, Miss., Nov. 13: "We are closing our third year in the Greenville district. This year's work has resulted in sixteen additions to our church, which is about forty per cent. of the people who do not belong to some branch of the Christian church. I have never served a more loyal people. There have been revival meetings held in all or nearly all of the charges in this district, with good results. We have a consecrated class of preachers who realize their responsibility and measure up to it, as well as any class of men in the connection. Methodism has the ear of this Delta, and there is no reason for alarm as to its future. There is a great deal to be done in this country. But 'the battle is the Lord's.'"

Rev. J. W. Dorman, Gunnison, Miss., Nov. 12: "As the year closes I suppose it is in order to give a brief statement of the work done during the year. I am glad to report the work in better condition now than at any time during a pastorate of three years. We have a Sunday-school of about seventy enrolled pupils and seven officers and teachers. There is more interest manifested than I have hitherto seen exhibited. This school is well supplied with periodical literature from our Publishing House. A few weeks ago we organized an Epworth League, with thirty-odd members, which is doing fine work. From this organization we are praying for and expecting large results. In addition to this, we have expended about thirteen hundred dollars building a new parsonage, and one hundred and fifty moving and repairing our church. We are building a new church at Hill House. We have received into the church on profession of faith and by letter, twelve. This, I think, is a good showing for the year. The preacher's salary and usual collections, I think, will all be up. This prosperity is general throughout the district, owing, in a large measure, to the efficient leadership of our presiding elder."

Rev. Amos Kendall, West Point, Miss., Nov. 10: "Two weeks ago Rev. G. S. Inge came to West Point, Miss., and commenced a protracted meeting which proved to be one of marvelous power. Immense congregations came to hear this truly eloquent man of God, whom he held spell-bound from beginning to end. Sinners were convicted and converted, backsliders were reclaimed, and Christians were strengthened and encouraged. Such a meeting has not been held in this town for a long time, if ever before—so say some who have resided here for many years. The pastors and members of the evangelical churches participated in the services with a unity and earnestness which was beautiful to behold. Bro. Inge resorts to no sensational methods. He preaches the gospel—simple, pure and unadulterated. Man depraved by nature, practically a sinner, universality of the atonement, repentance, justification by faith, regeneration through the agency of the Holy Ghost, death, resurrection, judgment, heaven and hell were discussed by him in a masterly manner. The churches here are on a higher plane, and wickedness has been wonderfully restrained. Rev. J. A. Bowen, of Aberdeen, was with us a part of the time, preached three appropriate and powerful sermons, and labored faithfully in the altar, pointing penitents to the 'Lamb of God.' There was quite a number of conversions and additions to the different churches, with more to join hereafter. For the glorious results of this meeting we thank God and take courage."

The World's Fair.

The South may claim, without prejudice, to have more than its share of the world's fair. The acknowledged beauty of the ladies of the South is due in a great degree to the use of Creole Female Tonic, the ladies' friend and favorite, and sure cure for all female ailments.

Personal and Otherwise.

Rev. L. B. Statler has donated $5,000 to the Board of Church Extension, to constitute the "Statler Loan Fund."

A sister, writing from Mississippi, says: "I think our paper gets better all the time." Mind you, she says "our paper."

The vote in this city last week revealed the fact that there are 7,913 voters "who have not bowed the knee to Baal."

The Methodists of this city will celebrate "Thanksgiving" in Carondelet Street Church, Thursday, Nov. 26. The sermon will be preached by Rev. J. B. Walker, D. D., at eleven A. M.

Rev. N. W. Utley, of our Japan Mission Conference, has been compelled to retire from the work on account of ill health, and will return home to recuperate. He suffers from nervous prostration.

According to the Times-Democrat, the vote in this city last week was as follows: Lottery, 19,121; against the lottery, 7,913. That is not so bad, considering that the T.-D. claimed several weeks ago that the lottery would carry the city by a five-to-one vote.

Dr. H. S. Thrall, of the West Texas Conference, was granted a superannuated relation at the recent session of that Conference. Dr. Thrall has been fifty-one years in the traveling connection. He has attended fifty Conferences in Texas, having gone to that State in 1840.

A brother in Mississippi sends us this item: "The average salary for the presiding elders last year in the Mississippi Conference was $1,234.35, and the average salary of the pastors was $484 35." In Louisiana the case stood: Presiding elders, $978; pastors, $538. These are interesting facts.

Bro. T. L. Mellen writes: "Rev. G. G. Smith, of Macon, Ga., is carrying on a successful meeting among the children and young people of our Central Church, Meridian. The attendance upon the service by the church membership is not large, but a good work is being wrought. Up to this date (Nov. 13) about twenty children have applied for church membership."

The central thought of the sermon at Carondelet Street Church, last Sunday, was, that effectual prayer can be made only by the individual whose life is in accord with the will of God. And the same applies to a church. The church life must be in harmonious obedience to the divine precepts before the church can pray the effectual prayer. The "prayer of the righteous availeth much." This thought is well worth remembering and pondering.

The primary election in this city last week demonstrated to the careful observer, that if there ever was a place on earth where a change was needed in election methods, this is the place. The polling-places are generally in or near the saloons. The saloons are kept open contrary to the special statute, and the police certainly know what everybody else is cognizant of, and yet they did not enforce the law. The shameless trickery of the ward boss was practiced at every poll, and "hoodle and beer flowed freely." All this to bolster up the most wicked and gigantic corporation that ever ground a people beneath its iron heel. It does look as if the law was beneath the notice of the dominant party. In this city popular elections are simple humbugs and a disgrace to humanity.

Notices.

To the Preachers of the Mississippi Conference:

Brethren: Will you send me your church extension money by postoffice order on Vicksburg, or sight draft or bank check on Vicksburg? Do not draw on any other place, and do not send later than Dec. 3. I request this for two reasons: It will relieve you of the responsibility of bringing it to Conference, and it will relieve me of the burden of carrying it, and the responsibility of protecting it while at Conference. You can make your settlement with me with as much business accuracy by presenting vouchers. By this means I will be enabled to make my report to the Board earlier than usual. You will oblige me very much by doing this.

THOS. A. HOLLOMAN,
Treasurer.

Phœnix, Miss.

To the Members of the Ministerial Educational Association of the Mississippi Conference:

Dear Brethren: If the installment on your notes to the association for 1891 is due, or will be due before Dec. 15, will you please forward the amount to Rev. C. G. Andrews, Meridian, Miss., or send by your pastor to Conference. Let me insist on prompt payments, and then the Executive Committee will not be embarrassed by owing for the young men's board. Pay up, and we will promise you to stay out of debt.

Yours fraternally,

M. L. BURTON, Sec'y.

Natchez, Nov. 14, 1891.

An Appeal to the Friends of Education.

Last year our college buildings were entirely destroyed by fire, involving a loss of several thousand dollars on our community. We have been laboring since to rebuild, and find we are unable to do so without the aid of our friends. We ask you to help us. The undersigned committee are authorized to receive and receipt for donations which will be thankfully received.

REV. B. F. PHILLIPS,
J. B. STREATER,
W. H. BREWER & CO.,
F. ATTNEAVE & CO.,
H. JONES & CO.,
G. W. PURCELL.

Black Hawk, Miss., Nov. 11, 1891.

Mississippi Items.

The Woodville Republican is sixty-six years old.

The Jewish congregation of Port Gibson have contracted for a $10,000 synagogue, to be completed by next May.

A memorial chapel to the late Bishop Green, of the Diocese of Mississippi, will be erected at Mercerville, near Jackson.

Iowa with statutory prohibition has one saloon to every 455 people; Mississippi with local option law has one saloon to every 1,017 inhabitants.

Monroe county farmers have cut and cured 4,070 tons of good hay this year. If all the farmers in the South would do as they are doing up in Monroe county, they would soon become more independent.

The West Point Forum has this:

A women's union prayer meeting, composed of the members of all the Protestant Churches in this city, was organized at the Methodist Church last Monday evening. The meetings will be held weekly.

The Vicksburg Herald says:

Our citizens should get a move on themselves about the bringing of the Yazoo through Chickasaw Bayou and Lake Centennial by the city's front. As it will cost little or nothing to make the effort, surely so promising an enterprise will not meet with any opposition.

Let everybody in Mississippi who favors honesty act upon this hint in the Brookhaven Leader:

Let us have a Mississippi Anti-Lottery meeting by all means. New York holds one to-day, to offer sympathy and aid to the unpurchasable Louisiana patriots.

Louisiana needs the help Mississippi can give.

The Democrat-Star, of Scranton, has these paragraphs:

The prospective dummy line between Moss Point and Pascagoula is being talked up considerably of late, and it is authoritatively said that capitalists are taking hold of the subject.

There is a pecan tree growing near some large oaks in the yard of Mrs. M. W. Hill, at Moss Point, and we were shown some of the pecans this week from the tree, the inside or "meat" of which are perfect acorns in taste, color and appearance, showing conclusively that pecans will mix with oaks. We presume the "cross" would be a "scalawag," or an "undenominationalist."

The best thing for swollen hands or feet, is Johnson's Anodyne Liniment; soothing. Try it.

Louisiana Notes.

The steamer Italia landed 682 Italian immigrants in New Orleans, Nov. 8.

During September Monroe received 5,800 bales of cotton, and during October, 10,530 bales.

A disastrous fire occurred in New Orleans, Nov. 9, causing the loss of twelve cottages and two two-story residences, amounting to $30 000 loss.

A man near Lake Charles threshed 650 sacks of rice, weighing from 200 to 215 pounds per sack, the product of 74 acres. The American says at present prices it is worth $3,000.

A private telephone line between Dutchtown and New River Lane station, Ascension parish, is to be established by Messrs. L. Picard and L. Gelsmar. It will be in operation in about ten days.

On Nov. 16 there were received in this city 50,331 bales of cotton, 993 hogsheads of sugar, 25,372 barrels of sugar, 6 619 barrels of molasses, and 9,234 sacks of rice. That beats all previous receipts of cotton in one day!

Jno. W. Holleman, a citizen of Purvis, Miss., is said to have suddenly become owner of the entire town of Clinton, La. Mr. Holleman's father, who owned the land where the town is now built, sold his interest in it to different parties; but it appears that there is a flaw in the title, whereby the entire tract of land now reverts to the Holleman heirs. So says an exchange.

Lake Charles American:

The street railroad is now completed from the Southern Pacific depot to Mrs. Gallegher's corner on Ryan street, and the work is steadily progressing. Three cars have arrived for this line, and the mules have been purchased to run them. We may expect to see the cars moving on the track within the next three weeks. Within the last six months there has been inaugurated in this city a system of electric lights, a telephone system, a street car line, and now waterworks and the "dummy line."

Rates to Louisiana Conference.

The Southern Pacific and the Texas and Pacific will issue round-trip tickets for four cents a mile. Tickets on sale Monday, Dec. 14, and good to return by Dec. 25. The Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific will give one fare and a third on the certificate plan. "If delegates are unable to get tickets for return from Alexandria to starting-point, they can get them at Shreveport, as the ticket agent at that point will be instructed to honor certificates for tickets to return." So writes the general passenger agent of the V., S. and P.

C. W. CARTER,
JNO. T. SAWYER,
Committee.

Mississippi Conference Notice.

I hope all brethren expecting to bring their wives to Conference will let me know immediately. In reply to several inquiries and letters on this head, I desire to say this: We will do the very best we can. It is no more than proper to add, however, that we will be pushed to the limits of our resources to comfortably care for the delegates. All anxiety and perplexity beyond this will be in exact proportion to the number of those who are coming as matrimonial units. Fractional currency will be the most convenient, brethren. Verb. sap.

W. H. HUNTLEY.

Brookhaven, Miss.

North Mississippi Conference.

The class of the first year will meet the Examining Committee at the Methodist Church, in Macon, Miss., at eight o'clock A. M., Tuesday, Dec. 2,

JNO. W. BELL, Chair'n.

The class of the second year will meet at the Methodist Church in Macon, on Tuesday morning, Dec. 1, at 8:30 o'clock. Brethren, be prompt.

HESLEP R. TUCKER,
E. H. CASEY,
G. W. GORDON,
Committee.

The class of the third year will meet at 7:30 P. M., at the Methodist Church in Macon, Nov. 30. Let all be present at the beginning of the examination and save much trouble.

R. A. ELLIS,
Chair'n of Committee.

Winona, Miss., Nov. 4, 1891.

Mississippi Conference Notices.

Candidates for admission on trial will please meet the Examining Committee at the Methodist Church in Brookhaven, Tuesday morning, Dec. 8, at nine o'clock.

W. B. LEWIS, for Com.

The class of the third year will please meet the Committee of Examination at the Methodist Church, Brookhaven, Miss., Tuesday morning, nine o'clock A. M., Dec. 8, 1891.

D. G. W. ELLIS,
H. W. FEATHERSTUN,
L. S. JONES,
Committee.

Rely on a remedy time sanctions. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was invented A. D. 1810.

Services in memory of the late Charles S. Parnell were held in New York City on Nov. 15. Hon. Chauncey M. Depew was the eulogist.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CLARK & MEADER,
—DEALERS IN—
FINE GROCERIES,
16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and
Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

Episcopal Visitation for 1891 and 1892.

Conference.	Date.	Place.	Bishop.
North Carolina	Nov. 19	Greenville, North Carolina	Galloway
Arkansas	Nov. 25	Russellville, Arkansas	Duncan
Memphis	Nov. 25	Mayfield, Kentucky	Key
Northwest Mexican	Nov. 25	El Paso, Texas	Haygood
Northwest Texas	Nov. 26	Cordesina, Texas	Fitzgerald
South Georgia	Dec. 2	Cordele, Georgia	Keener
South Carolina	Dec. 2	Darlington, South Carolina	Granbery
Little Rock	Dec. 2	Arkadelphia, Arkansas	Duncan
North Mississippi	Dec. 2	Macon, Mississippi	Hendrix
North Alabama	Dec. 2	Decatur, Alabama	Galloway
Mississippi	Dec. 3	Brookhaven, Mississippi	Hendrix
North Georgia	Dec. 9	Cartersville, Georgia	Key
East Texas	Dec. 9	Henderson, Texas	Fitzgerald
Louisiana	Dec. 15	Alexandria, Louisiana	Keener
White River	Dec. 16	New Port, Arkansas	Duncan
Alabama	Dec. 16	Selma, Alabama	Hendrix
Florida	Jan. 8	Tampa, Florida	Granbery
Baltimore	Mar. 31	Harrisonburg, Virginia	Keener

Special Offer

FOR

New Subscribers

AND

Renewals.

All new subscribers paying $2 in advance will receive this paper until January 1, 1893.

PRIZE OFFERS.

Anyone sending in $2 for a new subscriber will be paid a commission of fifty cents, and, in addition, those sending in ten new subscribers between now and the meeting of their Annual Conference will be given a beautifully printed, bound and illustrated copy of "Farrar's Life of Christ," worth $3.

Those sending in five new subscribers during the above period will be given a silvered-bound copy of Prof. Henry Drummond's five great addresses, entitled, "The Greatest Thing in the World," "Pax Vobiscum," "The Changed Life," "A Talk with Boys," and "How to Learn How." This book is sold at $1.25.

All payments must be in either cash to the preacher in charge or sent to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

DONALD KENNEDY
Of Roxbury, Mass., Says:

Strange cases cured by my Medical Discovery come to me every day. Here is one of Paralysis—Blindness—and the Grip. Now how does my Medical Discovery cure all these? I don't know, unless it takes hold of the Hidden Poison that makes all Humor.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEVADA, Sept. 9th, 1891.

Donald Kennedy—Dear Sir: I will state my case in you: About nine years ago I was paralyzed in my left side, and the best doctors gave me no relief for two years, and I was advised to try your Discovery, which did its duty, and in a few months I was restored to health. About four years ago I became blind in my left eye by a spotted cataract. Last March I was taken with La Grippe, and was confined to my bed for three months. At the end of that time, as in the start, then it struck me that your Discovery was the thing for me; so I got a bottle, and before it was half gone I was able to go to my work in the mines. Now in regard to my eyes, as I lost my left eye, and about six months ago my right eye became affected with black spots over the sight as did the left eye—perhaps some twenty of them—but since I have been using your Discovery they all left my right eye but one: and, thank God, the bright light of heaven is once more making its appearance in my left eye. I am wonderfully astonished at it, and thank God and your Medical Discovery. Yours truly,

HANK WHITE.

Watches, Diamonds,
FINE JEWELRY!
Silver and Silver-Plated Ware,
SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.
Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
(Established 1817)
119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

THE NEW WEBSTER
Entirely New. Cost $300,000.
WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY
SUCCESSOR OF THE UNABRIDGED.
Re-edited and Reset from Cover to Cover.
A GRAND INVESTMENT
for every Family and School.
Work of revision occupied over 10 years.
More than 100 editorial laborers employed.
Critical examination invited. Get the Best.
Sold by all Booksellers. Pamphlet free.
CAUTION is needed in purchasing a dictionary, as photographic reprints of an obsolete and comparatively worthless edition of Webster are being marketed under various names and often by misrepresentation.
The International bears the imprint of
G. & C. MERRIAM & CO., Publishers,
Springfield, Mass., U. S. A.

Holy Land Tour, $475.
A select party sail- March 9, 1892. Monthly excursions to Italy, $380. Best ticketing facilities. Send for "Tourist Gazette."
H. GAZE & SONS, 940 Broadway, N.Y. (Est. 1844.)

WORLD'S FAIR Portfolio. Containing 16 fine artistic Illustrations, size 10x14. An elegant work of art. Price postpaid, 50c. H. B. HARFORD & SON, 134 Van Buren St., Chicago.

THIRTY CENTS
WILL get you TWO good papers, THE WAY OF FAITH (weekly), THE SOLDIER (monthly), for THREE MONTHS, 8 sweet songs, and our Liberal Terms to Agents. Address
GOSPEL MISSION, Columbia, S. C.
Mention this paper.

B. D. WOOD & SONS,
113 Common Street.
COAL AND COKE
We are prepared to furnish Families, Planters, Foundries, Steamships, Steamboats and all consumers of Coal or Coke at Lowest Market Rates.

BUY THE ENTERPRISE TINNED MEAT CHOPPER
THE BEST IN THE WORLD.
SOLD BY THE HARDWARE TRADE.
Send for Catalogue, FREE.
ENTERPRISE M'F'G CO., PHILADELPHIA.

GOOD NEWS
FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF
Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a
TINY LIVER PILL
which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of
TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS
is shown in the border of this "ad."

"All she lacks of beauty is a little plumpness."

This is a frequent thought, and a wholesome one.

All of a baby's beauty is due to fat, and nearly all of a woman's — we know it as curves and dimples.

What plumpness has to do with health is told in a little book on CAREFUL LIVING; sent free.

Would you rather be healthy or beautiful? "Both" is the proper answer.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

28

CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS Containing new Carols and a Responsive Service that may be used with or without the Carols 16 pages. Price, 5 cents a single copy.

The CHRIST of BETHLEHEM. A Beautiful New Christmas Service By J. F. HALL. containing an Inductive Responsive Service interspersed with New and Appropriate Carols. Price, 5 cents a single copy. OTHER SERVICES of the same character and at the same price are "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Bells," "Good Will to Men," "Noel," and "Peace on Earth."

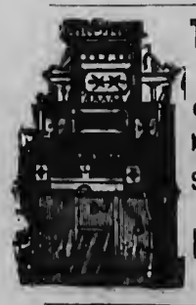
A CHRISTMAS VISION —A NEW CANTATA for Children by these two By C. L. Burnham & G. F. Root. well-known writers is sure to meet with a cordial reception. This new work is the prettiest and most entertaining they have produced thus far. Price, 30 cents a single copy. OTHER CANTATAS for the Christmas Season are "Our Christmas Eve," "Santa Claus & Co.," "The New Santa Claus," "Catching Kris Kringle," "Judge Santa Claus," "Santa Claus' Mistake," and "The Waifs Christmas." Price of each, 30 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY Relates in verse, scripture readings and music. By M. B. Brooks & G. F. Root. the principal events of Christ's life on earth. Beautiful and instructive. Price, 30 cents a single copy.

BETHLEHEM. A Cantata for Adults only (no children's parts) that cannot fail to please wherever rendered. Price, 50 cts a single copy. By G. F. Root. Send 10 cents for sample copy of "Musical Visitor" for Choirs.

—PUBLISHED BY—
The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 156 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 19 E. 16th St., New York.

GOLDEN MEMORIES
BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.
8 Col'd Plates, 50 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations
A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ART
A Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown, sold at a price within the reach of all.
AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP.
HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.



THIS ORGAN
ONLY $29.00
SEND FOR CATALOGUE
ADDRESS
H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, N. J.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE
Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn. Church or School FOR Catalogue.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

How To Cure Piles.
We will send our new, highly endorsed scientific booklet, "How to Cure Piles," free to any one troubled with Piles or Constipation, if they mention this paper and enclose a 2c. stamp for postage. Send quickly, the number of free books is limited.
THE GLOBE MEDICINE CO. Cincinnati, O.

BAILEY'S REFLECTORS
A wonderful invention for lighting Halls, Churches, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Catalogue and price list free.
BAILEY REFLECTOR CO.
100 Penn Ave. Pittsburgh, Pa.

AGENTS send for How I Made a House and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a Home, or business change $75 to $200 Monthly. Teachers and Ladies find big pay for spare hours. TREASURY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY Co
SUCCESSORS TO BLYMYER BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL FIRE ALARM

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Best quality Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, &c. BELLS
Also CHIMES AND BELLS.
Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

ASTHMA DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE CURED never fails; send us your address and we will mail trial BOTTLE FREE
DR. TAFT BROS. M. CO., 67 & 69 PINE ST., N. Y.

HOME LIFE.

WITHOUT THE CHILDREN.

Oh, the weary, solemn silence
Of a house without the children!
Oh, the strange, oppressive stillness
Where the children come no more!
Ah! the longing of the sleepless
For the soft arms of the children;
Ah! the longing of the faces
Peeping through the opening door—
Faces gone for evermore!

Strange it is to wake at midnight
And not hear the children breathing—
Nothing but the old clock ticking,
Ticking, ticking by the door;
Strange to see the little dresses
Hanging up there all the morning;
And the gaiters—ah! their patter,
We will hear it never more
On our heart-forsaken floor!

What is home without the children?
'Tis the earth without its verdure,
And the sky without its sunshine—
Life is withered to the core!
So we'll leave this dreary desert,
And we'll follow the Good Shepherd
To the greener pastures vernal,
Where the lambs have "gone before,"
With the Shepherd evermore!

—Unidentified.

The Mission of Sorrow.

BY L. D. G.

God is love. For ever and ever, God is love! And that is why, under stress of life and color of youth, we dream dreams of the land where love forgets the bitter lessons learned in rebellion. We go to the edge of the grave, and then turn back to duty. Yet, out beyond the warm life of the living, thoughts constantly wander through the still avenues of the world's graveyards, find balm and cooling for unrest, and a portion of the peace of the dead.

Whatever sorrow comes, there is compensation in God's keeping. He does all things well. Believe me, the love that could fashion so beautiful a world, could bestow unstinted benefices, will be no less tender in making that other home. He is visible King there. And they that roam through heaven find no graves. There are no tombstones in heaven. It was a heart-ache here, but it will be heart-rapture there when we waken. Heart will exult in the flood-tide. Tongues stammer under the rush of words, as hands meet hands. Thank God, there's neither chill nor shadow, nor heaped-up earth where feet have stumbled, in all heaven's wide domain.

The mission of sorrow is to heal its own wounds; to ripen and sweeten and garner the perfect fruit. It sets the saps to running in natures that had forgotten how to grow. It knits humanity closer in union of sympathies. It fills in many a pitfall dug for unearing feet; bridges many a chasm in destiny; makes common causeway along which all must journey alike. It is in the soil of sorrow that sometimes most perfect lives are grown, the largest harvest reaped. 'Tis sorrow that draws man to man in a fellowship where all are equal.

Christ was a "man of sorrows," and Christians should not turn craven when sorrow lifts the latch, and sits in the empty chair by the hearth. Distress or cares, or the bitterness that each heart alone knoweth and none can share, such sorrows grow sweet when their mission is learned aright, and the soul wins a star for its crown.—Western Christian Advocate.

SYSTEM IN HOUSEWORK.—From remote generations men have been taught to do their work by rule. No man hires a laborer without engaging his time for a certain number of hours. The man servant knows distinctly when and what time he must devote to his work. The female servant alone is expected to do her work in a happy-go-easy way. At one time she is seriously reprimanded for what is overlooked at other times.

The trouble with servants is largely due to want of order in laying out their work and making them adhere rigidly to it. The average maid-of-all-work has some reason in rebelling against her position when her work depends, as it often does, upon the whimsical fancies of a mistress who drives her from one thing to another without system or order.

Strange as it may seem, it is yet true that there are no housekeepers who have so little trouble with their help as those who exact to the uttermost that which is required, but who do not break into the routine of work by ordering all manner of unexpected and unnecessary drudgery. The secret of peace in the household, of freedom from the thousand and one petty worries induced by domestic mismanagement, lies in one brief word—method. When women are trained to do their household work as craftsmen do theirs, when the head of a house manages her help with the same exactness that the master workman manages his men, making sure that every stroke of work tells toward the end, then we shall begin to see a solution of the problems of domestic service. These problems present themselves on every side, and have even reached a point at which they threaten to turn our homes into vast hostelries, to be managed on the co-operative plan.—N. Y. Tribune.

UNDER HIS WINGS.—"The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in." Whether outward or homeward bound, traveling or at rest, the panoply of divine protection covers the salutify head. In the freshness of life's morning, when going forth to labor—in life's evening, sitting in the tent door, amid the deepening shadows—over under the wing of love. It covers life throughout, and is in eternal perpetuity, "from this time forth, and even for evermore."

Surely here is a wealth of privilege and of gracious endowment to satisfy every desire, and to enrich beyond computation. How blessed to think that whole households, parents and children, can nestle under this wing of divine love! How sweet the Psalmist's assurance, elsewhere given: "He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust." Beloved, the promise is unto you and unto your children—"Blessed are those that make the Lord their trust."—Selected.

A HINT TO YOUNG HUSBANDS.—Love and appreciation are to a woman what dew and sunshine are to flowers. They refresh and brighten her whole life. They make her strong-hearted and keen-sighted in everything effecting the welfare of her home. They enable her to cheer her husband when the cares of life press heavily upon him, and to be a very providence to her children. To know that her husband loves her, and is proud of her; that even her faults are looked upon with tenderness; that her face, to one at least, is the fairest face in the world; that the heart, which is to her the greatest and noblest, holds her sacred to its utmost recesses above all other women, giving strength and courage and sweetness and vivacity which all the wealth of the world could not bestow. Let a woman's life be pervaded with such an influence, and her heart will blossom, and sweeten, and brighten in perpetual youth.

English Methodism.

While there were one or two cranks among the English delegates, who were somewhat turbulent during the session of the Ecumenical Conference, and whilst they are not as careful in the observance of total abstinence and not as strict in eschewing harmful worldly amusements as American Methodist ministers are, yet there are many grand and good things among them. John Wesley, the founder of Methodism; Charles Wesley, who wrote hymns of Methodism; Richard Watson, who wrote the theology of Methodism, were all Englishmen. And American Methodism is profoundly indebted to Asbury, who was also a native of England. English Methodism has been the seed-corn of all other branches of Methodism. And English Methodism is now making a bold and gallant fight to grow and spread in a country where it is environed with formidable difficulties. English Methodism has to grow under the shadow of the establishment of a State Church, which strives to dominate everything. It has to contend in Ireland against the colossal institution of Romanism. And in Scotland it has to fight the stern giant of unrelenting Calvinism. But still English Methodism is growing and flourishing. The effectiveness of her ministry, the consecration of her laity, the power of her press and schools, insure future prosperity. The English Methodists are in advance of other Methodist branches as to the rare grace of Christian liberality. They are four times more liberal in missionery contributions than Southern Methodists—averaging one dollar per head. The poorest among them give to the support of the ministry a penny a week and a shilling a quarter—averaging two dollars per member among the poorest, while the richer class give in proportion to their income. The result is, there is never any deficiency in the salaries of their ministers. We only wish that American Methodism would measure up to this standard of Christian liberality. The English Methodists outstrip us a long ways in this particular.—Raleigh Christian Advocate.

WHERE TO FIND HEAVEN.—There was a Methodist preacher who preached one day on heaven. The next morning he was going down town and he met one of his old, wealthy members. This old fellow met the preacher, and he said: "Pastor, you preached a good sermon about heaven. You told me all about heaven, but you never told me where heaven is." "Ah," said the pastor, "I am glad of the opportunity this morning. I have just come from the hill-top yonder. In that cottage there is a member of your church. She is sick in bed with fever; her two little children are sick in the other bed, and she has not got a bit of coal or a stick of wood, or flour or sugar or any bread. If you will go down town and buy fifty dollars' worth of things, nice provisions, and send them up to her, and then go up there, and say, 'My sister, I have brought these nice provisions in the name of the Lord and Savior;' if you ask for a Bible, and you read the twenty-third Psalm, and you then get down on your knees and pray—if you don't see heaven before you get all through, I'll pay the bill." The next morning he said, "Pastor, I saw heaven, and I spent fifteen minutes in heaven as certainly as you are listening."

CULTIVATE SELF-RELIANCE.—A little incident at a Summer resort brought into strong contrast two different ways of training children. The mother of a young girl, apparently about eighteen, was suddenly summoned home, and the daughter was left to pack the trunk and follow on a later train. It was a pitiful sight to see the girl stand helplessly before the closets and bureau drawers. Evidently it was her first experience in self-reliance. All the boarders were off on a picnic, save a girl of twelve who proffered assistance. She deftly folded and packed the various garments, not like an expert, but with excellent judgment and a fair degree of success.

"Where did you learn to do all this?" asked the other in astonishment. "I never packed a trunk before," was the reply, "but mama always makes me fold away my own clothes and says I must think for myself." The difference in this case was wholly in the bringing up and not in the natural capacity of the two girls. One mother had cultivated dependence by doing everything for her child. The other had given just enough help to develop self-help. Which method prevails in your home?—Congregationalist.

THE VALUE OF LEISURE MOMENTS.—Two men stood at the same table in a large factory in Philadelphia, at the same trade. Having an hour for their nooning every day, each undertook to use it in accomplishing a definite purpose; each persevered for about the same number of months, and each won success at last.

One of these two mechanics used his daily leisure hour in working out the invention of a machine for sawing a block of wood into almost any desired shape. When his invention was complete he sold the patent for a fortune, changed his workman's apron for a broadcloth suit, and moved out of a tenement-house into a brown-stone mansion.

The other man, what did he do? Well, he spent an hour each day during most of the year in the very difficult undertaking of teaching a little dog to stand on his hind feet and dance a jig. At last accounts he was working ten hours a day at the same trade and at his old wages, and finding fault with the fate that made his fellow-workman rich while leaving him poor.

Leisure moments may bring golden grain to the mind as well as the purse, if one harvests wheat instead of chaff.—Wide Awake.

HE HAS GONE THIS WAY.—We have not passed this way heretofore, but the Lord Jesus has. "For we have not an High Priest which can not be touched with a feeling of our infirmities." It is all untrodden and unknown ground to us, but he knows it all by personal experience—the steep hits which take away our breath; the stony bits which make our feet ache so; the hot, shadeless stretches which make us feel so exhausted; the rushing rivers which we have to pass through—Jesus has gone through it all before us. For "he himself took our infirmities and bare our sicknesses." Oh, think of "the things he suffered," over and above the great atoning suffering on the cross, just that he might personally know our little sorrows, and personally enter into our insignificant sufferings, and succor us in them with his own mighty help!—Frances Ridley Havergal.

WHITE HAIRS.—White hairs have been called "flowers of the cemetery;" but is it not better to think of them as "a streak of the dawn of the eternal day?" And will not this thought tend to make us more patient and considerate toward those aged servants among whom our lot is cast? Often their waiting-time is dreary. Old friends and companions have passed away, and these survivors are among the loneliest of the lonely. Their ways and their habits of thought can not be exactly those of younger folk. It will help us to brighten the close of their pilgrimage if we accustom ourselves to look upon them as having already seen "the dawn of the eternal day."—The Quiver.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

TEN TRUE FRIENDS.

Ten true friends you have,
Who, five in a row,
Upon each side of you,
Go where you go.

Suppose you are sleepy,
They help you to bed;
Suppose you are hungry,
They see that you're fed,

They wake up your dolly,
And put on her clothes,
And trundle her carriage
Wherever she goes.

They buckle your skate-straps,
And haul at your sled;
Are in summer quite white,
And in winter quite red.

Now, with ten willing servants
So trusty and true,
I'pray, who would be lazy
Or idle—would you?

Would you find out the name
Of this kind little band?
Then count up the fingers
On each little hand.

—The Water Lily.

That Nut Problem.

The answer is not necessarily 301. Add to 301 any number which either of the figures 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 will divide without a remainder—say 420—and the result will be the same. Thus 420 added to 301 is equal to 721. This will work out just as 301 will. Now add to this number 420, and you have 1,141. Here, again, your figures will each give a remainder of 1, except 7, which gives no remainder.

Now, will the little folks see whether I have made a mistake anywhere? I have not tested the limit of this process, but suppose it will continue infinitely, because the relation of figures is never changed by the enlargement of the sum. UNCLE JIM.

An Indignant Mother.

BY MYRA STAFFORD.

"She is very sick," said Dr. Robbie Proctor, in his grandfather's hat and his uncle's coat, with Aunt Katie's glasses perched astride his nose; "very sick, indeed!" and he laid his hand with professional skill on the kitten's paw. "If you do not follow my directions she will die, and there's no help for it. She has the small-pox, and cholera and yellow-fever, all mixed up together. It would be hard for anybody but me to tell you so much, but I can tell."

"Oh dear, dear me," said the frightened little mother, "I will be sure to follow your directions. To think that my child should have so many sicknesses all at once."

"Yes, it is very sad; and she must have a pint of brandy every ten minutes for the next fifty-five hours, or she will die, certain, true, black and blue."

Up rose the little mother, her face all in a glow of indignation. Gathering the precious child in the skirt of her dress, with true womanly dignity, she spoke in freezing tones:

"She never will, Dr. Robbie, and you need not think it. I wonder at you for saying such words in my mother's house, when you know she never lets a drop of brandy come into it, and does not believe in using it for anything? The idea that I would let my kitten play take brandy I'm ashamed of you, Robbie Proctor, and don't want to have anything more to do with you."

So saying she walked across the room and out at the door.

"Well," said Dr. Robbie, in great indignation, "if you won't do as the doctor says, how can you expect him to help you?"

"I don't expect it," came from the hall in freezing tones. "I never will expect help from a doctor who uses such dreadful medicine as that."

There was a sound of clapping of hands which came from the library, and papa's voice said:

"Three cheers for the little mother who has the 'courage of her convictions!'" though what he meant by such long words as that, you must ask your father.—The Pansy.

A Customer Secured.

A young man in a dry goods store in Boston was endeavoring to sell a customer some goods. He had a quantity on hand which he much desired to dispose of, as they were not of the freshest styles and the man seemed inclined to take them. When the goods had been examined and the bargain was about to be concluded, the customer inquired:

"Are these goods the latest style?"

The young man hesitated. He wanted to sell the goods, and it appeared evident that if he said they were the latest style the men would take them. But he could not tell a lie, and he replied:

"They are not the latest style of goods, but they are a very good style."

The man looked at him, examined some other goods of later style, and said:

"I will take those of the older style, and some of the new also. Your honesty in stating the facts will fasten me to this place."

The man not only sold his goods and kept a good conscience, but he also retained a customer, whom he might never have seen again if he had not spoken to him the exact truth. There is no permanent gain in falsehood and deception. Righteousness and truth are a sure foundation.—Safeguard.

LITTLE HEATHEN GIRLS.—There are bright little girls in the islands of the Pacific. One of them at Ruk, Micronesia Mission, when told that school would begin on the next Monday, said to Mrs. Logan, with an expression of great delight: "I am glad, for my head is aching with so much ignorance."

The Bible missionaries often saw the little, unclad, native African girls carrying an ear of corn on their backs. This is just where the women carry their babies, but it had not occurred to the missionaries that the ear of corn served as a doll, until they noticed that one little girl had the tassel of the corn braided and strung with beads. The missionary's wife asked her if that was her baby, and she said "Yes."—Exchange.

Little Ollie heard her sister Lulu speaking of a diary, and having had it explained to her that a personal diary was a brief record of one's life, she exclaimed: "Well, then, I don't see why they call it a diary; it seems as if they ought to call it a livery."

The Best I Ever Used.

So says Dr. S. S. Herrick, former secretary of the Louisiana State Board of Health, speaking of Marsden's Pectoral Balm, which he recommends as the best remedy for coughs, croup, colds, bronchitis and sore throat.

SCIENTIFIC.

The Mysteries of Electricity.

Electricity in the many forms in which it has been made useful to man has become so familiar to most persons in recent years that it is rather a matter for surprise that in some of its most interesting manifestations it remains today as mysterious an agent as it ever was. The tremendous power of a stroke of lightning is beyond all possibility of imitation by artificial means, and yet that power is seldom exercised twice in precisely the same manner. Sometimes the lightning appears to exert its full might like an angry giant, and its blow then resembles a shot from a hundred-ton gun—nothing can withstand it, and it rends, tears and scatters broadcast whatever object it encounters.

An instance of this terrific capacity for destruction possessed by a bolt of lightning was the instant demolition in England, a year or so ago, of a great oak-tree which for generations had been the pride of a neighborhood.

Occasionally all this fearful power is expended upon an insignificant object, as happened near West Lonisville, in Kentucky, last June, when a turkey-buzzard, sailing high in the air at the beginning of a thunder-storm, was suddenly annihilated in the sight of several spectators by a bolt of lightning that darted from a cloud.

The same mysterious force manifests the variety of its powers by such performances as photographing—for a sort of photographing it really is—the forms and colors of neighboring objects upon the surface of whatever thing has felt the fury of its assault. Near the town of Warren, in Ohio, last July, a young man who had taken refuge under a tree during a thunder-storm was killed by lightning, and upon his breast and other parts of his body appeared wonderfully distinct images of the leaves and branches of the tree.

We often hear accounts of the strange behavior of what is called ball lightning; and still another form in which the electricity of the atmosphere occasionally manifests itself, is the so-called St. Elmo's fire, which illuminates the yards of a ship as with ghostly lanterns. The European scientific papers have recently contained an account of a very singular appearance of this kind of electric light which was witnessed near the town of Gottschee.

Two gentlemen, walking along a country road during a snow-storm, saw what seemed to be a glimmer coming out of the new-fallen snow. It was presently discovered that the light enveloped the iron cap on the end of the cane carried by one of the pedestrians. When he raised the cane in the air little sparks seemed to dance forth from it.

There are many of these electrical exhibitions furnished by nature which occur in the presence of persons who do not take the trouble to observe them carefully, and afterwards to report what they have seen. Some of the things that now appear mysterious would cease to be so if more people would learn to use their eyes and their brains at the same time.—Youth's Companion.

The Sixth Sense.

The sixth sense is no new subject. All sorts of "senses" have been suggested at various times by different philosophers as worthy of being elevated to an equal rank with the "five gateways of knowledge." Recent experiments upon the ear have a most interesting bearing on this matter. The canal of the ear is blocked internally by the drum. On the other side of the drum is the Eustachian tube which leads to the throat, and so preserves equality of atmospheric pressure. Most of us have experienced that terrible feeling of "topheaviness" which ensues when this tube has become partially obstructed by secretions from cold. Next to the drum comes a series of small bones, and then the internal ear or labyrinth which contains fluid and receives the ends of the nerves of hearing. When the drum is made to vibrate by the waves of sound outside, these vibrations are carried on through the whole series and conveyed to the brain. The labyrinth consists of the cochlea, so called on account of its resemblance to a snail's shell, and also of three semi-circular canals. Inside the cochlea is a wonderful sounding-board containing about 4,000 minute rods and arches, which enable us to discriminate sounds just as though it were a piano-board with 4,000 keys. All this, and much more that is marvelous, the cochlea contains. But it is about the semi-circular canals that I specially wish to say something.

Some very interesting facts have lately come to light in reference to these canals and their uses. As long ago as 1824 Flourens suggested that they might be the organs of a sense hitherto unknown, and now Professors Crum, Brown and Mach have shown that this is the case. It is proved that they give us the means of judging the direction of motion. Any even and regular motion is not perceived by us, as, for instance, our revolution around the sun, and the earth's motion. Even motion in a train, if perfectly even and straight, may be unperceived by us, but if the train were to round a curve, or travel on a steep gradient, we should at once become conscious of it. Professor Mach constructed a revolving table, and placed it in a hut made so as to avoid any change of scene or light, and on it he placed a person whose eyes had been carefully blindfolded. In a few moments he became perfectly unconscious of the revolutions of the table. Any movement of the person, however, or any irregularity in the motion of the table, immediately brought back sensations of a remarkable kind. Similar sensations are known to be caused by ailments in the semi-circular canals, and it is concluded, therefore, that these canals are really the organs of motion. The fluid which they contain acts upon delicate hairs when rotation goes on, and thus the sensation of movement is communicated to the brain.—W. Spiers, in Methodist Times.

THE STORY OF A TOMBSTONE.—Above the south portico of St. Paul's Cathedral is a figure of a phœnix, a bird famed in fable, and the Latin motto "Resurgam" (I shall rise again). The story goes that after the size and position of the vast dome had been marked out, a laborer was told to bring a stone (to be used as a guide to the masons) from the rubbish of the old cathedral that had perished in the great fire of London. It happened that the stone the man fetched was a piece of a tombstone, with nothing of the inscription left but the word Resurgam in large letters. The incident being regarded as of happy omen, this word was adopted as a motto for Sir Christopher Wren's noble building. The phœnix was a bird that was said to live for five hundred years and then to burn itself to ashes, out of which it came with renewed life for another period of five centuries. In choosing this bird, allusion was intended to the new cathedral rising out of the ashes of the old.—Little Folks' Magazine.

I, A. C. Hafflefinger, do say consumption can be cured by Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. My mother, years ago, contracting a terrible cough soon became a cable to attend to her household duties. Prominent physicians pronounced it incurable consumption. We knew of Dr. Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and commenced giving it to her. Before two bottles had been taken an improvement was noticed, and by the time one dozen bottles had been consumed she was well, and has never been troubled since. We have recommended it to many and always have it in the house. For coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough, asthma, bronchitis, it is without a rival. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as 50c. bottles.

Nothing On Earth Will MAKE HENS LAY
LIKE
Sheridan's Condition Powder!
It is absolutely pure. Highly concentrated. In quantity it costs less than a tenth of a cent a day. Strictly a medicine. Prevents and cures all diseases. Good for young chicks. Worth more than gold when hens Moult. "One large can saved me $10, send six for $5 to prevent roup," says a customer. If you can't get it send us 50 cents for two packages, five $1. A 2 1-4 pound can $1.20 post-paid; 6 cans $5, express paid. "THE BEST POULTRY PAPER," sample copy free. Poultry Raising Guide free with 6 orders or more. I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Boston, Mass.

Heavy Crops!

The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Royal Germetuer

Each Man Speaks.

"I have taken the Cannabis Indica as directed, and am happy to tell you that I am perfectly cured of Nasal Catarrh. You were right, my trouble was not Consumption, but Catarrh.
JAMES A. CALDWELL.
"Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill."

Gentlemen:—Please find inclosed $30 for another box of medicine. Your remedies are doing a great good in this neighborhood. The Salve and Pills are gaining great reputation in curing Rheumatism and Constipation; if you send me some circulars I will distribute them. You really ought to have an agency out here.
Respectfully, C. M. MEEK, Postmaster.
Jackson, Amador Co., Cal.

$2.50 per bottle, or three bottles for $6.50. Pills and Ointment, $1.25 each.
CRADDOCK & Co., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia, Sole Proprietors.
Ask your druggist for Dr. H. James' Imported Remedies, or send to us direct, naming this paper.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.
EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.
Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus:
JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, LONDON, ENGLAND.

A FEW MORE
Good Agents Wanted
For that Wonderful Chart,
"The Tree of Methodism."
Address
F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans.

For Sale.
FARMER'S CANNING OUTFIT!
Will Pay for Itself in One Season.
Includes Syrup Evaporator—50 gallons per day. Two boilers with siphon connection, cranes for handling cans, fire pots, soldering coppers, etc., for 2,000 to 3,000 cans per day. One portable Iron Furnace for Canning, making Pickles, Jellies, etc. Evaporating Syrup. All latest improvements, with full directions.
Price, $150,000 to $200,000.
State and County Rights for Sale.
Address the Patentee and Manufacturer,
D. J. McMILLAN,
South Washington, N. C.

MARRIAGES.

BEHR—FANT.—In the Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., Oct. 28, 1891, by Rev. J. S. Oakley, Mr. J. E. Behr, of Macon, Ga., to Miss Annie L. Funt.

SMITH—BASS.—In Columbus, Miss., Nov. 3, 1891, by Rev. J. S. Oakley, Mr. W. M. Smith, of Alexandria, La., to Miss Mamie E. Bass, of Shubuta, Miss.

CLIFFOrtD—CLARK.—At the residence of the bride's father, B. A. Clark, Esq., near Kosciusko, Miss., Nov. 4, 1891, by Rev. J. S. Oakley, Rev. Thomas B. Clifford to Miss Lelia I. Clark.

WARD—JAMISON.—At the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. Lott Parker, near Lockhart, Miss., Oct. 14, 1891, by Rev. N. M. Clark, Mr. Chas. M. Ward, of Meridian, Miss., to Miss Annie E. Jamison.

KING—BROWN.—In the Methodist Church, Pelahatchie, Miss., Nov. 3, 1891, by Rev. D. P. Bradford, Mr. J. M. King to Miss Rachel Brown.

PHILLIPS—UELTSCHEY.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Nov. 5, 1891, by Rev. D. P. Bradford, Mr. H. B. Phillips, of Jackson, Miss., to Miss Daisey B. Ueltschey, of Scott county, Miss.

DILLARD—BETTERTON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Sept. 30, 1891, by Rev. R. A. Davis, Mr. Frank Dillard to Miss Paletine Betterton, all of Union parish, La.

McCORD—KENNEY.—At Pleasant Hill Church, Nov. 1, 1891, by Rev. J. D. Newsom, Mr. G. A. McCord to Mrs. Suo Kenney, all of Alcorn county, Miss.

BUCKLEY—HOOVER.—At the residence of sister Emily Atkinson, Summit, Miss., Oct. 28, 1891, at 3 P. M., by Rev. J. G. Sibley, Mr. Geo. P. Buckley, of Natchez, Miss., and Miss Mamie Hoover, of Summit, Miss.

CARRITH—MARTIN.—In the Methodist Church, Johnston, Miss., Nov. 4, 1891, at 7:30 P. M., by Rev. J. G. Sibley, Mr. Jas. W. Carruth and Miss Laura Martin, all of Johnston, Miss.

ROW—JACKSON.—At the residence of the bride's brother, Hon. T. J. Reams, Arbroth, La., Nov. 4, 1891, by Rev. N. B. Norwood, Mrs. Eunice L. Jackson to Mr. Rarie Row, of Row's Landing, La.

SANDERS—DUBARD.—At the residence of the bride's father, Attala county, Miss., Nov. 5, 1891, by Rev. L. D. Worsham, Mr. M. P. Sanders to Miss Mollie Dubard.

GREEN—SYKES.—In the Methodist Church, Aberdeen, Oct. 21, 1891, by Rev. J. A. Bowen, Mr. T. M. Green, of Seattle, Washington, and Miss Corinne Sykes, of Aberdeen, Miss.

PEARCE—HUDSON.—In Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 7, 1891, by Rev. W. B. Lewis, Mr. C. A. Pearce and Mrs. Judia Hudson.

ROSS—ASKEW.—In Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 8, 1891, by Rev. W. B. Lewis, Mr. W. B. Ross and Miss Allie V. Askew.

McDONALD—LOGAN.—In the Methodist Church, Hickory, Miss., Nov. 5, 1891, at 7 P. M., by Rev. J. M. Morse, Mr. C. E. McDonald to Miss Georgie Logan.

DINKINS—COWAN.—In the Methodist Church, Canton, Oct. 7, 1891, by Rev. T. B. Holloman, Mr. Goode W. Winbourne, of Salis, Miss., and Miss Pauline Dean, of Canton, Miss.

BUCK—JOHNSON.—At the Aconia Methodist Church, Nov. 5, 1891, by Rev. B. F. Phillips, Mr. H. E. Buck to Miss Annie L. Johnson, daughter of Col. J. M. Johnson, all of Holmes county, Miss.

WILES—WILSON.—At Hebron (Baptist) Church, Nov. 5, 1891, by Rev. G. W. Alexander, local elder of M. E. Church, South, Mr. Wm. W. Wiles, of Yazoo county, Miss., to Mrs. Mary J. Wilson, of Warren county, Miss.

OBITUARIES.

GUICE—Another soldier of the cross has laid his armor by. Life's conflicts past, he has entered his Master's joy. Such was the verdict of a sorrowing community on the announcement, Aug. 26, 1891, that JOHN G. GUICE was dead.

He was born in Franklin county, Miss., March 8, 1815; was married to Miss Sarah A. Hinnison, Jan. 8, 1840. They had born to them fifteen children—seven of whom are living, with eighteen grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

He had been an active member in the Methodist Church for nearly half a century. He was a Methodist from conviction, loved her doctrine and polity, was loyal to her in all her demands. One of his greatest delights was her class meetings. He was an earnest and efficient worker in revivals. He delighted in singing. He was able and earnest in prayer, and often made public appeals to sinners to turn to God. He was a bright and shining light. A good citizen, an obliging neighbor, a kind husband and loving father. He filled different official positions in the church faithfully and efficiently. He was a delegate-elect to our next Conference. His end was peace.

Grieve not, loved ones; for though your separation is more than tongue can tell, you know he is now tasting the sweets of heaven, and the tired head is now on the loving breast of Christ. IRA B. ROBERTSON.

TURNER—Miss SUE TURNER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Turner, of this place, died Saturday, Oct. 24. She took sick Sept. 25, and bore her suffering bravely for a month, and all were anxious for her recovery; but finally death came, and her sweet spirit took its flight to that haven of bliss, and her remains were laid at rest last Sunday, with services conducted by Rev. Mr. McLaurin.

She was one of my best friends: were of the same age, thirteen years; had been knowing each other about eight years. We went to school together, and were in the same Sunday-school class. We also worked together in our little missionary society. She was an earnest worker, and did all that she could. She was kind, gentle and good, and loved very much by all the girls. She was a member of the M. E. Church. We shall miss her very much. She lived an exemplary life, worthy to be imitated. We trust the gentle Christian influence she left behind will long remain and lead many a boy and girl to Christ. May the Lord keep all his little followers to look to him in faith, and bow in humble submission to all his works of providence, as did sweet little Sue.

CLARA BUFKIN.

Vossburg, Miss.

FARMER—DELLA KEZIAH FARMER, daughter of B. F. and M. E. Farmer, was born April 27, 1886; died March 17, 1891, aged four years eleven months and ten days.

She was sick only twenty-four hours; but her sweet life was a joy to her parents. While sick she asked her mother "If she did not see the people in the top of the house." Thus, doubtless, the angels appeared for her before she lost consciousness. Oh! may the parents and friends all enter the kingdom of heaven as a little child! "For of such is the kingdom of heaven." R. A. DAVIS, Pastor.

SMITH—Sister EMMA SMITH (born Mayo) was born in Union parish, La., Oct. 23, 1858. She came to Morehouse parish in early childhood. Under the ministry of Rev. J. M. McKee, about Oct. 23, 1879, she joined the M. E. Church, South, at the Bonne Idee Church, and almost the same date was married to Bro. D. W. Smith, who now mourns her loss. She continued a faithful and consistent member of the church until her untimely death, Oct. 21, 1891, of pneumonia.

She was perfectly resigned to her death, except that she said she was loathe to leave her little children. One of these is a baby two months old.

Sister Smith was a devoted wife and loving mother. Her hospitality to the preachers was unbounded. She was a model housekeeper. As a neighbor, she was kind, and she seemed to be without an enemy. Hosts of relatives and friends were shocked and saddened by her unexpected death. Bro. Smith is left with five little children to care for, without a mother's love. May the Comforter, in this deep affliction, be present in his heart, to bear up his bereaved soul in humble resignation! "A prudent wife is from the Lord." He who gave has recalled his own. We can not understand God's dealings with us; but we know that he knows best, and that his afflictions upon us are to draw us nearer to him, "who careth for us."

G. E. GREENE, Pastor.

WHITE—FRANCIS HUGHSTON, infant son of Mr. Thomas and Mrs. E. A. White, died Friday night, Oct. 16, 1891, with congestion, aged six months.

Oh, how sad is that household made by the death of little Frank! He was snatched away so quick. He was only sick about fifteen hours, and God sent his angels and carried him home, where he will never suffer no more, but will be there with loved ones gone before, waiting and watching at the beautiful gate for papa and mama and brothers and sisters; and if they are only faithful, they will some day behold little Frank, when he will seem more beautiful than ever he did on earth, and can claim him as their own precious little Frank. When the angel of death passes through this earthly flower garden, it always plucks the most beautiful buds and transplants them in the heavenly garden, there to bloom forevermore. That is the reason why little Frank was taken. He was such a beautiful little bud. Weep not, dear loved ones; little Frank is at rest. Joy to the mourner; comfort is given; angels have borne little Frank in triumph to heaven.

LAURA P. OAKES.

TROTH—MINNIE TROTH (nee Shelmire) was born Nov. 16, 1851; died Sept. 15, 1891, within two months of forty years of age. She lived and died within sight of Kinderhook—the old homestead—around which clusters so many beautiful and lovely associations. Minnie—as we all called her—was a general favorite from childhood to the grave; all along her pathway in life she was the same noble, heroic spirit. She joined the Methodist Church when about ten years old, at Olive Branch, and continued a faithful, zealous member—loyal to her church—under peculiar and sometimes trying circumstances. I knew her as an intimate friend, and amid all the vicissitudes of a chequered life—as daughter, wife and mother—she reached up after the ideal Christian life, and came as near the prize, doubtless, as it is our lot in this life to come.

She died, as she had lived, trusting in Christ. Without fear she went down into the valley leaning on God's promises. Her greatest trial was in being taken from her loved ones, her husband and six small children. May the Lord support and comfort the bereaved ones in this sad hour! A DEAR FRIEND.

FARMER—Sister ISABELLA FARMER was born July 19, 1850; joined the M. E. Church in 1862 or 1863; died of pneumonia, March 30, 1891, in the full triumphs of faith.

She was sick only seven days, during which time she expressed herself as having no fears of death; that her trust was in God, and was willing and ready to pass away. She made arrangements to divide her earthly possessions among her relatives. When the writer became her pastor, she was a faithful attendant at church and Sunday-school as long as she was able, and, we presume, many years previous. She was treasurer of the Woman's Missionary Society at Downsville, La., several years, until unable to attend its duties. Thus passed away a faithful and devoted servant of God. The Lord comfort the bereaved ones she has left behind, and may they meet her in glory!

R. A. DAVIS, Pastor.

FLURRY—Bro. HENRY FLURRY was born May 15, 1828; died Oct. 29, 1891, aged sixty-three years five months and fourteen days. He joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1854; was married to Miss Catherine Fairly, with whom he lived peaceably and happily for many years. The Lord gave unto them seven children. Two have passed on before him, while five with their mother mourn his loss.

Bro. Flurry was a sufferer for many weeks with the dreadful disease, dropsy. He died in full triumph. Death had no sting. He was perfectly ready and willing to go. Thus ends the life of a great Christian, brother, husband, father and friend. When we laid him to rest amid the weeping of friends and relatives, we were consoled with the thought, "We shall see him again." God bless the affectionate brothers and sister, the devoted and bereaved companion and children! M. L. WHITE.

McINNIS—Sister NANCY ALAFAIR MCINNIS was born April 14, 1877, in Green county, Miss.; died July 11, 1891, aged fourteen years and three months. She joined the Methodist Church at Vernal under the ministry of the Rev. W. P. Mendor, September, 1889; was converted under the ministry of D. C. Rawls in 1890.

Sister Nancy was a consistent Christian girl; loved the preached word, loved the prayer meeting, loved the Sabbath-school, loved Christian association. But God called her home, and leaves father, mother, brothers, sisters and friends to mourn her loss here. Heaven is made dearer to her loved ones. God help them to meet her in that world of light.

HER PASTOR.

When you're languid and dull in the Spring of the year,
When stomach and liver are all out of gear,
When you're stupid at morn and feverish at night,
And nothing gives relish, and nothing goes right,
Don't try any nostrum, elixir or pill—
"Golden Medical Discovery" just fills the bill.

The surest and best of all remedies for all disorders of the liver, stomach and blood, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Make use of time, if thou lovest eternity; know, yesterday can not be recalled, to-morrow can not be assured: to-day is only thine; which if thou procrastinate, thou losest; which lost, is lost forever; one to-day is worth two to-morrows.—Enchiridion.

People will discriminate in favor of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the best and cheapest.

Old and rheumatic people can't afford to be without Salvation Oil; it kills pain. 25 cents.

THE BEST COMPANY

Is the company which does the most good; and the company which does the most good is that which issues and maintains the largest amount of assurance.

	Am't of Assurance issued during 1890.	Assurance in force Dec. 31, 1890.
EQUITABLE -	$203,826,107	$720,662,473
MUTUAL - -	161,365,921	638,041,180
NEW YORK - -	159,576,065	569,338,726
PENN MUTUAL - -	20,663,272	90,278,701
MANHATTAN -	12,962,401	54,500,754

THE BEST COMPANY MUST ALSO BE THE SAFEST COMPANY.

	Surplus.	Ratio of Assets to Liabilities
EQUITABLE -	$23,740,447	125
MUTUAL - -	9,981,233	107
NEW YORK - -	14,898,451	114½
PENN MUTUAL - -	1,634,452	110
MANHATTAN -	1,036,632	109

The above companies are from nine to eighteen years older than the Equitable.

Write to the undersigned before insuring your life.

R. P. LAKE, General Agent, Jackson, Miss.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the Large and Spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All its Branches, and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director,

169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

PIANOS! PIANOS! PIANOS!

Organs! Organs! Organs!

All of the Leading Makes To Be Had Here.

Lowest Prices. | Easiest Terms.

Liberal Discounts to Teachers and Schools.

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.

SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel, Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices! | Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

BRYANT & STRATTON Business College

BOOK-KEEPING, SHORTHAND, TELEGRAPHY, &C.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND FULL INFORMATION.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - -	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - -	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - -	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - -	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - -	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JNO. BARKLEY.
JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE.
J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RICE.
W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT MCGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Mange, Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

MAGIC LANTERNS AND STEREOPTICONS

afford the best and cheapest means of object teaching for Colleges, Schools and Sunday Schools. Our assortment of Views, illustrating art, science, history, religion and travel, is immense. For Home Amusement and Parlor Entertainment, etc., nothing can be found as instructive or amusing, while Church Entertainments, Public Exhibitions and Popular Illustrated Lectures—Holiday present. We are the largest manufacturers and dealers, and ship to all parts of the world. If you wish to know how to order, how to conduct Parlor Entertainments for pleasure, or Public Exhibitions, etc., for MAKING MONEY, send us your name and address on a postal card (naming this paper), and we will mail you our

An instrument with a choice selection of Views makes a splendid Holiday present.

PAY WELL.

208 PAGE BOOK FREE.

McALLISTER, Manufact'g Opticians, 49 Nassau St., N. Y. City

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY

Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,

Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,

Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low.

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

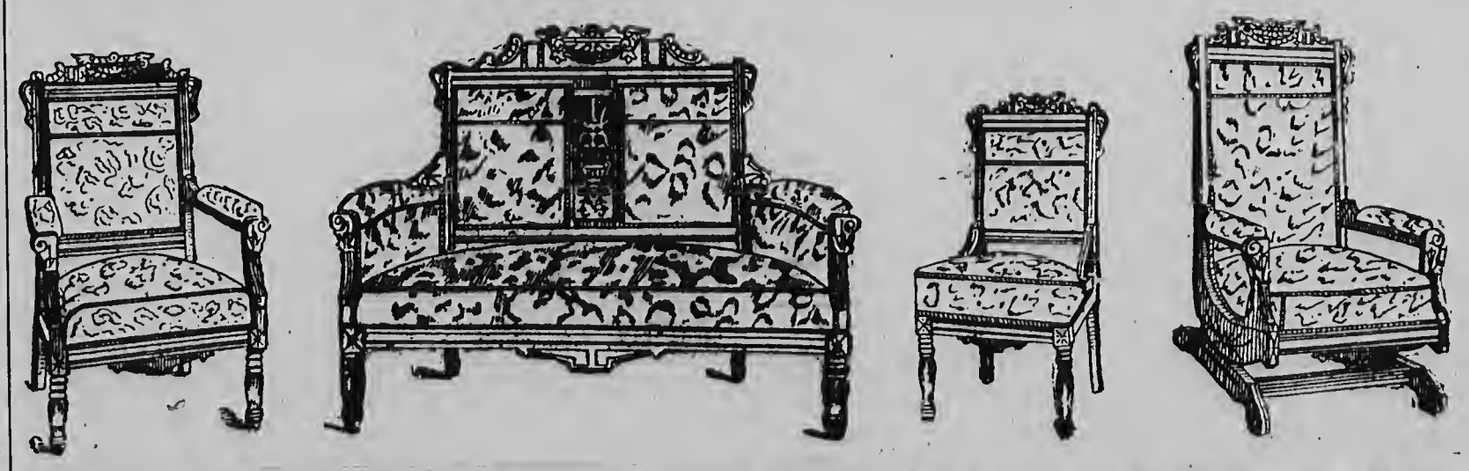
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED, New Orleans, La.

CATARRH CURE!

GIVEN AWAY.

Send name and get a FREE PACKAGE
DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON, GA

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:--one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs. Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $40 up to $1000. Dining room suits, eight pieces, from $17 upwards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 upwards. Quality at top—prices at bottom. I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded.

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30

J. G. GRANT,

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30

Never Questioned.

The superior purity, strength and wholesomeness of Royal Baking Powder is never questioned. While other baking powder makers are exposing the impurities and shortcomings of the powders of their competitors, and the official tests by the Government are revealing the improper ingredients, the low strength, and lack of keeping qualities of other brands of baking powder, no question is raised, no doubt is entertained of the great qualities, the absolute purity and efficiency of the Royal Baking Powder. It stands alone, above suspicion.

Do not permit the grocer or peddler to substitute any other brand in place of the Royal.

Do not forget that you can get all school books at Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh's, No. 106 Camp street, New Orleans.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5¾ @ —	—
Ordinary	6 3-16	— —
Good ordinary	6¾	— —
Low middling	7 3-16	— —
Middling	7⅜	— —
Good middling	7⅝	— —
Middling fair	8⅛	— —
Fair	9½	— —
Galveston middling	— —	— —
Mobile middling	— —	— —
Memphis middling	— —	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	2⅝	2 11-16
Fully fair	2⅝	2 11-16
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	2 5-16	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	2½	3 1-16
Prime yellow	3 3-16	3¼
Gray white	3¼	3⅜
Choice white	3 9-16	3⅝
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	9	12
Good common	— —	7
SYRUP	24	28
RICE.
No. 2	2¼	— —
Good	4½	4¾
Fair	4⅛	4⅜
Prime	— —	— —
Rough, ₩ bbl	2 00	4 00
Clean, ₩ ton	22 00	24 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	4 90	5 00
Fancy	4 45	4 70
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	5 00	5 50
Winter wheat patents	5 12½	5 20
Minnesota bakers	5 00	5 50
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	2 90	2 95
Cream meal	3 50	— —
Grits	3 60	— —
Hominy	3 65	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	66
Yellow	— —	66
Mixed No. 2	— —	67
OATS:
Western	40	42
Texas rust-proof	56	59
BEANS:
₩ cwt	95	97½
HAY:
Prime	14 00	15 00
Choice	15 50	18 50
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	10 00	10 25
Prime Mess	10 37½	10 50
Rumps	— —	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	— —	11½
Shoulders	6⅛	6⅜
Sides, short rib	7¾	— —
Sides, long clear	7⅝	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10	11
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	5¾	— —
Sides, short rib	6⅝	6⅞
Sides, long clear	6⅝	6⅞
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	17¾	— —
Fair	17	— —
Common	14	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
No. 2	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	31	— —
Western Dairy	22	26
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	5½	— —
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7⅝	— —
Coal, cases	16½	14
Cotton seed, crude	25	26
Lard, Extra No. 1	50	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ head	6	7
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 50	1 70
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 50	2 75
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb. ₩ yard	7	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb. ₩ yard	— —	6¼
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	7⅛	12⅛
TIES:
₩ bundle	— —	1 35
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 50	5 00
Young Chickens	2 00	3 00
Chickens, Southern	2 75	3 00
Young	1 50	3 00
Turkeys, Southern	7 00	12 00
EGGS:
Western	22	23
Southern	23	24
WOOL:
Texas, ₩ lb	21	21½
Louisiana	17	19
Burry	10	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	3½	— —
Dry salted	5	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	18 00	— —
Meal	21 50	— —
Pure ground bone	30 00	32 00
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	2⅜
Sulphuric acid	— —	2½

—New Delta, Nov. 17.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1002 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. W. W. Williams, T. S. West, W. G. Forsyth, J. P. Drake, James L. Bowling, R. B. Downer, Sam Q. Bass, J. M. Morse, H. Bradford, W. W. Simmons, I. W. Cooper, T. L. Mellen, W. D. McCullough, D. L. Cogdell, R. J. Jones, W. L. Linfield (2), P. Howard, F. N. Sweeney, B. F. Phillips, C. F. Emery, W. P. Meador, T. H. Hensch, C. T. Munholland, J. T. Nicholson, W. M. Young, R. M. Evans, J. F. Robinson, L. W. Wood, J. H. Evans, W. M. Sullivan, W. H. Lewis, T. H. White (2), H. J. Boltz, J. V. Penn, W. T. Barnett, Geo. Bancroft, J. A. Parker, J. F. Wynn, H. G. Hawkins, W. L. Hamil, J. A. McDougall, H. M. Young, John Hannon, G. W. Bachman, R. Parvin, R. F. Witt, M. L. Burton, Irvin Miller, J. M. Greene, T. H. McClendon, M. Ferrell, T. H. Holloman, Jno. A. Miller, R. A. Ellis, Wm. T. Beall, R. H. Barr.

Messrs. R. G. Hudson, John B. Harlon, L. N. Davis, Alex. Newton, Chas. M. Porter, R. T. Hutchins, T. A. Holloman & Co., E. Safford, I. P. Fluitt, R. P. Lake, F. W. Parham, J. C. DeGress, Wm. R. Stuart, T. L. Gee, A. F. Townsend, D. T. Gunnels, C. A. Grote, E. A. Nohlin, R. E. Macken, J. S. Turner.

Mesdames R. W. Bringhurst, W. E. Trotter, R. S. Brown, P. Youree, John Pipes, B. F. Alexander, Wm. Hoover, C. F. Beardsley, E. M. Montgomery.

Miss M. Jamieson.

Nov. 17.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

From Seven Thousand Dollars to Twenty-One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Three Dollars.

Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three dollars has just been paid by The Mutual Life Insurance Company on an original $7,000 insurance policy.

A result never equaled or even approached by any other company in the world. The fortunate assured was Mr. Charles Dellinger, of Mobile, Ala., who was forty-one years old when he became a member of the company.

RECAPITULATION.

1—Cash value of the dividends 100 per cent. of premiums.

2—Additions to policy 143 per cent. of premiums.

3—Insurance paid 312 per cent. of original amount.

4—Investment, 3 per cent. compound interest.

5—Insured 44 years, from age 41 to age 85.

6—No taxes, care or expense connected with the insurance.

Remember this company is purely mutual; all profits belong to the members. It is also the largest and most profitable company in the world. Mr. T. H. Bowles is the general agent, 120 Common street, New Orleans, La.

Tried in the Balance.

Marsden's Pectoral Balm is not an experiment. For twenty-five years it has been "tried in the balance" and not found wanting in its ability to speedily and permanently cure coughs and colds.

Gilderoy's "Odd Hours" delights me. The young people—older ones also—who read it will find it good for them. It is sound, pure, good, funny, entertaining, instructive. I wish every boy would read it; it would help him to be a man.

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD.

The Parsonage, Los Angeles, Cal.

The Russian Ministry of Finance is contemplating a proposal for a monopoly by the government of the production of spirits and tobacco.

The Favorite.

For twenty-five years Marsden's Pectoral Balm has been well and favorably known in the South. It is an unfailing cure for la grippe, coughs, colds and croup in children.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The Convention of American Bankers, held in this city, adjourned on Nov. 12.

The annual meeting of the National Farmers' Alliance was called to order in Indianapolis, Ind., on Nov. 17.

After a successful career of twenty years the banking house of Bonner & Bonner, of Tyler, Texas, has failed. Liabilities, over $500,000.

It is said that clerks and other employees of the Federal offices in New Orleans are being assessed for the support of the Republican party in this State.

At the primaries held in New Orleans, last week, a solid delegation of 139 lotteryites were elected to represent the city in the Democratic Convention.

At the election of the officers of the World's W. C. T. U., in Boston, Miss Frances E. Willard was chosen president; Lady Henry Somerset, vice-president-at-large; Anna Cordon, of Boston, secretary; and Mrs. Williams, of Canada, treasurer.

The determination of the State to enforce the secular school act of 1890 has led to the arrest of several well-known Catholic citizens of the city of Fitchburg, Mass., and caused an outburst of indignation among followers of the Church of Rome all over the State.

A meeting held by anarchists in Chicago, last week, was broken up by the police. A serious resistance was made and several officers were struck, though none seriously hurt. A number of anarchists were arrested, and a large amount of inflammatory literature was captured.

Bishop Potter presided at a meeting in Chickering Hall, in New York City, last week, the object of which was to protest against the Louisiana Lottery amendment. The speakers were ex-Judge Noah H. Davis; Gen. G. D. Johnston, of Louisiana; President Lowe, of Columbia College; Rev. Father Elliott and ex-Mayor A. S. Hewitt.

The committee from the Kansas Millers' Association, who have been spending a few days in this city, investigating the shipping facilities, were so well pleased with their inspection that they have concluded not to go to Galveston, which was their original intention. They found that this port will meet all their requirements, they say, and they will return to Kansas City direct.

President Harrison, by proclamation, has appointed Thursday, Nov. 26, "to be a day of joyful thanksgiving to God for the bounties of his providence, for the peace in which we are permitted to enjoy them, and for the preservation of those institutions of civil and religious liberty which he gave our fathers the wisdom to devise and establish and us the courage to preserve."

The work in securing $50,000 in subscriptions for the preliminary guarantee fund for the expenses of the national Republican and Democratic conventions, in the event of either or both of the conventions being held in San Francisco, has been completed by a committee of business men, and the committee appointed by them to go to Washington and lay San Francisco's offer before the National Committees of the two parties.

FOREIGN.

The authorities of the Russian War Office have resolved to construct a line of forts along the Chinese frontier and to increase the number of the officers in Central Asia.

The German Reichstag resumed its sittings on last Tuesday. It is not known if Prince Bismarck will appear in the House. His health requires careful attention, and he will undertake a parliamentary campaign only when assured of his ability to do so by his physician.

The International Peace Congress opened in Rome last week. Among the subjects that have been discussed was a proposition looking to the introduction of reforms in the various systems of education by means of which children would be imbued with the love of peace. The congress adopted a proposal that the universities of Europe and America should take measures to foster among their students feelings of respect and friendship for foreign nations.

The state of affairs in the republic of Brazil at present is by no means satisfactory. In nearly every respect matters are going wrong. In the last two years the country has been flooded with irredeemable paper money, now amounting nominally to about $250,000,000, and depreciated to less than fifty-five per cent. of its nominal value. In consequence of the depression of the currency and burdensome tax all necessaries of life cost exorbitant prices, which are constantly rising.

The authorities in St. Petersburg are becoming more and more suspicious as the internal situation of the empire continues to grow more critical. There is considerable uneasiness regarding the status of affairs throughout the empire, and as a result of this feeling the marshals of the nobility exercising power and residing in the different parts of the country have been warned that they will be held responsible for any manifestation of political feeling against the government which may occur in the provinces of local administrations under their control.

The fight between Parnellites and McCarthyites in Ireland regarding the negotiations at Boulogne-sur-Mer and the letters which passed between Messrs. Parnell and O'Brien continues with no diminution in the bitterness. United Ireland appeals to sturdy Irishmen to steel their hearts to the task of fighting the priesthood. While they submit to priest and bishop, the paper declares, they will never be able to follow the dictates of their own political consciences, and the liberty of the land so long desired will never be gained.

Does Protection Protect?

Certainly, in one instance, it does. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great protection against the dangers of impure blood, and it will cure or prevent all diseases of this class. It has well won its name of the best blood purifier.

$10,000

will be paid for a recipe enabling us to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that the retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. At present the retail price is 20c.

This offer is open until January 1st., 1893. For particulars address the undersigned.

ACME BLACKING is made of pure alcohol, other liquid dressings are made of water. Water costs nothing. Alcohol is dear. Who can show us how to make it without alcohol so that we can make ACME BLACKING as cheap as water dressing, or put it in fancy packages like many of the water dressings, and then charge for the outside appearance instead of charging for the contents of the bottle?

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

PIK-RON

is the name of a paint of which a 25c. bottle is enough to make six scratched and dulled cherry chairs look like newly finished mahoganies. It will do many other remarkable things which no other paint can do.

All retailers sell it.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Purvis, at Purvis (Thu.)	Nov. 19
Columbia, at Columbia	21, 22
Perry, at Isabella (Wed.)	25
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Zion	28, 29
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg (Tu.)	Dec. 1
Heidelberg, at Philadelphia (Thu.)	3
Eastabutchie, at Eastabutchie	5, 6

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Adams circuit, at Adams	Nov. 21, 22
Summit, at Summit	22, 23
Gallman circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	26
Providence	26, 29
Pleasant Grove ct., at Pleasant Grove	Dec. 6
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel	5, 6

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Landerdale circuit, at Landerdale	Nov. 21, 22
Meridian ct., at Chunkey (Thu.)	26
Winchester circuit	28, 29
Marion circuit, at Curtis Chapel	Dec. 5, 6
Meridian, at Central (Mon. night.)	7

The preachers in charge will please see that the trustees have ready written reports in answer to Ques. 23. All local preachers must be prepared with written reports to answer Ques. 16. All exhorters are expected to present written reports. Reports from the missionary societies will be gladly received. Let the stewards be prepared to report collections in full. Let us pray and look for the presence and power of the Holy Spirit.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Zachary station	Nov. 21, 22
East Baton Rouge, at Deer Ford	23
Live Oak, at Pine Grove	28, 26
Jackson station	Dec. 2
St. Helena, at Greensburg (morning)	5
Amite City, at Amite City (night)	5, 6
Franklinton, at Fisher's	7

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meadville	Nov. 21, 22
Roxie (Mon.)	23
Anguilla, at Anguilla	26, 29
Rolling Fork	29, 30
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	Dec. 5, 6

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Raleigh, at Raleigh	Nov. 21, 22
Mt. Rose, at Cedar Grove	22, 23
Trenton, at Polkville	28, 29
Homewood, at Wesley Chapel	30
Marvin	Dec. 5, 6

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lake City and Lodi	Nov. 21, 22
Edwards (Wed.)	25
Spring Ridge, at Oak Hill (Fri.)	27
Jackson, at First Church	26, 29
Jackson, at Capitol Street	26, 29
Banton (Tue.)	Dec. 1
Yazoo circuit (Wed.)	2
Canton	5, 6

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ebenezer	Nov. 20
Lexington	21, 22
West	24
Richland	26
Black Hawk	28, 29

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GRENADA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Atlanta	Nov. 21, 22
Pittsboro (Mon.)	23
Cherry Hill (Tue.)	24
Banner (Thu.)	26
Water Valley circuit (Sat.)	26
Water Valley	29

J. W. PRICE, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Coldwater mission (Th.)	Nov. 19
Pleasant Grove	21, 22
Pauola circuit (Th.)	26
Courtland	28, 29

J. J. WHEAT, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ebenezer	Nov. 21, 22
Houston and Wesley	27
Sparta	28, 26

J. B. STONE, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ripley circuit	Nov. 19
Ripley and New Albany	21, 22
New Albany circuit	28, 29

W. S. LAGRONE, P. E.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75 cents.

England and Ireland were visited by disastrous storms last week. Much havoc has been wrought along the coasts. There has been great loss of life and enormous damage to property.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Bellwood, at Oak Grove	Nov. 21, 22
Natchitoches, at Natchitoches	22, 28
Grand Cane, at Bethel	28, 29
Caddo circuit, at Keachie	29, 30
Mansfield station	Dec. 5, 6
Shreveport mission	12, 13

RONT. J. HARP, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Vidalia and Black River	Nov. 21, 22
Columbia, at Columbia	28, 29
Castor, at Ebenezer (Tu.)	Dec. 1
Colfax and Boyce, at Boyce	5, 6
Bayou Boeuff, at Fairview (Wed.)	9
Alexandria	12, 13
Ada	13, 14

J. IVY HOFFPAUIR, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Tulip and Simsboro, at Tulip	Nov. 21, 22
Gibsland, at Gibsland	28, 26
Indian Village, at Indian Village	Dec. 5, 6
Ruston, at Ruston	8
Arcadia, at Mount Moriah	12, 13

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lind Grove	Nov. 21, 22
Winnsboro	28, 29
Delhi, at Tallula	Dec. 5, 6

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Moreau Street	Nov. 22
Felicity Street	26
Carrollton	Dec. 6
Carondelet Street	13

CHAS. F. EVANS, P. E.

INFANTILE SKIN SCALP AND DISEASES CURED BY Cuticura

EVERY HUMOR OF THE SKIN AND SCALP of infancy and childhood, whether torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, with loss of hair, and every impurity of the blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, is speedily, permanently, and economically cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Purifier and Beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. Parents, save your children years of mental and physical suffering. Begin now. Delays are dangerous. Cures made in childhood are permanent.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Skin and Blood Diseases."

Baby's skin and scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP.

Kidney pains, backache, and muscular rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

BOYS! GIRLS! Everybody!

We want used postage stamps used before 1870; also Confederate bills. For 25 stamps or 10 bills we will give either 25 cards with your name printed on, 3 sheets of Scrap Pictures, 1 Autograph Album, 50 Foreign Stamps, or Cash. AGENTS WANTED. Circulars free.

J. E. HANDSHAW & CO.,
SMITHTOWN BRANCH, N. Y.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

OUR BOOK COLUMN.

THE HANDY RELIABLE DICTIONARY.

Over 60,000 words. Illustrated. 10 cents each; $1 per dozen. Send for a copy and examine it.

THE MOTHER'S PRIMER.

5 cents; 50 cents per dozen. The very thing for home or Sunday-school use. Try it.

THE MAN OF GALILEE.

By Atticus G. Haygood, D. D. A book for the times and the people.

"A work of genius that will live in freshness and power long after the author has passed away from among men."—Dr. Cunnyngham, Sunday-school Editor.

"Meets the unbeliever on his own ground. It assumes nothing, but the argument is a complete as it is possible for human thought and language to make it."—Dr. Lafferty, Virginia.

Over 10,000 sold. It still sells. 90 cents.

A JOURNEY TO PALESTINE.

By Rev. B. Carradine, D. D. A wonderfully interesting and instructive book of travels. Price, $1.50.

THE METHODIST STEWARD.

Everyone interested in Church Finances should send for a copy. Price, 75 cents.

THE LANDS OF THE ORIENT.

By Rev. M. B. Chapman, D. D., one of the editors of the St. Louis Christian Advocate. 12 mo. Cloth, 500 pages. $1.50. Over fifty illustrations.

"As a mere book of travels, this is one of the most charming and instructive volumes that has fallen into our hands in many a day."—Southern Christian Advocate, Columbia, S. C.

A column could be filled with testimonials as to the value and attractiveness of this charming book. Order a copy at once.

LEAVES FROM THE TREE OF LIFE.

A valuable book of Bible reading. $1.

LIFE AND TIMES OF BISHOP PIERCE.

$2, $3 and $4. Every Methodist should own and read this book.

METHODIST HISTORIES.

HISTORY OF METHODISM.

By Bishop McTyeire. $2, $2.50, $3 and $4.

No more valuable book can be put in a Methodist library.

METHODISM IN TEXAS. $1.
METHODISM IN MISSISSIPPI. $1.50
METHODISM IN MISSOURI. $2.

NEW BOOKS.

CLARA CHRISMAN. $1.
MAN, MONEY AND THE BIBLE. 80c.
JUDGE LONGSTREET. $1.

Any Book Mailed at Prices Given.

F. D. Van Valkenburgh,
106 CAMP ST., - - NEW ORLEANS.

Who rules in this town?

Depends on the question up. The lamp-chimney question—what sort do you break?

Whatever sort your dealer deals in.

How, do you think, he selects his chimneys?

He buys those that cost him least; he can get the regular price for them; and the faster they break the more he sells. That's how he reasons.

Tell him you want Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass," tough glass, transparent, clear, not foggy, fine, of right shape and uniform. Tell him you'll pay him a nickel more a piece, and that will cover his extra costs twice over. Tell him you don't propose to break any more. Try your hand at ruling.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

Music

For Singing Schools, and Choirs.

VICTORY OF SONG.

By L. O. Emerson. 192 pages. Price 60 cents, postpaid; $6 a dozen, not prepaid.

Emerson's latest and best Singing Class Book for 1891-1892. Glees, Part-Songs, Choruses, Hymn Tunes, Anthems, Chants, and 4-part Songs; with Rudimentary Exercises, Lessons and suggestions on note-reading, articulation etc. A superb book.

THE GRADED SINGING SCHOOL.

By D. F. Hodges. 60 octavo pages. Price 50 cents, prepaid; $4.50 a dozen, not prepaid.

Mr. Hodges' thorough knowledge of singing school needs is revealed in this unexcelled collection of 4-Part Songs, Glees, Hymn Tunes, etc. The progressive course of Musical Notation, with 56 pages of simply explained Elements, renders it an invaluable book for every school.

SONG HARMONY.

By L. O. Emerson. 184 pages. Price 60 cents, prepaid; $6 a dozen, not prepaid.

For Singing Schools, Musical Institutes, Conventions, etc. A fresh class book of newly arranged material for the learner. 100 pages of "Elements" with illustrative songs and exercises, especially arranged with reference to practice and instruction.

EMERSON'S ROYAL SINGER.

By L. O. Emerson. 192 pages. Price 60 cents, postpaid; $6 a dozen, not prepaid.

This book contains an improved setting of, Scales and Exercises. One page of Manual Signs, 3 pages of Musical Notation, 47 pages of Review Lessons, 64 pages of Glees and Part Songs, 72 pages of Hymn Tunes, Anthems, Choruses and Chants.

Any book mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price.

Convention Conductors, and Singing Class Teachers are invited to correspond with us before purchasing their needed supplies.

OLIVER DITSON CO.,
453-463 Washington Street, Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 867 Broadway, N. Y. | J. E. DITSON & CO. 1228 Chestnut St., Phila.

1892.

Harper's Weekly.

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S WEEKLY for the coming year will contain more attractive features, more and finer illustrations, and a greater number of articles of live, intense interest than will be found in any other periodical. Among these latter will be a series of articles on the twenty-five greatest cities of the world, including five hundred illustrations. The Columbian Exposition, the Army and Navy, great public events, discussions on land and sea, and the doings of the celebrated people of the day will be described and illustrated in an attractive and timely manner. The department of Amateur Sport will continue under the direction of CASPAR W. WHITNEY. The best of modern writers will contribute short stories, and the most distinguished artists will make the illustrations. The editorial articles of MR. GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS will remain as an especial attraction.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S WEEKLY	$4 00
HARPER'S MAGAZINE	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	2 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The volumes of the WEEKLY begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order.

Bound Volumes of HARPER'S WEEKLY for three years back, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7.00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of $1.00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW YORK.

KNABE PIANOS.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 48. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1840.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
J. C. GRANT, Publisher.
Rev. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY.—Remittances should be made only by money orders, express company orders, registered letters, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or merchants. Drafts on country banks occasion a loss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WEIR, M. D.

The Lord's Prayer.—No. 9.

BY REV. J. B. WALKER, D. D.

And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. The conjunction, "And lead us not into temptation," teaches that the forgiveness of sin is not enough; teaches us that we are weak and in continual peril, and in need of constant assistance and guidance. Temptation has two meanings. It means trial—trial that may be for the development and invigoration of our Christian graces. "God tempts no man to evil," but tries men; and this trial, from its exceeding value, is declared to be "precious," "more precious than gold." The early Christians used to say, as expressing their understanding of the meaning and purpose of Abraham's trial, that "God glorified Abraham"—that is, gave him a special opportunity of showing the fulness and completeness of his trust in God. It is not these trials that are meant to work out for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory that we pray against, but against being led into temptations to evil.

We pray that God's providences, that are always "in mercy sent," may not be perverted to our hurt by leading us into temptation to sin. We have all too often seen that beneficent providences, leading to health, success and prosperity, have been seized upon by him who seeks whom he may destroy, to lead us to self-adoring pride, to self-sufficiency and forgetfulness of God, and ultimate spiritual ruin.

In St. Augustine's time they were wont to read this petition thus, "Suffer us not to be led into temptation." This shows that at that period this was the common interpretation of these words, "Lead us not into temptation." Some have rendered it, "Abandon us not in temptation." We suppose the petition, "Lead us not into temptation," means that we desire that God will not, by his providences, lead us into such surroundings and circumstances as he sees would be dangerous sources of temptation. No doubt, our afflictions often come in answer to our prayers, because God sees such are our constitutional tendencies, that robust health would be an almost uncontrollable source of temptation. So many of us are kept in rather straitened circumstances because God sees that temporal prosperity might prove our spiritual loss, and possibly our final ruin; so he, in answer to our prayers that we may continue humble and spiritually minded, will not "lead us into" such circumstances as would defeat the fulfillment of our petitions. And so we pray that we may not "love the creature more than the Creator;" but God sees we are in imminent danger of doing so, and to save us from this form of idolatry he removes the too-much-loved ones and takes them to himself, and so lifts and draws our thoughts to the things spiritual and eternal. It is a most comforting and assuring statement that we "shall never be tempted above that we are able to bear," and that, "As our days, so shall be our strength."

But deliver us from evil. This petition voices the cry of all humanity. Men may differ about the nature of evil, and how they would be delivered from it; but in what they regard as evil, and the desire to be delivered from it, the cry is unanimous and universal. The first cry that the first breath of the new-born babe utters is a cry for deliverance; and the last groan and sigh of the aged patriarch, as he suffers and dies, is a cry for deliverance from evil. It breaks forth from the care-worn millionaire and from the wasted pauper in his miserable hut.

We cry, "Deliver us from evil," not evils, since all evil proceeds from sin. Sin hurled angels from heaven; sin has digged the pit and prison-house of the lost, has kindled the quenchless fires of the damned. It drove our father and mother from the bowers and blessedness of Eden; it has filled every eye with tears, wrung every heart with woes; has caused every pale and mortal sickness; has swept a hundred generations of men from the activities of life to the stillness and silence of the grave, and has made earth one vast sepulchre, and sound hollow to the tread.

We pray for deliverance from evil in all the manifold forms in which it blasts our joys. From the evils of corrupt and bad government; from the evil that turns homes into domestic hells; from evils that attack the body in a thousand forms of suffering; from evils that wound the spirit and make us inly bleed; from evil that festers and rankles in the heart, and seeks to separate us from God. Our prayer expresses our helplessness—"Ourselves we can not save;" and it expresses our faith in the help of Almighty Goodness.

Church Extension in Foreign Fields.

The Board of Church Extension has for nine years (the whole term of its existence) been expending its energies and its means in providing churches for our American congregations. Of the 2,216 grants made by the General and Conference Boards, all, with a very few exceptions, have been made to our own people. Almost the entire sum of our collections—amounting to more than $500,000—has been spent upon ourselves. A few donations have been made to the Indians, a few to the Germans, and a few to the Mexicans; but, compared with the amount of work done, the help afforded outside of our English-speaking people has been insignificant. We have been cultivating the home field; the old Conferences have been the beneficiaries of the Board.

This is unquestionably a good work. Looking back over it we feel the Boards have been justified in their appropriations. But we have now before us the question of help for other fields. There is a deeply-felt need for church-houses to accommodate our converts in Mexico, on the border, and in Japan. Our missionaries in these fields are working bravely and courageously to give the pure gospel to the people; but few of them have a church in which to work. A church-house belonging to us is the rare exception in these mission fields. Under the most favorable circumstances they are compelled to pay exorbitant rates for very inferior houses. The little society at Monterey, Mexico, pays $650 a year for a small house poorly suited to their needs. They can not always rent, even at unreasonable prices. The proprietors will rent for saloons and for other immoral uses; but they refuse the missionaries at any price. In the great city of Osaka, Japan, having over half a million inhabitants, our brethren are compelled to do all their work in a dark, damp house whose ceilings can be easily reached with the uplifted hand. Question: What can we expect for the work in such quarters?

The necessity for a house is precisely the same in all lands. All that can be said to enforce the importance of the building for the church in the States applies with equal, if not greater, force in these foreign fields. If we need houses, surely they do. We know that the house is a vital condition to our existence; and it is no less a condition of missionary success. We may send men to preach, and expend money and time and energy to bring the gospel to these people; but if they are left without the Christian church-house, all our expenditure will be in vain. Missionary work without church-building will excite a fitful spasm instead of generating a permanent life.

To supply this need is a part of the work of the Board of Church Extension. It is for the foreign as well as the home field. Bishop Keener has well said: "It has never occurred to me that the field of this Board is anything less than the field of Methodism. It is in the very nature of the movement that it should come to the support of our missionary work. . . . This is the true intent, and was the origin, of the Extension Board."

We now appeal to the church for a special donation to meet the demand in these two parts of our work. We have no thought of relaxing our efforts at home; but this is provided for in the regular assessments and collections. We propose this in addition:

1. Let everyone of our people who love the Lord Jesus make a birthday offering next year for the special purpose of building churches in the Mexican and Japanese Missions, and let this be in addition to the regular contributions for church extension.

2. Let each give as God has prospered him. We suggest that some of our thrifty people can well afford to give on their birthdays five dollars for each year of their age; many can give one dollar for each year; others can give fifty cents or twenty-five cents; while others, who are less able, and the children, all of them, can give a cent for each year.

If we can secure a general response from the church upon this plan for the year 1892, our Mexican and Japanese converts will have worthy houses for their work, and the cause of missions will receive an impulse above anything it has known before.

DAVID MORTON,
J. C. MORRIS,
Secretaries.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 10, 1891.
—Nashville Christian Advocate.

Millsaps College Notes.

The agent has not done much recently in the way of securing new subscriptions; but he has been busy with other duties, and the work is moving on encouragingly. Collections are beginning to come in more briskly, and all we need now is a determined effort upon the part of every man, woman and child in Mississippi to pay that note. Times have been hard, and the stringency still continues; but nobody doubts the ability of our people to pay the notes, most of which are for small amounts.

The places that have recently added to the endowment subscription are: McComb City, $41; Yazoo City, $216 50; Deasouville, $51.75. Total, $309.25.

"A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR MILLSAPS COLLEGE!"

Bishop Galloway suggests that on next Christmas morning every member of every Methodist family in the State of Mississippi bring to the breakfast table a Christmas present for Millsaps College.

Let us make this day of merry laughter, this day of happy associations, this day of holy memories, a day of unselfish benefaction!

May the handsome building, which the enterprise of the publisher of the ADVOCATE reproduced in the last issue of the paper, say to the thousands of readers of the ADVOCATE, "Christmas gift!" as when we were children we used to "catch" our parents and the servants and each other; and now, having been "caught," may the obligation be acknowledged and the "gift" be presented!

Speaking of the picture of the college, as seen in the last week's issue of the ADVOCATE, suggests that congratulations are in order upon the successful effort to give the ADVOCATE readers an idea of how our main building will look. The photograph was taken from the roughly finished perspective presented by the architect in the competition for plans, and is a very good piece of work; this, in turn, was finely reproduced by the photo-engraver, and, finally, the printer has done his work well.

Now, let the ADVOCATE readers look at it, admire it, and say, "I am going to help that college."

A. F. WATKINS.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. H. C. Morehead, Pickens, Miss., Nov. 21: "Notwithstanding the pressure in consequence of the low price of cotton, the Conference year closes well with us. We have gone forward in every department. While our assessments for connectional claims were increased in several of them, we are paying one hundred cents on all, and several will be at a premium. The pastor's salary is fifteen per cent. more than last year; the presiding elder is fully paid. Our Sunday-schools have kept pace with other improvements. We have had three in operation most of the year, with fair attendance, and an improvement in the preparation and recitation of the lessons. Five prayer meetings, full of interest, have been no mean factor in the accomplishment of the gracious results. Many valued members have been added to the church. The spiritual development of many has been a source of inspiration. The parsonage and each of the churches have felt the influence of the rising tide. May the Lord of harvests continue to bless the good people of Richland!"

Rev. W. C. Harris, Arcola and Hollandale circuit, Nov. 16: "Am closing my second year here. Have nothing very encouraging to report. Only two additions on profession this year. Finances very much behind. Short crops and low prices the cause (in part, at least). I want to say, Amen! to Bro. Cameron on 'Evangelists,' and to Bro. Phillips on 'Things That Ought to Be Changed.'"

Rev. T. L. Lallance, Grand Cane, La., Nov. 16: "We have closed our last meeting, and I will now report Grand Cane circuit. We have been wonderfully blessed in all our meetings but one (we have had seven). Total number of additions, eighty. On Oct. 23 Sister King, of New Orleans, stepped over a day, and succeeded in organizing a Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society, which, I think, will do a good work. On the whole, the Lord is with us, and the work goes on."

Rev. D. W. Babb, Grenada, Miss., Nov. 17: "I sent my report of circuit some six weeks ago. It has not appeared yet. I suppose an oversight; maybe too long—if so, shorten it. I would not say a word about it, but some of my people think they ought to be known. One of them asked me some time ago why I had not written up my work. I replied we had fallen so far short of what ought to have been accomplished, I did not feel like it would be worth the paper it would be put upon."

[We suppose the report referred to by Bro. Babb came while we were at the Ecumenical, and was crowded over and out by the reports from that body. We are sorry if anybody thinks there was an intentional slight. Nothing is further from our purpose.—EDITOR.]

Rev. J. A. Randolph, Clarksdale, Miss., Nov. 20: "We have had thirty-eight accessions to the church, which is an increase of over forty per cent. We have been able to have the title to all our church property made clear. We have secured a lot 140x140 feet, well located for our new church. We have nearly ten thousand dollars in good notes—one half payable Dec. 1, 1891; the other Feb. 1, 1892—for the erection of a new church, besides our old church property, which is valued at two thousand dollars. We were anxious to let the contract for our church before Conference; but, on account of an unavoidable delay in the architect's work, we will not be able to do so. The collections ordered by Conference are in hand, and the stewards are looking after the salary. We will be glad to meet you again at Conference."

Rev. K. M. Harrison, Booneville and Rienzi, Nov. 14: "We are just closing out our fourth year on this charge. Our churches are in good condition. Our congregations have been larger this year than formerly. Our prayer meetings are well attended. We have received this present year, on profession of faith, 13; baptized 9 adults and 3 infants; received by letter, 15; dismissed, 5; lost by death, 3. About 80 per cent. of salary is paid; hope to receive the remainder. We are just recovering from a spell of fever, by which we lost nearly a month's time. This has set us back on our Conference collections; yet we have in hand about 90 per cent., and believe we will get the balance. We have had four pleasant and profitable years here, with a good people, in a good parsonage. Bro. Robert Lee Harris, of Texas, has recently preached us two series of sermons on the higher Christian life, which has, doubtless, done us good. Our term is out—we must go; but where, we can not say. The preacher who is sent to Booneville will be lucky."

Rev. J. W. Luter, Brooksville circuit, Nov. 20: "My little boy says he wants me to write an article for the ADVOCATE. He looks over the paper every week for the revival notices with much interest. I hope and pray that some day he will be a preacher, and write for the paper. One more week, and I will have finished my fourth year on this (the Brooksville) circuit. They have all been pleasant years; but this, the last, has been the most pleasant of the four. We have had good meetings at all the churches (four in number). About twenty have professed faith in Christ, and about that number have been added to the church. The first year we built a new parsonage, one of the best in the Conference. Have finished one church and repaired another. So we have four good houses of worship and four good congregations for this prairie country. This is a good circuit. There are many good, clever people living here. I am glad to know that many of the members are moving upward in religion and church work on all the lines. We have lost heavily by death and removals, but still hold our own at all the points, and advancing in some places. The preacher who will be read out by the Bishop at our Conference will have no cause to cry, but may thank God that his lines have fallen to him in pleasant places, and that his is a goodly heritage. So, on the fifth Sunday I will bid Brooksville circuit adieu until we meet beyond the river."

Rev. J. S. Parker, Hattiesburg, Miss.: "As the Conference year is drawing to a close, please allow me space for a brief resume of the work on Hattiesburg charge. There have been something over eighty accessions to the church. The assessments will be up in full. We have one of the largest and best organized Sunday-schools here, at Hattiesburg, in the Conference, with a Sunday-school missionary society, which has done an exceptionally fine work this year. It has a membership of sixty-seven. Mrs. Parker has recently organized a Woman's Missionary Society, which is moving off finely. The Ladies' Aid Society meets regularly once a week, and has its work well in hand. It is composed of faithful, consecrated women, who are alive to the interests of the church. We have a fine choir, which, under the skillful leadership of Prof. Wm. H. Smith, and with an organist of long experience, discourses sweet music from our own new hymnal. We have in contemplation the thorough repairing and remodeling of our house of worship in the near future. Hattiesburg is also an aspirant for the Annual Conference of 1892, and I am authorized to ask for it at our Annual Conference. Let all the preachers be prepared to vote for it. At other points on the work the outlook is hopeful. I feel that I can say, Hattiesburg charge is coming to the front. However, let no brother imagine from the above that this is the preacher's paradise. The 'devil is still unchained' here, as elsewhere, and sin in multitudinous forms lurks among us, and the man who serves this work needs to cry mightily to God for help against the strongholds of Satan."

Robert L. Moore, L. P., Morton, Miss.: "Our little town is progressing nicely in the line of Christianity. While some of our members are not living fully up to their vows, we are doing well, indeed, considering our small population. I venture to say there is not a more liberal people anywhere, and we haven't many rich ones among us, either. There is one thing especially we lack—that is, a deeper interest in the Sunday-school. This done, then we could boast of as fine a school as there is on the line of the A. and V. railway, according to our numbers, etc. Rev. B. N. Hatch, the Baptist State evangelist, held a meeting several days in our church at this place, last week. This is Bro. Hatch's second visit among us, having held a meeting last October a year. He has won the hearts of our people, and is always welcome. We are in great hopes that he has been of much benefit to our town. May God's Spirit accompany him in the preaching of his Word! On last Sunday (Nov. 15) a Baptist organization was formed in our church (they not having a building here as yet) by Revs. Dr. J. T. Christian, J. B. Gambrell and W. E. Dear. They started with thirteen members. Dr. Christian preached both morning and night, and excellent sermons they were, to the delight of the congregation. We are in need of a Baptist Church, so we Methodists can have something to stir around for. Not long since we had the Rev. M. A. Hobson, a colored brother, to preach for us. This negro is very popular among the whites, and it seems that he is liked by all who know him. It is somewhat hinted that our beloved pastor, D. P. Bradford, may be made presiding elder of this district at our next Annual Conference; but it is generally the wish of the members that he be returned to this charge again. We regret to have to part with Bro. Johnston, the present presiding elder; but we must conform to the laws of our Discipline, as his four years' term will soon expire, and we only desire to have another like him. May the Spirit of Christ abide with him wherever he may be sent, is the prayer of your humble servant."

Rev. W. E. Ballard, Natchez, Miss.: "Some things from Natchez may be in order, especially as this pastor has made no communications to the ADVOCATE this year. Indeed, heretofore a letter from him would have been only a sad and gloomy one. Seized in the grip of la grippe just after Conference, he was held fast in bed for four long weeks. Only a partial recovery was experienced for a little while, when I was prostrated again with the most distressing symptoms of heart disease, organic valvular trouble, rendering it almost impossible to lie down and rest for any length of time. All the vital organs seemed in full sympathy with the heart in its trouble and labor. About the first of April the dropsy in body and lower limbs set in, and continued with more or less intensity, confining me almost entirely to my house. From then until September I was able to do very little pastoral work or preaching; but about six or seven weeks ago the dropsical symptoms began to disappear, and for one month I have been comparatively free from it, and am now able to walk about town and attend to some church work. My appetite is good, food as sweet as when a boy, and the old distress is so far removed that I can lie down all night and sleep like a tired child—for all of which I feel to say every day, 'Thank the Lord, from whom cometh every good and perfect gift.' I verily believe my recovery, so far, has been in answer to the prayers of God's people, added to ours, for medicines seemed to do me no good. From utter despair I have now begun to be hopeful of a final recovery, so far as to be useful to the church again. I need hardly say that my condition at present is a marvel and astonishment to my friends, the doctors and others, who thought, with myself, that my days were well-nigh numbered. But enough of myself. I will write about Jefferson Street Church. When the pastor was disabled, and the doctors reported to them that there was little hope of his filling the pulpit for months, the Board of Stewards, with a large-hearted liberality and true and genuine Christian sympathy, said, 'We are glad that he is with us, that we may take care of him,' and promptly acted in the premises by corresponding with the Bishop and presiding elder, and secured, for a while, the services of Bro. A. F. Watkins as assistant. When he could stay no longer, the pulpit was filled from Sabbath to Sabbath, as by divine direction, by the brethren around and at a distance, so that there was not a single Sabbath without service until June, when Bro. J. M. Rawley, of Arkansas, was appointed by Bishop Galloway for two months, whose preaching and genial manners won many admirers and friends, and did the church good. After he left for Vanderbilt, Bro. W. H. Lewis, of our Conference, was appointed until Conference. He is with us at present, and preaching fine sermons, and making himself felt in the homes of our people for good. With each of these assistants the Board of Stewards have devised liberal things, and the church has responded promptly and paid them good salaries. The church has kept in good working condition all the year; prayer meetings have been kept up, congregations good, and I believe the church will come out at the end of the year stronger, more united, more consecrated and harmonious than ever before. She has bravely met all the demands made upon her resources, financially and otherwise, cheerfully and uncomplainingly, besides raising extra money for the poor, insuring the church for three years, and almost cancelling a large debt on the parsonage. I believe that all assessments and obligations to Conference and for pastoral support will be met in full at Conference. So you see, Mr. Editor, that Jefferson Street Church, though burdened all the year with an afflicted pastor, has increased in strength, grown in liberality, enlarged in sympathy, and developed more of the spirit of Christ, and is not at all discouraged, but will take her place as a first-class appointment, and one of the most desirable in the Conference. To the Lord, the gracious Head of the church, be ascribed all praise for all good bestowed upon us. We are observing the week of prayer ordered by the Ecumenical Conference this week, and expect a pentecostal time to follow."

OUR CONTRIBUTORS.

Kobe Station, Japan Mission.

Report of pastor in charge, Kobe station, Japan Mission. Read at annual meeting, Aug. 26-31, 1891.

MISSION TREASURER.

The duties of treasurer of the mission—involving considerable bookkeeping and a large amount of correspondence—have consumed much time and strength during the year, and have interfered materially with my work as preacher in charge of Kobe station. No one can do this double work, and give his best strength to both. One or the other must suffer as a consequence.

KOBE STATION.

Although nearly forty names have been added to our rolls, the statistics will show a small net loss for the year. The Matsuyama and Tadotsu appointments, whose members had been held temporarily on our list, were organized last Fall into a circuit by themselves, and twenty-four names were removed at one time, thus causing what appears to be a loss to the work, but which is, in reality, a gain, in that a new church has been organized.

Bro. Datte, the assistant pastor, has given his earnest and hearty support to all the labors of the year. He has done efficient and valuable work in pastoral visitation, the larger part of which has devolved on him. The pulpit has been filled alternately by us both, and he has led many of the prayer meetings. He has also served as my interpreter, and for Mrs. Towson in her ladies' prayer meeting and in her frequent visitations among the members of the church. It has been with much regret that we have heard of Bro. Datte's determination to leave us this Fall. We can not but believe that he came to us in the order of Providence, and that he has filled a gap in our work which would have been most difficult to fill without him. Our prayers shall ever follow him wherever he may go.

Regular services, consisting of preaching Sunday morning and evening, Wednesday night prayer meeting, Sunday-school lesson study, ladies' prayer meeting, Bible and probationers' classes, and cottage prayer meetings, have been maintained during the year. The attendance at most of these services has been good, and the interest of an encouraging nature.

During the first quarter of the year the pastor met the Board of Stewards and after prayerful and careful consideration of the question, a forward step was taken in the direction of self-support, and it is with pleasure that he now reports that there has been made a monthly payment to the assistant pastor of five dollars, on the part of the native church, amounting in all to sixty dollars for the year. This fact is a very encouraging one, and is worthy to be mentioned among the substantial victories gained this year. It will necessitate the opening of a new column in our statistical table—that of native self-support—a column which, let us hope, will be used more and more as the years pass on, until, at last, the church in Japan will reach an independent position.

At our third quarterly meeting we had the great pleasure of licensing Bro. Kogoro Usaki, one of our theological graduates, to preach the gospel. He stood a most thorough examination, and received our unanimous sanction to go out in the Master's name. May God use him as the honored instrument of the conversion of many souls, and in doing a great work for the Master in the land of his birth!

The year has not been without some results, without some tokens of the divine blessing. Good has been done. Many have been convicted of sin, and a number have asked us to pray for them. Frequently from six to twelve have stood up in token of their desires to lead Christian lives. A few of these have been converted, and others are still among the enquirers. Many of the older members have given unmistakable evidence of growth in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Our members have had several clear and undoubted answers to their prayers this year, and by this the faith of many has been confirmed. There have been some blessed seasons of prayer and communion together, and "our hearts have burned within us while he talked with us by the way." Some of our older Christians are sweetly ripening for heaven, and "the gladsome day when he will come" for them can not be afar off. (Within eight days of the writing of this, two of our members died in the full assurance of faith.—W. E. T.) Not the least of the work of the year has been the spiritual improvement of the church.

In conclusion: The work of "planting and training a Christian Church" in a new land is certainly the greatest labor that ever filled the heart and brain of mortal man. "The care of the churches" might well receive the thought and time of an archangel. "Who is sufficient for these things?" Only those who have received power after that the Holy Ghost has come upon them. "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord."

The history of a year's work for God can not be written with pen and ink; moral and spiritual results can not be weighed or measured; the outcome of a year's labor in this land will never be known until we stand in the judgment and receive our final award. This is certain, that the year has not been what it should have been. It has fallen far short; there is nothing in it to build or foster pride; "we are still unprofitable servants." What has been done has only been by the mercy of God, by his blessing upon most feeble efforts, and even these will not stand the scrutiny of the last day without the softening shadows of the cross of Christ, the atoning efficacy of a Savior's blood. W. E. TOWSON.

Kobe, Japan, Aug. 29, 1891.

Rev. P. A. Johnston Talks Plainly.

About four weeks ago I started for St. Louis, hoping to extend my visit to Washington City and take in the Ecumenical; but, like many others, in many things, I was doomed to disappointment. After reaching St. Louis I went up into North Missouri, Mrs. J. being then on a visit to relatives and friends. I have but little inclination and time to write of that great land. But it is certainly a fine farming country. The crops were abundant; the people thrifty, happy and healthy. While there I had the pleasure of uniting in holy matrimony Mr. John S. Sweet, of Hamilton, Ohio, and Miss Pearl B. Hughes, of Laddonia, Mo.

While in St. Louis I visited the great fair. I also went into the Exposition. The merchants of St. Louis have a knack of drawing great crowds to see their advertisements; not read them, but see them. For twenty-five cents you can see them in a short while in artistic shape what it would take you several days to see on Broadway and other great streets of the city. It was worth the money. In the art hall was Paul Philoppoteaux's great masterpiece, "Christ entering Jerusalem"—I suppose, beyond question, the greatest religio-historic painting ever placed before the public, "Christ before Pilate" not excepted. I sat for more than an hour studying this great painting. "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, I will draw all men unto me;" and this is fulfilled. Here in the nineteenth century men are studying how to make Christ attractive to men, and he is drawing men to him now as never before.

While in Hannibal I met the Rev. John A. Beazle, pastor of Park Methodist Church. I learned from him that there was to be an educational convention at Fayette, Oct. 27, in the interest of Methodism in the State. Bro. Beazle outlined to me his mind on the subject. I see in last week's St. Louis Advocate an account of the convention. I was somewhat disappointed, as I expected to see Bro. Beazle's ideas extensively discussed. His idea was substantially this: There should be one college in the State that could thoroughly educate; a high school for each presiding elder's district, with Conference Boards to give a curriculum to these schools, and when a student compassed the course of study in the lower schools a certificate would enter him in the college proper. His idea would do away with a preparatory department in the college. His idea is correct, in my judgment. As they are suffering in Missouri, so we are suffering in Mississippi. Our children who claim to be educated, when among real educated people, show off badly. As Methodists, we are suffering at that point. Now, a suggestion: Let the Methodists of Louisiana rally to Centenary and make her the strong center of education. Let her be endowed richly. Let there be high schools in each presiding elder's district that will be feeders to her classic halls. We will see to it in Mississippi that Millsaps shall be high and thorough in her work. We have already one or two high schools in the Mississippi Conference that are doing good work in preparing students to enter Millsaps when opened. Let Dr. Hunnicutt and the president of Millsaps (whoever he may be), in connection with the Conference Boards, establish a curriculum for all these schools, so there may be uniformity What is applicable to these male colleges and schools is applicable to the female colleges. But I suppose anyone who would have the temerity to suggest which one should be the college of the Conference might expect his scalp to be taken, for it would certainly be dynamite in the camp; but I respectfully ask, Are we not suffering for the want of thoroughness, because we have so many female colleges in the State? I do not wish to be understood as fighting any of these schools. It is the system we are under. There is one female college in this State that is suffering for the want of patronage, because there are so many colleges surrounding it. These schools are doing a good work, but my objection is this: The most of them are making the impression that their pupils are educated when they come from their halls, when, in fact, they are hardly prepared to enter the freshman class of the best colleges and universities. Let us face the facts in the case. I would not undervalue what is being done. This is a moving and progressive age. Some of our best families are being lost to us and sending their sons and daughters to other schools to get what we, under our present environments, are not able to give. Methodism has always been equal to emergencies. She can meet them now. We are suffering at another point for the want of good high schools in every neighborhood. Our people have to send their sons and daughters off to college before they are ready. This discourages the child and disappoints the parent. The results are unsatisfactory at all points. There has been so much said lately, especially at the Ecumenical, and everywhere else, on the subject of education, that I suppose this will hardly attract attention; so I will stop. P. A. JOHNSTON.

Forest, Miss.

Christian Perfection.

"Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."—Matt. v, 48.

Dr. Boland and others, I think, have done valuable services for the church in overthrowing, as it seems to me, the residue theory of regeneration. With this theory falls the second blessing theory of sanctification. Even if it could be shown that regeneration does not cleanse from all sin, the inference is not necessary that a second blessing of like nature is required for that purpose. An unequivocal "Thus saith the Lord" would be necessary in order to oblige man to seek the second blessing in the sense in which it is urged by some sanctificationists. This we do not find. If it be claimed that this writer does not find the above-mentioned "Thus saith the Lord," because he has not experienced the second blessing, it may be said in reply that such reasoning is very unsound. Perception of an obligation to seek and experience and a perception of the nature or characteristics of that experience are two things widely different. An unregenerate man, though he knows nothing of the experience of regeneration, can easily perceive the obligation to seek it. "Ye must be born again," and kindred Scriptures impose the obligation. If this were not so, our preaching would be in vain. The very idea of obedience presupposes obligation perceived. If a man is under obligation to seek a second blessing, it may be perceived by him in the teachings of God's Word. To suppose the contrary is absurd.

While it seems to this writer that Dr. Boland's book is irrefutable so far as his dealings with the residuo theory of regeneration and second blessing theory of sanctification is concerned, I hope I will not be regarded as presumptuous when I say that I think his own theory of perfection is somewhat unsound. He says, as well as I remember, that perfection is the result of growth—maturity.

One objection to this theory is its vagueness. "Gilderoy" said, in advocating it through the columns of the ADVOCATE some time ago, that one can not know when he is perfect. Is it reasonable to suppose that God would make a requirement of us in which we could not know whether we are obeying or not? I think not.

Again, the command of our Savior indicates a duty to be performed at once. Postponement would be disobedience. I am commanded to be perfect now. It is true that Paul says, "Let us go on unto perfection." (Heb. vi, 1.) In Phil. iii, 12, the same writer says that he was not perfect, though clothed with all the authority of an apostle.

Dr. Clarke says, substantially, in commenting on the last cited passage, that the perfection spoken of in it is the perfection of being crowned in heaven—completing the race. Now, if the circumstances and context justify such an interpretation of the one passage, they justify the same interpretation of the other. It has been said, and I think truthfully, that the Epistle to the Hebrews was written to keep them from apostatizing.

I am inclined to the opinion that Christian perfection is a full consecration of ourselves to God's service. This is what Christ required of the rich young man. (Matt. xix, 21.) The imperfection of Solomon is instructive in this particular. (I. Kings, xi, 4.) I refer the reader also to Deut. xviii, 13.

This theory of perfection does not antagonize the idea of growth. It rather ensures it. It is safe. For if one is thus consecrated, if there be any second blessing, he will attain it. If there be any growth in grace and knowledge, it is ensured. It is possible, for no one will be so absurd as to say that a person can not do the best he can in the exercise of faith, self-denial or any other duty, or in the enjoyment of any privilege. God perfectly exercises his powers. We should perfectly exercise ours.

It seems to me that the highest profession we can make is that we have the witness of the Spirit. The utmost that can be said of those wholly sanctified, so far as the approbation of God is concerned, is that they are blameless. (I. Thess. v, 23.) As much can be said of those simply in Christ Jesus. (Rom. viii, 1.)

If anyone should charge me with not being in harmony with Wesley, I would say in reply that I believe there are few men more fully in harmony with him than I am. I believe he was the greatest man that has lived since the days of the apostles. Wesley believed strongly in the fallibility of man and in the infallibility of the Holy Scriptures. So does this writer.

MINOR.

A Macedonian Cry from Gross Tete and False River Circuit.

The members of the Louisiana Conference are perfectly familiar with the name of the work that forms the caption of this paper, and most of them, perhaps, who have not passed the primary stages of itinerancy, and are reasonably certain of a station appointment, have no doubt mentally, if not orally, expressed the hope that the presiding Bishop of the Annual Conference would see fit, in his wisdom and discretion, not to appoint them to a charge so prolific of privations and hardships, and at the same time so destitute of gratifying results. They have heard of the indifference of the teeming population to all that is pure and good; of the almost unanimous tendency to desecrate the Lord's day and to employ its sacred hours in the transaction of business or in the pursuit of pleasure rather than in attendance upon divine services; of the almost impassable roads that thread their miry lengths through virgin forests, whose dark recesses reverberate only the songs of birds and the wierd notes of the untamed animals who find freedom and security in their unexplored depths.

You have, perhaps, learned through the reports of discouraged and weary itinerants, that a pure and undefiled religion is not indigenous to the soil, but that the most careful and painstaking husbandry is required to keep the few scattered plants of Christianity from wilting and shriveling before the simoon of vice that is constantly sweeping over that moral Sahara. It is a lamentable fact that these forbidding conditions, together with many others equally unpromising, still exist.

The membership roll of the circuit bears the names of about eighty-five persons of various ages and conditions of life, and, I might add, of divers opinions as to the duties and responsibilities of the professing Christian; due, in some instances, to parental example and in others to daily contact with the multiplied forms of vice that unconsciously lose their hideous aspect as we become accustomed to their view. Strain imagination to its severest tension, and still conception will fall far short of the situation I shall briefly describe.

The limits of this work—if we include all the territory unoccupied by us, and, with one exception, by any other Protestant denomination—extend from Port Allen on the south to Red river on the north, and from the Mississippi as the eastern boundary to the Atchafalaya as the western limit. It is enough to make Methodism blush to state that almost the entire country embraced within these lines is densely populated with a people whose only spiritual nourishment has been meted out in insufficient quantity or quality by the Romish clergy, and it requires but a glance from an earnest Christian to perceive that the process has about starved the soul, and that without a radical change of treatment it can never attain to the "full measure of the stature of Christ."

Penance and absolution, those twin errors, form so thick a veil between this people and the True Light that no ray can penetrate the darkness until the true servants of the Master shall defy the power of man and tear to tatters the mask that has so long eclipsed the light of gospel truth. I think it would fall far short of a liberal estimate to say that this circuit contains 5,000 white persons who have never heard a gospel sermon.

On the False River Island, where I believe a Protestant sermon has never been preached since the sun first kissed its charming face, there are, at least, 2,500 of our fellow-beings sitting in the darkness of error and superstition.

Brethren, if we love the Lord, here is the place to show it. Almost under the shadow of our church, almost within sound of the preacher's voice, as he proclaims the abundance of God's love and mercy, this vast multitude is grovelling in the very lowest depths of ignorance and depravity, and rapidly hurrying to the judgment-bar of God, there, perhaps, to accuse us of infidelity to the trust reposed in us.

Foreign fields by their toils and privations and dangers allure us; and with commendable zeal, heroism and self-sacrifice we go forth under Emmanuel's banner to conquer them for God. As a church, this is part of our duty, but only a part. The ground within our own enclosures is covered with tares and bristling with thorns It will amply repay the cost of reclamation; and why should we not reclaim it?

The False River circuit is replete with all the elements of privation and danger that characterize the most cheerless and uninviting of our foreign mission fields. Every victory you win will be a well-earned one. The enemy is entrenched in his stronghold, and nothing but the most determined assaults and the most unfaltering courage will dislodge him. The men who undertake the conquest of this country must be impervious to fear, consecrated to the work in hand, and prepared to wade through difficulties and dangers up to the martyr's crown. It may be asserted that these people are beyond our reach, but the experience of our preacher will prove to the contrary. The strenuous opposition to evangelistic work will not come from the laity. If approached in an intelligent manner by consecrated servants of God, many of them will listen patiently and even eagerly to the words of life; and eternity alone can tell what will be the harvest from seeds thus sown.

Our pastor is doing all that one man could do under the circumstances. His circuit, with its extended range and numerous appointments, keeps him busily occupied; but he never slights an opportunity of speaking a word for the Master, and his circle of pastoral visiting embraces people of every class and of every shade of religious belief. To all he preaches the gospel as only a man can do who has the indwelling of the Holy Spirit, and feels the full weight of the responsibility that rests upon him.

The true spirit of Methodism is aggressiveness, and wherever it finds an unoccupied field there it should plant its ensign and never remove it until the Master's title is recorded in heaven.

Brethren, the object of this paper is to disclose a state of affairs of which I believe you to be, at least, partially ignorant, and to open up to these deluded people an avenue of escape from the servile bondage in which they now languish. Help us to convert and to incorporate them into our own body, and then, freed from the shackles of superstitious error, they will enroll themselves under the banner of our King and march with us to the destruction of Satan's empire and the upbuilding of the kingdom of God.

T. J. REAMES.

Gross Tete and False River Circuit.

"Things That Ought to Be Changed."

This caption calls attention to three pointed articles by members of the North Mississippi Conference, published in the ADVOCATE of Oct. 15 and 22, and Nov. 5. Text: Our districts are too large. Permit "Mississippi" to say, Amen! and exhort.

In the article, of Oct. 15, the writer states that in his Conference "for the fourth round, forty-two quarterly meetings to be held without any Sunday, and one to be held by an associate pastor. This is a calamity, and ought to be remedied speedily."

The fourth round in the Mississippi Conference shows forty quarterly meetings are to be held without a Sunday, and fifteen with only a fraction of a Sunday. Fifty-five quarterly meetings—nearly one-half the pastoral charges in the entire Conference—without the services of the presiding elder on Sunday in one round! The necessity for such hasty and inefficient and unsatisfactory work "is a calamity, and ought to be remedied speedily." Such large districts are an injustice and "calamity" to the presiding elders, depriving them of opportunity for systematic reading, as absolutely necessary for a presiding elder as for a pastor in charge.

Sixteen to twenty-one quarterly meeting-Conferences to hold each round, and the incredible number of miles to travel, by the most direct route, to make the round, forces the presiding elder to neglect the quarterly meeting, hold the Quarterly Conference, and vanish by first train—possibly Sunday train, or mule—to meet next appointment. This necessity prevents the usefulness of the presiding elder, brings the office into disrepute, and renders inefficient, unpopular and burdensome an important officer in the itinerancy.

During these necessarily short, hurried and unsatisfactory visits, it is a simple impossibility for any presiding elder to obtain correct, important and essential information; consequently it is a simple impossibility for a presiding elder without such information to properly represent the charges or pastors. To obtain reliable revelations time is required.

The quarterly visits of the elder should be inspirations of power, and are such if orthodox in time and service. The increased momentum of pastor and people demonstrates the importance and value of a real quarterly meeting. Extraordinary talent and skill can not prevent an Eighth-Question tumor killing the office of presiding elder.

In the Mississippi Conference, with the present number of pastoral charges, there can be ten districts of ample dimensions and financial strength—eight of the ten containing twelve pastoral charges, one fifteen, and one sixteen; or nine districts, seven with fourteen, one with fifteen, and one with sixteen charges. Our Conference can be harmoniously re-districted, giving nine or ten districts with a certain, comfortable salary for the presiding elder the first year, and the assurance of annual increase. The convincing figures can be furnished. Let us have ten districts, if possible; certainly not less than nine. MISSISSIPPI.

"Things That Ought to Be Changed."

I write also to give my hearty endorsement to the views on the above heading, as they appeared in your issues of Oct. 15, over the nom de plume, "A Member of the N. M. C.," and Nov. 5, by "Another Member." I would simply call attention to the two articles. Hope they will be carefully read and considered by the appointing power at the proper time.

Many years ago, when Rev. Jas. A. Godfrey—late of the Mississippi Conference—was my presiding elder, I saw much of him. He got acquainted with the people, visited with me from house to house, helped me in my pastoral work, etc. The people loved him, and rallied to his support. We were all glad when the time came for Bro. Godfrey to be with us. Sometimes he would stay and preach, and visit for five or six days at a time.

For the last six years I have seen but little of my presiding elders, and my people have seen less of them. They usually come Friday and leave Monday. Sometimes they come Saturday morning and leave Sunday evening. My people complain that they don't know our presiding elder. I am glad to know some of our presiding elders do more than preach one or two sermons, hold Quarterly Conference, get their part of the quarterage, and leave for home.

We want our best business men, best preachers in the presiding elder's office. Then we want men who can stay from home long enough to get acquainted with the people. Let us have them.

A MEMBER OF THE MISS. CONF.

A Parenthesis or Two.

In my last chapter I failed to mention the name of Rev. Richard L. Blanks among the faithful local preachers in the Meridian district. I reckon it was well, for he deserves special mention, not only for promptly meeting his appointments, but also for loyalty to his church, cordial co-operation with the preacher in charge, and efficiency as Sunday-school superintendent at Suqualena Church, Meridian circuit.

The best attendance on the part of official members at the Quarterly Conferences during the year, and especially on the fourth round (so far as held), has been on the DeKalb circuit, and the poorest attendance has been on the Shuhuta circuit. The most liberal contributors per capita are the Daleville brethren, while Manasseh, Clarke and Marion circuits are at the other end of the line.

The DeKalb circuit—Rev. R. A. Breland, P. C.—will report the largest number of infants baptized during the year, and, perhaps, the greatest number of accessions on profession of faith. The results at East End, Meridian, have surpassed the expectations of the most sanguine friends of the movement, and forever silenced those who looked upon the appointment of a preacher to that work as ill-advised and premature. Enterprise and Stonewall station, Lauderdale, Linwood, Vossburgh, Meridian, Winchester and State Line circuits all show decided improvement. If Waynesboro and Binnsville, Daleville and Porterville do not come out with flying colors, the fault can not be laid at the doors of W. B. Hines, D. C. Langford, J. M. Pugh and George Bancroft, who are all good men and true, "full of the Holy Ghost and of faith," faithful pastors and loyal Methodists.

So rare are such incidents in the life of a presiding elder, that it ought to be recorded that a good brother from the country brought a bushel, or more, of fine sweet potatoes, and left them with his compliments, and not to be credited as quarterage account either. He was from Suqualena. During the Summer another thoughtful brother from Pleasant Hill several times brought fruits and vegetables, and left them with his compliments at the presiding elder's "own hired house."

So far I have found neither reason nor excuse for traveling on a Sunday train, and the second year of my presiding eldership draws to a close. I wonder if it will be my last?

Dr. Geo. G. Smith's meeting continues at Central Church, Meridian, with increasing interest and power. About forty little folks have applied for membership, and the parents are becoming interested. Great good is being done.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

THE WATER LILY.

BY MARY F. BUTTS.

O star on the breast of the river!
O marvel of bloom and grace!
Did you fall straight down from heaven
Out of the sweetest place?

You are white as the thoughts of an angel,
Your heart is steeped in the sun;
Did you grow in the golden city,
My pure and radiant one?

Nay, nay, I fell not out of heaven,
None gave me my saintly white;
It slowly grew in the darkness,
Down in the dreary night.

From the ooze of the silent river
I won my beauty and grace;
While souls fall not, O my poet;
They rise to the sweetest place.

THE LOTTERY.

Settling the Lottery Question.

As it has been suggested by a few persons that the fight against the lottery combination of money, treachery and intrigue is a hopeless one, and that, having opposed it thus far by all honorable means, it is as well just to let them have the lottery and let the strife be quieted, I desire to submit a few reasons why the adoption of the "revenue amendment" will not settle the strife, but will, instead, perpetuate it for a period of, at least, twenty-five years.

1. It is in itself a disturbing element. (a) Congress has so asserted by excluding lottery advertisements from the mails. (b) Gov. McEnery so declared in his last message to the Legislature. (c) A committee of that Legislature so declared in a report submitted to the House of Representatives.

2. It is a matter which involves the conscience of the people. (a) Archbishop Janssens so declared when offered money to pay a debt against his Arch-Episcopal Diocese. (b) The Protestant Episcopal Assembly, last Summer, in New Orleans, so declared. (c) The Louisiana State Sunday-school Convention so declared it. (d) The Louisiana Conference of the M. E. Church, South, so affirms. (e) The Louisiana State Baptist Convention has affirmed the same fact.

3. Conscience can not be rocked to sleep, intimidated, nor bribed—a few may, but of the masses, never. (a) The ecclesiastical revolutions of the sixteenth century prove this fact. (b) The war of 1776-1782 avers the truth of this proposition. (c) The slaughter of 1,000,000 of men in order to free 4,000,000 of slaves—1860-1864—proves this assertion.

4. The lottery is antagonistic to every moral influence in the land. (a) It is universally admitted to be a vice. (b) The one great aim of all institutions having the moral welfare of the human race as their object is the suppression of vice.

NOTE.—The American government stands pledged, by every constitutional bond, to protect the morals of the people. This is the one end and aim of every church, of every Young Men's Christian Association, of every Sunday-school, of every Conference and committee of Christian men working in their Christian organizations, of every properly organized day-school and college in Christendom.

Is it not the embodiment of silliness to suppose that the introduction of an element so universally antagonistic to every aim and principle of right can, by any possibility, bring quiet? It matters not how the question comes up, nor in what guise it may be presented—it is the same disquieting factor which yields to nothing except the absolutely irresistible.

Though an angel from heaven be seen in the air, if this disturbing element be found concealed beneath his wings, he is an angel of discord, and not of peace.

The overthrow of the Louisiana State Lottery is the only chance for peace within our borders, and the only hope of honest, free government for our children. J. A. PARKER.

Anti-Lottery Meeting in New York City.

A few days ago a large and enthusiastic Anti-Lottery meeting was held in New York City. Quite a number of prominent persons made addresses, and the meeting adopted the following

DECLARATION:

We, citizens of New York, in mass-meeting assembled, appeal to our fellow-citizens throughout the nation to join in the decisive contest now waging against the Louisiana Lottery. The issue is a national one. The lottery was born on Northern soil, is controlled largely by Northern capitalists and is supported by Northern funds. It boasts that 93 per cent. of its receipts are drawn from the people of other States than Louisiana. In spite of national law it continues to use the United States mails in drawing on the hard earnings of labor throughout the nation, and it uses without hindrance for this purpose our great national carrying companies.

Under thin disguises and in defiance of law it advertises its specious schemes in Northern as in Southern journals. It sets at defiance the laws of every other State; if it continues to exist it will draw its income from every other State; if it is defeated in Louisiana there will be left for it no refuge within the boundaries of the nation. The evils it inflicts are numerous and great. It impoverishes the many that it may enrich the few. It incites the gambling mania, America's national bane and peril. It is now attempting to bribe a sovereign State by an unparalleled corruption fund of thirty-one and a quarter millions. It thus demonstrates its readiness to corrupt whosoever is corruptible, in press, church or Legislature.

It assumes the lying maxim that "every man has his price," and the only service it has ever rendered the community is in the demonstration which the heroic resistance to it has offered of the unpurchasable integrity of those of our fellow-citizens of Louisiana who are engaging in a life and death struggle with it.

We call upon the people of the nation to extend to these patriots their sympathy and their financial aid. We demand of Congress, without regard to party affiliation, the passage of such further laws, under the provisions of the Constitution respecting the regulation of interstate commerce, as may be practicable to prevent the transportation by private corporations of the advertisements and the tickets of the lottery company and the money of its victims.

Among the speakers was Hon. A. S. Hewitt, ex-mayor of New York City, and he spoke as follows:

"There is a distinction between the lotteries of a century ago and the one we are called upon to fight at the present day. The former were all managed as public enterprises, and the revenues were spent for public advantage. The public conscience rebelled even against these and they ceased to exist, yet we have one fastened on us to-day that is avowedly established for private gain. It is for the purpose of extracting money from the masses, through whose ignorance the pockets of a few are to be enriched. Suppose that a body of men should come to our State to-day and ask us to grant them a charter allowing them to rob the railroad trains of the country. Suppose they should offer as an inducement to divide their plunder with us—offer to pay our taxes with a percentage of their gains. That is precisely what the people of Louisiana are asked to do to-day. I can't find words strong enough to express my feelings regarding this brazen fraud.

"This scheme of plunder develops a weak spot in the government of the United States which I would not mention were it not for the importance of the issue. We all know that a single State frequently determines the result of a presidential election. The State of Louisiana has determined the result of a presidential election. The vote of that State was offered to me for money, and I declined to buy it. But the vote of that State was sold for money!

"I make no reflection on any political parties," continued Mr. Hewitt, "but I have told you this for the lesson it teaches. Do you think the Louisiana Lottery would hesitate to put up the money necessary to buy even the vote of New York, provided they could have the assurance from the beneficiary of the fraud that the postoffice department would be under their control? I have known officers of this great government offered for sale, and I have known offers to buy; but, thank God, their is still integrity among our officials.

"We must not only give our sympathy, but our money for the Anti-Lottery cause in Louisiana. Let every man, woman and child in New York City give according to the means of each. Let us not forget that the homes of the owners and beneficiaries of this great octopus are to a great extent in New York State. They occupy what are called reputable positions, and they are received socially and taken by the hand by our best people. Yes, and I think some of them are in the 400. They should be driven out into the wilderness, every one of them. Their wealth is filched from the pockets of the ignorant and the vicious. Let them distinctly understand that they can not touch pitch without being defiled. Let the 20,000 or 30,000 spectators at the great race course rise up together and point the finger of scorn at the real criminal."

American Bible Society.

The stated meeting of the Board of Managers was held at the Bible House on Thursday, November 5, 1891, Hon. Enoch L. Fancher, LL.D., president, in the chair.

Devotional services were conducted by Secretary Hunt.

Among communications from foreign lands presented to the Board were letters from Mr. Carrington, of Siam, announcing that the printing of 2,000 copies of the Siamo-Laos Gospel of Matthew was completed, and that, at least, 1,000 copies would be sent with the new Laos missionaries to their field of labor; from Mr. Milne and Mr. Ponzotti, respecting hindrances in their work; from Mr. Hamilton, of Mexico, with a report of Bible distribution for the quarter ending Sept. 30; from Mr. Wheeler, of China, respecting the meeting of the Translation Committees of the Standard Chinese Bible at Shanghai, Nov. 18; from Mr. Whipple, of Persia, with a report of Bible distribution in his field for the half year ending June 30; from Mr. Norwood, of Caracas, reporting encouraging sales of Scriptures, notwithstanding much sickness and some cases of yellow fever in that place; from Mr. McKim, of Cuba, reporting an abiding desire among the people for the Scriptures; and from Mr. Bowen, of Constantinople, reporting hindrances in the work from the unwarranted interferences of government officials.

On recommendation of the Committee on Distribution, $2,000 in funds were granted for Bible work in China. Grants of books were also made to the value of about $1,144, including consignments to the Society's Venezuela, La Plata, and Mexico Agencies.

It is a matter of special interest that both in New York City and in New Orleans persons speaking Arabic have, during the month, been supplied with the Scriptures in that language.

The issues from the Bible House in October were 85,138 volumes; issues since April 1, 540,022 volumes.

Port Gibson Female College.

Resolved, That a rumor is the effect that the Port Gibson Female College is about to close having been brought to the notice of the Board of Trustees of the said college, it becomes the duty of the said Board to say that said rumor is utterly without foundation.

Resolved, That the Port Gibson Female College will continue, as heretofore, in full force; and that all patrons, or persons desiring to patronize said college, are hereby assured that said college will not close, but its doors are and will continue open to all persons desiring to secure a first-class education.

Resolved, That the foregoing resolutions be published in the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, the Southern Reveille, the Vicksburg Herald and the Fayette Chronicle. J. A. B. JONES, Sec.

Port Gibson, Miss., Nov. 4, 1891.

[We did not receive these resolutions until Nov. 18.—EDITOR.]

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

All books received will be acknowledged in this column. A fuller notice will depend upon the interests of our readers.

PERIODICALS.

GAIN BY LOSS; OR, THE GARMENT OF PRAISE. By Rose Porter. D. Lothrop Company, Boston.

This charming little book is written for the special benefit of invalids, and the spirit of devotion breathes in all its pages. Its tone of piety will make it a special blessing to those laid upon beds of sickness. It is brought out in beautiful "holiday binding" by the publishers. It is attractive, therefore, in every way.

PRINCESS ILSE. Translated from the German by Florence M. Cronise. Illustrated by J. E. Bundy. Albert, Scott & Company, Chicago.

This is one of those beautiful and instructive allegories so abundantly produced by the Teutonic mind. It is the history of a brooklet, and from the opening page to the closing sentence the interest does not flag, and the lesson of the allegory is wholesome and helpful throughout, and the illustrations are exceeding pretty and appropriate to the flow of the thought.

SUNDAY. Published by E. and J. B. Young and Co., Cooper Union, New York.

The volume for 1892. Larger, better and more attractive than ever. The stories and illustrations in Sunday are all original, the 250 illustrations being specially drawn and engraved for this volume by well-known artists, and at great expense. Sunday is not one of the many annuals made up of old woodcuts and retold stories. Sunday is an original publication. 4to; illuminated paper boards, $1.25; cloth, bevelled boards, illuminated sides, gilt edges, $2.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS DEVELOPMENT OF THOMAS CARLYLE. By Dr. Ewald Flugel, of the University of Leipsic. Translated from the German by Jessica Gilbert Tyler, M. L. Holbrook, publisher, 25 Bond St., New York. For sale by Eyrich, 130 Canal St., New Orleans. Price, $1.

This important book is by a rising young scholar and author of Germany, Dr. Ewald Flugel, Privat-Docent in the University of Leipsic, and one of the editors of Anglia, the leading German periodical devoted to English philological and literary studies.

It is a fresh, independent, and profoundly suggestive criticism of the great English author. It was highly praised by the Allgemeine Zeitung and other critical journals, and by several prominent students of Carlyle, notably by James Anthony Froude and Charles Eliot Norton.

To make the hair grew a natural color, prevent baldness, and keep the scalp healthy, Hall's Hair Renewer was invented, and has proved itself successful.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H. Beals, Jr.

Asthma can't be cured? Oh! yes it can. Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar will do it. I know it because it gave me relief. Every winter I was troubled with asthma, especially if the weather was damp, suffering severely. I took about six bottles of Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and am completely cured. It is the remedy for asthma. CHAS. HEINES, 5068½ Chippewa Street, New Orleans, La.

Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar is a sure and speedy cure for coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis and consumption, and gives immediate relief in cases of croup and whooping-cough. Try it. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

It is the greatest of all sins always to continue in sin. For where the custom of sinning waxeth greater, the conscience for sin grows the less; it is easier to quench a spark than a fire.—Warwick.

Catarrh

Is a complaint so common that comparatively few people are entirely free from it, so insidious that it gains a firm hold almost before its victims are aware of its presence, so dangerous as to seriously threaten the general health, and liable to develop into bronchitis or

Consumption.

It is a mistake to consider Catarrh merely a local trouble. It is unquestionably a disease of the blood, and, therefore, the right way to cure Catarrh is to remove from the blood the impurities which cause and feed it. This is to be done by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which effectually expels all traces of poison and germs of disease.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me of Catarrh, and built up my general health, so that I am feeling better than for years.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only medicine I know of which will cure miller's catarrh." GEO. FOSTER, Logan, Ohio.

N. B.—Be sure to get Hood's.

Holy Land Tour, $475.

A select party sails March 9, 1892. Monthly excursions to Italy, $380. Best ticketing facilities. Send for "Tourist Gazette."

H. GAZE & SONS, 940 Broadway, N.Y. (Est. 1844.)

DON'T DELAY TO

Stop that cough! Else the bronchial tubes will be enlarged and the delicate tissues of the lungs exposed to injury. No other medicine is so speedily operative in throat and lung troubles as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. A few doses have been known to break up an obstinate and distressing cough. Sufferers from asthma, bronchitis, croup, consumption, sore throat, and whooping cough find a sure relief in the use of this preparation. It soothes the inflamed membranes, expectoration, and induces repose. Try Don't be without it in the house. Sallie E. Stone, Hurt's store, Va., writes: "I have found, in my family, that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was always a certain cure for colds and coughs."

"Five years ago I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was completely cured."—Anga A. Lewis, Ithard, N. Y.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,

831 Broadway, NEW YORK.

IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.

SHEPARD & SON,

94 CAMP STREET.

BEAUTIFUL

China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL

Semi-China Dinner and Tea Sets.

BEAUTIFUL CHAMBER SETS.
PLATED WARE, all kinds,
WOOD WARE, all kinds,
TIN WARE, all kinds,
GLASS WARE, all kinds.

House Furnishing Store,
Cheap as the Cheapest

ALL THE NOVELTIES OF THE DAY.

Wringers and Curtain Stretchers.

WALL PAPER.

Never in the history of the Wall Paper business has the line of patterns equalled those which will be shown this Fall, and, as we carry the makes of every manufacturer, nowhere else in the South can such an assortment be found. In Dining-room, Parlor and Bed-room Papers there are several very pretty novelties, and also an innovation in the way of a Bath-room Paper, which can be splashed with impunity and not damaged.

Matting, Chinese AND Japanese,

From 10 cents up. WINDOW SHADES, 35 cents up. OIL CLOTH, 25 cents up.

RUGS, COCOA MATTING, UPHOLSTERING GOODS and LINOLEUM in immense assortment.

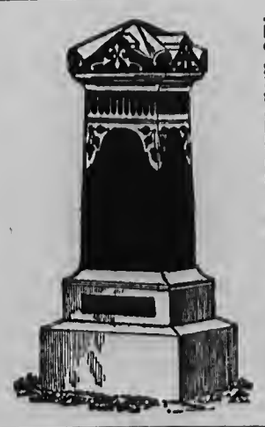
Write for a catalogue.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp St., New Orleans.

W. H. KRONE,
BUILDER,
586 Baronne St., - New Orleans.
Box 71, M. D., and L. Exchange.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

W. W. CARRE,
LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF
PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.,
Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,
NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train, 8:10 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train, 5:05 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express..... 5:35 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express..... 8:10 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train"..... 10:00 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train"..... 3:45 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 8 Lim. Ex. 7:45 am	No. 4 F'st Ex... 7:45 am
No. 5 F'st Ex... 7:05 pm	No. 8 Coast.... 8:45 pm
No. 7 Coast.... 9:20 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex.. 7:30 pm
Lim. express... 4:45 pm	Fast mail..... 8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

No. 1. Local Mail and Express.. 7:20pm	No. 2. Local Mail and Express.. 7:00am
No. 41. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 8:25am	No. 42. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 6:00pm
No. 45. Chic. and N. O. Lim.... 8:00pm	No. 46. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 12:01noon
No. 41. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 8:25am	No. 42. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:00pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom.... 8:50am	No. 6. McComb City Accom.. 4:30pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 53 California Express. 7:30pm	No. 51 California Express. 8:00 am
B. Rouge, local. 10:25am	B. Rouge, local. 3:50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 19 Califor. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local.... 8:00 am
No. 17 Local.... 7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor.. 5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd.. 2:30pm	No. 2, Lim'd..... 5:00pm
No. 5, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 3, Fast Line.. 8:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO.
(Via Meridian.)

No. 5, Fast Line. 7:00am | No. 2, Limited.... 5:00pm

P. AND P. EAST LA.
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.

Arrive..... 8:30 am | Leave..... 4:15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pt.-a-la-Hache Sh. Rch. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:50 p. m.	Pt.-a-la-Hache Sh. Rch. 7:00 a. m., 10:00 a. m., 5:00 p. m.

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

FROM

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City. Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 34 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.
J. C. GAULT, General Manager.
D. G. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

To SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT and

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't,
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,
JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.
Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	Leaves. 5:00 p. m	Arrives 8:10 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	8:10 a. m	5:35 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:45 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

P. R. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Agt.
E. F. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

Is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study, Practical Lectures and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this College has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has unsurpassed facilities and conveniences.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM. Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools, In Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE—Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and

Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

Watches, Diamonds,
FINE JEWELRY!
Silver and Silver-Plated Ware,
SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
(Established 1817)
119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Hawlocks, Hardware, Tinware, Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cages, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS: E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear-cut and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brewer, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEAREST, TRUEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 388 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR,
Member of Board of Trustees,
No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

THIRTY CENTS

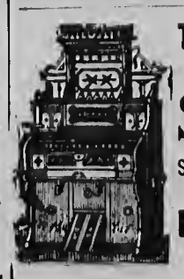
WILL get you TWO good papers, THE WAY OF FAITH (weekly), THE SOLDIER (monthly), for THREE MONTHS, 8 sweet songs, and our Liberal Terms to Agents. Address GOSPEL MISSION, Columbia, S. C.

Mention this paper.

WORLD'S FAIR Portfolio. Containing 16 fine artistic illustrations, size 10x14. An elegant work of art. Price postpaid, 50c. H. B. HARFORD & SON, 131 Van Buren St., Chicago.

IF you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO. No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash, mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1360½ Tchoupitoulas street.



THIS ORGAN
ONLY $29.00
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.
ADDRESS
H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, N. J.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.

Thursday, November 26, 1891.

[redacted]

We are pained to record the death of Rev. J. T. Moody, the pastor of our churches at Kosciusko and Durant, Miss. He died at Kosciusko, Nov. 21, after a long illness. Bro. Moody was a noble-hearted Methodist preacher. He leaves a wife and three little children. "God buries his workmen."

[redacted]

Briefs.

A hint is given in this paragraph to New Orleans Methodists: We learn from the Christian Advocate, of New York, that the Methodists of that city have for twenty-four years been operating the New York City Church Extension and Missionary Society. In that time the society has built 22 churches, and has now 24 churches and missions with 4,118 members. In 1890 there were 1,181 conversions. The society has expended for expenses, $431,407, and for property, $572,119. A certain day every year is set apart for collections for the society. Does not Methism in New Orleans need something of this sort? There is a good deal of money in Methodist pockets that ought to begin to flow out in just such a channel as this, and that money is the Lord's, too.

Another hint is given in these facts: The Methodist mission work in Chicago for the past year resulted as follows: Missions organized, 14; children gathered into Sunday-schools, 1,500; number of persons united with the Methodist Church, 537; churches erected, 10; increase in church property, $100,000; missions sustained, 40; aggregate cost per mission, $375. Of course, Chicago can do a great deal more than New Orleans; but the question still recurs, Are we doing as much in this cause as we are able to do?

At the Ecumenical Conference much was said about the union of Canadian Methodism being the result of the first Ecumenical Conference, ten years ago, and like results in regard to other Methodist bodies it was prophesied would follow this last Conference. On the Canadian union, the editor of the Christian Guardian, the organ of Canadian Methodism, says:

The effect of the last Ecumenical Conference on Canadian Methodist union has been unwittingly exaggerated. The fraternal intercourse of the Canadian delegates from the different bodies in London did, indeed, help to make them realize more fully that they were one. But it must not be forgotten that representatives of the Primitive, Episcopal and New Connexion Methodists had met with the Wesleyans to negotiate a basis of union several years before; and that the whole question of union had been fully discussed pro and con. An actual union had been formed between the Wesleyans of the East and the West and the Methodist New Connexion seven years before the first Ecumenical Conference met in London.

When the emotions of a great body of men are stirred, it is well for somebody to keep cool enough to remember facts of history.

The Episcopal Methodist, in a fine article on Christian work among the poor, says that pastors and leading laymen should contend for that high privilege. That is exactly what we have been saying for a long time. But when the Methodist says, "They must be backed by red-hot generosity and refrigerated common sense," we beg leave to draw the line at "refrigerated common sense." No, no, brother; leave off the "refrigerated common sense." "Sanctified common sense" will be much better.

Thanksgiving.

This is "Thanksgiving Day." The time-honored custom, we believe, started in New England in a very early period of our history, and has been observed in that region continuously till the present time. The custom has been growing in favor of late years all over the country, and especially in our Southland, and to-day thousands of our people are giving unfeigned thanks to Almighty God for the bounties of his providence as well as the riches of his grace.

There is much to be thankful for. Peace reigns in all our borders and with all foreign people. By the blessing of God, our church in Mississippi and Louisiana has had a prosperous year, thousands having been brought into the fold of Christ. The "ground has brought plentifully," and our barns are feeling the strain upon their capacity. There are evidences all about us that the "good hand of our God is upon us for good." While there is much evil and much suffering in the land, there is abundant room for thanksgiving over the good that is making itself felt, and which in the coming years will dominate all evil.

"Oh, give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good, for his mercy endureth forever."

The Publishing Committee.

On the call of the president, Dr. J. M. Beard, the Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE met in our office, Nov. 18, and transacted some very important business bearing upon the prosperity of the paper during the next few years. After a thorough inquiry and investigation as to the needs of the paper, the committee elected Rev. D. L. Mitchel publisher of the paper for a term of five years. Bro. Mitchel has been conducting the business of the ADVOCATE for several years, and this promotion to the office of publisher is an expression of the committee, that his work has been done satisfactorily. In the contract that is to go into effect Jan 1, 1892, provision has been made for the extinguishment of a debt that has been an incubus on the progress of the paper for several years.

The committee elected as assistant editor, Rev. B. F. Lewis, of the Mississippi Conference. Bro. Lewis is the son of Rev. W. B. Lewis, of Vicksburg, and is a young man of fine abilities, and will add largely to the editorial department of the paper. It was the idea with the committee that the assistant should be a sort of field marshal, and travel as much as possible throughout our territory in the interests of the paper. At present Bro. Lewis is serving an important charge in Jackson, Miss., and we presume will not be able to enter upon his office until after the meeting of his Conference, Dec. 9.

We are very much gratified that the committee saw its way clear to make this addition to the editorial force of the paper. Young, fresh, vigorous blood pouring itself into the sluggish channels of the old will surely brighten and quicken the flow. We welcome Bro. Lewis as our assistant. We welcome him to a share of hard work and hard words. We welcome him heartily to a large share of encouraging words which many of our people have the grace to give!

Now, friends, go to work to help us all you can, both by deeds and words and sympathies and prayers.

Benjamin C. Westmore, Esq., of New York City, has donated $1,500 for the endowment of another scholarship in the H. Sophie Newcomb Memorial College. The administrators have accepted the gift, and the scholarship is to be known as the "B. C. Westmore Scholarship."

Bishop E. R. Hendrix.

The North Mississippi Conference convenes Dec. 2, at Macon, Miss., and the Mississippi Conference convenes at Brookhaven, Miss., Dec. 9. Bishop E. R. Hendrix is the president of both these Conferences. As this is the first official visit of Bishop Hendrix to this part of our Methodist heritage, we take this opportunity to introduce him to our Methodist preachers and people of these two Conferences.

Bishop Hendrix is a native of Missouri. He was born in Fayette, in that State, May, 1847. He is now forty-four years old; just in the prime of life and vigor. He is a graduate of the Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., finishing the regular collegiate course there when he was twenty years of age. Thence he went to the Union Theological Seminary, New York City, where he was graduated in 1869. In 1870-72 he was pastor of the church at Macon, Mo.; in 1872-76 at St. Joseph, Mo.; in 1877 at Glasgow; in 1878 he was elected president of Central College, Fayette, Mo., which position he filled with credit to himself and honor to the church and benefit to the institution until 1886, when he was elected to the episcopacy. Previous to his presidency of the college, in company with Bishop Marvin, he made a missionary tour of the world, a very instructive and interesting account of which he published in a delightful book, entitled, "Around the World." In 1885 he was elected vice-chancellor of Vanderbilt University, which office he declined to accept. In the same year he also declined the presidency of the University of Missouri.

Bishop Hendrix has had the advantage of a thorough education and training, which advantage he has used so well that by many competent judges he is regarded as one of the ablest and most erudite men in our church. He is regarded as a strong preacher, and to his conspicuous ability as a presiding officer there is united the sweet affability of the Christian gentleman and that splendid tact which enables him to do the work of a Conference president with great satisfaction.

In the name of the Methodists of Mississippi, we extend to Bishop Hendrix a hearty welcome, and trust that his visit among us may be pleasant to him, and his work for us may be of great benefit to the church!

Ballot Reform.

Of all the "reforms" that are progressing, not one is more gratifying to the opponents of corruption in politics than the progress in ballot reform. The reproach of the nation has been the rascality and corruption at the ballot-box. We, together with all lovers of honest government and honest administration of law, rejoice in the progress of a reform that gives the voter protection against the schemes and dollars of the political partisan. We see it stated that the "first ballot reform act was passed by the Legislature of Victoria in 1856." The agitation continued several years before the act was passed, but the fact seems to be that this law, which has been denominated the "Australian ballot law," has never been abandoned where it has once been faithfully tried. That shows that it meets the exigencies of the case. In this country the progress of this reform is especially gratifying. On this subject the Andover Review says:

Twenty-six of the States of the Union will vote under some form of the Australian system in November, 1891. This leaves only eighteen States which have not made a great advance in the reform within the past three years. The eighteen are: Alabama, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas and Virginia. Progress, however, has been made in Iowa, although ballot reform laws were defeated in that State in 1891. The new Constitution just adopted by Kentucky provides that all elections by the people shall be by secret official ballot, furnished by public authority to the voters at the polls, and marked by each voter in private at the polls, and then and there deposited. The General Assembly is given power to make the necessary laws for carrying this provision into effect, and it will probably do so next Winter. Maine, it should be stated, has enacted the full Australian ballot, similar to the law of Massachusetts; but the first election under its provisions will not take place till September, 1892. Thus we observe that nearly two-thirds of the States of the Union have now the Australian ballot, although in four or five of them the laws are not as complete a copy as they might be; and that three other States will probably have this form of ballot within the coming year. The outlook is, that the reform can not long be delayed in the fifteen States that have, thus far, made no move toward its adoption.

We believe that the last election in Mississippi was conducted upon a form of the Australian ballot, and from persons we have seen who witnessed the voting we judge it was more satisfactory than the old system. We would rejoice to have some change in this respect in Louisiana. We witnessed things here at the last election that ought not to be possible, because they are absolutely unfair and dishonest. A ballot controlled by political trickery is a serious menace to the integrity of the government, and there should be a law that will render such trickery impossible. We trust our next Legislature will look into this matter and give us a new election law.

Sunday Observance.

It has been the fashion for some time for the preachers and religious newspapers in this country to warn the people against the tendency manifested in many quarters to drift into a Sabbath-keeping similar to that which obtains on the continent of Europe. These warnings have not been few, and they have been loud enough; but they do not seem to produce the desired effect. The tendency towards the Continental Sabbath seems to be stronger than ever, and the drift in that direction is more rapid. This is especially the case in our large towns and cities, notwithstanding the fact that stringent Sunday laws stand upon the statute books of every State in the Union. In this city the Sunday law is not only not observed, but it seems to be ignored entirely by the officers of the law. Any man can walk about the streets on Sunday and observe open infractions of the law in almost any direction. It is notorious that the saloons do not even pretend to keep the law. We have seen the street-car employees repairing the tracks on Sunday. We suppose that anybody who wants to, may break the law, and he will run no risk whatever of being disturbed!

As an excuse for this law-breaking it is said that it is no use to try to enforce a law against popular opinion. Such a sentiment shows a very poor appreciation of the obligations resting upon the officers and an utter disregard for their oaths. They have sworn to enforce the law, and there was no exception made in regard to the enforcement of this special law. The officer who disregards open violations of the law he has sworn to enforce is dishonest to the trust imposed in him and false to those who put him in that responsible position. How can such a man be trusted with the enforcement of any other law? A man that is false in one position will not be true in another. He will bear watching everywhere.

If this matter ended with the disregard of only one law, while that is bad enough, still the effect is such as to bring in open and defiant breaches of all law, when the occasion arises. Education is not confined to the schools. It is going on all around us—on the streets, in the shops, in the administration of government, everywhere. No education spreads so rapidly, none takes such a grip upon the human mind, as education in that which is evil. And of all the evils that afflict our social and civil and political systems, there is nothing that presents such a threatening menace to the very existence of those systems as that education which teaches the people that they may ignore any law of the State. Lawlessness is anarchy, and anarchy is ruin. When people are suffered without hindrance to break one law, they will not hesitate upon occasion to break any law. So if the Sunday law is bad, its non-enforcement is worse, because that non-enforcement on its positive side is a license to violate other laws, that are by everybody considered good. If the law is bad, change it. Don't let it, by its non-enforcement, become an educative force which will soon upheave society and destroy all other laws.

But while this evil seems to be growing in our country, and we are surely drifting toward the Continental Sunday, strange to say, an opposite tendency is quite marked in the Old World. We clip the following on this point from the Christian at Work:

While we gladly note decisions made here and there by the courts sustaining our American rest day, which has become at once our national distinction and the protection of our laboring classes, it is matter for especial gratulation that the people of Europe seem to feel the burden of the "Continental Sunday" and are anxious to rid themselves of it. Germany, for example, has closed many of her workshops and factories, and Sunday labor on the railways has been diminished. Austria also comes to the rescue of Sunday as a rest day, and forbids Sunday labor on the newspapers—an example we should like to see followed in this country. And not only Austria, but Belgium, Holland, Denmark, and Switzerland have enforced the discontinuance of newspaper work on Sunday. In the Swiss Republic a railway company received subscriptions on the express stipulation that for, at least, twenty-five years no trains should be run on Sunday. In Russia, Norway and Sweden there is agitation against Sunday labor, from which something practical is expected to come. It is to be hoped America will catch something of this Sunday spirit; and when it does, and when it sees that it involves the simple question of the preservation of one day in seven as a rest day, so needful to man and beast, we believe all classes will insist that the rest day shall be maintained, however some folk would like to make the actors in a theatre or the employees of a Columbus Fair sacrifice the Sunday rest day for their own selfish pleasure.

We have had some good things and many bad things from Europe; but, after all, if Europe should teach us how to observe the Sabbath, such a lesson will counterbalance much of the evil that has come to us across the Atlantic Ocean.

Mississippi Conference Notice.

Brethren having Children's Day money and receipts for 1891 will please be prepared to pay same to Bro. J. H. Woodward, secretary Sunday-school Board, on Wednesday, the first day of Conference. It is necessary for the Sunday-school Board to have an early meeting, and this will facilitate matters.

B. F. LEWIS,
Treas. S.-S. Board, Miss. Conf.

Notes.

Tact has been defined "the happy faculty of common sense."

Would it be possible for an "angel to desire a higher work than preaching the gospel of the Son of God?"

Goethe has this profound thought: "Everything in the world may be endured, except a succession of prosperous days."

"How beauteous are the feet of those that bear
Mercy to man, glad tidings to despair;
Far from the mountain-top, they loveller seem
Than moonlight dews, or morning's rosy beam;
Sweeter the voice than spell, or hymning sphere,
And listening angels hush their harps to hear."

A good many biographies are being written to-day. They are extremely brief. They run about this way:

The young man attended the races, lost money on fast horses, lived beyond his means, and stole to make up the deficiency and keep up appearances.

We find the following paragraph in an exchange, and wonder if some of our Methodist merchants in this city believe it:

No consistent Christian will buy, or read, or take into his home, or help by his advertising patronage that enemy of Christianity—the Sunday newspaper.

An exchange attributes the low finances of the Mission Boards to the prevalent fashion of deep pockets. It says:

The fashion of to-day is deep pockets. That is where the trouble lies: the pockets are so deep it seems impossible to get the hand down to the bottom to bring the money out for missions.

Some of these days the Lord's arm will reach down to the very bottom of these deep pockets and turn them wrong side out, and then the money will flow!

The Tennessee Methodist has this pointed paragraph in regard to the pulpit needed for the times:

The pulpit needed is a pulpit with no ax to grind. Whenever office or place becomes a matter of desire to a preacher, that moment he has parted with the strongest elements of his character and the highest means of his usefulness. Literary gifts, oratorical power, eloquence, wit—all these may remain, but there is a hollowness, an air, a spirit about the man's service which betrays it, despite all his efforts to the contrary, and shows him to be spiritually minded to be an actor, and a large amount of his labor to be but a performance.

Dr. Mallard, of this city, speaking of the Lottery, says:

And this breeder of foolish and hurtful superstitions, this everywhere present tempter of our youth, this sapper of manly virtue, this destroyer of family happiness, and promoter of theft and of suicide, we are asked to bid God-speed upon another quarter-century of its diabolical work! Should (which God forbid) Louisiana, through the corruption fund, wet with the tears of widows and orphans and the blood of suicides, be thus cursed, then let us erase from our commonwealth's proud escutcheon a pelican feeding her young, and paint in its stead an iron wheel, crushing men, women and children, and once happy homes!

The Advance has a correspondent who is perplexed on a geographical question. Hear him:

By the way, can you tell me where "Juicelum" is? I heard the Rev. Mr. Smartwell mention it repeatedly in a sermon the other day. It seemed to be a well-known place, too, connected with important events in Bible history. Kings reigned there, I understand; temples rose and fell there; sieges were sustained; battles were fought; the fate of a nation was decided—all at "Juicelum." A great apostle preached a memorable sermon there, and true religion received a new impulse and entered upon a new dispensation—all at "Juicelum." Yet I can not find the name in the Bible or the Bible Dictionary.

Dr. Herrick Johnson says of the religious paper:

A religious paper is a sort of modern necessity. Commonly it is good to take. It jostles people out of ruts. It pricks the sides of good intent. It broadens people that read it. It puts parishes in touch with each other, and with the wide world of Christian activity and life. It slips many a suggestion into a sermon and many a seed-thought into a heart. It lets fly a bow at a venture, but the shots tell. It furnishes wholesome reading for the Sabbath. What with "Sunday school helps," "prayer meeting expositions," "religious notes," "world news," and "editorials," it is an urgent, a pungent, a stimulus, an inspiration, a help over many a hard place, a comfort to saints and a rebuke to sinners.

Speaking on the subject of the Louisiana Lottery, the Christian Weekly makes this suggestion to Christians generally:

Public sentiment should be thoroughly awakened on this subject, and Christians throughout the Union should feel a personal responsibility in this regard.

And the New York Advocate had this:

The people of Louisiana who oppose the lottery charter have appealed to their fellow-citizens of other States for aid in the struggle in which they are engaged. This cause belongs to the whole nation and the whole world. Now is the time to show an interest in it, and contribute whatever influence each may possess against this giant crime and curse. On the decision of this question, now pending in Louisiana, hang tremendous results.

Personal and Otherwise.

We are indebted to George F. Wharton, 5 Carondelet street, for a copy of "The Bampton Lectures" for this year. They are by Charles Gore, principal of Pusey House, and the subject is "The Incarnation of the Son of God."

A letter to the editor from Rev. P. H. Diffenwierth, a superannuate of the Louisiana Conference, residing at Largo, Florida, says that he is "very feeble," "only able to get about a little." We pray that Christ's comforting grace may abide with our venerable brother unto the end.

We think it would be interesting to our readers if those who are operating the Epworth League would write something to the ADVOCATE about that work. Let us know how you are getting on, and why, and what you think this department of church work will do for our young people.

Dr. H. M. Smith, after twenty years of faithful service, has retired from the editorship of the Southwestern Presbyterian, of this city. Dr. Smith's retirement has been caused by ill health. He was a fearless editor. He is succeeded by Dr. R. Q. Mallard, who is not unused to editorial work. We wish the new editor abundant success.

While the preachers are busy during these last days of the year preparing for Conference, let the stewards in every circuit and station and district see to it that no preacher goes up to the annual convocation with any of his salary unpaid. It may be the last opportunity you will have to render him justice. Don't neglect that last opportunity.

Bishop Keener has his book, "Eden and Evolution," well under way, and will put it into the hands of the printers in the near future. The readers of the Advocate who followed the Bishop in his remarkable "Eden articles" in this paper a few years ago are particularly impatient for the appearance of the book. We hope the Bishop will give himself to this work until it is completed. Its publication now would be very timely.—Southern Christian Advocate.

Rayne Memorial Church, on last Thursday evening, was decorated in the best style of the florist's art; Miss Nona Jones, the organist, evoked the sweetest music from her splendid instrument; the audience packed the house from the chancel to the doors, and our young friend, John Burrus Parker, eldest son of the late Bishop Linus Parker, was united in matrimony to Miss Hattie Roland; his brothers, Revs. F. S. and F. N. Parker, performing the ceremony. We extend our congratulations to the young people, and wish them a long and useful life together.

If you have as many friends as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, you are a fortunate person.

Mississippi Items.

The M. E. Church (South) at Mayerhoff's Springs is being built.

Three dwellings were destroyed by fire in Natchez on the nineteenth.

The United States grand jury at Jackson has found eighty true bills for the illegal sale of whisky.

Gov. Stone has appointed Rev. J. B. Cambrell, of Meridian, on the Board of Trustees of the University of Mississippi, vice A. H. Whitefield, resigned.

The long fight between the city of Vicksburg and the street railroad culminated in the execution of the city's threat to tear up the track on the seventeenth.

The Louisville, New Orleans and Texas railroad has donated 1,000 acres of fine high land on Mound Bayou, Bolivar county, to the J. P. Campbell College, a negro institution.

The steam gin of P. O. Watson, near Durant, together with 14 bales of cotton and about 1,000 bushels of seed, was destroyed on the thirteenth. Loss on gin house and machinery, $2,000; insurance, $1,200.

The Board of Supervisors has accepted the new Adams county jail, just completed by the Champion Iron Company, of Kenton, O., and paid $2,800 for it. It contains 24 cells, 16 being steel, and has all the appliances, equipments and comforts of a modern prison.

The P. B. Hand Manufacturing Company, of Handsboro, has secured 300 feet of land fronting the railroad at Long Beach, on which they will erect a large factory, employing about twenty operatives. N. L. Brown has started a steam turning lathe and molding factory.

The Inter-State Petroleum Company has been organized at Jackson under a charter granted by the State, empowering them to mine and manufacture in Mississippi and Tennessee. The corporate property at present consists of upward of 15,000 acres of land in Putnam county, Overton county, Fentress county and Cumberland county, Tennessee.

Salvation Oil, the great pain remedy, is a genuine and reliable liniment. Price 25 cents.

No one has ever been disappointed in using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for a cold.

Districts Too Large.

Several brethren have written about the size of our districts, recommending smaller ones. Two districts in the North Mississippi Conference have nineteen; and other two, eighteen appointments. These districts are too large; so large, indeed, as to render it impracticable for them to be served to the best advantage. The presiding elder must be away from home and on the go a good part of his time, and yet his service is to a considerable extent perfunctory. "A Member of the Conference" looks up the figures and writes there are 42 or 43 quarterly meetings to be held in the week, without a Sunday, on the last round.

The advantages of smaller districts, comprising, say, 12 or 14 appointments, would be very considerable, as will be apparent for the following reasons:

1. The presiding elder, without being from home more than when in charge of a large district, could spend more time with the different charges, become better acquainted with the people, and better informed as to the condition and necessities of the work.

2. With the smaller districts, a quarterly meeting without a Sunday in it would be the exception. The presiding elder, spending Saturday and Sunday with the pastor and his people, would have time and opportunity to impress upon the congregation and community the doctrines and polity of Methodism, and, by virtue of his official position, united with superior wisdom and experience, could help greatly to forward the work on lines needing special attention.

3. The presence, fellowship, and labors of the presiding elder for two or three days each quarter would be a helpful uplift to the faithful pastor, who is constantly under the burden and strain of his charge. It does more than rest the pastor. It furnishes him with valuable suggestions, and gives inspiration of strength and courage for the succeeding quarter.

4. The principle of "intensive culture" applies in moral husbandry as in natural. Twelve acres of ground under such culture can be rendered more productive and remunerative than eighteen acres under ordinary culture. So also smaller districts, under closer supervision and more thorough work, would, doubtless, show a better outcome, not only in spiritual, but also in material results. The pastor would be as well or better supported because of the more efficient help of his presiding elder, and the presiding elder receive as much in the way of salary from the smaller as from the larger district.

I write with no special ax to grind. For aught I know, I may remain in statu quo for another Conference year. My presiding elder, serving one of the largest districts in the Conference, is ever faithful, prompt and true. We appreciate his valuable labor and presence when he can be with us. I write in the interest of development and progress. The presiding eldership is an important wheel in Methodist machinery. We should have an additional district—better two, perhaps—in the North Mississippi Conference.

Ex. P. E.

Louisiana Notes.

A new Methodist Church is being built in Floyd.

The Lake Charles public school has an enrollment of 254 pupils.

The mail service between Tangipahoa and Franklinton has been made daily.

Several buildings were destroyed by a fire in Mansfield on the seventeenth.

The Monroe cotton market is still booming. The receipts up to the fourteenth were 20 000 bales, some 4,000 ahead of last season. The yield there will be far ahead of last season.

When General Comstock examined Plaquemine harbor with the Mississippi River Commission, during their last trip down the river, he decided to build three out of the four proposed spur dykes intended to protect the locks at the mouth of Bayou Plaquemine, which the government contemplates building.

Mr. A. Erath, president of the Iberia and Vermillion Railroad Company, says the New Iberia Enterprise, of Nov. 14, received a letter this week from Mr. J. Kruttschnitt, general manager of this division of the Southern Pacific railroad, informing him that the proposition of the local company to transfer to the Southern Pacific the tax subsidy recently voted by New Iberia for railroad connection with Abbeville, has been submitted to Mr. Huntington and accepted, and that the road would be built, providing the right-of-way and necessary depot grounds were obtained, the road exempted from taxation for ten years, and that Abbeville also vote a special five mill tax in favor of the project for ten years.

At a meeting of the citizens of Abbeville, on the nineteenth, the above proposition was accepted by them. This assures the long-talked-of road to Abbeville.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

The Announcements in this advertisement and those which will follow will enable the friends of THE COMPANION to judge somewhat of the scope and character of the reading that will be given in its columns during 1892 — the sixty-fifth year of its issue.

Nine Illustrated Serial Stories.

The Serial Stories for the coming year will be of rare interest and variety, as well as unusual in number.

Lois Mailet's Dangerous Gift. A New England Quaker Girl's first Contact with "World's People"; by Mrs. Mary Catherine Lee.
A Tale of the Tow-Path. The Hardships encountered by a Boy who found Life at home too Hard for him; by Homer Greene.
How Dickon Came by his Name. A charmingly written Story of the Age of Chivalry; by Harold Frederic.
Two "Techs" Abroad. They set off on a Tour of the World in quest of Profitable Enterprises; by C. A. Stephens.
A Young Knight of Honor. The Story of a Boy who stood at his Post while Death was all around him; by Miss Fanny M. Johnson.
A Boy Lieutenant. A True Narrative; by Free S. Bowley. | Touaregs. A Story of the Sahara; by Lossing G. Brown.
Smoky Days. A Story of a Forest Fire; by E. W. Thomson. | On the Lone Mountain Route; by Miss Will Allen Dromgoole.

Hints on Self-Education.

Articles of great value to Young Men who desire to educate themselves.

Hon. Andrew D. White, Ex-President of Cornell.
President Timothy Dwight, of Yale University.
President E. H. Capen, of Tufts College.
President G. Stanley Hall, of Clark University.
President Francis L. Patton, of Princeton College
Professor James Bryce, M. P., author of the "American Commonwealth."

Practical Advice.

The Habit of Thrift; by Andrew Carnegie.
How to Start a Small Store; by F. B. Thurber.
Girls and the Violin. A Valuable Paper; by Camilla Urso.
A Chat with Edison. How to Succeed as an Electrician; G. P. Lathrop.
Boys in N. Y. Offices; Evils of Small Loans; by Henry Clews.
The Girl Who Thinks She Can Write. Three Articles of Advice by well-known Writers, Amelia E. Barr, Jeanette L. Gilder, Kate Field.

Five Special Features.

A Rare Young Man. Describing the life of a young inventor of extraordinary gifts; by The Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone.
Episodes in My Life. A delightful paper telling how he came to build the Suez Canal; by The Count de Lesseps.
The Story of the Atlantic Cable. Mr. Field's narrative has the thrilling interest of a romance; Cyrus W. Field.
Unseen Causes of Disease; Three admirable articles by the Eminent English Physician, Sir Morell Mackenzie.
Boys and Girls at the World's Fair. What Young Americans may do as Exhibitors; by Col. George R. Davis.

Glimpses of Royalty.

Housekeeping at Windsor Castle; by Lady Jeune.
How Queen Victoria Travels; by H. W. Lucy.
The Story of Kensington Palace; by The Marquis of Lorne.
How I Met the Queen; by Nugent Robinson.

Railway Life.

The Safest Part of a Train; by Col. H. G. Prout.
Success in Railway Life; by Supt. N. Y. Central, Theo. Voorhees.
Asleep at his Post; by former Supt. Mich. Southern, Charles Paine.
Roundhouse Stories. Humorous and pathetic; by An Old Brakeman.

Short Stories and Adventures.

More than One Hundred capital Stories of Adventure, Pioneering, Hunting, Touring will be printed in this volume. Among them are:

The Flash-Light.
My Queer Passenger.
Molly Barry's Manitou.
Shut Up in a Microbe Oven.
The Cruise of a Wagon-Camp.
Old Thad's Stratagem.
Very Singular Burglars.
The Tin Peddler's Baby.
Blown Across Lake Superior.
A Young Doctor's Queer Patients.
His Day for the Flag.
Capturing a Desperado.
In the Burning Pineries.
The Boys and the Wild-Cat.
On a Cattle Steamer in a Storm.

The Illustrations will be improved and increased in number; The Weekly Editorials on the leading Foreign and Domestic Topics will be marked by impartiality and clearness. Household Articles will be contributed by well-known writers. The Children's Page will be more attractive than ever. The Illustrated Weekly Supplements, adding nearly one-half to the size of the paper, will be continued.

"A Yard of Roses."

New Subscribers who send $1.75 now, will receive THE YOUTH'S COMPANION FREE to January 1, 1893, and for a full year from that date. This offer includes the THANKSGIVING, CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR'S DOUBLE HOLIDAY NUMBERS and all the ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY SUPPLEMENTS. Any person who mentions this paper when subscribing will receive a copy of a beautiful painting, entitled, "A YARD OF ROSES." Its production has cost TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS. Specimen Copies Free. Address,

Free to Jan. 1892.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Boston, Mass.

Send Check, Post-office Order, or Registered Letter at our risk.

Important Notice.

A convention of Methodist workers in the bounds of the Louisiana Annual Conference, for the purpose of organizing a Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society, will be held at the Carondelet Street Church, on Thursday next, December 3. The morning meeting will convene at 10 o'clock; the evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

Pastors and their flocks are urged to attend all the services.

Delegates from the country will report for entertainment to Mrs. S. S. King, 277 Josephine street.

J. M. BEARD,
Pres't Board of Church Extension.
MRS. S. S. KING,
Sec'y Woman's Department.

The Best Authorities,

Such as Dr. Dio Lewis, Prof. Gross, and others, agree that catarrh is not a local, but a constitutional disease. It therefore requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which permanently cures catarrh.

Rates to Louisiana Conference.

The Southern Pacific and the Texas and Pacific will issue round-trip tickets for four cents a mile. Tickets on sale Monday, Dec. 14, and good to return by Dec. 25. The Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific will give one fare and a third on the certificate plan. "If delegates are unable to get tickets for return from Alexandria to starting-point, they can get them at Shreveport, as the ticket agent at that point will be instructed to honor certificates for tickets to return." So writes the general passenger agent of the V., S. and P.

C. W. CARTER,
JNO. T. SAWYER,
Committee.

Don't let rheumatism settle on you this month. Try Johnson's Anodyne Liniment; never fails.

Resolutions Commendatory.

Your committee to whom was referred the pleasant duty of drafting suitable preamble and resolutions expressive of our appreciation of the faithful and efficient services of Jas. H. Douglas, as an official member of this charge, report as follows:

Whereas, Jas. H. Douglas has been a member of the church in this charge since his young manhood and an official member and recording steward for forty successive years; And, whereas, He has decided to remove his residence to Durant, Miss.; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we gladly give this expression of our appreciation of his long service to God and the church, and that while we reluctantly part with him, we commend him to the church wherever his lot may be cast in the future, and that we pray a double portion of the Lord's Spirit on him as he walks down the hill-slope of life.

E. W. BURTON,
J. F. WILBURN,
H. C. MOREHEAD,
Committee.

Louisiana Conference.

The class for admission to the Louisiana Annual Conference are requested to meet at the Methodist Church in Alexandria, Tuesday morning, Dec. 15, at nine o'clock.

J. M. BEARD,
T. S. RANDLE,
T. J. UPTON,
Committee.

The class of the fourth year, Louisiana Conference, will meet at the classroom of our church in Alexandria on Tuesday, Dec. 15, 1891, at seven o'clock P. M.

THE COMMITTEE.

Tried in the Balance.

Marsden's Pectoral Balm is not an experiment. For twenty-five years it has been "tried in the balance" and not found wanting in its ability to speedily and permanently cure coughs and colds.

Rev. J. T. Moody.

We have just buried Rev. J. T. Moody. A noble man of God has left us. No man more true to the work of the ministry in our ranks. How sad our Conference session will be! Owen and Moody will be sadly missed. Further notice soon. Bros. Thames, Bachman, and Thornton, of the Baptist Church, assisted in funeral services.

T. W. DYE.

Kosciusko, Miss., Nov. 22, 1891.

Mississippi Conference Notices.

The class of the second year will meet the Examining Committee at the Methodist Church, Brookhaven, Miss., Tuesday morning, Dec. 8, at nine o'clock.

A. F. WATKINS,
For Com.

The class of the third year will please meet the Committee of Examination at the Methodist Church, Brookhaven, Miss., Tuesday morning, nine o'clock A. M., Dec. 8, 1891.

D. G. W. ELLIS,
H. W. FEATHERSTON,
L. S. JONES,
Committee.

North Mississippi Conference.

The class of the first year will meet the Examining Committee at the Methodist Church, in Macon, Miss., at eight o'clock A. M., Tuesday, Dec. 2,

JNO. W. BELL, Chair'n.

The committee and class of the fourth year will meet in Macon, Miss., Nov 30, at seven P. M. Rev. H. C. Morehead, or myself, will receive all moneys for education. Brethren, please see that these collections are as full as possible. I hope all the members of the relief association will come prepared to pay the mortuary due on the death of our good Bro. Owen.

THOS. J. NEWELL.

A Vote of Thanks.

We feel very grateful to the good people of Woodville district for buying us a district parsonage. The deed has been lately passed from Dr. Holcombe to the M. E. Church, South, on a cash sale for the house occupied by us for the last two years. We count ten grateful votes.

C. MCDONALD.

Jackson, La., Nov. 19, 1891.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

BOYS! GIRLS! Everybody!

We want used postage stamps used before 1870; also Confederate bills. For 25 stamps or 10 bills we will give either 25 cards with your name printed on, 3 sheets of Scrap Pictures, 1 Autograph Album, 50 Foreign Stamps, or Cash. AGENTS WANTED. Circulars free.

J. E. HANDSHAW & CO.,
SMITHTOWN BRANCH, N. Y.

PARSONS

PILLS

MakeNewRichBlood

"Best Liver Pill Made."

They positively cure SICK HEADACHE and BILIOUSNESS, all Liver and Bowel Complaints. In Glass Vials. Thirty in a bottle, one a dose. They expel all impurities from the blood. Delicate women find great benefit from using them. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 25cts. in stamps; five bottles $1.00. Full particulars free. J. S. JOHNSON & CO., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass.

Vile cod-liver oil has lost its vileness in Scott's Emulsion and gained a good deal in efficiency.

It is broken up into tiny drops which are covered with glycerine, just as quinine in pills is coated with sugar or gelatine. You do not get the taste at all.

The hypophosphites of lime and soda add their tonic effect to that of the half-digested cod-liver oil.

Let us send you a book on CAREFUL LIVING—free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS Containing new Carols and a Responsive Service that may be used with or without the Carols. 16 pages. Price, 5 cents a single copy.

The CHRIST of BETHLEHEM. A Beautiful New Christmas Service By J. E. HALL. containing an Instructive Responsive Service interspersed with New and Appropriate Carols. Price, 5 cents a single copy. OTHER SERVICES of the same character and at the same price, are "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Joy Bells," "Good Will to Men," "Noel," and "Peace on Earth."

A CHRISTMAS VISION —A NEW CANTATA for Children by C. L. Harnham & C. F. Root. well-known writers is sure to meet with a cordial reception. This new work is the prettiest and most entertaining they have produced thus far. Price, 30 cents a single copy. OTHER CANTATAS for the Christmas Season are "One Christmas Eve," "Santa Claus & Co.," "The New Santa Claus," "Catching Kriss Kringle," "Judge Santa Claus," "Santa Claus' Mistake," and "The Waifs Christmas." Price of each, 30 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY Relates in verse, scripture readings and music. By M. B. Brooks & C. F. Root. the principal events of Christ's life on earth. Beautiful and instructive. Price, 30 cents a single copy.

BETHLEHEM. A Cantata for Adults only (no children's parts) that cannot fail to please wherever rendered. By C. F. Root. Price, 50 cts a single copy. Send 50 cents for sample copy of "Musical Visitor" for Choirs.

—PUBLISHED BY—

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.

Root & Sons Music Co., 200 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 13 E. 16th St., New York.

GOLDEN MEMORIES

BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.

8 Col'd Plates, 50 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations.

A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ARTI

A Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown, sold at a price within the reach of all.

AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP.

HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. D. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Church or Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., — FOR — Catalogue.

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT REFLECTORS FOR OIL, GAS OR ELECTRIC LIGHT

I. P. FRINK. 551 PEARL. ST. N.Y.

SKIN DISEASES Tetter, Eczema, Rough Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by CREVE'S OINTMENT. 50c. Druggists. HISCOX & CO., N.Y.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE

Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Asthma, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion. Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.

CORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & Co., N. Y.

HAVE YOU GOT PILES

$100. FOR AN INCURABLE CASE.

Itching Piles are known by moisture like perspiration, causing intense itching when warm. This form as well as Blind, Bleeding and Protruding, yield at once to DR. BO-SAN-KO'S PILE REMEDY which acts directly on parts affected, absorbs tumors, allays itching and effects a permanent cure. 50c Druggists or mail. Circulars free. Bosanko Co. Piqua, O.

AGENTS send for How I Made a House and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a Home, or business change. $75 to $100 Monthly. Teachers and Ladies find big pay for spare hours. TREASURY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD. Best quality Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, &c. BELLS Also CHIMES AND BELLS. Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY. Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

HOME LIFE.

THE HARVEST MOON.

Faded the last faint blush of evening's rose,
And the shadows gather in the sleeping vale,
Where silent now, the rippling streamlet flows
Beneath the mist, that, rising dim and pale,
Hovers over it like a silver veil,
Hiding the tears upon the closed-up flowers,
That seem to weep for the day's vanished hours.

Across the heaven a mellow radiance steals,
The mist grows brighter, and the silver stream
Reflects the tender light which hall reveals
Earth's loveliness, and like an infant's dream,
Makes all things beautiful and holy seem;
The harvest moon along the autumn sky
Holds her fair sway and bids the darkness fly.

O'er fallen leaves, o'er hill and vale and plain,
O'er ripened fruit and fields of golden grain;
O'er lovers, lingering in the mystic light,
Whispering fond words beneath the silent night;
O'er the great city in its solemn rest,
O'er wealth and poverty, the worst, the best;
Her luster falls, and through the listening air
Breathes hut of peace and beauty everywhere.
Serene and pure she mounts the azure heaven,
Telling the wondrous love her God to men has given.

—All the Year Round.

Your Boy and You.

BY ALYN YATES KEITH.

There comes a time to the best of mothers when she has to realize that her small boy is gone, and that a decided, and possibly reckless, youth has somehow crowded into his place. Keep a firm hold on the reins then, good mother, but hold lightly. The curb must be there, but it must not be felt. Let your boy feel that you are always ready for him, always in the mood for his moods. If St. Paul could be all things to all men that he might save some, can you afford to be less than all things to your boys that you may save all?

Whatever you may do, or leave undone, do not fret. Wild tempests may sweep below, but the stars in their courses shine calmly on. Your boy can not steer without some heavenly body to show him the way. Transmit its light: he may be too blinded by his own conceit to see it clearly for himself.

Let your boy feel that you are always ready for him, always interested in his plans, however wild they may be. You can no longer command him. If that has been your only hold, then may God have mercy on you and on him!

His judgment is beginning to grow, perhaps. Encourage it. Take him into your counsels. It will not hurt you to ask his advice about humbly matters. See how kindly he will take to being looked up to. Do you not like to have your friends put confidence in you? He is only another you. If his self-respect be small, you are cherishing its growth. How do you treat the tender plants in your garden? Do you keep sunshine away from them, and step on each tender little shoot as it lifts itself up to the unknown light of a great and strange world? And as the plants gain strength and courage to stand alone, do you nip off their leaves savagely and water them as with a flood that they have hard work to stand against? Do you leave them to droop for a bit of encouragement, to grow awry for want of a little support to guide them till strong enough to stand alone? Or do you furnish props on every side, and leave the full-grown stem a derision to beholders?

Never let your boy feel that the household is complete without him. He may prefer anything and everything to his home, but when his "reasons grow," he can not help coming back to it, if you are faithful to your trust. Never indulge in despair, however hopeless the case may seem, but keep a beautiful trust in him that will shine in your welcome. He may not be worthy, but he will grow to it.

Your boy may even lie to you. Some black drop from an unholy ancestor may have come down to him, unfiltered, through the veins of many generations. But do not quail. Beable, like noble Arnold of Rugby, to assure him that you take his word for it. There are good men who were shamed into goodness. You do not commit yourself to any wrong, and if there be one germ of God-likeness in his nature, even that shall not fail to the ground fruitless. Only be strong and of good courage, and trust God to give the increase.

Some children never know a puddle till they have waded clean through it and come out sticky on the other side. Some are born with a sort of divine foresight that not only reveals it at a distance, but keeps them out of it, and it out of their thoughts as well. Thank God if the latter sort belong to you, but do not lose courage with the former. Never lose courage. Some men reach heaven via State's prison.

Remember the father who saw his son while yet a great way off, and fell on his neck and kissed him. What if the boy had been kept out of sight until he was bathed, and offered the loan of a clean, good brother's suit by one of the servants? What if he had been cautiously admitted to the table from which the small boys were removed for fear of contamination? What if the silver had been locked up, and a bit of last year's mutton substituted for the fatted calf—good enough, perhaps, for a man who had fed among swine, but not encouraging in the line of better living; for the physical stands before the spiritual, and one must keep to the natural order of sequence.

Remember, there is no meagerness with God, no grudging. He is as divine as possible in dealing with souls and with bodies. Your nature may be small, but it lies with you alone whether it shall remain small or attain heroic stature.

Do not tell me what might have been. In the celestial economy there are no might-have-beens. Think your thoughts, and live your life in the present. The fathers may have done well, but you are not the fathers. A new work has been given you to do, and new faculties to do it with. Does not a modern hymn say,

"The fathers had not all of thee,
New gifts are in thy grace"?

And if the fathers did not have and know it all, neither did the mothers. Your lessons are new with every sunrise and dewfall. You can not go back to the old primers and copybooks, nor to your ancestors' ways of bringing up a family. If they treated their wanderers like criminals, judged them, and cast them out as vagabonds on the face of the earth, what is that to you?

"Dear child, my name was Calvin, but I see things better now."

Take of the things of God, and show them to your child. If the heart of the mother can not interpret the sacred Book, it must be a hopeless mystery. And as you would have your child grow in knowledge and wisdom after he has become a man, see to it that you yourself grow. Every year that God honors you with should be, must be, a year of growth. After fifty you are to learn the things you did not know before fifty; after eighty, the things you did not know before eighty. Bodies with out souls get full grown; souls never become full grown in this world—neither, let us pray, in the world to come.

This small sermon, not unlike an occasional one from the pulpit, has lost itself in a talk; but if it finds its devious way into the heart of some mother who is losing hope and courage because of her many trials and griefs, it has done its errand without help from text or heads.—Sunday-School Times.

The Higher Criticism.

BY BISHOP FOWLER.

It is a great comfort to me that I am a higher critic. The answer to it all is that the spirit of the Word of God answers to the spirit that God has put in man. That disposes of the whole matter for me. The average man, if he is really converted, is not troubled with protoplasm or higher criticism.

A skeptic was trying to unsettle a Christian iron-worker in Pittsburg. He said: "You must give up your Christian faith. Science has demonstrated that it is an impossibility to have resurrection of the dead. There is only just so much phosphorus in the world, and it can't be increased; and all there is would not be sufficient for a resurrection of the dead. So you must abandon your faith as untrue." The sturdy old iron-worker said, with a smile: "Well, what of that? The old Book tells us that we are to have part in the first resurrection. And we will take all the phosphorus there is; and then you scientific fellows will have to look out for yourselves."

A puppy announces his arrival in the world by snapping at his mother. But when he gets his eyes open he sees in her his best friend and follows her off. And so a new science announces its arrival in the world by snapping at the old Word of God. But after awhile it gets its eyes open and follows its mother dutifully about.

Out at San Francisco we have a grand steamer, the City of Peking. Go to the wharf and go down, and you will see a little barnacle clinging to the keel. Did you ever see a barnacle? What are they for? Nobody knows. They only stick and hinder. After while the steam is up, and the City of Peking moves off down the harbor, and off across the great ocean; and night and day she is held on her course, and moves on in the face of wind and wave and storm. At length she anchors in the harbor at Canton. She has done something. She has carried the commerce of this great nation, and emptied it in the lap of that mighty empire. She has brought the ripest civilization on the globe, and poured it upon paganism. She has brought the teachers and the Word of God, and given them up to the unenlightened heathen. She has done something. But go down and you will hear the little barnacle saying, "I don't see anything so great about this trip of the City of Peking. I have crossed the ocean. And see me here, too." It has done nothing but stop and hinder, but it is there, too.

So the Book of God has come to our wharves, and emptied into our bosoms the comforts of this life and the hope of the life to come. It has done something. Go down below, and you will find the higher critic clinging fast, trying to scuttle the ship maybe, simply sticking and hindering, and saying: "This Bible hasn't done anything so wonderful. I, too, am here."

Yes, he is. Don't worry about him. About once a generation somebody goes down and knocks off the barnacles, and the old ship sails on as beautifully as ever.

A few years ago I was in the room in Genova where Voltaire wrote the words: "Before the end of the eighteenth century Christianity will have disappeared." Now I stand here with the inspiration of the son of a prophet, and say that before the end of the next century Christianity will have lifted up all the great nations of the earth, and have handed them over to our God and his Christ. For our God is marching on!

SOUL-KEEPING.—What multitudes of redeemed souls have been won, but lost again! Only Christ can keep a soul; but to guard from wandering has been largely committed to the workers, together with God. Too little emphasis has been placed upon the importance of conserving what has been gained. While the church is rejoicing over multitudes coming in, it may be unnoticed that many are slipping out through open and unguarded doors. Two things are essential for the keeping of converts. They must be nourished. Souls are not nourished alone by food thrust toward them from the pulpit or even in the class-meeting. Nourishment implies more than meat; it means warmth of sympathy and hearty fellowship, the light of lives that illustrate the gospel. They must be employed. They have been busy enough in the devil's service; and if the church can not give her converts something to do, they will not long resist the tempting calls to resume the devil's work. "There were added daily unto the church such as were being saved," for soul-keeping is the essential complement of soul-winning.—New York Advocate.

SHE COULDN'T GET MARRIED.—A Leominster housekeeper, while looking over some old letters of her great-grandmother, ran across the following:

"Dear, Good John: We shall have to put off our marriage, mother is making such an awful fuss about it. I don't went to a bit, now we are published, but I have to. She says you ain't old enough and I don't know anything, and then there is so much expense about it. Now, John, just think of it. My dress will be only nine shillings ($1.50), and my new calfskin shoes would do. She says you sha'n't marry me until you can keep two cows of your own. Father is willing, and says he will give us the sheep, but mother says he sha'n't, and you know she always carries the day. I wish she could never have got married herself. Now, John, let us stick to each other. I shall be eighteen in about ten months more. Now, you will hold on, won't you, John? Come Sunday night with the gray horse and shay and we will ride out and talk it over. Good night. Mary."—Boston Herald.

WHAT EDUCATES.—You ask, what will educate your son. Your daily example will educate him; your conversation with your friends; the business he sees you transact; the likings and dislikings he sees you express—the society you live in, will educate him; above all, your rank, your situation in life, your table will educate him. It is not in your power to withdraw him from the continual influence of these things, except you were to withdraw yourself from them also. Education goes on at every instant of time; you can never stop nor turn its course. What these have a tendency to make your child, that will he be. Parents should invariably give good example to their children, for youths are usually apt students, and impressions made in childhood are indelibly stamped on the susceptible mind.—Selected.

Thackeray tells us of a woman begging alms from him, who, when she saw him put his hand in his pocket, cried out, "May the blessing of God follow you all your life!" But when he only pulled out a snuff-box she immediately added, "And never overtake ye!"

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

EVERY INCH A MAN.

She sat on the porch in the sunshine
As I went down the street,
A woman whose hair was silver,
But whose face was a blossom sweet,
Making me think of a garden,
Where, in spite of the frost and snow
Of bleak November weather,
Late fragrant lilies blow.

I heard a footstep behind me,
And the sound of a merry laugh;
And I knew the heart it came from
Would be like a comforting staff
In the time and the hour of trouble,
Hopeful and brave and strong—
One of the hearts to lean on,
When we think all things go wrong.

I turned at the click of the gate-latch,
And met his manly look—
A face like his gives me pleasure,
Like the page of a pleasant book;
It told of a steadfast purpose,
Of a brave and daring will—
A face with a promise in it
That, God grant, the years fulfill!

He went up the pathway, singing;
I saw the woman's eyes
Grow bright with a wordless welcome,
As sunshine warms the skies.
"Back again, sweetheart mother,"
He cried, and bent to kiss
The loving face that was lifted
For what some mothers miss.

That boy will do to depend on;
I hold that this is true;
From lads in love with their mothers
Our bravest heroes grew;
Earth's grandest hearts have been loving hearts
Since time and earth began;
And the boy who kisses his mother
Is every inch a man!

—Christian Intelligencer.

To the Boys and Girls.

My Dear Children: I want to tell you how some little boys and girls in Japan have been working for Jesus. At a place called Iwakuni, Bro. Sumida, the native worker, has been trying to build a church, but he has found it very difficult, because most of the Japanese Christians are very poor. In the report Bro. Sumida made to the annual meeting he told us how he set the children to work for the new building. The account was very interesting; but, as it is too long, I can not write it all. I will only mention that he hung a box in the chapel and told the children that he wanted them to put their money into it, but that he did not want them to give any money that they had not earned, for if they did, it would be like the children who worship idols, whose parents always give them the money they throw into the temple box, and God does not like this kind of offering from us. He also told them that at the end of one month he would open the box and see how much it contained, and that he wanted them to state on paper how each got their money. When the month closed the box was opened, and it was found to contain the sum of eight cents. This seems small for a number of children; but, then, you must remember that the children were poor, and that the boys and girls here do not have five and ten-cent pieces, as you do in America, but rin pieces, which are but one-tenth of a cent; so you see it would take a great many of them to make eight cents. Small as this offering seems to be, Bro. Sumida says that this is the foundation of Iwakuni Church, and that if ever he writes the history of the church, he will "put it forth as the main cause of its use."

Here are some of the answers of the children as to how they earned their money:

"I give the money which I got by sewing an apron."—Ko Fukuwara (girl of nine years).

"This money was given by my papa and mama for my little sewing, to build the house of the church."—Toshi Okazuki (girl of six years).

"Sewed a piece of cloth and two mops to build the Sunday-school."—Fumi Watanuki (girl of nine years).

"This money was gotten by going to the office. This is to build a house."—Kiku Oshima (girl of eight years).

"I dedicate the money gained at the paper mill to build."—Itiyo Ozima (girl of eleven years).

"This money was received as prize for my going to Sunday-school diligently. To build the chapel."—Sachihiko Mino (boy of ten years).

"I will tell you how I got the money to throw into the box. I got it by cleaning the house, or going an errand, and willingly I throw into the box every Sunday I come here. Why did I throw the money in? For building a chapel for God's use."—Towa Oku (boy of ten years).

"Worked in the silk factory, to build the house of God."—Ai Kurihara (girl of eleven years).

"I got the money for picking the leaves of the mulberry trees during silk-worm season. I pay this to build a chapel."—Satsu Shinzo (girl of eight years).

"Mine was received as a prize for my being kind and faithful to others. I throw this in for God."—Seehiyo Takada (boy of nine years).

"When I got up early in the morning they gave the money. Given to build the temple of God."—Taka Morikawa (girl of six years).

"I was at home watching, while the others went out. I got it for that. To build the chapel."—Toku Goto (girl of ten years).

"When I got some money to buy some candy or something, I threw it into the box; for I think that, though small the amount be, it will be of some help in getting things for God."—Shiro Katsura (boy of ten years).

Which of these answers do you think is the most interesting? It seems to me that the last one is. Two things about it impress me: (1) Shiro practiced self-denial. Instead of buying candy, he "threw it into the box." Now, Japanese boys and girls like candy and cakes, just as American children do; and I remember when I was a boy how hard it was to do without candy when I had the money in my pocket. (2) Shiro was right when he said, "I think that, though small the amount be, it will be of some help in getting things for God." This is very true! Our mission collections are not made up of a few large gifts from the rich, but from the very many contributions of the poor. The children of the M. E. Church give every year nearly $300,000 for missions. I wonder how much the children of our church give? I hope all the boys and girls who read this will, from this time, begin to save their money to build houses for God and to send missionaries to those who are not Christians. You may not be able to give much money, but even your small amount "will be of some help in getting things for God." If each child in our church would only give one cent every day for missions for a year, at the end of the year they would have given more than our whole church gives for that cause during the entire year. Suppose you try. Begin to save your pennies and your nickles, and give them to God for the salvation of the world. Pray for Japan, and pray for the Sunday-school children at Iwakuni.

W. E. TOWSON.

Kobe, Japan, Oct. 13, 1891.

SCIENTIFIC.

The Modern Lighthouse.

Practical humanity finds one of its noblest illustrations in the work of establishing lighthouses along the coasts. And no work of the several governments has shown finer progress. The first lighthouse of real importance in the world was constructed less than two hundred years ago—the famous Eddystone Lighthouse erected in 1698. In 1789, when the United States assumed the charge of the lighthouses in the maritime States there were only eight along the whole American coast. At the present time there are near 800 in this country, the total lighthouses in the world numbering some 6,000. During the last hundred years our government has spent over $90,000,000 in the erection and maintenance of these coast beacons. Iron has been used more and more in their construction, and skeleton iron towers are now erected where the soil affords no adequate support for a masonry foundation. In the later masonry structures the stones of each course are dovetailed together laterally and vertically, and the whole exterior is covered with hydraulic cement, so that the stones can not be separated without breaking. Lighthouses are identified by mariners by the peculiarity of their lights. These are known as fixed, revolving, flashing, colored, and intermittent lights of unequal periods, group-flashing lights with revolving or intermittent characteristics over small areas, and intermittent flashing lights. America has been in the vanguard of civilization in the matter of lighthouses. In time it is expected that the entire coast line of the world will be marked by lights. But many dangerous points have yet to be provided for, notably on the Gulf of Mexico, on the Central American and South American coasts: these can only be provided by international co-operation, as at Tangier and on the coast of Morocco, where several nations, including the United States, maintain lights conjointly.—Christian at Work.

THE GLACIAL PERIOD.—Before the Technical Society of the Pacific Coast, San Francisco, Marsden Manson, engineer of the harbor commission, lately advanced a theory to account for the formation of the glacial period.

As a basis for his theory, he laid down this general law, as he called it: A terrestrial sphere, in passing from under the influence of interplanetary heat to the influence of solar heat, must experience a glacial period, because of the remarkable properties under different degrees of heat and cold possessed by water.

The earth was once a ball of fire. As it began to cool a crust formed, and the air around the earth began to be cooled. This caused the aqueous vapor in the air to form water. But the internal heat of the planet was still intense, and an immense radiation of heat and a corresponding condensation of vapor arising from the seas went on constantly. Solar heat had not yet penetrated the cold atmosphere between the sun and the earth. As the heat of the earth decreased, the condensation of vapor surrounding the earth as fog and cloud increased, until layer after layer of condensed vapor surrounded the planet. Successive ice sheets were formed, and as the earth grew colder these ice sheets came nearer the earth, and finally shrunk down to it. Then the glacial period was on the earth. But the heat of the planet now ceasing to affect its crust, there was no more vaporizing going on. All was ice and snow; the mists and vapors were cleared away. Then the sun had a good chance, and it was not long before his rays pierced through the ether to the ice-bound earth. The ice began to melt, and the glacial period began to decline. When it was over, the earth's crust had passed under the influence of solar heat, and the seasons began.—Scientific American.

SMOKELESS POWDER.—The most evident advantage of the new powder lies in the small amount of smoke created, which allows of better aim and, consequently, better shooting. . . . A further advantage is the better leading of the firing troops, the clearer observation of the individual and of the effect of fire. Unless required for other reasons, the absence of smoke also allows of the pauses, formerly considered indispensable during the period of rapid fire, being omitted. On the enemy's side it prevents his recognizing at once the exact situation of the defensive position to be attacked. In conclusion, the battlefield is rendered far more open to observation. These advantages may be claimed equally by the troops employed in the attack and in the defense. Opposed to them there are certain disadvantages to be recognized. The uncertainty of the aim (determining the enemy's position) will be greater than formerly, which will detract from the advantage claimed for clearer observation. The difficulties of command will be enhanced by this circumstance; they demand a higher tactical ability and initiative from leaders of all ranks. The difficulty of recognizing the enemy's position will demand a more thorough reconnoissance and render the command more than formerly dependent on reports of others.—Col. V. Lobell, in United Service Journal.

KITE ELECTRICITY.—The most important recent experiment regarding atmospheric electricity in England, carried out by Mr. Alexander McAdie, seems to take one back to the very infancy of electrical science; for, though the conditions were somewhat different, the operation was substantially identical with Benjamin Franklin's historical experiment with the kite. What Mr. McAdie has demonstrated is that electricity can be drawn from a kite high in the air in a cloudless sky. The kite, Mr. McAdie states, discharged sparks from the lower end of an insulating wire reaching to the earth, where an electrometer partly measured the increasing electric force. So nearly did the quantity of electricity in the upper air correspond to the height of the kite above the earth that the experimenter could usually determine whether the kite was rising or falling by simply looking at the needle of the electrometer. This is an experiment that almost any of our young electricians may easily try, and they will find it very interesting.—Scientific American.

THE SOUND OF THE AURORA.—"As to the aurora making an audible sound," says Mr. William Ogilvie, in his "The Upper Yukon and the Mackenzie," "although I often listened when there was a very brilliant display, and despite the profound stillness which is favorable to hearing the sound, if any sound occurs, I can not say that I ever even fancied that I heard anything. I have often met people who said they could hear a slight rustling sound whenever the aurora made a sudden rush. One man, a member of my party in 1882, was so positive of this, that on Nov. 18, when there was an unusually brilliant and extensive display, I took him beyond all noise of the camp, blindfolded him, and told him to let me know when he heard anything, while I watched the play of the streamers. At nearly every brilliant rush of the auroral light he exclaimed, 'Don't you hear it?' All the time I was unconscious of any sensation of sound."

According to the New York Medical Record, "one-half the adult men in America living in our cities are bald-headed." How about the men in America who are not adult men? Have they plenty of hair?

The annoyance of breaking lamp-chimneys need not be borne.

Get tough glass chimneys. Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" are tough against heat; they do not break, except from accident. They are also clear, transparent, not misty, or milky; they fit and stand upright; shape and proportions are right to direct the draft upon the flame. They cost a little more than rough and wrong chimneys of common glass that break continually.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

Heavy Crops

The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Royal Germetuer

Music

For the Church.

BARNETT'S SELECTIONS AND VOLUNTARIES.

By James G. Barnett, Musical Director Yale College. 184 pages. Price $1.

This volume contains nearly 150 of the latest and best selections and voluntaries, of every variety.

MALE VOICE CHOIR.

Compiled and edited by L. O. Emerson. Price, postpaid, $1.

A book of devotional pieces for men's voices containing more than 100 excellent songs adapted for revival meetings and religious conventions.

VOICE IN PRAISE.

By J. G. Barnett, Musical Director Yale College. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

The music is of the higher order, but exceedingly pleasant, effective, and useful. And within the capacity of all well-constituted choirs of average ability. Solos, duets, and trios are included in the 39 songs.

CHOICE SACRED DUETS.

By Standard Authors. Heavy paper, $1; boards, $1.25; cloth gilt, $2.

Thirty sacred duets arranged with excellent taste and rare judgment. The new arrangement of the standard songs of the Church will especially please lovers of these charming songs.

CHOICE SACRED SOLOS.

Thirty-nine songs. 150 pages. Paper $1; boards, $1.25; cloth gilt, $2.

An exceptionally fine collection of Sacred Solos, adapted for soprano, mezzo-soprano, and tenor voices. The songs are not difficult, and are of that high, dignified character that always pleases singers who desire solos of this class.

☞ Any book sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price.

OLIVER DITSON CO.,

453-463 Washington Street, Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 867 Broadway, N. Y. | J. E. DITSON & CO., 1228 Chestnut St., Phila.

DONALD KENNEDY

Of Roxbury, Mass., Says:

Strange cases cured by my Medical Discovery come to me every day. Here is one of Paralysis—Blindness—and the Grip. Now how does my Medical Discovery cure all these? I don't know, unless it takes hold of the hidden poison that makes all Humor.

"VIRGINIA CITY, NEVADA, Sept. 4th, 1891.

Donald Kennedy—Dear Sir: I will take my ease to you: About nine years ago I was paralyzed in my left side, and the best doctors gave me no relief for two years, and I was advised to try your Discovery, which did its duty, and in a few months I was restored to health. About four years ago I became blind in my left eye by a spotted cataract. Last March I was taken with La Grippe, and was confined to my bed for three months. At the end of that time, as in the start, then it struck me that your Discovery was the thing for me, so I got a bottle, and before it was half gone I was able to go to my work in the mines. Now in regard to my eyes, as I lost my left eye, and about six months ago my right eye became affected with black spots over the sight as did the left eye—perhaps some twenty of them—but since I have been using your Discovery they all left my right eye but one; and, thank God, the bright light of heaven is once more making its appearance in my left eye. I am wonderfully astonished at it, and thank God and your Medical Discovery. Yours truly,

HANK WHITE.

MARRIAGES.

TIDWELL—ROOT.—In the Methodist Church, Greensburg, La., Nov. 11, 1891, by Rev. P. Howard, Mr. James O. Tidwell and Miss Lillie Root, both of Greensburg, La.

CONNELL—POITEVENT.—At the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. Geo. Shelby, near Shelby, Miss., Nov. 5, 1891, by Rev. W. W. Woollard, Mr. Wm. Connell to Miss Lula Poitevent.

ERONS—JACKSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Nov. 11, 1891, by Rev. Geo. Bancroft, Miss Sallie L. Jackson to Mr. H. B. Erons.

RICHMOND—THOMPSON.—At the residence of David Henderson, Walnut Grove, Miss., Nov. 11, 1891, by Rev. Irvin Miller, Mr. B. F. Richmond to Miss Rose Thompson.

LUCIUS—CROW.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Geo. Crow, Nov. 8, 1891, by Rev. W. W. Williams, Mr. D. A. Lucius and Miss Maggie Crow, both of Winston county, Miss.

LEE—BROWN.—Thursday, Nov. 12, 1891, by Rev. John T. Sawyer, Mr. Robert E. Lee and Miss Sarah Lillian Brown.

GAGE—SPEAKS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. L. Q. Speaks, Louisville, Miss., Oct. 28, 1891, by Rev. W. W. Williams, Mr. A. W. Gage to Miss Alice Speaks.

ATKINSON—HOPKINS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. F. Hopkins, Oct 29, 1891, by Rev. W. W. Williams, Mr. W. J. Atkinson to Miss Emma Hopkins, both of Winston county, Miss.

BARRON—LEE.—Oct. 29, 1891, by Rev. J. F. Wynn, Mr. J. H. Barron to Miss Charlotte E. Lee, both of Rapides parish, La.

NANCE—RANDALL.—At Mr. Ledbetter's, near Crawford, Miss., Sept. 2, 1891, by Rev. T. C. Wier, Mr. James S. Nance to Miss Blanche Eleanor Randall.

WIER—TURNER.—In the Methodist Church, Starkville, Miss., Oct. 7, 1891, by Rev. T. C. Wier, Mr. Robert Koger Wier to Miss Alice Neely Turner, all of Starkville.

CRITZ—BELL.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Starkville, Miss., Oct. 22, 1891, by Rev. T. C. Wier, assisted by Rev. Dr. M. Morrison, Mr. James P. Critz to Miss Minnie Fay Bell.

TARRY—POWERS.—In the Presbyterian Church, Starkville, Miss., Nov. 10, 1891, by Rev. Dr. Raymond, assisted by Rev. T. C. Wier, Mr. George Tarry to Miss Allie T. Powers, all of Starkville.

OBITUARIES.

TURNER—Miss SUE EVELYN TURNER, daughter of J. S. and Lena Turner, was born July 1, 1875, and died at Vossburg, Miss., Oct. 24, 1891.

It was the pleasure of the writer to have the privilege of the most intimate association and, perhaps, to know more about the sweet and lovely characteristics of this bright and beautiful girl than anyone else, except her own parents. She had been a true and faithful member of the Methodist Church for about two years. She had been taught the essentials of true Christianity, from her infancy, by her devoted and Christian parents. I never knew a more perfect and Christ-like character than was manifested in this beautiful girl. It has been said that she never committed a sin. She was indeed, a pure, sweet and affectionate child. She was so kind, affectionate and obedient to her parents, and unusually devoted to her little brothers and sisters, always willing to sacrifice her own pleasure for the happiness and comfort of them. In the social circle she always won her way, by her kind and sweet disposition, into the hearts of all who knew her, both old and young. She was a true Sunday-school scholar, and her tender heart was full of the missionary spirit; always ready and willing to do something that would honor and glorify the God whom she served. Indeed, it can be truthfully said that all things pure, lovely, good, Christ-like and praiseworthy were concentrated in our dear little friend, Sue. We can not question God's way of dealing with us; but, oh! how can we help lamenting the death of one whose influence over both old and young was so beneficial? Why we were not permitted to have her lovely presence longer the God of heaven can only tell. She was a favorite with all, and her death was a severe blow to her relatives and friends. The loss is, indeed, ours, not hers, for "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." We know that she died in the Lord, and that her soul has entered that rest prepared for such pure and devoted Christians as we know she was. But, alas! the loved one is gone forever. Thank God the dark clouds of grief are braced with the precious promise, "That it is our blessed privilege to meet her again in that happy and glorious home prepared for the people of God!"

She was tenderly nursed through her protracted sickness of twenty-nine days by her affectionate parents and anxious friends, and everything possible was done to arrest the progress of disease and prolong this valuable life. But all to no avail. Her remains were followed by weeping and sorrowing relatives and friends to the grave, where her precious body was placed to await the resurrection.

May God's grace sustain and keep the broken-hearted until we all meet again! Is the sincere prayer of the writer and devoted friend,

C. W. BUFKIN, M. D.

HALLMAN—OTHO RICHARD, son of E. and S. Hallman, was born July 15, 1889, and died Sept. 15, 1891, aged two years two months and three days.

Little Otho's life in this world seemed short, and yet 'twas long enough to entwine itself about the hearts of papa and mama and sisters; and thus, being called by him who said, "suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of heaven," he more firmly binds or draws parents and sisters to that Jesus and to that kingdom of heaven.

May God strengthen the bereaved ones, and give them that comfort which he alone can give, until they are called home to join little Otho in praising him who has prepared a place for us and our dear little ones!

M. J. MILLER.

SANDERS—The subject of this notice, CHARLES S. SANDERS, was born near Canton, in Madison county, Miss., Dec. 24, 1852.

On Feb. 8, 1877, he was married to Miss M. E. Wallace, of Madison county, Miss. When quite a youth he joined the Methodist Church at Old Sharon. He moved to Texas, and lived there several years. He returned to Mississippi, and died a member of the church, at Canton, Feb. 3, 1891. He was a reliable man in all his dealings, a firm friend, a dutiful son, a thoughtful, kind husband, and respected and honored of all. T. B. HOLLOMAN.

MAXWELL—Miss COURTNEY V. MAXWELL was born Nov. 21, 1868; was received into the church in 1882, and died in Wesson, Miss., Oct. 20, 1891.

Miss Jennie was one of the sweetest and best of girls, deeply pious, and hence a willing worker. She prayed when called upon; often led the devotions at the home family altar. She died without a shadow to dim her hopes of glory. It is understood she was engaged to one of our promising young preachers. While the world is the loser, to her death is gain.

T. S. WEST.

McGUAGHY—Since it has pleased our kind heavenly Father to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Mrs. HEULAH McGUAGHY, we esteem it a pleasure to be thus privileged, as a committee from the M. E. Sunday-school, to place on record our deep realization of the loss we have sustained by the death of one so intimately known and so tenderly loved. We have lost a kind and amiable friend, a faithful and efficient co-laborer in our Master's vineyard. Actuated by pure and unselfish motives, she was ever ready and eager to do, cheerfully and gladly, the work of her Lord and Master. As a friend, she was constant; as a church member, she was true; as a daughter, she was dutiful; as a wife, she was loyal. Her character beautifully radiated the Christ-spirit always in love and charity with her neighbor; ever ready to minister cheerfully to the sick and afflicted, the poor and needy—a beautiful example of a regenerated soul. The lesson she taught us of a zeal without ambition, of a faith looking not for earthly reward, should and does help us all.

To the bereaved husband we would say: Remember the star that set upon your earthly home has now only risen in glory, and in purer skies is shining. The golden lamp of your happy fireside hours is now shedding its soft radiance in a much better home. The gates of pearl have swung wide on their musical hinges, and the angels have taken your dear wife to be nurtured in Jesus' bosom; and, oh! she is so safe there, and there, too, she will be, to give you glad welcome from your longer and rougher pathway home. May Jesus himself, "who did bleed at the very feet of grief," bind up your bruised and broken heart, and help you to say: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I fear not; thou art with me, thy rod and thy staff, they comfort me."

Resolved, That while we, the members of the M. E. Sunday-school and Church, will miss the genial presence of our associate member and co-laborer—oh! so sadly: yet we bow in humble submission to the will of him "who doeth all things well," and will strive to follow the example she set us.

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved husband and relatives our heartfelt sympathy and condolence; and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the city papers, the husband and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE.

Mrs. H. E. HIGH, for Com.

BUCHANAN—Mrs. LU ANN BUCHANAN, the wife of D. C. Buchanan, and the only daughter of old Bro. Charley and Lizer Edmonson, departed this life at her home, six miles east of this place, Oct. 29, 1891. Sister Buchanan was born Nov. 19, 1855, and was married to D. C. Buchanan, Jan. 6, 1876, and joined the M. E. Church, South, September, 1870, and lived a consistent Christian up to the day of her death.

Sister Buchanan leaves a husband and seven children, one infant boy, and one brother, an aged father and mother and relatives to mourn her departure; but their loss is her gain. Sister Buchanan was a faithful wife to her husband, a loving and dutiful child to her parents, and, as a mother, she was affectionate to her children; as a friend and neighbor, kind and generous. Her death has created a vacancy that can not be filled, and cast a dark shadow over the whole community; and, while we, with sadness, lament the loss of a dear friend and sister of our church, we know the stroke falls heaviest on the aged parents and the devoted husband and sweet little children, to whom she was dearer than all the world besides. Yet we must meekly bow in submission to the wise decree of our blessed Lord, who doeth all things well. Her beautiful life is ended, and she rests in the Savior's joy. May the husband and the children so live here in this life as to prepare them to meet her in heaven! She is gone to make heaven sweeter to you, because you know mother is there.

J. H. EVANS.

Williamsburg, Miss.

HARRIS—Sister HARRIET HARRIS (nee Stokes) was born June 19, 1815; was married to Albert H. Harris, Dec. 22, 1830; was left a widow Feb. 5, 1863, and died in Carroll county, Miss., Nov. 2, 1891.

She was a member of the Methodist Church for twenty years, but for nearly thirty years had been a member of Acona Missionary Baptist Church, in which she died in full fellowship. It was my good fortune to know Sister Harris for near two years, and it always did me good to hear her express herself so confident in all God's promises. She was almost an invalid for a long time before her death, suffering from asthmatic and bronchial affection. She was kind and gentle, affectionate to a high degree to her children and grandchildren, who will miss her in all the time to come. I feel that I have lost a true friend and sister in Christ Jesus; but heaven is richer while we feel that we are poorer.

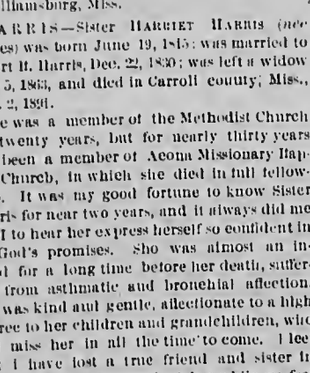
Sister Harris leaves two sons and two daughters and a number of grandchildren to mourn their loss. May God comfort and sustain them! May her only brother, Henry Stokes, and his only son, William, together with all her loved ones, be brought to join her "in the bright beyond." Farewell, Sister Harris: suffering is over, heaven is gained, and, by the grace of God, I'll meet you "by and by."

B. F. PHILLIPS.

REED—PEARL ARTIMESIA REED died Aug. 13, 1891, aged three years and seven months.

Weep not, loved ones; your little Pearl is safe in the arms of Jesus in that land where there will be no more parting. Did our little Pearl live a few years on this earth of ours in vain? No, no. The mission of her brief stay was fulfilled, and her going away has widened our vision, so that we can almost see the glint of the glory inside the pearly gates. Dear little girl, she loved the flowers so well! She now lives where there are ever-blooming flowers. May the Lord keep us faithful, that we may meet little Pearl on the golden shore!

AUNT JANIE.



Teacher—If by the use of

Wolff's ACME Blacking

you save one pair of Shoes a year, and a bottle at 20 cents lasts three months, for how many years blacking will one year's saving in shoe Leather pay?

10c Will pay for the Cost of Changing Plain White Glass vessels to Ruby, Emerald, Opal, or other Costly Glass. 10c

PIK-RON

FOR GLASS WILL DO IT.

North, East, South, West.

That's where Pearline goes.

Wherever there's hard work for women, there it's needed. Easy washing goes with it. Easy washing and better washing. Washing that doesn't wear out the clothes, or hurt the hands or fabric, or tire the washer. Washing that saves money but costs no more than the washing that wastes it. When it does all this and more, is it any wonder that Pearline goes? And it does go. It goes to the help of millions of women every day. But there are some who won't be helped. And they're the ones who need it most.

Blowing Peddlers and some grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—but what a puff for Pearline. 198 JAMES PYLE, New York.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

PIANOS! PIANOS! PIANOS!

Organs! Organs! Organs!

All of the Leading Makes To Be Had Here.

Lowest Prices. | Easiest Terms.

Liberal Discounts to Teachers and Schools.

TELEGRAPHY Thorough, Practical Instruction. Graduates assisted to positions. Catalogue FREE. Write to Bryant & Stratton Business College, LOUISVILLE, KY.

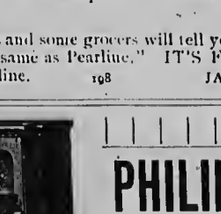
LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronna and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.



SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel, Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices! | Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

MAGIC LANTERNS AND STEREOPTICONS afford the best and cheapest means of object teaching for Colleges, Schools and Sunday Schools. Our assortment of Views, illustrating art, science, history, religion and travel, is immense. For Home Amusement and Parlor Entertainment, etc., nothing can be found as instructive or amusing, while Church Entertainments, Public Exhibitions and Popular Illustrated Lectures— PAY WELL. An instrument with a choice selection of Views makes a splendid Holiday present. We are the largest manufacturers and dealers, and ship to all parts of the world. If you wish to know how to order, how to conduct Parlor Entertainments for pleasure, or Public Exhibitions, etc., for MAKING MONEY, send us your name and address on a postal card (naming this paper), and we will mail you our 208 PAGE BOOK FREE.

McALLISTER, Manufact'g Optician, 49 Nassau St., N. Y. City.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge, Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward.

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,

Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,

Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,

Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low.

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED, New Orleans, La.

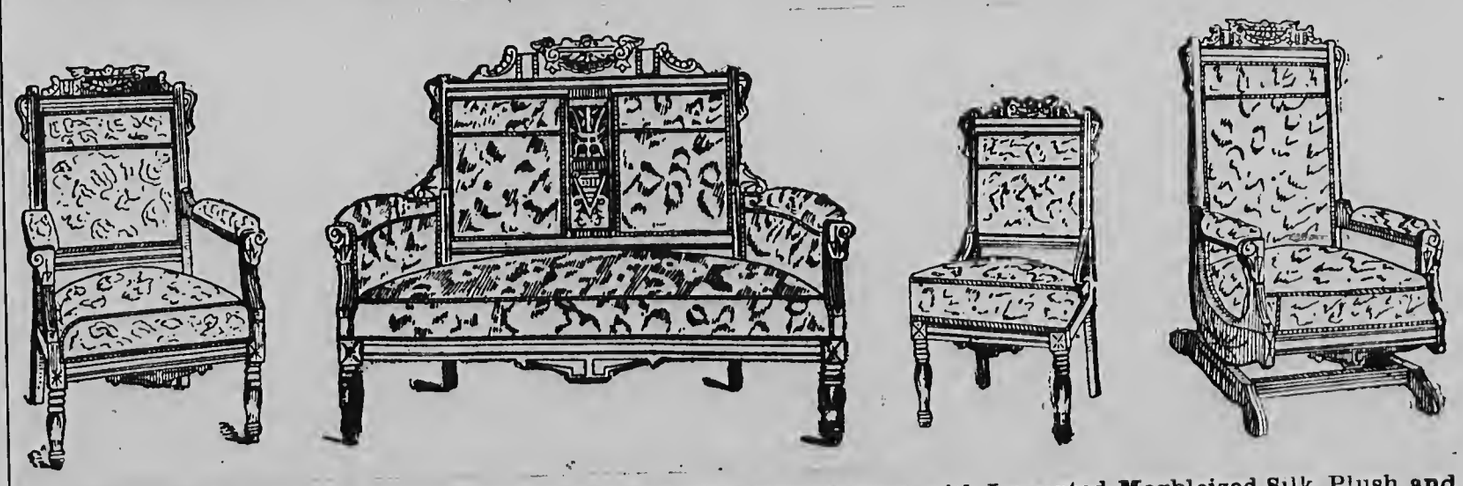
B. D. WOOD & SONS,

113 Common Street.

COAL AND COKE

We are prepared to furnish Families, Planters, Foundries, Steamships, Steamboats and all consumers of Coal or Coke at Lowest Market Rates.

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:--one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs. Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $20 up-wards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 up. $40 up to $1000. Dining room suits, eight pieces, from $17 upwards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 up. Quality at top—prices at bottom. I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded.

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30 | J. G. GRANT, | CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30

From Delmonico's Kitchen.

NEW YORK, February 11.

In my use of the Royal Baking Powder I have found it superior to all others.

I recommend it as of the first quality.

C. GORJU,
Chef, Delmonico's.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5 13-16	— —
Ordinary	6⅜	— —
Good ordinary	6 13-16	— —
Low middling	7 5-16	— —
Middling	7½	— —
Good middling	7⅝	— —
Middling fair	8¼	— —
Fair	9⅝	— —
Galveston middling	— —	— —
Mobile middling	— —	— —
Memphis middling	— —	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	2 13-16	2⅞
Fully fair	2 13-16	2⅞
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	2⅝	2 13-16
Prime yellow	3 5-16	3½
Gray white	3¼	3½
Choice white	— —	3
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	23	24
Good common	20	21
SYRUP	24	26
RICE.
No. 2	3¼	— —
Good	4½	4⅝
Fair	4⅝	4⅞
Prime	— —	— —
Rough, ₩ bbl	2 00	4 10
Polish'd, ₩ ton	22 00	24 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	4 80	4 90
Fancy	4 40	4 50
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	3 00	5 30
Winter wheat patents	5 00	5 12½
Minnesota bakers	3 00	5 25
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	2 85	2 90
Cream meal	6 50	— —
Grits	3 60	— —
Hominy	3 55	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	1 61
Yellow	— —	1 67
Mixed No. 2	— —	65
OATS
Western	40	42
Texas rust-proof	58	59
BRAN:
₩ ton	95	97½
HAY:
Prime	14 00	13 00
Choice	15 50	16 50
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	— —	10 25
Prime Mess	10 37½	10 50
Rumps	— —	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	— —	11½
Shoulders	6⅛	6⅜
Sides, short rib	7⅛	7⅜
Sides, long clear	7⅛	7⅜
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	9⅝	10
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	5⅛	5⅜
Sides, short rib	— —	6¼
Sides, long clear	— —	8⅜
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	17⅝	— —
Fair	17	— —
Common	14	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Ho-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	31	— —
Western Dairy	22	23
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	5½	— —
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7⅜	— —
Coal, cases	13½	14
Cotton seed, crude	23	26
Lard, Extra No. 1	50	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ head	6	6
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 60	1 85
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 75	3 00
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb. ₩ yard	7	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb. ₩ yard	— —	6⅛
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	7½	12½
TIES:
₩ bundle	— —	1 35
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 00	3 50
Young Chickens	2 00	3 50
Chickens, Southern	2 75	3 00
Young	1 50	2 00
Turkeys, Southern	10 00	12 00
EGGS:
Western	23	26
Southern	25	26
WOOL:
Lake ₩ lb	21	21½
Louisiana	17	19
Burry	10	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	3½	— —
Dry salted	3	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	10 00	— —
Meal	27 50	— —
Pure ground bone	30 00	32 00
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	2⅜
Sulphuric acid	— —	2½

—New Delta, Nov. 24.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1021 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Zion	Nov. 28, 29
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg....(Tu.)..	Dec. 1
Heidelberg, at Philadelphia..(Thu.)..	3
Eastabutchie, at Eastabutchie	5, 6

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Gallman circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	Nov. 28
Providence	28, 29
Pleasant Grove ct., at Pleasant Grove	Dec. 1
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel	5, 6

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meridian ct., at Chunkey.....(Thu.)	Nov. 26
Winchester circuit	28, 29
Marion circuit, at Curtis Chapel	Dec. 5, 6
Meridian, at Central.....(Mon. night.)	7

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Live Oak, at Pine Grove	Nov. 28, 29
Jackson station	Dec. 2
St. Helena, at Greensburg..(morning).	5
Amite City, at Amite City.....(night).	5, 6
Franklinton, at Fisher's	7

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Ridge, at Oak Hill. ...(Fri.)..Nov.	27
Jackson, at First Church	28, 29
Jackson, at Capitol Street	28, 29
Benton.....(Tue.)..Dec.	1
Yazoo circuit.....(Wed.)..	2
Canton	5, 6

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND

Grand Cane, at Bethel	Nov. 28, 29
Caddo circuit, at Keachie	29, 30
Mansfield station	Dec. 5, 6
Shreveport mission	12, 13

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Columbia, at Columbia	Nov. 28, 29
Castor, at Ebenezer.....(Tu.)..Dec.	1
Colfax and Boyce, at Boyce	5, 6
Bayou Bœuff, at Fairview..(Wed.)..	9
Alexandria	12, 13
Ada	13, 14

J. IVY HOFFPAUIR, P. E.

The Best I Ever Used.

So says Dr. S. S. Herrick, former secretary of the Louisiana State Board of Health, speaking of Marsden's Pectoral Balm, which he recommends as the best remedy for coughs, croup, colds, bronchitis and sore throat.

The keeper of a bar-room in San Francisco, while among his casks in the cellar, was killed by the explosion of an empty cask, one of the staves crushing his skull. His light ignited the accumulated fumes in the cask.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

Gilderoy's "Odd Hours" delights me. The young people—older ones also—who read it will find it good for them. It is sound, pure, good, funny, entertaining, instructive. I wish every boy would read it; it would help him to be a man.

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD.

The Parsonage, Los Angeles, Cal.

THROUGH SUEZ.

Bonaparte broached the plan of re-cutting through Suez. Half a century later Engineer De Lesseps did it. He actually changed geography. He broke a continent in two for the world's commerce. An old man now, Count de Lesseps writes for The Youth's Companion, in humorous, charming vein, how he came to build the canal.

Cheap Excursion to New Orleans.

Agents of the Queen and Crescent Route on Dec. 1 will sell tickets at all stations between Meridian and Slidell to New Orleans and return, at one fare for the round trip, good until Dec. 7 for return.

The Favorite.

For twenty-five years Marsden's Pectoral Balm has been well and favorably known in the South. It is an unfailing cure for la grippe, coughs, colds and croup in children.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

It has been decided to hold the next Republican nominating convention in Minneapolis.

The Plaquemine Lumber and Improvement Company, Limited, recently had its dry-house, together with 800,000 shingles, destroyed by fire.

A storm originated in Southern Georgia on Nov. 23, and, swooping northward and eastward, caused much disaster in various portions of the country.

The directors of the Pan-American railroad held a meeting in Chattanooga, Tenn., on Nov. 20. It is said the road has important and valuable grants of right-of-way from the Mexican government.

The effort to remove the body of Gen. Grant from Riverside to Arlington National Cemetery will be renewed at the coming session of Congress. The friends of the removal have been quietly, but actively at work.

An organization has just been formed in Washington, D. C., called the Anti-Civil Service League, with the avowed purpose of securing the repeal of the civil service law. A Mr. Stevenson, of New York, the head of the organization, virtually admits its motto is, "To the victors belong the spoils."

The announcement of the agreement between the representatives of the State and the Olcott committee of an equitable plan for the settlement of Virginia's debt is received with rejoicing throughout the State. For twenty-five years Virginia's finances have been the subject of more or less controversy.

The suggestion for a pension fund for Mrs. Jefferson Davis was made during her stay in Richmond, last week. It was, however, unknown to Mrs. Davis. The idea is for the Virginia Legislature to make the initial move, which it is believed will be readily followed by the States which composed the Southern Confederacy.

A great deal of discussion is heard among the farmers of Alabama about the necessity of reducing the acreage of cotton, and by the reduction to raise the price of the staple. Many farmers are daily writing to Commissioner Lane, of the Department of Agriculture, making suggestions or asking information as to the proper crops to take the place of cotton. One of the crops which is being most frequently suggested is tobacco.

Argument was begun in the United States Supreme Court, on Nov. 20, in the cases in which the constitutionality of the recent anti-lottery law is involved. The suits are those brought by the United States against John N. Rapier, publisher of the Mobile Register, and George W. Dupre, publisher of the New Orleans States, for violation of the law prohibiting the sending through the mails of newspapers containing lottery advertisements.

The Farmers' Alliance, which was in session in Indianapolis, last week, has split on the sub-treasury scheme. The dissenters protested against any action of the supreme council that proposes to commit the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union to the proposition that provision be made by the Federal Congress for government loans of money to individual citizens upon farm mortgages as security, or to the demand for government ownership or control of railroad property and transportation; that the schemes are unconstitutional, impracticable, conflicting with the spirit of the Alliance movement, and tending to government paternalism and state socialism. The dissenters have issued a call for a meeting in Memphis on Dec. 16.

FOREIGN.

It is said that Dictator Fonseca, of Brazil, finding himself unable to cope with the revolutionary movement in that country, has resigned his office.

The refusal of the German government to permit bankers to bolster up the Russian credit ends for a long time to come the chances of Russia borrowing money abroad, and strengthens the chances of peace.

Reports from Shanghai state that the situation arising from the recent action of the mobs in attacking and threatening foreigners in the province of Hunan is more satisfactory, owing to the energetic action of the representatives of the foreign powers.

Permission has been granted the Brazilian Cable Company to connect Valparaiso with the Eastern Chilian frontier, where Sir John Pender has undertaken to connect it with the Buenos Ayres Line. The American companies will also connect with Buenos Ayres from Valparaiso.

A motion supported by the Conservative party was presented to the German Reichstag, on Nov. 20, demanding that the government introduce a bill placing the bourses under the control of the State, and rendering persons who gamble on time bargains, and especially in articles of consumption, liable to criminal prosecution.

The English Liberal leaders have decided to incorporate in the platform approved at the Newcastle conference an English tenants' rights bill. The question of ameliorating the position of British farmers by giving them greater security for their capital and freedom from harassing covenants imposed by landlords has long been recognized as ripening toward Liberal legislation.

A severe prolonged shock of earthquake occurred in Japan on Oct. 28. It was the most disastrous experienced since that of 1855. The greatest damage to buildings and loss of life occurred in the prefectures of Achi and Gifu, in which nearly 4,000 people were killed outright and 4,000 seriously wounded. In those two prefectures 42,000 houses were totally destroyed. The number of provinces throughout which the disturbances were strongly felt numbers thirty-one.

The World's Fair.

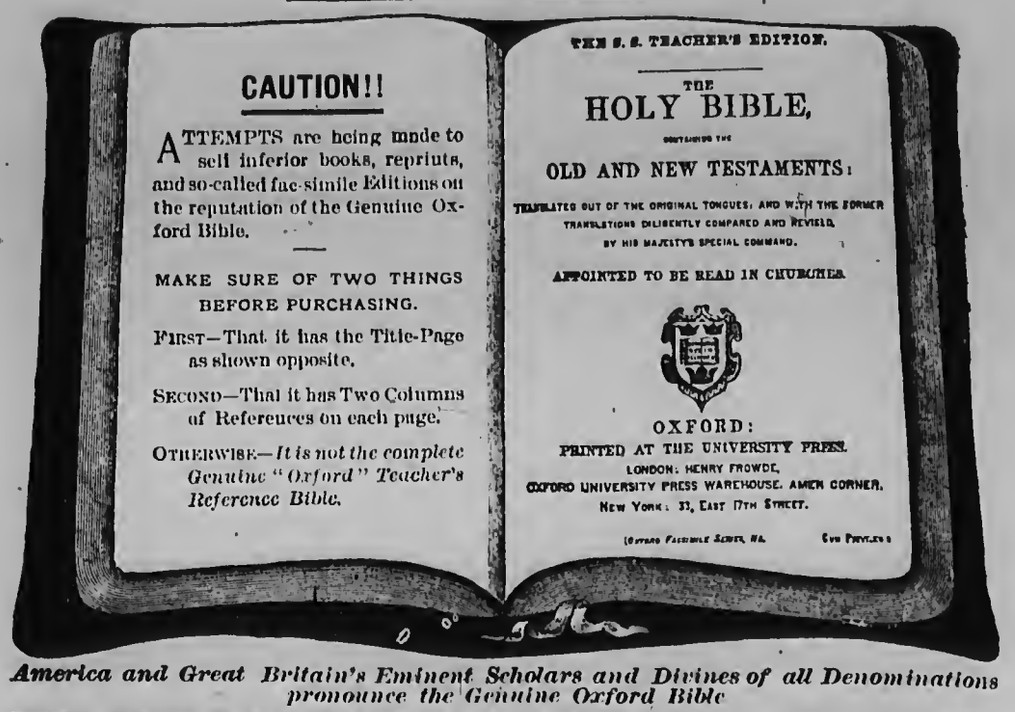
The South may claim, without prejudice, to have more than its share of the world's fair. The acknowledged beauty of the ladies of the South is due in a great degree to the use of Creole Female Tonic, the ladies' friend and favorite, and sure cure for all female ailments.

THE GENUINE "OXFORD" TEACHER'S BIBLE.

A Whole Library of Scriptural Knowledge in a Small Compass.

THE STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE IN PRINTING, PAPER, AND BINDING.

The Most Complete Helps.



America and Great Britain's Eminent Scholars and Divines of all Denominations pronounce the Genuine Oxford Bible

THE BEST AND MOST COMPLETE BIBLE PUBLISHED.

The Right Hon. Wm. E. GLADSTONE says: "These admirable Bibles must tend to extend the fame even of the Oxford Press."

Rev. C. H. SPURGEON: "The very best. I have carefully examined the volume, and can unreservedly recommend it."

Rev. T. De WITT TALMAGE, D.D., October, 1890: "During my recent journeying in Palestine, I found the 'Oxford' Teacher's Bible helpful, accurate, and indispensable."

Rev. J. M. BUCKLEY, D.D., Editor Christian Advocate, October, 1890: "This is the most complete work for its purpose within our knowledge. * * * It is our constant companion when absent from home—a library in itself."

Over One Hundred Styles on Rag Made and the FAMOUS "OXFORD INDIA PAPER," from $1.25 to $20.

ASK FOR THE GENUINE "OXFORD" EDITION.

FOR SALE BY ALL BOOK-SELLERS.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS,

"Oxford" Bible Warehouse, 33 East 17th Street (Union Square), New York.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF
NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. H. B. Trevillion, H. M. Ellis, Richmond Randle, T. J. Norsworthy, T. L. Lallance, Jno. F. Foster, A. H. Lea, W. W. Simmons, H. Bradford, R. D. Norsworthy (3), J. H. Rogers, E. S. Lewis, W. D. Buse, J. P. Drake, J. F. Wynn, L. Carley, W. R. Lewis, S. B. Norwood, M. H. Moore, H. C. Brown, B. F. Phillips (2), J. W. Poston, N. J. Roberts, T. J. Duncan, I. W. Cooper, S. H. Whatley, J. W. Ellison, W. E. Ballard, H. G. Hawkins, W. D. Dominick, I. W. Wood, A. F. Watkins, C. McDonald, J. C. Lowrie, H. M. Banks, Edgar C. McVoy, L. S. Jones, Thos J. Newell, L. D. Worsham, G. H. Galloway, O. Carraway, H. J. Boltz, J. M. Cowan, N. M. Clark, T. W. Lewis, T. Cameron, W. L. Hufield, Messrs. G. W. Walker, J. T. Bennett, J. W. Dodson, R. M. Tindall, N. A. Gaston, Lester L. Farnsworth, Dayton Hale, H. H. Harris, M. E. White.

Mesdames John A. Wurster, H. P. Harrington, E. Cowan, Emma Abbey Davis, J. R. Butler, Ellen E. Hebron.

Miss Sara Ellis.

Nov. 24.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Influenza is spreading in France and Germany. The epidemic has closed several schools in the department of Gers. France, and one school in the Pere La Chaise quarter of Paris. The epidemic has extended all over Berlin.

BAD COMPLEXIONS, WITH PIMPLY, blotchy, oily skin, Red, Rough Hands, with chaps, painful finger ends and shapeless nails, and simple Baby Humors prevented and cured by CUTICURA SOAP. A marvel as beautifier of world-wide celebrity, it is simply incomparable as a Skin Purifying Soap, unequalled for the Toilet and without a rival for the Nursery. Absolutely pure, delicately medicated, exquisitely perfumed, CUTICURA SOAP produces the whitest, clearest skin, and softest hands and prevents inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of pimples, blackheads, and most complexional disfigurations, while it admits of no comparison with the best of other skin soaps and rivals in delicacy the most noted and expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin soaps.

Sold throughout the world. Price, 25c.

Send for "How to cure Skin and Blood Diseases."

Address POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Aching sides and back, weak kidneys, and rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

KNABE
PIANOS.
UNEQUALLED IN
Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability
Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.

STAMMERING AND STUTTERING
Cured by DR. G. W. RANDOLPH, of Tenn.

A positive cure for any case of stuttering in a few days. Patient can talk easily by my method in one hour. Instructions given by letter if desired. TERMS REASONABLE.

Call on or address
DR. G. W. RANDOLPH,
131 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.

Reference.—Gov. J. M. Stone, of Mississippi.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the Large and Spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All Its Branches, and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this Institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director,
169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

BUY THE ENTERPRISE TINNED MEAT CHOPPER
THE BEST IN THE WORLD
SOLD BY THE HARDWARE TRADE
$3.00.
Send for Catalogue, FREE.
ENTERPRISE M'F'G CO. PHILADELPHIA

Epworth League.

Course of Reading for Year 1892.

I.—BIBLICAL

The prophecies of Isaiah. The Acts of the Apostles. The Epistle to the Hebrews.

II.—HISTORICAL.

McTyeire's History of Methodism. Vol. II..$1 00
Scenes in Pioneer Methodism. Miss Barnes. Vol. II..... 75

III.—BIOGRAPHICAL.

Centenary Cameos. Bishop Fitzgerald.... 70

IV.—MISCELLANEOUS.

The Shield of the Young Methodist. Dr. Hudson..... 50
Hand-book of Southern Methodism. Dr. Peterson..... 25
The Man of Galilee. Bishop Haygood.... 80

The entire Course, if ordered at one time (excepting the Scripture readings, which all members of the League already have), will be delivered for $1. Five sets on one order delivered at $3.50 each.

BADGES.

Sterling Silver Charm, 30 cents each. Per dozen	$3 00
Oxidized Sterling Silver Charm, 30 cents each. Per dozen	3 00
Sterling Silver Button, each	30
Oxidized Sterling Silver Button, each	30
Sterling Silver Pin, 35 cents each. Per dozen	3 60

MEMBERSHIP TICKET.

Single ticket, 2 cents. Per dozen..... 15

EPWORTH LEAGUE TRACTS.

No. 1. Constitution and By-laws. Free.
No. 2. The Work of the Epworth League. Price 50 cents per hundred.
No. 3. Topics for League Prayer Meetings. Price 25 cents per hundred.

EPWORTH LEAGUE RECORD-BOOK.

Contains Constitution and By-laws, Record of Officers and Members, with eighty pages for Record. Price 25 cents.

Order through your General Supporter, or

BARBEE & SMITH, Agents,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Lady Canvassers Wanted

TO SELL OUR NEW

Haut-ton Waists and Duplex Corsets.

Exclusive Territory Given.

Address Bortree M'f'g Co.,
JACKSON, MICH.

1892.

Harper's Bazar.

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S BAZAR is a journal for the home. It gives the latest information with regard to the Fashions, and its numerous illustrations, Paris designs, and pattern-sheet supplements are indispensable alike to the home dress-maker and the professional modiste. No expense is spared to make its artistic attractiveness of the highest order. Its bright stories, amusing comedies, and thoughtful essays satisfy all tastes, and its last page is famous as a budget of wit and humor. In its weekly issues everything is included which is of interest to women. The Serials for 1892 will be written by WALTER BESANT and WILLIAM BLACK. Mrs. OLIPHANT will become a contributor. MARION HARLAND'S Timely Talks, "Day In and Day Out," are intended for matrons, and HELEN MARSHALL NORTH will specially address girls. T. W. HIGGINSON, in "Women and Men," will please a cultivated audience.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S BAZAR	$1 00
HARPER'S MAGAZINE	4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	2 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The volumes of the BAZAR begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order.

Bound Volumes of HARPER'S BAZAR for three years back, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7.00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of $1.00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW YORK.

Do not forget that you can get all school books at Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh's, No. 106 Camp street, New Orleans.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 49. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1841.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

TERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
Rev. B. F. LEWIS, Ass't Editor.
J. G. GRANT, Publisher.
D.D.L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY. Remittances should be made only by money orders, express company orders, registered letters, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or bankers. Drafts on country banks occasion loss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. H. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

Our Thanksgiving Service.

Last Thursday a large congregation ...bered in Carondelet Street Church ...Thanksgiving services. The hymns ...re read by Dr. Evans, the opening ...ayer was offered by Dr. Beard, the ...criptures were read by Bro. LaPrade, ...e sermon was preached by Dr. ...Walker, and Bro. Sawyer made the ...osing prayer. Tho whole service ...as rich in fervor and earnestness, and ...ill, doubtless, be rich in fruitfulness. ...r. Walker's sermon was exceedingly ...ppropriate to the occasion and the ...es. He scored some prevalent evils ...the quick. By his permission we ...roduce, for the benefit of our read..., some points which we regard as ...pecially suited to the present evils ...t threaten our civil and social, as ...ll as religious, life. On the Sabbath ...ecration the Doctor spoke as fol...ws:

The first of these crying evils to ...hich I call attention is the flagrant ...ecration of the Sabbath. Among ...s to a sad and alarming extent, it is ...med from a day of rest, from a day ...f home life and domestic joy, from a ...y of devotion and consideration of ...r highest interest, to a sensuous holi..., cultivating sensuality, frivolity, ...d still grosser forms of immorality—...e only day in which we can hope to ...ll together the busy thousands, our ...ildren and young people. The peo..., and especially the young, are en...ed and drawn away by every device ...at human and infernal ingenuity can ...vise. In the daytime on Sunday ball ...ys, horse races, boat races, rifle ...ms, picnics and excursions. On Sab...h night, theaters and operas put ...th their most drawing attractions, ...loons and gambling hells are all in ...ll blast. No wonder it is so difficult ...rear and restrain our boys! No ...nder people of other States refuse ...eek our city as a home! No wonder ...at capital and enterprise have been ...pt away, notwithstanding we occupy ...e of the finest commercial sites in the ...rld! There is no such valley on the ...rth as the Valley of the Mississippi, ...h to every resource of wealth, with a ...bor here equal to any in the world, ...r climate delightful.

We never can be a Christian commu...ty in the best sense, without a day ...r rest and worship. If the day were ...olished, there would soon be almost ...o worship; and without worship, soon ...o religion; and without religion, soon ...e disastrous practical atheism that ...uld soon obliterate all sense of moral ...ligation, and men would soon be ...ttle better than moral monsters, and ...ll society impossible.

We must have a day of rest and ...orship. Health and morals demand .... Let us never cease our efforts and ...ayers for improvement in this re...ct. Let us on this subject, as good ...izens and Christians, vote as we ...ay.

The Doctor then gave the audience a ...w minutes' talk on intemperance, in ...hich he painted that evil in its horri...e colors, and paid a fine tribute to ...e work which is being done by the ...urches, and especially by the women ...f our land.

He ended his interesting sermon by ...ging his respects to the Louisiana ...ttery in the following plain, practi..., common-sense manner:

In calling attention to the evils that ...reaten and imperil all that is dear to ..., as citizens and men, I would call ...ention to the great moral battle that ...now upon us—the battle of truth ...inst lying, of honesty against legal...ed gambling.

I feel authorized to do this as a min...r of the gospel, because it is not a partisan question. I am proud, as an American citizen, to know that no political party of any name or section in our great country has put it in their platforms that they are in favor of a legalized gambling monopoly. No, it is not an article in any political creed in this broad land. It is only and simply an immoral institution seeking to perpetuate its power to make millions more by immoral means. As a minister of righteousness, set apart for the teaching and defending the right, I shall consider the aims of this institution, and warn my fellow-men against its seduction and its threatening perils.

In common with many of you, I have prayed against this evil, I have spoken against it, I have written against it, and I have voted against it. I am unable, as a professed Christian man, to see how I could have done otherwise. If a man is so benighted in the blaze of all the light that is shining, as not to see the broad distinctions between right and wrong, honor and dishonor, this wonderful dimness of vision may excuse him; he may be able to maintain a good conscience and vote to sustain legalized gambling. I say it may be possible for such a one; but with me such an act would be impossible; my conscience would protest against the outrage. In my profoundest convictions I believe it to be evil, and only evil, and that continually. What does this legalized gambling institution ask us free Christian men to do? Why, to commit an act of political suicide; to put ourselves on the slave market, and sell our liberties for the paltry sum of $1 per capita per annum—a spectacle without parallel in the political history of the world. This institution asks us, in practical effect, to give it the executive and legislative power of the State; to give it the judiciary and the congressional representation, that the laws may be enacted, interpreted and executed in its interest—in short, to give it the whole political power of the State. It asks us to permit it to educate a whole generation of our children and employees to hope and seek to live without honest labor; to breed up hundreds of thousands of gamblers in our midst, like cormorants, to devour, in some way, the earnings of honest industry. It asks us to permit it to absorb the wealth of the State, and the power to control all its various business in its interest; to boycott all opposed to its gambling methods, and power to make corners in all commodities, and oppress us at will. It asks us to aid and abet in the violation of the laws of our sister States. It already boasts of draining millions of their substance, and accumulating it in its hands, never to be returned. It, this gambling institution, asks us to assist it in violating the Federal laws of the general government. It asks us to sell our honor, and make ourselves a by-word and proverb of reproach in all Christian lands. It asks us to vote, in effect, to drive good men from our State, and to keep good men from coming to make it their home. It asks us to lead men into temptation, and to do to others as we would not have them do to us. But if gamblers sat down at the foot of the cross and gambled for the garments of the blessed Savior while he was yet writhing in mortal agony, dying for them and for us all, what is it that gamblers will scruple to do? Does some one say that "this is all sentiment"? What great thing is it that has not been the offspring of a sentiment? It is thought, opinion, the decision of the mind after considering and reasoning. Sentiment has kindled the loftiest aspirations; has inspired the most heroic daring, and endured the greatest losses and sufferings for the maintenance of principle and honor. When the British government proposed to raise a tax from the American colonies of only a half dollar per capita, without representation, and the lovers of liberty and justice revolted, there were those that said a war for such a reason was mere sentiment, wanting in common sense and common prudence. But our fathers thought otherwise. They saw that eternal right, rectitude and liberty were involved; and from Georgia to Canada, and from the Atlantic to the Alleghanies, rushed to arms with their small resources against a nation of largest purse and strongest arm in the world; and for seven long years Washington and his brave compatriots, on hard-fought fields, thinly clad and coarsely fed, and sometimes marking their line of march with bare and bleeding feet. These men fought for a great political principle, until they won the fight and wreathed their brows with the fadeless laurels of immortal glory.

This legalized gambling institution has become an immense and insatiable vampire, sucking the life-blood out of those least able to bear the loss. It has also become almost irresistible in the control of political power. It has controlled the votes of this city, and boasts it can control this sovereign State. If this immense monied power can, in this first term of its charter, do these mighty works of evil, what could it not do with a second charter? If this whelp has fangs and claws to rend and destroy, what might we not fear when it becomes a full-grown and terrible lion? The march of power is always onward, and from the many to the few. It is not in human nature to be satisfied with limited success. It reaches out its arms and grasps in all the shores. The wish to control the legislation in one State would certainly seek to annul all opposing legislation in other States. The power that can buy the Press, bribe orators, corrupt judges and destroy the freedom of elections, is an appalling power. All good men among us, irrespective of party, should awake to the danger. The policy of this institution shows that it calculates upon and appeals to the corruption of human nature; and as it has sold itself to work wickedness for money, it assumes that the majority of men are for sale, and if paid enough, will sell their manhood for money. Surely there must be in our citizenship tens of thousands who regard some things as worth more than money, and will say to the briber, in whatever guise he may come, as Gen. Reed, of Revolutionary fame, said to one who approached him: "I am poor, but Britain's king is not rich enough to buy me." Or, like our own illustrious Lee, when a corporation offered him a large salary to accept the presidency of their company. He replied he had no training or qualification for the place, and must decline the offer. They replied that they did not wish any service, but his name and influence. He replied: "It is not my services you wish, but my name you want. It is not for sale; it's my own, my family's and my country's."

In this contest for the honor and honesty of the State, we have all that money, unscrupulousness and sharp tactics can do to antagonize and overcome; but as the lovers and defenders of the right, let us not hesitate or fear. He that is for the right is stronger and wiser than all that can be against him. The sympathy of good men is with us, the public sentiment of all Christendom. I believe nothing human or infernal is strong enough to resist the force and weight of this universal tidal wave. It must go down. The right, like the rising sun, may struggle for a season with clouds and fogs, but the glorious orb will rise above them, will disperse them, and shine in triumphant splendor. A righteous cause, like truth, will at last prevail.

A temporary majority was against Noah and the righteousness he represented, but they lost the world and perished. A majority was temporarily superior to righteous Lot, but they lost their all, and miserably perished. A majority of the rulers in Jerusalem were opposed to Christ, and condemned Christ: but they lost their earthly all, and ended their careers in woe and death.

But, my brethren, my countrymen, God in human affairs works through means; helps those that help themselves. He will be sought unto. It is consistent with the government he has ordained over men, to do in answer to prayer what he will not do without prayer. Let us, then, as Christian men, come up to the help of the Lord against the mighty in frequent and fervent prayer. I presume no man has yet dared to insult the holiness of God by asking him to bless and sustain this legalized gambling institution. We don't think that any man who believes in prayer at all can pray for the success of gambling.

Let us do what we can to diffuse needed and useful information, that our fellow-citizens may see the appalling evils of this legalized gambling; that they may see the magnitude and importance of the crisis that is upon us; may see that every business and political interest in the State is in peril, and that they may see the importance of coming to the front with their whole strength. Let no man say that "we are out of our place; that it is none of our business." We resent the imputation of meddling beyond our sphere. It is our business, just in the line of our special work, to promote good morals and just and wholesome government.

Forty years of residence in this city, and forty years of earnest effort to do the people good, and to put down evil and to help in every good work, entitles me to speak as I have spoken this day. The Lord help us, and favor the right, and crown the efforts of good men with success.

The sermon was listened to with profound attention, and several "amens" were audible during its delivery. It was a good service from beginning to end.

The Lord's Prayer.—No. 10.

BY REV. J. B. WALKER, D. D.

For thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory forever and ever. Amen. This greatest of all prayers, the noblest of all petitionary compositions, closes with this sublime doxology, ascribing to God the rule, the power and glory forever and ever. It is suggestive of several thoughts that it may be profitable to consider. In this prayer we have ascribed to God universal paternity; and as the august Father of all spirits, we adoringly hallow his name. We ask that his kingdom, with all its righteous rule and countless benedictions, may "come" to bless all the earth. We ask that God's holy, wise and beneficent will may be done on earth even as the holy and the glorified do it in heaven. We ask that the Infinite Donor, from whom all blessings flow and all good gifts descend, would give us, his ever-needy children, bread day by day, as our needs demand. We ask him to do for us what no other being in the universe can do—to forgive our sins. We ask him, as one who has all power and all wisdom, to lead us not by his providence into such conditions as shall be sources of temptation to us, but to do what he alone can do, "Deliver us from evil"—evil that fills all the earth, and surrounds us, like a poisoned atmosphere, on every side. We pray all this prayer to God, with all its large requests, because, "For thine is the kingdom." God is the ruler supreme; he has the sublime prerogative to dispense mercies and blessings, for his is the "power." His arm is girded with omnipotence and love; he can do all these gracious things that we have asked. And we pray to God for these gifts because there is no disloyalty, no creature adoration in these petitions. His is "the glory;" it is only his, and his forever and ever.

All the glory of the starry heavens; all the glory of the earth, with its towering mountains, its vast oceans, its wide plains and its grand old forests, with its countless animated populations; and all the glory of man, with his grand works and greater possibilities—all is but the reflected glory of God, from whom all glory comes, and to whom all glory belongs.

This doxology, by the three pregnant words the divine Teacher employs, suggests the sublime and mysterious doctrine of the triune personality of God, as also do the benedictions of the Mosaic and Christian dispensations. "And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto Aaron and his sons, saying, On this wise ye shall bless the children of Israel, saying unto them, The Lord bless thee, and keep thee. The Lord make his face to shine upon, and be gracious unto thee. The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace." And so, "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen." And so the trine ascription of holiness to God, saying, "Holy, holy, holy," "Forever and ever." How infinitely does this statement lift our conceptions above all the short-lived glories of earthly monarchs, frail creatures of a day—a day so short that there is little time more than to say, "Hail and farewell!" A life so short that its work is little more than a chase for flowers, a smile to win them, and a tear to see them fade. But God's kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his glorious reign is an eternal reign. When time's far-wandering tide shall cease to roll; when earth is wrapped in its funeral sheet of flame; when the sun, like a transient spark, expires, he that is without the beginning of years, or the ending of days, but from everlasting to everlasting, shall reign in all the plenitude of eternal splendor and glory. This eternal Being is our Father, and we, his children, shall live parallel with him forever, and bask eternally in his paternal smiles of love. And to all this, and for all this, we say, "Amen." So be it. It is our supreme desire. We approve of it all, and so let all the people say, Amen!

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. G. R. Ellis, Estabuchie, Nov. 24: "I have one more appointment to fill, and then my year's work will have been completed. Sixty-one accessions to the church; a neat, comfortable parsonage and the Leaf River Camp Ground are some of the visible results of my labors this year. To God be all the glory. This is one of the hardest circuits in the Mississippi Conference. I will say to my successor, whoever he may be, that he will need two things on this work to carry him through—'grit' and 'grace.' Grit to enable him to contend with those who are ever ready to run over and trample under foot every high and noble undertaking, and grace to enable him to hold on to his religion. But, thank God! there are many good and noble men and women here who are ready and willing to hold up the hands of their preacher, and lend a helping hand in anything that will promote the interest of the church. Finances behind."

Rev. G. H. Jacobs, Olive Branch, Miss.: "Please allow me a small space in the ADVOCATE, for I want to say, Amen! to what Bro. Newell has to say about the work of Revs. Sam P. Jones and Geo. Stuart in Grenada, Miss. I was there most of the time, and I thank God that I was. I can say one was benefited by the preaching. Are we sure enough a consecrated people? If we are, what we have is also consecrated. It is not what we profess that is to decide this question; it is what we do that is to decide it. With all our wealth as a church, we have upon us a missionary debt of over one hundred thousand dollars. These things forced themselves upon my mind while I was trying to decide this question. May the Lord help us to be right in deciding this important question! Just a few days, and we are off for Conference. Our report on finances, I fear, will not speak well for the consecration of our people, and suppose we will do about as well as most charges. We have improved some this year. We have had about forty-five accessions during the year."

Rev. J. R. D. King, Walthall circuit, North Mississippi Conference, Nov. 20: "My year's work is now about finished. It has been fraught with pleasures, joys, and some regrets. My people are good and true (many of them noble specimens of Christian men and women), and have attested their appreciation of myself and my labors by their kind and courteous treatment and expressions. But, above all this, and far better, 'God has been with me,' blessing me and my people, and drawing us together by bonds more lasting and enduring than personal friendships. We are told that sanctification means a second blessing. Well, if that be so, I do not know what point I have reached; for I am sure that the Holy Spirit has filled my soul with divine joy more than twenty times this year. I 'guess' I am vingiate—sanctified. The results of the work have been grand and glorious. Nearly every old backslider has been brought back into the church, while the lukewarm and indifferent have been fired with new zeal and courage; the church lifted to a higher spiritual life and a broader Christian education—a life of 'faith by works.' Two hundred and fifty-eight have joined the churches during the year from our revival work—198 joined the Methodist Church, 56 the Baptist, 4 the Presbyterian, 1 the Campbellite. One hundred and seventy baptisms. Bros. Phillips, Jones and Foster assisted me in three of my meetings, doing splendid work. May God bless them! 'Praise the Lord, O my soul!'"

Rev. A. J. Foster, Sparta circuit, North Mississippi Conference: "Our fourth Quarterly Conference for the Sparta circuit, Aberdeen district, North Mississippi Conference, came off Nov. 7 and 8; our presiding elder, J. B. Stone, presiding with acceptability. Finances behind, though I am at work and hope to bring them up by Conference. I have held six protracted meetings on the work, with fine success. Have received into the church 47 members—40 by profession of faith, and 7 by letter; about 65 conversions. Have had good ministerial help at some of my meetings. God be praised for the good accomplished. I have been preaching to this people for forty years as a local preacher, and this year have been called to serve them as their pastor by supply. As their pastor, I have had some trouble at Palestine with a people who call themselves 'holiness,' or 'sanctified,' people; also known as 'come-outers.' When they first came into the neighborhood they carefully concealed their true object; said they had not come to interfere with any of the churches, but simply to raise the standard of piety higher in all the churches. At first they gained access to our church; but, after being better known, they were ejected by our trustees, which created some sympathy in their favor. After preaching here for two years, or more, on this style, they have at length let the mask fall, and now they are calling to the people to come out of these ungodly churches. They have a document in circulation here that makes war upon all the churches, calling them by a great many hard and ugly names. Then they have another that seems intended to follow the one making war upon the churches, that makes war upon the ordinances of the church, such as baptism, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and even upon the Sabbath day, saying that these were old Jewish rites, and passed away with them, and are not binding upon the Gentile world at all. They teach that one day is as holy as another, and that God, instead of commanding us to keep any particular day holy, he commands us to be holy ourselves. Disorganizers, sowing the seeds of discord among the churches and among the brethren, can it be possible that the spirit that actuates this people is the spirit of Him that was holy, harmless, undefiled, and separate from sinners? Some of our members have left the church, some others are on the fence, and some others who were in sympathy, on better acquaintance, ignore them altogether."

Rev. J. A. Randolph, Clarksdale, Miss., Nov. 24: "We are now just closing the third year of the administration of Bro. Standefer as presiding elder of the Greenville district. These three years have been an era of progress. Building upon the broad and liberal foundations laid by his predecessors, the work has gone steadily on, without let or hindrance, notwithstanding the difficulties that have been encountered. During these three years there has been an average annual increase in the membership of twenty-five per cent. There has been an average increase in the value of church property of over ten thousand dollars annually. New churches have been built at Rosedale, Hollandale, Indianola and Belen. New parsonages at Clarksdale, Lula, Gunnison, Indianola, Shaw and Cleveland. Repairs have been made on parsonages or churches at many places. At Friar's Point the church is being remodeled and much improved, while Clarksdale, Tunica and Hillhouse expect soon to have new churches. The money is in hand at Hillhouse. At Clarksdale notes for subscription have been given, payable in December and February; and at Tunica subscriptions are being made liberally. We have been thus specific in order to call attention to the almost marvelous growth of church interests in this district in the last few years. How much of this is due to the careful selection of men for the different charges, and the oversight and influence of the presiding elder, everyone will know who has noted the progress of any district under the administration of different men. The presiding eldership is an essential part of our itinerant system, and has been blessed of God; therefore, let us magnify the office and rally to the support of these men, who have no sinecure by any means. The faithful preacher has no better friend. How many preachers' salaries would be reported short but for the visit which the presiding elder made at his own expense a few days before Conference! Long live the presiding elder!"

Rev. C. McDonald, P. E., Woodville district, Nov. 26: "During a recent tour in the southeastern portion of the district, we made a few notes. On Sabbath, Nov. 8, we preached the sermon and dedicated Huff's Chapel, near Clio, on the Port Vincent charge. The house is a neat frame building, and stands where a church is much needed. Bro. A. Reousseaux and his neighbors deserve much praise. The name is in honor of Rev. Geo. W. Huff, the pastor last year, under whose direction the enterprise began. The present pastor in charge is doing well. Next I visited Covington and Tailsheck circuits. They were doing well. At Covington we have sustained a sad loss in the death of J. M. Simmons, Jr., the recording steward of his circuit, and a most valuable man. I was surprised to find along the lake-shore that rice and cane were so extensively cultivated. Cane is raised very successfully on this poor pine land, after the land has been freely fertilized. Near Pearl river we dined with a good brother who lives in a healthy country. The nearest physician is fifteen miles, and he said he was nineteen years old before he saw a doctor. Our good Bro. Abney, at Claiborne, is an extensive sheep raiser; has about five thousand head. At Bro. Clark's, near Madisonville, I saw his trees full of pecans, some of which have very thin shells. It strikes me that pecan culture is the easiest living in our delightful Louisiana climate. The fourteenth or fifteenth of November was the time of the quarterly meeting at Wesley Chapel, on the Springfield circuit. Here Dr. John Boyes lives. Formerly he was a member of the Mississippi Conference. It must be very gratifying to him to worship in the nice new church, now nearly completed. To see Methodism doing so well where the toils of an active life have been mostly spent is a joy of heart. Bro. Mellard is finishing his second year very successfully. The chapel put on quarterly-meeting airs. Floor swept, benches dusted, flowers decorating the house, everything indicating that the deft hands of the ladies had been at work. During this trip I preached eleven times and held four Quarterly Conferences."

A HAUNTING ECHO.

BY MARY E. BALDWIN.

There seems along the secret ways to glide
The faintest echo of a strain sublime,
Sung to the measures of an unseen hand
That sways behind the curtained doors of time.

Dost question, O my eager, list'ning soul?
Does fancy fashion it within the mind?
Or is it murmur of that mighty voice
That down the ages answers to its kind?

O gliding song! O aspiration's voice!
Whate'er thou art, where mortals strive or wait,
Still haunt their souls until the key they find
If thou art echo from the good and great!

—Chautauquan.

OUR CONTRIBUTORS.

The Rise of the Methodist Ministry.

The rise of Methodism itself was no less than an epoch in the history of the world. And it may as truly be said in regard to the ministry of Methodism. It was not merely the natural fruit of the then existing status of Christianity. It grew up, like Methodism itself, in the face of the most rigid protest. Without any human prestige or ecclesiastical patronage and authority, born of the Holy Ghost, it sprang up spontaneously out of the strongest necessity, and, clothed with divine authority, it was thrust out by the hand of Providence to do a special work in the world.

By all tokens, Methodism was not born into the world to institute and establish unecclesiastical hierarchy. If there was any truth or virtue in the pretentious dogmas of prelatical succession, or in the most elaborate ritualism, surely the world was saved by the existing forms. And there surely could not have been any necessity for the organization of a new and distinct order of priesthood, for everything that could be claimed and crowded into brilliant ceremonials was claimed by one or more, or all, the existing denominations, except the very thing which made Methodism a possibility or a necessity. Antiquity, catholicity, duration, prophecy, miracles, apostolical succession, unity, amplitude, etc., were all claimed. There was nothing lacking, so far as outward endowment was concerned. Methodism rose without any prelatical prestige, save in spirituality. Methodist preachers were mere laymen, mightily moved by the Holy Ghost to preach the gospel. They were not licensed nor ordained. Their credentials were spiritual endowment and the gift of utterance. With these qualifications they went out to battle and to victory. God was raising up a holy people under the superintendence and agency of Mr. Wesley and George Whitefield. These had no shepherd in Mr. Wesley's absence. Thousands were raised into the enjoyment of a high state of grace, for whom there were spiritual shepherds in the establishment to co-operate with their leaders as helpers. None were like-minded. The doctrine that Mr. Wesley preached and experienced was new to them, or they would not violate the rules of established decorum to give help to such formal disorder. Here was a treasure committed to the Methodists: a doctrine and experience. If the provision of a suitable and peculiar ministry for these people had depended on Mr. Wesley's appointment, I verily believe, with the facts before me, that Methodism would never have had a ministry nor an organization. But, as the Holy Ghost had given birth to the movement, it was designed to be perpetual; and, as he had not consulted Mr. Wesley in regard to its origin, neither did he in regard to its perpetuity. The Methodist revival would never have had a continuance after Mr. Wesley's death without separate organization. This necessarily implied a peculiar ministry. Doctrine must be incarnated and vocalized, quickened by spiritual power, to be permanent and effective. This priesthood over this people must proceed from the loins of its own tribe. There was a new flock and a new doctrine, and still a new experience animating this flock; and there must, of necessity, be a new ministry to lead the church. Mr. Wesley would have to adapt the English clergy to the new situation. This was his plan, if he had any. But the old wine-skins were not suitable to the new article, and the patch was stronger than the old garment.

But one thing is plain: Mr. Wesley made no plans for the development of Methodism. It was developed by the Holy Ghost in the absence of Mr. Wesley, generally, and he would make use of these developments, and adapt himself to them.

Maxfield was the first-fruits of this grand system. From that day the Methodists depended on the Holy Spirit for their ministry. Mr. Wesley never called his preachers; they went to him. They had no imposition of hands, no ecclesiastical license, but with a field designated by Mr. Wesley, where they should labor. And until the year 1784 not one of them was ordained, and then out of the regular order of ceremony. Theirs was not episcopal ordination. None of those at that time who labored in England were thus ordained. Only those who labored in Scotland and America. And those who labored in England never enjoyed this privilege until 1793, after Mr. Wesley's death. A spiritual experience, coupled with spiritual fecundity, were the credentials by which these men went; and they went under the authority of the Holy Spirit, with the consent of Mr. Wesley. And I candidly believe that they would have preached without his consent, and that from this juncture Methodism would have spread under this opposition. The irregularity of lay preaching was urged against Mr. Wesley's system. But he had set his hand to the plow, and as the regular clergy would not co-operate, he deemed it better to have holy unordained preachers than "mitered infidels." He made this rejoinder to his critics: "Soul-damning clergymen lay me under more difficulties than soul-saving laymen." But the critics and enemies of Methodism have tried at times to make the fling of ignorance at the ministry. Because, thank God! they came from the common walks of men, in a large measure; because they did not come of high and reputable blood, they were made the objects of ridicule. But Mr. Wesley was the patron of higher education, and while holiness and fruitfulness were first, he took great care in directing the studies of his preachers. No greater intellectual giants stand in the annals of any denomination than among the Methodist preachers. But the want of a liberal education has never been a barrier to admission into the Methodist ministry. God forbid that it ever shall. There will always be fields in which these servants of God can successfully labor. There can be no estimate of the good the Methodist revival has done the English Church, "our enemies themselves being the judges." A powerful intellect is not the criterion of a true minister of Christ. A full head, with an empty heart, will never save a soul. Mr. Wesley once said to Joseph Benson, "An ounce of love is worth a pound of knowledge," warning him against becoming too much absorbed in books. Alexander Mather, in considering this point, observed that "the only business and peculiar glory of a Methodist preacher is to awaken, convert and build up souls." If Methodism has any mission in the world to-day, this is its work. Here is a mission of evangelism. If her mission is otherwise than what it was at the beginning, let some prophet in Israel show wherein. Whenever we get above the work our fathers gloried in and triumphed in, then we cease to be their children.

Are not many Methodist preachers in this day seeking their glory otherwise than in an undivided consecration to God and the work of the Christian ministry? Are we not striving, many of us, to become poets, novelists, profound scholars, commentators, big preachers, popular preachers, than humble, conquering ministers of the Son of God? Is it not true that we have not the power with God and men that our fathers had? Are there not immensely less revival preachers than of old? Are not many of us seeking ease and riches, and taking after the world in its pursuit for pleasure? Are we wholly given up to our calling? Are we not partially to blame for the proportion of worldliness in the church? It has been the criterion from the earliest times that the piety and holiness of the ministry types that of the church. Methodism is not what it once was in its separateness from the world; and it is true sometimes that the ministry has gone down on a plane level with them.

The Methodist ministry is not a profession; it is a calling of God. Above all men, preachers should be holy in heart and life, as examples to the flock. The character of Barnabas is the model of every minister of Christ. "He was a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith."

ALEXIS BOWMAN.

[This is the last article Rev. C. H. Owen, of the North Mississippi Conference, prepared for the ADVOCATE. He had promised two more, developing some other features of the same subject; but death intervened, and he has gone to do service in another part of the Master's domain.—EDITOR.]

"The Collections Again. By 'X.'"

Under the above caption there appeared an article in the ADVOCATE, of Nov. 19, which seems to me to be very uncharitable, to say no more. I do not know who is taking refuge behind that forbidding letter "X." I do not know whether that letter is intended to represent the disposition of the writer, or whether it is just a breastwork from which to fire his shots of criticism at the beloved presiding elder as he goes around his district.

Be that as it may; the report from behind that cross letter misrepresents the presiding elders under whom I have served. In speaking of the duty of presiding elders to raise the Bishop's money, he says: "I do not know a presiding elder that does it, or even tries to do it." Now, I do not dispute that statement, as limited by his knowledge; but I am greatly surprised that such a statement is warranted by facts anywhere. My experience is just the opposite of "X's." In fact, every presiding elder under whom I have served has raised the Bishop's money on my circuit, and more, helped me to raise the other collections, and publicly and privately helped me much. He says, again, that the presiding elder "leaves this" (speaking of the Bishop's money) "in the hands of the pastor," and goes on to say, "If there is a deficit in the general collections, the average presiding elder says to the preacher: 'Make the Bishop's money full. It will not do to let him go unpaid.'" Well! well! I guess I never served under an average presiding elder, as I never served under one who talked or acted that way. He says, again, "That is a good sentiment, and covers up the presiding elder's neglect of duty. In the public report and in the printed Minutes the beloved presiding elders seem to have been the most faithful of men."

That is certainly a grave charge, and, if well grounded in fact, calls loudly for fasting and prayer that we may be rid of such hypocritical old sinners and fill their places with good and true men, men of God, who both know and love our doctrine and discipline, and who will do their duty, and not cover up their own failure by making the failure of the pastor greater and more apparent; thus injuring a brother that they may appear before the Bishop and Conference.

For one, I am not willing to entertain such a sweeping charge, nor let it go unchallenged against our presiding elders. There are some presiding elders, doubtless, who neglect their duty; but because that is a fact, it does not justify classing them all in an average class, and then charge them as such. As a class of men, I have never known a better, more consecrated class of men. Men who do more work for less pay, and take more abuse with as little reply, would, indeed, be hard to find. And if found at all, I dare say they would be editors.

Let me say, in conclusion, that the Bishop's money is up in full on my circuit for 1891, and my presiding elder, Bro. P. A. Johnston, raised every cent of it and helped me all he could with the other collections. And so it has been with every presiding elder under whom I have served. And I have noticed the same in other charges. Let the law of love prevail.

M. J. MILLER.

Some Thoughts Suggested by "The Deserted Village."

Just as the tastes of people vary in reference to certain articles of food, and a fondness for certain dishes has grown from a positive dislike by pure cultivation, so in the case of mental food a great fondness for certain classes of reading is often fastened upon one by diligent cultivation, while a distaste for other kinds is superinduced by mere neglect. And, indeed, this is well, because the mind by proper educative processes may be trained to seek the wholesome food found in good reading. Now, if there were less demand for trashy and obscene literature, there would be less of it on the market. Just as truly in this case as in any other is there a controlling law of supply and demand. But the fact is, there is no need for anyone to waste time on poor literature when there is so much of the good to suit all tastes—for there are as widely differing kinds of good reading matter as there are different kinds of nourishing food. Indeed, following out the analogy, one class of reading, kept up to the exclusion of all others, is as likely to lead to narrow-mindedness as one variety of food to a weak body. There are some who have little taste for poetry, yet all should cultivate it enough to appreciate the noble sentiments, the lofty truths, and historic facts handed down in all the beauty of a fine art from the world's greatest poets.

Pages might be filled with the names of these productions, some of which flash, as it were, into the very souls of their thoughtful readers, finding their reflection, it may be, in tears of hope or in tears of sorrow, or in a tear of laughter. Who can read Campbell's "Pleasures of Hope," or Goldsmith's "Deserted Village," without feeling a sense of pleasure and profit. The original purpose of this article was to set forth a few of the thoughts suggested by various passages in "The Deserted Village." The poet speaks thus:

"Ye friends to truth, ye statesmen who survey
The rich man's joys increase, the poor's decay,
'Tis yours to judge how wide the limits stand Between a splendid and a happy land."
Proud swells the tide with loads of freighted ore,
And shouting folly hails them from her shore."

Though he may entertain false theories concerning the general influence of wealth and luxury on nations, yet, with a skillful use of his own poetic expression, he not unpardonably, nor too severely condemns the individual accumulation of wealth. Indeed, the wealth of a country should not be in the hands of a few, and there will be oppression wherever such is the case; but from the very nature of men and the society which they form, there must be in every civilization the poor and the rich.

In the passage cited above, the poet, no doubt, contrasts certain classes of royalty with the laboring poor as they came under his observation in England and elsewhere, and it is not surprising that he found such marked contrasts as these:

"Here, while the courtier glitters in brocade,
There the pale artist plies the sickly trade."

Surely "the limits" would "stand wide" between a land full of the foolish splendor and destructive luxury found about the courts of England, France and other nations, and the simple life of the yeomanry or peasantry of those countries. But a land in which there is much of real splendor may be one in which there is also much of real happiness. As it is today, the wealth (in its various forms) and splendor of a country or nation to a large extent determines its progress and position among nations, commercially, intellectually, socially, and even religiously. If from any country "each needful product" should be sent out that "all the luxuries the world supplies" might be gathered in, we might certainly expect a fulfillment of the poet's prediction:

"While thus the land adorn'd for pleasure—all
In barren splendor feebly waits the fall."

It is scarcely probable, however, that such an experience will befall any of the nations now advanced in Christian civilization, although a misuse of wealth and an inexcusable prodigality may be seen on every hand. Nor should wealth or luxury on this account be condemned. If electricity has been used for the execution of criminals, it is not, therefore, unfit as an agent in the hands of proper directors for bringing incalculable blessings and conveniences to millions of earth's rich and poor. The same things which bless the rich are often as great a blessing to the poor; and the increased wealth of a nation may make the poor relatively poorer as a class, and yet greatly ameliorate their condition in more ways than one.

J. M. SULLIVAN.

Centenary College.

"The Evangelists."

We read what Bro. T. Cameron said about the "Evangelists," and also that of Bro. T. J. Newell. What the former said we were sorry to see in print; what the latter, we were glad to read. As Bro. Newell says, "The 'evangelists' need no defense." If success is the reward of merit, Bros. S. P. Jones and G. R. Stuart certainly have the pleasure of enjoying it. It is easy to find fault, to criticise. However, it is sometimes like a man's voice with its echo: it returns with as much force as he sent it. The servant with one talent complained, and it is usually that class who keep up the same line of fault-finding. Saying the least of it, we find more persons filling the condition of that servant, complaining, than otherwise. This, however, we do not intend to be applied to Bro. Cameron, for we do not know the brother. It may or it may not be applicable in his case. Bro. Cameron does, if we understand him aright, try to make it appear that the work of these "evangelists" does not stand. He quotes what some minister said as to his estimate of their work, that he would sell his stock in the result at ten per cent., and that of another at seventy-five; hence concludes, if we understand him, that the "evangelists" are responsible for all falling off. Suppose all their work does not "abide," are they responsible? The parable of the sower is intended as an illustration to show the cause of failure and success of the gospel ministry. This would not make them responsible. Again, Paul says, "I have planted; Apollos watered." The failure to water is, no doubt, the cause of declension of many received in the church. All new members need more or less attention, nursing and encouragement, lest they decline and fall away. The responsibility in these cases depends largely upon the church and its pastors. Let Bro. Cameron come to the stand and answer a question as to methods, as this seems to give him much concern. What is the difference between his and that of the "evangelists," as to motive and earnestness? Is there any? If none, why complain because they accomplish the same thing, only in a different and, perhaps, more successful manner? We know we have been benefitted by them, and many, many others have so expressed themselves. We can give numerous instances where men had fallen so low that all efforts had failed to reclaim them until brought under the ministry of these "evangelists," and they "abide." "By their fruits ye shall know them." Bro. Jones is the only man we ever heard who had the power to make us laugh, and create in us a desire to be a better and holier man while thus laughing. This, we suppose, Bro. Cameron would call fun? If fun, it is turned to religious purposes. We would call it consecrated fun. Whence comes this power of the man? Certainly not of the wicked one. He never creates in a man any such desires. If men can be made better, have higher and holier aspirations through the use of humor, we say, Amen. In this power lies the secret of Bro. Jones' success in controlling men for good. Why condemn him for it? What will capture one man will not capture another. Few men have the capacity to bring men to Christ in more ways than one. Bro. Jones has many. No man we ever saw has a more varied power. He is like every man, and yet different from every one of them. He has all the powers of every man all combined in one man—in reality, a combination man. Why complain of him? Why envy him? We thank God we have such a man in the church—a man who will stand up in the face of friends and devils and denounce every form of "meanness" in the church and out of it, among the rich and the poor, in every shade and condition of society. If he uses irony, satire, or fun, it is all for God, home and country.

We say, Amen. No man ever preached with more force the necessity of redemption through Christ. No one in the presentation of the gospel is freer from ostentation; can be more plain, more pointed, more simple. In the face of these facts, where do they leave the minister who would dare to raise a voice against him? A position incompatible with his profession! We were not looking for complaint in the direction it came. We are sorry it did come. To have come from the vile, the wicked, would have been natural.

J. W. MCNEIL.

Crystal Springs, Miss.

Memorial Services.

Last Sabbath, Nov. 8, was a day of interest in our church at Melville. By request of the membership, we held memorial service in memory of Bro. B. F. Alexander. The services were conducted by Bro. J. Ivy Hoffpauir, our presiding elder, who read a sketch of his life and labors from the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE; also Bro. Wimberly's tribute of respect from same paper. After which Bro. Hoffpauir gave us quite an interesting account of his personal knowledge of Bro. Alexander as a presiding elder. In his remarks he said that he felt that all of his success as an itinerant preacher was, in a great measure, attributable to Bro. Alexander. That when he was placed under his charge he was very despondent; almost ready to quit the field; but Bro. Alexander understood his troubles, and never would he forget his godly and fatherly advice. As they walked by the way, he would say, "Here is a good place to pray," and their prayer meetings by the roadside were seasons of rejoicing and power. Bro. Hoffpauir said, while many young preachers could testify to the friendship of Bro. Alexander, he felt that he had more to remember and cherish of his memory than anyone else, for he felt that surely a father had fallen on sleep.

After Bro. Hoffpauir closed his remarks, this scribe testified to the fidelity of Bro. Alexander to all the interests of the church. Not only as presiding elder at the Quarterly Conferences, but on the floor of our Annual Conference, he was ever watchful for the good of the church and glory of God. And none had greater reason to cherish the memory of Bro. Alexander than the church who worshipped in this beautiful and comfortable church, for he was the first to give for its erection, and for this reason they desired to have this service, that the brethren might know that, though Bro. Alexander sleepeth, yet his memory was cherished still by the church at Melville.

J. M. JOHNSTON.

[This article was, by mistake, placed among the obituaries, and hence the delay in its publication.—EDITOR.]

The Craze for Something New.

That such a craze obtains, and obtains widely, is apparent to the most superficial observer. It is not confined to any special line of life, but on every line the demand is made for new things. The desire for the sensational is rampant everywhere. Every daily paper vies with every other daily paper in dishing up for its reader's breakfast the latest and most unique and startling sensation. Its influence has pervaded the holy places of the sanctuary, and the call and, in some places, the clamor is for preachers of the gospel who know how to preach sensational sermons. The good and nourishing food of gospel truth must be spiced with sensational methods of presentation before it will be taken at all. We really think this is a bad omen. If this tendency is not checked, no man can predict what the preaching will be twenty years hence.

The Mid-Continent has some pertinent observations on this subject, which we ask our readers and especially our preachers to ponder:

The pressure upon the ministry at this point is very great, not only upon the candidate for a pulpit, but also on the settled pastor. He feels that he must constantly bring out things new from his treasury, but to bring anything old endangers his position and reputation. The demand for something new becomes stronger than for something true, and there is constant danger of sacrificing truth to novelties and something original. We believe it is this pressing demand made upon the ministry for something new and original which is crowding some of them off into error and heterodoxy.

And it leads others to leave out their preaching many of the most essential doctrines in the system of faith. All the sensational preaching of recent times has grown up to meet a demand. A few years ago a minister, noted as one of the most sensational preachers in the country, was called to a large city church. One of the elders of that church complained that he did not like him as a preacher because he was not sensational enough. It is such demands made upon the ministry which makes them feel that the old system of doctrine will not be listened to. The thorough discussion of individual doctrines and the systematic discussion of the entire doctrinal system from the pulpit is very rare and would probably empty almost any church. But what will become of the faith and spiritual life of the church if a clear understanding of these distinctively Christian doctrines fades out of mind. It takes a courageous minister to preach a whole sermon on repentance, or the atonement, or the moral law, or faith, or the doctrine of God, or regeneration, or sanctification. And yet a knowledge of the old truths is essential to the spiritual life. The doctrines and system of divine truth were revealed once for all, and must be eternally the same. Every rising generation needs to be taught this old system of truth. To sacrifice this to new speculations or sensationalisms, is to sacrifice both the revelation of God and the life of the church. It is but a poor bargain when that which is true is displaced by that which is simply new.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

All books received will be acknowledged in this column. A fuller notice will depend upon the interests of our readers.

BOOKS.

PRINCESS DANDELION'S SECRET. By Martha Burr Banks. D. D. Merrill & Co., St. Paul, Minn. Price, $1.

This is a book that will delight a great many readers. Indeed, we think it will please all except the anti-missionaries. It is a fine story, with a fine teaching, and finely gotten up by the publishers. It will do good missionary work wherever it is circulated.

JESUS, THE CARPENTER OF NAZARETH. By a Layman. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. For sale here by Geo. F. Wharton, Carondelet street. Price, $1.50.

We have here the "old, old story," told by a layman for the benefit of children, and told well and wisely, and in a way suitable to fascinate the young mind. The style is simple and clear, so much so that the words do not obscure the thought. There is a simplicity that charms from beginning to end. If you want a life of Christ for the children, this one will suit you well.

FRIENDSHIP. Essays by Cicero, Bacon and Emerson. Octavo, gilt top, white parchment cloth. $2.

The tie which binds men in their mutual relations is invisible; yet how often one seeks some appropriate visible token of this relationship! What could be more fitting to express one's regard for a friend than a collection of the words of the greatest thinkers on the subject of friendship? It was therefore, a happy thought of the publishers to collect the writings of Cicero, Bacon and Emerson on this subject and bring them out in the elegant volume which they have presented to the public. It is a beautiful volume, and the publishers are Albert, Scott & Co., Chicago.

THE INCARNATION OF THE SON OF GOD. By Charles Gore, principal of Pusey House. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. Price, $2. For sale here by Geo. F. Wharton, 5 Carondelet street.

These sermons constitute the Bampton Lectures for 1891, and the author has already gained a widespread notoriety by his editing of "Lux Mundi," a book that has called forth much thought during the past season. In the present volume we have eight sermons on these interesting topics: What Christianity Is; Christ Supernatural, Yet Natural; The Supernatural Christ Historical; The Christ of Dogma the Christ of Scripture; God Revealed in Christ; Man Revealed in Christ; Christ Our Master; Christ Our Example and New Life. These topics are presented with clearness and discussed with great earnestness and candor. The tone is reverent and devout, and there is manifested a keenness of intellectual penetration, which is a great pleasure to the thoughtful reader. There is a freedom from speculative and dogmatic methods which is refreshing. The old doctrine of the incarnation is stated in modern style, and this old and greatest of all facts is exhibited with an eloquence and learning that do not obscure its meaning.

PERIODICALS.

The following periodicals, for December, have been received:

—POPULAR SCIENCE. D. Appleton & Co., New York. Price, $5.

—MISSIONARY REVIEW. Funk & Wagnalls, New York. Price, $2.

—THE CHAUTAUQUAN. T. L. Flood, Meadville, Pa. Price, $2.

—CHRISTIAN THOUGHT. W. B. Ketcham, New York. Price, $2.

—FAMILY MAGAZINE. Cassell Publishing Company, New York. Price, $1.50.

—LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. Curtis Publishing Company, New York. Price, $1.

—MISSIONARY REPORTER. Barbee & Smith, Nashville, Tenn. Price, 50 cents.

—MAGAZINE OF ART. Cassell Publishing Company, New York. Price, $3.50.

—ST. NICHOLAS. Century Company, New York. Price, $3.

THE LOTTERY.

Louisiana Lottery Victim.

All readers of newspapers for many years past can not fail to have seen monthly publications of cards announcing the success of those who draw prizes in the lottery, a few fifteen thousand dollars. No one will have seen a card by the fifteen thousand who lost one dollar each to supply the fifteen thousand dollars to this one. It may be fifteen hundred who lost ten dollars each at the same drawing. Will contribute a card for an unfortunate who lost several dollars monthly for tickets, which were blank at the drawing. His continual hopes and failures caused neglect of business, hallucination of mind, lunacy, then imprisonment in jail to prevent his doing harm, and finally to die in the asylum for such mental wrecks.

A gentleman having a large landed estate on the Sunflower river, in the Yazoo Delta, put his young nephew in charge, with such an interest in the product as would have been several thousand dollars compensation annually. The young man had no white companion for example or to counsel. The lottery cards of success had the effect intended: to excite hope that he, too, might draw a prize. This would be less laborious and more rapid than the product of the farm. Monthly failures were followed by monthly payments for tickets in the next drawing, with hopes that he certainly would draw a prize after awhile. Absorbed in these thoughts, he neglected the plantation which he had managed well and to profit, but now unsightly and losing money. He even expected to pay debts out of the next drawing. Still more sanguine, he reported that his tickets had drawn a prize, and even set homo to visit New Orleans that he might collect his threo thousand dollars drawn to one of his tickets. No one knew when he went; but on his return he reported having drawn the prize, which would be sent to him by the next steamer on the Sunflower river, and that he would pay for an excursion ticket on the boat to all his neighbors, white and colored. He had always been truthful, and many came to the landing to accept his offer. When the boat came and passed by he became angry that it did not stop, charged the lottery with failing to pay a prize or the boat with neglect to bring it, and finally his neighbors and persons conspiring to keep him out of his money. This hallucination ran to angry expressions, then hurtful demonstration, so that he was placed in jail, and thence to the lunatic asylum at Jackson, Miss., where he died a crazed maniac on Oct. 1, 1891.

These facts as to their extremity will be corroborated by the records of the court in Sunflower county and the asylum in Jackson in reference to an inmate whose initials are H. H. It may be said that he ought to have had a stronger mind. True; but many a young man, after it is too late, would be thankful to older and stronger-minded persons for keeping away from the young and weak-minded temptations such as lotteries, from which they can not keep themselves. Those unfortunate (H. H. among them) may cry out when it is too late, "No man careth for my soul."

E. G. C.

Batchurst, Miss.

Vide the Lottery.

Mr. Brewer could not sleep, and his wife's slumbers were disturbed by his colloquys to and fro.

"Brewer, what is the matter? Why don't you go to sleep?"

"You couldn't sleep, either, if you were in my place."

"What's the trouble?"

"In a few months the election takes place, and if my saloon is closed, I am a ruined man, financially."

"Do you think the 'Antia' will carry the election?"

"Yes, unless we adopt vigorous measures. My customers are falling off. To-day Bill Stone and John Jones passed right by my door without coming in for their accustomed drink."

"Didn't you hail them?"

"Yes, but they said they hadn't time; they were going to the meeting. That preacher has been talking to them. I wish he would attend to his business, and let mine alone."

"Well, don't worry. Bill Stone and John Jones are not all your customers."

"I tell you, if they quit me, they will take a lot of the boys with them; straws show which way the wind blows."

Mrs. Brewer was thoroughly awake now, and together they discussed ways and means to capture the unwary. At last they decided on a plan, and then retired sweetly.

The next day there was a conspicuous card in the local daily, signed by Brewer, and it ran thus:

"Fellow-Citizens: There are suffering widows and starving children in our midst, which fact should bring the blush of shame to the so-called Christian. I don't profess righteousness; but I love suffering humanity, and the Good book tells us that the love of the poor is akin to godliness. I am not a rich man, or I would relieve all the victims of poverty and misfortune; but my heart bleeds for the ragged, illiterate children, and suffering widows of this town, and I am going to do my best for them. From this day, for one year, I shall give one-half of my net proceeds to God's poor.

Now, my friends, if you are public-spirited, you will generously support this liberal offer. Remember, every time you enter my saloon to get a ten-cent drink, you will virtually be giving five cents towards the "schools, charities, etc.," of this community. The widows and children will watch to see who are their real friends in this matter, for if you fail to patronize me, you will virtually oppose the "schools, charities, etc.," of this town.

It is needless to say that many a poor man, struggling against his besetting weakness, was persuaded to "help the poor," and Brewer's house became headquarters for the philanthropists of the town. The election came on in due time, and fastened the saloon on the citizens—widows, poor children and all.

The children were sent to school—those who wanted to go—and the widows received a few rations ostentatiously, distributed by Brewer's express wagon; but—did the temporal blessings compensate for the ruined homes and lost souls resulting from Brewer's success?

Moral: "Let us not do evil, that good may come." Vide the lottery.

The Vitality of the Lottery Swindle.

The lottery is an instance of an iniquity dying hard. Like a class of impertinent people, it will not take no for an answer. Such sins have to be choked down. The Louisiana Lottery, like the traditional cat, has several lives. One was crushed out in Dakota. Another one remains and seeks for perpetuation in Louisiana, offering the State a million and a quarter a year for twenty-five years for a renewal of the charter of the iniquity. Large as is this bribe, the company can well afford to pay it for the protection of the laws of the land in affording them a standing place and an opportunity to filch from the pockets of the whole people. The gains of the company are said to be thirty or forty millions a year, the smaller half of which only goes back in prizes to those who have purchased tickets. The renewal of their charter would be a shame to the whole people.

The majority of the people of Louisiana seem to stand in the market-place, as so much merchandise, ready to be sold to the highest bidder. The lottery is a paying iniquity, and can afford to fee the commonwealth to act as an accomplice. The lottery is, in this way, an immense corruption fund. The managers can buy the State and educate in the secrets of gambling the people in all parts of the republic. The majority are ready to take the bait; but there is an uncontaminated minority who seek to avert the peril, and, in aid of their patriotic purpose, ask material aid from the outside public. The appeal is made on the ground that the whole country will suffer if this gigantic gambling institution obtains a new charter. We trust they may find the aid necessary to break the hold of the lottery on the country.—Zion's Herald.

The Christian Weekly says:

The country, without respect to section, needs to be wakened to the full significance of the great evil which has gotten so complete a hold upon hundreds of thousands of our people. It is the duty of the strong to help the weak and those who are held by this agent of the devil are certainly weak and possibly unable to rid themselves of its powerful embrace. Then let those who despise it unite in every endeavor possible to break its tyrannical hold and drive it forever out of our land.

Gambling, Legal and Illegal.

The enforcement of statutory penalties against gambling practices is rendered somewhat difficult when there exist, side by side with them, similar practices sanctioned by the forms of business and not amenable to punishment. There is no difference in principle between gambling at Monte Carlo and gambling in stocks. In the current Arena, Edgar Fawcett, the celebrated novelist, has a keen discussion of this question. It is a timely and vigorous rebuke of the wildness and selfishness of business speculation, more especially directed against the sordid greed of money-getting typified by the Wall Street Stock Exchange. Mr. Fawcett maintains that the only difference between Wall Street and a huge crowd-engirt gaming table is one between simplicity and complexity. Every candid reader will agree with him. It is a misuse of words to say that an operator in Wall Street, or in any other similar centre of speculation, who by a succession of quick and conscienceless manœuvres finds himself the possessor of a large fortune, is better than one of the prohibited gamblers. Gambling is gambling, irrespective of the sphere of its operations or the size or cogency of its combinations. The struggle with it, so far as law is concerned, must be directed against the forms and varieties brought within the power of legislation. So far as the immoral practices of the larger gambling are concerned, it seems the only thing to be done is to bring against them the moral and religious forces which shall displace selfishness and put higher motives and aims in its place. So long as the great men of finance, many of them professedly Christian, acquire their wealth in this way, so long will gambling of all kinds find a defence and support in an established custom of the business world. In one respect the examplo of these manipulators of the stock market is more pernicious than that of the denizens of a gambling saloon. The latter are held up as objects to be shunned; the former are often a power before which the church, as well as the world, is sometimes prone to bow. They displace the ideals of philanthropy for those of selfishness. They create a feverish spirit of money-making among those who think themselves equally capable of great financial "strokes." The pursuit becomes hotter as the illusory reward looms larger, until health, honor, and the truly great objects of life are swept away in the desire for gain. The tone of morals resulting from this gigantic chance play is the very acme and expression of selfishness. The man whose money is thus acquired generally makes it by the ruin of others, and comes to regard his fellows as so much material for aggrandizement.—Christian Guardian.

SPARKS.

Life is the education-time, the seed-time for eternity; there lies its whole importance.—Thomas Erskine.

If thou art wise, thou knowest thine own ignorance, and thou art ignorant if thou knowest not thyself.—Luther.

It is only semi-barbarous men and women who try to work conviction in each other with broomsticks and bludgeons.—Dr. Storrs.

In the blackest soils grow the richest flowers, and the loftiest and strongest trees spring heavenward among the rocks.—J. G. Holland.

If I can put one touch of a rosy sunset into the life of any man or woman, I shall feel that I have worked with God.—George MacDonald.

It has pleased God that divine verities should not enter the heart through the understanding, but the understanding through the heart.—Pascal.

A look of vexation, or a word coldly spoken, or a little help thoughtlessly withheld, may produce long issues of regret.—Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, D. D.

Ordinary church organizations are breaking down hopelessly in our large cities. This is true everywhere and of all churches.—Methodist Times, London.

Every man should be so filled with the spirit of Christ that those who behold him should say, not, "How good he is," but, "How good Christ is."—Advance.

There is an immense work to be done in the ten short years which separate us from the twentieth century. Our ecclesiastical organizations have to be adapted to a new era. We must evangelize the democracy, or perish.—Hugh Price Hughes.

Are you a martyr to rheumatism, or kept in constant misery from neuralgia? Then use Mansfield's Magic Arnica Liniment, and you will surely find relief.

Are you growing bald, or your hair showing signs of disease by falling out, or turning prematurely gray? Then get a bottle of Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer immediately, and you will find your scalp stimulated, your hair strengthened, and its falling color rapidly restored.

These standard and long-tried remedies are recognized family medicines, and can be depended upon the same as if a specialist had given a prescription in every case. Any one of them may be procured by sending to the Mansfield Drug Company, Memphis, Tenn., though you will probably find them at your druggist's.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H Beals, Jr.

We, the undersigned, do testify that we have used Dr Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar for years, for all throat and lung troubles, with the greatest benefit. For coughs and colds it never fails. When taken according to directions, it cures our children of croup and whooping-cough, and for serious lung troubles it always gives relief.

NEW ORLEANS, March 1, 1889.

C. A. Pfeffer, 201 Miro street; Emile A. Martin, 186 Johnson street; John Capiteville, Jr., 320 St. Philip street; L. Y. Petit, Bayou St. John; William Noonan, Carrollton; A. M. Ruh, 205 Miro street. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

Look upon the bright side of your condition; then your discontents will disperse. Pore not upon your losses, but recount your mercies.—Watson.

Good Advice.

Exchange:

In winter more exercise is required for the body than in summer.

Wear warm underclothing; material of open texture is preferable.

Avoid catching cold, but should you develop a cough take immediate steps to get rid of it.

The most effective remedy for coughs or colds is Marsden's Pectoral Balm; it is pleasant to take and never fails to cure.

Ask your druggist for it, and don't be persuaded to take any other instead.

Modesty is to merit, as shades to figures in a picture, giving it strength and beauty.—Bruyer.

Catarrh

Is a complaint so common that comparatively few people are entirely free from it, so insidious that it gains a firm hold almost before its victims are aware of its presence, so dangerous as to seriously threaten the general health, and liable to develop into bronchitis or

Consumption.

It is a mistake to consider Catarrh merely a local trouble. It is unquestionably a disease of the blood, and, therefore, the right way to cure Catarrh is to remove from the blood the impurities which cause and feed it. This is to be done by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which effectually expels all traces of poison and germs of disease.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me of Catarrh, and built up my general health, so that I am feeling better than for years.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only medicine I know of which will cure miller's catarrh." GEO. FOSTER, Logan, Ohio.

N. B.—Be sure to get Hood's.

Holy Land Tour, $475.

A select party sails March 9, 1892. Monthly excursions to Italy, $380. Best ticketing facilities. Send for "Tourist Gazette."

H. GAZE & SONS, 940 Broadway, N. Y. (Est. 1844.)

SCROFULA

eczema, tetter, boils,
ulcers, sores,
rheumatism, and catarrh, cured by taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It purifies,
vitalizes, invigorates,
and enriches
the blood.

Has Cured Others

will cure you.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted.
REFERENCES of the highest character.

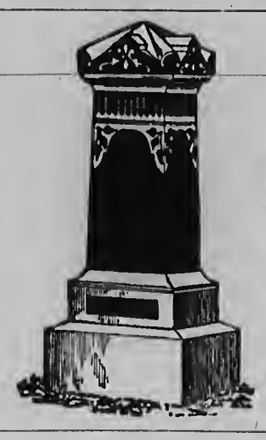
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,

831 Broadway, NEW YORK.

IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF

PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.,

Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,

NEW BASIN NEW ORLEANS

OUR BOOK COLUMN.

THE HANDY RELIABLE DICTIONARY.

Over 80,000 words. Illustrated. 10 cents each; $1 per dozen. Send for a copy and examine it.

THE MOTHER'S PRIMER.

5 cents; 50 cents per dozen. The very thing for home or Sunday-school use. Try it.

THE MAN OF GALILEE.

By Atticus G. Haygood, D. D. A book for the times and the people.

"A work of genius that will live in freshness and power long after the author has passed away from among men."—Dr. Cunnyughau, Sunday-school Editor.

"Meets the unbeliever on his own ground. It assumes nothing, but the argument is a complete as it is possible for human thought and language to make it."—Dr. Lafferty, Virginia.

Over 12,000 sold. It still sells. 80 cents.

A JOURNEY TO PALESTINE.

By Rev. B. Carradine, D. D. A wonderfully interesting and instructive book of travels. Price, $1.50.

THE METHODIST STEWARD.

Everyone interested in Church Finances should send for a copy. Price, 75 cents.

THE LANDS OF THE ORIENT.

By Rev. M. S Chapman, D. D., one of the editors of the St Louis Christian Advocate.

12 mo. Cloth, 600 pages. $1.50.

Over fifty illustrations.

"As a mere book of travels, this is one of the most charming and instructive volumes that has fallen into our hands in many a day."—Southern Christian Advocate, Colum ia, S. C.

A column could be filled with testimonials as to the value and attractiveness of this charming book. Order a copy at once.

LEAVES FROM THE TREE OF LIFE.

A valuable book of Bible reading. $1.

LIFE AND TIMES OF BISHOP PIERCE.

$2, $3 and $4. Every Methodist should own and read this book.

METHODIST HISTORIES.

HISTORY OF METHODISM.

By Bishop McTyeire. $2, $2.50, $3 and $4.

No more valuable book can be put in a Methodist library.

METHODISM IN TEXAS. $1.

METHODISM IN MISSISSIPPI. $1.50

METHODISM IN MISSOURI. $2.

NEW BOOKS.

CLARA CHRISMAN. $1.

MAN, MONEY AND THE BIBLE. 50c.

JUDGE LONGSTREET. $1.

Any Book Mailed at Prices Given.

F. D. Van Valkenburgh,

106 CAMP ST., - - NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

FROM

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City. Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 84 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.

J. C. OAULT, General Manager.

D. G. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

TO SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT AND

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't,
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,
JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.
Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	Leaves. 5:00 p. m	Arrives 8:10 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	8:10 a. m	5:35 p. m
Bal. Rouge "Coast Train"	8:45 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

P. R. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Agt.
E. F. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt.

STAMMERING AND STUTTERING

Cured by DR. G. W. RANDOLPH, of Tenn.

A positive cure for any case of stuttering in a few days. Patient can talk easily by my method in one hour. Instructions given by letter if desired. TERMS REASONABLE.

Call on or address

DR. G. W. RANDOLPH,
131 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.

Reference.—Gov. J. M. Stone, of Mississippi.

WORLD'S FAIR Portfolio. Containing 16 fine artistic illustrations, size 10x14. An elegant work of art. Price postpaid, 50c. H. H. HARFORD & SON, 153 Van Buren St., Chicago.

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

	Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train.	8:10 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 5:10 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express	5:35 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express 8:10 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train"	10:00 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train" 3:45 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 8 Lim. Ex.	7:45 am	No. 4 Fast Ex. 7:45 am
No. 6 Fast Ex.	7:15 pm	No. 8 Coast 3:45 pm
No. 7 Coast	9:20 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex 7:30 pm
Lim. Express	4:45 pm	Fast mail 8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

No. 1. Local Mail and Express	7:20pm	No. 2. Local Mail and Express	7:00am
No. 41. Chic and St. L. F. Mail	8:25am	No. 42 Chic. and St. L. F. Mail	6:00pm
No. 45. Chic. and N. O. Lim	8:00pm	No. 46. Chic and N. O. Lim	12:01noon
No. 41 Memphis and K. C. Ex	8:25am	No. 42 Memphis and K. C. Ex	8:00pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom	8:50am	No. 6. McComb City Accom	4:30pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 33 California Express.	7:30 pm	No. 31 California Express.	8:00 am
B. Rouge, local.	10:25am	B. Rouge, local.	3 50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 19 Califor.	7:30 am	No. 18 Local	8:00 am
No. 17 Local	7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor.	5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd	2:30pm	No. 2, Lim'd	5:00pm
No. 3, Fast Line.	7:00am	No. 5. Fast Line.	8:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO.
(Via Meridian.)

No. 3, Fast Line.	7:00am	No. 2, Limited	5:00pm

P. AND P. EAST LA.
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.

Arrive 8:30 am | Leave 4:15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pt. a-la-Hache Sh. Rch.	9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:20 p m.	Pt. a-la-Hache Sh. Rch.	7:00 a. m., 10:00 a m., 5:10 p. m.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

Is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study. Practical Lectures and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this College has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has unsurpassed facilities and equipments.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.—Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools. In Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE—Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear-cut and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brewer, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEAREST, FINEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation attached to every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR,
Member of Board of Trustees,
No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

BOYS! GIRLS! Everybody!

We want used postage stamps used before 1870; also Confederate bills. For 25 stamps or 10 bills we will give either 25 cards with your name printed on, 4 sheets of Scrap Pictures, 1 Autograph Album, 50 Foreign Stamps, or Cash. AGENTS WANTED. Circulars free.

J. E. HANDSHAW & CO.,
SMITHTOWN BRANCH, N. Y.

IF you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO. No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, end oak and ash, mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1360½ Tchoupitoulas street.

AGENTS send for How I Made a House and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a home, or business change $75 to $100 Monthly. Teachers and ladies find big pay for spare hours. TARAUAY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

B. D. WOOD & SONS,

113 Common Street.

COAL AND COKE

We are prepared to furnish Families, Planters, Foundries, Steamships, Steamboats and all consumers of Coal or Coke at Lowest Market Rates.

Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.
Rev B. F. Lewis, Ass't Editor.

Thursday, Dec. 3, 1891.

BRIEFS.

Our friends at Louisiana Avenue have begun to build again. The foundation of the new church has stood the test of about seven years, and now the walls are rising. The money is in hand to build the walls and put on the roof, and when that is done the money to finish will, doubtless, be forthcoming. We expect to see the new church dedicated early next year.

The Salvation Army seems to have an unfailing bank upon which to draw when in need of funds. It is a bank which has been instituted by the Lord, and every church may have one. It is called the "Bank of Self-Denial." When the army needs funds, it appoints a week of self-denial, and the money pours in. This year the self-denial week yielded $50,000 more than it did last year—that is, it reached the handsome sum of $250,000. If our church meant anything by its religious profession, $118,000 missionary debt would be canceled in thirty-six hours. We don't mean anything, and the little debt sticks.

Mayor Shakespeare, of this city, did a good thing when he vetoed an ordinance extending the lease of premises in the Criminal Court Building for a saloon. He said:

I think it contrary to the dignity of the city to rent an apartment in a public building to be used as a bar-room, and, as a matter of fact, this bar-room, as might have been expected, is a nuisance to the courts and the citizens who have business at the registration office. It becomes a loafing place for idlers, and worse, especially at times when the registration office is crowded; loafers get intoxicated, and the sidewalks are obstructed. There is no reason why a bar-room should be in such a place, and there are many reasons why it should not. I think it far preferable that the city should lose the small rental than that it should foster such a place in the very halls of justice.

That is excellent! We think if Mayor Shakespeare would think a little further on that same line, he would soon see "no reason why a bar-room should" be open anywhere on Sunday contrary to the express statute, and "many reasons why" they should be closed by him, as the chief executive of the city, in accordance with a plain law declaring that they shall be closed. Let the mayor go forward in this matter, and he will find all the better elements of society as his helpers.

Bethesda Mission.

A few words in reference to the Bethesda Mission on Tchoupitoulas street may be of some little interest to the friends who have so kindly contributed of their time and means to make it a success.

Since the opening of the mission, on Nov. 7, less than a month ago, the aggregate attendance has been 773, while the Sunday-school numbers at present, 76.

The superintendent hopes to put the large front room on the second floor in proper condition by the last of this week, to begin the sewing class, free dispensary and some other departments of work.

Should any friends of the mission have articles of furniture, pictures or curtains which they can donate to the fitting up of the apartment, they will oblige the superintendent by sending a postal card to that effect.

The address of the superintendent is 141 Melpomene street.

Salutatory.

In the midst of my ministerial and pastoral labors, with no thought of ever turning aside from the line of duty to which God had called me, I was surprised to learn that the Publishing Committee of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, in a called meeting on Nov. 18, had elected me to the position of assistant editor of that paper. A love for the pastorate and a feeling of incompetency for the position offered me would lead me to decline peremptorily, were it not that I am the servant of the church to labor wherever her duly constituted authorities may direct. Were it not for the fact that I am a firm believer in a special providence, I could scarcely get my consent to leave, voluntarily, a work in which I have found my greatest happiness, and upon which I have looked from early youth as of supreme importance. But I am called for the present, at least, to labor in another department of our Father's vineyard.

Besides, the position having been unsought by me, if a mistake was made in my election, it was no mistake of mine. I will bring to my new field of labor whatever of strength and energy God has given me, and will endeavor to meet the demand upon me to the best of my ability. My first duties will be peculiar and arduous. They are known to all. What the result will be He only knows. But the fact that I will be associated with such a wise and experienced man as the editor-in-chief, whose fatherly indulgence and wise counsel will be invaluable, greatly encourages me.

In entering upon my duties, I ask the prayers and co-operation of my brethren.

B. F. Lewis.

Jackson, Miss.

Changes Suggested.

During several months past articles have appeared in our paper from the pens of brethren in different portions of our work suggesting some important changes in the working of our church machinery. We believe that the majority of these articles have strongly favored smaller districts than those we now have. The statement has been made that several districts are so large that the presiding elders can not give the time to each appointment that its importance demands. There are many things of importance in station work and in circuit work which the presiding elder can do with greater efficiency than even the pastor. His office makes him more efficient in those things. If he is overburdened with work, his efficiency on those lines is seriously crippled, and the progress of the cause of Christ hindered. If his district is so large that it is impossible for him to give every appointment an old-fashioned Saturday and Sunday quarterly meeting, by so much is that circuit or station damaged which must have its quarterly meeting, in the week. We ought not to continue a system that we know is working harm. Such has been the general trend of the articles published.

For our part, we confess that we see a reasonableness in all this. We have long regarded the presiding elder as the "biggest" man in the itinerancy, not excepting Bishops, nor even editors. We look upon his office as the most important office in the church. Of course, then, we think anything that hinders the elder or cripples the efficiency of his office is an evil, and should be instantly and without hesitation abated.

If these large districts are in the way of his pushing the work of the Lord forward with rapidity, the Bishop and his cabinet should not hesitate one moment to draw in the district lines. No true general or captain in the Lord's army can stand off and look at the failure made at a certain point, and not endeavor to rectify the mistake made and counteract its bad results.

Furthermore, the presiding elder being the chief man, his work reaches its highest efficiency and brings forth its best results in proportion as he is in close contact—not with the preachers, but with the people. So construct his district as to necessarily diminish the number of these points of contact, and he is a crippled officer. On the other hand, construct his district so that these points of contact shall be multiplied, and his power will be multiplied. And as for his support, any man, whether pastor or presiding elder, who is in close Christian association with the rank and file, will get all the support necessary. We do hope that we are not drifting towards the large districts which the Conferences of the M. E. Church have. Looking over Zion's Herald, we notice no district with less than thirty-four appointments. In our latitude, and with the temper of our people, such an arrangement would simply minify the presiding elder's salary to nothing, if it did not abolish the office. We give our vote for small districts, and for the best men in the Conferences to man them.

"Things That Ought to Be Changed."

From the number of articles which have appeared in the recent issues of the Advocate under the above caption, one would conclude that there is something radically wrong in the workings of Methodism in Mississippi. With arithmetical progression these articles have increased upon us, and I judge them all to be from Mississippi soil. When may we look for a slogan from our sister Conference of Louisiana? Either somebody has a "bee in his bonnet," or the evidences of mutiny in the camp are alarming. With what fear and trembling must our faithful elders spend their days as they contemplate the rising storm! With what emphasis must they repeat those words of the immortal dramatist, "Othello's occupation's gone," or, at least, his rations are cut short! Truly, brethren of the higher rank, you stand in jeopardy every hour!

Evidently the present condition of affairs is not satisfactory to everybody. So far, all the papers have been on the same side of the question, and consequently just now the preponderance of evidence is on that side. They have the decision to themselves.

From the facts presented it is evident something must be done. I confess to an agreement with those who have preceded me. More than two years ago I wrote a communication for the Advocate on this subject, and demonstrated to my own satisfaction, of course, the necessity of nine districts in the Mississippi Conference. But, then, what good did it do? Believing that my article had captured the Bishop (for it was unmistakably a fine argument), and that the presiding elders could not withstand such logic, imagine my chagrin when the appointments were read to find the same old seven.

The two articles in your paper of to-day, Nov. 26, from the Mississippi Conference, contain some startling and strong statements. "Ex. P. E." also comes freighted down to the guards. He speaks no parable, but as one out of the fullness of experience. Such large districts are a burden to the elders and unsatisfactory to the people. A Quarterly Conference in the country that does not embrace a Sunday is, so far as any spiritual good is derived, second epistle to nothing, and I may say also, very little better in the towns. The necessarily hurried trips and short stays of the presiding elder are of very little help to the pastor, and affords very little opportunity for his gathering information concerning the pastor or the charge. To young preachers just beginning the work, the coming of the elder is a great benediction and a great benefit to the church.

From my association with the country people, I have learned enough to believe that the presiding elder and the much-looked-for Quarterly Conference is a much-needed factor in the workings of the church, and, moreover, that the desire of the people is for longer stay and more preaching from the elder. My! how refreshing are the big sermons of the presiding elder to the people who have fed for three months on stale bread and dry husks! I don't wonder, with our overwhelming districts, that some people complain that they don't know the elder, and that he comes late and leaves early. No doubt, all of us would do the same under the circumstances.

One of the most serious questions, we are told, connected with the office is that of support. Now, no man can complain of his brother receiving a decent salary. Let us see how this matter stands with us. In 1890 the seven presiding elders aggregated $8,658—only one receiving less than $1,000, and four receiving more than $1,200, the average being $1,237.

Now, this is not too much remuneration for the work done, and not more than enough to bear the expenses of the ordinary "orthodox Methodist preacher's family." But I am persuaded that nine would receive as much per man under a system of smaller districts. If it is a fact that the church is suffering in this particular, then give us more districts, and man them with elders of small families, and let our larger families go into the pastoral charges. I am convinced that the Mississippi Conference can furnish nine—yea, ten men, with such families who would magnify the office and live well on the salary, as our well-kept, smiling brother of the Brandon district clearly demonstrates. But to what purpose is all this scribbling? Well, "we shall see what we shall see."

And now, Mr. Editor, I've come to a close; how shall I sign myself? Bro. Phillips says don't dodge behind an assumed name, and another brother intimates if I pursue the opposite course, I'll be suspected of aspiring to the dignity of a position among the nine. I am certainly in a great strait. It has ever been against my practice to assume a name. So, begging the pardon of all who may require apology, and assuring them that my nine exclude me from the list of possibilities, I shall venture to sign,

T. B. Holloman.

The Mississippi Changers.

Mr. Editor: Your correspondents from North Mississippi and Mississippi Conferences have had a good deal to say recently about "Things That Ought to Be Changed." All said so far, as I have looked at it, seems practically on the same side of the question, in favor of smaller districts, stronger men, and more personal presence in the presiding eldership.

Here are three propositions. The last one, I am sure, every pastor and nearly all the members of our church will endorse. The middle one will also receive general endorsement; but the question remains: "Will smaller districts cause better preachers to be put into the office of presiding elder, or secure more of the presiding elder's time among the people?" I answer, No; and for the following reasons, viz.:

Smaller districts means smaller margins for support for the presiding elders, and our most experienced men have generally expensive families.

There are not many first-class men in any one of our Conferences, and, generally speaking, the demand of first-class appointments is more than equal to the supply of first-class men.

It is more important that the regular minister to a congregation be a man "ready to communicate, apt to teach," than he who ministers only occasionally. Anything can be endured now and then; but when it comes daily, it becomes intolerable.

Our episcopal districts have been cut down to from three to six Conferences, and our "best men" have been put into the episcopal districts; yet, having spent fifteen years in my Conference, I have never seen a Bishop outside of our chief city, except at the sessions of our Conference.

The presiding elders are not likely to be much more among their people than the Bishops are.

Another Way.

Make the districts larger, so as to necessitate a string of appointments through the districts running over a week, bringing the presiding elder in contact with the home circle, preaching to a few faithful ones at night, and ministering at the family altars as well as at the "church altars."

Let the Annual Conferences enforce the law, and see to it that "the presiding elder travels throughout his district."

What we need—as I view it—is not more officers, but more labor among the officers we have. I have never been able to get more work by giving less to do. Yours truly,

Jacob Shanks.

A Temperance Lunch House.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of this city, has this week inaugurated a new temperance movement in the form of a lunch house. The need of such a place has long been felt and the temperance women have started the enterprise. Business men can now obtain their noon-day luncheon in a place free from the offensive odor of the dram-shop. There are hundreds of men who will hail this departure with pleasure, and will patronize the house from the start. Visitors from the country will find it a desirable place to take lunch while on business in the city. We wish our friends who have the matter in hand abundant success. The Temperance Lunch House is situated on Gravier street, near St. Charles.

Man-like and God-like.—A bad-tempered man who was a professing Christian once said to his friend, "You must not make too much of my outbursts of temper. It is my nature to be passionate." "Ah, but," was the reply, "there is a thing called the new nature, which helps a man to overcome these dangerous impulses; and if your religion does not enable you to keep your temper in order, what is it worth?" This reminds us of another incident of which we lately read: "There was once a young man in a great rage in consequence of something that had been said about him by a comrade. He determined to be revenged the first time he met him. 'It is manly to fight,' said he. 'Yes,' replied a Christian friend, 'it may be manly to revenge, but it is God-like to forgive.' 'He that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city.'"—Quiver.

Never lose a chance of saying a kind word. As Collingwood never saw a vacant place in his estate but he took an acorn out of his pocket and popped it in, so deal with your compliments through life. An acorn costs nothing, but it may sprout into a prodigious bit of timber.—Thackeray.

NOTES.

"Easy preaching makes hard hear[ing]."

"Because the preacher was wise, h[e] still taught the people knowledge."

This advice is pertinent to som[e] preachers: "Don't let your exordium and peroration be too far apart."

"A great and wealthy church lik[e] ours ought not to hesitate to incur an expense in order to reach the outcasts."

The preachers of the Virginia Conference reported on the various "funds" over fifty thousand dollars collected during the past year!

On one occasion General Booth, of the Salvation Army, was introduced as "the best known, best abused and most misunderstood man of the day."

It was announced that a certain brother was to lecture on The Devil and this exhortation was given: "Be prompt in attendance, for the brother has carefully prepared his paper and is full of his subject."

The Wesleyans of England, with a membership of about 425,000, raise $660,000 per annum for foreign missions. The Methodists in our connection, with a membership of over 1,000,000, raise about $220,000. Whence the difference? The former apparently have the missionary religion of Christ; the latter apparently have some other sort of religion!

Brother, does the New York Christian mean you in this paragraph?

There are many pulpits, it must be confessed, which accomplish little. They are filled by preachers who harp on dead issues, or drive men from them by their misanthropic spirit, or fail to lay hold on the hearts of their hearers because of lack of sympathy, or display their selfishness and greed, forgetting the souls for whom they should care, or seek to be lords over God's heritage, or by some other blunder throw away their opportunity.

Some of the talks in the Missionary Committee of the M. E. Church seem to "liven up things" somewhat. The talk about "missionary pap" in the South is apparently getting louder and bolder. We think our brethren are "getting wisdom" from passing events, and the time is not far away when many more of them will see the "lack of wisdom" which has characterized much of their work in these parts. "If any lack wisdom, let him ask of God," is a good text to study in making missionary appropriations.

An exchange, speaking of the "dead line" for preachers, has this suggestive paragraph:

An old minister who has got life and fire and originality and love in him will not go without a parish. There is no dead line except for dead men; and it may come at forty, or it may be at seventy. Some men are born past the dead line, and nothing short of the resurrection trumpet can bring them to life. A little girl, once walking hand in hand with her pastor, looked up into his face, and said: "Mr. B——, what lots of good you could do in the world if you would only wake up." Possibly he was letting himself drift toward the dead line. Blessing on the little girl who woke him up!

Richmond Advocate:

Nothing is easier than to sweep an city, town or village of sin, if the Christians come into line with the mind made up to win. The mere muster of the churches into one column is a conquest without a captain. It matters not who is the "evangelist." It is the power of the pew, not the pulpit, that puts to flight the army of the alien. The sermon goes in one ear and comes out the other. The sight of matrons, maidens, men of affairs, solid citizens in movement, startles. The pulpit usually has a perfunctory aspect to the by-stander, and the discourse is discounted before delivery. The uprising, compact, earnest Christian element "as one man" advances as the blazing billows across parched prairie.

The lives of too many Christians reveal the fact that their conception of religion is defective. They appear to consider religion as simply a restraint upon human conduct in certain directions. This is sadly defective. If religion is simply that, and nothing more, it is entirely negative. It is, however, more than that. It is a constant dominant motive in the direction of good. Faith manifests not only its presence, but its power by works done for human weal. Christian manhood or womanhood only reaches its perfection and liberty and glory in a continuous obedience which springs from a continuous faith in the divine power and in human possibilities.

The Times-Democrat is making a good deal of fuss about somebody tampering with the mails, and charging it to the Antis. What does the T.-D. think of this? We received a letter last week enclosing another letter for the New Delta. The writer stated that five or six letters had been written to the New Delta, and had not reached it, and that method was adopted to insure the letter getting to its destination. The writer stated that the postmaster and nearly everybody else at that place were in favor of the lottery, and supposed that to be the reason the letter addressed to the New Delta did not reach that paper. Evidently the Anti would not tamper with the New Delta mail.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

Please bear in mind that this paper now has a "senior editor." "Age creeps on apace."

The last Pacific Methodist Advocate said: "Dr. Hannon is now comfortably settled down in the parsonage at San Jose, and is rapidly regaining his former health." We are glad to chronicle that fact.

Bro. Kirkland, of the Southern, produced a splendid prohibition issue of his paper recently. The fight is on in the old South State, and Bro. Kirkland is wielding a battle-ax after the manner of a Cœur de Leon!

The Y's had a pleasant entertainment, last week, at the editor's residence on Delachaise street. Vocal solos and recitations and refreshments, all interspersed with conversation by a select company, made up an enjoyable evening, and left the Y's with a plethoric little purse. They celebrated the editor's birthday without knowing it.

Bro. Lewis, the assistant editor of this paper, makes a graceful bow to our readers this week. Read his modest "Salutatory" in another column, and you will see somewhat of the man. Much of Bro. Lewis' time will be spent in field work, and we bespeak for him the good offices of the brethren wherever he goes. He has special instructions not to invade foreign territory, but to keep himself strictly within our own bounds. Having come along thus far, the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE can not afford to weaken its self-respect by poaching.

A catalogue from Barbee & Smith reveals the fact that they have on hand many books specially suitable for the coming holidays, and they will sell them at reasonable figures.

The same firm have favored us with a sample copy of "A Christmas Service," which they have just published. It is entitled, "Jesus, the Joy of the World," and is a beautiful service for the Sunday-school. It has been prepared by our Sunday-school Department, and can be had for 20 cents per dozen, or $1.25 per hundred.

A private letter has just been received from Rev. Dzau tse zeh (Rev. C. K. Marshall), our native China preacher, who visited the United States in 1890, and represented the China Mission Conference at our last General Conference, which met in St. Louis. He states that in the Sou Chow hospital, of which he has charge, between Dec. 29, 1890, and Sept. 30, 1891—nine months—three thousand seven hundred and twenty-eight patients have been treated; one hundred and forty-four cases have been operated on, and some cases of opium poisoning have been cured. As he works in his dispensary, he preaches; and as many patients come from a distance, seeds are sown in districts where the missionary has not yet been.

Graded Schools.

Allow me, Mr. Editor, to add my vote to Bro. P. A. Johnston's on the the point made concerning the curriculum of our schools. Why should we not have a graded curriculum from our district and high schools, which should serve as feeders to our higher institutions, up to the senior classes in our college? Let the faculties of Millsaps and Centenary Colleges adopt the same text-books, and then let the feeders grade so that a young man may enter the sophomore or junior classes at the colleges on the certificates of the preparatory institutions. This will apply as well to females as males. I believe some expression from our Boards of Education on this point would do good, and I, for one, am willing to so subscribe my vote.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Mississippi Conference Notices.

The class of the second year will meet the Examining Committee at the Methodist Church, Brookhaven, Miss., Tuesday morning, Dec. 8, at nine o'clock. A. F. WATKINS, For Com.

The class of the fourth year will please be on hand Tuesday morning for their examination.

J. W. ELLISON, for Com.

McComb City, Miss., Nov. 26, 1891.

Members of the classes of the first, second, third and fourth year, together with the committees of those years, are requested to have their statistical report ready Tuesday morning, and all others on the first day of the Conference. SECRETARY.

Reports on Conference claimants are expected on the first day of Conference. Brethren, help us by giving early and full reports.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Chairman.

Prevention Is Better

Than cure, and those who are subject to rheumatism can prevent attacks by keeping the blood pure and free from the acid which causes the disease. For this purpose Hood's Sarsaparilla is used with great success.

To the Preachers of the Louisiana Annual Conference.

In order to secure fullness, accuracy, and facility in compiling the statistics for the current year, the attention of the preachers is requested to the following directions to be observed in reporting:

Let all reports be made on the forms provided by the Publishing House. Let the reports, exact duplicates of those to be read, be filed on the desk of the statistical secretary the first day of the sitting of Conference. Those preachers who can not be early in attendance are requested to mail their reports to the statistical secretary, care of Rev. T. K. Faunt LeRoy, Alexandria, or to send them by the presiding elders. This is important, as early in the session several reports have to be made on the basis of the statistics, and the secretary's work will be facilitated thereby.

In the table of "Membership, Baptism and Church Property," let the item, "Total members last year," be the same as reported last year. Heretofore the reports have never agreed with the printed Minutes of the former years in this particular.

In the "Financial Report" let every item be filled in according to the form, amount assessed and amount paid. Change the item, "Expenses of delegates to General Conference," to read "Expenses of delegates to Ecumenical Conference," and report accordingly. If nothing has been paid on some of the collections, report amount assessed, so that the footings will correspond with the total assessments made upon the Conference, and the deficit, if any, or excess, may appear in the statistics.

In the first of the blank lines of this table report under the head, "For Other Objects," the amount raised for current expenses, compensation and traveling expenses of assistants in revival meetings, and all other items not otherwise provided for. On the next line report amount contributed for American Bible Society, and amount contributed for relief of the poor.

Add in the margin of the blank amount contributed to Scarritt Bible and Training-school (by church) and amount contributed for the endowment of Centenary College.

In the Sunday-school Report add in the margin amount contributed for Scarritt Bible and Training-school (by Sunday-schools) and amount raised by Epworth Leagues and Christian Endeavor Societies.

Let the preachers be sure that the amounts reported under the heads of Missions, Church Extension, Education, and Conference Claimants, exactly coincide with the amounts on these several claims paid to the treasurers of the various Conference and General Boards, in order that the reports of treasurers may agree with the statistics. Hitherto there have been always discrepancies, sometimes of large amounts.

The secretary desires to have the statistics full and accurate, and, to that end, bespeaks the attention of the brethren to the foregoing details, which have been very often ignored.

SECRETARY.

Louisiana Conference.

The class for admission to the Louisiana Annual Conference are requested to meet at the Methodist Church in Alexandria, Tuesday morning, Dec. 15, at nine o'clock.

J. M. BEARD,
T. S. RANOLE,
T. J. UPTON,
Committee.

The class of the fourth year, Louisiana Conference, will meet at the classroom of our church in Alexandria on Tuesday, Dec. 15, 1891, at seven o'clock P. M. THE COMMITTEE.

MISSISSIPPI ITEMS.

There is talk of having a dummy line between Pascagoula and Moss Point.

There will be three colored members of the next House of Representatives of the Mississippi Legislature.

Judge Williamson, of Bolivar county, at a late term of the court, discharged from service all of the members of the grand jury who sold whisky.

Mississippi, with 272 pupils in the public schools to every 1,000 of population, stands second on the list of States in the Union. Kansas is first with 280.

Washington county is to have a court-house at a cost of $65,000. The corner-stone was laid with Masonic honors on Nov. 20.

Mr. R. H. Henry has sold his interest in the Clarion Ledger to Capt. J. S. McNeilly, of the Greenville Times. The new firm is Power & McNeilly. The paper will resume the name of The Clarion, which it carried at its masthead for half a century. Mr. Henry announces that as soon as practicable, he will resume the publication of the State Ledger, which was consolidated with the Clarion about four years ago.

Ladies, rough hands are a horror. Bathe them well at night in Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

"No other weekly paper contains so great a variety of entertaining and instructive reading at so low a price."

The Youth's Companion.

500,000 Subscribers.

Notable articles have been written expressly for the coming volume by

Cyrus W. Field and Andrew Carnegie and One Hundred other Eminent Men and Women.

The Story of the Atlantic Cable. Mr. Field was the projector of the first Atlantic Cable, and his personal narrative of the enormous difficulties encountered before the enterprise succeeded has the thrilling interest of a romance.

The Habit of Thrift. Personal observations and experiences, illustrated by many interesting anecdotes; by Andrew Carnegie.

Nine Serial Stories—100 Short Stories—Travels—Adventures—700 Large Pages—1000 Fine Illustrations.

"A Yard of Roses."

New Subscribers who send $1.75 now, will receive THE YOUTH'S COMPANION FREE to January 1, 1892, and for a full year from that date. This offer includes the THANKSGIVING, CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR'S DOUBLE HOLIDAY NUMBERS and all the ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY SUPPLEMENTS. Any person who mentions this paper when subscribing will receive a copy of a beautiful painting entitled, "A YARD OF ROSES." Its production has cost TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS. Specimen Copies Free. Send Check, Post-office Order, or Registered Letter at our risk. Address,

Free to Jan. 1892.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 41 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

Episcopal Visitation for 1891 and 1892.

Conference.	Date.	Place.	Bishop.
Mississippi	Dec. 9	Brookhaven, Mississippi	Hendrix
North Georgia	Dec. 9	Cartersville, Georgia	Key
East Texas	Dec. 9	Henderson, Texas	Fitzgerald
Louisiana	Dec. 16	Alexandria, Louisiana	Keener
White River	Dec. 16	New Port, Arkansas	Duncan
Alabama	Dec. 16	Selma, Alabama	Hendrix
Florida	Jan. 8	Tampa, Florida	Granbery
Baltimore	Mar. 24	Harrisonburg, Virginia	Keener

LOUISIANA NOTES.

The cotton gin of Jno. B. Rowe, of Morton station, together with eight bales of cotton and a lot of seed, was destroyed by fire on the twenty-third.

State Engineer Kerr is back from a week's trip in Iberville parish, where he reports levee work is very active, and the progress being made is as rapid as ever known in levee matters. Chief Richardson says this is true of State contracts throughout the several districts, and Lieut. Mills reports that all the Federal levees are rapidly approaching completion.

The sugar house on Dr. A. Duperrier's plantation, near New Iberia, was destroyed by fire last Sunday night. The fire originated in the bagasse burner and the refinery was totally destroyed. Loss, $75,000; insurance, $24,000. Many small planters, who were depending upon the sale of their crop to the refinery, will suffer loss, as they will have to haul their cane a great distance in order to find a market.

At a meeting of the Fifth District Levee Board, held at Delta, Nov. 23, it was decided that the Board avail itself of the authority in it vested by Section 12 of Act 41 of the Acts of the Legislature of 1886, and issue its bonds to the amount of $175,000, all of said bonds to be of $1 000 each. Bonds to be payable to bearer and countersigned by the secretary, and made payable in not less than ten nor more than twenty years. Said bonds to be used in payment for work and labor done, and material purchased in behalf of levees, and in accordance with the provisions of said Section and Act.

Lake Charles American:

Interested parties from Sulphur City have been in the city this week. The Echo learns that the company of capitalists engaged in sinking shafts, for the purpose of reaching the sulphur deposit, have struck oil in large and paying quantities, the vein yielding some three hundred barrels of lubricating oil per day. It was not oil sought by these people; but since its discovery in large and paying quantities, the company is making preparations for its shipment and sale. The work of sinking the shafts for sulphur continues. Millmen in this city have used the oil, and pronounce it to be of excellent quality.

Hall's Hair Renewer cures dandruff and scalp affections; also all cases of baldness where the glands which feed the roots of the hair are not closed up.

Mississippi Conference Minutes.

The Minutes of our Conference ought to be published. The members of the church need the information contained therein. Those who get them ought to pay for their publication. Give the people a chance. Let each member hand to the pastor in charge, or send to the Conference at Brookhaven, Miss., twenty-five cents for two, or fifteen cents for one copy. Let postoffice address be given. Let each pastor solicit a subscription, at least, from each official member. Hand the money and names to Committee on Minutes, and the work of publication and distribution will be easily accomplished. R. B. DOWNER.

No Considerate.

Don't worry your friends and family with that worn and faded appearance. Get a bottle of Creole Female Tonic. It will change your pallid cheeks to the rosy hue of health.

Mrs. M. M. AUVRAY,
SELECT BOARD,
277 Josephine Street, near Chestnut.

References.—Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D.; Rev. J. T. Sawyer, Rev. J. B. Walker, D. D.; Rev. D. L. Mitchel, Rev. B. Carradine.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Special Offer

FOR

New Subscribers

AND

Renewals.

PRIZE OFFERS.

Anyone sending in $2 for a new subscriber will be paid a commission of fifty cents, and, in addition, those sending in ten new subscribers between now and the meeting of their Annual Conference will be given a beautifully printed, bound and illustrated copy of "Farrar's Life of Christ," worth $3.

Those sending in five new subscribers during the above period will be given a silvered-bound copy of Prof. Henry Drummond's five great addresses, entitled, "The Greatest Thing in the World," "Pax Vobiscum," "The Changed Life," "A Talk with Boys," and "How to Learn How." This book is sold at $1.25.

All payments must be in either cash to the preacher in charge or sent to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

Holiday Goods

What more acceptable present can you give a friend at Christmas or New Year's times than a handsome Rug or a pretty Matting. We have made special prices on this line, and herewith append the list:

John Crossley & Sons imported tap. rugs, 45c each

John Crossley & Sons—

	ft.	in.	ft.	in.
N Rugs,	2	1 x	4	8,	95c each.
H "	2	8 x	4	8,	$1.65 each.
G "	2	6 x	5	6,	$2.00 each.

	ft.	in.	ft.	in.
Smyrna Rugs (best quality)	2	2 x	4	6,	$4.50 each
" " " "	2	6 x	5	6,	$3.80 each
" " " "	3	0 x	6	0,	$4.50 each

Smyrna Mats, 75c, $1 and $1 35 each.

Fine Damask Matting, Jointless, 25c.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,
116 Camp St., New Orleans.

"Music hath charms."

Look at the Result of Purchasing a

-:PIANO:-

MATHUSHEK, WEBER, JAMES & HOLMSTROM PIANOS.

IVERS & POND, CHASE, LINDEMAN PIANOS.

OF

Philip Werlein

Pianos, Organs, Music, Musical Instruments

No. 135 New Orleans, La. CANAL ST.

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

(8 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.

SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Schmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pie

Lowest Prices!! Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc. Easiest Ter

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the Large and Spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All Its Branches, and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director,
169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,
Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,
Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,
Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low.

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED. New Orleans, La.

Chops as Shown

BUY THE ENTERPRISE TINNED MEAT CHOPPER

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

SOLD BY THE HARDWARE TRADE.

No. 10 $3.00. Send for Catalogue, FREE. ENTERPRISE M'F'G CO., PHILADELPHIA.

NATURE'S CURE FOR ASTHMA

FREE ON TRIAL.

The WONDERFUL KOLA PLANT HIMALYA, discovered by African Explorers on the Congo River, West Africa, is NATURE'S SURE CURE for ASTHMA. No Pay until Cured, and Positive Cures Guaranteed. Importing Office, No. 1164 Broadway, New York. For Book and Large FREE Trial Case, send by Mail, address, Central Office Kola Importing Co., No. 112 Vine Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

☞ See New York World and Philadelphia Press, May 18 and 19, 1890, also Christian Observer and Medical Journal, April 9, 1891. The Christian Advocate, May 30, 1890, says editorially: "The Kola Plant is a gift direct of God, to sufferers from Asthma, and the blessing will rest upon Stanley and associates, explorers of the Dark Continent. It is an unfailing cure for Asthma." ☞ Remember, No Pay Until Cured.

Nothing On Earth Will

MAKE HENS LAY

LIKE

Sheridan's Condition Powder!

It is absolutely pure. Highly concentrated. In quantity it costs less than a tenth of a cent a day. Sheridan's a medicine. Prevents and cures all diseases. Good for young chicks. Worth more than gold when hens Moult. "One large can saved me $40, send six for $5 to prevent roup," says a customer. If you can't get it send us 50 cents for two packs, five $1. 1 2/3 pound can $1 20 post paid; 6 cans $5, express paid. "THE BEST POULTRY PAPER," sample copy free. Poultry Raising Guide free with $1 orders or more. L. S. JOHNSON & Co., Boston, Mass.

Many a life has been lost because of the taste of cod-liver oil.

If Scott's Emulsion did nothing more than take that taste away, it would save the lives of some at least of those that put off too long the means of recovery.

It does more. It is half-digested already. It slips through the stomach as if by stealth. It goes to make strength when cod-liver oil would be a burden.

Scott & Bowne, Chemists, 130 South 5th Avenue, New York.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

26

Our CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS Containing new Carols and a Responsive Service that may be used with or without the Carols. 16 pages. Price, 5 cents a single copy.

The CHRIST of BETHLEHEM. A Beautiful New Christmas Service By J. E. HALL containing an Instructive Responsive Service interspersed with New and Appropriate Carols. Price, 5 cents a single copy. OTHER SERVICES of the same character and at the same price, are "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Joy Bells," "Good Will to Men," "Noel," and "Peace on Earth."

A CHRISTMAS VISION —A NEW CANTATA for Children by these two By C. L. Burnham & C. F. Root. well-known writers is sure to meet with a cordial reception. This new work is the prettiest and most entertaining they have produced thus far. Price, 30 cents a single copy. OTHER CANTATAS for the Christmas Season are "The Christmas Eve," "Santa Claus & Co.," "The New Santa Claus," "Catching Kriss Kringle," "Judge Santa Claus," "Santa Claus' Mistake," and "The Wells Christmas." Price of each, 30 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY Relates in verse, scripture readings and music, By M. B. Brooks & C. F. Root. the principal events of Christ's life on earth. Beautiful and instructive. Price, 25 cents a single copy.

BETHLEHEM. A Cantata for Adults only (no children) By C. F. Root. even's pain that cannot fail to please wherever rendered. Price, 50 cts a single copy. Send 10 cents for sample copy of "Musical Visitor" for Choirs.

—PUBLISHED BY—

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O. Root & Sons' Music Co., 156 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 19 E. 16th St., New York.

A MAN bought a Piano for $450 HIS NEIGHBOR paid only $375. For the very same Piano.

Neither one was worth a nickel over $300.

Insure Yourself against paying extortionate prices by buying direct from

LUDDEN & BATES, Savannah, Ga.

Who have but One Price and that the lowest known. You can't pay them more than Instruments are actually worth. They are not built that way. Write for Latest SPECIAL OFFERS.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn. Church or School — FOR — Catalogue.

BAILEY'S Compound light-spreading 84-in. nickel-plated Corrugated Glass REFLECTORS A wonderful invention for lighting Churches, Halls, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Catalogue and price list free. Handsome designs. BAILEY REFLECTOR CO. 106 Penn Ave. Pittsburgh, Pa. For Electric Light or Gas. For Oil.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1 at Druggists.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO SUCCESSORS IN BLYMYER BELLS TO THE BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS. BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD. Best quality Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, &c. BELLS Also CHIMES AND BELLS. Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY. Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free. VANDUZEN & TIFT. Cincinnati, O.

GOLDEN MEMORIES

OF THE BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.

8 Col'd Plates, 50 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations

A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ART

A Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown, sold at a price within the reach of all.

AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP. HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

HOME LIFE.

TO THE WOMAN WHO TOILETH.

Place a spray in thy belt, or a rose on thy stand,
When thou settest thyself to a commonplace seam;
Its beauty will brighten the work in thy hand,
Its fragrance will sweeten each dream.

When life's petty details most burdensome seem,
Take a book—it may give thee the solace thou'st sought—
And turn its leaves over till thou entchest the gleam
Of some gem from the deep mine of thought.

When the task thou performest is irksome and long,
Or thy brain is perplexed by doubt or a fear,
Fling open the window, and let in the song
God hath taught to the birds for thy cheer.

O, a branch of wild roses the barrenest lodge
Maketh fit for a throne, while the blossoming vine
Will turn to a bower the thornlest hedge;
So will beauty make stern life divine.

—The Home-Maker.

How the Epworth Children Learned to Read.

Mrs. Susanna Wesley was very much in advance of her age in one particular, and that was in waiting till her little ones were five years old before teaching them to read. Many babies in those days were taught the alphabet at two, and could read quite fluently at three, while of a noted Scotch divine his biographer tells that at three he had acquired the Greek as well as the English alphabet, and at five was wrestling with the Greek Testament. Nor was this considered precocious or singular. So Mrs. Wesley displayed independence as well as discretion by waiting till the fifth birthday had come before her tiny men and women were brought into the school-room.

The way of teaching was this: The day before a child began to learn, the house was set in order, and a charge given that none should come into the room from nine till twelve, or from two till five, which were our school hours. One day was allowed the child wherein to learn all its letters, and each of them did in that time know all its letters, great and small, except Molly and Nancy, who were a day and a half before they knew them perfectly, for which I then thought them very dull; but the reason why I then thought them so was because the rest learned them so readily; and your brother Samuel, who was the first child I ever taught, learned the alphabet in a few hours. He was five years old Feb. 10. The next day he began to learn, and as soon as he knew the letters, began at the first chapter of Genesis. He was taught to spell the first verse, then to read it over and over till he could read it off-hand without any hesitation; so on with the second, till he took ten verses for a lesson, which he quickly did.

Easter fell late that year, and by Whitsuntide he could read a chapter very well; for he read continually, and had such a prodigious memory that I do not remember ever to have told him the same word twice. What was yet stranger, any word he had learned in his lesson he knew wherever he saw it, either in his Bible or any other book; by which means he learned very soon to read an English author well.

The same method was observed with them all. As soon as they knew the letters, they were first put to spell and read one line; then a verse; never leaving till they were perfect in their lesson, were it shorter or longer. So one or other continued reading at school-time, without any intermission; and before we left school each child read what he had learned that morning; and ere we parted in the afternoon, what he had learned that day.—Margaret E. Sangster, in Harper's Young People.

THE WICKEDNESS OF DISCONTENT.—Many Christians have more or less of the spirit of discontent within their hearts. They are not content with such things as they have, but are constantly reaching for things which they can not obtain, and which they have no right even to desire. The law of God strikes at the root of all this unquietness when it forbids that covetousness of things of others which is the cause of much of the discontent with the things which are our own.

If people would separate themselves from all these surrounding considerations, and cease to compare themselves with others; if they would think of the mercies God has shown them, the friends, the home, the blessings, he has bestowed; if they would look into the dim eyes of the sorrowing, and the pinched faces of the poor; into the squalor of wretched homes full of misery caused by vice, intemperance and sin; if they would see how much God has spared them which others endure, and how much he has given of which others are deprived, surely there would be an end of much of this ungrateful and sinful murmuring and discontent which embitters the lives of some, and leads others into unhappiness and wrong doing.

"Be content with such things as ye have," is the divine direction, and those who will follow it will find peace and sweetness in the quiet comforts and enjoyments of their appointed lot, which they will never obtain in the restlessness of discontent, in the gratification of forbidden longings, and in rebellion against the appointments of a gracious providence.—The Common People.

THE THEATER.—The newspapers do well to place the theater under the head of "amusements" in their advertising columns. It is an unintended criticism of the theater's pretense to minister to the artistic and esthetic instincts and their culture. It tells to what a low level in our human nature the modern dramatic representation makes its appeal. What would be thought of a collection of paintings which could be called an amusement, and whose leading purpose was to divert people from all high and serious thoughts? All true art leads us upward toward, if not to, the contemplation of great and earnest thoughts. The theater has abandoned the very pretense of this, while still claiming to be artistic. It is an amusing theater: its message is to keep men from musing, and from the Muses. It even has parted company from literature, the modern playwright being no more a man of letters than is the professional compiler of advertisements.—Sunday-School Times.

"CREATE IN ME A CLEAN HEART."—One day a drop of water lay in a pool on the city street. It was stained and soiled. But, looking up, it saw the blue sky, and the pure heavens, and the white sunbeams dancing everywhere, and began to long for purity and for a nobler, worthier life. It looked up into the sky, and its longing became an earnest prayer to be made clean and beautiful. And its prayer was heard. Presently the little soiled drop was lifted up out of the gutter into the air—higher and higher. Then the breeze caught it, and it was wafted away, and by and by it rested in the bosom of a rose a drop of pure, crystal dew. So God answers our prayers for holiness. "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled."—J. R. Miller.

In the School of Sorrow.

Sorrow puts off the robes of state, and finds its way to the heart. It reveals, too, our religious attitude. A recently published life of an archbishop of the Church of England gives an insight into the heart and piety of this high dignitary, an insight which honors his humanity and his faith, and which makes us feel akin to him in sympathy and sorrow. The scarlet fever carried off at one time his five little daughters. He records: "I have not had the heart to make any entry in my journal now for about nine weeks. When last I wrote I had six daughters on earth; now I have one, an infant. O God, thou hast dealt very mysteriously with us. We have been passing through deep waters; our feet were well-nigh gone. But though thou slay us, yet will we trust in thee. . . . They are gone from us, all but my beloved Craufurd and the babe. Thou hast reclaimed the lent jewels. Yet, O Lord, shall I not thank thee now? I will thank thee not, only for the children thou hast left to us, but for those thou hast reclaimed. I thank thee for the blessing of the last ten years, and for all the sweet memories of their little lives—memories fragrant with every blissful, happy thought. I thank thee for the full assurance that each has gone to the arms of the Good Shepherd, whom each loved according to the capacity of her years. I thank thee for the bright hope of a happy reunion, when we shall meet to part no more. O Lord, for Jesus Christ's sake, comfort our desolate hearts. May we be a united family still in heart, through the communion of saints, through Jesus Christ our Lord!"

This is the school in which every soul must graduate for heaven. The furnace is not heated for exceptional cases. Every soul must pass through it, and feel the pain of its fires. Our Christ was tried in this crucible, and in it his willing soul learned obedience, and was made perfect. For the disciple there is no pathway but that which was trod by his Lord. "I have chosen thee in the furnace of affliction," is the only divine election. God deals with us as with sons only when the marks of his chastenings are on us. There is no royal road to heaven, and the heart of this archbishop must be pierced by the flame and his feet mark this afflictive and lowly way, as well as the obscurest of his parishioners. It is good to be afflicted, to have tears for God to wipe away, to have griefs for God to comfort. Our sorrows impoverish earth, but enrich heaven. Submission, meekness, patience are learned in the school of sorrow, and learned nowhere else.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

BY THE FIRE.—Twilight was deepening fast, and Edith and I sat watching the open fire, which was the only light in the room, except Edith herself, of course. Edith is the sweetest girl in the world, with a nature all sunshine, like her face, and I am always happier for being with her. But she is so thoroughly sympathetic that I am apt to growl to her about the "blue" thoughts which sometimes come to me, I am sorry to say. The growl seems worth while, because she always has a bit of help to meet it.

"See how those poor little flames struggle," said I, "leaping up from the log again and again, yet never attaining a height where they can rest—dying down at last. It is like human life, isn't it? So much unnecessful effort."

Edith leaned forward and held out her fair hands to catch the warmth. The gleams of light flickered over her bright hair, and the soft glow from the embers made her face radiant. There was a wise little smile in her eyes. "How pretty it is!" she said; "I do love a wood-fire. Do you know, I often think no other inanimate thing—if this can be called inanimate—gives so much pleasure."—Exchange.

FAMILY PRAYER.—The late Canon Liddon laid great stress upon the habit of the family prayer. Not long before he died he wrote: "Depend upon it, the worth of a practice of that kind can only be measured by its effects during a long period of time; and family prayers, though only occupying a few minutes, do make a great difference to any household at the end of the year."

A comparison between any two families, one of which observes and the other neglects this custom, will verify the truth of his remark. There are occasional jars and clashing, fretful dispositions and hateful tempers, spirits of envy and petty spite even in the best of homes. But for even the time being, at least, these unholy feelings are allayed; as all blend together in humility and penitence before him in whose sight all have sinned.—Selected.

A SICK SELFISH MAN.—A thoroughly selfish man is a nuisance under any circumstances, but as an invalid he is intolerable. During his convalescence woe to his wife, if he has one. His couch or easy chair is as a throne, from which he dictates to his household as an absolute monarch to his serfs. No consideration has he for their tired muscles, their brains dazed for lack of sleep, their spirits faint and weary with fruitless endeavors to soothe his causeless irritation. He pets himself, he commiserates his own condition, he sighs as he surveys his attenuated visage in the looking-glass, but not a jot of sympathy, nor a grateful word has he for the wasted watchers to whose nursing he owes his life, whose love, stronger than death, has rescued him from the grip of the Destroyer.—Selected.

JENNY LIND'S TRIBUTE TO PAYNE.—No American poet ever received a more enviable compliment that one paid to John Howard Payne by Jenny Lind on his last visit to his native land. It was in the great National Hall in the city of Washington, where the most distinguished audience that had ever been seen in the capital of the republic was assembled. The matchless singer entranced the vast throng with her most exquisite melodies—"Casta Diva," the "Flute Song," the "Bird Song," and the "Greeting to America." But the great feature of the occasion seemed to be an act of inspiration. The great singer suddenly turned her face toward the part of the auditorium where John Howard Payne was sitting, and sang "Home, Sweet Home," with such pathos and power, that a whirlwind of excitement and enthusiasm swept through the vast audience. Webster himself lost all control, and one might readily imagine that Payne thrilled with rapture at this unexpected and magnificent rendition of his own immortal lyric.—New England Magazine.

Goodness is greater than sects, and more than names. Let the world see the goodness, and they do not care what church that man goes to; whether he uses a prayer book or not matters to nobody, or whether he is led up to service by a peal of bells or a big drum. There are some whose religion may be laughed at as a folly; whose sacred convictions are often the subject of sneer. Be of good courage. There is one thing men do know in their hearts, and do honor and envy—downright, thorough, consistent goodness.—Rev. Mark Guy Pearse.

Let the love of your brethren be a fire with. In you, consuming that selfishness that is so contrary to it and is so unnatural to men; let it set your thoughts on work to study how to do others good; let your love be an active love intense within you, and extending itself in doing good to the souls and bodies of your brethren as they need and you are able.—Leighton.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

KITTY KNEW ABOUT SHEEP.

Seven sheep were standing
By the pasture wall.
"Tell me," said the teacher
To her scholars small,
"One poor sheep was frightened,
Jumped and ran away.
One from seven—how many Woolly sheep would stay?"

Up went Kitty's fingers—
A farmer's daughter she,
Not so bright at figures
As she ought to be.
"Please, ma'am"—"Well, then, Kitty,
Tell us, if you know."
"Please, 11 one jumped over,
All the rest would go."

The Children's Crusade.

The agent has been receiving some letters recently from the little folks about the "Children's Scholarship in Millsaps College," and they have been so bright and interesting that he would like to publish them; but it would take up too much room. One little boy sold papers, and another helped his teacher, and a little girl picked cotton, and all send their dollars to the agent, and their names are enrolled as members of the "Children's Crusade." Here are some names that have come in lately:

Milton Jones	$1
Annie Patenotte	1
Sissie McLeod	1
John H. Webb	1

I know of others who are at work. One Sunday-school teacher is going to raise $5 among her boys

Bishop Galloway says he wants every Methodist in the State on Christmas morning to bring to the breakfast table a Christmas present for Millsaps College. I think it would be nice if every boy and girl would give one dollar to the "Children's Scholarship in Millsaps College."

A. F. WATKINS, Agent.

MR. EDITOR: As I saw the question of the three little cousins—Troy Tribble, Jesse Morgan and Edna Morgan—in the last ADVOCATE, I thought I would answer it. "Girl" is found in Joel iii, 3. This same question was asked in our Sunday-school class at Crowville not long ago, and I answered it. I will now ask the cousins a question which was also asked in the class: Where is "mule" found in the Bible?

Your friend, WILMINA OSBORN.
Como, La.

Bless His Dear Heart.

In a very elegant palace car enters a weary-faced, poorly-dressed woman, with three children, one a baby in her arms. A look of joy crept into her face as she sat down into one of the luxurious chairs; but it was quickly dispelled as she was asked rudely to "start her boots." A smile of amusement was seen on several faces as the frightened group hurried out to one of the common cars. Upon one young face, however, there was a look which shamed the countenance of the others.

"Auntie," said the boy to the lady beside him, "I am going to carry my basket of fruit and this box of sandwiches to the poor woman in the next car. You are willing, of course?"

"Don't be foolish, dear. You may need them yourself; and perhaps the woman is an imposter."

"No, I'll not need them," he answered decidedly, but in a very low tone. "You know I had a hearty breakfast, and don't need a lunch. The woman looked hungry, auntie, and so tired, too, with three little babies clinging to her. I'll be back in a minute, auntie I know mother wouldn't like it if I didn't speak a kind word to the least of these when I met them."

The worldly aunt brushed a tear from her eyes after the boy left her, and said, audibly, "Just like his dear mother."

About five minutes later, as the lady passed the mother and three children, she saw a pretty sight—the family feasting as perhaps they had never done before. The dainty sandwiches were eagerly eaten; the fruit basket stood open. The eldest child, with his mouth filled with bread and butter, said:

"Was the pretty boy an angel, mama?"

"No," answered the mother: and a grateful look brightened her faded eyes, "but he is doing an angel's work, bless his dear heart!" And we, too, said, "Bless his dear heart!"

—J. G. McPherson, in The Popular Science Monthly.

A Thing to Be Proud of.

"How does it taste, I wonder?" said Jamie, as he saw Patrick Flynn take a glass of steaming punch from the bar of a restaurant.

"Did you ever taste strong drink, James?" said a handsome old man standing by.

"Never," said Jamie. "I wonder if it's good."

"I can not tell how it tastes," said Mr. Landers. "I am sixty years old and never tasted it in my life, and I am proud to say it. I see what it does. It has cheated poor Flynn out of his snug little home. It has clothed his poor wife and children in rags, and made him cross and quarrelsome. It is liquid fire, and theft and poison. I don't want to know how it tastes."

"Neither do I," said Jamie. "Thank you, Mr. Landers, for what you have said. When I am a man of sixty years old I, too, will have it to say, 'I never tasted strong drink in my life.'"

The Doll's Name.

A bright little four-year-old boy in West End had a doll given to him. It was just what he wanted; for now he had a baby that he could toss and tumble about, and stand upside down, and abuse generally, so that it was really a comfort to him, which he could not always say of the real, sure-enough baby. Somehow mama objected seriously when he pulled her baby's nose or tried to make a pony out of him. "You must name your baby," said his mother one day.

"It's already named," said little Walter.

"What is it?"

"Its name is Hallowed."

"Why, what a queer name for a baby!"

"It's all right; don't you know in the big book it says, 'Hallowed be thy name?'"—Mid-Continent.

OUR LIMITED WISDOM.—All the family were reading in the library one evening. Mr. May had the evening paper, which he put down once to look at a reference in the encyclopedia. Mrs. May had a French art book and consulted her lexicon frequently. George asked his mother the meaning of several words in the story book over which he was poring. Eva, aged five, sat with George's Companion upon her lap.

"Reading, too, Puss?" said her father.

"Yes, sir."

"Why, Eva May, you can't read," said her brother.

"Yes, I can. I can read 'dog' and 'cat' and 'boy,' and lots of words when I find them. I read the words I do know, and that's all that any of you are doing," returned the observant little woman.

SCIENTIFIC.

The Passing of the Reporter.

BY EUGENE DUBIEF.

In this world everything wears out, everything passes away, everything undergoes a change. As the typographers have had their art modified by mechanism, the profession of reporter will be done away with by the new sciences. After stage-coaches, the locomotive; after gas, the voltaic arc. The journals printing dispatches will soon be a memory only. Make way for the phonographs! Make way for the telephones!

Already the telephone renders a thousand services. The editor-in-chief uses it to receive information or give orders, to chat with his colleagues. The Havas agency and the Dalziel agency send to the journals of Rheims, of Rouen, of Havre telephonic correspondence. Soon the telephone will extend from Paris to Bordeaux, from Marseilles to Birmingham. The Seine, the Danube, the Ganges will gossip together like neighbors.

Already, also, it is announced that Edison has undertaken to enlarge an idea already tried in France, the idea of a speaking journal! The deaf will, perhaps, object to it, but the blind will sing its praises.

Every subscriber, put by a wire in communication with his journal, will have nothing to do but turn a steel buckle and listen. Not only will he have the latest news collected, but he will hear, with or without commentary, the sermon of the preacher, the new opera, the speech of the cabinet minister; he will even know where, at a certain point, there was applause or murmurs of dissent; it will be impossible for the speaker to correct a stenographic report.

An indescribable network of electric conduits will enclose the globe. Through them, from everywhere, news will flow to the cabinet of the journalist, as by so many nervous threads; other nervous threads will transmit the news at the same instant to the subscribers or will store it in phonographs. Then, who knows?—our posterity having discovered the art of seeing at a distance, the likeness, the gestures, the play of actors, of actresses, of celebrated persons will follow the same road by which will be transmitted their acts or their words. By means of a very small subscription, the citizen of the twentieth century can call up before him, at will, a living diorama of the globe and be constantly in communication with the whole human race. No newspaper proprietor of our time knows so well, as will then be known, what takes place on the earth.

Then this will be so admirable, journalism will be so perfected, that there will be no more journalism. It will have ceased to be the indispensable tongue. The "this will kill that" of the poet will have found one application the more. The book has undermined the monument; the newspaper has taken the place of the book; the telephone and the phonograph will suppress the newspaper.—Revue Bleue.

THE BLUES AND REDS OF SUNSET.—Observers of the gorgeous sunsets and afterglows have been most particularly struck with the immense wealth of the various shades and tints of reds. Now, if the glowing colors are due to the presence of dust in the air, there must be somewhere a display of the colors complementary to the reds, because the dust acts by a selective dispersion of the colors. The small dust particles arrest the direct course of the rays of light and reflect them in all directions; but they principally reflect the rays of the violet end of the spectrum, while the red rays pass on almost unchecked. Overhead deep blue reigns in awe-inspiring glory. As the sun passes below the horizon, and the lower stratum of air, with its larger particles of dust which reflect light, ceases to be illuminated, the depth and fullness of the blue most intensely increase. This effect is produced by the very fine particles of dust in the sky overhead being unable to scatter any colors unless those of short wave-lengths at the violet end of the spectrum. Thus we see above, blue lights intensity without any of the red colors. When, however, the observer brings his eyes down in any direction except the west, he will see the blue mellowing into blue-green, green, and then rose color. And some of the most beautiful and delicate rose tints are formed by the air cooling and depositing its moisture on the particles of dust, increasing the size of the particles till they are sufficiently large to stop and spread the red rays, when the sky glows with a strange aurora-like light.—J. G. McPherson, in The Popular Science Monthly.

WARMTH AND VENTILATION.—Suppose a medium-sized sitting-room with four people and two gas jets; the air must be changed every fifty minutes to keep it pure. As air is heated it expands and becomes lighter per cubic foot. If all the air is heated equally, it remains at rest after expansion; but if but air is in the presence of cold air, the latter, by reason of its greater heaviness, forces its way down and drives the hot air up. The moving force of air currents is the greater weight of the colder air. This, then, is the force by which we are to drive out foul air and put pure air in its place. Pure external air will always drive out foul air if you give it a chance. In a room the air arranges itself according to its temperature; the hottest lies along the ceiling, the coolest along the floor. The hottest is the newest and purest. The coolest is the oldest and, therefore, the foulest. The air is gradually cooling from contact with the walls and windows. When hot air enters a room it rises at once to the ceiling and spreads across it. If there is an escape there, an open window or ventilator, it goes out, leaving the cooler foul air almost undisturbed. From this we see that a window slightly open at the top may cool a room, but not purify it.—Exchange.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger gives reasons for his belief that the general opinion regarding the utter destruction of vegetable life by the advance of a glacier is erroneous. He believes that plants will exist in a state of rest under an ice sheet for possibly centuries, and push up as vigorous as ever when the glacier recedes. He notes the statement of Kotzebue, that a peninsula near Pyramid Harbor, in Alaska, was wholly covered by ice one hundred and fifty years ago, and had no doubt been in that condition for ages. The ice has now receded some fifty miles, and the author made large collections of plants there.

OCEAN ROLLERS.—The great waves or "rollers" which break on coasts in calm weather have long been believed to indicate a distant gale; and Professor Cleveland Abe, an American meteorologist, has come to this conclusion after a study of them on the coast of Ascension. The Ascension rollers are the deflection of the windward swell on the leeward side of the island. "Double rollers" are, he states, produced by two sets of rollers coming round the right and left sides of the island and interfering with each other.—Cassell's.

It is impossible to make people understand their ignorance; for it requires knowledge to perceive it; and therefore he that can perceive it, hath it not.—Bishop Taylor.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a TINY LIVER PILL which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS is shown in the border of this "ad."

Heavy Crops!

The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Royal Germetuer

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labeled thus:

JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, LONDON, ENGLAND.

DONALD KENNEDY Of Roxbury, Mass., Says:

Strange cases cured by my Medical Discovery come to me every day. Here is one of Paralysis—blindness—and the Grip. Now how does my Medical Discovery cure all these? I don't know, unless it takes hold of the Hidden Poison that makes all Humor.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEVADA, Sept. 9th, 1891.

Donald Kennedy—Dear Sir: I will state my case to you: About nine years ago I was paralyzed in my left side, and the best doctors gave me no relief for two years, and I was advised to try your Discovery, which did its duty, and in a few months I was restored to health. About four years ago I became blind in my left eye by a spotted cataract. Last March I was taken with La Grippe, and was confined to my bed for three months. At the end of that time, as in the start, then it struck me that your Discovery was the thing for me; so I got a bottle and before it was half gone I was able to go to my work in two mines. Now in regard to my eyes, as I lost my left eye, and about six months ago my right eye became affected with black spots over the sight as did the left eye—perhaps some twenty of them—but since I have been using your Discovery they all left my right eye but one; and, thank God, the bright light of heaven is once more making its appearance in my left eye. I am wonderfully astonished at it, and thank God and your Medical Discovery. Yours truly,

HANK WHITE.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 164 Whitehall St.

Speak for Themselves.

"I know all about the Cannabis Indica. Fifteen years ago it cured my daughter of the Asthma; she had it very bad for several years, but was perfectly cured. Please send me a $9 box of your medicine.

"JACOB TROUT,
"Deep River, Poweshick Co., Iowa."

Will thee please send me four bottles of Cannabis Indica, Pills and Ointment for my cousin's husband, whom I fear is in a decline, and as thy medicines cured my only brother of a hemorrhage of the lungs about a year ago, I wish cousin to take them. Thy true friend, HANNAH MICKLE, near Woodbury, N. J.

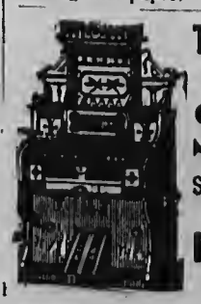
$2.50 per bottle, or three bottles for $6.50. Pills and Ointment, $1.25 each.

CRABTREE & CO., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia, Sole Proprietors.

Ask your druggist for Dr. H. James' Imported Remedies, or send to us direct, naming this paper.



THIS ORGAN ONLY $29.00 SEND FOR CATALOGUE ADDRESS H. W. ALLEGER, Washington, N. J.

MARRIAGES.

SURGHNOR—FONTAINE.—At the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Nolly, in Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 18, 1891, by Rev. W. B. Lewis, Dr. W. G. Surghnor, of Monroe, La., to Miss May Belle Fontaine, of Vicksburg, Miss.

WHITFIELD—MORROW.—At the residence of Mr. Cooley Mann, in Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 19, 1891, by Rev. W. B. Lewis, Mr. B. W. Whitfield, of Alabama, to Miss Lou Morrow.

GORDON—BEEMAN.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Pickens, Miss., Oct. 7, 1891, Mr. W. S. Gordon, cashier of Pickens Bank, and Miss Lelia Beeman.

NEILSON—TYE.—At the residence of the bride's father, Col. John F. Tye, Pickens, Miss., Oct. 15, 1891, Mr. Halbert H. Neilson, of Crystal Springs, Miss., and Miss Alice Tye.

SMITH—HARRINGTON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Maj. Fletcher Harrington, Holmes county, Miss., Nov. 11, 1891, Dr. Manning T. Smith, of Union, S. C., and Miss Ethel Harrington.

GWIN—KELLEY.—In the Methodist Church, Winona, Miss., Nov. 3, 1891, by Rev. J. C. Lowe, Mr. John D. Gwin and Miss Annie L. Kelley.

KERR—WATSON.—Near Indian Mound, East Baton Rouge parish, Oct. 22, 1891, by Rev. Wiley Brown, Mr. A. I. Kerr and Miss Fanny Watson.

LOVETT—GOODRICH.—At Bethel Church, East Baton Rouge circuit, Nov. 15, 1891, by Rev. Wiley Brown, Mr. Monroe Lovett and Miss Laura Goodrich.

SHERFY—GROOVELLE.—In Lake Charles, La., Nov. 23, 1891, by Rev. Thos. J. Upton, Mr. L. Dana Sherfy, of Welsh, La., to Miss Bertha Groovelle, of Beaumont, Texas.

HEAPTONSTALL—HODGE.—In Natchez, Miss., Nov. 15, 1891, by Rev. W. E. Ballard, Mr. J. N. Heaptonstall, of Arkansas, to Mrs. Florence Hodge, of Concordia parish, La.

OUSLEY—McDANIEL.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near Newport, Miss., Nov. 19, 1891, by Rev. L. D. Worsham, Mr. E. E. Ousley to Miss Lillie McDaniel.

BOOTH—McRAE.—Nov. 18, 1891, by Rev. B. F. Phillips, Mr. W. H. Booth to Miss Susie P. McRae, daughter of Maj. John L. McRae, all of Holmes county, Miss.

OBITUARIES.

GATLIN—WILLIE GATLIN, son of Z. B. Gatlin and Mrs. Martha Hoover Gatlin, was born March 20, 1867; baptized by Rev. E. A. Flowers; was converted and joined the Methodist Church, South, in 1889, and died at the home of his parents, in Pike county, Miss., Oct. 14, 1891.

The death of this young man threw over the entire community where he resided, and where he was loved and respected, a pall of gloom, the startling effects of which have not yet left their hearts. From childhood he was more or less an invalid; but by the tenderest, closest care of his parents he was brought to the years of manhood. His father often folded his arms about him, and wished that he could shield him from the ills and evils of life. What his human hands could not have accomplished, a loving heavenly Father has, in his infinite mercy, done for him. He was lovingly obedient to his parents, and lived in the Summer of their hearts, while their love to him was more than human. He was a pure, faithful Christian, and kept the commandments blameless. Memorial services were held in St. Mary's Chapel, conducted by Rev. R. Bethea, a special friend of the family, assisted by the pastor, Rev. W. T. Griffin. The eulogy pronounced by Rev. Bethea was all that his surviving relatives and friends could desire, showing that he had analyzed his character, and could say he had never known a better Christian boy. He has passed away, but his pious example remains as a legacy to the church to enrich its treasury, and to encourage others on their way to the better land. His bereft parents, brothers and sisters have the consolation of the gospel, and the prospect of meeting him above, where the sad farewell is never uttered, and kindred ties never severed. MRS. M. L. J. HOOVER, Summit, Miss.

CHRISTIAN—E. O., Sr., was born Feb. 18, 1811. He was happily married to Miller Arnal Peavy, Oct. 22, 1840. Nine children blessed their union.

He united with the M. E. Church when quite young. He left the church militant for the church triumphant, June 11, 1891. My association with him for some time has been of an intimate nature. Having been thrown with him in Quarterly Conferences and at protracted and camp meetings, my opportunities for thirty-five years have been good to cultivate his acquaintance and profit by his piety. I have regarded him in every sense of the word as being a good man. He was a liberal supporter of the church, and attended its ordinances with promptness. He was a class leader for a number of years, and was very solicitous for the salvation of souls and the growth and development of the church.

In conversation soon after his death with one of his friends, who had known him much longer than the writer, he observed that he regarded Bro. C. as being a sanctified man of God, and while he made no profession of such a state of grace, his friends were impressed that he had attained to it.

Bro. Christian is missed in his church and community, and while we are bereaved, we believe that God doeth all things well, and feel assured that our loss is his gain. We would say to the family: Follow him as he has followed Christ, and may his mantle fall on some of his sons! W. F. MONELAND.

DAVIDSON—We are pained to chronicle the death of our little friend, MARY SCOTT DAVIDSON, only daughter of John F. and Hattie Davidson, and granddaughter of James and Sally Fyburn. She was born Sept. 11, 1880, and died near Clio, La., on Nov. 11, 1891.

She was a sweet and affectionate child, and was almost idolized by her parents, relatives and friends. She was a member of the Huff's Chapel Sunday-school, and attended church on Sunday before her death. How little did we then think, as we looked on her smiling face and listened to her sweet prattle, that we should so soon be compelled to convey her body to the tomb! But God saw fit to take her from this world of sorrow to a land of endless bliss, and while we mourn her loss, we bow in submission to the will of God, for we feel that she is only gone before and is watching at the beautiful gate for her parents and friends.

DR. W. W. FAUST.

Baton Rouge papers please copy.

WOODWARD—Mrs. MARY JANE WOODWARD, wife of B. J. Woodward, and daughter of Rev. Green Y. McNabb, died in Wesson, Miss., Oct. 6, 1891. She was born in Marion county, Miss., May 29, 1846.

She was a professor of religion and a member of the church from girlhood. Her life proclaimed her living faith. After a painful illness she died in peace. I saw her often in her last days. She seemed always to have a quiet confidence in her Redeemer. She leaves seven children, a fond husband and many friends to mourn her loss. T. S. WEST.

McMANUS—Died at the residence of Isaac Anderson, in the town of Ellisville, on Nov. 4, 1891, Mrs. MARY MCMANUS, daughter of Dr. D. R. Pool. She was born in Clark county, Miss., on May 4, 1851. She joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1870; was married to Richard McManus, May 13, 1874; emigrated to Angelina county, Texas, where she lived until her health failed, and she returned to her father's home in Jones county for medical treatment. She lingered here for about two weeks, and then, in perfect readiness, and in full exercise of mind and memory, she breathed her last. Her dying declarations were perfectly clear in favor of triumphant faith. A large circle of relatives and friends, a bereaved husband and five orphan children mourn her loss. She was buried, Nov. 5, in Ellisville Cemetery. The ladies decorated her grave with white flowers, interwoven with evergreens, emblems at once of the brevity of human life and the immortality of the soul.

Farewell, sister; sleep in peace, and may the Lord comfort the family and friends you leave behind! E. J. TAYLOR.

JOHNSON—JOSEPH EARL JOHNSON, son of Samuel J. and Susie B. Johnson, was born March 28, 1888, and departed this life, Nov. 3, 1891, three o'clock A. M.

Earl was an exceedingly bright child, and beloved by all that knew him on account of his winsome ways. He was the youngest member of Ellisville Juvenile Missionary Society, and was prompt to pay his monthly dues.

During his illness he denied himself the purchase of an orange in order to give to missions. He loved to think and speak about God and heaven, and never forgot his morning and evening prayers. While sick, he asked his mama, "if I die, won't Grandpa Gann meet me when I come to heaven?" Attacked with croup Friday night, Oct. 30, every attention was given, and Monday afternoon he seemed to be in no danger. His bright smiles and playful mood caused great joy to his parents; but, alas! before daylight, Tuesday morning, Nov. 3, the angels arrived and transferred this sunbeam to the glory-land, where he is now safe in the arms of Jesus. R. B. DOWNER.

RANEY—TILITHA DELANEY was born June 2, 1809; died Oct. 24, 1891. She was twice married: first to Mr. Andrew Lazers, and after his death to Mr. Geo. W. Raney, who has also been dead several years.

Sister Raney has been an acceptable member of the M. E. Church, South, since her childhood, of Friendship Church, Livingston circuit.

She had been living with her son, Bro. John B. Raney, since the war, and died at his house near Byram, Miss. She was sprightly for one of her age, until a few weeks prior to her death, when she accidentally stepped off a high piazza, fracturing her limbs, which produced death. While the pain was severe, she bore it with patience. A short time before her death she asked for some one to hold prayer; also requested those around her to meet her in heaven.

May God bless and comfort the bereaved! is the prayer of their pastor, J. C. ELLIS.

STRICKLAND—MELVIN, son of W. H. and M. E. Strickland, was born May 23, 1889, and died Oct. 26, 1891.

Little Melvin was a bright child, and one of three idols of a fond father and mother. His stay on earth was short, but his influence will be lasting. His illness was brief, for God released him from his sufferings, and sent the angel to wait his pure spirit to the Savior above. It was sad, indeed, when the mortal remains of this little prattler were borne away to the silent grave; it seemed untrue that he was dead. The sorrow and tears of a bereaved household caused strong men to bow their heads.

Weep not, father and mother, for your Melvin, he is not in the cold grave, but has gone to live with Jesus and the angels. He will be there to greet you as you enter the pearly gates. W. L. HAMIL, P. C.

STEVENSON—MALISA VIOLA was born June 2, 1873, and died June 3, 1891, at her home near East Point, Red River parish, La.

Viola was converted August, 1888, at a meeting held by Rev. J. B. Cassity and the writer in East Point, La. She joined the church at this meeting, and gave herself completely to the Lord; and during the three years from her conversion until death she was a true follower of her Savior; therefore, living faithfully, she died in peace.

She leaves a father, mother, five sisters and one brother to mourn her departure from this life. May they rejoice in the fact that their loved one has gone to that rest that "remains for the people of God!" J. B. WILLIAMS.

STAFFORD—Mrs. IDA C. STAFFORD, daughter of O. H. and Martha A. Wickson, was born in Warren county, Miss., Oct. 15, 1859; was married to Mr. J. D. Stafford, Oct. 16, 1881; was the mother of seven children—four of whom died in their infancy. She joined the M. E. Church, South, Aug. 1, 1891; died at her home, near Australia, Miss., Oct. 31, 1891. She said that she was prepared to die. Our loss is her eternal gain. May God bless her bereaved husband and little children!

O. L. SAVAGE.

We use Alcohol

pure alcohol to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING. Alcohol is good for leather; it is good for the skin. Alcohol is the chief ingredient of Cologne, Florida Water, and Bay Rum the well known face washes. We think there is nothing too costly to use in a good leather preservative.

Acme Blacking retails at 20c.

and at that price sells readily. Many people are so accustomed to buying a dressing or blacking at 5c. and 10c. a bottle that they cannot understand that a blacking can be cheap at 20c. We want to meet them with cheapness if we can, and to accomplish this we offer a reward of $10,000

for a recipe which will enable us to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. We hold this offer open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

A FEW MORE

Good Agents Wanted

For that Wonderful Chart,

"The Tree of Methodism."

Address

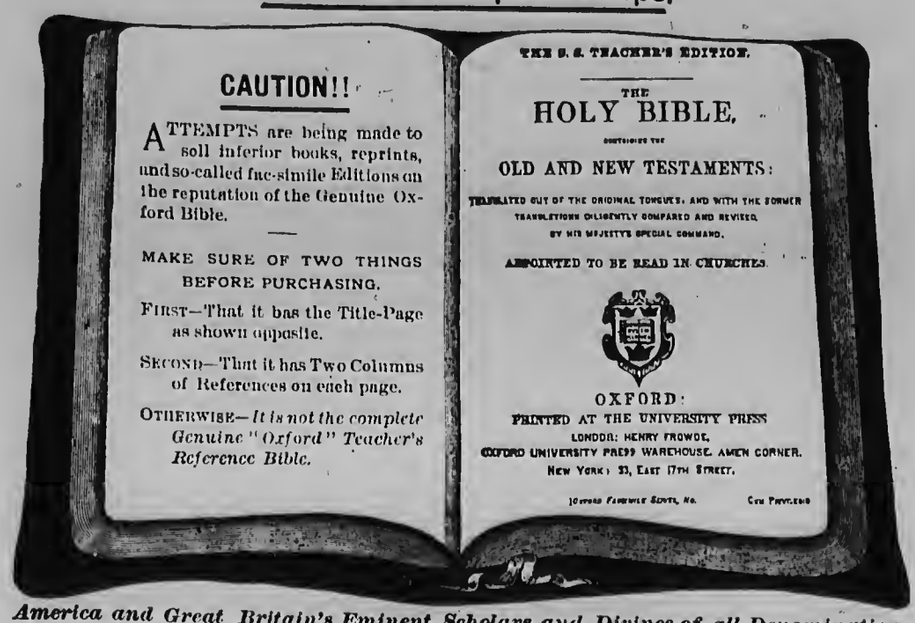
F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH.
106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans.

THE GENUINE OXFORD" TEACHER'S BIBLE.

A Whole Library of Scriptural Knowledge in a Small Compass.

THE STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE IN PRINTING, PAPER, AND BINDING.

The Most Complete Helps.



America and Great Britain's Eminent Scholars and Divines of all Denominations pronounce the Genuine Oxford Bible

THE BEST AND MOST COMPLETE BIBLE PUBLISHED.

The Right Hon. Wm. E. GLADSTONE says: "These admirable Bibles must tend to extend the fame even of the Oxford Press."

Rev. C. H. SPURGEON: "The very best. I have carefully examined the volume, and can unreservedly recommend it."

Rev. T. De WITT TALMAGE, D.D., October, 1890: "During my recent journeying in Palestine, I found the 'Oxford' Teacher's Bible helpful, accurate, and indispensable."

Rev. J. M. BUCKLEY, D.D., Editor Christian Advocate, October, 1890: "This is the most complete work for its purpose within our knowledge. * * * It is our constant companion when absent from home—a library in itself."

Rev. Dr. William P. STOWE, Chicago, October, 1890: "I am frank to say that for clearness of type, for valuable helps and elegant and substantial bindings, the 'Oxford' Teachers' Bible has no superior in the market."

Over One Hundred Styles on Rag Made and the FAMOUS "OXFORD INDIA PAPER," from $1.25 to $20.

ASK FOR THE GENUINE "OXFORD" EDITION.

FOR SALE BY ALL BOOK-SELLERS.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS,

"Oxford" Bible Warehouse, 33 East 17th Street (Union Square), New York.

THE BEST COMPANY

Is the company which does the most good; and the company which does the most good is that which issues and maintains the largest amount of assurance.

	Am't of Assurance issued during 1890.	Assurance in force Dec. 31, 1890.
EQUITABLE -	$203 826,107	$720,662,473
MUTUAL - -	161,365.921	638.041.180
NEW YORK - -	159,576,065	569,338,726
PENN MUTUAL - -	20 663.272	90 278,701
MANHATTAN -	12,962,401	54,500,754

THE BEST COMPANY MUST ALSO BE THE SAFEST COMPANY.

	Surplus.	Ratio of Assets to Liabilities
EQUITABLE -	$23 740.447	125
MUTUAL - -	9.981.233	107
NEW YORK - -	14 898 451	114½
PENN MUTUAL - -	1,634.452	110
MANHATTAN -	1,036,632	109

The above companies are from nine to eighteen years older than the Equitable.

Write to the undersigned before insuring your life.

R. P. LAKE, General Agent, Jackson, Miss.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and
Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cages, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS—E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

Watches, Diamonds, FINE JEWELRY! Silver and Silver-Plated Ware, SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
(Established 1817)
119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

THIRTY CENTS

WILL get you TWO good papers, THE WAY OF FAITH (weekly), THE SOLDIER (monthly), for THREE MONTHS, 8 sweet songs, and our Liberal Terms to Agents. Address GOSPEL MISSION, Columbia, S. C.

Mention this paper.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - - -	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - - -	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - - -	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - - -	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - - -	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. H. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 5

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

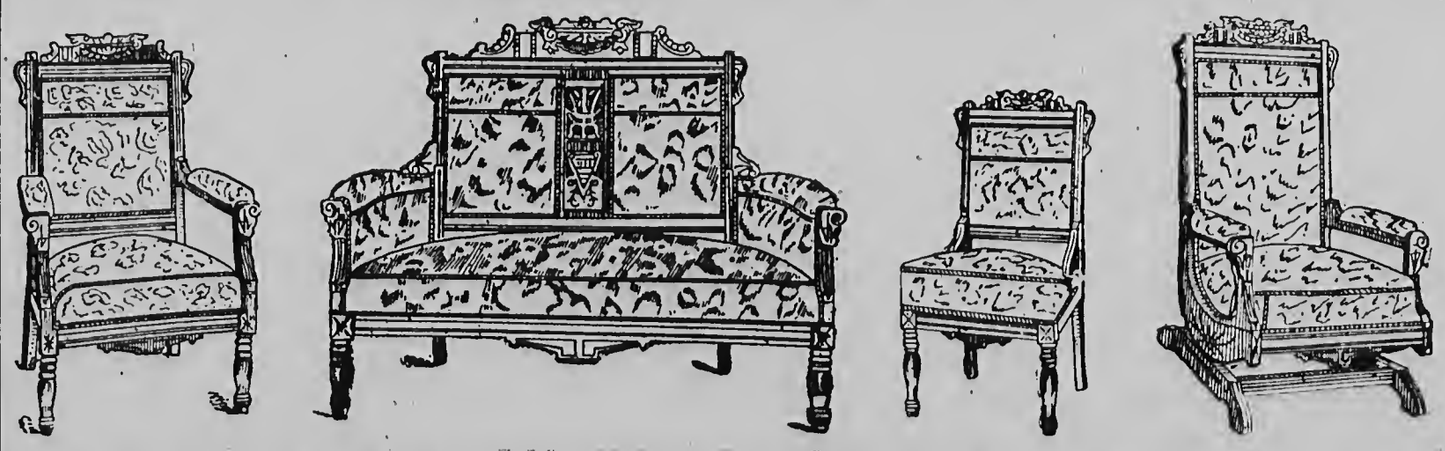
ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT MCGEHEE, Secretary

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Mange, Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Krost, T. J. Woodward

SHORTHAND Thorough, Practical Instruction. Graduates assisted to positions. Circulars free. Write to BRYANT & STRATTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, LOUISVILLE, KY.

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:—one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $40 up to $1000 Dining room suits, eight pieces, from $17 upwards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 upwards. Quality at top—prices at bottom I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30 | J. G. GRANT, | CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30

NO LIME IN
Royal Baking Powder

The ROYAL BAKING POWDER is made from Cream of Tartar specially refined and prepared for its use by patent processes by which the Tartrate of Lime is totally eliminated.

This highly important result has been attained only with great care, labor and expense. In money alone a half a million dollars has been invested in patents, machinery and appliances by which the crude Cream of Tartar, being procured direct from the wine districts of Europe, and subjected in this country to these exclusive processes, is rendered entirely free, not only from the objectionable Tartrate of Lime, but from other foreign substances.

This adds greatly to the cost of manufacturing ROYAL BAKING POWDER; but, as all its other ingredients are selected and prepared with the same precise care, and regardless of labor or expense, an article is produced that is entirely free from any extraneous substance, and pure in all respects. The ROYAL contains no ingredients except those certified by the most eminent chemists necessary to make a pure, wholesome and perfect Baking Powder.

It costs more to manufacture the Royal Baking Powder than any other; but it is, as shown by chemical analysis, the only "absolutely pure" Baking Powder made.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The exposition held in Augusta, Ga., which closed on Nov. 28, was a great success every way.

A fire in Pittsburg, Pa., last week caused the destruction of over $100,000 worth of property.

A movement is on foot in Indianapolis to secure the Democratic National Convention for that city.

Something over $5,000,000 is said to have been expended in Pennsylvania in a year on the repair of roads.

One of the attractions of the Chicago exhibition is to be a pyramid of 400 pianos connected by electricity and manipulated by one woman.

A collision between north and southbound freight trains on the Southern Pacific occurred near Bayou Sale, La., last week, in which a brakeman was killed.

Gen Wilder's Brigade of mounted infantry, famous in the Army of the Cumberland, will be one of the first to mark its positions on the battlefield of Chickamauga.

The main building of the Straight University, in this city, was destroyed by fire on Nov. 29. This is an institution for colored people, and is owned by the American Missionary Association of New York.

A Mormon elder is converting the people of Millis, Mich., by the score. An exodus of the population is in progress. Millis is an old lumbering town, built abandoned, and inhabited by a class of people peculiarly susceptible to the influence of the Mormon.

The celebration of the golden jubilee of Archbishop Kenrick, bishop and archbishop of the archdiocese of St. Louis for the past fifty years, began on Nov. 29. A great number of famous Catholic prelates from various sections of the country were in attendance.

The plant established by the owners of the Michigan mine for the separation of iron ore by electricity has proven a success. The works have so far turned out 30,000,000 tons of high grades of ores. Improvements being made, the low grade ores are refined into the best of bessemers.

As Dr. John Hall, pastor of the First Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City, was passing from the church to the parsonage adjoining, after the morning service, last Sunday, an attempt was made to kill him. Three shots were fired at him, but he escaped being hit. The assailant is believed to be demented.

At a meeting in Chicago, last week, of the municipal council of the Irish National League, it was resolved "to solemnly warn the people of Ireland that they can receive no further support, moral or financial, from this country until they call a halt in the war of factions and reunite the forces now engaged in the work of self-destruction."

FOREIGN.

The McCarthyites are very sanguine that the Parnellites will not hold more than four seats at the general election in Ireland.

Sir Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, who some time ago was elected to the rectorship of the University of Glasgow, was installed in office, Nov. 26, with all the honors attendant upon that ceremony.

The influenza now so prevalent in Germany is of a much more virulent type than that which caused so much suffering in 1889. Physicians estimate that 40,000 persons have been attacked with influenza since Nov. 1 in Berlin alone.

New waterworks with a storage capacity of 17,360,000,000 gallons are to be constructed for Birmingham, England. The supply is to come from the watershed of the Elan and Claerwen rivers in Mid-Wales, about eighty miles from Birmingham.

At a mass meeting, held in Berlin, under the auspices of the Anti-Semitic Lodge, at which 20,000 persons were present, the proposal to place restrictions upon the operations of Jewish dealers in finance on the Bourse and in commerce, were generally applauded.

The Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Baltour, First Lord of the Treasury, said in a speech, in Glasgow, that all Ireland wanted was a firm, liberal and kindly government. It only Mr. Gladstone abstained from advocating impossible legislative remedies, he was confident that a permanent cure of the Irish troubles would be effected.

Gen. Florino Peixotti, the new President of the Brazilian republic, has issued another manifesto, in which he appeals to the people of Rio Grande do Sul State to cease all futher revolutionary proceedings. He assures them and all Brazilians that the resignation of Dictator Fonseca will result in benefit to the country, as it avoided the shedding of blood.

American corn promises to assume an important part in the manufacture of soap in Germany. Hitherto the manufacturers have used linseed oil, procured in Russia; but owing to the failure of the crop there, they were compelled to look in other direcitons for a supply of oil. An eminent chemist, after many experiments, decided that the oil obtained from corn was best suited for the uses of the manufacturers.

It is stated that all the members of the Cabinet of the late President Balmaceda and a number of other Chilians, who were high officials in the overthrown government, will be tried for infraction of the Constitution and for the conversion of funds. If they are found guilty, they will be compelled to repay to the extent of their means all the national funds illegally expended. In all, seventy men will be tried on these charges.

The mission of M. De Giers to France has resulted in an alliance between that country and Russia. The entente agreed upon, according to M. De Giers, differs in one most essential point from the Triple Alliance treaty, inasmuch as it makes the statu quo the basis of the maintenance of peace. The Russo-French entente aims at what M. De Giers has called "respect for treaties," meaning especially the restoration of Russia's grip on Bulgaria and British evacuation of Egypt. The conferences are not in the meantime to be regarded as constituting danger of war, as both the Russian and French governments desire to assure a strict application of the existing treaties by pacific means.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1062 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF
NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions compiled with:

Revs. G. A. Mandeville, N. G. Augustus, Hicks M. Ellis, R. M. Walker, W. L. Weber, Robert L. Stephens, K. A. Jones, Robert Randle, J. R. Whittington, H. W. Wallace, Benj. S. Rayner, G. W. Bachman, W. C. Harris, A. F. Watkins, J. I. Hoffpauir, N. B. Norwood, R. C. Grace, G. W. Wall, C. McDonald, T. L. Lallunee, J. V. Penn, B. R. East, E. P. Spragins, Jos. W. Holt, J. W. Cobbs, J. P. Drake, Robt. J. Harp, C. G. Andrews, P. Howard, R. D. Norwerthy, J. T. Leggett, T. W. Porter.

Messrs. D. C. Blossom, T. A. Overton, J. L. Hunter, C. L. Hardwick, Lester L. Farnsworth, J. H. Cottrigh, P. W. Penolnger, S. A. Lewis, F. B. Casturerto, J. L. Hopkins, J. R. McGoldrick, R. L. Livingstoo, W. N. Moses, Jay B. Copeland.

Mesdames A. M. Phillips, M. A. Price, E. McBride.

Miss Mattie McCoy.

Dec. 1.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

Jesus, the Joy of the World.

This is the title of our Christmas Service for 1891. It is an eight-page leaflet in bright-colored ink on tinted paper, with illustrated title-page. The exercises consist of songs, music, responsive readings, recitations, etc., and a special provision for the requested service on behalf of foreign missions. Price, 20 cents per dozen; $1.25 per hundred. Let Sunday-schools order early of their Colporter, or of BARBEE & SMITH, Agents, Nashville, Tenn.

MR. GLADSTONE FORGETS

his political perplexities long enough to write for The Youth's Companion. Next year he will describe a young inventor of rare gifts and lofty character. The Companion is the only American weekly for which Mr. Gladstone writes.

Cheap Excursion to New Orleans.

Agents of the Queen and Crescent Route on Dec. 1 will sell tickets at all stations between Meridian and Slidell to New Orleans and return, at one fare for the round trip, good until Dec. 7 for return.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5 15-16	— —
Ordinary	6¼	— —
Good ordinary	5 13-16	— —
Low middling	7 5-16	— —
Middling	7⅛	— —
Good middling	7⅜	— —
Middling fair	8¼	— —
Fair	9⅛	— —
Galveston middling	— —	— —
Mobile middling	— —	— —
Memphis middling	— —	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	4⅛
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	2⅛	2¼
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	2¼	3 3-16
Prime yellow	3⅛	3 5-16
Gray white	3¼	3 7-16
Choice white	— —	3⅝
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	32	33
Fair	22	24
Good common	20	21
Syrup	24	25
RICE.
No. 2	2¼	— —
Good	4⅛	4⅜
Fair	4⅛	4⅜
Prime	— —	— —
Rough, ₩ bbl	2 00	4 10
Polish, ₩ ton	22 00	24 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	4 80	4 90
Fancy	4 40	4 50
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	5 00	5 50
Winter wheat patents	5 00	5 12½
Minnesota bakers	5 00	5 50
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	2 75	— —
Cream meal	3 40	— —
Grits	3 40	— —
Hominy	3 85	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	52
Yellow	— —	62
Mixed No. 2	61	62
OATS:
Western	— —	48
Texas rust-proof	58	59
BRAN:
₩ cwt	97½	1 00
HAY:
Prime	17 00	18 00
Choice	18 00	19 00
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	— —	10 25
Prime Mess	9 75	10 00
Rumps	— —	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	9½	10½
Shoulders	— —	— —
Sides, short rib	— —	7⅜
Sides, long clear	— —	7⅜
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	9½	10¼
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	4⅝	5
Sides, short rib	— —	6½
Sides, long clear	— —	6½
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	17¾	— —
Fair	17	— —
Common	14	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
No. 1	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	30	31
Western Dairy	21	24
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	5½	— —
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7⅜	— —
Coal, cases	13½	14
Cotton seed, crude	25	26
Lard, Extra No. 1	50	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ head	8	10
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 00	2 25
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 75	3 00
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb, ₩ yard	5⅜	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb, ₩ yard	— —	6¼
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	7½	12½
TIES:
₩ bundle	— —	1 25
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	5 00	5 50
Young Chickens	2 50	3 50
Chickens, Southern	2 75	3 00
Young	1 50	2 00
Turkeys, Southern	10 00	12 00
EGGS:
Western	25	26
Southern	26	27
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	21	21½
Louisiana	17	19
Burry	10	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	8¼	— —
Dry salted	5	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	10 00	— —
Meal	21 50	— —
Pure ground bone	30 00	32 00
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	2¾
Sulphuric acid	— —	2½

—New Delta, Dec. 1.

Use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in the beginning stages of cold and be cured for 25 cents.

Salvation Oil, the great pain-destroyer, should be kept in every family. 25 cents.

A NEW USE FOR MUSIC.—In some parts of Scotland there was formerly much opposition to the culture of the science of music. On one occasion two ministers of neighboring churches exchanged pulpits. One of the churches had a fine choir and excellent congregational singing, but the other utterly disregarded such creditable work. As the minister of the one fond of musical culture was going to take dinner with an elder of the other church, he remarked to him that he was surprised that they had such poor singing in their services; he could not see how such performances could be pleasing to the Almighty. The elder, not liking the criticism, replied: "O, we do not sing to please God." "Indeed," said the minister, "pray, then, what do you sing for?" The elder, being of a humorous turn of mind, made the ridiculous, not to say blasphemous, response: "We sing to frighten the devil!" To which the minister made the reply: "Well, my brother, I can assure you, you are in a very likely way to succeed."—Musical Messenger.

It's marvellous how many people use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment; so say retail druggists.

Do I hourly seek to avoid all occasions of sin, and is the temper of my mind habitually like the example of my Savior?—Anon.

La Grippe Once More.

Marsden's Pectoral Balm is an unfailing cure for this dread disease. Begin using the Balm immediately upon discovering the presence of the disease. It never fails to cure it.

Resolutions Commendatory.

Bro. A. E. Clay's Sunday afternoon congregation at Dryades Street Church unanimously passed the following resolutions last Sunday:

Whereas, Rev. Alfred E. Clay, pastor of Dryades Street M. E. Church, South, has delivered during the past year two series of lectures in his church, on the afternoons of Sunday, which have been on topics seldom sufficiently touched upon by ministers in their pulpits, and yet which affect most vitally our interests, material and spiritual; therefore, without reference to our denominational differences, but as a body of Christians, be it Resolved, That our thanks are hereby most cordially tendered to Mr. Clay for these lectures.

Resolved, That these lectures have been timely, most happily conceived, attractive in title, thought, word and delivery; that they have been a delight in their freshness of style, their innocent and brilliant wit and humor, their fund of anecdote, their beauty of sentiment, of language, and especially their triumphant handling of most delicate topics, and enforcing most needed lessons and admonitions, without offending the most delicate modesty or the most fastidious decorum.

Resolved, That in view of the need of such information, and clerical enforcement of such sentiments from the pulpit, in view of the pressing need for agitation, in order to reform and eradicate many of the abuses against which these lectures have been directed, and because of their high literary merits, the wish is hereby expressed, and the request hereby conveyed to Mr. Clay, that they may take permanent shape in book or pamphlet, so as to be accessible to the multitude at large, to whom they ought to be known.

Resolved, That we hope for a continuance of the same style of lectures, and at the same hour of each Sabbath, and we earnestly urge Mr. Clay to defer to our wishes in this regard.

EVERY SKIN AND SCALP DISEASE, whether torturing, disfiguring, humiliating, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, with loss of hair, from pimples to the most distressing eczemas, and every humor of the blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, is speedily, permanently, and economically cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Purifier and Beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT the new blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. This is strong language, but true. Thousands of grateful testimonials from infancy to age attest their wonderful, untiring and incomparable efficacy.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Skin and Blood Diseases."

Pimples, blackheads, chapped and oily skin prevented by CUTICURA SOAP.

Rheumatism, Kidney Pains, and Muscular Weakness relieved in one minute by the CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

Christmas Books and Cards.

The Religious Book Depository, 91 Camp Street, New Orleans, sells solely religious books, cards and supplies: Christmas cards, booklets and mottoes, with Scripture verses, or reading matter, is a specialty; Bibles of all bindings and print are for sale at low prices. Send for catalogue.

FIVE CENTS EACH.

Christmas Cards, at 5 cents each, also a large lot of Booklets at this low price. Here are the names of three: "I Am the Light of the World;" "For Unto Everyone that Hath Shall be Given;" "I Am the Good Shepherd." Five pages and a cover to each.

TEN CENTS EACH.

6 Booklets, Illustrated cover, six pages: "I Am the Resurrection and the Life;" "Then Shall the Kingdom of Heaven be Likened unto Ten Virgins;" "Awake Thou that Sleepeth;" "Consider the Lilies;" "Watch and Pray;" "Him that Cometh unto Me."

3 Booklets, oblong, cover illustrated, five pages: "Let not your Heart be Troubled;" "Go, Work to-day in My Vineyard;" "Be of Good Cheer."

8 Small booklets, full-page colored Illustrations: "Sun of My Soul;" "Hark the Glad Sound;" "All Hail the power of Jesus' Name;" "Just as I Am;" "Light after Darkness;" "The Lord is My Shepherd;" "Jesus, Lover of My Soul;" "God be Merciful unto Us."

Any of the above will be sent for $1 a dozen.

FIFTEEN CENTS EACH.

4 Color Illustrated booklets. Text for Every Day, and "His Love;" "His Word;" "His Will;" "His Way."

6 Booklets, Scripture Text Poem, Illustrated cover nine pages; "Sing Unto the Lord;" "The Love of Christ;" "Lay Not Up for Yourselves Treasures;" "Come unto Me;" "Behold, I Stand at the Door and Knock;" "Whosoever Drinketh of this Water Shall Thirst Again."

TWENTY CENTS EACH.

Beautiful booklets in color illustration: Poems, "Glory to God;" "Lead, Kindly Light;" "The Pure in Heart;" "Life's Sunny Side;" "Heart's Content."

Daily Text-Books for a month, "Goodness and Mercy;" "Bountiful Care."

Also a large number of hymns, with illustrations, handsomely bound.

FIFTY CENTS EACH.

"The Light of Nazareth," 3 full page illustrations. "The Working Ten" of the King's Daughters. 114 pages. Floral Bookmarks—a package of four.

SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS EACH.

"The Light of the World;" "The Heavenly Way;" two elegantly illustrated, large booklets with a text and hymn for a month—a daily companion. "Faith," from the Epistles to the Hebrews—elegant illustrations.

CHOICE CHRISTMAS CARDS.

No.		Cts. each.
1—40	styles, size 2½ by 1¾ inches	1
2—12	" " 3 by 2½ inches	2
3—32	" " 4⅜ by 3½ inches	5
4—29	" " 4½ by 3½ inches	4
5— 8	" " 4½ by 3¾ inches	6
6—11	" " 4½ by 4¼ inches	7
7—11	" " 5⅛ by 4⅝ inches	8
8—14	" " 5¾ by 4½ inches	12
9— 4	" " 7½ by 5½ inches	25
10— 3	" " 6 by 4 inches	10
11— 9	" " 6½ by 4¾ inches	15

Calendars for 1892, with Scripture Texts. Nice ones for 25 cents; better ones for 50 cents and $1 each.

Send for Catalogue of Scripture or Day-School Reward Cards.

Sunday-School Class Books and Records, Library Books, Hymn Books.

Write for anything you need in religious reading or work to

E. S. UPTON,
94 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Lady Canvassers Wanted

TO SELL OUR NEW

Haut-ton Waists and Duplex Corsets.

Exclusive Territory Given.

Address Bortree M'f'g Co.,
JACKSON, MICH.

One of the troubles of life is the breaking of lamp-chimneys.

Needless. Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" are tough against heat.

You will save nine-tenths of your chimney-money by using them,

"Pearl top" fits most of the little lamps; "pearl glass" is for "Rochester," "Pittsburgh," "Duplex," etc.

We make a great many sizes and shapes, all of tough glass. You can get the right ones. Talk with your dealer about it.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

IN THE SELECTION OF A CHOICE GIFT
or of an addition to one's library, elegance and usefulness will be found combined in

A New Book from Cover to Cover.

WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

Revision cost over $300,000.

SUCCESSOR OF THE UNABRIDGED.

Ten years' revising. 100 editors employed. Critical examination invited. Get the Best. Sold by all Booksellers. Pamphlet free.

G. & C. MERRIAM & CO., Springfield, Mass.

1892.
Harper's Young People.
AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY.

The thirteenth Volume of HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE began on November 3, 1891. For the coming year this best and most comprehensive weekly in the world for youthful readers offers a varied and fascinating programme. In serial fiction it will contain "Diego Pinzon," a story of the first voyage of Columbus, by JOHN R. CORYELL; "Canoemates: A Story of the Florida Reefs and Everglades," by KIRK MUNROE; another story by one of the best known and most popular of American authors; and stories in three and four parts by THOMAS NELSON PAGE, E. H. HOUSE, ANGELINE TEAL, ELLA ROBMAN CHURCH, and MARY S. MCCONE. More than two hundred short stories by favorite writers, articles on travel, out-of-door sports, in-door games, and all subjects dear to the hearts of the young, besides hundreds of illustrations by leading artists will combine to make HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE for 1892 an irresistible repository of pleasure and information for boys and girls.

"The best weekly publication for young people in existence. It is edited with scrupulous care and attention, and instruction and entertainment are mingled in its pages in just the right proportions to captivate the minds of the young, and at the same time to develop their thinking power."—Observer, N. Y.

Terms: Postage Prepaid, $2.00 Per Year.

Volumes V., VIII., and XII. of HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, bound in cloth, will be sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of $2.50 each. The other volumes are out of print.

SINGLE NUMBERS, Five Cents each. Specimen Copy sent on receipt of two-cent stamp.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW YORK.

AGENTS WANTED

For PANSY'S Latest and Greatest Work,

"The Prince of Peace;"

OR,

"The Beautiful Life of Jesus."

See what a few of our own preachers say about it

Rev. W. H. LaPrade, Pastor Carondelet Street Church, says: "I have been waiting for it. Put me down for two copies."

Rev. Chas. F. Evans, D. D., Presiding Elder of New Orleans District: "One of the most excellent of modern books. The wood cuts are magnificent."

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, Pastor Dryades M. E. Church, South, says: "A most excellent book for the young."

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, says: "I have read the book with pleasure and satisfaction."

Rev. Jno. T. Sawyer, Pastor Felicity Street M. E. Church, South, says: "This is a most excellent book to put in the hands of the young; and older persons will be benefited by it as well."

Hundreds of testimonials can be furnished. Agents are doing splendidly with it. Send $2 for outfit, and secure territory at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans, La.

Christmas Hints.

Our low prices are the talk of the town. We are selling reliable goods for less money than others. The reason: our expenses are lighter; we do not occupy a corner building, nor a Canal street store. Don't go about it blindly, but look sharp for our store. The following prices are quoted in pursuance of our recently announced plan to offer a special line of standard goods at prices which are well recognized at once as far below real value.

English Porcelain Tea Sets, decorated in all colors, 56 pieces, $8.50.

English Porcelain Dinner Sets, decorated in all colors, 115 pieces, $9.

Genuine French China Tea Sets, square shape, 56 pieces, $6.50.

English Porcelain Chamber Sets, decorated, 10 pieces, $2.75.

We recommend the above as superior goods in every respect.

W. C. Shepard & Son,

94 Camp, near Poydras St.

(The Oldest Queensware House in the South.)

KNABE
PIANOS.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 50. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1842.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
Rev. B. F. LEWIS, Ass't Editor.
J. G. GRANT, Publisher.
Rev. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Widows and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorised Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY.—All remittances should be made only by money order, express company orders, registered letters, bank drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or merchants. Drafts on country banks occasion delay of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. B. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. D. L. Cogdell, P. C., Carrollton circuit, North Mississippi Conference: "Forty-one additions this year; thirty-three adults and sixteen infants baptized. We have five splendid churches and one parsonage, all in good repair. I will be able to report all the collections in full. This is my third year on this work. We have organized two churches, built one house of worship, repaired and finished two others, and repaired the parsonage. Over 300 additions in three years."

Rev. B. S. Rayner, P. C., Vossburg, Miss., Nov. 30: "Our Woman's Missionary Society and Juveniles observed the week of prayer. The church spiritually benefited, and $18 25 collected. We are closing out the year encouragingly. We have had fifty-five accessions—a net increase of forty-seven. Collections pretty well up. A more loyal and consistent membership is not to be found. Bro. J. F. Hawkins has been assisting me for two months. He does his work well. He will go up for Conference on trial, and is a 'good boy.'"

Rev. J. Wilson Brown, Oak Ridge, Warren circuit, Miss., Dec. 1: "Our new church, Bradley's Chapel, three miles from here, was dedicated last Sunday, Nov. 29. Bro. R. Bradley, whose pastorate of four years on this charge ended two years ago, was with us. A large crowd attended, notwithstanding the severity of the cold weather. The presence of a former pastor, an able sermon, a hundred-dollar collection, an impressive dedication, a good dinner (Bro. Bradley officiating in all), contributed to the profit and pleasure of the day. As to figures, our annual report will be what, notwithstanding great deficiencies, is called full."

Rev. H. D. Howell, Purvis circuit, Mississippi Conference, Dec. 5: "I have finished my first year's work on Purvis circuit. We have much to be thankful for, and we trust we are not lacking in gratitude to the Giver of our mercies, and to those who have been so kind to me. We have had a good work of grace, and have advanced in the work of the church. We report this year 226 members, against 180 last year. We now have a parsonage valued at $600, located at Lumberton; and but for the destructive fire of last Spring, would have built a new church. We expect to do so in the near future. All the collections ordered by the Annual Conference paid in full, presiding elder paid in full, preacher in charge received all his salary, and $21 over. May the Lord bless and prosper the people on this circuit!"

Rev. J. H. Callaway, Monterey, La., Nov. 24: "Our fourth Quarterly Conference was held at White's Ridge, Nov. 23. Bro. Hoffpauir was with us. We have had a hard year in some respects. I have preached at thirteen different appointments on these circuits this year, and have preached twenty times at a single appointment. Of course, I did not preach in vain, for God says, 'My word shall not return unto me void.' We have received eighteen into the church and baptized eighteen children. Praise God for his goodness. Although I have had a hard time, and have had such poor success, I am not discouraged, but am anxious to try it again; and if Bishop Keener thinks I am needed, and sees fit to give me an appointment next year, I pray that I will be more successful. I pray to go where I can do the most good. Brethren, pray for me."

Rev. A. D. Miller, Bowerton circuit, Nov. 27: "The fourth Quarterly Conference for Bowerton circuit, Brookhaven district, Mississippi Conference, has come and gone, and with it came our faithful and much-loved presiding elder, Rev. R. S. Woodward. We had a nice Quarterly Conference, with three very fine and highly appreciated sermons from Bro. Woodward. He remained with us from Saturday till Tuesday. Our people all love him so much, and we will be greatly disappointed if he is not returned to the district for another year. Bowerton circuit is doing well, and will. I think, show an increase on all the collections over last year. We have a faithful and efficient Board of Stewards and many good people on this work. The preacher is fortunate that is sent to labor among and with the people of Bowerton circuit. May God abundantly bless them all!"

Rev. S. J. Davies, P. C., Campo Bello, La., Nov. 30: "On last Sunday we had our Thanksgiving service. The pastor, in closing, called for offerings of gratitude to God for his abundant mercy and rich blessings upon our people during the year. This movement resulted in the payment in full of all the assessments on this charge for the current year. The Campo Bello Church has contributed for all purposes this year very nearly $60 per member. I think it may even exceed this rate before Conference. The other church, Lindsey's Chapel, also has a fine report. It approximates the 'banner report' of the California Church—$54 per capita. It may yet reach this high-tide mark. The preacher has lived, traveled and preached the everlasting gospel. He and his little family have been fed, clad, and sheltered. The presiding elder looked cheery when last we met. Evidently the salary question troubles neither very much. Spiritually, we are far from perfection. However, there are signs of growth. There has been an increase in numbers and more interest shown in religious matters than heretofore among the church members. In the name of our Master, we pray that this good work may abound."

Rev. L. A. Reed, South Bossier circuit, Louisiana Conference: "We have stayed our report of the work of this circuit thus long, as we desired to have something encouraging to present, worthy of an insertion in the liberally allotted space in your most excellent, well-developed child of the Christian Advocate family, 'From the Work;' and withal it is meagre, compared with its associates; but we must be satisfied, and thankful even, for small things, as they appear to our dim vision, hoping that they are of greater magnitude in the eyes of the Lord, whose sight is perfect from the beginning to the end. For us, we must work and wait, and wait and work. 'I waited patiently for the Lord,' said David. We have held protracted meetings along the year, and the preaching has been seemingly to appreciative congregations, announced by such brethren as Robert Parvin and J. M. Henry, no mean laborers in the vineyard of the Lord, blowing the gospel trumpet day and night with no uncertain sound; and also efficient aid from our excellent and venerable presiding elder, R. J. Harp. We trust that some have received the witness of the Spirit; several have joined in the fold by certificate and confession of faith, a number have gone by certificate and otherwise. Upon the whole, I am persuaded that there has been a religious improvement throughout the bounds of the circuit. It is very perceptible to us that the Lord has been with us. If not, we would have utterly failed, for certainly Satan marshalled his cohorts, verily showing himself incarnate in old style, 'walking about seeking whom he may devour,' injecting his poisonous venom into the unwary, who will feel his blasting, withering and deadly sting as long as mortal life endures; but he fled from resistance to other parts, 'going to and fro in the earth,' doing evil, and only evil, continually. The ladies of Fillmore (the Lord bless them!) have shown themselves equal to the emergency, and taking in hand the revered, though much dilapidated, old Fillmore Church, have renovated it, making it the peer of the churches of the circuit. In fact, in point of comfort and capacity, it excels them. Coming from their hands, it will be worthy of the neighborhood, and the excellent people who worship there—the descendants of those who built and worshiped in it nearly, or about, fifty years ago. In church work these ladies are incessant, without usurping. They now have an eye to building a parsonage for the circuit preacher. In this necessary and noble enterprise they will have the hearty co-operation of the ladies of Haughton, Doyline, and other portions of the circuit cousins. For this object there is already a subscription list, with some little cash on hand, so that, the Lord being willing, a good and creditable house will in time be open to the weary itinerant, removing from his mind all solicitude about a home, and making the hearts of the stewards glad. Initiatory steps have also been taken looking to the building of a Methodist Church at Benton, now the parish seat of Bossier. For this purpose much encouragement has already been given by prominent gentlemen and ladies. An eligible lot has been promised—or I might say, lots—and a subscription list opened under favorable auspices. All the year we have been reminding the people of the Conference collections."

Rev. J. E. Riddle, West Monroe, La., Dec. 1: "Bro. George S. Inge begins a meeting here in the morning. His tent, which was shipped from Port Gibson, Miss., over a week ago, is now erected on a vacant square just across the street from the Federal building. It could not be more conveniently situated for the business men and, indeed, for the whole town. We have been holding meeting after meeting here during the year; Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians, all have had a trial; yet apparently nothing has been done. Doubtless, the same state of affairs that do exist would have existed without these meetings. At this place—West Monroe—we have tried, too; have held two meetings, and had good men who worked earnestly; still the people remained unmoved—nothing of good was accomplished. We have some faithful souls in both these towns who have not lost their way, nor bowed the knee to sin. They love God, and joyfully strive to do his will in the face of a God-forsaking and God-forsaken, mocking, scoffing multitude. Many who do not deserve to be enrolled with these desperate, loveless, lost souls, are indifferent. They stay away from the churches, and are sinners, though they may, in many instances, be sinners through ignorance. These we hope to see saved during this meeting. I don't think this old town has had a great revival for a long time, because the signs are not to be seen. It is my opinion, though I am not sure of the correctness of it, that most of the Christians who now live here were born in other places, and afterwards moved here. This atmosphere does not seem to be favorable to the second, or new, birth. Oh, there is so much of sin and wrong-doing here! A large majority of the leading and influential men are men whose moral character is not good. When this is the case, how can we expect much of the boys, the young men? It is hard for them to come out from among their wicked fathers, and be Christians, be noble men. Oh, these fathers! They will, it does seem, go on in sin, lose their souls, and drag their houses down into ruin with them. There are all the temptations and allurements to sin here usually found in the cities, such as the saloon and pool and billiard halls, the theater and the common show. Almost all of our young men frequent these places without even a thought of there being anything wrong in them. I have had them even defend such institutions, on the ground that they were great educators. Now, this is, of course, true. They do educate; but we do not desire nor need the training there to be gotten. The Methodists are doing well here, because so many have come in from neighboring towns, and some from the country. They have been working well during the year, in the Epworth League, a real live temperance society, an aid society of strong working force, and so on. They are at this time working with the other good people in the establishment of a city library. It is hoped that one good that may result from the Inge meeting will be the establishment of a Y. M. C. A. I do not know that it is needed now, as there are no young men to take part in and be benefited by such a society; but if it should please God to draw them in in large crowds during this revival, then a society of the sort would be needed, and could be easily organized. I do trust a glorious revival wave may sweep over the town, on which many shall be lifted very near to the Savior, who loved them so dearly as to give himself for their security. Will write again after the meeting."

Report Read by Rev. W. N. Lyon, a Local Preacher.

To the Members of the Fourth Quarterly Conference of Ebenezer Circuit, North Mississippi Conference, Assembled at Salem Church, Holmes County, Miss., Nov 20, 1891:

Dear Brethren: During the present year I have preached as often as my health would admit. I have attended the protracted meetings as much as I could conveniently. I deemed it prudent to have no regular appointments. In consequence of my health and old age, for fear I might disappoint the congregation. My heart is as deeply interested in the church now as ever it was, and fain would I be side by side with the most zealous and vigorous of my brethren in advancing the cause of God and the interests of the church. But I can not do what I would gladly, willingly and cheerfully do. But I render what active service I can. I have lived a long time in the world—much longer than many of my friends or kindred. I have had mercies—mercies without number. I used to love to preach, for I was always blessed in so doing. I was always punctual to my appointments. During the fifty-seven years of my ministry I have preached a great many sermons, and attended a great many camp meetings and protracted meetings, and I was always blessed and benefited. I often look back and think of those happy days, and of the brethren who stood by me side by side on the walls of Zion, cheering and encouraging me on the weary march to the promised land with their stirring tones and hopeful hearts; have left the dangers and sufferings of the field, crossed the flood, and are now in possession of their inheritance. They filled out the requirements of their commission; they have left many witnesses of their faithfulness in turning men from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God; they have gone to hear the Master's approving voice, "Well done, good and faithful servants," and they have joined the hosts beyond the flood. I am left behind—still here; but old, feeble and infirm, on the verge of the grave. Standing on the banks of the river of death, waiting for the boatman to row me across the mystic stream and beyond the chilling tide, I shall greet them and other loved ones on the "sunny shore." Brethren, when I joined the church fifty eight years ago, I did it with a fixed determination to serve God, secure the salvation of my soul, and get to heaven. Heaven has been, still is, and shall be the constant object of my pursuit. I desire to be crucified to the world by the cross of Christ; and as I am every day drawing nearer the grave, I want to become more and more dead to the world, more and more alive to God, more and more confident in Christ, more lively in hope, and more spiritual in my affections. Brethren, I desire your prayers. I pray God to grant me at last an abundant entrance into the everlasting kingdom of my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. WILLIAM N. LYON.

Letter from Mexico.

Our Conference is over, and the Bishop decided it was necessary for us to return to our own country, that Mr. Weems may be fully restored to health, as the exposure and terrible hardships of the missionary's life in Mexico would probably kill him. It is with a sad heart that we lay down our work and leave these poor people, so greatly in need of Christian comfort. The tears and earnest pleading from so many almost breaks my heart. I am just in receipt of a letter from Miss Lily Johnson, of Houston, Miss., sending an order for $18 for our church in Mexico. She raised this money by the help of a children's concert. I do trust others may go and do likewise, and report the money in the ADVOCATE, and send either to the editor, or Dr. John, our Missionary Secretary. Our good Bishop Haygood is greatly interested in this church, and says, put him down for $10. I trust the list will be reopened, and the money pour in until our church shall be built and occupied. We are going home to labor among you again; but we will never forget poor, priest-ridden Mexico, and we will ever attend unto her cry. May the Lord bless you all, and help you to work more earnestly for Mexico!

S. G. WEEMS.

Home Missions.

The Parsonage and Home Mission Conference Society met yesterday at the Carondelet Methodist Church. Representative delegations from all the Methodist Churches and societies in the city were present, also a delegate from Boyce, La., in the person of Mrs. Tillotson. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs Auvray, after which the choirs of the various churches represented sang in concert, "I want to be a worker for the Lord."

Mrs King, who has been the secretary of the Conference for the past two years, read a summary of the work accomplished in that time and the encouragement with which the home missioners had met wherever they had endeavored to labor.

Reports from the State and city organizations were presented, showing the satisfactory results brought about by their labors in building parsonages or homes for ministers and extending the influence of the Bible missionary work in the homes of the poor and unlettered.

Rev Dr. Beard delivered a brief address commenting on the peculiar adaptability of women to this particular sphere of labor. Women are the home-makers and home keepers, and the home of many a minister of the gospel had been made bright and happy through woman's aid.

The election of officers then took place. Mrs. F. A. Lyons was elected president. Mmes. B D. Wood, B. F. Alexander, W. H. Riley, A. E Pharr, of New Iberia, and J. T. Sawyer, vice-presidents; Mrs. C. W. Carter, recording secretary; Miss M. Werlein, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Adele K Widney, treasurer.

Mrs. Adele K. Widney stated that she held in her capacity of treasurer $186.44 subject to the call of the society.

Mrs. King announced the appointment of the following ladies as district secretaries: Miss Kate Riggs, Orleans; Mrs. Mattie Morrison, Shreveport; Mrs. Bettie Glover, Arcadia; Mrs. John E. Hanna, Delhi; Mrs. Henrietta Pharr, Opelousas; Mrs. S. E. Garner, Alexandria.

A vote of thanks was unanimously tendered Mrs. Sallie S King for the efficient manner in which she had filled the position of secretary of the Conference for the past two years.

Mrs King gracefully responded, reviewing the work of the society, and regretting that her departure to a distant State would compel her to sever her connection with it.

A journal, entitled the Home Mission Paper, has been started, and will make its appearance on Jan. 1, 1892. Miss Werlein reported sixteen subscribers on her list.

The evening session was conducted by Rev. Dr. Evans, and was devoted to religious exercises of a miscellaneous character.—Picayune, Dec. 4.

What Makes a Man Old.

To himself, a man is as old as he feels; to others, as old as he looks. There is nothing strikingly new in this observation, but it applied well in an amusing case the other day. On a train that was coming into Boston there were two gentlemen, sitting in contiguous seats. One of them was gray and bent. As the train approached the station the white-haired man rose, took up his overcoat, hesitated, and glanced nervously around. Then he said:

"Young man, I will be much obliged if you will help me on with my overcoat."

The other rose quickly, and gave him the assistance that was asked for.

"There—ow! I'm a little stiff. Thank you," said the old man. "You are kind. Some time you may be old yourself, and then you will be glad of a young man's assistance."

The other laughed. "Perhaps, sir," he said, "you wouldn't object to telling me how old you are?"

"I? Oh, no," said the old man. "I'm sixty-three years old—almost sixty-four," he said, with a sigh.

"Indeed," said the young man, "and now I'll tell you how old I am. I shall be seventy-one years old my next birthday."

It was his actual age, but the first man flatly refused to believe it, and went off with an air as if he thought the other were trying to play a rather bad joke.

NOTES.

"You have not fulfilled every duty until you have fulfilled the duty of being pleasant."

The supreme thought in Paul's mind and the thought that dominated all his life and energized all his work was, "the furtherance of the gospel."

There is a marked difference in the "color" of the editorial pages of one of our exchanges. It is the difference between "white light" and "blue blazes!"

A question to our executives: "What is the use of wasting money on legislators, judges and juries when we have all combined in a cheap policeman loafing at the open door of a Sunday saloon?"

Every preacher and every Sunday-school superintendent and every superintendent of a mission should ponder and practice what Mr. Moody says: "It is better to set ten men at work than to do the work of ten men."

The Picayune has "hit the nail on the head" in the following paragraph:

There are two personal rights which the Americans indulge in, despite all opposition. One is the privilege of making themselves uncomfortable, and often disagreeable to others. The other is the right to complain of the discomforts so often self-imposed.

Sunday School Times:

What we read is a matter of importance as a means of character-training. How we read is a matter of hardly less importance in the same direction. A man may read an carelessly or so superficially as to get little harm from bad books, and little gain from good ones. And, as a matter of fact, it is only now and then that any person so reads as to get the good he ought to get from the best reading. While having a care as to what you read, do not forget to consider how you read.

One of our religious exchanges, an English paper, recently gave six obituaries, and all of them only took thirteen lines of space. We give a sample:

CHRISTIE—November 11, at 73, Brook green, Hammersmith, after short illness, John Alexander Christie, aged 47 years, society steward and class leader in West Kensington Park Wesleyan Society.

That looks very much like it had been patterned after Scripture obituaries. If our obituary writers would take a hint, it would be refreshing.

During these Conference times, and looking, as we are, for changes, we give to the brethren the words of a great English preacher to encourage them. Archdeacon Farrar says:

Be our days many, or be they few, from any burden which God may see fit to lay upon us, our life may gain, not only contentment, but grandeur and nobleness. My strength during all my life has been precisely this—that I have no choice. During the last thirty-six years God has twelve times changed my home, and fifteen times changed my work. I have scarcely done as I myself would have chosen. The support of my life is to know that I am doing what God wishes, and not what I wish myself. My brethren, the best thing often that could happen to a man is to be thwarted in his favorite hopes.

The Pacific Methodist Advocate:

The urgency of the times is for a gospel that comes down to the level of life's needs. The worship that once sat under minster towers and cathedral roofs is not for this age. The skirts of the new faith must trail through the streets and the alleys, nor spurn the places that worldly respectability disowns. The new gospel must grapple with every form of social evil and every minion of crime. As the Lord ordained, it must lay its fair, but strong hand on the hands of faithless authority and rebuke and restrain it, not by sword or force, but by that imperial assertion of itself which shall make men say, "Never men spake on this wise before."

This paragraph, published about a year ago, is quite significant now:

Any truth treated as a specialty is apt to become distorted and to distort its advocate out of that symmetry which the sum total of Christian truth will effect. No truth is designed to be taken away from other truths which modify it, and to be viewed alone. This is where heresies are hatched. Justification by faith only, isolated from a holy life, gives birth to Antinomianism. The love of God dwelt upon without the limitations of divine justice, produces liberalism. Even the necessity to raise missionary money may rest upon one man's mind so long that he may come to think all the work done by ministers and Bishops which does not bring money into the treasury is of no account at all, and it may insensibly produce a spirit of censoriousness because others are not as wholly absorbed in his theme as he himself is. The doctrine and experience of Christian perfection advocated as a specialty, is no exception to this general law.

For the Advocate.

TIRED WORKERS.

BY MRS. L. CRARY SADLER.

(St. Luke, v, 4-10.)

"So weary, so tired,
The morning hath come.
Let us wash out the nets
And hasten us home."

Lo! a voice says, "Simon
Launch into the main—
Let down your nets,
And cast out your seine."

"All night have we toiled,
Dear Master, and naught
Of the fish in the sea
In our nets have we caught.

But thy Word is enough
It hath ne'er failed me yet.
Heave to, all ye men!
And let down the net."

Then Simon, astonished,
Cries, "Leave me, O Lord!"
"Fear not," comes the answer,
"But trust in my Word."

Have faith then, tired worker,
Faint not, or complain.
Work done for the Master,
Is ne'er done in vain.

And fishers of men,
Who faint not or tire,
The plaudit shall hear,
"Well done—come up higher."

OUR CONTRIBUTORS.

"The Dreamer Has Awakened, and the Light of Truth Has Dawned Upon Him."

A few weeks since I was called upon by two young men, who announced their purpose to be Christians, and asked me to baptize them. I had known them for some time, but I doubted their preparation, and so asked them to meet me in a probationer's class for instruction. On the evening appointed they came, bringing another young man with them. One was the secretary of the Government Branch Naval Station here, another a telegraph operator, and the third a merchant's clerk. During the evening, after I had explained to them the nature of baptism, its solemnity, and what is required and expected of those who receive it, one of them, the secretary of the naval station, asked permission to talk for twenty minutes, stating that he desired to relate his experience. I readily granted him the time, being desirous of hearing it. He spoke at some length, and gave an experience so interesting that I asked him to write it out for me. He kindly did so, and my teacher has made an exact translation of it, which I send herewith. It is interesting, as it shows the gradual advance of a soul from the bondage and darkness of heathen morality into a state of conviction of sin and the need of a Savior, produced by the power of God's Word under the blessing of the Holy Spirit; and it further demonstrates the powerful influence of a converted life, all of which were used to awake the "dreamer," and to bring to his darkened mind "the light of truth." Here is a translation of his experience:

"I thank you for your kind instruction about the future course of the Christian life.

"I am now employed in the Ono Hama Naval Dockyard. There I have work to do, even on Sunday, and so have been unable to come to church. I am sure that you are a little surprised to hear of my desire to be baptized, and I shall willingly tell you something of my life and experience, that I may be understood.

"I am the second son of Natsume, a samurai at Oshikuma, in the province of Musashi. When I was seven years old, and my brother was at a distance, my father died. Mother, instructed by my grandmother, clever and learned, had the full responsibility of bringing up her child by herself after her husband had gone. She was conservative, and wished to have her son taught in the Chinese literature, so that when my brother advised her to send me, who had just finished the high common school course, to the commercial school, she resisted, saying that the boy who could not even read 'The Four Books' should not learn the foreign language. She was even more opposed to Christianity, and was devoted to Buddhism. However, I began to study English the first time, by necessity, from the eighteenth year of Meiji (1885), and while studying it, I met with references to religious subjects in my books, which I could not, of course, understand at all. In the twentieth year of Meiji (1887) I entered Mr. Summer's school in Tokyo, and studied English. There I listened to lectures on the Bible; but then, having not learned its importance, I had no mind to believe it.

"Seeing the fact that there are many anti-Christians in Christendom, I judged that it is much better for nonbelievers to lead honest, righteous and simple lives, and not care about the future at all, than to believe in God. Up to this time I had always observed mother's words, 'Be true to your conscience,' and had not often been reproved by her and others. I had always opposed my Christian friends when they advised me to become a Christian, saying that the three commandments—the fifth, ninth and tenth—in the Ten Commandments are only a portion of virtues which I had always observed, and that the other three—that is, the sixth, seventh and eighth—are those which are prohibited by human law, and that none dare break these except low persons, and so I concluded that religion is important only to uneducated people. Now, I soon found that this was a great error. I thought that, although I was not a believer, yet I never had violated the laws of the government, and had no compunctions, and so I had not sinned against moral precepts. On the other hand, I knew that there were many persons among the Christians who cover the inward baseness with the virtuous show. From this point of view I had determined to be an unbeliever rather than to be an outward Christian. There is no importance in simply believing in the Bible. But now I have discovered that, being veiled by pride, I have been wandering in the dark.

"In December, 1889, leaving Mr. Summer's school, I came to Kobe to seek a place in business, and entered Mr. Thomson's night school, where I studied the Bible, and came to understand it a little. From October, 1890, I removed to the Palmore Institute, and being at Dr. Wainright's preaching, by degrees I realized its meaning. In the meanwhile I felt that my carnal desire became stronger, and that I could not govern my discontented mind unless I should be dependent on Almighty God. It is now clear to me that my heart was full of foul things, and that the things which I considered right were right only before a low standard.

"In the same bureau where I am employed there is an officer who was a drunkard, proud and quarrelsome. He used to drink wine every day, was intoxicated in the office, made many mistakes in his business, and sometimes quarreled with his fellow-officers. Such a man is naturally despised by all. To the wonder, since last April he changed his conduct. He does not drink a drop of wine any more, is calm at his office, and kind to others. It can not but excite the curiosity of all, that he who has so long yielded to temptation suddenly beats it down, improving his former behavior, and seems quite a different man.

"From the same motive I called on him and inquired of him the cause that made him so changed. He answered me that he had been baptized early in this year, and had become a member of the Tamon Church, Hiogo. 'It is a great wonder to myself,' added he, 'that I have thus changed, who was firmly seized by the iron hands of Satan. I had no other means than to take wine, in order to avoid the pricking of my conscience, which was the cause of my contentions with others. But I am now free from his grasp, have harmony in family, and all things are pleasant around me. Above all, there is the hope of the future life. Every moment I can spare I read the Bible, and try to search after its truth. This is the highest gift that I can enjoy this side of the grave. I am surely born again.' He urged me to believe in God, to repent of all my sins, to seek a clean heart, and to get the hope of the future life.

"It proves to me that Christianity is a most powerful influence; that those bad habits which he could not improve for many years are now given up by his conversion, and that he is an honest and righteous man.

"Now, for the first time the dreamer has awakened, and the light of truth has shone upon him. I will be a Christian from this very moment; I will repent of my sins; I will get a clean heart, and enjoy true happiness in this world and everlasting life in heaven.

"Happily, Mr. Okumura and Mr. Kawashima came and told me that they would call on the pastor in order to be baptized. So I have come to see you with them."

Do you wonder, my dear brother, that my heart was stirred as I listened to this recital from the lips of a heathen youth? It is such things as this—darkened souls opening toward the light—that cheer our hearts by the way as we labor for God in these lonely lands, away from home and loved ones. These things sustain us; they are our meat and drink.

Let all who read the above letter pray for its author.

W. E. TOWSON.

Kobe, Japan, Oct. 27, 1891.

Letter from Japan.

MR. EDITOR: It may be you have seen telegraphic accounts of the terrible earthquake we had on the morning of Oct. 28. It was at 6:40 A. M. I was washing my face when Mrs. Lambuth cried out, "Earthquake! earthquake!" and in a moment the house was rocking and reeling to and fro. It was with difficulty we made our way down the stairway, and it was through the great mercy of our kind heavenly Father that the top of the chimney did not come crashing through the roof upon us. I tried to open the front door, but could not, and, fortunately the back door being open, we rushed out and made our way to the back yard. It lasted about two minutes and a half, and made several cracks in our house. Bro. Towson had one chimney top to fall upon the roof of his kitchen, making a tremendous hole and breaking through heavy timbers, but was stopped by some church benches, and the life of the servant below was preserved. Many chimneys fell in Kobe, but no lives were lost. The shock was felt in Osaka, twenty miles from here, much more severely; much damage done to property and many lives lost.

We feel truly thankful to God for the preservation of our lives, when so many thousands in that two minutes and a half were hurried into eternity. About one hundred miles from here the town of Ogaki was totally destroyed, and not a house left standing. Perhaps four or five thousand houses were overturned in that place, killing more than a thousand people and wounding many. Another town, Gifu, not far from Ogaki, was also almost entirely destroyed, many houses being burned and hundreds, if not a thousand or more, killed and burned. Also the city of Nogoya suffered severely. Some ten or fifteen missionaries are living there. None were hurt except Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke, both of whom were severely injured. They are both getting better. Many foreigners have visited the places that suffered most, and they say no words can give the true state of the suffering and destitution of the people, and the terrible effects of the earthquake. Great fissures were made in the ground, some as many as eighteen feet in width. Houses are overturned and many still burning. The fields are deserted and food of all kinds destroyed, so that thousands are in a starving condition. The railroad for over a hundred miles has been destroyed, in some places sunk as much as four feet for miles, and at other places the rails are twisted and turned into all sorts of shapes, many substantial bridges broken to pieces and many tunnels injured. In many places muddy water and steam is thrown up, and one valley sank to the depth of four hundred feet. The Emperor has given five thousand dollars of his private funds to relieve the distress, and the government has given one million dollars to help the distressed people of that region. Foreign merchants and missionaries are contributing liberally to help the starving multitudes. Since Oct. 28 we have felt daily shocks, much lighter, and it is supposed we have not yet felt the last, and it may be a more severe shock will be felt. We are in the hands of the Lord, and we desire to continue to put our trust in him. His judgments are abroad in the earth, and we trust under these great trials men may be led to love and serve him. In some places near Ogaki the earth opened and closed, swallowing up persons standing near. One young lady, soon to be married, happened to be near one of these fissures into which she fell, and the earth closed over her. A poor mother was seen with both legs broken, and at the same time was trying to nurse her babe. The scenes witnessed in that region directly after the earthquake beggars description. Pray for us and pray for these poor afflicted and destitute people. Six of our Christians have gone to do what they can to help those in distress. We know not what moment we may have another severe shock. The one on Oct. 28 was the heaviest since 1854 and 1855, and caused greater loss of life.

Your brother in Christ,

J. W. LAMBUTH.

Kobe, Japan, Nov. 7.

Post-Scripts.

P. S. No. 1.—Lauderdale circuit will make the best financial report in its history, except in a few points; but the attendance at the fourth Quarterly Conference was attenuated. It was Saturday, and merchants could not leave the stores; it was rainy, and the farmers—many of them—would not come.

No. 2.—I have learned a new definition of an old compound word, "priest-ridden." It now means that some one has tried to ride a preacher and got thrown in the dust.

No. 3.—I have learned that it is considered much easier for a preacher with a family to support to lose $174 out of a very small salary, than for six or eight stewards to divide the amount between them and pay the preacher in full.

No. 4.—That some people think a preacher ought not to have an orphan brother dependent on him, and ought to be satisfied with one chimney to a parsonage, and just beds enough for his own family to occupy, and pay for them, too; do without a garden fence and trust to the Lord's keeping pigs and cattle out.

No. 5.—The clearest case of unselfish selfishness or of selfish unselfishness (I know not which) is that of a good brother who, although abundantly able to complete a house of worship which had stood for several years in an unfinished condition, would not do so, because there were five or six other members as able as he was, and they would lose the blessing if he did it by himself!

No. 6.—But there are many, many big-hearted, open-handed, godly men and women in this district who are loyal to their church, fear God and work righteousness, who are not only accepted of him, but know they are, and continually rejoice in the hope of the glory of God—yea, and some of them can rejoice in tribulations also. Their homes are open to the itinerant, and their places are never vacant in church. They never get a nickel broke to get some small change, but they give cheerfully, and their liberality is only limited by ability.

T. L. MELLEN.

Letter from Mexico.

MR. EDITOR: I simply write to thank you for sending my ADVOCATE so promptly. I first received three in one package; since I have got them regularly, the last being on Nov. 19. I also send you a card, having written you we had no religious services here in our language, and that our brethren—Baptist and Congregationalist—had united with our Methodist ministers in holding service every Sabbath eve at four o'clock, especially for our benefit. I have been privileged in hearing them twice, each time they have preached. First, our Bro. Scroggins, P. E., gave us a fine sermon. Last Sabbath our Baptist brother, Goldsmith, gave us another excellent sermon. Next Sabbath I hope to hear our Bro. Howland, a Congregationalist. You may well imagine, my dear brother, how we enjoyed the services, when I tell you it is the first time we have had the opportunity in two years. I feel now how little I appreciated the blessing of attending church every Sabbath. Our stationed minister here can not speak a word of English. Our presiding elder seems to take great interest in the Methodist mission here. He is an excellent preacher.

Present my thanks to Bro. Mitchel for attending so promptly to my request. I should have written this to him as the business manager, but thought you might, perhaps, remember me, as we met at the Seashore Camp Ground, and I was introduced to you by my lamented son-in-law, Calvit Roberts. You can make any use of this letter as you may think best. The card, I think, it would be well to publish in our ADVOCATE. You will, I know, excuse all mistakes when I tell you I very rarely ever write now, being nearly eighty-four years old.

Your sister in Christ,

MRS. S. F. TALIAFERRO.

Guadalajara, Nov. 27.

"Things That Ought to Be Changed."

Now, is it not evident to every well-balanced mind that "has no bee in his bonnet" to distrust the equilibrium of quiet thought, that we have too many districts in the Mississippi Conference? Would it not be better to reduce the number from seven to five? What is there to prevent such a man as P. A. Johnston from swinging east to the Alabama line and north to the borders of the North Mississippi Conference? And such a man as T. L. Mellen could easily look over the interests of our church from Enterprise to the Seashore and west to the Pearl. And the other four districts could be pressed into three, thus saving two valuable men to the pastorate, and without overworking the five remaining presiding elders. I served a little district once that took a little over half as much work I have been putting on this little station. We have a presiding elder that is doing splendid work in his little "pent-up Utica;" but, sir, he is a man that could easily spread his gracious influence and valuable oversight over a third more territory. No trouble in making the change at all, bracket surrounding circuits with the stations, and adjoining weaker with stronger circuits, so as to bring the presiding elder's appointment within the twenty limit. This expresses the sentiment of many that I have heard speak on this subject. Waiting the decision of our next Annual Conference, I venture to sign,

T. S. WEST.

"Things That Ought to Be Changed."

Two or three articles have appeared in the ADVOCATE recently under this caption. I will give some of my observations on this subject. Our Conferences are nearly here.

That some of our districts are rather large no one will deny, but why should we blame or complain at our hard-worked presiding elders? They are men of God; their duties are difficult and delicate. (See duties presiding elder, Discipline, page 70, ¶63.) I hold that their duty is to travel through their district, look after the spiritual and material interest of the church, and see that the preachers are doing their duty. Do they fail to do this? If so, let us report them for neglect of duty. If they do wrong and we let their characters pass unchallenged, we consent to the wrong.

The people who fail to meet their presiding elders are the ones most ready to complain. Some of our people seem to think that their part of church work is to find fault, and they do it admirably well. I expect that if the presiding elder was to travel the circuits or visit the stations of some of our works, he would be constrained to recommend to the Bishop a plan to reduce their work so these preachers could visit and get acquainted with their people.

I have been in Conference but a few years; have had but two presiding elders, and they were both men of God, faithful and true, and I have heard no complaining among my members about the presiding elder. I speak for the people, and say that we preachers are the complainers, and not the people. When we read the quarterly appointments of our presiding elders, which they have made, believing them to be the best for all concerned, we go around looking like we were about ready to sing, "Hark from the tomb," and, perhaps, say we had just as soon he would not come at all as to come in the week. One brother says, "My people don't know the presiding elder." It may be that the preacher who succeeds that brother will hear the complaint that he had failed to know or visit all of his members. If we, as pastors, would visit all of our members, read the Scripture, and pray with them, the wheels of our Zion would move forward more rapidly. We should not intimate that "they (presiding elders) are after getting their part of the quartorage, and then leave for home," but that they are true men who have the interest of our Zion at heart.

It is right that they should go home when all business has been attended to. They need to rest after having heard the murmurings and complaints of their preachers. I have heard more complaints among the preachers about the presiding elders and their work than among the people. Our people are loyal and are satisfied when a man does the best he can, and almost all complaints have their origin among the preachers, and not the people.

J. M. MORSE.

Newton, Miss.

"Things That Ought to Be Changed."

MR. EDITOR: You remember that early last year I wrote three articles, each one headed, "Two Large."

1. That the General Conference was too large, and ought to be cut down, at least, half.

2. That the Annual Conferences were too large, and ought to be divided and more Bishops elected.

3. That the districts were too large, and ought to be cut down to twelve or, at the outside, fourteen appointments, so that the presiding elder could spend more time and do more efficient work on his district, or, in other words, give two full days embracing a Sunday on each work; and you remember I liked to have got into trouble about it. "Circuit Rider" accused me of being in trouble with my presiding elder, and I had to rise up and explain. But I am very thankful to say that I was not then, am not now, and never have had any trouble with my presiding elder. I have always been a great advocate of the presiding elder's office, and more especially of my presiding elder. I have always had the greatest respect and love for my presiding elder; but I was then and am now of the opinion that the office is being broken down by its own weight or size, and if the districts remain like they are, that the time will be in the near future when the office of presiding elder will be numbered with the things of the past. We ought to have, at least, ten districts in the Mississippi Conference. Why not? Ten acres well cultivated will produce more than twenty only half worked. Why not the same in church work?

A. D. MILLER.

Harlow, Miss., Nov. 27, 1891.

Social Science in the Pulpit.

BY JOHN HABBERTON.

Preacher and pastor are the greatest individual influence in social science. In late years there has been talk of decay of the preacher's influence, but it is not well grounded. The institutions of which preachers are the head are rapidly multiplied and well supported. The pocket is the test, and it is doing a great deal for the preacher. That it is not doing enough is in keeping with the world's way in every department of moral effort. When society does its full duty by church and preacher, the millennium will be here.

The preacher's influence is not decreasing. Many preachers think their usefulness is waning, but the fault can frequently be traced to themselves. They bemoan irregular attendance and sigh for old days when everybody came to church; but seem to forget that then mere church attendance was regarded as a sort of saving grace. Congregational numbers do not necessarily indicate the spiritual condition of the community; they are frequently a guage of the pastor's popularity. The conscientious pastor is a very hard-worked man, and to demand from him two elaborate, original sermons each Sunday is both senseless and cruel.

We must look outside the pulpit for the preacher's most influential work. Even if weak in theology and halting in speech, he remains, if a man of conscience for good that observing unbelievers dare not belittle and Christians can not overestimate. In many communities he is the only well-educated man—the only man who keeps abreast of the tide of modern intelligence and endeavor. He reads and studies; this is his duty and in keeping with his nature and profession. The more active his pastoral work, the more he is impressed with the importance of every question coming under the general designation of social science.

Men who have any social reform in view, seek first to enlist the sympathies of the clergy. At one of the great meetings ever held in the interest of the poor of London, the venerable Cardinal Manning sat on the platform with some professed infidels—Bradlaugh among them. A public meeting for any but political purposes is a most unknown without preachers taking by special invitation among its active participants; and even political conventions are opened with prayer.

The serious sense of responsibility upon a minister naturally produces times of depression and doubt as to his influence. The greatest personal influences in the world's history have felt this self-doubt. Even George Washington did not escape it, as is shown in one of the most pathetic passages among his collected letters.

Much that the preacher does is like the nature of sowing seed. The proper ground, as well as proper seed, is needed to insure a satisfactory harvest. Some sown seeds that seem to be dead are merely dormant, awaiting the circumstance and condition that shall quicken them to life. In a single "experience meeting" one man said he had been converted by the death of his child; another that it was a drunken debauch that brought him into the fold; but in each case the real cause proved to be the retention by the mind of great truths heard long before, but never applied until death and remorse recalled them. In the days when mind yielding creeds forced Ralph Waldo Emerson to abjure his pulpit, he became classed with unbelievers. His blameless character and great influence for good were instanced as illustrations of what a man could be without acceptance of all that preachers taught. But those who thus talked ignored the fact that Emerson was a descendant of nine generations of preachers, and that his character was a direct result of the teachings and practice of this long line of ancestors. Sufferers who cite the many social virtues and beneficent activities of that noted and aggressive unbeliever, "Bob" Ingersoll, perhaps do not know that his father was a preacher who, despite his devotion to the letter of an iron-bound creed, was a man of wide sympathies and intense moral earnestness, and that the son owes many of the good points of his character to inheritance from, and the teachings of, his father.

The more a church or community depends upon its pastor, the more it should do to strengthen and uphold him. His participation in all the affairs of life should be encouraged; he should be drawn from his study and his thoughts into active communication with men and women besides those who draw upon the stores of his head and heart. The more men receive of him, the more it is their interest and duty to give to him from themselves. To expect the grace of God to supply all the preacher's needs, when all others are depending upon their fellows for some necessary help and cheer, is hypocritical as well as inhuman.—Chautauquan.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

All books received will be acknowledged in this column. A fuller notice will depend upon the interests of our readers.

BOOKS.

We are under obligations to Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh, 106 Camp St., for the following books from the Penn Publishing Company, Philadelphia.

THE BRAGANZA DIAMOND. By James Otis.

THE STORY OF THE ODYSSEY, for Boys and Girls. By Edward Brooks.

DELSARTEAN PANTOMINES. By Mrs. J. W. Shoemaker.

READINGS AND RECITATIONS. By Mrs. Anna Randall-Diehl.

CORRESPONDENCE. By Agnes H. Morton.

THE DEBATER'S TREASURY. By William Pittenger.

THE ART OF CONVERSATION. By J. P. Mahaffy.

These books are all gotten up in good style, and Bro. Van Valkenburgh will take great pleasure in selling them to you just as cheap—yea, cheaper than anybody else.

PERIODICALS.

—THE JOYFUL STORY, by Dr. J. B. Herbert, is a beautiful Christmas service published by the S. Brainard's Sons Co., Chicago. Price, 5 cents; $4 per hundred.

—THE LOCAL PREACHER'S MAGAZINE is published quarterly at Fort Wayne, Ind., for $1. It is the organ of the National Association of Local Preachers of the M. E. Church.

—THE CENTURY, for this month, is a "Christmas Number." The first thing to attract is the beautifully illuminated cover, and then many beautiful pictures and much superior reading matter go to make up its pages. We do not know when we have seen such a table of contents as this month's Century sets before its readers. Century Company, New York. Price, $4.

—THE FORUM, for December, has one of the finest tables of contents that able periodical has yet sent forth. Gov. Russell, Horace White, Frederic Harrison, Sir Edwin Arnold are among the contributors, and Degradation by Pensions, Jewish Persecution, Permanent Bank System, Bank Note Circulation, Prison Management are among the subjects discussed. This valuable monthly is published for $5, by the Forum Company, New York.

—THE QUARTERLY REGISTER OF CURRENT HISTORY is published by the Evening News Association, Detroit, for $1 a year. This new quarterly will supply a felt need. It gives in concise form the current history of the day under five departments, viz.: International Affairs, Affairs in Europe, Affairs in Asia, Affairs in Africa, Affairs in America. Then it has a Record of Progress in Science, Literature, Art, Music, Archæology and Religion. We think this will be a most valuable periodical.

THE LOTTERY.

"And Don't Let the Lottery Win."

"And don't let the lottery win, so I can go to heaven," was the added petition to a little boy's evening prayer. He had heard his grandmother tell his mother of the request in the Advocate for all Christians to pray for the defeat of the lottery. He had not heard a prayer offered especially for that, and no one knew that he had noticed the conversation; but it had taken hold of his mind, and after his usual petitions, in which he was sometimes prompted by his mother, he added the above petition, earnestly and reverently; then said, "For Jesus' sake. Amen."

"So I can go to heaven!" Could anything be more emphatically said than the petition of that little boy in condemnation of the lottery evil? In his youthful mind it was something so dreadful that if it should win, it would keep him from going to heaven. And who knows but it might be so?

If the "lottery wins," and its insidious influence is legalized by a bribed Legislature, and allowed to carry on its soul-destroying power, who knows but that this little curly-headed eight-year-old boy may be one of its victims? That some have been kept from going to heaven through its influence many verily believe, and if it, in its money-might, is allowed to fasten its deadly hold on the fair escutcheon of our sunny Southland state, many more of the children of sin and the next generation will be kept out of heaven. I wonder if any of the fathers that voted the McLottery ticket, last week, thought of that possibility!

When an evil is of such gigantic proportions that a little child is afraid of being kept out of heaven by it, methinks it is time that older heads had come to the same conclusion.

Asking one of the Pros, the other day, if he thought there was one on his side praying for the success of the lottery schemers, he said, "Yes, I pray every night;" but did not say that he prayed for the lottery to succeed. But the prayers of the Antis are going up almost incessantly, and our God is a prayer-hearing and a prayer-answering God. Since the first announcement of the infamous proposition to extend the lottery power twenty-five years longer, there has been some Christians praying for its defeat, and now, perhaps, it may be truthfully said that the great majority of Christians are praying mightily to God that it may be defeated.

Could a devout Christian, or a firm believer in the power of prayer, get on his or her knees and ask God to bless the gambling concern that was robbing the many to enrich a few? Could they ask a blessing on a power that was taking thieves of our children, servants and all intrusted with money in the vain, delusive, wicked desire to better their own condition at the expense of others' losses?

Out of the mouths of the very babes let this wicked lottery condemned; and may God grant that none of them may be kept out of heaven by its baneful influence!

MRS. L. CRARY SADLER.

Lottery.

Hon. Seth Lowe, president of Columbian College, at the recent anti-lottery meeting in New York, spoke as follows:

When you can localize the bite of a rattlesnake, you may expect to localize the malign and vicious influence of this great lottery scheme.

I was reading an article the other day by a Frenchman, and he said whoever voted to establish a lottery voted to make so many thieves and suicides per annum. In professing in some way he said the country, the lottery people have no facts to fall back upon. It neither creates commerce, helps trade, or in any way develops the resources of the country. It simply undermines manhood, on a basis founded in dishonesty. But there is a great deal more than that involved in this controversy; there is a political question involved in it, using that phrase in its largest and best sense. Here is a proposition that the State of Louisiana shall engraft upon its Constitution, beyond the reach of the Legislature, which is the law-making power, a scheme that shall render it impossible for any power in the State to interfere hereafter, for a long term of years, at least, with the operations of these gamesters. I submit that that is a political question of such consequence for all the citizens of this country as to justify a strong protest from every good and self-respecting person in the land.

The whole difference between freedom and license is a question of law. These people want to be exempt from law. I do not and you do not want them to be exempt from law. Only the other day the State of Kentucky, which formerly permitted lotteries, put into its State Constitution a prohibition against it. And in the new State of North Dakota, I am proud to say, when the public men in that commonwealth fully understood what it meant, after the veto by the governor and his explanation of the terrible effects which would be wrought among the people if the lottery company received a charter, they at once refused indignantly to grant any such concession. And I give, too, all honor to Governor Nicholls for the brave stand which he is taking on this matter in Louisiana. A man who carries a gun and marches to the front risks his life, and he knows it. When Governor Nicholls entered this fight he knew as well as he knew anything, that he risked his political life, and this circumstance enhances justly the glory and the applause which are his due.

Father Elliott, a Catholic priest, then made a telling speech which awakened enthusiasm, saying, among other things:

This Louisiana Lottery is, I suppose, the greatest single cause of vice, except the saloon, that exists in the country. I suppose the saloons, taken altogether, are the worst, but the lottery is a good second, at any rate. Thieves and suicides, spendthrifts and mean misers, the most silly sort of speculators, are the ones on whom the lottery depends. What a horrid thought it must be to our friends down there, that the State House of Louisiana is likely to become the central office of the most destructive engine of human integrity and of the bonds of justice between man and man that exists. It was the Lord God of Hosts, as they freely say with us now, that took from them the great trouble of slavery; but what god is it but the hated anti-christ of hell that gives them now, to take the place of that evil, the other evil of bartering upon the feebleness of human character for the payment of the current expenses of the State. They plant the very root of evil in their Constitution if they adopt that amendment, and we say here, "God forbid!"

Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott sent the following brief words of encouragement:

The question of legalizing the Louisiana Lottery, though in form a State, is in fact a National question. It concerns us all. The North suffers from it, and the North is responsible for its original institution, and the North ought to take its share in the brave fight which public-spirited and patriotic men and women are making in Louisiana against a national sin and shame.

Suppose train-robbers should come to New York and say to us, "Give us a charter by which we may stop all the railway trains in the United States and rob their express cars, and we will pay all your taxes and give you 10 per cent. of the profits." It is shown that 93 per cent. of the money of the Louisiana Lottery comes from the other States of the Union. I can not think of words adequate to express the impudence of this present fraud. Their proposition is one which in the Middle Ages, in the days of the robber knights of the Rhine, or anywhere else, could not be entertained for a moment.

What the Papers Say.

American Hebrew (New York), Nov. 13.

We trust that this campaign of enlightenment will be continued throughout the length and breadth of the land until it will be known and shown that decent and honest people everywhere abhor every form of gambling, and are averse to the giving of legislative sanction to such criminal practices as fraudulently enticing hard-earned money from unintelligent fools who hope to acquire wealth speedily.

The Epoch (New York), Nov. 13.

There is no little danger that this infamous bargain may be ratified at the election next April, for the Lottery Company will use every corrupt means to carry its end, and unfortunately the large and uninstructed negro vote of the State is in its favor. The poorer colored population is besotted by the lottery, and its voters are apt to be venal. So far as possible the public sentiment of the whole country ought to be brought to bear to rescue Louisiana from the abasement with which she seems to be threatened.

New York Herald, Nov. 13.

Think what two or three million dollars corruptly used can accomplish in the way of legislation in the way of purchasing votes. Given this enormous money power, the managers of the Louisiana State Lottery would be almost in a position, by buying doubtful States, to sell the Presidency to that candidate who should bind himself to let them use the United States mails as they pleased, and in whatever concerned the lottery to do their bidding. Surely there is food for serious reflection in this Louisiana Lottery business!

Baltimore Sun, Nov. 14.

If the State goes into partnership with a gambling hell, what effect will it have on the general government? In close contests we may assume that the vote of Louisiana would always be up for sale, and terms could be made with Congress for the removal of restrictions which have been imposed. In this view the lottery becomes a political factor of national importance and far-reaching effect. Indeed, the municipal government of every city is more or less affected or even to some degree dominated by gamblers, and these gamblers are all agents of the lottery. Every citizen is interested in the suppression of the lottery, no less upon grounds of patriotism than upon those of public morality.

Harper's Weekly (New York), Nov. 21.

Undoubtedly the greatest evil which threatens the country is the corruption of the ballot. But the most startling illustration of the extent and power of political corruption and bribery is the career of the Louisiana Lottery Company. The meeting just held in New York, and its appeal to the honor and patriotism of the country, have shown the character of the lottery, and the peril and disgrace which threaten a State of the Union. It is substantially a question of the subjugation of the State of Louisiana to a fraudulent monopoly which secures and maintains its power by corruption. There are no limitations upon the grant, no penalties for its abuse. It is put beyond the regulating power of the Legislature. The good name of the State, its public and private morals, the liberty and prosperity of its citizens, are all involved. Like Tammany Hall in New York, the necessary tendency of such a thoroughly organized system of corruption is to extend itself, and by the nature of our institutions it becomes a national concern. The statement of the situation is the most forcible appeal. The committee say, truly: "It is destructive of the sacred sisterhood of the States that one of their number should, for a pittance of revenue, charter a piratical corporation to prey upon the ignorance, the credulity, and the cupidity of the citizens of all the others, and station its creatures throughout the land to violate their laws."

New York Times, Nov. 14.

No greater dishonor could be done to any commonwealth than to incorporate a gambling-house as an integral part of itself. It was by such an incorporation that the Grand Duke of Baden in old times, and the Prince of Monaco in more recent times, accepted a European disrepute as the price of their revenues. That the people of an American State should accept a dishonor is an outrage that may well excite to indignation the honest men of Louisiana. A protected and legalized gambling-house can afford to bribe high. The bribes offered to Louisiana are actually very great, but comparatively they are pitifully small. "He who sups with the devil needs a long spoon," and it might be expected that those Louisianians to whom honor and money are commensurable things, and who are willing to sell their own good name and that of their State, would insist upon getting a better price for the article than it appears they are willing to accept. Whatever price they are able to exact is the price of their infamy. The honor of Louisiana, or what there is left of it after the ravages of the carpet-bagging politicians and of the Louisiana Lottery Company, is in the keeping of the Louisianians who refuse to sell themselves or their State at any price, and who compose the Anti-Lottery League. It is a patriotic duty for every American to give them all the assistance in his power.

New York Staats-Zeitung, Nov. 13.

The lottery victory at the Democratic primary elections in New Orleans was complete, but not surprising. The corrupting influence of the swindling institution upon public opinion penetrated so deep, the local newspapers with one or two notable exceptions showed themselves to be so contemptibly mercenary, and the Lottery Company lavished money so freely to attain its ends, that the antagonists of the monster were from the very outset fighting for a lost cause. Now there is at hand the serious danger that the next move of the lottery demon will be to pack the Democratic convention and reward Judge McEnery with the nomination for governor. McEnery is the judge of the Supreme Court of Louisiana whose voice in formulating the decision in the celebrated lottery case turned the scale in favor of the "concern," in that it formally and legally brought before the public the constitutional amendment submitted by the Legislature for the renewal of the lottery concession. If the lottery can now make its McEnery governor of the State, it will be able to secure the ratification of this amendment by the people. To quiet the scruples of the country folk with the filthy lucre of the professional gamblers will hardly be a more difficult task than it has been to ease the consciences of the "intelligent citizens" of New Orleans. In such circumstances the American people outside the State of Louisiana can do nothing more than, by holding mass meetings like the Chickering Hall demonstration, and entering a determined and energetic protest, make a last effort to bring the people of Louisiana to their senses. It is a fight to avert a national disgrace.

Salvation Oil, the great pain-annihilator, is the staple liniment. Price only 25 cents.

The effect of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is most soothing. The price is only 25 cents.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H. Beals, Jr.

Good Advice.

Exchange:

In winter more exercise is required for the body than in summer.

Wear warm underclothing; material of open texture is preferable.

Avoid catching cold, but should you develop a cough take immediate steps to get rid of it.

The most effective remedy for coughs or colds is Maraden's Pectoral Balm; it is pleasant to take and never fails to cure.

Ask your druggist for it, and don't be persuaded to take any other instead.

Bred to think, as well as to think by rote, we furnish our minds as we furnish our houses—with the fancies of others, and according to the mode and age of our country; we pick up our ideas and notions in common conversation, as in schools.—Bolingbroke.

Catarrh

Is a complaint so common that comparatively few people are entirely free from it, so insidious that it gains a firm hold almost before its victims are aware of its presence, so dangerous as to seriously threaten the general health, and liable to develop into bronchitis or

Consumption.

It is a mistake to consider Catarrh merely a local trouble. It is unquestionably a disease of the blood, and, therefore, the right way to cure Catarrh is to remove from the blood the impurities which cause and feed it. This is to be done by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which effectually expels all traces of poison and germs of disease.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me of Catarrh, and built up my general health, so that I am feeling better than for years.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only medicine I know of which will cure miller's catarrh." GEO. FOSTER, Logan, Ohio.

N. B.—Be sure to get Hood's.

Holy Land Tour, $475.

A select party sails March 6, 1892. Monthly excursions to Italy, $380. Best ticketing facilities. Send for "Tourist Gazette."

H. GAZE & SONS, 940 Broadway, N. Y. (Est. 1844.

CROUPY SOUNDS

At night, from baby's crib, are distracting to parents who are at a loss for a medicine equal to the emergency. Not so with those who have Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. A dose of this medicine affords certain and speedy relief. To cure colds, coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, and the various disorders of the breathing apparatus, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has no equal. It soothes the inflamed tissues, promotes expectoration, and inspires confidence. Cap. U. Carley, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for thirty years and have always found it the best remedy for croup, to which complaint my children were subject."

Call For

"I use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice, and pronounce it to be unequaled as a remedy for colds and coughs."—J. G. Gordon, M. D., Carroll Co., Virginia.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists; Price $1; six bottles $5.

DONALD KENNEDY
Of Roxbury, Mass., Says:

Strange cases cured by my Medical Discovery come to me every day. Here is one of Paralysis—Blindness—and the Grip. Now how does my Medical Discovery cure all these? I don't know, unless it takes hold of the Hidden Poison that makes all Humor.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEVADA, Sept. 9th, 1891.

Donald Kennedy—Dear Sir: I will state my case to you: About nine years ago I was paralyzed in my left side, and the best doctors gave me no relief for two years, and I was advised to try your Discovery, which did its duty, and in a few months I was restored to health. About four years ago I became blind in my left eye by a spotted cataract. Last March I was taken with La Grippe, and was confined to my bed for three months. At the end of that time, as in the start, then it struck me that your Discovery was the thing for me; so I got a bottle, and before it was half gone I was able to go to my work in the mines. Now in regard to my eyes, as I lost my left eye, and about six months ago my right eye became affected with black spots over the sight as did the left eye—perhaps some twenty of them—but since I have been using your Discovery they all left my right eye but one; and, thank God, the bright light of heaven is once more making its appearance in my left eye. I am wonderfully astonished at it, and thank God and your Medical Discovery. Yours truly,

HANK WHITE.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

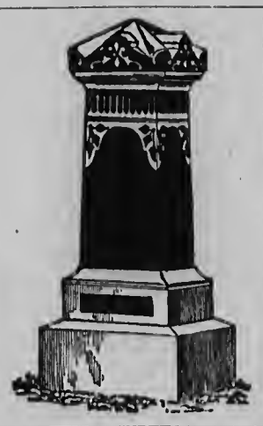
Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,

831 Broadway, NEW YORK.

IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.



Kursheedt's Marble Works 120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AGENTS WANTED

For PANSY'S Latest and Greatest Work,

"The Prince of Peace;"

OR,

"The Beautiful Life of Jesus."

See what a few of our own preachers say about it

Rev. W. H. Laird'nde, Pastor Carondelet Street Church, says: "I have been waiting for it. Put me down for two copies."

Rev. Chas. F. Evans, D. D., Presiding Elder of New Orleans District: "One of the most excellent of modern books. The wood cuts are magnificent."

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, Pastor Dryades M. E. Church, South, says: "A most excellent book for the young."

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, says: "I have read the book with pleasure and satisfaction."

Rev. Jno. T. Sawyer, Pastor Felicity Street M. E. Church, South, says: "This is a most excellent book to put in the hands of the young; and older persons will be benefited by it as well."

Hundreds of testimonials can be furnished. Agents are doing splendidly with it. Send $1 for outfit, and secure territory at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans, La.

Christmas Hints.

Our low prices are the talk of the town. We are selling reliable goods for less money than others. The reason: our expenses are lighter; we do not occupy a corner building, nor a Canal street store. Don't go about it blindly, but look sharp for our store: The following prices are quoted in pursuance of our recently announced plan to offer a special line of standard goods at prices which are well recognized at once as far below real value.

English Porcelain Tea Sets, decorated in all colors, 50 pieces, $3.50.

English Porcelain Dinner Sets, decorated in all colors, 115 pieces, $9.

Genuine French China Tea Sets, square shape, 50 pieces, $6.50.

English Porcelain Chamber Sets, decorated, 10 pieces, $2.75.

We recommend the above as superior goods in every respect.

W. C. Shepard & Son,

94 Camp, near Poydras St.

(The Oldest Queensware House in the South.)

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

FROM

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City. Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 34 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.

J. C. GAULT, General Manager.

D. G. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

To SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT and

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La., SHREVEPORT, La., TEXARKANA, Texas, DALLAS, Texas, FT. WORTH, Texas, SHERMAN, Texas, PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't, B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,

JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.

Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p. m	8:10 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	8:10 a. m	5:35 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:45 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

P. B. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Agt. B. F. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt.

STAMMERING AND STUTTERING

Cured by DR. G. W. RANDOLPH, of Tenn.

A positive cure for any case of stuttering in a few days. Patient can talk easily by my method in one hour. Instructions given by letter if desired. TERMS REASONABLE.

Call on or address

DR. G. W. RANDOLPH, 131 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.

Reference.—Gov. J. M. Stone, of Mississippi.

WORLD'S FAIR Portfolio. Containing 16 fine artistic illustrations, size 10x14. An elegant work of art. Price postpaid, 50c. H. B. HARFORD & SON, 131 Van Buren St., Chicago.

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 8:10 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 5:40 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express 5:35 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express 8:10 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train" 10:00 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train" 8:45 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 3 Lim. Ex. 7:45 am	No. 4 F'st Ex. 7:45 am
No. 5 F'st Ex. 7:05 pm	No. 8 Coast. 3 45 pm
No. 7 Coast. 9:20 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex. 7 30 nm
Lim. express, 4:45 pm	Fast mail. 8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

No. 1. Local Mail and Express. 7:20pm	No. 2. Local Mail and Express. 7:00am
No. 41. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 8:25am	No 42. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 6:00pm
No 45. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 7 40pm	No. 46. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 12:01noon
No. 41. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 8:25am	No 42 Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:00pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom. 9:15am	No. 6. McComb City Accom. 5:00pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 53 California Express. 7.30 pm	No. 51 California Express. 8:00 am
B. Rouge, local. 10:25am	B. Rouge, local. 3 50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 19 Califor. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local... 8:00 am
No. 17 Local. 7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor.. 5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd .. 2:30pm	No. 2, Lim'd. 5:00pm
No. 3, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 6, Fast Line. 8:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO.
(Via Meridian.)

No. 5, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 2, Limited. 5:00pm

P. AND F. EAST LA.
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.

Arrive. 8:30 am | Leave. 4.15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pt. a-la-Hache 8h Belo. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:30 p. m.	Pt. a-la-Hache 8h. Belo. 7:00 a. m., 10:00 a. m., 5:00 p. m.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study, Practical Lectures and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this College has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has unsurpassed facilities and equipments.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.—Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools, in Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE—Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear-cut and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brewer, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEAREST, FINEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR, Member of Board of Trustees, No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

BOYS! GIRLS! Everybody!

We want used postage stamps used before 1870; also Confederate bills. For 25 stamps or 10 bills we will give either 25 cards with your name printed on, 3 sheets of Scrap Pictures, 1 Autograph Album, 50 Foreign Stamps, or Cash. AGENTS WANTED. Circulars free.

J. E. HANDSHAW & CO., SMITHTOWN BRANCH, N. Y.

IF you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO. No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash, mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1360½ Tchoupitoulas street.

AGENTS send for How I Made a House and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a Home, or business chance. $75 to $100 Monthly. Teachers and Ladies find big pay for spare hours. TREASURY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

B. D. WOOD & SONS,

113 Common Street.

COAL AND COKE

We are prepared to furnish Families, Planters, Foundries, Steamships, Steamboats and all consumers of Coal or Coke at Lowest Market Rates.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.
Rev B. F. Lewis, Ass't Editor.

Thursday, Dec. 10, 1891.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

FIRST DAY.

The North Mississippi Conference convened in the Methodist Church in Macon, Miss., at nine A. M., Dec. 2, 1891, Bishop E. R. Hendrix presiding.

The Conference was opened by the Bishop announcing, and the Conference singing, Hymn 221, "Draw near, O Son of God, draw near," the reading of John xvii, and prayer. Rev. J. S. Oakley, the secretary of the last Conference, called the roll, and quite a large number of ministers and laymen answered to their names. Bro. Oakley was then elected secretary, with Bros. R. M. Evans and T. W. Lewis as assistants. The hours of meeting and adjourning were fixed, respectively, at nine A. M. and 12:30 P. M. The bar of the Conference was fixed at the rear of the third window from the pulpit.

The following committees were appointed, viz.:

On Public Worship, District Conference Records, Sabbath Observance, Spiritual State of the Church, Books and Periodicals, Bible Cause, Temperance, Conference Relations and Memoirs—nine in all. Not only are these committees remarkable for their number, but also for the number of members on each committee.

Communications were read from the Board of Missions, the Board of Church Extension, the Sabbath-School Department, the Publishing House, and the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

One lamentable fact was developed during the reading of these reports, viz.: Out of 1,200 000 members in the Southern Methodist Church, only 1,200 Quarterly Reviews are taken. That number ought to be taken by our three patronizing Conferences.

Bro. T. B. Holt, treasurer of the Board of Missions; Rev. W. A. Dodge, of the North Georgia Conference; Bro. Mitchel, the business manager, and the assistant editor of the ADVOCATE were introduced to the Conference and invited to seats within the bar. The assistant editor takes this opportunity of expressing his high appreciation of his cordial reception among the North Mississippi brethren.

Question twenty was called, and the Conference witnessed something new. The name of each presiding elder was called, he made his report, retired, and the Conference "discussed him." These discussions developed three facts:

First. There have been revivals in every district, and in some districts in nearly every charge in the district.

Second. Finances are low.

Third. There is a very strong sentiment against the extremely large districts. One presiding elder reported a great lack of parsonages, another 800 conversions, another 1,300 conversions and "discipline enforced in high places." The coupling of 1,300 conversions with the enforcement of Discipline is suggestive.

Under the call of the same question the names of the following veterans in the Lord's army were called, and they were continued on the superannuated list: Bros. Carson, Houston, Cook, Ramsey, Housen, Lowry and Brown.

As some changes are contemplated in the supernumerary relation, we omit the names for the present. Pending the call of this question, the hour of adjournment arrived, and the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Conference that many of the districts are too large, and that we ought to have, at least, one new district.

After announcements, Conference adjourned with doxology and benediction.

SECOND DAY.

The Conference was called to order at nine A. M., Bishop Hendrix in the chair. The religious exercises were conducted by Rev. N. G. Augustus. The minutes of yesterday morning's session were read and approved. The roll was called and perfected, and on motion was dispensed with for the remainder of the session. A report was read and referred to the Committee on Education from Malone Female College. This institution of learning was opened Sept. 16, 1891, with a good attendance, and with its teachers and curriculum promises better things for the future.

During the morning session the following brethren were introduced to the Conference, viz.: Rev. A. F. Watkins, agent of Millsaps College; J. W. McLaurin, district superintendent of the American Bible Society; Rev. Joel L. Kennedy, of the West Texas Conference; the pastor of the Baptist Church, this city, and Dr. W. R. Lambuth, our returned missionary from Japan.

Ques. 2. Who remain on trial?

Ans. B. P. Jaco, A. F. Buck, E. S. Lewis, R. A. Meek, J. W. Ramsey, having stood an approved examination on the course of study, were advanced to the class of the second year.

Ques. 8. What traveling preachers are elected deacons?

Ans. C. W. Perkins, Geo. H. Lipscomb, R. O. Brown, J. C. Mimms, Wm. J. Burt, J. C. Park, having stood approved examinations, were elected to deacon's orders.

The Bishop having called these brethren before the chancel, charged them to weigh well the disciplinary questions propounded to candidates for admittance into full connection, and set tomorrow morning, at 10:30, as the hour of this work.

Ques. 3. Who are discontinued?

Ans. J. R. Rodgers, at his own request.

Ques. 6. Who are received by transfer from other Conferences?

Ans. J. W. Treadwell, from the Indian Mission Conference.

Ques. 1. Who are admitted on trial?

Ans. Lee M. Lipscomb, from the Louisville circuit; Thomas B. Clifford, from Columbus station; Stephen L. Boyd, from Sallis circuit; William D. Burroughs, from Rural Hill circuit; William L. Graves, from Rural Hill circuit; James A. Poe, from Chapel Hill circuit; William A. Clarke, from Iuka station; John H. Rogers, from Iuka circuit; William J. Rogers, from Marietta circuit; James A. Bowling, from Shawnee circuit; James M. Deavenport, from Athens circuit; Wm. A. Bowlin, from Houston and Wesley station.

Rev. Matthew D. F. Fly, a traveling elder in the Free Methodist Church, having certified his agreement with us in doctrine, his orders were recognized, and he was admitted into the traveling connection in elder's orders.

Ques. 7. Who are deacons of one year?

Ans. R. C. Morehead, H. P. Gibbs, H. W. Young, H. P. Crow, T. B. Hargrove, R. H. B. Young, W. H. Saunders, J. T. Howell, J. W. Treadwell, W. W. Moss, B. B. Sullivan, having stood an approved examination, were passed to the class of the fourth year.

Ques. 10. What local preachers are elected deacons?

Ans. Wm. A. Bonner, Lee M. Lipscomb, Columbus W. Patterson, William W. Edge, James L. Bowling.

Dr. W. R. Lambuth addressed the Conference on the subject of missions, following up his address of last night. During his talk he answered the objector who says it costs a dollar to send a dollar to the foreign field. He said for every dollar sent over to China and Japan, the missionary received $1.20. One year (last year, if we remember correctly) he built two residences for missionaries, each costing eighteen hundred dollars, or three thousand six hundred for both, from the premiums on the money sent to Japan to the missionaries. At the close of his remarks the Conference subscribed nine hundred dollars, which, added to the four hundred subscribed last night, makes thirteen hundred in all, and by resolution asked the Parent Board of Missions to permit them to support Bro. Waters and family for one year in Japan. Bro. Waters, it will be remembered, married Miss Lula Lipscomb, of Columbus, Miss., who went to China a few years ago.

Bro. Watkins read a very encouraging report from the Board of Trustees of Millsaps College, which was referred to the Board of Education.

After announcements, the Conference adjourned with doxology and benediction.

THIRD DAY.

Friday, nine A. M., Dec. 4, Conference reassembled, Bishop Hendrix presiding; Bro. Oakley and his assistants at their desks. Opening exercises were conducted by Bro. J. W. Honnoll.

The roll was called and the characters of the brethren were passed:

R. M. Evans, J. H. Smith, A. W. Langley, R. C. Calloway, J. C. Buck, G. W. Bachman, J. S. Oakley, F. P. Spencer, J. R. D. King, K. A. Jones, J. W. Luter, J. H. Mitchell, E. H. Moon, E. H. Rook, W. W. Williams, D. M. Geddie, T. C. Wier, H. R. Tucker, Amos Kendall, A. P. Sage, W. R. Rainey, W. C. Lester, W. A. Dollar, J. A. Bowen, R. A. Burroughs, N. G. Augustus, E Johnson, J. T. Cunningham, W. D. Bass, T. L. Foster, J. M. Barnes, M. E. Tumlin, B. R. East, J. A. Whitehurst, A. P. Leech, F. A. Whitson, T. Y. Ramsey, A. B. Dearing, J. W. Bell, J. D. Newsom, T. B. Malone, O. N. Koon, K. M. Harrison, M. H. Honnoll, J. W. Honnoll, J. J. Brooks, J. A. Leech, Joseph Johnson, G. H. Jacobs, J. W. Anderson, S. A. Ellis.

At ten A. M. the following seven applicants for admission to full connection in the Conference presented themselves: C. W. Perkins, R. O. Brown, W. T. Burt, J. C. Park, G. H. Lipscomb, J. C. Mimms and H. C. Edmonson.

Bishop Hendrix, in expounding the usual questions, gave the large audience a clear and full statement of the doctrines of the M. E. Church, South. His manner was gentle and fatherly, his voice soft and persuasive, his expression animated and loving, his reasoning strong, his selection of words choice, his utterances showed that he drew his thoughts fresh from God's Word, and that he is taught the truth as it is in Jesus by the power of the Holy Ghost. He convinced all who heard him that he is a man of God walking on a high plane of Christian thought and experience.

The young men answered the question in the affirmative, and were unanimously received into full connection by the Conference.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather last night, the meeting to have been then held in the interest of Christian education was postponed, and the subject was now discussed. Eloquent and enthusiastic addresses were made by Maj. R. W. Millsaps, Bishop Hendrix and Rev. Dr. A. S. Andrews, president of the Southern University. At the conclusion of the speech of the latter a resolution of thanks to Dr. Andrews was passed, embracing an invitation to him to visit this Conference as often as he could.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the presence of Maj. R. W. Millsaps at our Conference session has given us great pleasure, and we herewith extend to him a cordial invitation to visit our Conference in the future, and promise him a hearty welcome when he shall do so.

R. B. Young was discontinued at his own request.

Conference then adjourned until Saturday morning.

At three P. M. the Rev. A. F. Watkins preached at the Presbyterian Church from the text: "I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them from the evil." (John xvii, 15)

At night Rev. Dr. Andrews preached at the Methodist Church.

FOURTH DAY.

Saturday morning session, Nov. 5, 1891, Bishop Hendrix in the chair; religious exercises conducted by Rev. J. D. Newsom. Minutes of Friday's session read and approved without a single correction.

The Committee on Conference Relations made a report, and the superannuated relation was granted Revs. S. B. Carson, J. H. Brooks, W. R. Rainey, T. J. Lowry, A. A. Houston, J. M. Hampton, S. A. Ellis.

Revs. W. S. Harrison, D. M. Cogdell and J. W. Bates were granted a supernumerary relation.

A memorial from the Holly Springs district, which was presented on yesterday, containing a resolution with reference to the Board of Missions giving full information concerning their appropriations, resulted in a motion this morning to the effect that the Board be allowed to follow its former policy.

A substitute was offered by Rev. Amos Kendall, requiring the Board to publish in the Minutes the work of the past year. Dr. R. W. Jones moved, as an amendment, to strike from the substitute the words "past year" and insert the words "ensuing year." A motion to lay the amendment on the table prevailed. After considerable discussion upon the whole question the substitute failed and the original motion was carried.

Revs. J. Whitehurst and A. B. Dearing were granted location at their own request.

The Committee on the Bible Cause made their report, offering a resolution that all the preachers take up a collection for this cause in all their charges during the month of May. Rev. J. W. McLaurin addressed the Conference, after which the report was adopted.

A resolution was offered, authorizing the secretary, Rev. J. S. Oakley, to publish the Minutes of the Conference in the place of Rev. T. B. Malone, the appointed editor, who is at home sick.

The Joint Board of Finance made their report. Amount collected the past year, $2,426.45. Amount necessary for the claimants for the ensuing year is $3,300.

The Committee on Conference Relations made an additional report, and a supernumerary relation was granted Rev. C. N. Terry.

The Board of Church Extension made their report. Bishop Hendrix addressed the Conference in a short, but strong and pointed speech. His remarks were substantially as follows:

"Church extension of the present day is not a thing of recent date. It dates centuries back. It began on the Mount of Transfiguration. Peter preached the first church extension sermon. His text was, 'Let us make here three tabernacles.' These were prophetic words. He uttered what he did not comprehend, as did all the prophets of old. He spake out of a heart of love. He felt the need of an abiding-place. His thought has been taken up by the generations following. Everywhere love has built abiding-places—monuments to the God worshipped. Our church comes not from the temple, but from the synagogues scattered in the country where the Jew dwelt. In these Christ and his apostles worshipped and taught. Love builds not only houses of worship, but places of rest. No sooner is love born than it plans for a nest for its loved ones. Hate builds up nothing—hate tears down. Love builds up. Love made the world. Love made man. Love builds homes for preachers and builds churches. Our church builds one house of worship every day. The work of infidelity is to tear down; of love, to build up. These are outward expressions. Churches are the expressions of the permaueney of the kingdom of God. God's plan is to become identified with the soil. The result of not doing so is illustrated by the wandering gypsies, Arabs and Indians. God's plan is for the church to become identified by having a home. The homeless one is a tramp. Borrowing a home, a hall or lodge-room destroys identity. I don't like to see the church go into co-partnership with anything. I don't like this boarding-house business. Love says, Let us build something to keep us alive among men. A town where there is no church is an expression that the morals are not good—no payment of debts, etc. Houses of worship are expressions of good morals and of life sufficient to build. We can't talk out plain in other houses, and could not, as a church, have an existence. In our own houses we can use our own forms of worship and ritual. Independent houses enable us to use our beautiful service."

At the close of these remarks a special collection was taken to build a church in Rouse, Col., and about $170 were raised.

Rev. C. R. A. Brantley was located at his own request.

The Committee on District Conference Records reported. The Aberdeen and Holly Springs Records were reported as finely kept and models of excellence. The other records were more or less criticised.

The following announcements were made: Rev. M. D. Fly, to preach at the Presbyterian Church, at 3 P. M., to-day; and Rev. Amos Kendall at the Methodist Church, 7 P. M.

Announcements for Sunday:

Methodist Church: 9 A. M.—Love-feast by Rev. J. H. Brooks. 11 A. M.—Bishop Hendrix. Ordination of deacons to follow. 3 P. M.—Memorial service. 7 P. M.—Rev. J. J. Wheat. Sacrament to follow, by Rev. J. B. Stone.

Presbyterian Church: 11 A. M.—Rev. J. D. Cameron. 3 P. M.—Children's service. Addresses by J. B. Streaker and Dr. R. W. Jones. 7 P. M.—Rev J. W. Boswell.

Baptist Church: 11 A. M.—Rev. W. B. Murrah. 3 P. M.—Address by Mrs. Hargrove. 7 P. M.—Rev. R. M. Standefer.

Conference adjourned to meet in memorial service, three P. M., Sunday.

At night Bro. Amos Kendall preached at the Methodist Church to a crowded house. He delivered what many of his old friends said was the best sermon of his long life. During the entire services the presence of the Holy Spirit was manifest, and shouts interrupted the speaker, who himself became so happy that he stopped preaching and led the shouting.

SUNDAY.

The love-feast at nine A. M. was an occasion of most wonderful power. There was no pause. The brethren and many noble women spoke in rapid succession, until the whole audience was in a blaze of spiritual fire. Old preachers remarked that it was the finest love-feast for many years.

Bishop Hendrix preached, at eleven A. M., a sermon of great power, both in thought and religion. Text: John xiv, 2—"If it were not so, I would have told you."

At the close of the sermon the following persons were ordained deacons: C. W. Perkins, G. H. Lipscomb, R. O. Brown, J. C. Mimms, W. J. Burt, J. C. Park, J. M. Webster, W. A Brunner, L. M. Lipscomb, C. W. Patterson, W. M. Edge, W. L. Bowling.

A very touching and impressive memorial service was held at three o'clock, Bishop Hendrix presiding. The committee made its report through its chairman, Rev. T. C. Wier, embracing the names of the following deceased members: Rev. T. Y. Ramsey, Rev. G. W. Brown, Rev. C. H. Owen and Rev. J. T. Moody. Special memorials were read by Bros. T. C. Wier, W. W. Woollard, J. D. Cameron and T. W. Dye. Remarks were made by numerous friends and pathetic hymns were sung. The services were concluded by singing Bro. Moody's favorite hymn, "How firm a foundation."

FIFTH DAY.

Conference met pursuant to adjournment, Bishop Hendrix in the chair; religious services conducted by Dr. R. W. Jones. Minutes of Saturday morning and Sunday afternoon session read and approved.

Ques. 20.

The character of the following preachers passed: W. D. McCullough, W. S. Shipman, O. L. Savage, J. A. Randolph, W. M. Young, J. H. Shumaker, W. W. Woollard, J. W. Dorman, J. B. Harris, T. W. Lewis.

The statistical secretary reported:

Local preachers, 158—increase, 2; members, 41,256—increase, 425; infants baptized, 687; adults baptized, 2,287; Sunday schools, 425; teachers, 2 295; scholars, 20,102—increase, 441; number of churches, 480—value, $484 772; parsonages, 106—value, $100,666.

The Conference unanimously selected Corinth as the place of the next meeting.

Ques. 29.

Foreign missions, $6 949 35; domestic missions, $2 274.75.

Educational statistics reported as follows: For Millsaps College—total, $435.95; for Paine and Lane Institute—total, $125.05.

Ques. 30.

Contributed for church extension, $2,115.60.

A communication from the commissioner of Paine and Lane Institute was read to the Conference and referred to the Board of Education.

Dr. M B. Chapman, editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, was presented to the Conference, and represented the work in the place of Dr. Hays, who was kept from the Conference-room in consequence of sickness.

The Committee on the Spiritual Interest of the Church reported through its chairman, Rev. Amos Kendall. Additions, 3,275; membership, 41,233—net increase, 402.

Dr. R. W. Jones, the chairman, read the report of the Committee on Temperance, which was strong, and, by unanimous vote, was requested to be published in the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE.

The committee, through Rev. J. C. Lowe, reported on colportage encouragingly, and recommended the reappointment of Rev. G. W. Bachman as colporteur for the next year.

The Committee on Books and Periodicals made Report No. 1 with reference to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, highly commendatory of the editors and publisher. Bro. Mitchel addressed the Conference in a strong and satisfactory speech. Report No. 2 referred to the Publishing House and our connectional literature, highly endorsing them all.

The report of the Board of Education was presented by Rev. W. B. Murrah, with a resolution asking the Conference to continue the assessment for ministerial education in Millsaps College. The report stated that Grenada Collegiate Institute had enjoyed increased prosperity, and that the indebtedness on the property had been reduced to $800.

Malone Female Institute, at Holly Springs, was placed under the auspices of the Methodist Church, and Rev. J. W. Honnoll recommended to be appointed president.

The Vanderbilt University commended the election of Rev. R. M. Standefer as a member of the Board of Trustees, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Rev. T. Y. Ramsey. The action was indorsed.

The Sunday-school Board reported through the chairman, Rev. O. L. Savage.

The Committee on the Sabbath made its report through the chairman, Rev. T. Y. Ramsey.

The Conference reconsidered the case of Rev. C. N. Terry, and recommended that his case be referred to the Committee on Conference Relations for a superannuated relation in place of a supernumerary relation.

The Conference adjourned, to meet at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

At 3:30 P. M. Bishop Hendrix reconvened the Conference, and after several committees made additional reports, the Committee on Missions reported through its chairman, Rev. T. J. Newell, that the collections for foreign missions aggregated $8,218, and domestic missions, $2,038 78. Total, $10,256 78.

Before reading the appointments, Bishop Hendrix called upon Bro. Amos Kendall to lead in prayer. The Bishop said that the scene before him reminded him of his recent visit to the United States Navy Yard at Washington, where he saw a rifled cannon that the officer said would shoot fifteen miles. He asked the officer why the gun was rifled. He replied that the ball might receive a rotary motion from muzzle to mouth of the gun that should control its directness of course to the object at which the shot was aimed. Said Bishop Hendrix, Methodism has been in a war 150 years. She still wages war against sin and sends out her shots impelled by holy force against sin, and with well directed aim she hits the mark and victory is won for Christ. Methodist ministers are like soldiers committing their lives and fortunes to the commander, willing to go to such parts of the battlefield as the Bishop may direct, believing he does for each the best, as well as best for the great cause we love—the cause of Christ.

APPOINTMENTS.

SARDIS DISTRICT.

H. C. Morehead, P. E.
Sardis and Davis Chapel, John Ritchey.
Como and Fredonia, J. M. Wyatt; D. M. Cogdell, supernumerary.
Senatobia, E. Johnson.
Arkabutla, R. P. Goar.
Coldwater mission, to be supplied (by Aaron Braswell).
Hernando and Coldwater, J. W. Malone.
Nesbitt, C. W Perkins.
Pleasant Hill, J. T. Howell.
Cockrum, J. H. Leech.
Mt. Vernon, J. W. Poston.
Batesville and Wesley, Thos. Cameron; J. W. Bates, supernumerary.
Pleasant Grove, H. P. Gibbs.
Panola, B P. Jaco.
Wall Hill, T. W. Dye.
Courtland, R. O. Brown.

WINONA DISTRICT.

S. M. Thames, P. E.
Winona station, J. D. Cameron.
Winona circuit, J. W. Luter.
Valden, H. L. Vaughn.
Carrollton station, R. A. Meek.
Greenwood, T. B. Holloman.
West, D. C. Foust.
Black Hawk, W. J. O'Bryant.
Carrollton circuit, T. G. Froeman.
McNutt, A. J. Jones.
Iodianola and Falsonia, W. D. McCullough.
Dublin and Brooklyn, E. S. Lewis.
Leherion mission, to be supplied (by E. H. McNabb).
Sidon, W. H. Saunders.
Wolfworth College, W. B. Murrah, vice-president.

GRENADA DISTRICT.

W. T. J. Sullivan, P. E.
Grenada station, J. A. Wheat.
Grenada circuit, J. M. Huggins.
Water Valley station, J. W. Price.
Water Valley circuit, to be supplied (by R F. Cole).
Coffeeville, G. W. Gordon.
Charleston, James Porter.
Oxford, J. E Thomas.
Asheville, J. W. Anderson.
Toccopola, J. M. Massey.
Banner, C. C. Grisham.
Atlanta, R P. Fullilove.
Minter City and Strathmore, O. L. Savage.
Chapel Hill, E. H. Rook.
Tillatoba, S. L. Boyd.
Pittsboro, A. J. Foster.
Cherry Hill, to be supplied (by J. C. Woodruff).

COLUMBUS DISTRICT.

T C. Wier, P. E.
Columbus station, J. S Oakley.
Columbus circuit, K. M. Harrison.
Crawford, K. A. Jones.
Brooksville, D L. Cogdell.
Macon, J. H. Mitchell.
Hebron, D. W. Babb.
Meshulaville, to be supplied by (C. H Pittman).
Shaqualak, A. T. Buck.
Starkville station, J. A. Randolph.
Starkville circuit, T L Foster.
West Point, Amos Kendall.
Tibbee, A P. Sage.
Tampico, A. P. Leech.
Sturgis, J W. Treadwell.
Sparta, J. D Newsom.

KOSCIUSKO DISTRICT.

R. A. Burroughs, P. E.
Kosciusko and Durant, J. F. Evans.
Sallis, R M. Evans.
Weir, J. H. Smith.
Ethel, L. D. Worsham.
Coral Hill, D. M. Geddie.
Belzoni, J A Poe.
Lexington and Tchula, R. M. Davis.
Pickens, R. G. Porter.
Ebenezer, A. W. Langley.
Newport, J. R. Roberson.
Louisville, J M Barnes.
Walthall, J. R. D. King.
Chester, W. C. Lester.
Maben, W. A. Dollar.
Poplar Creek, R. C. Calloway.
Conference colporteur and Sunday-school agent, G. W. Bachman.

ABERDEEN DISTRICT.

J. B Stone, P. E.
Aberdeen station, J. A. Bowon.
Ozolona station, N G. Augustus.
Ozolona circuit, B. B. Sullivan.
Tupelo, E H Moon.
Verona and Nettleton station, M. E. Tumlin.
Strong, J. C. Park.
Pontotoc, J. M. Davenport.
Buena Vista, J. T. Conningham.
Houston and Wesley, H R. Tucker.
Shannon, F. P. Spencer.
Nettleton and Fulton circuit, W. W. Williams.
Saltillo, B. R. East.
Fremont, to be supplied (by J. W. Raper).
Emory and Smithville, F. A. Whitson.
Athens, W. L. Graves.

CORINTH DISTRICT.

W S. Lagrone, P. E.
Corinth station, T Y Ramsey.
Corinth circuit, J. H Rodgers.
Iuka station, J. W. Bell.
Iuka circuit, W. A. Clark.
Kossuth, W. C Harris.
Blackland, H M. Young.
Jonesboro, to be supplied (by W. W. Edge).
Ripley and New Albany station, T. B. Malone.
Ripley circuit, J. W. Ramsey.
Bouuville and Baldwin, B. F. Phillips.
Guntown, J E Buck.
Blue Springs, J. C. Mimms.
New Albany circuit, M. H. Honnoll.
Marietta, W. J. Burt.
Pleasant Ridge, W. F. Rogers.

HOLLY SPRINGS DISTRICT.

J. W. Boswell, P. E
Holly Springs station, T. W. Lewis.
Holly Springs circuit, J J. Brooks.
East Holly Springs circuit, W. D. Burroughs.
Red Banks, J. B. Harris.
Byhalia, J C. Lowe.
Olive Branch, G. H. Jacobs.
Mount Pleasant, Joseph Johnson.
Early Grove, Ben. S. Rayner.
Ashland, J L Bowling.
Myrtle, O. N. Koon.
Eagle Springs, H. C. Edmonson.
Lebanon, to be supplied (by B. O. Gray).
President Malone Female College, J. W. Honnoll.

GREENVILLE DISTRICT.

R. M. Standefer, P. E.
Greenville station, J. W. Dorman.
Stormville and Lake Leo, W. W. Moss.
Shaw and New Salem, H P. Crow.
Cleveland and Shelby, W. S. Shipman.
Australia and Sherad, L. M. Lipscomb.
Clarksdale, E. H Casey.
Jonestown, Geo. H. Lipscomb.
Belen, W. A Bowlin.
Tunica and Lula, W. M. Young.
Friar's Point, J. H. Shinmaker.
Rosedale, W. W. Woollard.
Gunnison, W D. Fly.
Bolivar, R H. B. Gladney.
Arcola and Hollandale, T. W. Clifford.
Coahoma and Hollandale, J. W. Honnoll.

TRANSFERRED.—R. C. Morehead, to White River Conference; W. D. Bass, to Northwest Texas Conference; S. D. Long, to Holston Conference, and R. A. Ellis, to Texas Conference.

Conference adjourned sine die by singing doxology and benediction.

"A Christmas Present that comes every week in the year."

550,000 Copies Christmas Companion.

The Youth's Companion.

The Double Christmas Holiday Number of The Companion and the beautiful picture, "A Yard of Roses," will be sent in time for Christmas to New Subscribers who send $1.75 at once.

52 Xmas Presents and "A Yard of Roses."

50,000 Copies Extra of "A Yard of Roses" Ordered for Christmas.

The Volume for 1892 will Contain

Many Notable Features. Among them are the following. The Full Prospectus will be sent on Application

The Gift

Nine Illustrated Serial Stories.
Articles of Practical Advice.
Railway Life and Adventure.
700 Large Pages.
100 Stories of Adventure.
Sketches of Travel.
Charming Children's Page.
Weekly Supplements.
The Best Short Stories.
Hints on Self-Education.
Household Articles.
Five Holiday Numbers.

of the Year.

Subscriptions sent at once with $1.75 will obtain The Companion Free to January 1st, and for all of 1892.

When subscribing mention this paper.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 41 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

The editor regrets exceedingly that personal sickness prevented his attendance upon the session of the North Mississippi Conference. His grip was packed and stood so until it was too late, but the sickness would not let go. But even this had its compensations, in that it gave our assistant, Bro. Lewis, an untrammeled opportunity to write up the proceedings, and the writing speaks for itself. Our thanks are due to him and also to Bro. Mitchel for efficient aid. We are fortunate in having such lieutenants. We rejoice to know that the brethren had a pleasant and profitable session. And now let us all with renewed energy begin the work of another year in the service of our Master.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

Rev. F. N. Parker will represent Bro. McLaurin, the superintendent of the Bible Society, at the Louisiana Conference.

News comes to us that Rev. George S Inge is having a glorious meeting at Monroe, La. Full particulars will be given next week.

Rev. Dr. Morrison, missionary secretary, gave us a pleasant call last Tuesday. He was en route to the Mississippi Conference. He is in fine spirits in regard to our mission work.

Richard Berridge, of England, left £50,000 for the exclusive teaching of cookery in the primary elementary schools in England and Wales. Of this, £2,800 goes to the Wesleyans.

Bishop Haygood and wife passed through the city Thursday night on their way from the Central Mexican Conference to Georgia, in search of recruits for California. He reports the Mexican work as prospering.

Rev. H. Waller Featherstun, en route to the Mississippi Conference at Brookhaven, spent last Sunday in our city, and preached in the morning at Carrollton and in the evening in Carondelet to appreciative congregations.

London Methodist Times: "It is astonishing how politicians in this country succeed in shutting their eyes to the most obvious facts when they have a religious significance." The same remark applies forcibly to politicians in this country.

Rev. D. Atkins, who has been for the past four years in Oregon, passed through our city last week en route to Hendersonville, N. C., his work for the coming year. Bro. Atkins was compelled to return from the West by the continued ill-health of his wife.

Hon. Edward Mayes, having resigned the chancellorship and professorship of law in the University of Mississippi, Prof. R. B. Fulton has been appointed chancellor until June, next, and Hon. A. T. Whitfield, of Oxford, has been elected professor of law.

Bro. Joseph H. Mitchell, preacher in charge of Macon station, of Mississippi Conference, is to be complimented for the faithful, courteous and successful way in which he has homed his large company of guests, the members and delegates of the North Mississippi Annual Conference.

The good people of Macon, Miss., have entertained the 250 delegates and members of the North Mississippi Annual Conference royally. All the guests speak in most grateful terms of the hospitality of their respective hosts and hostesses. But we are satisfied none were made more at home or more elegantly cared for than was D. L. Mitchel, the publisher of this paper, by Capt. Mat Mahorney and his excellent wife, who is one of the most zealous workers in our Methodist Church at Macon.

Judge Wiley P. Harris, of Jackson, Miss., died last week, aged seventy-four years. Judge Harris was a prominent man all his life. He served his State on the bench, in Congress, and in several conventions. He was considered an authority in constitutional law, and ranked as one of the most profound legal scholars in the South.

The Richmond has this pleasant personal, which is highly appreciated hereabouts:

The NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE is reported as making steady gain. As Methodists grow in grace and intelligence in the parish of that paper, we were sure they would augment its circle of patrons. It is an honor to the church and a bulwark to good citizenship.

A brother complains that we left his name out of three marriage notices that he sent to this office. The brother's complaint is not founded well. We published the list just as he sent it. The printer called our attention to the absence of the preacher's name; but, having only the list sent, how could we supply the name? The brother's name is Rev. H. C. Morehead. We will republish the marriages. Be sure you are right before you complain.

When we said, speaking of the Temperance Lunch House, that business men could obtain a lunch at a place free from the odors of the dram-shop, we left out the word "another" before the word "place." There was no intention to ignore the existence of those places where such luncheons can be obtained now; especially was there no intention to cast any reflection upon the Christian Woman's Exchange, of which we have often spoken in high praise.

Rev. Levi Pearce, for many years an honored member of the Mississippi Conference, recently came over from British Honduras, and is with his wife and daughter at Jackson, La. He was seasick while crossing the Gulf, and was much prostrated by the trip over to this country. He is now, however, improving in health, and hopes to be shortly able to walk about again. He would be glad to attend the session of the Mississippi Conference, but his strength will not permit.

Rev. Amos Kendall, of the North Mississippi Conference, has been in the itinerancy forty-two years. Of that time he spent twenty successive years as presiding elder. Having been appointed in 1870, he served in that capacity until 1890, when he was stationed at West Point, Miss. During his entire term of twenty years as presiding elder he missed but two Quarterly Conferences. This is a record unparalleled by any man in Southern Methodism, living or dead.

WEDDING BELLS.—Another in a series of brilliant weddings at Rayne Memorial Church, occurred on Thursday evening, last, the contracting parties being Mr. Frank Born, of Rice, Born & Co., and Miss Alicia Seymour, daughter of Wm. Seymour, Esq. Though the evening was stormy, the church was radiant with flowers, beauty and the good cheer usual to such occasions. The ceremony of uniting the happy pair was performed by Dr. Beard, the pastor, according to the ritual of the M. E. Church, South; Dr Markham, the long-time pastor of the bridegroom's family, being present also, and offering a short prayer at the close. We wish the young wedded pair long life and much happiness.

Prevention Is Better

Than cure, and those who are subject to rheumatism can prevent attacks by keeping the blood pure and free from the acid which causes the disease. For this purpose Hood's Sarsaparilla is used with great success.

Tho Old Testament enfolds the New, while the New Testament unfolds the Old.—Augustine.

THE SCHOOL OF HARD KNOCKS was where Andrew Carnegie gained his start; forty years ago a poor Scotch boy—to-day, prince of manufacturers, author, and philanthropist. It is from his own experience that he is to write for The Youth's Companion on "Habits of Thrift."

BUY THE ENTERPRISE TINNED MEAT CHOPPER

Chops as Shown

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

SOLD BY THE HARDWARE TRADE.

No. 10 $3.00. Send for Catalogue, FREE. ENTERPRISE M'F'G CO., PHILADELPHIA.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

Woman's Work.

Receiving a kind invitation, accompanied with the promise that expenses would be paid, I had the pleasure of visiting Rolling Fork and Anguilla. An Auxiliary to Parsonage and Home Mission Society organized at each place under the new law. Great interest was universally manifested; the societies, being composed of excellent women, promise much good.

MRS. E. D. JONES.

Carlisle, Miss.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. R. B Downer, C. R. Godfrey, I. F. Patterson (2), L. S. Parker, J. J Kelly, C. McDonald, G A Mandeville, J. M. Morse, B. Jones, R. J. Harp, T. B. Reagan, J. D. Harper, G. E. Greene, L. J. Jones, S. L. Lallance, E. F. Benson, J. W. Dorman, P. Howard, W. J. Porter, L. J. Jones.

Messrs. J. H. Hunter, J. O. Magee, John H. Chapman, E. C. Risher, T. G. Wood, W. H. Simmons, J. R. Tyler, J. R. Johnston, W. A. D. Rumsey, J. P. Carter, J. Estelle, W. W. Summers, T. S. Hastings, J. B. Easterling, D. Hale, I. P. Bonsely.

Mesdames J Ilner, S. C Coker, S. B Owen, G. A Ridgeway, E. D. Jones, Chas. Ratliff.

Miss M. J. S Calloway.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The gospel is that system which fosters everything that is good and opposes everything that is bad. This is the sum of it all. In this it is unlike every other system.

PARSONS PURGATIVE PILLS, 40 CURE ALL

PILLS

MakeNewRichBlood

"Best Liver Pill Made."

They positively cure SICK HEADACHE and BILIOUSNESS, all Liver and Bowel Complaints. In Glass Vials. Thirty in a bottle, one a dose. They expel all impurities from the blood. Delicate women find great benefit from using them. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 25 cts. in stamps; five bottles $1.00. Full particulars free. L. S. JOHNSON & CO., 21 Custom House St., Boston, Mass.

Mrs. M. M. AUVRAY,

SELECT: BOARD,

277 Josephine Street, near Chestnut.

References.—Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D.; Rev. J. T. Sawyer, Rev. J. B. Walker, D. D.; Rev. D. L. Mitchel, Rev. B. Carradine.

School Wanted.

A lady who is a graduate and an experienced teacher, competent to teach all branches of a thorough English education, desires a situation as governess, private tutor, teacher, or any employment suitable for an educated lady. Testimonials and best of reference furnished. Address "Teacher," care of this office.

Jesus, the Joy of the World.

This is the title of our Christmas Service for 1891. It is an eight-page leaflet in bright-colored ink on tinted paper, with illustrated title page. The exercises consist of songs, music, responsive readings, recitations, etc., and a special provision for the requested service on behalf of foreign missions. Price, 20 cents per dozen; $1 25 per hundred. Let Sunday-schools order early of their Colporteur, or of BARBEE & SMITH, Agents, Nashville, Tenn.

TAKE HEED

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Holiday Goods

What more acceptable present can you give a friend at Christmas or New Year's times than a handsome Rug or a pretty Matting. We have made special prices on this line, and herewith append the list:

John Crossley & Sons imported tap. rugs, 45c each

John Crossley & Sons—

	ft.	in.	ft	in.
N Rugs,	2	1	x 4	8,	95c each.
R "	2	8	x 4	8,	$0.65 each.
G "	2	6	x 5	6,	$1.10 each.

Smyrna Rugs (best quality, 2 ft. 1 in.

" " " " 2

" " " " 4

Smyrna Mats, 75c.

Fine Damask Mats

Heath, Schw

118 Camp Silk Plush and

A Full of a different

Good As Arm Chair and

Van, one Patent

For the pieces $35 or ten

"The Tree ve pieces, from

s from $20 up

Address and purchasers

F. D Vanted or money

106 CAMP ST.

THIR

Will get you NITURE HOUSE

OF FAITH (wo ly), for THREE M Orleans,

our Liberal Terms

GOSPEL M STREET 3

Mention this paper

Do you know that you can buy a chimney to fit your lamp that will last till some accident happens to it?

Do you know that Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass" is that chimney?

You can have it—your dealer will get it if you insist on it. He may tell you it costs him three times as much as some others. That is true. He may say they are just as good. Don't you believe it—they may be better for him; he may like the breaking.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & Co.

Cod-liver oil suggests consumption; which is almost unfortunate. Its best use is before you fear consumption—when you begin to get thin. Consumption is only one of the dangers of thinness.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil makes the thin plump, and the plump are almost safe.

Let us send you a book on CAREFUL LIVING—free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

25

CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS Containing new Carols and a Responsive Service that may be used with or without the Carols. 16 pages. Price, 5 cents a single copy.

The CHRIST of BETHLEHEM. A Beautiful New Christmas Service By J. E. HALL. containing an Instructive Responsive Service interspersed with New and Appropriate Carols. Price, 5 cents a single copy. OTHER SERVICES of the same character and at the same price, are "Gems, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Joy Bells," "Good Will to Men," "Noel," and "Peace on Earth."

A CHRISTMAS VISION —A NEW CANTATA for Children by these two By C. L. Burnham & G. F. Root. well known writers is sure to meet with a cordial reception. This new work is the prettiest and most entertaining they have produced thus far. Price, 30 cents a single copy. OTHER CANTATAS for the Christmas Season are "The Christmas Eve," "Santa Claus & Co.," "The New Santa Claus," "Catching Kriss Kringle," "Judge Santa Claus," "Santa Claus' Mistake," and "The Waifs' Christmas." Price of each, 30 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY Relates in verse, scripture readings and music, By M. B. Brooks & G. F. Root. the principal events of Christ's life on earth. Beautiful and instructive. Price, 30 cents a single copy.

BETHLEHEM. A Cantata for Adults only (no children's parts) that cannot fail to please wherever rendered. Price, 30 cts a single copy. By G. F. Root. Send 10 cents for sample copy of "Musical Visitor" for Choirs.

—PUBLISHED BY—

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.

Root & Sons Music Co., 200 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 23 E. 16th St., New York.

HAVE YOU GOT PILES

$100. FOR AN INCURABLE CASE.

Itching Piles are known by moisture like perspiration, causing intense itching when warm. This form as well as Blind, Bleeding and Protruding, yield at once to DR. BO-SAN-KO'S PILE REMEDY which acts directly on parts affected, absorbs tumors, allays itching and effects a permanent cure. 50c. Druggists or mail. Circulars free. Bosanko Co. Piqua, O.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. D. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Blk, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

SKIN DISEASES Tetter, Eczema, Chapped Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by GREVE'S OINTMENT. 50c. Druggists. HISCOX & CO., N.Y.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE

Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Asthma, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion. Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & Co., N. Y.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD. Best quality Copper and Tin BELLS for Churches, Schools, &c. Also CHIMES AND BELLS. Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY. Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

parson. sions, and "disc places." Th conversions ment of Discip Under the question the n lowing veteran army were call continued on t list: Bros. Cook, Ramsey, and Brown.

MEMORIES PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY. 200 Illustrations TURE and ARTI y of Sacred Liter- radle to Crown, ach of all. TOWNSHIP. ue, New York.

ORGAN 9.00

ATALOGUE BRASS LLEGER. ton, N. J.

HOME LIFE.

THAT LITTLE PRAYER.

The fire upon the hearth was low,
And there is stillness everywhere;
Like troubled spirits here and there
The firelight shadows flattering go.
And as the shadows round me creep,
A childish treble breaks the gloom,
And softly from the further room
Comes: "Now I lay me down to sleep."

And, somehow, with that little prayer,
And that sweet treble in my ears,
My thought goes back to distant years,
And fingers with a dear one there.
And, as I hear the child's amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me;
Crouched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hands again.

Oh, for an hour in that dear place!
Oh, for the peace of that dear time!
Oh, for that childish trust sublime!
Oh, for a glimpse of mother's face!
Yet, as the shadows round me creep,
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone—
And "Now I lay me down to sleep."

The Evening at Home.

Did you ever notice how much of the curiously fitted, yet fascinating mosaic work of memory is made up of evening scenes? And the brightest and most precious pieces in it are hits from the hearthstone. Evenings at home are the greenest and most refreshing spots in all the backward landscape of life. Cheerless, indeed, must be the retrospect which is destitute of these fireside gleams. The persistency with which memory clings to such scenes shows something wonderfully sweet and satisfactory in them, nor would it be difficult to find and formulate the causes of the blessedness of the evenings at home—rest from the day's toil; companionship of earth's dearest and most trusted ones; absence of those who tempt or trouble us; the slumber of restless ambitions and envies, and over all the solemnity of night. And these evenings at home are as helpful to the soul as they are grateful to the sense. Boys do not go astray while spending their evenings at home; husbands and wives become not unfaithful while loving evenings at home, and one of the surest symptoms of incipient moral malady is a distaste for these sacred seasons.

It is not strange, therefore, that Satan has exhausted invention in devising enticement and allurements to break up the evening family circle. The saloon, the theatre, the club, the dance, the billiard room, and other agencies, are in a grand conspiracy against the happiest and holiest home hour. There certainly ought to be something paramount in importance and pressing in necessity pertaining to the occasion which requires the breaking of the family circle at the only season that it could be complete. Yet there are husbands whose rounds of club engagements, wives whose rounds of social engagements, and sons and daughters whose undisciplined passion for amusement, make evenings at home an habitual impossibility. Are there not seven evenings in the week?—and at least three of these might be made "home evenings," with every member at home, if possible. Not at home with father in the library, mother in the nursery, Matilda in the parlor, and John upstairs in his room moping or smoking, but at home with and to one another. Let them be "with one accord in one place." It was an evil day for happy family life when the rooms in the house were so multiplied that each member was accommodated with a hermit cell of his own. The remedy is to make a domestic chapel of the "sitting room," for the sitting together in a very heavenly place of sweet communion of all the members of the family; and let this be in the evenings, and as often as possible.—Christian Standard.

The Blessings of Defeat.

One of the best things that can happen to an army in the beginning of the war is defeat. This tones down the vanity, quiets the boasting, teaches the importance of watchfulness and discipline, hinders people from overestimating themselves or underestimating their adversaries, and paves the way for final success and victory. Uninterrupted prosperity is likely to beget carelessness, security and self-confidence, and so end in overthrow at last. Our defeats are the stepping stones of our victories.

This is true in the moral as well as in the military world. The things which bring us low are the things which prepare us for exaltation. The things which make us think little of ourselves, and which teach us watchfulness, caution, prudence and confidence, are among the most important preparations for success in all good things.

Perhaps nothing but Peter's denial and falsehood and cursing would ever have taken the conceit out of the forward disciple who before this was as ready to rebuke his Master as he was to do any work which was appointed. How many times the Lord has seen that we were unfit for success or prosperity, that we needed defeat and disaster, and that without it we should be most certain to be overthrown in our warfare. Hence he has ordained and arranged as to abase our pride, startle us from our complacency, cure us of our self-confidence, and bring us in meekness and lowliness of heart to acknowledge our weakness and our waywardness, and trust alone in the arm of the strong, the Almighty Helper.

Let us make our defeats a means of blessing, and give such good heed to the admonitions of experience and the instructions of inspiration that we may be able to stand against all the power of the enemy, and at last be more than conquerors through Him that loved us and gave himself for us.—The Christian.

AFTER FORTY.—Life has a trick of progressing into age without telling on itself. We have gone out into the world, got into business, surrounded ourselves with family ties, until some bright day, or cloudy for that matter, we overhear a young fellow speaking of us as "Old Smith." It is a revelation, and comes upon a man with suddenness. Well, if old Smith he Christian Smith, he is nearer the blessedness. And yet before getting to the terminus, some one has told us "the best half of life is in front of the man of forty, if he be anything of a man. The work he will do will be done with the hand of a master, and not of a new apprentice. The trained intellect does not seem men as trees walking, but sees everything clearly and in just measure. The trained temper does not rush at work, but advances with the calm and ordered pace of conscious power and deliberate determination. To no man is the world so new and the future so fresh as to him who has spent the early years of his manhood in striving to understand the deeper problems of science and life, and who has made some headway toward comprehending them."—Southern Churchman.

He that has no resources of mind is more to be pitied than he who is in want of necessaries for the body, and to be obliged to beg our daily happiness from others bespeaks a more lamentable poverty than that of him who begs his daily bread.—Colton.

Fore-Gleam of Immortality.

Man is the heir of immortality. The creature of a day on earth, he is destined to live on in the realm beyond, and to fill out the small beginning here with a riper and grander existence there. Between the present and the future life there is an intimate, though mysterious connection. The one shoots through into the other. As this life colors and shapes all our future, so that future gives out a fore-gleam of its realities and ineffable glories in our mortal state. Intimations of what we are to be are found within as well as around us. The throbbings and aspirations of the soul are the prophecies of a larger life into which we are to enter as the walls of mortality crumble and fall away.

The human soul is adjusted to the future. Its outlook is into immortality. Hope is the magic gift of childhood, imparting a halo to the scenes of the future and locating Paradise at the extreme of life. Hope is no less the resource and consolation of the aged. The light lengthens as the end is approached. The old man of ninety no less than the young man of twenty makes a forecast of the future. The noblest things are ahead.

"By what life-giving principle," says one, "what new hope, what higher ambition, may we all always grow more buoyant in desire, wider, riper in mental scope, warmer and freer in moral and religious impulses, as we grow older? It is the hope of immortality. It is the fore-gleam of our endless life. It is the expectation that where we lay our loved ones is where they will rise again; that where we ourselves lie at last is where we shall, not long after, feel the quickening thrill of everlasting life." So the most precious gift of childhood comes to us in latest life. "Hope springs eternal in the human breast;" however meagerly he may have realized in the past, man draws upon the unknown future with the utmost assurance. The strong man of many cares, the woman of tearful memories, the gray-haired father, the sympathetic mother, anticipate something better than earth has afforded. The smile comes back to the cheek and the eye kindles with holy joy as the golden city breaks in view, and they greet the innumerable company on the other side. What had been received in hope, is now to be realized in a joyous immortality.—Zion's Herald.

How to Bring Up a Son.

1. Make home the brightest and most attractive place on earth.
2. Make him responsible for the performance of a limited number of daily duties.
3. Never punish him in anger.
4. Do not ridicule his conceits, but rather talk frankly on matters in which he is interested.
5. Let him feel free to invite his friends to your home and table.
6. Encourage his confidence by giving ready sympathy and advice.
7. Do not discourage "collection manias;" they help to give information and fix habits of investigation and perseverance.
8. Be careful to impress upon his mind that making character is more important than making money.
9. Live Christ before him all the time; then you will be able to talk of Christ to him with power when occasions offer.
10. Be much in prayer for his salvation and spiritual growth.—Rev. E. P. Marvin, in Young Men's Era.

When and What to Read.

If you are impatient sit down quietly and have a talk with Job.

If you are just a little strong-headed go to see Moses.

If you are getting weak-kneed take a look at Elijah.

If there is no song in your heart listen to David.

If you are a policy man read Daniel.

If you are getting sordid spend awhile with Isaiah.

If you feel chilly get the beloved disciple to put his arms around you.

If your faith is below par read Paul.

If you are getting lazy watch James.

If you are losing sight of the future climb up to Revelation and get a glimpse of the promised land.

MAKING HEARERS LIGHT.—It is so little we can really do for one another in the march of life. We are all under marching orders, and have burdens to carry. There is no halt for noonday dreams nor twilight rest. It is step, step, step—right onward through dust and common place, without music or banners, or present glory; and yet to each soldier has been given a canteen full of never-failing water, a cup of which we may proffer with no fear of a diminished store, all the way through to the end of the long march to the sea. Is our comrade discouraged? Do his feet fail and his hands grow heavy? A cheering word, a loving service, a friendly suggestion, born of the desire to help and encourage, will revive him like sparkling water in the desert heat. Such things cost nothing, but not all the gold and diamonds you could pack into your bundle would match them for solace on the long and dusty march which stretches for each one of us between the cradle and the grave.—Amber.

FALSE DIGNITY.—Simplicity of manners, joined with strong, sturdy common sense, is one of the rare and refreshing virtues which adorn the character of a true man. They shine conspicuously, though without ostentation, inasmuch as they form such a striking contrast to the countless instances of false dignity and vile affectation which we daily see about us. We lately heard of a most amusing instance of offended dignity. A man called at a grocery and bought some milk, and while the portly hostess was pouring it out, he happened to mention that he wanted it for a favorite cat. "What?" exclaimed the woman, with indignation in her red face, "do you suppose I keep milk to sell for cats to drink? I rather guess not!" and she poured it back, saying, "I guess I haven't got down quite so low as that yet!" And so the man was obliged to go without the milk, and wait till the woman got a little lower and dignity was a little cheaper.—Selected.

COVERED UP.—It is a sweet lesson I have learned to-day from God's Book—the things he covers up. Tell me, if you can, the name of the thief on the cross, or the woman from Sychar. And who was the poor outcast who bathed the Savior's feet with her tears? Possibly in heaven we will never know but that these were among earth's tiniest blossoms. I can think of God's charity thus outstretched. I wish I could keep from saying anything bad about anyone. Lord, help me!

Most of us have things we want covered up—and covered up forever, too. I am right glad the judgment day will not reveal any of the sins of a Christian. How good of him not to subject us to the shame of a past record revealed before men! We will only be judged for our rewards. Brethren, let us live to get big ones only for our silence of others' shortcomings.—C. H. Yatman.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

A 6 BY 9 RHYME.

BY JOSEPHINE POLLARD.

A queer little boy who had been to school,
And was up to all sorts of tricks,
Discovered that 9 when upside down,
Would pass for the figure 6.

So when asked his age by a good old dame,
The comical youngster said,
"I'm 9 when I stand on my feet like this,
But 6 when I stand on my head!"

—Harper's Young People.

CULTIVATE A SWEET VOICE.—There is no power of love so hard to keep as a kind voice. A kind hand is deaf and dumb. It may be rough in flesh and blood, yet do the work of a soft heart, and do it with a soft touch. But there is one thing it so much needs as a sweet voice to tell what it means and feels, and it is hard to get it and keep it in the right tone. One must start in youth, and be on the watch night and day, while at work and while at play, to get and keep a voice that shall speak at all times the thought of a kind heart. But this is the time when a sharp voice is most apt to be got. You often hear boys and girls say words at play, with a quick, sharp tone, as if it were the snap of a whip. If any of them get vexed you will hear a voice that sounds as if it were made up of a snarl, a whine and a bark. Such a voice often speaks worse than the heart feels. It shows more ill-will in tone than in words. It is often in mirth that one gets a voice or a tone that is sharp, and sticks to him through life, and stirs up ill-will and grief, and falls like a drop of gall on the sweet joys at home. Such as these get a sharp home voice for use and keep their best voice for those they meet elsewhere, just as they would save their best cake and pies for guests and all their sour food for their own board. I would say to all girls and boys, "Use your best voice at home." Watch it by day as a pearl of great price, for it will be worth more to you in the days to come than the best pearl hid in the sea. A kind voice is a lark's song to heart and home. It is to the heart what light is to the eye.—Church Advocate.

[Do you see anything peculiar about this piece?—EDITOR.]

FAMOUS FARMER BOYS.—There are some people foolish enough to laugh at the homely virtues of farm life. There are fortunately few, and they are fortunately growing fewer. But it is well sometimes to look at the list of great men who came up from the farm—not all of them, for that would fill a thousand volumes, but some of the most able ones that flash into mind in a moment. Nearly three-fourths of the men who have been chosen by the people for the great offices of the nation are men who were early familiar with wooded hills and cultivated fields, says the Kansas City Times, for example: Lincoln, Grant, Garfield, Hamlin, Greeley, Tilden, Cleveland, Harrison, Hayes, and many others almost equally conspicuous in current events or living memory. W. H. Vanderbilt was born in a small New Jersey town, and early engaged in the business of ship chandlery. Russell Sage was born in a New York village. Jay Gould spent his early years on his father's farm in New York State. Whittier and Howells spent their youth in villages, the former dividing his time between farm employment and his studies. Follow the list out yourself, and see how long it will become.—Young Men's Era.

"A LITTLE BOY I CAN TRUST."—"I once visited," said a gentleman, "a large public school. At recess a little fellow came up and spoke to the master: and as he turned to go down the platform, the master said, 'There is a boy I can trust; he never failed me.' I followed him with an eye, and looked at him when he took his seat after recess. He had a fine, open, manly face. I thought a great deal about the master's remark. What a character had that little boy earned! He had already got what would be worth to him more than a fortune. It would be a passport to the best office in the city, and, what is better, to the confidence of the whole community. I wonder if the boys know how soon an opinion is formed of them by older people. Every boy in the neighborhood is known, and opinions formed of him; he has a character favorable or unfavorable. A boy of whom the master can say, 'I can trust him; he never failed me,' will never want employment. He who is faithless in little will be faithless in much."—The Christian Commonwealth.

GOING UP TO HIGH C.—One afternoon, Ethel attended a matinee where there was much fine music. On the way home, she heard her mother remark to another lady that one of the singers, a noted tenor, sang unusually well. "Yes," said the lady, "he went up to high C without making any fuss about it."

Ethel often heard music talked about at home, so that she knew that "High C" meant one of the upper notes on the musical scale, within the compass of the human voice, but so high that some singers could not reach it. Therefore she asked no questions.

A few weeks afterward, Ethel went into the country for a visit. On the morning after her arrival at the farm, she got into the chicken-yard, where she caused much commotion among the fowls. The hens cackled and the roosters screeched, while she chased them hither and thither to her heart's content, thinking it fine fun.

"Oh, I've had a lovely time playing tag with the chickens!" she told her mother, afterward, and she added, "I 'most know that gray rooster went up to High C, but he made a dreadful fuss about it."—Youth's Companion.

Little Sue was to have a grand treat in the shape of an after-dark "outing." But mama thought her small Bennie too young to share it. When the little fellow's lips quivered pitifully, she promised him as his "good time" the privilege of "sitting up" with his auntie. Bennie was much impressed with his new dignity. As the long evening wore on he bravely held his little sleepy eyes wide open, until at last tired body-nature found relief in a series of gapes.

"I guess Bennie is getting sleepy," auntie said.

"O, no I isn't, auntie," the little hero said, manfully, "only my mouf needs stretching."—Ladies' Home Journal.

PURITY.—Purity is power. The rose, among the sweetest and most beautiful of God's creations, is armed with thorns, nature's sharp bayonets for warding off attack. Purity is the defense of beauty; modesty is the safeguard of innocence. "Keep thyself pure." The severe chastity which repels familiarity is an absolute essential for the safety of the soul as genial attractiveness is for beauty.—A. J. Gordon.

Over in Jersey a small girl's pet hen was sadly cut off in her prime, leaving a young family of chickens. Going out next morning the child found to her delight that they had been taken in hand by a large-hearted hen, and, running to her mother, the little girl exclaimed with delight: "Don't you think the hen is a real King's Daughter to take care of my little chickens?"

SCIENTIFIC.

Evolution of Clocks and Watches.

The beginning of modern clock-making may be dated from 1656, when Huygens attached the pendulum to the clock. This gave horology a place in the exact sciences such as it had not before held. The next important advance was the invention of the watch balance-spring by Dr. Robert Hooke, of the Isle of Wight. He was the author of other valuable inventions and improvements, among them the "anchor" escapement and some ingenious tools for the making of astronomical instruments. Previous to 1691 watches had only the hour-hand. Daniel Quare, of London, added the minute-hand. Nine years later the horizontal escapement in its perfect state was made public by George Graham, F. R. S., and the device of jeweling the parts most subject to wear was introduced into England by M. Facio, of Geneva. The English Government commission on a method of finding the longitude, of which Sir Isaac Newton was a member, appointed in 1714, published the conclusion than an accurate timekeeper would furnish the best means; and an offer was made by the government for the discovery of a method—fixed at £10,000, if by it the longitude could be defined to one degree; £15,000, if within two-thirds of a degree; and £20,000, if within half a degree. John Harrison, born at Foulby, near Pontefract, Yorkshire, in 1693, who devised the gridiron compensation pendulum, was stimulated by the offer to efforts to find a similar regulator for a watch, and devised an automatic regulator which Halley thought might prove to be of some value. He applied it to a time-keeper, which, having stood a test in a boat on the Humber, was successfully taken to Lisbon. The Board of Longitude advanced him £500. A second instrument was not satisfactory to the board; but a third won for the inventor the gold medal of the Royal Society. This instrument was sent on a long voyage to Jamaica. After being eighteen days out, a difference of more than two degrees appeared between its indications and the shipmen's calculations. Harrison insisted that his time-piece was right, and told the shipmen that if they turned in a certain direction, they would site a certain island the next morning—if the maps were right. They did so, and the island was seen, according to his prediction. Like results were obtained as island after island was passed. On arriving at Port Royal, after a voyage of two months, the time-keeper was five seconds slow: and on returning to England, after five months, its error was less than a minute and a quarter. Harrison was not allowed the offered reward till more sure tests were made, but was given £5,000. The watch was tested on a second voyage, with triple precautions, and Harrison was allowed £5,000 more, and promised the rest of the £20,000 when he had taught others how to make the instruments. Having fulfilled all possible conditions, he was fully paid in 1767. His time-keepers are still preserved, in charge of the astronomers royal, in Greenwich Observatory.—Popular Science.

VOLCANIC REMAINS IN CONNECTICUT.—Several years ago, while walking down the lower Connecticut Valley with a party of students, we chanced upon a curious ledge of rock surmounting a low ridge by the road that runs from Berlin to Meriden, about half-way between Hartford and New Haven. A scramble up the slope through a bushy growth of young trees led to the foot of the ledge—a thick bed of gray-greenish rock, not in layers like limestone or sandstone, not crystalline like granite or gneiss, but of a loose, structureless texture, here and there carrying roughly rounded blocks of a dense, dark rock which we knew to be an old lava, from its resemblance to the rocks ejected from modern volcanoes. Although a ledge of this kind is not of ordinary occurrence, its features were so well marked that there could be little doubt of its nature and origin; it was a bed of volcanic ashes, interspersed with blocks or bombs of lava that must have been thrown from some neighboring vent long ago in the ancient time when the rocks of the valley were made. The ash-bed lay upon a series of muddy sandstones that had evidently been formed under water, for they were deposited in layers, just as sand and mud are now when they are washed into a pond; and to all appearances the eruption of the ashes and bombs had taken place during the accumulation of the sandstones.—The Popular Science Monthly.

ASTRONOMY AND NUMISMATICS.—A curious suggestion is made by Dr. A. Vercoutre, of a way in which astronomical knowledge may be made of service to numismatical science. Stars and members of the solar system often figure on antique medals, notably on coins of the Roman republic, and they sometimes appear as heraldic allusions to the magistrate by whom the coin was struck. Thus on a coin of L. Lucretius Trio, 74 B. C., the seven stars in Ursa Major—called by the Romans Septem Triones—appear in evident phonetic allusion to the name, Trio, of the magistrate. On a coin struck in B. C. 43, Dr. Vercoutre noticed five stars, one of which was much larger and more brilliant than the others. As the constellation Taurus contains the only group of five stars, with one much the brightest recognized by the ancients, the author attributed the coin to P. Clodius Turrinus, who used the name Taurus or Taurinus as a phonetic equivalent of his own. A coin struck by Marius Aquillius, B. C. 94, has figured on it the first four stars of the constellation Aquila. They are shown in nearly the same relative positions they now occupy, and, therefore, contain the earliest known representation of a part of the celestial vault.—Popular Science.

WHITENED CAPE DIAMONDS.—It is stated that artificially colored diamonds have been sold lately in Belgium. A French chemist finds out that on being dipped in a weak aniline solution the diamonds lose their yellowish tinge, and appear as pure white as the Indian or Brazilian stone. The aniline can neither be seen by a magnifying glass nor rubbed off with a chamois leather; so M. Guillot thinks that the dye must lodge in the sharp angle of the facet which remains unpolished, and so affect the light as it falls on the flat surface. A bath of nitric acid will show the fraud, or a little alcohol, which M. Guillot recommends diamond merchants to use for testing.—Scientific American.

SOAPSTONE.—Soapstone, or steatite, can be made into anything. Very beautiful stoves are made of it, and stationary washtubs and sinks are important products. Not an ounce need be wasted, for the dust is used to adulterate rubber goods, giving so-called gum rubbers their dull finish, and in paper, too. It is used to give weight, while all waste can be ground up into a flour which can be made into a fireproof paint for the interior of mills or the roofs of buildings.

A German chemist has succeeded in producing artificial silk, which has all the qualities of the natural article except strength, wherein it is deficient, being only two thirds as strong.

If the way to heaven be narrow, it is not long; and if the gate be strait, it opens into endless life.—Beveridge.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a TINY LIVER PILL which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS is shown in the border of this "ad."

Heavy Crops!

The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Royal Germetuer

Christmas Books and Cards.

The Religious Book Depository, 91 Camp Street, New Orleans, sells solely religious books, cards and supplies; Christmas cards, booklets and mottoes, with Scripture verses, or reading matter, is a specialty; Bibles of all bindings and print are for sale at low prices. Send for catalogue.

FIVE CENTS EACH.

Christmas Cards, at 5 cents each, also a large lot of Booklets at this low price. Here are the names of three: "I Am the Light of the World;" "For Unto Everyone that Hath Shall be Given;" "I Am the Good Shepherd." Five pages and a cover to each.

TEN CENTS EACH.

6 Booklets, illustrated cover, six pages: "I Am the Resurrection and the Life;" "Then Shall the Kingdom of Heaven be Likened unto Ten Virgins;" "Awake Thou that Sleepest;" "Consider the Lilies;" "Watch and Pray;" "Him that Cometh unto Me."

3 Booklets, oblong, cover illustrated, five pages: "Let not your Heart be Troubled;" "To Work to-day in My Vineyard;" "Be of Good Cheer."

8 Small booklets, full-page colored illustrations: "Sun of My Soul;" "Hark the Glad Sound;" "All Hail the power of Jesus' Name;" "Just as I Am;" "Light after Darkness;" "The Lord is My Shepherd;" "Jesus, Lover of My Soul;" "God be Merciful unto Us."

Any of the above will be sent for $1 a dozen.

FIFTEEN CENTS EACH.

4 Color illustrated booklets. Text for Every Day, and "His Love;" "His Word;" "His Will;" "His Way."

6 Booklets, Scripture Text Poem, illustrated cover, nine pages; "Sing Unto the Lord;" "The Love of Christ;" "Lay Not Up for Yourselves Treasures;" "Come unto Me;" "Behold, I Stand at the Door and Knock;" "Whosoever Drinketh of this Water Shall Thirst Again."

TWENTY CENTS EACH.

Beautiful booklets in color illustration. Poems, "Glory to God;" "Lead, Kindly Light;" "The Pure in Heart;" "Life's Sunny Side;" "Heart's Content."

Daily Text-Books for a month, "Goodness and Mercy;" "Bountiful Care."

Also a large number of hymns, with illustrations, handsomely bound.

FIFTY CENTS EACH.

"The Light of Nazareth," 3 full page illustrations. "The Working Ten" of the King's Daughters. 114 pages. Floral Bookmarks—a package of four.

SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS EACH.

"The Light of the World;" "The Heavenly Way;" two elegantly illustrated, large booklets with a text and hymn for a month—a daily companion. "Faith," from the Epistles to the Hebrews—elegant illustrations.

CHOICE CHRISTMAS CARDS.

No.		Cts. each.
1—40 styles, size 2½ by 1¾ inches		1
2—12	" " 3 by 2½ inches	2
3—32	" " 4¾ by 3½ inches	4
4—29	" " 4½ by 3½ inches	4
5—8	" " 4¾ by 3¾ inches	6
6—11	" " 4½ by 4¼ inches	7
7—11	" " 5⅝ by 4¼ inches	8
8—14	" " 6¾ by 4½ inches	12
9—4	" " 7½ by 5½ inches	25
10—3	" " 6 by 4 inches	10
11—9	" " 6½ by 4¼ inches	15

Calendars for 1892, with Scripture Texts. Nice ones for 25 cents; better ones for 50 cents and $1 each.

Send for Catalogue of Scripture or Day-School Reward Cards.

Sunday-School Class Books and Records, Library Books, Hymn Books.

Write for anything you need in religious reading or work to

E. S. UPTON,
94 Camp Street, New Orleans.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus:

JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, LONDON, ENGLAND.

MARRIAGES.

HARDT—HOHNSTEIN.—At the residence of Mr. Haas, in Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 25, 1891, by Rev. W. B. Lewis, Mr. Harry Hardt and Miss Annie Hohnstein, both of Vicksburg, Miss.

SCALFE—GRIFFIN.—At the residence of Mr. C. H. Griffin, M. D., Ruston, La., Nov. 17, 1891, by Rev. J. D. Harper, Mr. Wm. I. Scalfe, M. D., of Homer, La., to Miss Blondel, daughter of Dr. Griffin.

CRUMP—BROCK.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. W. D. Brock, Nov. 26, 1891, by Rev. D. C. Foust, Mr. Walter Crump, of Carrollton, Miss., to Miss Corinne Brock, of Brock, Miss.

SMITH—AUGUSTUS.—At the Methodist Church, Macon, Miss., Nov. 18, 1891, at 8 P. M., by Rev. N. G. Augustus, Miss Shodie Augustus to Mr. J. T. Smith.

REID—NEWTON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Bastrop, La., Nov. 22, 1891, by Rev. H. Armstrong, Prof. Geo. A. Reid, of Geneva, Ohio, and Miss Pauline Newton.

CARTER—HINSON.—At the Methodist Church, Black Hawk, Nov. 24, 1891, by Rev. B. F. Phillips, Mr. M. F. Carter to Miss Floy T. Hinson, daughter of Mr. T. F. C. Hinson, all of Carroll county, Miss.

LORD—ENOS.—In McComb City, Oct. 15, 1891, by Rev. J. W. Ellison, Mr. Grant Lord and Miss Kate Enos.

JOHNSON—BLACK.—In McComb City, Nov. 26, 1891, by Rev. J. W. Ellison, Mr. Oscar Johnson and Miss Lola Black.

WILLIAMS—DAVIS.—In Pipkin Chapel, near Zachary, La., Nov. 22, 1891, by Rev. C. McDonald, Mr. H. E. Williams to Miss Kate F. Davis.

KIRKWOOD—HUNT.—In the Methodist Church, Zachary, La., Nov. 26, 1891, by Rev. C. McDonald, Mr. David Kirkwood to Miss Amanda Hunt.

WEBB—WORTHINGTON.—In the Methodist Church, Greenville, Miss., Nov. 25, 1891, by Rev. T. W. Lewis, assisted by Rev. R. M. Standefer, Mr. J. G. Webb, of Memphis, Tenn., and Miss C. Worthington, daughter of Geo. P. Worthington, of Greenville, Miss.

WHITE—MIDDLETON.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Midway, Yazoo county, Miss., Nov. 18, 1891, by Rev. H. P. Lewis, Mr. Andrue White and Miss Fannie W. Middleton.

WALL—COOPER.—Near Batesville, Miss., Nov. 18, 1891, by Rev. Thos. Cameron, Mr. F. L. Wall, of Memphis, Tenn., to Miss Hettie Cooper.

ROBERSON—LOWRANCE.—Near Eureka Springs, Miss., Nov. 19, 1891, by Rev. Thos. Cameron, Mr. Geo. K. Roberson to Miss N. L. Lowrance.

DANTZLER—RISHER.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Jasper county, Miss., Oct. 1, 1891, by Rev. W. G. Backus, Dr. F. A. Dantzler and Miss Eugenia C. Risher.

BLACKWELL—SMITH.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Jasper county, Miss., Oct. 1, 1891, by Rev. W. G. Backus, Mr. M. G. Blackwell, of Hillsdale, Miss., and Miss Eva M. Smith, of Jasper county, Miss.

BUFKIN—EASTERLING.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Jasper county, Miss., Oct. 28, 1891, by Rev. W. G. Backus, Mr. J. A. Bufkin and Mrs. M. J. Easterling.

DAUGHTREY—LIGHTSEY.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Jasper county, Miss., Nov. 26, 1891, by Rev. W. G. Backus, Mr. James Daughtrey, of Covington county, Miss., and Miss Anule Lightsey, of Jasper county, Miss.

GEORGE—CLEMENT.—At the residence of Col. Travers, Meridian, Miss., Nov. 12, 1891, by Rev. W. G. Backus, Mr. Eugene B. George and Miss Annie B. Clement, both of Hattiesburg, Miss.

OBITUARIES.

LYON—ANN S. LYON, the daughter of William and Sarah McKinley, was born in Mecklenburg county, N. C., Feb. 22, 1811; was married to W. H. Lyon, Sept. 10, 1835, in Putnam county, Ga., by Rev. William Arnold, P. E., and died in Holmes county, Miss., Nov. 12, 1891.

She was a consistent and exemplary member of the church for more than sixty years. Truly, indeed, a mother in Israel hath fallen—nay, verily, hath risen. Her death was like the setting of the glorious sun on a cloudless day, as it floods the tree-tops and hill-tops with its soft and mellow light; and as the rays of light linger behind the departing sun, as it is rising with all of its brilliancy on the other side of the globe, just so will the rays of spiritual light be reflected back from her pure heart and sinless life, constraining many to glorify our heavenly Father.

She was taken sick Feb. 23, last, from which she never recovered; and although she suffered a great deal, when asked if she was suffering, would answer, "Not any worth complaining of." She was conscious to the last, and passed away as quietly as a babe would fall asleep in its mother's arms. Anticipating her death, she declared her trust in God and readiness to depart and be with Christ. She was ready for either world. True and loyal to the church militant, she was ready for the church triumphant. Contemplating her life and death, I can but exclaim in the words of the prophet, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his."

She leaves a companion behind in his eighty-third year, some children and numerous grandchildren to mourn her loss. Dr. W. H. Lyon has been a local preacher in our church for a number of years. May God comfort him and be with him in this hour of affliction! is my prayer. Amen! C. W. PERKINS.

JONES—Sister ELIZABETH JONES died Sept. 13, 1891, at the home of her son-in-law, Bro. A. Noson, in St. Helena parish, in about her eighty-first year. She was born in Kentucky, and moved with her parents (McFalls) to the Choctaw Nation in Mississippi; was married to Alfred Jones, in Rankin county, Miss., in 1827; was converted and joined the Methodist Church before her marriage, and remained a faithful member all the balance of her life. She was the mother of ten children, three of whom died with that chivalrous host that were the gray.

When she kept house her home was always a preacher's home, and after her children were dead or married and her husband dead, and she lived with her daughter, she made us love her for her Christian sweetness.

After having been a child of God for sixty years, she was, on the sixth of last August, stricken with paralysis, and lingered forty days when God said: "It is enough: come home." We visited her while she lay there, and she put the only arm she could raise around our neck, and said: "I'll soon be with Jesus." And when again we went, and sat beside her, and sang: "I feel like I'm on my journey home," she raised the well hand and slapping it in the other one, already motionless, she said, "Hallelujah," as she used to shout it. What a triumph over death! May our end be as full of glorious hope!

A white-haired brother said: "I miss Grandma Jones at church;" but she has joined the triumphant church and met a host of long-lost friends, and, knowing she is so happy, we can but say, through our tears, "Blessed be the name of the Lord!" H. B. TREVILION.

JOHNSON—Bro. W. C. and Sister Liddie J. Johnson are the father and mother of a large family of children. Their piety, devotion and usefulness in the church have been well known by the preachers in charge of Winona circuit for several years past, and they, doubtless, in reading this imperfect sketch, will breathe a silent prayer of sympathy.

It was in the hot month of August that the entire family was stricken down of the typhoid—a slow type of fever—so that none were left able to minister comfort to the other, twelve in all. This very unusual and sad affliction furnished the occasion for the display of human and Christian kindness and sympathy, which was liberal and untiring for a painful siege. It is gratifying to know that these kindly expressions were not confined to the neighborhood, where the afflicted family resided, but they extended largely over the circuit. It is due that we mention in this connection the fact that Dr. Taylor, their physician, was untiring in his attentions, while he had no expectation of one dollar for his services. But after all the watch and care that it was possible to give, the fell destroyer claimed of this noble Christian family as his five of the precious children. We begin with the eldest:

MISS EMMA P. JOHNSON was born Dec. 17, 1872, and died September, 1891. In her life we had a beautiful expression of Christian fidelity. She was not forgetful of the fact that God had constant demands upon her, and to meet these she was always striving. She strove not in her own strength, but in the strength which God giveth through prayer, a duty which she did not neglect. Those of her friends and associates who have good hope through Christ may well expect to meet Miss Emma "in the sweet by-and-by."

MISS MAGGIE A. JOHNSON was born Oct. 26, 1874, and met the last enemy on Sept. 10, and won the victory. The victories of the cross found happy expression in her short and beautiful life. She was properly devotional, and obedient to her parents, and was a flower of beauty, full of the fragrance of kindness.

Emma and Maggie vie with each other now in anthems of praise to him that washed them in his blood.

MAY E. JOHNSON was born June 22, 1882, and fell on sleep Oct. 1. Long and painful was her sickness; but with the sweetness of patience she bore her sickness until released by death to join the others in the land of the blessed.

REBECCA S. JOHNSON was born June 13, 1884, and died Oct. 2, 1891. Thus she joined the four that preceded her a few days to make music with the angels.

HENRY S. JOHNSON was born Oct. 30, 1885, and died Sept. 6, 1891. A charming little fellow in the home below has gone to the home on high, to beckon papa and mama and the six remaining ones upward. R. A. ELLIS.
Winona, Miss.

WILKINSON—Miss ITAY J. WILKINSON, youngest daughter of Winston and Louisa J. Wilkinson, was born in Amite county, Miss., Dec. 19, 1871, and died at her mother's, in Gloster, Miss., Sept. 5, 1891.

Miss Itay was a sweet-spirited girl, obedient to her parents and teachers, kind and affectionate to all, and thus she was loved and respected by all. Raised by a devoted Christian mother, she joined the Methodist Church, under the ministry of Rev. J. A. Godfrey, when only four years of age, and from the time of her uniting with the church until her death she was ever faithful and true to her vows and obligations. The precise time of her conversion is not known, but when she was quite a child. She loved the church, and was ever ready to do whatever her hands found to do in the Master's vineyard and to speak a work for Jesus.

In 1889 she entered school at Columbus, Miss., where she expected to graduate next June; but while at home during vacation she was taken sick with typhoid fever, but it was thought to be a mild form, and no danger was apprehended until the ninth day, when it was seen that she was rapidly sinking, and on the morning of the tenth day she quietly passed over the river to meet father, brother and sisters, who had preceded her to the glory-land. Thus passed from our midst an affectionate daughter, a loving sister and a devoted, young Christian. But death had no terrors to her, for she had made the necessary preparation for the transit, and when the summons came it found her ready. She was an active, faithful worker in the Y. W. C. A. W. W. SIMMONS.

SPENCE—JAS. W. SPENCE, son of Archibald and Mary Ann Spence, was born near DeKalb, Kemper county, Miss., April 30, 1851, and died near Mt. Nebo, Miss., Aug. 30, 1891.

Bro. Spence came to his death from a wound received while working in a saw-mill. Being wholly unconscious of his condition after the fatal stroke, Bro. Spence said nothing of his hopes of heaven, but, having lived a consistent life in the church and having all the marks of a true Christian, we are sure he is at rest. No one was more universally loved and respected than Bro. Spence. In the death of Bro. Spence the church loses a true and faithful member, the community a useful man.

He leaves a wife and eight children to mourn his death. May the good Lord help the mother and children to so live that they may meet the departed husband and father in that beautiful home, where there will be no more death!
R. A. BRELAND, P. C.

ACME BLACKING is cheaper at 20 cents a bottle than any other Dressing at 5 cents.

A LITTLE GOES A LONG WAYS

because shoes once blackened with it can be kept clean by washing them with water. People in moderate circumstances find it profitable to buy it at 20c. a bottle, because what they spend for Blacking they save in shoe leather.

It is the cheapest blacking considering its quality, and yet we want to sell it cheaper if it can be done. We will pay for a recipe that will enable us to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. This offer is open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

$10,000 Reward

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

Old furniture painted with

PIK-RON

(this is the name of the paint), looks like stained and varnished new furniture. One coat will do it. A child can apply it. You can change a pine to a walnut, or a cherry to mahogany; there is no limit to your fancies. All retailers sell it.

Lady Canvassers Wanted

TO SELL OUR NEW

Haut-ton Waists and Duplex Corsets.

Exclusive Territory Given.

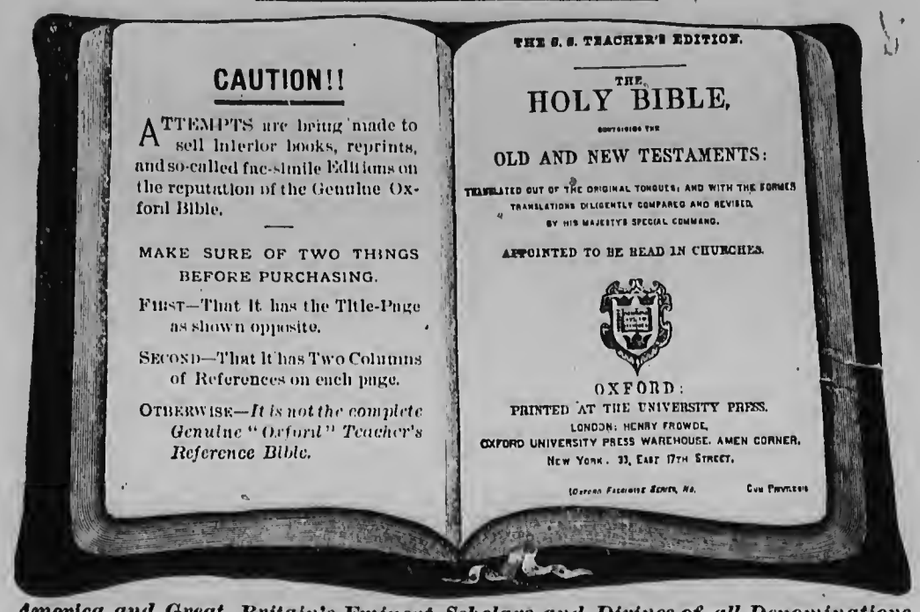
Address Bortree M'f'g Co., JACKSON, MICH.

THE GENUINE "OXFORD" TEACHER'S BIBLE.

A Whole Library of Scriptural Knowledge in a Small Compass.

THE STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE IN PRINTING, PAPER, AND BINDING.

The Most Complete Helps.



America and Great Britain's Eminent Scholars and Divines of all Denominations pronounce the Genuine Oxford Bible

THE BEST AND MOST COMPLETE BIBLE PUBLISHED.

The Right Hon. Wm. E. GLADSTONE says: "These admirable Bibles must tend to extend the fame even of the Oxford Press."

Rev. C. H. SPURGEON: "The very best. I have carefully examined the volume, and can unreservedly recommend it."

Rev. T. De WITT TALMAGE, D.D., October, 1890: "During my recent journeying in Palestine, I found the 'Oxford' Teacher's Bible helpful, accurate, and indispensable."

Rev. J. M. BUCKLEY, D.D., Editor Christian Advocate, October, 1890: "This is the most complete work for its purpose within our knowledge. * * * It is our constant companion when absent from home a library in itself."

Rev. Dr. William P. STOWE, Chicago, October, 1890: "I am frank to say that for clearness of type, for valuable helps and elegant and substantial bindings, the 'Oxford' Teachers' Bible has no superior in the market."

Over One Hundred Styles on Rag Made and the FAMOUS "OXFORD INDIA PAPER," from $1 25 to $20.

ASK FOR THE GENUINE "OXFORD" EDITION.

FOR SALE BY ALL BOOK-SELLERS.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS,

"Oxford" Bible Warehouse, 37 East 17th Street (Union Square), New York.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the Large and Spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All Its Branches, and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director,

169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

BOOK-KEEPING. Thorough, Practical Instruction. Graduates assisted to positions. Catalogue free. Write to BRYANT & STRATTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, LOUISVILLE, KY.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and

Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware, Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cages, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Rags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS: E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

Watches, Diamonds,

FINE JEWELRY!

Silver and Silver-Plated Ware,

SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

(Established 1817)

119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF

PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.,

Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,

NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. H. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

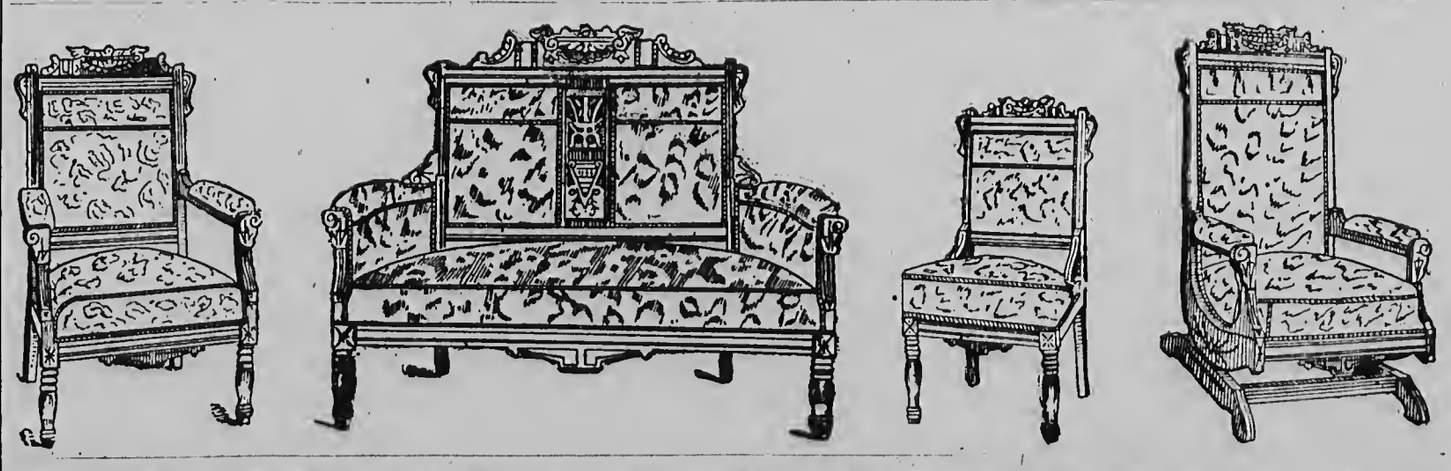
FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge. Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward.

The Great Church LIGHT.

FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:—one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs. Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $40 up to $1000. Dining room suits, eight pieces, from $17 upwards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 upwards. Quality at top—prices at bottom. I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded.

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30 | J. G. GRANT, | CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30

The Official Report of Gen. Hurst, Ohio Food Commissioner, shows ROYAL the purest Baking Powder.

Every other Baking Powder tested contained impurities — from 10.18 per cent. to 86.23 per cent. of their entire weight.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Yale University received $343,934 in gifts during the past year.

Rt.-Rev. J. N. Galleher, the Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Louisiana, died in this city on Dec. 8.

At a caucus of Democratic representatives in Washington, D. C., on Dec. 7, Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, was elected speaker of the House, on the thirtieth ballot.

All the preliminaries have been arranged for the organization of a stock company for the purpose of establishing a line of iron steamers for passenger traffic between Pittsburg and New Orleans.

At a meeting of the women interested in the founding of a home for incurables in this city, on Dec. 5, the location was selected. It was decided to go into permanent organization, and a Board of Managers was elected.

The Mikado of Japan has made a proposition to the management of the World's Fair to erect a permanent building on the grounds, surround it with a typical Japanese garden, and then make the city of Chicago a present of the building and gardens. The Mikado is willing to spend $100,000 on it if the World's Fair Board gives him the site he wants.

Suffering from cold is imminent in Nebraska and Western Iowa as a result of the grain blockade. The cold weather has caught all the railroad companies loaded down with more grain than they can handle, and as a result, though mines are putting out much more coal than usual, the people of that section are likely to suffer severely before they can possibly get fuel.

The first attempt in the history of this country to afford relief to the famine stricken peasantry of Russia has originated in Minneapolis. The scheme is to send a shipload of flour to Russia by the middle of next January, and 5,000 merchant millers of America are to be asked to help. The cargo will be 3,000 tons, or 30,000 to 50,000 barrels, worth $100,000 to $120,000.

A north-bound passenger train on the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas railway left the track near Evansville, Miss., on Dec. 5, ran along the ties for 150 feet and on to a trestle over a bayou. This gave way, and the train, consisting of two day coaches, one Pullman sleeper and two baggage cars, was precipitated thirty feet into the bayou, which was partly filled with water. Sixteen persons were injured, a number of them quite seriously.

The Childs' Prohibition bill passed the House of Representatives in South Carolina by a vote of 41 to 32, despite vigorous efforts of antis to stave off the discussion and cut out the effective features. A vigorous pressure against the bill is expected in the Senate. A provision is made that no person shall manufacture, sell, give away, barter or dispense intoxicating liquors except one licensed druggist to every 2,000 inhabitants, who is to be licensed by the county commissioners to dispense it for medical, scientific and sacramental purposes only.

Russell Sage, of New York, the millionaire broker, narrowly escaped death on Dec. 4 his office and the entire Emptre Building, in which it was, being shaken to its very foundation by the explosion of a dynamite bomb, hurled by a madman. The man made a demand for the immediate payment of $1,200,000, and on being refused threw the bomb. The bomb-thrower was instantly killed, as was also a clerk in the office. Two others were seriously injured, and will probably die. Mr. Sage and three others sustained injuries.

FOREIGN.

Dom Pedro, late Emperor of Brazil, died in Paris on Dec. 4.

The national bank at Buenos Ayres has been opened with a capital of $8,000,000 in gold.

As a result of the printers' strike many establishments in South Germany are employing women compositors.

Influenza is epidemical in Cornwall, the county forming the southwest extremity of England, and hundreds of inhabitants are prostrated with the disease.

The Royal Labor Commission in London has decided it to be desirable that two women be appointed subcommissioners to be assigned to the duty of inquiring into the subject of woman's labor.

The French government's overtures to the powers for joint diplomatic action at Pekin, accompanied by a naval demonstration at the treaty ports, have met with a distinct rebuff from the English and German governments.

A census of the vessels comprising the Russian navy has been issued. It shows that the naval forces of the Czar consist of 36 vessels of the first rate, 48 of the second rate, 88 of the third rate and 20 of the fourth rate, a total of 192 vessels of all kinds. The census also shows that the navy is manned by 30,600 seamen and marines.

It is said that the news of Dom Pedro's death was received with sincere grief by the Brazilians, but, while all unite in regret for the former Emperor, there is a deep and strong determination that the empire should never be revived.

The members of the French Superior Council of War have had a conference with the commanders of the various army corps to consider the proposal to reduce the term of army service. They decided against applying the system of two years' service in the French army.

The Standard's Berlin correspondent says that it is stated that Queen Victoria has been invited to attend the golden wedding of the King and Queen of Denmark, and that the invitations to attend the wedding have already been accepted by Emperor William, the Prince of Wales, Emperor and Empress of Russia.

The Cause of Rheumatism.

An acid which exists in sour milk and cider, called lactic acid, is believed by physicians to be the cause of rheumatism. Accumulating in the blood, it attacks the fibrous tissues in the joints, and causes agonizing pains. What is needed is a remedy to neutralize the acid, and to so invigorate the kidneys and liver that all waste will be carried off. Hood's Sarsaparilla is heartily recommended by many whom it has cured of rheumatism. It possesses just the desired qualities, and so thoroughly purifies the blood as to prevent occurrence of rheumatic attacks. We suggest a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla by all who suffer from rheumatism.

The McCarthyite section of the Irish parliamentary party have decided to take decisive steps to secure the Irish funds at present in the hands of Mr. Munroe, the Paris banker. Mr. Justin McCarthy and Mr. Timothy Healy have now commenced an action against Mr. Munroe to decide the ownership of the funds and to compel him to restore the money to those who are entitled to the possession of it.

Old fancies die hard. There, for instance, is the phenomenon of the Will o' the Wisp or "Jack with a Lantern," as the Ignis fatuus is called. Many is the simple minded one who has been terrified by this phosphuretted hydrogen gas rising from stagnant waters and marshy ground.

Similarly there are Will o' the Wisps in Medicine and many an Ignis fatuus of theory and prejudice, and this, that or the other school is blindly followed and allowed to influence the too easily affected mind.

The fancy that nature does not provide adequate remedy for hair that has lost its color, is negatived by the success of the Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer in all such cases. It has been used by ladies in every city in the Union and has never failed to do all that has been claimed for it. The circulation of the scalp is at once stimulated and the powers of growth restored. It gives tone to the secretions of the scalp and aids nature to recover the arrested functions. It costs but one dollar a bottle and no woman or girl should be without it. Mansfield Drug Co., Proprietors, Memphis, Tenn.

The enthusiastic reception of Prince Bismarck in Ratzeburg last week, and the ovation given the ex-chancellor by the local government council, attest his still great popularity. The demonstrations of popular favor with which the prince is everywhere received on making his appearance has naturally revived the discussion regarding his retirement from political life.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer has restored gray hair to its original color and prevented baldness in thousands of cases. It will do so to you.

The Reichstag has been discussing the government bill providing that the immunities enjoyed by the members of that body from arrest or imprisonment shall be suspended when an adjournment of the Reichstag exceeds thirty days.

For Christmas and New Year.

"The Mississippi Valley Route" (L., N. O. and T. railway) will on Dec. 23, 24, 25 and 31 and Jan. 1 sell Excursion Tickets between all stations at the rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. Tickets good to return until Jan. 5.

La Grippe Once More.

Marsden's Pectoral Balm is an unfailing cure for this dread disease. Begin using the Balm immediately upon discovering the presence of the disease. It never fails to cure it.

We will mail free, on receipt of two cents in stamps, a sample box of Dr. Davis' Liver Pills. They will cure costiveness, biliousness, dyspepsia, indigestion, piles, and all disorders that arise from a diseased liver and impure blood.

JOHN H. COLLINS & CO.,
208 Market st., Phila., Pa.

For sale by all druggists at 25c. per box.

MISSISSIPPI ITEMS.

The new depot at Hattiesburg will be begun on the fourteenth.

The Michigan Press Association will visit Pass Christian in January.

The I. C. R. R. Co. has about completed a new station-house at Montgomery.

R. H. Henry has purchased the plant of the Mississippian newspaper. With this material and some new ordered, which is now on the road, he will, in a few days, commence the publication of the State Ledger, daily and weekly.

The Board of Trustees of the University of Mississippi met in Jackson, Dec. 3, in the executive office to supply the places made vacant in the faculty by the resignation of Chancellor Edward Mayes, who is also the professor of law.

Capt. J. S. McNeilly has sold the Greenville Times to the superintendent of the Greenville schools, Prof. Bass, and W. H. Buchanan, foreman of the Times, who, under the firm name of Bass & Buchanan, will continue its publication.

A cyclone struck Lawrence station, a small town on the Alabama and Vicksburg railroad, Sunday evening, and blew down the Methodist Church. Also the house of Mr. Davis, killing his little girl and injuring Mrs. Davis. Other houses were blown down, and seriously injured ten or fifteen persons.

December 3 being the close of the fiscal year for the penitentiary, the Board of Control made final statements for the year. Their settlements for the last three years, and since resumption of control of the penitentiary by the State, shows that it can be conducted so as to bring a fair remunerative revenue to the State.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

LOUISIANA NOTES.

A Baptist parsonage has been purchased in Farmerville for $1 000.

The saw mill of the Mount Hope Lumber Co., of Lake Charles, was destroyed by fire Dec. 4. Loss, $18 000.

The steam gin of Elijah Cox, who lives four miles south of Robeline, was recently destroyed by fire, together with several bales of cotton and a quantity of seed. Loss, $1,500; no insurance.

The gin on Laciede Plantation, near Tallulah, Madison parish, with 70 bales of cotton and 2.000 sacks of seed, burned recently. Friction in the gin stand did the work. Loss, $8,000; insurance, $2,500. The property belonged to J. T. McClelland.

Immigration statistics for the month of November, as furnished by Commissioner Armant, are as follows:

Total number immigrants 966—719 males, 247 females; 255 were 15 years and under, 544 between 15 and 40, and 167 over 40 years old.

There were 50 people who brought over $100 with them, 360 who brought less than $100, the average per capita being $32 78.

Nationalities: Irish, 1; English, 29; Scotch, 5; French, 9; German, 6; Russian, 3; Swedish, 4; Norwegian, 1; Belgian, 1; Italian, 862; Spanish, 4; Hungarian, 1; Austrian, 2; Turks, 5; Greek, 2; other countries, 31; total, 966.

Five hundred and ninety could neither read nor write. One immigrant was returned to his country, being a pauper, and six were permitted to land on bail.

Fifty steamers brought the above immigrants here.

"You've frozen your ears," is a common remark. Bathe in Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

If we put off repentance another day, we have a day more to repent of, and a day less to repent in.—W. Mason.

Be Considerate.

Don't worry your friends and family with that worn and faded appearance. Get a bottle of Creole Female Tonic. It will change your pallid cheeks to the rosy hue of health.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5¾	— —
Ordinary	6 5-16	— —
Good ordinary	6¾	— —
Low middling	7¼	— —
Middling	7 7-16	— —
Good middling	7 11-16	— —
Middling fair	8 5-16	— —
Fair	9 9-16	— —
Galveston middling	7⅜	— —
Mobile middling	7 5-16	— —
Memphis middling	7 9-16	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	3 11-16
Fully fair	2½	2 9-16
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	2¼	2⅜
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	2¼	3 5-16
Prime yellow	3⅜	3 7-16
Gray white	3⅜	3½
Choice white	3¾	— —
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	32	33
Fair	22	24
Good common	20	21
SYRUP	24	28
RICE.
No. 2	— —	2¼
Good	4½	4⅝
Fair	4⅛	4⅜
Prime	— —	— —
Rough, ₩ bbl	2 00	4 10
Polish, ₩ ton	22 00	24 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	4 69	4 70
Fancy	— —	4 20
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	— —	—
Winter wheat pateuts	— —	4 90
Minnesota bakers	— —	— —
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	2 80	2 40
Cream meal	2 80	— —
Grits	2 90	— —
Hominy	3 50	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	57	58
Yellow	59	60
Mixed No. 2	57	58
OATS:
Western	44	— —
Texas rust-proof	48	49
BRAN:
₩ cwt	1 00	1 02½
HAY:
Prime	16 50	17 50
Choice	18 00	19 00
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	10 00	10 25
Prime Mess	9 75	10 00
Rumps	9 00	9 25
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	9	10½
Shoulders	— —	— —
Sides, short rib	7⅜	7¾
Sides, long clear	— —	7⅜
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10	10½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	4½	4⅝
Sides, short rib	6⅜	6½
Sides, long clear	6⅜	6½
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	17¾	— —
Fair	17	— —
Common	14	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Ile-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	30	31
Western Dairy	25	25
Common	12	18
LARD:
Refined	— —	5⅝
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7¾	— —
Coal, cases	18½	14
Cotton seed, crude	24	25
Lard, Extra No. 1	50	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ head	6	10
Chicago, ₩ 100	2 00	7 00
Louisiana, ₩ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 50	1 80
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 75	3 00
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb, ₩ yard	7	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb, ₩ yard	6¼	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	7½	8⅛
TIES:
₩ bundle	1 25	— —
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	5 00	5 50
Young Chickens	2 50	4 00
Chickens, Southern	3 00	3 50
Young	2 00	2 75
Turkeys, Southern	10 00	11 00
EGGS:
Western	24	— —
Southern	25	26
WOOL:
Lake ₩ lb	21	21½
Louisiana	17	19
Burry	10	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	2½	— —
Dry salted	5	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	10 00	— —
Meal	24 50	— —
Pure ground bone	30 00	32 00
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	2¾
Sulphuric acid	— —	2½

—New Delta, Dec. 8.

What are you using for your cold? Try Johnson's Anodyne Liniment; it's wonderful.

When you rise in the morning, form a resolution to make the day a happy one to a fellow creature.—Sidney Smith.

HUMORS of the BLOOD & SKIN Cured by Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE BLOOD, SKIN, AND SCALP whether itching, burning, bleeding, scaly crusted, pimply, blotchy, or copper-colored, with loss of hair, either simple, scrofulous, hereditary, or contagious, are speedily, permanently, economically, and infallibly cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great Skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Purifier and Beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the only infallible blood and skin purifiers, and daily effect more great cures of blood and skin diseases than all other remedies combined.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Blood and Skin Diseases."

Pimples, blackheads, chapped and oily skin prevented by CUTICURA SOAP.

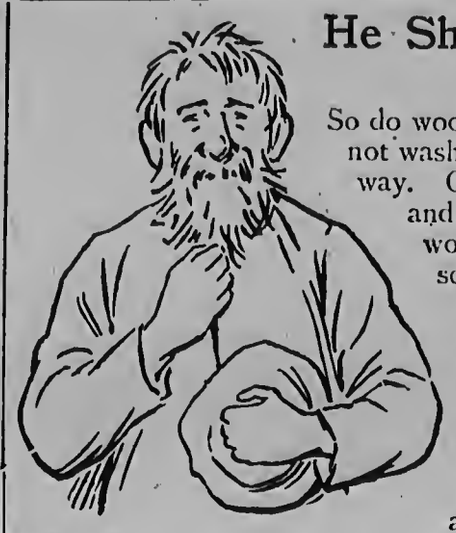
Backache, kidney pains, weakness, and rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

KNABE PIANOS.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.



He Shrinks from Washing

So do woolens and flannels, if they're not washed properly. Try the right way. Get a package of Pearline, and do as directed. Your things won't shrink, and they'll be softer, brighter, and better, than ever before. That's the beauty of Pearline—washing is not only easier, but better and safer. Things that you wouldn't dare to trust to the wear and tear of the washboard are washed perfectly with Pearline. You save work, wear, time and money with it, but you can't do any harm.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 313 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"Music hath charms."

Look at the Result of Purchasing a

-=PIANO=-

MATHUSHEK, WEBER, JAMES & HOLMSTROM PIANOS.

RVERS & POND, CHASE, LINDEMAN PIANOS.

OF Philip Werlein

Pianos, Organs, Music, Musical Instruments

No. 135 New Orleans, La. CANAL ST.

THE BEST COMPANY

Is the company which does the most good; and the company which does the most good is that which issues and maintains the largest amount of assurance.

	Am't of Assurance issued during 1890.	Assurance in force Dec. 31, 1890.
EQUITABLE -	$203 826,107	$720,662.473
MUTUAL - -	161,365,921	638 041 180
NEW YORK - -	159,576,065	569,338.726
PENN MUTUAL - -	20 663 272	90 278.701
MANHATTAN -	12,962,401	54.500.754

THE BEST COMPANY MUST ALSO BE THE SAFEST COMPANY.

	Surplus.	Ratio of Assets to Liabilities.
EQUITABLE -	$23 740 447	125
MUTUAL - -	9 981.233	107
NEW YORK - -	14 898 451	114⅓
PENN MUTUAL - -	1,634 452	110
MANHATTAN -	1,036,632	109

The above companies are from nine to eighteen years older than the Equitable.

Write to the undersigned before insuring your life.

R. P. LAKE, General Agent, Jackson, Miss.

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.

SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel, Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices!! Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,

Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,

Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,

Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low.

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED, New Orleans, La.

NATURE'S CURE FOR ASTHMA FREE ON TRIAL.

The WONDERFUL KOLA PLANT (HIMALYA), discovered by African Explorers on the Congo River, West Africa, is NATURE'S SURE CURE for ASTHMA. No Pay until Cured, and Positive Cures Guaranteed. Importing Office, No. 1164 Broadway, New York. For Book and Large FREE Trial Case, sent by Mail, address, Central Office Kola Importing Co., No. 122 Vine Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Christian Observer and Medical Journal, April 9, 1890. The New York World and Philadelphia Press, May 18 and 19, 1890, also Kola Plant is a gift direct of God, to sufferers from Asthma, and Hirshberg will rest upon Stanley and associates, as explorers of the Dark Continent. It is an unfailing cure for Asthma. ☞ Remember, No Pay Until Cured.

MAGIC LANTERNS AND STEREOPTICONS

afford the best and cheapest means of object teaching for Colleges, Schools, and Sunday Schools. Our assortment of Views, illustrating ART, SCIENCE, HISTORY, be found as instructive or amusing. ☞ Church Entertainments, Public Exhibitions and Popular Illustrated Lectures a specialty. ☞ A very profitable business for a person with a small capital. We are the largest manufacturers and dealers, and ship to all parts of the world. If you wish to know how to order, how to conduct Parlor Entertainments for pleasure, or Public Exhibitions, etc., for MAKING MONEY, name this paper, and send for our 220 PAGE BOOK FREE.

PAY WELL.

McALLISTER, Mfg Optician, 49 Nassau Street, New York.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 51. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1843.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
Rev. B. F. LEWIS, Ass't Editor.
J. G. GRANT, Publisher.
Rev. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY.—Remittances should be made only by money orders, express company orders, registered letters, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or merchants. Drafts on country banks occasion a loss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

The World's W. C. T. U. and the Louisiana Lottery.

The following letter from Miss Frances E. Willard to Mrs. E. T. Merrick, of this city, with the accompanying memorial, speaks in no uncertain tones as to the position of the temperance women on the lottery question:

Mrs. Judge Merrick, President W. C. T. U. of Louisiana:

My Dear and Honored Friend: Enclosed I send you the memorial voted by the World's and National W. C. T. U., representing over half a million persons devoted to the cause of human betterment. We hope our united and earnest protest may have some influence, increasing by, at least, a little the immense cloud of witnesses whose antagonism towards the lottery system in your unhappy State will be a reserve force in the noble and tremendous fight you are now making for the purity and integrity of your government, your church, your homes and your loves. We pray God's blessing upon you in this heroic fight to shake off this galling yoke of bondage, unworthy of the nineteenth century, and sure to be destroyed by the dawn of the great and happy twentieth century, for which we are all consciously or unconsciously preparing. With earnest sympathy and the spirit of strong cooperation, believe me, as ever,

Yours in the love of God and humanity, FRANCES E. WILLARD.

To the Government of Louisiana, Municipal Authorities of the City of New Orleans, and all the People of the Pelican State—Greeting:

The World's and National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, in convention assembled in Faneuil Hall, Tremont Temple, Music Hall, Park Street and Bromfield Street Churches, Boston, Mass., from Nov. 10 to Nov. 18, 1891 (representing over half a million of earnest Christian women in all parts of the world, and most strongly entrenched of all in our own happy republic), send their earnest and devoted congratulations to all persons in your State who are now arrayed against the greatest curse that holds down the rising and historic commonwealth upon the great river and gulf; praying that, in the name of God and humanity, you may have the grace and strength, the purity and patriotism to register your names and ballots for the overthrowing of the Louisiana Lottery Company; purging yourselves clean from all complicity with a monopoly that destroys the distinction between right and wrong, truth and falsehood, mine and thine; that takes away the incentive to honest industry; makes men parasites rather than individuals; undermines the homes and churches, which are your surest safeguards of righteousness, and flings its jeers and taunts in the face of civilization, and its blasphemy at the very foot of God's white throne. We have no language to characterize our sense of the degradation which confronts you if this vile yoke should be fastened on your necks for another generation. We implore you, by the sacred memories of patriots in all ages, and of Christians who have risen to the occasion and fought the good fight, to "quit yourselves like men—be strong;" "behave yourselves valiantly for your people," and act upon that high and holy motto, born of the Golden Rule, that "an injury to one is the concern of all." Down with the lottery of Louisiana! In this faith we are,

Yours in the love of God and humanity, FRANCES E. WILLARD,
Pres. World's and National W. C. T. U.
CAROLINE B. BUELL,
Cor. Sec. National W. C. T. U.

North Mississippi Conference Reports.

The following reports were adopted by the North Mississippi Conference at its recent session in Macon, Miss.:

TEMPERANCE.

Bro. R. W. Jones, chairman of the Committee on Temperance, presented the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

No statistics in respect to intemperance, nor any other facts bearing upon it, have been presented in the reports of the ministers of this Conference, nor developed in the proceedings of this body, to add any special or peculiar emphasis to the doctrines of the church. In all our official assemblies, from the Church Conference to our highest judicatory—the General Conference—a clear, strong, unequivocal voice has been raised against "drunkenness and drinking spirituous liquors, unless in cases of necessity."

The life of every consistent Christian is a condemnation of the flagrant vice of drinking intoxicants as a beverage, and an endorsement of the healthfulness, cleanness and virtue of total abstinence.

No man who reads intelligently the Word of God, and regards its sacred authority, can look upon drunkenness as anything less than a destroying sin, expressly forbidden in his holy law; and no one who, at the altars of our church, has taken upon him her vows, can engage in the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors to be used as a beverage; and we furthermore declare our most solemn and positive conviction that no member of our church can, without violating the spirit of God's Word and the requirements of the Discipline of our church, sign a liquor petition, endorse the bond of a liquor dealer, rent property to be used in the liquor traffic, or do anything whereby this nefarious business is encouraged or promoted. The supreme law of love, as laid down in the Scriptures, most positively forbids the encouragement of the liquor traffic, for "love worketh no ill to his neighbor;" and the awful catalogue of sufferings, disasters and crimes tell us that intemperance is the most horrible evil that can be put upon him or his children. The unspeakable love of God to us calls for our most strenuous efforts to deliver our fellow-men from this monster destroyer.

No Christian man can rightfully remain silent or inactive. We must agitate the subject in every proper way. Intelligent agitation is the life of every great intellectual and moral movement, the life-blood of reform. If preachers should cease to preach, and teachers to teach, the doctrines and assert the claims of our holy religion even for a single year, where would the church be? Let us speak out and work courageously and prudently against the saloon as a crime against civilization; let us sow the seeds of temperance beside all waters, and raise a harvest of public opinion that shall demand and sustain wholesome laws for the suppression of this potent source of ruin; for the defense of our homes and the protection of our loved ones from the curse of strong drink. We have the assurance of God's help, and we can not fail if we measure up to our duty. We would not carry politics into our religion; but we would carry our religious convictions, sympathies and activities into our politics. We would not connect our work for Christian temperance with party politics; but we would, by all means nonpartisan, work to drive the saloon and the traffic from our State. We would hold to the "local option" law, and use it with all energy where it will serve the interests of humanity.

We would affectionately and strongly urge all our members to give their influence toward securing a statute by the Legislature forbidding the manufacture and sale, as a beverage, of intoxicating liquors in this State.

We offer the following in conclusion:

Resolved, We stand by the directions and requirements of our Discipline.

Resolved, We give our prayers, our sympathies, our earnest efforts to the prevalence of gospel temperance.

Resolved, We bid our noble women God-speed in their temperance work.

Resolved, That a committee be appointed by this Conference to memorialize the Legislature, at its approaching session, in favor of a statute prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage within the State.

The following committee was elected by the Conference on this matter: R. M. Standefer, W. T. J. Sullivan, J. D. Cameron, J. B. Streater, H. L. Fly, Rowan Thayer and R. W. Jones.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

Rev. T. C. Wier, as chairman of the Committee on Books and Periodicals, presented the following report:

The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, throughits publisher, Bro. J. G. Grant, makes a gratifying exhibit of its condition. It is prospering and doing well. Its finances are in a healthy condition. Its subscription lists are growing, and everything indicates a promising future.

The ADVOCATE is now forty years old. It reaches forty thousand readers weekly; is published at a commanding center, the city of New Orleans, where Protestant Christianity needs to make strong its bulwarks. It is the efficient organ of the North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Annual Conferences, and is a widely influential religious paper in the Southwest.

The present publisher, Bro. J. G. Grant, will retire from his position at the end of this year. He will retire with our good-will and thanks for his earnest and successful work in the conduct of the paper during the past three years. He will be succeeded by Rev. D. L. Mitchel, the present business manager. Bro. Mitchel, by his indefatigable and capable work, has contributed largely to the increasing prosperity of the paper. In the more responsible position of publisher we ask for him the hearty co-operation of all the preachers and members of the church throughout the bounds of our Conference.

The editor, Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., is chaste and scholarly in his editorials, and guards carefully correspondence and selected articles that make up the reading matter of the paper.

The recently elected editor, Rev. B. F. Lewis, comes into his position with the high commendation of his brethren, as a young man possessed of such culture and qualities as give promise of success. We are pleased to notice his presence with us during part of the present session. We lament that the editor-in-chief, Rev. Dr. Carter, has been prevented by sickness from attendance during the session. We will be pleased to welcome the editors and publisher whenever it shall suit their convenience or pleasure to visit our Conference in the interest of the ADVOCATE, and we promise co-operation. Can not every preacher in the Conference secure during the ensuing year, at least, ten new subscribers? By so doing we will largely extend the influence of our ADVOCATE for good.

The above report and the following resolution were unanimously adopted.

Resolved, We regard with pleasure the presence and labors of Rev. D. L. Mitchel in our midst in the interest of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

By resolution, Bros. W. T. J. Sullivan, T. C. Wier and J. D. Cameron were re-elected to represent this Conference in the Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

SABBATH.

The same Lord who originated the Sabbath, and declared it to be a holy day, vindicated his words by his own example. In six days he created the heaven and the earth, and rested on the seventh. On Sinai he reiterated his command, and engraved it with his own hand on a table of stone, to be a perpetual and universal obligation. The Lord Christ honored his Father's will, and, by his words and example, declared his approval of the sanctity of the day which his Father claimed as his own. The divine wisdom recognized the peculiar needs of the human race; and knowing that the same exigencies would reach to the utmost limits of time, has never abrogated the law, nor lessened the obligation to obey.

Man lives in a busy world. Breadwinning, the desire to accumulate and the demands of luxurious tastes tax all the resources of a body and soul. Physical nature must rest, or die. The soul must have the relaxation of worship, or lose its power to serve God. What God has ordered we dare not refuse to obey, nor attempt to modify. The Christian Sabbath is a great conservator of the moral status of our nation. It is a distinctive feature of our civilization, which we boast is the highest type of all civilizations. A due regard for all the claims of God's holy day is one of the guarantees of its preservation. New industries, increased demands of new lines of business, new modes of travel, fast mails, are threatening to secularize the Sabbath and render it no more sacred than other days.

Vast numbers of people are crowding into our country from foreign lands, who are the avowed foes of the Christian Sabbath. They are the patrons of the beer garden and the dance-house, and other dissipations that are a menace of all that is sacred; and the sanctity of the Sabbath is one of the main points of attack.

The Sunday newspaper takes the place of worship in the sanctuary. Barber shops, hotel lobbies and street corners are thronged with loungers. Our boys are being enticed by evil examples, and our girls are being influenced by the idea that it is a mere holiday. Our pulpits are, in a large measure, silent on this subject. We greatly need some sound preaching here. We do most earnestly insist that our pastors preach on this subject, and to avoid, on their own part, Sunday traveling and promiscuous visiting.

Your committee recommend the adoption of the following:

Whereas, The Columbian Exposition will be opened to the public in the city of Chicago in 1892; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we memorialize the managers of said exposition to respect the Christian conscience of the common country by closing its doors on the Sabbath day. T. Y. RAMSEY.

The Revival Meeting at Monroe.

The Inge Monroe meeting, which began on the third instant, is progressing finely, interest growing with every service. The very first effort was a splendid success. The people, returning home after the first service, which was a night service, commented on the preacher and his work; and, as heard by this writer, it was manifest the ear of the whole city would be his before the meeting closed. One old man said he had read the Bible much in life, and did believe he was a judge of gospel preaching, and knew a good man when he heard him, and was capable of judging a first-class sermon. He liked that man, and would come to hear him. This means his friends, too, will attend, and their friends. In this way the blessed contagion spreads and reaches all the people. Thursday the storm and rain came while the people were worshiping, and the rain fell and the wind blew, and one side of the tabernacle fell (the side exposed to the storm), the rain softening the earth so that the wind easily lifted the stakes. The guy ropes were not broken loose, however, or the whole tabernacle would have collapsed. As it was, not much damage was done; nobody was hurt, only the ladies a little scared. The ground was, however, so wet that it was thought best to remove to the Methodist Church for one day and night, which was heartily agreed to by all; but it was feared by one, at least, that this leaving the tabernacle would cause a break in the interest, and maybe cause a sad defeat. But that fear has long since vanished. Soon all the people heard of the work of the storm, and it seemed to cause a great stream of attention to flow in that direction. This stream deepened and widened into a large river. The Sunday morning service was a glorious one, and all will long remember it. Oh, that sermon! I wish I could tell you of it, and describe its blessed effect upon the congregation which listened so attentively and joyfully to the sweet message of love delivered with so much of God's power. The preacher started out by saying he was going to read a passage of the Holy Book that was the deep fountain whence flowed the broad river of love, on the calm bosom of which every child of the eternal Father of love might swim home to glory. Oh, it was a gracious time, a glorious thing to be there! The tender, loving mother may forget the darling, angelic babe at her breast; cast it, her own flesh and blood and bone, away from her, and suffer it to starve and freeze and die; but God never shall forget us. This thought was so charmingly presented that it took a vigorous hold upon the large audience, and they were lifted near to God. I do, indeed, pity and tremble for the individual whose heart was not reached that hour by that truly great sermon. I once knew a man, who is in heaven now (you, Mr. Editor, knew him), who would have said of the sermon: "That is the sort of preaching that does good. It brings God near the sinner, and bears the sinner near to his God, who is so full of love and rich in mercy." That is what we think about it ourselves. Incalculable good was accomplished by that hour of service. Strong men were bowed by it, hardened sinners reached, and all were made much better. In the afternoon fully as many were out as in the morning, to hear the assistant, Bro. Whitehurst, who preached encouragingly from the Savior's words: "Whosoever shall give a cup of cold water only, . . . he shall not lose his reward." It was a practical, stirring sermon, full of life and love. At night almost every seat in the large tabernacle was occupied. Bro. Inge preached from the text found in Genesis, "Naphtali is a hind let loose; he giveth goodly words." He said, before reading, they would think it was a curious text for a revival sermon; that he thought so, too—that is, the letter of the text was curious. We had no idea what he was going to do with it, because we had never been struck by the passage, and was not at all acquainted with its deep meaning. The value of the lesson taught, as presented by the preacher, may be best indicated by what followed. There were fully an hundred seekers at the after fifteen-minutes' meeting for their special benefit. The doors of the church were opened at the close of this little service, and quite a large number united with the various churches—Methodist, Presbyterian, and Baptist. We have not the precise figures, but will closely approximate: There were fully twenty accessions. The benediction was pronounced, and all went home rejoicing. It was a glorious Lord's day in the Parlor City. Such a day has never been known—at least, for many a long year—in the history of this booming North Louisiana city. This city has been on a boom, worldly speaking, for some eighteen months. But until now religion has been at a discount—it was rather stagnant; but we now feel God's cause is going to boom some, too. The revival wave has struck us, and will surely sweep over and submerge the entire city. This is the faith and prayer of all God's people. At first, or before the evangelist came, it was the common talk of all that nothing would be done, nothing could be done. Some of the brethren are crying down these flaming messengers of love; but now, more than ever before, I say, God speed them in their holy work! They are doing their own peculiar work.

J. E. RIDDLE.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. W. J. Porter, Farmerville, La., Dec. 7: "Last night closed the second year of my pastoral labors on the Farmerville circuit. Last year there were about thirty conversions, fifty accessions, two churches organized, a lot secured for, and $330 raised towards, the building of a parsonage. This year we have much to be thankful for. Forty have professed conversion, twenty professions of sanctification, and sixty accessions. One church organized under an oak, and a title secured to the land upon which the oak stands, and $200 promised toward the building of a Methodist Church thereon. Built a neat, comfortable parsonage, a barn and other necessary buildings requisite to the comfort and convenience of an itinerant; also a garden, yard and lots, neatly fenced. And while this property is only estimated at $1,200, it is classed as second to the best on our district. We have paid over two-thirds of the cost of our parsonage, and now call on our Church Extension Board to assist in removing the debt. Collections ordered by Conference considerably behind. For preacher in charge and presiding elder a little more than two-thirds of assessment paid. To God be all the glory."

Lord Dufferin has been appointed British ambassador to France, in the place of the late Lord Lytton.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

While we note with sorrow that the Central Mexican Mission Conference must hereafter be deprived of the efficient labors of Bro. J. M. Weems, who went out from us in January, 1889, yet we welcome him back among us. We trust Bro. Weems' health will rapidly improve in his native State.

The semi-centennial sermon, which Bro. B. Jones delivered before the Conference, Wednesday evening, contained many interesting and important facts connected with Mississippi Methodism. He has promised to let us have the manuscript, and as soon as the reports from our Conferences are all in, we hope to give our readers some of these facts.

The anniversary meeting of the Board of Church Extension of the Mississippi Conference was opened by religious services conducted by Rev. J. V. Penn. The report of the secretary showed that the receipts for the year amounted to $2,06t. Out of the $1,03l to be retained at home, applications had been made to the Board for $1,700. Dr. C. G. Andrews, the speaker of the occasion, made a strong appeal for this department of our church work, and stressed the importance of free-will offerings, and not through oyster suppers, etc. At the close of the discourse a collection was taken, amounting to about $100, to aid in building a church in Colorado.

Bishop Hendrix, in his address to the candidates for admission into the Conference, made some clear and strong points. He based his address upon Paul's letters to Timothy and Titus, emphasizing in a most forceful manner the injunction: "Let no man despise thee." He said there are four things which render a minister despicable: insincerity, arrested growth, indolence and worldliness. In stressing these points, and showing how they hampered the minister and impeded his progress, he was very strong. In speaking of ministerial vows, he said that a man could not get into the Methodist ministry without assuming them; and what shall be thought of him who, having assumed them to get in, lives in violation of them constantly? "He should repent or retire." That made some of us wince. The address was long; but it was a benefit to all, laymen and preachers, who heard it.

Mississippi Conference on the Lottery.

Report of the committee appointed to express the sentiments of the Mississippi Conference concerning the Louisiana Lottery:

Whereas, There exists in the State of Louisiana, part of whose territory lies within this Conference, a stupendous engine of evil known as the Louisiana Lottery; And, whereas, it is proposed to perpetuate the same for a quarter of a century longer by legal enactment; And, whereas, The people of said State are urged to do that iniquitous thing for a large pecuniary consideration; And, whereas, The evils growing out of said lottery are by no means confined to the State of Louisiana, but affect, more or less, every part of our country; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Mississippi Annual Conference assembled at Brookhaven, that we denounce the Louisiana Lottery as a parent of iniquity and a mother of sin; as a foul blot upon the Christian civilization of the nineteenth century; as "full of all subtlety and all mischief, a child of the devil and an enemy of all righteousness;" as a university of fraud and covetousness, by which all are taught to desire and some are helped to obtain the property of others without labor and without value returned.

Resolved, That we will continue to pray that God, by his powerful providence, shall signally bless and crown with success the efforts of the good people of Louisiana who are opposing the lottery, so that the noble State of Louisiana may never be enslaved to the rapacious monopoly which proposes to enrich her by the robbery of others.

Resolved, That we hope that, for the credit of her name, Louisiana will reject with scorn and forever repudiate the insulting proposition to purchase her honor and her liberty with money.

Resolved, That all the newspapers of Louisiana which oppose the lottery be requested to publish these resolutions.

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT,
C. D. CECIL,
J. W. HARMON.

The great battlefields of the world are in the hearts of men. The great struggles are within. A soul once committed to God and his cause finds in its fierce fights a field of glory, where grand victories may be won and peace be found.—H. W. Thomas.

BETWEEN THE GATES.

BY JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER.

Between the gates of birth and death
An old and saintly pilgrim passed,
With look of one who witnesseth
The long sought goal at last.

"O thou whose reverent feet have found
The Master's footprints in thy way,
And walked thereon as holy ground,
A boon of thee I pray.

"My lack would borrow thy excess,
My feeble faith the strength of thine.
I need thy soul's white saintliness
To hide the stains of mine.

"The grace and favor else denied
'May well be granted for thy sake.'"
So, tempted, doubting, sorely tried
A younger pilgrim spake.

"Thy prayer, my son, transcends my gift:
'No power is mine,' the sage replied,
'The burden of a soul to lift,
Or stain of sin to hide.

"However the outward life may seem,
For pardoning grace we all must pray:
No man his brother can redeem
Or a soul's ransom pay.

"Not always age is growth of good;
Its years have losses with their gain;
Against some evil youth withstood
Its hands may strive in vain.

"With deeper voice than any speech
Of mortal lips from man to man,
What earth's unwisdom can not teach
The spirit only can.

"Make thou that holy Guide thine own,
And, following where it leads the way,
The known shall lapse in the unknown
As twilight into day.

"The best of earth shall still remain,
And heaven's eternal years shall prove
That life and death, and joy and pain
Are ministers of Love."

Mexico.

MR. EDITOR: I take a few moments from pressing duties to give you some dots from Mexico. The past year has been one of the most successful in the history of our Central Mexican Mission. Our net gain in membership was 610—a little over thirty per cent. But the best of all was the manifest presence and power of the Holy Spirit with us during the entire session of the Conference. The oldest members say they have never witnessed anything like it in Mexico, and I am sure I never saw it excelled in any Conference in the States. I never saw our native preachers so hopeful, and determined to do their full duty in the fear of the Lord; and at the close there was a deep-felt conviction that next year would reveal yet greater results for the Master.

There were several changes made among our foreign workers. The sudden and, we fear, fatal failure of Bro. Kilgore's health made it necessary for Bishop Haygood to transfer Bro. Grimes to the Border Conference; and as I had not yet recovered from the severe illness of last Spring, neither the Bishop nor myself thought it prudent for me to undertake the work and exposure in this country another year; so I go back to Mississippi. Nothing but the strongest conviction of duty could have induced me to return, and I go home with more hope for the future of our church in Mexico than I ever had before, and shall do all I can to help those whom I have been forced to leave in the field; and if the Lord permits, they shall see, by my work in their behalf, that I love each one of them, and that I have confidence in them as men of God who will succeed. Bro. A. H. Sutherland was transferred to this Conference, and takes my place as presiding elder of the Mexico district. Our Mexican Bishop, A. G. Haygood, has captured us, and every man among us is ready to follow his lead, or to go anywhere in any part of the whole world he may ask us to go, without a question.

I wish to say to the good friends who have given money to use in the work in Mexico as we might think best, that I have turned over to the Bishop and Dr. John the whole amount, $479.13. I asked, and they consented, that it should go to the support of our female school in this city, which was ordered suspended for the lack of funds.

Please send the ADVOCATE to Rev. J. W. Grimes, San Luis Potosi, and Rev. J. D. Seoggins, Guadalajara, Estado de Jolisso, and I will pay you for it. Your brother, J. M. WEEMS.

Mexico, Dec. 4, 1891.

A Rare Event.

On the evening of Dec. 2, 1891, one of those interesting occasions known as a golden wedding transpired at Shubuta, Miss. This was a loving tribute to our brother and sister, Judge John M. Floyd and wife, by their children and grandchildren. The scene was brightened by the presence of nearly all their posterity who linger on this side the golden strand. A select company of old friends, the ministers and physicians of the town, with some few elsewhere, had been invited by beautifully designed gilded cards with the names and dates, past and present, artistically arranged.

Providentially favored with good weather, quite a company filled the reception hall. About half-past eight o'clock the pastor gave an address suited to the occasion. This was followed by prayer, and then came warm and loving congratulations amid the mingled smiles and tears of those who had so long and happily trod life's pathway side by side. From the large, stalwart first-born son down to the youngest baby granddaughter, each had a double, loving embrace. A rich repast was spread in the dining-room, and greatly enjoyed by all the company. To enumerate the various substantial and delicate viands would too greatly tax your columns and tantalize your readers. I forbear.

Many valuable golden gifts were bestowed on the re-consecrated pair in a becomingly quiet way. No ostentation for public comment, but, modestly, loved ones gave valuable tokens of their joy in the happy epoch.

The company was pleasantly entertained till eleven o'clock. During the evening our honored host gave to some of us near by a sketch of his bridal tour in 1841. It was from the border lands of North and South Carolina before the days of railroad and steamboat travel through the intervening country. It was accomplished in mid-winter, and occupied more than forty days of travel in a light two-horse wagon. In this were stored most of the goods and chattels of the young couple. East Mississippi was then the "Far West" to the Atlantic States. The record of that adventurous trip would read like a romance. Frozen and muddy roads, swollen creeks or rivers seldom bridged or ferried—these had to be swam and poled over in the most primitive and heroic style. Through it all the Lord brought his servant and hand maid, blessed them with a measure of prosperity, the fervent good-will of hosts of friends, the unbounded respect and devoted love of a numerous posterity; best of all, the comfort of God's grace. May these things continue to be and reach a perfect culmination in the gold paved city above! There may they and theirs rejoice together at the "marriage supper of the Lamb!"

J. P. DRAKE.

The Cross-Bearer's Missionary Reading Circle.

The Columbia Summer Assembly held its first meeting near Columbia, Mo., from Aug. 1 to Aug. 10, 1890.

At this meeting the eleven o'clock hour was devoted to missions, and out of the interest there created came the "Cross-Bearer's Missionary Reading Circle."

The organization of this movement gives expression to the long-felt and confessed need of greater intelligence upon missionary matters. Increase in liberality, an awakened conscience, a quicker pulse-beat of zeal and consecration will come only when the members of the churches are better informed on missionary operations.

Bishop Haygood says of the C. M. R. C.: "The plan is admirable. In this way you are doing missionary work, and you are beginning what has been needed among us—the reading era. God's blessings be with you and this very sensible and excellent work."

NEED OF A GREAT POPULAR SCHOOL FOR THE STUDY OF MISSIONS.

"Of one thing I feel sure: nothing could be better for rousing the spiritual life of a congregation, and leading it on to a higher life, than the cultivation of the spirit of missions. The progress of the kingdom of God in the world is a study well calculated to enlarge the mind and soul, and rescue torpid congregations from their self-satisfied ease. What a power for good would be our home millions of Christians, if really alive to their privilege and duty in helping forward the work of God in all lands."—A. M. Mackay, of Uganda.

The course of reading this year is as follows:

1. "Life of William Carey"	$ 75
2. "The Coming Kingdom," Rev. W. W. Wadsworth	1 00
3. "Life of James Hannington, Bishop of Eastern Equatorial Africa," Rev. E. C. Dawson, M. A	1 00
4. "The Great Value of Success of Foreign Missions," Rev. Jno. Liggins	75
5. "The Missionary Review," Funk & Wagnalls, per year	1 50
6. Initiation fee, per year	50

We want a good general agent for every State.

For further information address Prof. Chas. R. Forster, secretary, Fayette, Mo.

CHAS. R. FORSTER, Sec.,
Fayette, Mo.
(Rev.) M. L. GRAY, Pres.,
Salisbury, Mo.

Silent Influences.

BY WALTER H. BRADLEY.

Our lives are molded by silent influences. The epoch-making events of life do not determine its courage or its power. They may throw the stream into a new direction, but do not augment or diminish its forcefulness. The dyke thrown into the river may change the current and prevent its cutting here and force it to make a channel there; but the same volume of water flows with the same momentum, and its work will be done somewhere. Voltaire boasted that if he could direct the first five years of a child's life, he cared little who had the training of its future. These first few years are those in which influence is most quietly exerted. There is little effort made to bend the child's mind or will in a fixed direction. We think it too young to receive special instruction as to truth and right, gentleness, kindness, God and Christ and prayer. But the child even then, through the very pores of its skin, through a thousand ears and a thousand eyes, is receiving impressions which will go with it through all future years.

And even when we are older, it is not the startling events of life which most affect us, but the quiet influence of daily contact with the people about us. Public opinion in this or any country is not the opinion or theory of the statesmen of the land, but the impression made by these opinions on the mass of the citizens. Our opinions, tastes, likes and dislikes are determined far more than we think or care to acknowledge by the small events which affect the inner circle in which we move. Thus the temple of character is built. Every stone and timber, quarried, cut, hewn and inscribed amid mad turmoil without, but at length fitted and made a part of us in quiet restfulness and peace within. No sound of hammer or drumbeat is heard when new stones are fitted into human character.

And especially is this true in spiritual growth. God's great works in nature are carried on in silence. All noiselessly the planets move in their courses. "The music of the sphere" is a poetic fancy. "There is no speech nor language; their voice is not heard." The dewdrops form themselves in quiet peacefulness on the Summer grass, and the light of the morning breaks in softness over the quiet earth. There is no crying lo! here or lo! there before the rising sun. Its simple presence is its only announcement.

God's work in the soul is even more quiet and steady than his operation in external nature. God can change the heart without the spiritual and physical convulsions formerly deemed indispensable. Growth in spiritual power and fervor is as quiet as the growth of the grass on the green sward. We can not see it grow even with a microscope. Yet afterwards we can tell that it has grown. God's work in the human soul is not in the sound of the driving wind or the crackling fire or the rumbling earthquake, but in the still small voice of his Spirit. He it is that fashioneth the spiritual body as it doth please him.

There is still another sphere in which quiet growth is more productive than noise and bluster. And this is the realm of spiritual movements in external relations—in church work distinctively so-called. This is a truth which is sadly forgotten in these days. We have fallen upon an age of bustle and trumpet-blowing and advertising. It would seem as if many believed that they could take the world by storm. This is the age of new explosions in military science; many reckon themselves mighty forces against the strong hold of Satan—sensational evangelists, notorious theological quacks, men whose names are writ in water on the pages of religious history.

But the agencies that are doing the work are the quiet influences of quiet men and women. We are forgetting that the mightiest power in the world, next only to the Spirit of God himself, is the power of Christ-like character. It were well that some of the voices raised among us were less noisy and their deeds more pronounced. Better a star than a meteor; better a steady beacon than a marsh-fire, fitful, flickering and changeful. Life is more potent than words. By life, true and faithful, "without a word," results will be accomplished which could not be secured by the most glowing, eloquent words without the life.—Mid-Continent.

The Municipal and National Aspects of Church Work.

Mr. Percy W. Bunting, the editor of the Contemporary Review, who is also a hearty co-worker in the Wesleyan West London Mission, in his yearly report of the mission work, gave the following, which contains some thoughts well worth pondering:

It is, perhaps, not out of place to say something in this report of what the London Mission and other missions of similar character are doing, indirectly, in the broadening of the ideas and operations of the church. In olden times the nonconforming churches were small societies of godly persons who asked nothing of the public but permission to meet together for worship and edification, and to convert others to their belief and usages. They were in spirit essentially private societies; their work and their ideas were individualistic. To do good to the public was to do it by selecting this or that man out of the crowd, and directly making a Christian of him. Where the process succeeded, and a definite and hearty convert was made, so much was actually accomplished. This view of things is not false, but it is inadequate; and the process of reflection has brought out the fact that a large part—perhaps the largest part—of the work of a society of Christians—that is, of the Christian Church—is to operate upon the public as a whole. The end to be aimed at—that of making everyone a thorough Christian—is the same; but it is arrived at by the extra method of addressing the whole nation, and preaching the fundamental doctrines of religion as a public matter, and recognizing the national duties of godliness, justice, and charity. Now, our great town missions tend in a marked manner to bring forward and maintain this side of the work of our church. They are not parochial. It is their distinction that they aim specially at the great crowds of our towns, and propose to influence these vast centres of modern life—not only by building up new Wesleyan societies, but by affecting the religious tone of the cities themselves—proving to the multitudes the reality of religion in their midst, holding up the standard of righteousness and purity, standing up for God in society. We are deliberately and conspicuously undertaking these municipal, these national duties, and assuredly we shall reap the reward. We shall win the respect of the great public, and there is nothing which operates so quickly upon large bodies of men as to make religion respected. Moreover, the very acceptance of this broader view of our duty will tend to raise the tone of religion in our own church. The church, no doubt, is, or at all events includes, a select society of conscious and resolute believers. But the very selectness has its dangers. Its exaggeration tends to remove the experiences of religious people too far from the broad standards of morality which commend themselves to the general conscience; to lay too much stress on feeling and too little on conduct; to restrict the aims of church life and forget the immense and pressing duties of the church to the world in which it lives; to warp men's ideas of holiness and permit a type of character which loves mysteries, and seeks exaltation while not too eager for justice. Church life needs to be in constant battle with the evil that is in the world. If this is not done, the evil tends to strike inward, and display itself in subtler forms. The acceptance, therefore, by our church of public duty and public interest is of the utmost value both to ourselves and to the country. In so far as our new missions bring us to this point, they are doing much more than adding to the numbers of our church members—they are multiplying our influence for good, and they are raising the whole spirit of our church.

Christian Education.

Educate men without religion and you make them but clever devils.—Wellington.

It is virtue, direct virtue, which is the head and invaluable part to be aimed at in education.—Locke.

I mean by education that training which is given by suitable habits to the first instincts of virtue in children.—Plato.

No nation, and least of all a republican nation, where every man is his brother's keeper, can long stand the strain of a system which develops the head at the expense of the heart.—Pres. Stephens, Adrian College.

Observation and history teach that society must be built upon God rather than man, and it is better to cultivate the heart than the intellect. Both should be educated, but the heart rather than the head.—Bishop Gilmore, Cleveland, Ohio.

A reverent, wise, earnest, loving study of the Bible by our undergraduates would help mightily to redeem the land from evil and to guard it from coming dangers. When the Bible is once in the mind it works.—Christian at Work.

Holding in our hands the Bible, a volume of such transcendent merit and such potent influence, so centrally related to history and literature and morals and civilization, how can we hesitate for one moment to place it in a course of education on the throne which it has itself acquired?—Pres. Bartlett, Dartmouth College.

Judson, the famous missionary to Burmah, in approaching a university, said, "If I had a thousand dollars, what do you suppose I would do with it?" The by-stander expected him to say, "Give it to missions," but he said, "I would give it to this institution, for planting Christian colleges is planting the seed-corn for the world."

I am much afraid that the universities will prove to be the great gates of hell, unless they diligently labor in explaining the Holy Scriptures and engraving them in the hearts of youth. Every institution in which men are not unceasingly occupied with the Word of God must become corrupt: I advise no one to place his child where the Scriptures do not reign paramount.—Martin Luther.

No institution of learning can attain the highest ideal excellence in which Christian faith is not exalted as supreme; in which its truth is not asserted with a constant fidelity, defended with unremitting ardor and enforced with a fervent and devoted zeal; in which Christ is not honored as the inspirer of man's best affections, the model of man's highest excellence and the Master of all human duties.—Ex-Pres. Woolsey, Yale College.

Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart: And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.—Moses.

To secure good government the effort must be made to secure good citizens. Good citizenship is closely related to the moral character of the citizen. As the life of a nation consists in the virtue of its people, it is the duty of every citizen to see that the system of popular education affords that moral education which alone can give dignity and virtue to the citizen and secure "good government through good citizenship."—Edward Brooks.

Only take heed to thyself, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life: but teach them thy sons and thy son's sons; specially the day that thou stoodest before the Lord thy God in Horeb, when the Lord said unto me, Gather me the people together, and I will make them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me all the days that they shall live upon the earth, and that they may teach their children.—Moses.

Should Jury Verdicts Be Unanimous?

Among the various recommendations adopted by the American Bar Association at its recent session was a reform of the jury system in civil cases, by making the concurrence of nine jurors sufficient for a verdict. In making this recommendation the Bar Association have brought up a subject which has repeatedly engaged the attention of jurists and lawyers, with whom the feeling in favor of the projected change seems to be growing. And there is much to be said in its favor.

Singularly enough, the principle of unanimity which underlies our jury system obtains recognition nowhere else in our body politic. In all bodies, whether social, political, or judicial, a majority or a two-thirds vote is decisive: unanimity is nowhere required. All public and corporate business is transacted in this way, as are all elections, social, political, religious, commercial. Why should a different rule prevail in the jury box? In a matter of life and death, as in trials of capital cases, it may rightly prevail, as we believe it should. But in questions involving the rights in the property of the citizen, why should not a three-fourths vote prevail in a jury, when even death sentences are settled in the Appellate Courts by the concurrence of four out of seven or three out of five judges? We fail to see why under such circumstances a three-fourths vote should not be sufficient, and accepted as fair, safe and just, both to the criminal classes and to society.

Certain it is, such a change would give an efficiency to the administration of justice which is now all unknown. It would put a stop to the endless delays caused by the obstinacy of "the twelfth man," and would insure speedier justice. Indeed, the marvel is not that so many rascals escape, but the wonder is that with the requirement of unanimity in the jury box so many criminals are convicted and punished.

While the saving in expense is not a matter of chief concern so long as the ends of justice are met, not only would great expense be saved in securing a verdict, in obviating the necessity of a second trial, but justice would be more surely administered. Only last week the tough "Tombs." Allen presumably had two men in the jury box who would only look on his side of the case—it was a trial for assault—and here two succeeded in preventing a verdict which by common consent should have been rendered. And then under our present jury system, as has frequently been shown, bad men are purposely put on juries—men who can be purchased. One man is enough for this purpose; the records of our courts contain far too many cases where the opposition of one or two men has prevented a verdict and clogged the wheels of justice. The result has been a nolle prosequi, a dropping of the case. This result would not indeed be rendered wholly impossible under the proposed change to a three-fourths verdict. But it would be rendered more difficult; and once the change is effected, we may believe reform in the method of collecting juries would follow.

The American Bar Association has, we think, done well in making the recommendation of verdict by a three-fourths vote, and it has done wisely in limiting it to civil cases. The change may not come immediately, but we believe it has only to be agitated to prevail. Like most of the legal forms, customs and methods we have inherited from a distant past, our jury system must yield to the demands of civilization expressed in the spirit of the time. And that means, for one thing, that a change for the better must supercede the present anomalous requirement of unanimity in the trial of civil cases in the courts.—Christian at Work.

Distrusting Christ.

Distrust is different from unbelief. Unbelief in Christ is merely not to believe him, or in him. It is, as nearly as is possible, to maintain a negative, indifferent attitude toward him. But distrust is more than indifference. It includes an element of hostility. It means to be suspicious and ill-disposed in mind, even if no unfriendly act result. As we study the Jews among whom Jesus lived, we perceive that most of them not merely failed to believe in, but also distrusted him. Some of them even went so far on one occasion as to pick up stones to throw at him. Now the striking thing about their distrust was that it was utterly unjustifiable, not merely upon high moral grounds, but even upon the comparatively low level of ordinary reasonableness. He had given, and was continuing to give, them abundant and conclusive evidence of his Messiahship. But they refused to admit it. Because it was not exactly the sort of evidence which they expected, they declined to examine it at all.

We can not study the subject without being impressed afresh with the close relation of a living faith in God to active efforts for the good of mankind. Christ insisted and reiterated, not only that the Jews ought to believe in him, but also that they ought to believe because of his good works. It was on this ground also that he justified even his highest, most solemn claim. "If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do them, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know and understand that the Father is in me, and I in the Father." Here is a positive truth which admits of a wide practical application. Those who evidently are doing the works of God deserve acceptance and confidence. They are his children. They are giving the same sort of evidence which he gave, and which we now condemn the Jews for refusing to accept. We must be careful not to make the same mistake.

We distrust Christ when we refuse to allow him to become to us personally all which he gladly would become. Alike in our prosperity and our distress, he expects our loyal confidence; and throughout the long and checkered history of his church he has given abundant proof of his ability and willingness to sympathize with and help us. The evidence is ample, and we must heed it. We distrust him, too, when we distrust any who are imitating him. If they are doing his works—however much they may disagree with our views—they may be pleasing him better than we are. We are not necessarily to adopt their methods. We must do what seems right to us. But we must be careful how we condemn them. Furthermore, it must be impressed upon all whom we seek to win to Christ that he offers them plenty of evidence as to the justice of his claims. We distrust him if we do not use this evidence as effectively as we can in seeking to influence them. He always has blessed it to candid minds and he always will.—Congregationalist.

Not shame of ignorance, but love of learning, makes the scholar; not fear of despotism so much as love of liberty makes the patriot; not so much the hatred of sin as the love of holiness makes the saint. The fear of hell may be the initial motive to get the sinner's face heavenward, but not until perfect love casts out this fear by taking its place do the highest, holiest, mightiest motives bear upon him.—Christian Standard.

A Remarkable Scene.

The following account of Bishop Key's sermon at the Memphis Conference we clip from the Tennessee Methodist:

The above was written in the Conference-room Saturday. Since that writing we have witnessed a scene which far excelled the spiritual manifestations accompanying the charge to the class for admission. Bishop Key's sermon on "The Pentecost," on Sunday, at eleven A. M., was delivered from beginning to close under a patent and manifest baptism of the Spirit. The sermon was an earnest and powerful plea for an enduement of the Spirit. We have during the past twenty-five years witnessed many spiritual demonstrations in revivals and camp meetings and Conferences, but never have we witnessed anything comparable to the manifestations of the Spirit at this service. The tide rose steadily from the opening of the sermon. As the Bishop closed, his own soul, swayed with holy emotion, and the congregation weeping and with hearts lifted in holy longing and prayer for the full baptism of the Spirit, he said, "Now, brethren, who of you want to be filled with the Spirit?" Then, checking himself suddenly and stepping one pace backward, he raised his streaming eyes upward, and said, "Now, Lord, guide thy servant here." Then resuming his proposition that all who desired the baptism of the Spirit would rise, simultaneously the entire audience rose. As the people rose the Holy Ghost fell on us, even as on them at the beginning, and the multitude wept and shouted aloud. A holy baptism fell on and filled hundreds of hearts, and the singing and shouting and rejoicing was simply sublime. The Lord of hosts was with us. The holy power abides upon the Conference and the people still.

Through the balance of the Sabbath and throughout to-day the faces you meet still glow with the holy unction. The eyes of many, as they meet your eyes, convey a silent reference and testimony to the halo and glory which filled the Lord's house and all hearts on yesterday. It is on the tongue of all, and is talked on every street corner. The influence of this wonderful service will abide, and prove a benediction to every preacher in his work during the coming year, and for all the years to come. It was the most remarkable display of divine power we have ever witnessed. This has been a wonderfully spiritual and religious Conference from the very beginning. We can safely say we have never seen half as much preaching at an Annual Conference, or preaching so signally attended by the unction of the Holy Spirit.

PET VIRTUES.—The line must be drawn somewhere in any idea of morals. It is doubtful if any man gets so low in depravity that he has no rule of right and wrong for the government of his conduct. The honest gambler will not play with loaded dice, or marked cards. The honest liar will lie to cheat you, but will not lie about you. When in the progress of depravity all moral distinctions are passed, then some artificial virtue is set up, or some superstition. About the last restraint a knave in a civilized country abandons is respect for his mother—but when that is gone he will love his dog—he will find something to reverence or cherish. One of the most fantastic scamps we know is an ardent defender of the Sabbath! That one virtue fills his world of piety. There are many substitutes for that simple rule of life: "Do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with thy God."—The Interior.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

All books received will be acknowledged in this column. A fuller notice will depend upon the interests of our readers.

BOOKS.

ECCLESIASTICAL AMUSEMENTS. By Rev. E. P. Marvin. A. W. Hall, Publisher, Syracuse, New York. Price, 2 cents.

Every preacher ought to read this. It is capital, and cuts the tap-root of a custom which is harmful from beginning to end.

PERIODICALS.

—The PANSY, for December, is bright with beauty to cheer little minds. D. Lothrop Co., Boston.

—The TREASURY has a good bill-of-fare for its readers this month. E. B. Treat, New York. Price, $2 50.

—OUR LITTLE ONES is sparkling and running over with brightness. Russell Publishing Co. Price, $1 50.

—ENTERTAINMENT has changed its home to Chicago, and comes full of Christmas to all. Entertainment Bureau, Chicago. Price, $1.

—GOOD HOUSEKEEPING, for December, is full of good things for the household. C. W. Bryan & Co., Springfield, Mass. Price, $2.40.

—The CHRISTMAS BOOK-BUYER is a perfect gem of its kind. Indeed, we know of nothing in its line superior to it. It is published by Charles Scribner's Sons, and that means that it is of the very best.

—The REVIEW OF REVIEWS. There is only one word needed to describe this new monthly which has flashed itself into public favor, and that word is, "magnificent." As a monthly review this excels all others by far. The December number is a fine portrait gallery, nearly one hundred famous men and women adorning its pages. Astor Place, New York. Price, $2.

—The CHRISTMAS WIDE AWAKE has been made by some of the brightest people in America: Mary E. Wilkins, Jessie Benton Fremont, Charlotte Perkins Stetson, Childe Hassam, Irving R. Wiles, John Mead Howells, Charlotte M. Valle, Captain Curtis, U. S. A., Emilie Poulsson, Eleanor Lewis, Mrs. Maria McIntosh Cox, Mrs. Harriet Maxwell Converse, L. J. Bridgman, Frances Courtenay Baylor, Lieut.-Col. Thorndyke, Caroline Hunt Rimmer, Charles Mente, E. H. Garrett. There is a great range of story, ballad and picture, all full of the Christmas spirit. Wide Awake is $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, Boston.

THE LOTTERY.

The Increase of Gambling.

It is probable that the religious public has but a faint idea of the growth and prevalence of the gambling habit in this country. This increase has been specially rapid during the last twenty-five years, and its demoralizing effect is becoming too serious to be overlooked. Passing by the State Fair Grounds in New Jersey in the car, the other day, we overheard one man saying to another that $8,000 had been offered for the privilege of a pool room on the ground during the few days of the fair. Whether other pool rooms were allowed we do not know. Imagine the amount of gambling which such figures indicate.

The law forbidding the Louisiana Lottery the use of the United States mail has occasioned a loss to the single postoffice of Kansas City of $10,000 a year, which would indicate the passage of nearly half a million letters through this one office each year. What then must be the extent of the business of this lottery throughout the whole country. A clerk in a bank told the writer that $40,000 per month passed through that single bank for the lottery. If at noon of any day we could arrest the whole population of our town or city and go through their pockets, it would create astonishment to see the number of lottery tickets which would be found, and also in whose pockets they would appear. The rich bank president is said to purchase tickets every month and watch with great interest the report of the drawing. The poor man supported in part at least by the labor of his daughter buys his ticket every month, and declares that he will not stop until he gets one of the large prizes. Women, rich and poor, buy these tickets. How many millions of hard-earned money are every month pouring into that Louisiana Lottery, its managers will be very careful to keep to themselves. It is said that from seventy-five to a hundred clerks have been dismissed from the New Orleans postoffice since the law forbade the transmission of their mail.

In the October number of the Forum is an article on this subject by W. B. Curtis, editor of the Spirit of the Times. Perhaps no one is more competent to give the facts than he. He says: "It is safe to say that there never was a time in the history of the world when gambling was so rife among all classes of people as at the present." "That betting is heavier and more widespread than ever before, is proved by its literature. A few years ago there were but four or five newspapers in the United States, devoted wholly to sports, and these were all weekly or monthly publications. Now there are forty weeklies and one daily. Ten years ago ordinary daily journals gave little space to racing and less to betting. Now all the prominent newspapers give full details of the pool and book betting."

Horse racing is becoming the leading national sport. A single fast horse recently sold for over $100,000, and was probably cheap at that price and would soon pay for himself by the money he would win. But Mr. Curtis says: "If betting public and private could be in any manner totally suppressed, horse racing would become a tradition." The races and opportunity to bet seems to be the leading attraction at all State and county fairs. "The amount wagered every year on American horse racing almost surpasses belief," says Mr. Curtis. "At one race track on a Saturday afternoon last Summer there were ninety bookmakers, betting an average of $2,000 on each of eight races, making a total of about $1,440,000 wagered on this one track in one afternoon," and in different cities, doubtless, enough to make $2,000,000 which changed hands by the decisions of this one race track in one afternoon. These statistics are for the vicinity of New York City alone. The betting on horse-racing alone in this country, Mr. Curtis estimates to exceed $200,000,000 a year. Five hundred men earn their living by peddling lottery tickets in New York City.

Throughout the country the pool rooms make a feature of baseball, and there is a vast amount of gambling in connection with it. A vast amount of money changes hands by betting on the result of every election. Indeed, Americans are getting to bet on almost every imaginable event. On shipboard they bet on the daily run of the ship, or on the hour of arrival, and sometimes bet thousands of dollars on whether the next vessel will be sighted on the port, or on the starboard box. This country is said to be the paradise of gamblers. Its demoralizing influence is incalculable. Clerks steal their employers' money to gamble with it. Bank officers wreck their banks in speculation which differs little if at all from gambling. Poor people in large numbers throw away their hard-earned dollars in the vain hope of sudden wealth without work. Under the excitement of false hopes they allow themselves to be robbed. The honesty of the thing is the same as when you get a man drunk and then rob him of his money.

Nothing could be more harmful either to business or morality than this gambling habit which is growing with such rapidity in our modern society. "It runs," says Mr. Curtis, "a close race with intemperance for the dishonor of being man's greatest curse." We make great efforts to stay the evils of intemperance, and yet hardly raise a note of warning against an evil almost as great.—Mid-Continent.

A Seductive Offer.

The Louisiana Lottery Company agrees, in case its charter is extended twenty-five years, and it is given a monopoly of the business, to donate annually for the term of its existence, $1,250,000 to the State, being a total for the twenty-five years of $31,250,000.

The appropriations are to be made for the following purposes:

To the Public Schools of the State.—Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars annually, payable quarterly in advance.

To Levees.—Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars, payable quarterly in advance.

To Charities.—One hundred and fifty thousand dollars annually, payable quarterly in advance, as above provided, of which sum eighty thousand dollars shall be applied to the hospital established by the State; forty thousand dollars to State insane asylums; twenty-five thousand dollars to State institutions for the deaf, dumb and blind; five thousand to the Soldier's Home.

To Pensions.—Fifty thousand dollars annually, payable quarterly in advance, as above provided, to the pensioning of disabled, infirm, or indigent Confederate soldiers, citizens resident of Louisiana.

To the City of New Orleans, for Drainage and Other Sanitary Purposes.—One hundred thousand dollars annually, payable quarterly in advance, as above provided, the expenditure of said sum and the management and control of the same to be determined by the General Assembly, which is hereby directed to carry into effect this provision by appropriate legislation.

To the General Fund.—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars annually, payable quarterly in advance, as above stated.

The above are very tempting offers, but are intended only as bribes, and Louisiana will rue the day she barters away her honor and manhood to this giant octopus of evil, this greatest of all gambling institutions.

The agents of the lottery are now scouring Louisiana for votes, and if reports are true (and all acquainted with the history of that institution are prepared to believe them), they are working all sorts of corrupt methods to secure them. They subsidize newspapers, buy up speakers, employ canvassers, get up public meetings and barbecues, in the name of Democracy, and resort to all character of questionable methods to make converts to their scheme.

They have secured the services of political bosses, ward boomers and pot-house heelers, and are making a canvass that appeals directly to the most corrupt elements in the State, all in the name of charity.

If the people of Louisiana allow the lottery amendment to pass, they will bring upon themselves the reproach and contumely of the country.—Clarion Ledger, Jackson, Miss.

Gambling.

The Christian conscience of the country, which has been protesting against the prevalent gambling mania with more or less earnestness from time to time, is finding a new and potent ally in the alarm of the commercial classes, who see plainly that if the evil is not abated the very foundations of business will be destroyed. The commercial conscience is aroused. Men who care little or nothing for the laws of God respond to the laws of self-preservation. Men who are unmoved by the appeals of the pulpit and the press in behalf of the moral interests of society, as affected by this vice in its various forms, are showing a readiness to co-operate with good citizens and faithful officers of the law in their efforts for its suppression. Self-interest gets a hearing where public spirit and moral obligation are unheeded. This is human nature, and it works to a good end in this case.

The merchant who learns that his trusted clerks are frequenters of that open den of robbery, the pool-room; the father who finds that his son is the companion of gamblers and a frequenter of their haunts; the banker or other capitalist who knows that his business associates are making ventures in the prevalent forms of speculation that have in them the essence and the peril of gambling, share in this alarm. The lottery abomination, that feeds and fattens a horde of human sharks at the expense of the ignorant and the weak; the bold defiance of civil authority by those who nightly ply their unlawful games in our cities; the revival of horse-racing with all its demoralizing effects upon the communities cursed by them—all these flagrant forms of gambling have broken out with a virulence that compels the attention of every citizen who is half awake or half a patriot. It is seen and felt that something must be done to arrest the evil, or we shall become a nation of gamblers upon which Satan will soon foreclose his mortgage.—Nashville Advocate.

GAMBLING.—There seems to be some prospect of an awakening of conscience at any rate among Christian people, on the subject of gambling. However hard it may be to point out wherein the intrinsic sinfulness of this practice consists, it is not at all difficult to note its baneful results in the lives of men. It is equally easy to detect its presence on all sides. The spirit of chance is not only in the air, where it might be comparatively harmless, but it walks the earth and confronts us wherever we go. There needs to be outspoken opposition to it on the part of men who prize honesty and self-control. We note that the religious press is taking up the subject of newspaper coupon guesses, so prevalent this year. It is hard to see what essential element of gambling does not enter into these votes and guesses; and they decidedly tend to cultivate the taste for it. While we are thinking about the method of example, it might be well to remember that it applies in this field as in all others; and total abstinence from such a dangerous recreation as gambling would be eminently wise.—St. Andrew's Cross.

The Arkansas Conference encourages us all by the unanimous adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolutions condemning the Louisiana Lottery were endorsed as follows:

Resolved, That the business run by the Louisiana State Lottery Company is a gigantic evil, and corrupting in its influence upon society, not only in Louisiana, but also all over this nation.

Resolved, That we tender our sympathies and prayers to the good people of our sister State in their heroic efforts to defeat the amendment to the Constitution of the State by which the Lottery Company is proposed to be rechartered, and we earnestly hope they will succeed in throttling this monster iniquity.

Resolved, That this preamble and resolutions be sent to The Arkansas Methodist, NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the New Delta.

Gambling is wrong in itself; and even if it were not so, its deadly effects would make it hateful to every true man. But it is absolutely wrong, for two reasons—it promotes gain without merit, and it rewards those who do not deserve reward. It promotes gain through another's loss. Every class of society is honeycombed with the vice, from the boys in the street to the ladies at the top of the social scale. It was but the other day that Lady Sebright, addressing a temperance meeting in Yorkshire, said "she had been a great gambler herself, and had formerly attended the Doncaster races. There was nothing she cared for so much as gambling, and over and over again she made promises to give it up, but broke them just as the poor drunkard broke his promises. She would now rather lose her right hand than play cards or gamble in any way." When gambling has become such a passion it is surely time something was done.—London Methodist Times.

The injurious character of the lottery business is scarcely more obvious than the injurious character of the retail traffic in distilled liquors. A century ago lotteries were as thoroughly sanctioned by public sentiment as dram shops, and the freedom to buy and sell lottery tickets was thought an element of individual liberty just as inviolable as the freedom to buy and sell intoxicating liquors. * * * J. B. Say, the distinguished French economist, represents the universal sentiment of thoughtful people regarding the licensing of lotteries: "The legislators who sanction such a tax vote a certain number of thefts and suicides every year. There is no pretext of expense which can justify provocation to crime." Does the same reasoning apply to the licensing of dram shops?—Christian Union.

RUINED BY THE LOTTERY.—The St. Paul Globe says that a farmer in Wisconsin lately died worth $3,000 less than nothing, broken down in the maturity of life. Fifteen years ago he was a prosperous farmer worth $15,000 and out of debt. He spent all his money buying lottery tickets in the Louisiana Lottery, sometimes buying $500 worth at a time. Still the Lottery Company did not offer to bury him. On the whole, it is better not to invest quite all one has in that lottery.

Death is never a welcome visitor, and yet it is one that some time or another must be taken into the household. There is no "possible probable manner of doubt" that the crape on many a hat-band would be deferred if the heads of householde realized more fully the importance of having readily at hand such valuable preventatives and preservatives as are found in Mansfield's Standard Medicines.

There are few human ills that can not be averted by proper treatment and the application of a suitable remedy. There are, for instance, few forms of pain that will not yield to Mansfield's Magic Arnica Liniment, which in cases as radically different as it is possible for them to be, has proved effective.

There are medicines and medicines just as there are doctors and doctors, and experience (which is after all the greatest test) has demonstrated that for sprains and bruises, eruptions and ulcers, lumbago and neuralgia, soreness and swellings, and in fact almost any affliction accompanied by pain, there is no outward application that gives such immediate effects or is so permanent in its results as Mansfield's Magic Arnica Liniment. It is made by the Mansfield Drug Co., Memphis, Tenn.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H. Beals, Jr.

Good Advice.

Exchange:

In winter more exercise is required for the body than in summer.

Wear warm underclothing; material of open texture is preferable.

Avoid catching cold, but should you develop a cough take immediate steps to get rid of it.

The most effective remedy for coughs or colds is Marsden's Pectoral Balm; it is pleasant to take and never fails to cure.

Ask your druggist for it, and don't be persuaded to take any other instead.

Forty years of constant use—and still more valued than ever—Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Salvation Oil, the great pain extinguisher, should be kept handy by all who handle tools.

We talk about men's reaching through nature up to nature's God. It is nothing to the way in which they may reach through manhood up to manhood's God and learn the divine love by the human.—Phillips Brooks.

Catarrh

Is a complaint so common that comparatively few people are entirely free from it, so insidious that it gains a firm hold almost before its victims are aware of its presence, so dangerous as to seriously threaten the general health, and liable to develop into bronchitis or

Consumption.

It is a mistake to consider Catarrh merely a local trouble. It is unquestionably a disease of the blood, and, therefore, the right way to cure Catarrh is to remove from the blood the impurities which cause and feed it. This is to be done by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which effectually expels all traces of poison and germs of disease.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me of Catarrh, and built up my general health, so that I am feeling better than for years.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only medicine I know of which will cure miller's catarrh." GEO. FOSTER, Logan, Ohio.

N. B.—Be sure to get Hood's.

Holy Land Tour, $475.

A select party sails March 9, 1892. Monthly excursions to Italy, $380. Best ticketing facilities. Send for "Tourist Gazette."

H. GAZE & SONS, 940 Broadway, N.Y. (Est. 1844.

EVERY FAMILY

Should be provided with Ayer's Pills. No other aperient is in such general demand or so highly recommended by the profession. Mild but thorough in operation, these pills are the best of all remedies for constipation, biliousness, heartburn, indigestion, flatulency, loss of appetite, liver complaint, and sick headache. They break up colds, fevers, and malaria, relieve rheumatism and neuralgia, and are indispensable to travelers, either by land or sea. Sugar-coated and compounded of the purest vegetable cathartics, they may be taken with impunity by old and young. Physicians recommend these pills in preference to any other. H. W. Hersh, Judsonia, Ark., says: "In 1853, by the advice of a friend, I began the use of Ayer's Pills as a remedy for biliousness, constipation, high fevers, and colds. They served me better than anything I had previously tried, and I have used them in attacks of that sort ever since."

Needs

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

Every Dose Effective.

DONALD KENNEDY

Of Roxbury, Mass., Says:

Strange cases cured by my Medical Discovery come to me every day. Here is one of Paralysis—Blindness—and the Grip. Now how does my Medical Discovery cure all these? I don't know, unless it takes hold of the Hidden Poison that makes all Humor.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEVADA, Sept. 9th, 1891.

Donald Kennedy—Dear Sir: I will state my case to you: About nine years ago I was paralyzed in my left side, and the best doctors gave me no relief for two years, and I was advised to try your Discovery, which did its duty, and in a few months I was restored to health. About four years ago I became blind in my left eye by a spoiled cataract. Last March I was taken with La Grippe, and was confined to my bed for three months. At the end of that time, as in the start, then it struck me that your Discovery was the thing for me; so I got a bottle, and before it was half gone I was able to go to my work in the mines. Now in regard to my eyes, as I lost my left eye, and about six months ago my right eye became affected with black spots over the sight as did the left eye—perhaps some twenty of them—but since I have been using your Discovery they all left my right eye but one; and, thank God, the bright light of heaven is once more making its appearance in my left eye. I am wonderfully astonished at it, and thank God and your Medical Discovery. Yours truly,

HANK WHITE.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

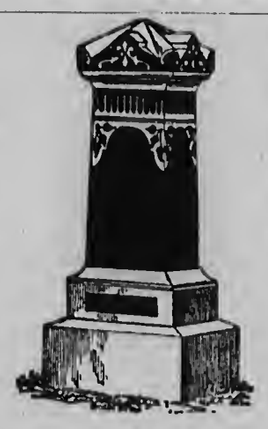
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,

831 Broadway, NEW YORK.

IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AGENTS WANTED

For PANSY'S Latest and Greatest Work,

"The Prince of Peace;"

OR,

"The Beautiful Life of Jesus."

See what a few of our own preachers say about it

Rev. W. H. LaPrade, Pastor Carondelet Street Church, says: "I have been waiting for it. Put me down for two copies."

Rev. Chas. F. Evans, D. D., Presiding Elder of New Orleans District: "One of the most excellent of modern books. The wood cuts are magnificent."

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, Pastor Dryades M. E. Church, South, says: "A most excellent book for the young."

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, says: "I have read the book with pleasure and satisfaction."

Rev. Jno. T. Sawyer, Pastor Felicity Street M. E. Church, South, says: "This is a most excellent book to put in the hands of the young; and older persons will be benefited by it as well."

Hundreds of testimonials can be furnished. Agents are doing splendidly with it. Send $1 for outfit, and secure territory at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

106 CAMP ST, - New Orleans, La.

Christmas Hints.

Our low prices are the talk of the town. We are selling reliable goods for less money than others. The reason: our expenses are lighter; we do not occupy a corner building, nor a Canal street store. Don't go about it blindly, but look sharp for our store. The following prices are quoted in pursuance of our recently announced plan to offer a special line of standard goods at prices which are well recognized at once as far below real value.

English Porcelain Tea Sets, decorated in all colors, 56 pieces, $6.56.

English Porcelain Dinner Sets, decorated in all colors, 115 pieces, $9.

Genuine French China Tea Sets, square shape, 56 pieces, $6.56.

English Porcelain Chamber Sets, decorated, 14 pieces, $2.75.

We recommend the above as superior goods in every respect.

W. C. Shepard & Son,

94 Camp, near Poydras St.

(The Oldest Queensware House in the South.)

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

FROM

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City. Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 24 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.

J. C. GAULT, General Manager.

D. G. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train service in St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

to SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT and

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

CHIEF OFFICE: Cor. Canal and Carondelet Sts

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't,
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,
JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.

Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p. m	8:10 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	8:10 a. m	5:35 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train"	8:45 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street

P. S. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Agt.
C. F. REYNOLDS, Asst Gen. Pass. Agt.

WORLD'S FAIR Portfolio. Containing 16 fine artistic illustrations, size 10x14. An elegant work of art. Price postpaid, 50c. H. H. HARFORD & SON, 134 Van Buren St., Chicago.

IF you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1360½ Tchoupitoulas street.

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 8:10 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 5:40 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express 5:35 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express 9:10 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train" 10:00 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train" 3:15 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 3 Lim. Ex. 7:45 am	No. 4 Fast Ex. 7:45 am
No. 5 Fast Ex. 7:05 pm	No. 8 Coast 3:45 pm
No. 7 Coast 9:20 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex. 7:30 pm
Lim. express 4:45 pm	Fast mail 8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

No. 1. Local Mail and Express 7:20 pm	No. 2. Local Mail and Express 7:00 am
No. 41. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail 8:25 am	No. 42. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail 6:00 pm
No. 45. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 7:30 pm	No. 46. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 12:01 noon
No. 43. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 8:25 am	No. 42. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:00 pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom. 9:15 am	No. 6. McComb City Accom. 5:00 pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 53 California Express. 7:30 pm	No. 51 California Express. 8:00 am
B. Rouge, local, 10:25 am	B. Rouge, local, 1:50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 19-Califor. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local 8:00 am
No. 17 Local 7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor. 5:00 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd 2:30 pm	No. 2, Lim'd 5:00 pm
No. 4, Fast Line, 7:00 am	No. 3, Fast Line, 8:45 am

MOBILE AND OHIO
(Via Meridian.)

No. 5, Fast Line, 7:30 am	No. 2, Limited 5:00 pm

P. AND V. EAST LA
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.

Arrive 8:30 am	Leave 4 15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pla-ja-lache 8h 8ch. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:30 p. m.	Pla-ja-lache 8h. 8ch. 7:00 a. m., 10:00 a. m., 5:10 p. m.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study. Practical lectures and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this College has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has unsurpassed facilities and equipments.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.—Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools, in Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE—Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brewer, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEAREST, FINEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR,
Member of Board of Trustees,
No. 71 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

BOYS! GIRLS! Everybody!

We want used postage stamps used before 1870; also Confederate bills. For 25 stamps or 10 bills we will give either 25 cards with your name printed on, 3 sheets of Scrap Pictures, 1 Autograph Album, 50 Foreign Stamps, or Cash. AGENTS WANTED. Circulars free.

J. E. HANDSHAW & CO.,
SMITHTOWN BRANCH, N. Y

AGENTS send for How I Made a House and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a Home, or business change. $75 to $100 Monthly. Teachers and Ladies find big pay for spare hours. TAKASUKY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge, Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward

NATURE'S CURE FOR ASTHMA FREE ON TRIAL.

The WONDERFUL KOLA PLANT (HIMALYA), discovered by African Explorers on the Congo River, West Africa, is NATURE'S SURE CURE for ASTHMA. No Pay until Cured, and Positive Cures Guaranteed. Importing Office, No. 1164 Broadway, New York. For Book and Large FREE Trial Case, sent by Mail, address, Central Office Kola Importing Co., No. 132 Vine Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Of the New York World and Philadelphia Press, May 18 and 19, 1890, also Christian Observer and Medical Journal, April 9, 1890. The Christian Evangelist, May 30, 1890, says editorially: "The Kola Plant is a gift direct of God, to sufferers from Asthma, and its blessing will rest upon Stanley and associates, explorers of the Dark Continent. It is an unfailing cure for Asthma." Of Remember, No Pay Until Cured.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.
Rev. B. F. Lewis, Ass't Editor.

Thursday, Dec. 17, 1891.

MISSISSIPPI ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

FIRST DAY.

The seventy-eight session of the Mississippi Conference of the M. E. Church, South, convened in the Methodist Church, Brookhaven, Miss., Dec. 9, 1891; Bishop E. R. Hendrix, D. D., presiding.

The Bishop opened the Conference by reading John xv, singing Hymn 408, and prayer. The roll of the Conference was called by Dr. C. G. Andrews, who has been secretary for a number of years. Quite a large number of ministers answered to their names, but as yet only a few of the laymen.

Dr. Andrews was again elected secretary of the Conference, with Bros. J. A. B Jones, W. R. Sims and John W. Chambers as assistants. The hours of meeting and adjourning were fixed, respectively, at nine A. M. and 12:30 P. M.

The following committees were appointed, viz.:

On Public Worship—Rev. R. S. Woodward, Rev. W. H. Huntley, Prof. R. S. Ricketts. On Memoirs—Rev. T. B. Holloman, chairman. State of the Church—Bro. J. T. H. Laird, chairman. Bible Cause—Rev. W. L. Linfield, chairman. Sabbath Observance—Rev. L. Carley, chairman. Temperance—Rev. J. D. Crymes, chairman. Publishing Interests—Rev. W. R. Sims, chairman. District Conference Records—Rev. J. W. Sandell, chairman. Conference Relations—Rev. R. J. Jones, chairman.

A special committee was appointed, consisting of Rev. T. L. Mellen, Rev. R. J. Jones, Rev. R. S. Woodward, to consider a paper presented by Jas. A. Hoskins, representative of the Whitworth heirs, relative to some important interests in which both they and the Mississippi Conference are concerned.

On motion, Drs. C. G. Andrews and W. C. Black were appointed to publish the Minutes, and Rev. W. L. Linfield to collect money for same.

Communications were received from the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE; Barbee & Smith, agents of the Southern Methodist Publishing House at Nashville, Tenn.; W. G. E. Cunnyngham, Sunday-school editor, and Dr. I. G. John, secretary Board of Missions, and from Dr. Morton, secretary Board of Church Extension.

The following brethren were introduced to the Conference: T. B. Holt, treasurer Mission Board, and Dr. Morrison, one of our missionary secretaries.

Ques. 20. Are all the preachers blameless in their life and official administration? As the names of the following presiding elders were called, they retired, during which their life and official administration were discussed by the Conference and their characters passed, viz.:

Rev. John A. Ellis, of the Vicksburg district; Rev. D. A. Little, of the Jackson district; Rev. P. A. Johnston, Brandon district; Rev. T. L. Mellen, Meridian district; Rev. R. S. Woodward, Brookhaven district; Rev. E. H. Mounger, Seashore district; Rev. C. McDonald, Woodville district.

The Bishop made a still further departure from the old beaten track by having all the presiding elders take their seats before the Conference while he addressed them and the ministry relative to their several relations.

Dr. Morrison addressed the Conference on the subject of missions, and, on motion of Dr. W. C. Black, the support of Dr. J. W. Lambuth, who went out from the Mississippi Conference more than a quarter of a century ago as a missionary to China, and who opened up our work in Japan, was assumed by the Conference, and $1,220 was subscribed towards this fund, with more to follow.

The report from the trustees of Millsaps College was read and referred to the Committee on Education.

After hearing announcements, Conference adjourned with doxology, and benediction by the Bishop.

SECOND DAY.

The Conference was called to order at nine A. M., Bishop Hendrix in the chair. The religious exercises were conducted by Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, president of Centenary College. The minutes of the morning session were read and approved. On motion, the calling of the roll was dispensed with for the remainder of the session.

Reports were presented and referred to the Committee on Education from the following institutions of learning: Edward McGehee College for girls, Woodville, Miss.; Port Gibson Female College, and Centenary College for boys, Jackson, La.

In the report from Centenary College we note one statement with great pleasure, namely: During the last session there was a revival in the college among the boys, and a large number were converted. When our church institutions of learning cease to devote themselves exclusively to mental development to the neglect of the spiritual, but combine the two, we may begin to anticipate our ideal "church school."

Rev. Louis C. Powell, of the Tennessee Conference; Rev. Ritchie, of the North Mississippi, and Rev. M. B. Chapman, of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, were introduced to the Conference.

Ques. 6. Who are received by transfer from other Conferences?

Ans. J. M. Weems, from the Central Mexico Conference.

Ques. 1. Who are admitted on trial?

Ans. H. B. Vandenburg, from the Vicksburg district; Thos. J. Norsworthy, Jackson district; Charles C. Evans, Brandon district; Paul M. Brown, Thos. E. Winekoff, W. T. Woodward, John P. Haney, Joseph Campbell, William T. Currie, from the Woodville district; William T. Griffin, Brookhaven district; Ira F. Hawkins, Meridian district.

Ques. 2. Who remain on trial?

Ans. The following, having stood an approved examination, their characters were passed, and they were advanced to the class of the second year:

H. W. Wallace, H. V. Trevillion, Geo. A. Guice, John W. Crisler, E. L. Rawls, John W. Tinnin, W. J. Ferguson, W. J. Dawson, G. R. Ellis, James T. Abney, H. G. Hawkins, K. S. Enochs, M. L. White, John C. Ellis, R. H. Barr, P. H. Howse, H. L. Norton, J. J. Smylie, W. M. Stevens, W. H. Lewis, B. W. Lewis, Geo. H. Thompson, W. M. Sullivan, J. R. Whittington, J. T. Leggett.

Matthew J. Miller not having been before the committee, his character was passed and he was continued in the class of the first year.

Ques. 3. Who are discontinued?

Ans. W. W. Moore, W. P. Meador, E. B. O'Quinn.

Bro. O'Quinn being out of the State attending school, the Conference passed a resolution to the effect that while they were under the necessity of discontinuing him, they did not disapprove his course in better preparing himself for the ministry.

Ques. 8. What traveling preachers are elected deacons?

The following, having stood approved examinations, their characters were passed, they were elected deacons and advanced to the class of the third year:

H. C. Brown, C. W. Crisler, W. H. Lewis, W. M. Stevens, P. H. Howse, H. L. Norton.

Hervie Mellard's character was passed and he was advanced to the class of the third year in deacon's orders.

The Bishop, having called these brethren before the chancel, addressed them on the subject of their reception into the Conference, and appointed to-morrow (Friday), at 10:30 A. M., for this exercise.

Ques. 7. Who are the deacons of one year?

Ans. The following, having stood approved examinations, their characters were passed and they were passed to the class of the fourth year:

J. G. Galloway, L. W. Wood, W. P. Jones, F. M. Keen and B. H. Rawls in elder's orders.

The following, not having been before the committee, their characters were passed and they were continued in the class of the third year:

W. G. Forsythe, H. M. Ellis, J. M. Cowan, N. J. Roberts, J. G. Cammack, R. W. Tucker, Geo. D. Anders.

Bro. T. B. Reagan was transferred to the Missouri Conference, in deacon's orders.

Dr. Chapman, representing Dr. Hayse, the agent of Paine Institute, addressed the Conference in behalf of that institution and raised cash and subscriptions for it. The Joint Board of Finance submitted Report No. 1, embracing the appropriations for 1892, and suggesting a plan by which the beneficiaries could be paid quarterly. The report was adopted.

Ques. 17. Who are supernumerary?

Ans. E. A. Flowers, J. A. Vance.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Committee on Memoirs to present at the proper time a suitable tribute to Dr. C. K. Marshall, for so long a time a great leader in Southern Methodism.

The hour for adjournment having arrived, the Conference adjourned with doxology, and benediction by Rev. B. Jones.

THIRD DAY.

The Conference was called to order at nine A. M., Bishop Hendrix in the chair. The religious exercises were conducted by Rev. T. S. West. The minutes of yesterday were read and approved. The presence of several laymen was noted. The presence of Bishop C. B. Galloway was also noted, and he was invited to a seat with Bishop Hendrix.

Ques. 10. What local preachers are elected deacons?

Ans. Arthur C. Burt, Wiley J. Ferguson, Geo. H. Thompson, Barney W. Lewis, James C. Ellis, Francis A. Lane, William J. Dawson, James R. Zachery, William M. Sullivan, James T. Leggett, Joseph C. Campbell.

Ques. 12. What traveling preachers are elected elders?

Ans. John D. Crymes, William W. Morse, Joseph N. Ware, William L. Linfield. James G. Sibley was continued in the class of the third year.

Ques. 14. What local preachers are elected elders?

Ans. Jacob C. Long, Thomas H. Rivers.

Ques. 5. Who are readmitted?

Ans. George W. Ferrer in the class of the fourth year.

At this point the Bishop announced the order of the day for 10:30, and after singing a verse of "Lord in the strength of grace," delivered a most appropriate address to the candidates for admission; and the following brethren were admitted into the traveling connection:

Hervie Mellard, William H. Lewis, Henry C. Brown, Charles W. Crisler, William M. Stevens, Henry L. Norton, Patrick H. Howse.

Ques. 18. Who are superannuated?

The following brethren addressed the Conference either in person or through their representatives, and they were referred to the Committee on Conference Relations:

E. R. Strickland, D. Merchant, L. Pierce, T. Price, A. B. Nicholson, T. Y. Armstrong, G. T. Vickers, W. E. Ballard.

The elder's orders of Edwin L. Rawls, who was received from the Cumberland Presbyterian Church last year, were recognized.

The Special Committee appointed to consider the communication of James A. Hoskins, reported, suggesting the appointment of a special committee of seven to meet and confer with Mr. Hoskins.

On motion of Rev. C. McDonald, the following special committee was appointed to express the opinion of this Conference on the Louisiana Lottery: W. L. C. Hunnicutt, C. D. Cecil, J. W. Harmon.

Ques. 19. Are all the preachers blameless in their life and official administration?

Ans. The names of all the preachers in the Vicksburg, Jackson and Brandon districts were called and passed.

Announcements having been made, the Conference adjourned with doxology, and benediction by Dr. Carter.

FOURTH DAY.

The Conference was called to order at nine A. M., Bishop E. R. Hendrix in the chair. The religious services were conducted by Bro. D. G. W. Ellis. The minutes of Friday's session were read and approved.

Ques. 20. Are all the preachers blameless in their life and official administration? which had been called at various times during the Conference—was resumed, and the characters of all the brethren were passed.

Bro. H. G. Hawkins was discontinued at his own request.

Bro. J. R. Savage was reported by his presiding elder as having withdrawn from the Southern Methodist Church.

The names of Bros. B. Jones and J. W. Harmon were referred to the Committee on Conference Relations for the superannuated relation.

Bro. R. D. Norsworthy read a communication from Miss Annie E. Linfield, corresponding secretary of the Mississippi Conference W. M. Society, which was referred to the Board of Missions.

Bro. D. G. W. Ellis read the report of the Committee on Bible Cause, and Bro. J. W. McLaurin, district secretary, American Bible Society, addressed the Conference in behalf of that great institution.

On motion, it was resolved that each pastor in charge of a work be requested to take up a collection for the Bible cause in October, next.

Bro. W. W. Cammack, who offered himself yesterday evening to go as a missionary to the Choctaw Indians within the bounds of our Conference, addressed the Conference on the subject. On motion of Bro. D. A. Little, a voluntary contribution was raised to aid in paying Bro. Cammack's expenses, and one hundred and fifteen dollars and seventy cents were raised. This money was placed in the hands of Bro. A. D. Miller as agent.

Bro. R. B. Downer read the report on the Spiritual State of the Church, which was adopted.

Bro. W. L. C. Hunnicutt read the report of the Special Committee on the Lottery, which was adopted.

Report No. 2 of the Board of Finance was read, and that portion referring to the publication of our minutes was laid on the table for further action.

Rev. W. C. Black read the report of the Special Committee of Seven concerning the paper of James A. Hoskins, recommending that the Board of Trustees of Whitworth College take the matter in hand.

Rev. Dr. C. G. Andrews was appointed to collect and forward the subscriptions made to Paine Institute.

The statistical secretary made his report covering the following questions:

Ques. 21. What is the number of the local preachers and members in the several circuits, stations and missions of the Conference?

Ans. Local preachers, 175; white members, 38,038.

Ques. 22. How many infants have been baptized during the year?

Ans. 1,378.

Ques. 23. How many adults have been baptized during the year?

Ans. 1,194.

Ques. 24. What is the number of Sabbath-schools?

Ans. 398.

Ques. 25. What is the number of Sunday-school teachers?

Ans. 2,212.

Ques. 26. What is the number of Sabbath-school scholars?

Ans. 17,051.

Ques. 31. What is the number, and what the estimated value of church edifices?

Ans. Number of churches, 425; value, $429,075.

Ques. 32. What is the number, and what is the estimated value of parsonages?

Ans. Number of parsonages, 95; value, $94,650.

Ques. 34. Where shall the next session of the Conference be held?

Hattiesburg, Hazlehurst, and Natchez were nominated, and Natchez was chosen.

The Committee on Public Worship made the following announcements for Sunday:

Methodist Church: 11 A. M.—Bishop Hendrix. Ordination. 3 P. M.—Memorial service. 7 P. M.—Sermon by Dr. W. L. C. Hunnicutt.

Baptist Church: 11 A. M.—Dr. W. C. Black. 7 P. M.—Rev. J. W. Chambers.

Presbyterian Church: 11 A. M.—Dr. C. G. Andrews. 7 P. M.—Rev. R. J. Jones.

After singing the doxology, the benediction was pronounced by Bro. J. M. Pugh.

SUNDAY'S SERVICES.

We are sorry that we were scarcely able to be out of bed on Sunday, and hence are unable to note the exercise except as they were reported to us.

The love-feast, conducted by Bro. P. A. Johnston, was fine. A large number spoke, and it is delightful to note that all the experiences were fresh and living.

At eleven o'clock Bishop Hendrix occupied the pulpit and preached from John x, 10: "And I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." This sermon was pronounced by all as one of the finest ever delivered before this Conference. Ere the Bishop had completed his discourse, the audience was wrought up to the highest pitch, and had he continued but a few moments longer there would have been an outburst in the crowded house. At the conclusion of this service the Bishop ordained fifteen young men as deacons.

The memorial service, at three P. M., was largely attended, and memoirs of Bros. J. D. Hays, R. Abbey, F. M. Featherstun, J. M. Gann and Dr. C. K. Marshall were read, and many feeling remarks were made. At the conclusion of these exercises the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered by Bishop Hendrix.

The service at night was conducted by Dr. W. R. Lambuth, who threw much light on the various missionary enterprises of the world, as well as those of our own church.

Altogether, the services of the day were very instructive and profitable. Great results may be expected in the near future.

FIFTH DAY.

The Conference was called to order at nine A. M., Dr. W. L. C. Hunnicutt presiding at the request of the Bishop. The religious exercises were conducted by Bro. D. C. Langford. The minutes of Saturday's session and of Sunday afternoon's session (memorial service) were read and approved.

The following committees reported, and their reports were adopted without discussion: The Committee on Temperance. Report of the secretary, and also of the treasurer of the Board of Missions. Report from the Sunday-school Board. Report on District Conference Records. The Conference Board of Colportage.

The report of the Board of Church Extension was adopted with a slight amendment.

Bishop Hendrix resumed the chair.

Ques. 29. What has been contributed for missions?

Ans. Foreign missions, $7,060.55; domestic missions, $3,077.05.

Ques. 30. What has been contributed for church extension?

Ans. $2,141.70.

The Committee on Publishing Interests presented an exhaustive report, which was adopted.

Bro. T. B. Holloman offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That it is cause of censure for any brother to fail to appear before the committee by whom he is to be examined.

Bro. Peebles offered a resolution looking to the enforcement of discipline, which was amended and adopted. The Bishop made some very pertinent remarks to the effect that the principal cause for disregard of discipline by the laity was a failure on the part of the pastor to put them to work.

Dr. W. R. Lambuth, our missionary to Japan, who has been some months among us, was introduced to the Conference. Dr. Lambuth is the son of Dr. J. W. Lambuth, who went out from the Mississippi Conference more than a quarter of a century ago.

The Committee on Conference Relations reported as follows:

For supernumerary relation, J. A. Vance; for superannuate relation, E. R. Strickland, D. Merchant, L. Pierce, Thos. Price, A. B. Nicholson, T. Y. Armstrong, G. T. Vickers, W. E. Ballard, E. A. Flowers, B. Jones, J. W. Harmon.

The Board of Education made its report, which was amended and amended, and ultimately adopted substantially as presented.

The trustees of the Conference Endowment Fund made their report, which was adopted.

Resolutions of thanks to the citizens of Brookhaven for their hospitality, and to the railroads for courtesies shown.

The minutes were read, and after singing Hymn 231, and prayer by Bro. J. A. Ellis, the Bishop announced the following appointments for 1892:

APPOINTMENTS.

VICKSBURG DISTRICT.

D. A. Little, P. E.
Vicksburg station, W. B. Lewis.
South Vicksburg, I. B. Robertson.
Warren, J. W. Brown.
South Warren, W. M. Stevens.
Rolling Fork and Anguilla, F. M. Keen—I. F. Hawkins.
Rocky Springs, G. A. Guice.
Utica, N. J. Roberts—W. H. Lewis.
Natchez—Jefferson street, J. Nicholson.

Natchez—Wesley Chapel, H. M. Ellis.
Washington, C. W. Crisler.
Meadville, H. B. Vandonburg.
Mayersville, J. W. Crisler.
Port Gibson, B. F. Jones.
Burtoolon, D. F. Guice.
Fayette, R. Bradley.
Roxie, W. P. Jones.
Martin, J. M. Cowan.

JACKSON DISTRICT.

E. H. Mounger, P. E.
Jackson—First Church, W. C. Black.
Jackson—Capital Street, L. S. Jones.
Madison, H. L. Norton.
Canton, T. B. Hollomon.
Camden, E. F. Edgar.
Benton, D. C. Langford.
Yazoo City, R. J. Jones.
Yazoo circuit, H. Mellard.
Silver Creek, W. J. Ferguson.
Lake City and Lodi, W. L. Liofield.
Flora, J. D. Crymes.
Pocahontas, T. J. Norsworthy.
Raymond, J. A. B. Jones.
Edwards, I. L. Peebles.
Mt. Olivet, J. W. Ellison.
Sharon, V. D. Skipper.
Assistant editor of NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, B. F. Lewis.
Missionary to Japan, J. W. Lambuth.
Professor of University of Mississippi, W. R. Sims.
Agent Millsaps College, A. F. Watkins.
Colporteur, W. D. Dominick.

BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT.

R. S. Woodward, P. E.
Brookhaven station, J. M. Weems.
Brookhaven circuit, supplied (by M. Ferrell).
Crystal Springs station, R. D. Norsworthy.
Terry, W. T. Griffin.
Gallman, W. W. Morse.
Providence, F. M. Williams.
Pleasant Grove, L. J. Jones.
China Grove, M. J. Miller.
McComb City, M. L. Burton.
Holmesville, J. H. Woodward.
Magnolia, V. V. Boone.
Summit, J. G. Cammack.
Adams, P. Howard.
Wesson, T. S. West.
Beauregard, J. G. Galloway.
Caseyville, H. P. Lewis.
Bowerton, A. D. Miller.
Hazlehurst, I. W. Cooper.
Lebanon; B. W. Lewis.
District superintendent American Bible Society, J. W. McLaurin.

BRANDON DISTRICT.

C. McDonald, P. E.
Brandon station, W. H. Huntley.
Fannin, H. R. Caldwell.
Clarkesburg, E. L. Rawls.
Homewood, C. C. Evans.
Marvin, supplied (by J. F. Robinson).
Raleigh, R. A. Sibley.
Forest and Morton, D. P. Bradford.
Shiloh, J. G. Sibley.
Westville, R. H. Barr.
Montrose, B. H. Rawls.
Lake, W. B. Hines.
Newton and Hickory, J. M. Morse.
Decatur, D. G. W. Ellis.
Neshoba, supplied (by J. C. Long).
Hillsboro, J. C. Ellis.
Walnut Grove and Carthage, G. H. Galloway.
Carthage circuit, J. R. Hayse.
Walnut Grove circuit, supplied (by Irvin Miller).
Trenton, R. S. Gale.
Rose Hill, G. H. Thompson.
Missionary to Choctaw Indians, W. W. Cammack.

MERIDIAN DISTRICT.

T. L. Mellen, P. E.
Meridian—Central Church, C. G. Andrews.
Meridian—East End, H. C. Brown.
Meridian—West End, N. B. Harmon.
Chunkey circuit, P. H. Howse.
Marion, Geo. Bancroft.
Enterprise and Stonewall, J. W. Chambers.
Waynesboro and State Line, J. V. Penn.
Vossburg, B. S. Rayner.
Shuhuta, J. P. Drake.
Waynesboro circuit, J. W. Tinnin.
Clarke, J. N. Ware.
Binnsville, J. M. Pugh.
Lauderdale, N. M. Clarke.
Porterville, J. T. Abney.
Daleville station, R. F. Witt.
Linwood, W. J. Dawson.
DeKalb, R. A. Breland.
Leaksville circuit, L. P. Meador.

SEASHORE DISTRICT.

J. A. Ellis, P. E.
Moss Point, C. A. Powell.
Scranton, L. W. Wood.
Ocean Springs and Biloxi, R. Selby.
Perry circuit, K. S. Enochs.
Bay St. Louis, W. G. Forsythe.
Pearlington, T. W. Adams.
Purvis, H. D. Howell.
Hattiesburg, J. S. Parker.
Whittington, J. W. Ferrer.
Vancleave, N. B. Young.
Americus, J. H. Holland.
Williamsburg, J. H. Evans.
Ellisville, R. B. Downer.
Columbia, M. H. Moore.
Heidelburg, W. G. Backus.
Mt. Carmel, M. L. White.
East Pearl, to be supplied.
Estabutchie, G. R. Ellis.

WOODVILLE DISTRICT.

P. A. Johnston, P. E.
Woodville station, H. W. Featherstun.
Percy Creek, W. W. Hurst.
North Wilkinson, J. W. Sandell—J. W. Huff.
Gloster and Centerville, W. W. Simmons.
Amite, J. C. Campbell.
Wilson, R. W. Tucker.
Bayou Sara, J. R. Whittington.
Jackson (La.) station, L. Carley.
Zachery, J. T. Leggett.
Clinton (La.) and Slaughter, J. J. Smylie and T. E. Winekoff.
Betoville, R. B. Henderson.
East Feliciana, G. D. Anders.
East Baton Rouge, H. B. Trevillon.
Port Vincent, H. W. Wallace.
Live Oak, W. T. Currie.
Springfield, W. T. Woodward.
Amite City, P. M. Brown.
St. Helena, C. D. Cecil.
Covington, T. W. Brown.
Talisheek, J. P. Haney.
Franklinton, W. M. Sullivan.
President of Centenary College, W. L. C. Hannioutt.
President of Edward McGehee College, H. W. Featherstun.
Professors in Centenary College, B. M. Drake and T. E. Winekoff.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The address of Rev. W. W. Hopper is Bridgeport, Ala.

Rev. M. B. Chapman, editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, gave us an appreciated call last Monday.

We found newspaper men quite thick at Brookhaven. They came from far. Louisiana and Mississippi seem to be favorite poaching-grounds.

A prominent brother said that we did not make a mistake in our short sketch of Bishop Hendrix. The Bishop won everybody by his suave and gracious manner.

We found Dr. Andrews and Bros. Jones, Sims and Chambers doing the work of secretaries as usual. That quartette of scribes can not be beat for efficient and faithful and accurate work.

We enjoyed the splendid hospitality of Bro. Sherman, a prominent banker in Brookhaven, regretting only that our time was so limited in his sumptuous home and with his delightful family.

An illuminated and pictorial edition of the Lord's Prayer, accompanied by Clarence Steadman's translation of a German poem on the subject, is most beautifully gotten up. It is a gem sent out by the American Tract Society.

Bro. Mitchel informs us that Rev. H. R. Tucker reported the proceedings of the North Mississippi Conference during the last days of the session. It was handsomely done, for which Bro. Tucker has the thanks of our readers and of the editors.

The ladies of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union opened their lunch house last week. We had a good lunch, as did many others, on the first day. We are pretty sure success will be won by these enterprising women, and they deserve it.

The Jackson Patriot has this personal:

Rev. J. L. Wright has been appointed deputy clerk of court for this parish. He is now minister of the gospel, justice of the peace, deputy clerk of court, recorder, notary public, and withal is a very useful man to have about town.

We missed several familiar faces from the body of the Conference. Dr. Marshall and Dr. Abbey especially were among the missing. We are of the opinion that those eminent men have simply been transferred and assigned work in another part of the Lord's vineyard.

We spent a glad day with the brethren of the Mississippi Conference. They all look cheerful and happy, and, fresh from victorious fields, they were resting on their arms preparatory to entering upon new conquests, when they should receive their marching orders from Bishop Hendrix.

The Mission Herald has been laid upon our table by the editor and publisher, Frederic Stanley. It is started in the interest of mission work in this city, and will be issued semi-monthly for fifty cents a year. Mr. Stanley is superintendent of the Bethesda Mission, recently inaugurated on Tchoupitoulas street. We wish the paper and the enterprise it fosters abundant success.

An officer of the law, whose memory has to be prodded by a grand jury, and who then falls into a fit of executive wrath at the police, is a pitiable spectacle. "Spasms of righteousness" in a ruler! Everybody understands that! What everybody wants to see is a steady-going enforcement, day and night, of every statute in the book. We have been educating the people in lawlessness long enough.

Every mother should have Johnson's Anodyne Liniment for cuts, burns and bruises.

The Lake Machine and Foundry Co. turned out of its shops, last Saturday, a large horse-power engine for Messrs. Pollock & Co., of Orange, who will place it in a recently constructed boat which will ply between Orange and Logansport.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

"No other Weekly Paper contains so great a Variety of Instructive and Entertaining Reading at so Low a Price."

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

A Weekly Paper for Young People and the Family—500,000 Subscribers.

A few additional Announcements are presented below. The full Prospectus of Notable Features for 1892 will be sent on application.

Several Special Articles.

Street Arabs of London. Personal experiences with them; by the wife of the African Explorer, Mrs. Henry M. Stanley.
Among the Irish Peasantry. A new and original View of their Characteristics; by Justin McCarthy, M. P.
A Russian Artist's Boyhood. A Story of unusual reminiscences, by the Russian painter, Vasili Verestchagin.
Incidents on Sketching Tours; by the painter of the "Return of the Mayflower" and other celebrated pictures, Geo. H. Boughton, R. A.
How to Entertain an Audience. A method illustrated by both humorous and pathetic stories; by Frank Hopkinson Smith.
The Mothers of Illustrious Men; by Gen. James Grant Wilson. The Mysteries of Modern Magic; by Geo. O. Bechtel.

Popular Science.

The Air we Breathe and the Water we Drink, Sir Lyon Playfair.
Popular Mistakes about Snakes. Mistakes about Indians. Errors corrected by a Naturalist, Prof. H. W. Henshaw.
The Climate of the Moon. The Boyhood of Sir Wm. Hamilton. A Snow-Storm on Mars. Agnes M. Clerke.

Southern Stories.

The Stories of Southern Life will be a marked feature of THE COMPANION during the year 1892. Among the authors may be mentioned:

Julia Magruder. Elizabeth W. Bellamy. Kate Chopin. Mrs. M. E. M. Davis. Will Allen Dromgoole. W. N. Harben and the late Mrs. Marie B. Williams.

Illustrated Sketches of Travel.

Some very Queer Passengers; by the former Commander of a popular Transatlantic Liner, Capt. Chas. W. Kennedy.
A Voyage to Madeira. Sea Life on a War-ship and Adventures Ashore; by Admiral Kimberly.
A Woman's Journey in North Africa. The story of a ride from Tangier to Tetuan; by Mrs. Annie Martin.
Sitka and its Inhabitants. A capital article on Alaska and its people, from personal knowledge; by Capt. Edward Field.
A Pedestrian Trip in Modern Greece. Life with the peasants; by The Late Rev. H. B. Carpenter.
Yachting on the Edge of a Cyclone. The Adventures of some wandering Naturalists; by Prof. J. T. Rothrock.
In the Don Cossacks' Land; by The Countess Norraikow.
Life on a Russian Estate. Homely Details of Work and Play; by a Native of Russia, Mrs. B. MacGahan.

How to See Famous Cities.

Suggestions to Travellers in the direction of Economy of Time and Money.

London; by Charles Dickens. Rome; by Prof. Rodolfo Lanciani. Walter Besant.
Paris; by Louise Imogen Guiney. New York; by W. H. Rideing.

Three Sea Stories.

W. Clark Russell, the celebrated Sea Novelist, has written three stories in his best vein, which will be printed exclusively in the next volume:

The Haunted Cliff. A Yarn of Ramsgate Harbor. An Ocean Stampede.

Household Interests.

Simple Gymnastics for the Family; by a nobleman distinguished for his advocacy of physical education, The Earl of Meath.
The Kitchen of a Big Hotel. Its ingenious apparatus; novel methods of cooking; enormous larders; by Everett Blair.
How the Pope keeps House. A familiar description. By an Italian Journalist.
New Treatments of Common Ailments; by Dr. W. G. Eggleston.
Daily Dangers to Our Bodies. A Series of Articles, by the Chief Inspector of the N. Y. Board of Health, Dr. Cyrus Edson.
Unique Features of Modern Houses. A popular Series of clever devices for increasing comfort; by Charles Barnard.
New Pastimes for Winter Evenings, for home, church and school; by George B. Bartlett.

The Illustrations will be improved and increased in number. The Weekly Editorials on the leading Foreign and Domestic Topics will be marked by impartiality and clearness. Household Articles will be contributed by well-known writers. The Children's Page will be more attractive than ever. The Illustrated Weekly Supplements, adding nearly one-half to the size of the paper, will be continued.

"A Yard of Roses."

New Subscribers who send $1.75 now, will receive THE YOUTH'S COMPANION FREE to Jan. 1, 1892, and for a Full Year from that date. This offer includes the CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR'S Double Holiday Numbers, and all the ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY SUPPLEMENTS. Any person who mentions this paper when subscribing will receive a copy of a beautiful painting, entitled "A YARD OF ROSES." Its production has cost TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS. Specimen Copies will be sent Free on application. Address,

Free to Jan. 1892.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Boston, Mass.

Send Check, Post-Office Order, or Registered Letter at our risk.

"Music hath charms."

Look at the Result of Purchasing a

-:PIANO:-

OF

Philip Werlein

Pianos, Organs, Music, Musical Instruments

No. 135 New Orleans, La. CANAL ST.

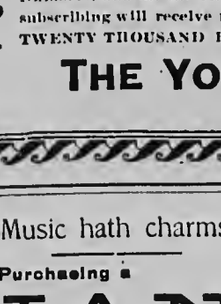
LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.



SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel, Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices! | Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the Large and Spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All Its Branches, and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this Institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director,

169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,
Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,
Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,
Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low.

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED, New Orleans, La.

Metal Tipped. EVER READY DRESS STAY Will Not Cut Through.

See Name "EVER READY" on Back of Each Stay.

Acknowledged the BEST DRESS STAY On the Market

Made with Gutta Percha on both sides of steel and warranted water-proof. All other stays are made differently and will rust. Beware of Imitations. Take none but the "Ever Ready."

Manufactured by the YPSILANTI DRESS STAY MFG. CO., Ypsilanti, Mich.

FOR SALE BY ALL JOBBERS AND RETAILERS.

SPECIAL DEPOTS. { MODEL DRESS STEEL CO., 74 Grand St., New York. BROWN & METZNER, 535 Market Street, San Francisco.

Nothing On Earth Will

MAKE HENS LAY

LIKE

Sheridan's Condition Powder!

It is absolutely pure. Highly concentrated. In quantity it costs less than a tenth of a cent a day. Strictly a medicine. Prevents and cures all diseases. Good for young chicks. Worth more than gold when hens Moult. "One large can saved me $46, send six for $5 to prevent roup," says a customer. If you can't get it send us 50 cents for two packs; five $1. A 2 1-4 pound can $1 20 post-paid; 6 cans $5, express paid. "THE BEST POULTRY PAPER," sample copy free. Poultry Raising Guide free with $1 orders or more. I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Boston, Mass.

There is nothing that may not happen to a thin baby.

There is nothing that may not happen to a man who is losing his healthy weight.

We say they are "poor." They are poorer than we at first suspect.

Do you want almost all that is known of the value of plumpness told in a way to commend to you CAREFUL LIVING—and Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil if you need it.

A book on it free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

26

NEW BOOKS

The Young Pianists Guide.
A collection of Sonatinas and other pieces of Standard value, leading gradually up to the easier Sonatas of Mozart, Haydn, etc. Compiled, thoroughly phrased and fingered, by GEO. SCHNEIDER. Sheet music size pages, bound in boards. Price, $1.25 by mail.

Calisthenic Exercises and Marches
with Pleasing Drill Songs and Music, for Schools, Colleges, Private Entertainments and Public Exhibitions. Prepared by FRANK L. BRISTOW. Price, 50 cents by mail.

Guitar Chords. | Chords for the Banjo.
A collection of Chords in the Principal Major and Minor Keys, intended for those who have not the time to take lessons. Prepared by F. W. WESSENBERG. Price of each, 50cts. by mail.

Model Practice Lessons.
A thoroughly Graded Elementary Course, selected from "The Repertoire," by DR. GEO. F. ROOT. Price, 25cts. by mail.

His Fortune.
A new secular Cantata for Schools, Societies and Public Entertainments. Arranged by MAGGIE RICE. Price 30c. by mail.

Ideal Four Hand Album.
Compiled from the best works of Wagner, Jaubor, Grieg, Gounod, Jaisohn, Handel, Alfoldi, Saint Saens, etc. Edited by J. W. PROCHAZA. Bound in boards. Price $1.00 by mail.

The Musical Visitor.
A Monthly Journal of Music for Choirs and Organists. Price, $1.50 per year. Single copies 15 cents.

—PUBLISHED BY—

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 203 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 19 E. 16th St., New York.

Each Man Speaks.

Gentlemen:—Please send another $12 box of Cunnalis Indica. It has entirely cured me of Bronchitis and Catarrh. I gained nine pounds in two weeks. The $36 spent with you has done more good for me than the $200 paid to doctors.

BENJ. F. JONES,
No. 820 Garrison Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

"This is the remedy that cured me of Consumption 18 years ago, and one of the medicines I hold in high estimation. Inclosed is $27 for another box of Indian Hemp.

"J. G. LITT, Pastor Evangelical Church,
"South Cayuga, Ontario."

$2.50 per bottle, or three bottles for $6.50. Pills and Ointment, $1.25 each.

CRADDOCK & Co., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia, Sole Proprietors.

Ask your druggist for Dr. H. James' Imported Remedies, or send to us direct, naming this paper.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., FOR Catalogue.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

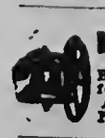
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO

SUCCESSORS TO CLEVELAND BELLS TO THE CLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO

CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.

BELLS CHURCH SCHOOL FIRE ALARM



McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Best quality Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, &c. BELLS
Also CHIMES AND PEALS.
Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

GOLDEN MEMORIES

OF THE BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.

8 Col'd Plates, 50 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations and A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ART. Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown, sold at a price within the reach of all.

AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP.
HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

HOME LIFE.

TO MY MOTHER.

BY MARY BOWDOIN PAGE.

I.

I pray for thee when early morning heralds
The birth of day,
And kneeling, ask that every hour of absence
Might speed away.

II.

I pray for thee when night adorns the landscape
With dusky hands,
And thoughts I can not frame in words while asking,
God understands.

III.

When dark forebodings fill the air about me
With subtle weight,
I pray the threat'ning cloud may soon pass over
And conquer Fate.

IV.

Thy message tells me of some heavy burden
That thou must face,
With all my soul I pray that God may show thee
A resting-place.

V.

By day or night, thro' dark or sunny weather,
I pray for thee,
And when thy heartfelt thoughts go up to heaven
Pray thou for me.

Give Pleasure to Others.

BY REV. J. W. HARMON.

The possibilities of humanity on the descending grade of intensified meanness and cruelty to others is marvellous; while the possibilities of human nature on the ascending lines of giving pleasure to others is measureless.

Seldom, however, does humanity measure itself up to the standard of its powers in giving pleasure and happiness to others. There is but one instance on record where this giving of pleasure and happiness to others ever measured up to the full powers of human nature, and He was crucified between two thieves.

The Creator of our being has given us ten thousand letters and lessons, in tens of thousands of forms, as to why and how we should give pleasure to others, and making the giving a happiness to the giver. What fascinating pictures in every conceivable color; what enameled photographs have been hung up over all the walls of this world; what waving lines of exquisite beauty have been spread out over the form and face of nature, to give us pleasure and happiness, teaching us that it is Heaven's will and order to give pleasure and happiness to all.

But, alas! this is one of the neglected chapters in this world's history, and in the history of many a professor of Christianity. And yet to scatter the flowers of sweet words and sweet deeds and gifts along the pathway of others, opens up within our own hearts, and in the hearts of others, the divinest forms of happiness.

Within the circle of our friendships are found peaceful homes, sweet tempers, loving natures, and gentleness of speech, where the dispensing of pleasure to others creates an atmosphere where pure angels come and go.

When the giving of pleasure lifts up and brightens the depressed heart of poverty; when it dispenses smiles in the midst of sadness; when it gives temporal boons, where nothing but blows had been dealt; oh! when it gives sunshine, where nothing but storms had prevailed, then we have something grand, noble and God-like.

Oh! what pleasure to guide the vessel of humanity away from the breakers into the smooth sea of security; when sunshine scatters the darkness, and pleasure is enthroned in the heart instead of sorrow; then we have something solid to stand upon.

Can any man find the secret place of happiness in nursing stocks and bonds and real estate? Can he find it in gold and silver and sparkling gems? The very idea traverses all the ethics of sound philosophy, because the material and perishable can never satisfy the soul that will never grow old.

There you are, like the thirsty mariner becalmed at the mouth of the Amazon river. A vessel heaves in sight at last; signals of distress are displayed. "What's the matter?" was the inquiry. "Perishing for water," the answer came. "Dip it up;" and on the vessel sailed. What a pleasure to find fresh water all around them!

There are thousands of thirsty souls sailing over the sea of life, and they are perishing for the pure water of happiness; they are becalmed right at the mouth of the river of God's pleasure. The signals of distress are seen in red-shot eyes, in frowning faces, and cast-iron feelings; those guilty oaths, that harshness in the household, that unrest of the soul; you are perishing.

I went to give you pleasure. Listen! Begin at high twelve to-day to give pleasure to others, and witness the magnetism of the change. It will be sublime, wonderfully entrancing; it will turn your heart to a gold mine of pleasure, that will be worth a capital of five thousand dollars every year you live.

An Unappreciated Blessing.

BY NELLIE BURNS.

There is a spirit in mankind to prize most things that are rare and expensive. It diamonds lay around us in profusion, their beauty would soon become lost to the human eye. Whatever is commonplace and can be obtained at little or no cost, no matter how great its virtues may be, is sure to be under-rated.

Among the things not generally appreciated in life, is the power of water, through bathing, as a tonic to the human body, particularly in the heat of Summer. From my own experience, I have come to the belief that there is no other agency so great for cooling the system, for soothing the nerves, and for overcoming the bad effects of the heat generally as a daily bath in tepid water. The use of water in the bath is one of the greatest blessings given by nature. Yet its very abundance and commonness makes it unappreciated by many. If water were scarce, and sold for a dollar a gallon, everyone would be eager to employ it in bathing, believing it to be, as it is, purifying to the blood and invigorating to the bodily feelings.

Many a weary housekeeper, worn out from excessive heat and overwork, doses herself with a dollar-a-bottle tonic when a greater restorative power lies inside her own pump, did she but avail herself of it. Many a man returns from his day's labor, hot, sweaty, dusty and tired, out of humor with himself and everyone else, and vainly resorts to the glass of beer, cider, or something stronger even, to improve his feelings; when a good all-over bath with a change into clean fresh clothes would make a new man of him.

There is generally far too little attention given to the matter of bathing among many of the busy, working class of people. They get the idea that bathing is not necessary, and a daily or semi-weekly bath would be adding another task to their already burdened lives—whereas they would be so much invigorated and benefited by a frequent bath that they could perform their labors with far more ease.

When we consider that in the skin of each person are millions of little pores, outlets for impurities escaping from the body, it is plain that if they become clogged, the blood will become diseased. Frequent baths have not only a salutary tendency, but promote the health by keeping the surface of the body in a healthy condition.

I believe it was intended by nature that through such simple remedial agencies was the health of mankind to be maintained; yet a large number of people ignore nature's laws and remedies, and their only recourse in sickness is the doctor and his drugs.

Babies and little children of two and three suffer so much from the heat and are often very restless at night. I suggest to the mothers of such to put the little fellows in a tub of tepid water just before putting them to bed, sponge down the little bodies, dry with soft towels, put nothing on them but the loose "nightie," and I think you will find it better than Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup for inducing sleep.

A great deal of fun has been poked at the farmer's bath-tub. One writer said it was no wonder that the country people were a dirty set, for there was not more than one farm-house in fifty that contained a bath-tub. And how could a person bathe without a bath-tub?

Now, I don't think the person of a cleanly habit is going without his bath, though it is not taken in a porcelain or silver tub. The virtues of the water and soap are just as great in the family wash-tub as in the most costly bath-tub, and although the former is less convenient and stylish than the latter, the use of it is more to be admired than an unclean body. "He who does the best he can does well."—Baltimorean.

Five Arab Maxims.

The wisdom of the ancients is proverbial. Here are five maxims from Arabia that will stand the test of time:

Never tell all you know; for he who tells everything he knows often tells more than he knows.

Never attempt all you can do; for he who attempts everything he can do, often attempts more than he can do.

Never believe all you may hear; for he who believes all that he hears often believes more than he hears.

Never lay out all you can afford; for he who lays out everything he can afford, often lays out more than he can afford.

Never decide upon all you may see; for he who decides upon all that he sees often decides on more than he sees.

LABORER VS. LOAFER.—Man has been defined as an intelligence served by organs. It would be more exact to say that he is a personality served by intelligence and using organs. The will, the power of self-direction, that which individualizes a human being, which constitutes him a person who can say "I" and "my"—this is his essential characteristic, and this makes him a laborer. The indolent self-surrender of the person to the impulse or caprice of the moment, the lack of intelligent objects in life, the slow fading away of strength at the heart of his being, and his consequent disposition to drift with the stream of things, rather than to guide their course—this is what dehumanizes a man, and makes him a loafer. It is only hard to be a laborer because it is hard to be a man. Effort, inward energy, power of will, being thus the distinguishing attribute of manhood, or, rather, selfhood, the fatigue which comes from overwork is not so intolerable to bear as the listlessness which torments the wretch who is sunk in the "sleepy drench" of laziness; and, in our present state, the practical fall of man is his fall from a worker into an idler. However much our desire may be for ease, our real happiness is in activity; yet the difficulty of urging body and mind into effort is so great that the ideal of many working people is still inactive enjoyment—an ideal which their very nature makes impossible of realization. How many men there are, farmers, mechanics, merchants, lawyers, who labor vigorously, looking forward hopefully to the time when the results of their labor will enable them to be loafers!—North American Review.

WESLEY'S BIBLE.—At the Ecumenical Conference at Washington, Dr. T. B. Stephenson said:

"I have in my hand here the little Bible which John Wesley carried about with him for forty years. Many and many a time he held that up and read his text from it, sometimes amid howling mobs, sometimes in humble and sometimes in fashionable churches—in which in the latter part of his life he was invited to preach. There it is—John Wesley's little Bible. It was printed in the year 1665, by John Field, 'Printer to the Parliament,' for it was in the time of the commonwealth that this little book was printed. It was one hundred and one years old when John Wesley wrote his name in it. Here under my eyes at this very moment there is a peculiar handwriting visible: 'John Wesley, 1766. Vive hodie'—'Live to-day.' It is only to-day that we can live. The past is gone, however we may try or desire to correct it. The future is not ours. We can only make it ours in any sense by making the present such as will operate upon it and influence it. Live to-day, for 'the night cometh when no man can work.'

"Oh, for the spirit of this man who was tireless in his labors; who flew from point to point in the prosecution of his work with an irresistible enthusiasm; who never seemed content to put two men's work into one day, because he was so anxious to put the third man's work into the same day; and all for the sake of saving souls, and for the kingdom of Christ!"

SOCIAL LIES.—This evil makes much of society insincere. You know not what to believe. When people ask you to come, you do not know whether or not they want you to come. When they send their regards, you do not know whether it is an expression of their heart or an external civility. We have learned to take almost everything at a discount. Word is sent, "Not at home," when they are just too lazy to dress themselves. They say, "The furnace has just gone out," when in truth they have had no fire in it all winter. They apologize for the unusual barrenness of their table, when they never live any better. They decry their most luxurious entertainments to win a shower of approval. They apologize for their appearance, as though it were unusual, when always at home they look just so. They would make you believe that some nice sketch on the wall was the work of a master painter. "It was an heir-loom and once hung on the walls of a castle, and a duke gave it to their grandfather." When the fact is that painting was made by a man "down-east," and baked so as to make it look old, and sold with others for ten dollars a dozen. People who will lie about nothing else will lie about a picture. On a small income we must make the world believe that we are affluent, and our life becomes a sham.—Talmage.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

SLIPPING AWAY.

They are slipping away—these sweet, swift years,
Like a leaf on the current cast;
With never a break in the rapid flow,
We watch them as one by one they go
Into the beautiful past.

As silent and swift as a weaver's thread,
Or an arrow's flying gleam;
As soft as the languorous breezes bid,
That lift the willow's long golden lid,
And ripple the glassy stream.

As light as the breath of the thistle-down,
As fond as a lover's dream;
As pure as the flush in the sea-shell's throat,
As sweet as the wood-bird's wooing note,
So tender and sweet they seem.

One after another we see them pass
Down the dim lighted stair;
We hear the sound of their steady tread
In the steps of the centuries long since dead,
As beautiful and as fair.

There are only a few years left to love;
Shall we waste them in idle strife?
Shall we trample under our ruthless feet
Those beautiful blossoms, rare and sweet,
By the dusty ways of life?

There are only a few swift years—ah, let
No envious taunts be heard;
Make life's fair pattern of rare design,
And fill up the measure with love's sweet wine,
But never an angry word.

The Children's Crusade.

MR. EDITOR: We are two little orphan girls living away out in the country, thirty-five miles from the railroad; but if we are in the country, and denied many of the pleasures which children of towns and cities enjoy, we love to join them and all other good children in such movements as that of which we read in your paper (the Children's Crusade). To join this crusade one of us made a part of a dollar picking cotton. The other one of us was glad to have so good a cause in which to invest a precious dollar (a present from a deceased uncle). Don't you think it good of the trustees to allow us a scholarship in Millsaps College? It will be so nice for us to know we are educating some one, and nicer still if he be a preacher who will love children and devote his whole time to them. Oh! how dearly the children would love such a preacher; for he would preach all the time just as our preachers do now on Children's Day. We want to ask every Methodist boy and girl to try hard to send a dollar and let us educate this very preacher; then when we are men and women, we will be as proud of the preacher we have educated and whom the children all love.

Your little friends, ANNIE PATENOTTE,
SISSIE MCLEOD.
Santee, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: I see so many letters from the little folks in the ADVOCATE, and none from this part of the country. I thought I would write one. I am a little girl eleven years old. I am going to school and learning fast. I have seven studies. My teacher is Miss Nannie Williams. We all like her very much. Our pastor is Bro. H. Bradford; we all like him and his family very much. We have preaching once a month. I will close by asking the little cousins this question: How many times is the word "lily" mentioned in the Bible?

Your new friend, MINNIE STORY.
Binnstown, La.

MR. EDITOR: As I have not seen many letters from this place, I thought I would write one. I have not been going to school, but I will start Monday. We take the dear old ADVOCATE, and like it very much. Our pastor this year is Bro. J. C. Mimms, and we are well pleased with him. Bro. Robert Lee Harris held a protracted meeting in our little town last week, and we were very sorry when he left. I remain, as ever, Your little friend,

MAGGIE LEE TUCKER.
Itenzi, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: I will answer one of the little cousin's questions. "Mule" is found in the Bible in II. Sam. xiii, 29; xviii, 9. I. Kings i, 33; Psalm xxxii, 9; Zech. xiv, 15.

Your little friend, COLTON M. SMITH.
Tehula, Miss.

THE BABY REMEMBERED.—The following pretty story is from the pen of Jean Ingelow, the poet: "A curious instance of dormant memory in infancy took place in our family. My mother went on a visit to my grandfather, who lived in London. She took with her a little brother of mine, who was eleven months old, and nurse, who waited on her as a maid. One day this nurse brought the baby into my mother's room and put him on the floor, which was carpeted all over. There he crept about, and amused himself according to his lights. When my mother was dressed, a certain ring that she generally wore was not to be found. Search was made, but it was never produced, and the visit over, they all went away, and it was almost forgotten. Exactly a year after, they again went to visit the grandfather. The baby was now a year and eleven months old. The same nurse took him into the same room, and my mother saw him, after looking about him, deliberately walk up to a certain corner, turn a bit of the carpet back, and produce the ring. He never gave any account of the matter, nor did he, so far as I know, remember it afterwards. It seems most likely that he found the ring on the floor and hid it, as in a safe place, under a corner of the Brussels carpet where it was not nailed. He probably forgot all about it till he saw the place again, and he was far too infantile at the time it was missed to understand what the talk that went on was about, or to know what the search, which perhaps he did not notice, was for."

GO HOME, BOYS!—Boys, don't hang around the corner of the streets. If you have anything to do, do it promptly, right off, then go home. Home is the place for boys. About the street-corners and at the stables they learn to talk slang, and they learn to swear, to smoke tobacco, and to do many other things which they ought not to do.

Do your business and then go home. If your business is play, play and make a business of it. I like to see boys play good, earnest, healthy games. If I were the town council, I would give the boys a good, spacious playground. It should have plenty of green grass, and trees, and fountains, and broad spaces to run and jump and play suitable games in. I would make it as pleasant, as lovely as it could be, and I would give it to the boys to play in, and when the play was ended I would tell them to go home.—Sunday-School Scholar.

The beautiful souls of the world have an art of saintly alchemy by which bitterness is converted into kindness, the gall of human experience into gentleness, ingratitude into benefits, insults into pardona. And the transformation ought to become so easy and habitual that the looker-on may think it spontaneous, and nobody give us credit for it.—Amiel's Journal.

SCIENTIFIC.

Edison's Electric Railway Motor.

Mr. Edison has explained to the New York Herald his belief that the locomotive will be displaced on steam railways, and that his electric motor will be used instead. He said the economy would be large; he would get one horse power out of from one to two pounds of cheap coal, while the locomotive only got the same one horse power out of six pounds of dear coal. He intends to demonstrate that there need be no such thing as waiting for trains between cities now considered a long distance apart. He intends to run a train, say of two cars, every twenty minutes.

"I can not go into details," said Mr. Edison, "for fear of injuring my rights on the other side—though, by the way, I never made anything out of European patents—but I will say briefly that the current will pass from the stationary engine to a central rail between the tracks, thence through the mechanism attached to the bottom of the cars or motor. A freight train, of course, would need a motor, because of the number of cars, although a single passenger car could be run carrying its own motor beneath it—thence to the wheels, and thence by the side rails to the power house or stationary engine."

"And how many of the stationary engines would be needed?"

"Three of them, with a horse power of 10,000 or 12,000 each, would run the whole Pennsylvania railroad system between here and Philadelphia."

"Freight, local, express trains and all?"

"All of them, and at a great reduction of expense. Not only is each horse power produced at much less expense, but the depreciation of rolling stock and road-bed is much less. Every exertion of steam power, is in the nature of an explosion, and when you take into consideration the fact that four or five hundred engines are on a road like the Pennsylvania at one time, each exercising a different degree of this explosive power, the depreciation is a great factor. But with electricity, it is always the smooth, rotary motion, imparted in the same way by the same men at the stationary engines."

"Can equipment be devised which will stand the strain of this system at full speed?"

The Wizard smiled. "Full speed of this system," he said, "is, or I see no reason why it should not be, 200 miles an hour. But as for practical purposes, I feel sure that a 100-pound rail on a rock-ballasted track would stand the speed of 100 miles an hour."—Scientific American.

The Silk Threads in Paper Money.

In spite of the skill and industry of counterfeiters, they have never made a bill which did not have one or more vulnerable spots. Some of the products of their handicraft may seem perfect to the untrained eye, but the expert will find that each one, like Achilles, has something lacking in his armor. Perhaps the feature of good United States Treasury notes which counterfeiters have found it most difficult to imitate is the two blue silk threads which run length-wise through them. They are little over an inch apart, and though sometimes almost invisible, they form part of every bill issued by the Government Bureau of Printing and Engraving. A. L. Drummond, chief of the secret service of the Treasury Department, who has had a long experience with counterfeiters and their wares, explained to a Tribune reporter recently why it was so difficult to copy good bills in this respect.

"In the first place," he said, "the silk threads are put in the paper when it is made at the factory. To make paper of the kind used by the government requires a big plant and lots of capital. So counterfeiters are kept out of it. Even if they had the necessary money, they wouldn't be fools enough to risk it all for the chance of making bogus bills. It would be exceedingly unprofitable for a paper manufacturer who already has a factory to make the paper, because to do so is a penitentiary offense."

Mr. Drummond then showed the reporter a counterfeit two-dollar bill, which had a single thread running lengthwise through its center. "This is the only bad bill I ever saw with a silk thread in it. Even this has only one thread instead of two, so it would not be dangerous to a skilled teller. I have never heard of more than two other bills like this one. It is easy to see that the counterfeiter split this note, put in his thread, and then pasted the two parts together again. The frayed edges showed that. The fellow must have been very stupid not to know that genuine money has two threads instead of one. An expert can easily tell when a bill has been split in two and pasted together again, so the silk threads would not deceive him."—Scientific American.

The Electric Headlight.

The use of electric headlights has now become quite general in Indiana, nearly all the roads entering Indianapolis now having several in service.

A representative of the Railroad Gazette made a trip over the Indianapolis, Decatur and Western from Indianapolis to Decatur lately on an engine equipped with the light. Its power is approximately 2,500 candle power, and it gives the engineman a light which on a straight track will often reveal objects at a mile or more, and for fully one-half a mile all objects of the size of a cow can be distinctly seen in ordinary weather. The greatest distance at which an object was seen was 2½ miles. This was a window of a station house in which no lamps were burning. When the light was first reflected from the window, the appearance was that of a locomotive headlight about a mile away. The window seemed to increase in size until at a distance of about three-quarters of a mile the effect was that of a burning structure. At this distance the outlines of the building could be distinctly seen. These distances were easily computed by counting the telegraph poles, which are 200 feet apart on this road. A water tank was sighted at nearly a mile, appearing much larger than it really was. Bridges with overhead trusses could be seen at half a mile. The highway crossing fences along the line had been freshly whitewashed and with little effort could be seen a mile.

Collisions have been prevented by the use of these lights.

The expense of running the light is nominal. The demand for steam from the locomotive is small, and the carbons, which last eighteen hours, cost but 70 cents per 100.—Scientific American.

Some very interesting facts appear upon a chart recently issued to exhibit the drift of bottles thrown into the North Atlantic Ocean at different points for the purpose of determining the direction and velocity of the surface currents of the sea. The average distance travelled by one hundred and thirteen bottles, in a mean period of one hundred and fifty days, was eight hundred and sixty-nine miles, and the average rate of drift was five and eight-tenths miles a day.

God leaves a touch of the angel in all little children to compensate those about them for the inevitable cares they bring with them.—Miss Muleck.

GOOD NEWS
FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF
Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a

TINY LIVER PILL

which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of

TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS

is shown in the border of this card.

Heavy Crops!

The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Royal Germetuer

Christmas Books and Cards.

The Religious Book Depository, 91 Camp Street, New Orleans, sells solely religious books, cards and supplies; Christmas cards, booklets and mottoes, with Scripture verses, or reading matter, is a specialty; Bibles of all bindings and print are for sale at low prices. Send for catalogue.

FIVE CENTS EACH.

Christmas Cards, at 5 cents each, also a large lot of Booklets at this low price. Here are the names of three: "I Am the Light of the World;" "For Unto Everyone that Hath Shall be Given," "I Am the Good Shepherd." Five pages and a cover to each.

TEN CENTS EACH.

6 Booklets, illustrated cover, six pages. "I Am the Resurrection and the Life;" Then Shall the Kingdom of Heaven be Likened unto Ten Virgins;" "Awake Thou that Sleepeth;" "Consider the Lilies;" "Watch and Pray;" "Him that Cometh unto Me."

3 Booklets, oblong, cover illustrated, five pages: "Let not your Heart be Troubled;" "Go Work to-day in My Vineyard;" "Be of Good Cheer."

8 Small booklets, full-page colored illustrations: "Sun of My Soul;" "Hark the Glad Sound;" "All Hail the power of Jesus' Name;" "Just as I Am;" "Light after Darkness;" "The Lord is My Shepherd;" "Jesus, Lover of My Soul;" "God be Merciful unto Us."

Any of the above will be sent for $1 a dozen.

FIFTEEN CENTS EACH.

4 Color illustrated booklets. Text for Every Day, and "His Love;" "His Word;" "His Will;" "His Way."

6 Booklets, Scripture-Text Poem, Illustrated cover, nine pages; "Sing Unto the Lord," "The Love of Christ;" "Lay Not Up for Yourselves Treasures;" "Come unto Me;" "Behold, I Stand at the Door and Knock;" "Whosoever Drinketh of this Water Shall Thirst Again."

TWENTY CENTS EACH.

Beautiful booklets in color illustration. Poems, "Glory to God;" "Lead, Kindly Light;" "The Pare in Heart;" "Life's Sunny Side," "Heart's Content."

Daily Text-Books for a month, "Goodness and Mercy;" "Bountiful Care."

Also a large number of hymns, with illustrations, handsomely bound.

FIFTY CENTS EACH.

"The Light of Nazareth," 3 full page illustrations. "The Working Ten" of the King's Daughters. 114 pages. Floral Bookmarks—a package of four.

SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS EACH.

"The Light of the World;" "The Heavenly Way;" two elegantly illustrated, large booklets with a text and hymn for a month—a daily companion. "Faith," from the Epistles to the Hebrews—elegant illustrations.

CHOICE CHRISTMAS CARDS.

No.				Cts. each.
1—40	styles, size	2½	by 1¾ inches	1
2—12	"	"	3 by 2¼ inches	2
3—32	"	"	4¾ by 3½ inches	5
4—29	"	"	4½ by 3½ inches	4
5— 8	"	"	4½ by 3½ inches	6
6—11	"	"	4½ by 4¼ inches	7
7—11	"	"	5¾ by 4½ inches	8
8—14	"	"	5¾ by 4½ inches	12
9— 4	"	"	7½ by 5½ inches	25
10— 3	"	"	6 by 4 inches	10
11— 9	"	"	6½ by 4¼ inches	15

Calendars for 1892, with Scripture Texts. Nice ones for 25 cents; better ones for 50 cents and $1 each.

Send for Catalogue of Scripture or Day-School Reward Cards.

Sunday-School Class Books and Records, Library Books, Hymn Books.

Write for anything you need in religious reading or work to

E. S. UPTON,
94 Camp Street, New Orleans.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus:

JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists,
LONDON, ENGLAND.

MARRIAGES.

GORDON—BEEMAN.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Pickens, Miss., Oct. 7, 1891, by Rev. H. C. Morehead, Mr. W. S. Gordon, cashier of Pickens Bank, and Miss Lelia Beeman.

NEILSON—TYE.—At the residence of the bride's father, Col. John F. Tye, Pickens, Miss., Oct. 15, 1891, by Rev. H. C. Morehead, Mr. Halbert H. Neilson, of Crystal Springs, Miss., and Miss Alice Tye.

SMITH—HARRINGTON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Maj. Fletcher Harrington, Holmes county, Miss., Nov. 11, 1891, by Rev. H. C. Morehead, Dr. Manning T. Smith, of Union, S. C., and Miss Ethel Harrington.

O'DONNELL—WOODY.—At the residence of Mrs. Hattie Johnson, Enapolis, Mo., by Rev. T. B. Reagan, Mr. John O'Donnell, of Piedmont, to Miss Mary Woody.

FLANAGAN—HANKS.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Carrollton, Miss., Nov. 25, 1891, by Rev. W. D. Beno, Mr. J. T. Flanagan, of Greenwood, and Miss Antonia Hanks, of Carroll county.

EYRE—SINGER.—In Pineville, La., Nov. 26, 1891, by Rev. J. F. Wynn, Mr. Willis Eyre to Miss Laura Singer.

MOUZINGO—DOYLE.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Webster parish, La., Nov. 26, 1891, by Rev. R. S. Coller, Mr. E. H. Mouzingo to Miss Mollie C. Doyle.

McKIMMONS—MORRISSON.—At the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Morrisson, near Kosciusko, Miss., Nov. 26, 1891, by Rev. D. W. Habb, Mr. McKimmons to Miss Ona Morrisson, all of Alcorn county, Miss.

BIRD—HENINGTON.—At Dr. Henington's, Tryus, Nov. 25, 1891, by Rev. F. M. Williams, Mr. E. L. H. Bird and Miss E. F. Henington, both of Tryus, Miss.

ALLEN—CRAWFORD.—At Mr. R. F. Crawford's, Copiah county, Miss., Nov. 26, 1891, by Rev. F. M. Williams, Mr. J. E. Allen and Miss Julia Crawford.

DIXON—MEEKS.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Gower, Dec. 2, 1891, by Rev. W. L. Linfield, Mr. John T. Dixon to Miss Nannie Meeks.

HODGE—McCRACKEN.—At the residence of Mrs. Gower, near Lake City, Miss., Dec. 2, 1891, by Rev. W. L. Linfield, Mr. Hugh M. Hodge to Mrs. Annie L. McCracken.

DAWSON—FUGLER.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Woodville, Miss., Nov. 25, 1891, by Rev. H. Walter Featherstun, Mr. S. H. Dawson and Miss Ida Fugler.

McCRANE—MORGAN.—At the residence of the bride's mother, White's Town, Wilkinson county, Miss., Dec. 3, 1891, by Rev. H. Walter Featherstun, Mr. Robert M. McCrane and Miss Jennie Morgan.

OBITUARIES.

WALLIS—ROBERT L. WALLIS was born Aug. 7, 1870; died Oct. 16, 1891. Thus closed a short career, when viewed in the presence of the longer lives; but it was of sufficient length to prove his character. He was an obedient son, a devoted brother. Full of the higher sense of honor, and an industrious student, he stood in the front in all his classes at Tulane University, and won the respect of his teachers for faithful and assiduous labors in his various studies. Raised in the home of genuine piety, taught in the Methodist Sunday-school, he had imbibed the blessed doctrines of Christianity, and when that insidious disease, consumption, appeared in his system, he bore all his sufferings as a true Christian soldier can only bear them, with uncomplaining patience and manly fortitude, giving as little toil to loving parents as possible.

Just as he was ready for a manly course, the pride of his family, the Lord took him home. The day before his death he said to his mother: "Do not worry about keeping me alive. I am ready to go. Death has no terrors to me; that feeling has all passed away." It is a mysterious providence, for he had sterling principles of a noble, high-minded youth who would gain honor for himself, his family and his church; but this is only human calculations—the Lord saw it otherwise, and hath told us his life at twenty-one was finished, his course complete, and took him home.

In genuine faith his parents, through their tears, say, "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord." He hath finished his course, been faithful in a few things, and hath received his reward. When we meet him on high and look back we shall see his work was done, and the Lord hath done what was best. May the Comforter come to his bereaved loved ones, and strengthen them in deep trouble. S. S. K.

TIDWELL—MRS. ANNA TIDWELL (nee Williams) was born in St. Helena parish, La., Aug. 23, 1851; was married Dec. 7, 1887, to Mr. L. M. Tidwell, and joined the Methodist Church, South, in early life, and lived a beautiful Christian life to its close, Sept. 25, 1891.

Sister Tidwell was a lady of the first type, and a Christian of rare graces. Her devotion to her afflicted father during his last years was simply beautiful, and, doubtless, was the evidence of the possibilities of a loving and faithful wife. It is not saying too much when we say that her friendship was precious and delightful to all. The Christian love emitted from her heart and home was as the glowing coals in the old home fire-place of a cold day. To be with her was to be happy.

But, alas! as is the case with all roses, that beautiful rose of a life of God's pencilling had to fade and die and be removed to heaven as a decoration of his glory up there; but, thanks be unto his holy name, that its fragrance sweetened earth before it left. Those who knew her will only have to turn, in memory, to the old home, as the vase in which she lived, to find the alabaster box of ointment poured forth when they would be refreshed in life's weary journey.

May God bless the bereaved husband with grace sufficient for the trial so sore. God bless her little niece whose sweet spirit is the fruit of that beautiful life from which the first lessons were taken. May our heavenly Father grant us all grace so to live that we all may meet in heaven, where partings will be no more!

J. W. ELLISON, ex-Pastor.

McComb City.

DEAN—AVERY AUDUBON, son of Bro. and Sister A. A. Dean, of Fairmount, La., died, after a brief illness of congestion of the brain, Sunday, Nov. 15, 1891, aged two years and eight months.

This lovely and promising child has been transplanted to a more congenial clime, to bloom and fade no more. Great consolation is had that "of such is the kingdom of heaven;" and "there angels do always behold the face of our Father in heaven." Grief is thus assuaged; sorrow is thus lessened; anguish of heart is thus palliated. How soothing and blessed is Christian consolation and hope! Our dear brother and sister, so bowed down in affliction, passing under the rod, are made to look forward and upward to the consummation of the glorious hope of the resurrection and eternal life. God makes no mistakes, although his "ways are unsearchable, and his judgments past finding out." T. B. WHITE, Pastor.

FOLEY—Again the mystic veil of sorrow has fallen over our village. We left for a short visit to the sea-coast—my husband and I, with our little ones—to recruit for the labors of the approaching season in the vineyard of our Master. But, alas! as we drank of the rich cup of pleasure seemingly right from the very hand of God—for nature is, indeed, lovely on the coast—before we returned home one of our most devoted families were drinking deep of the cup of sorrow from the same loving hand. We hastened home, that we might comfort those whom we love so well. Physicians and friends did all in their power; but, oh! death robbed that home of its brightest jewel, and turned its joy and gladness into sorrow. The life of a woman so pure and lovely, a patient, devoted wife, and a careful, affectionate mother, and a gentle, confiding friend, is a volume which makes a more lasting impression and leaves a more benignant influence upon the character and destinies of men than all the books of learning and effusions of fancy. But when it is nise gilded with the sunshine of Christian hope, the unfading colors of true Christian faith, and so beautifully illustrated on every page with unselfish devotion and unstudied benevolence, it becomes a beacon light upon the troubled stream of time to many weary souls. Such was the life of our sweet sister, ANNIE FOLEY.

She was born Jan. 6, 1829; married to James Foley, April 1, 1846, and died July 20, 1891. She was, indeed, the preacher's friend. She was always pleasant and glad to have her pastor and family come and go at their pleasure. The writer shall always feel thankful that it was her privilege to share the hospitality of such a noble woman. She leaves a large family of children, all of whom are married except three of the youngest—two lovely Christian young ladies and one son. She has only left her loved ones for a few days. Let us look to the portals of glory, meekly submitting to our Father's will, until through God's mercy and love we again shall meet, and bring all our grief and care and place them at Jesus' feet; ever rejoicing that this sweet mother sprang the pearly gates ajar to let us in.

MRS. R. F. WITT.

SCOTT—MRS. HARRIET AUGUSTA SCOTT, daughter of R. D. Foster and Sarah J. Woodham, was born April 30, 1849, in Chickasaw county, Miss.; married to Rev. Thos. W. Scott, Dec. 31, 1867, by Rev. Jno. Pipes, and died at her residence in Grand Cane, on Sunday evening, Nov. 1, 1891. Sister Scott was happily converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, under the ministry of Rev. Wm. H. Moss, in 1866.

As a true and devoted Christian, she was a shining light. She never lost an opportunity for doing good, and was especially kind and attentive to the sick. In church work we have not met her superior. She was ever ready and willing to do the Master's will. She served the Woman's Missionary Society as treasurer from its organization in Grand Cane, seven years ago, and was always at her post.

Sister Scott was ill but a short time, and as the end approached, being fully conscious of it, she gave expression to the burden of her thought; she exclaimed, "Oh! that I could speak back from eternity." Her last thoughts were for the unsaved. Glorious death!

She leaves a husband, three children and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. May the bereaved so live, that there shall be a happy reunion! T. L. L.

AMACKER—MRS. L. M. AMACKER (nee Tate), wife of James A. Amacker, was born in the southern portion of Marion county, Oct. 14, 1814; died Nov. 8, 1891, near the place of her birth. Another old veteran has laid by her arms and retired to rest.

Sister Amacker was a member of the M. E. Church, South; joined in early life and lived a consistent Christian until death. She leaves a husband, five children and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. She was the mother of eleven children, six of whom preceded her in death. Several years before her death she was compelled (from sickness) to make her home with her married children. On Nov. 8, while sleeping in her room, all being gone from home but herself and husband, the house was found to be on fire. She made her way into the front yard, where she remained till suddenly the wind blew, and she was enveloped in the flames. She suffered greatly for six hours, when without a struggle she died, and we believe from her past life she is with the blest. May her death be the means of drawing her children, friends and relatives nearer together and nearer to God.

J. T. ABNEY, Pastor.

McCAFFERTY—Sister LUCINDA McCAFFERTY, daughter of A. M. and Martha Rains, was born in Choctaw county, Miss., Sept. 21, 1850, and died in the same county, Sept. 12, 1891. She was married to Isaac McCafferty, Sept. 12, 1866, by whom she had five children. She joined the M. E. Church, South, at the early age of fourteen years and lived a devoted life.

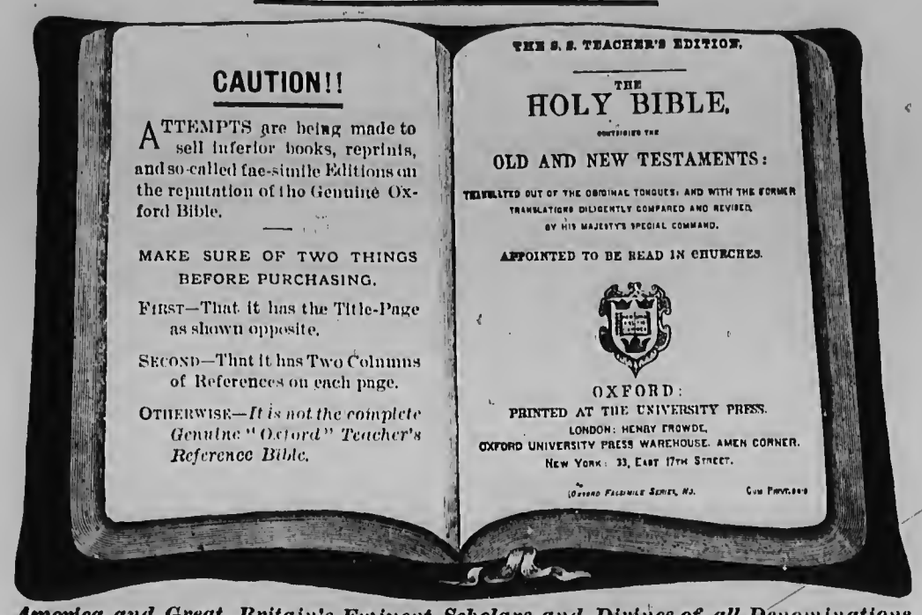
Sister McCafferty had been a great sufferer, but bore it with great patience and fortitude. She was never known to complain. She hopefully and cheeringly awaited the end, bidding her husband and children and aged mother, who is a widow, to meet her in heaven. Sister McCafferty's death was one, indeed, of gain. May her children, husband and relatives walk in her footsteps and meet her where there is no parting. J. H. HARRENTINE.

THE GENUINE OXFORD" TEACHER'S BIBLE.

A Whole Library of Scriptural Knowledge in a Small Compass.

THE STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE IN PRINTING, PAPER, AND BINDING.

The Most Complete Helps.



America and Great Britain's Eminent Scholars and Divines of all Denominations pronounce the Genuine Oxford Bible

THE BEST AND MOST COMPLETE BIBLE PUBLISHED.

The Right Hon. Wm. E. GLADSTONE says: "These admirable Bibles must tend to extend the fame even of the Oxford Press."

Rev. C. H. SPURGEON: "The very best. I have carefully examined the volume, and can unreservedly recommend it."

Rev. T. De WITT TALMAGE, D.D., October, 1890: "During my recent journeying in Palestine, I found the 'Oxford' Teacher's Bible helpful, accurate, and indispensable."

Rev. J. M. BUCKLEY, D.D., Editor Christian Advocate, October, 1890: "This is the most complete work for its purpose within our knowledge. * * * It is our constant companion when absent from home a library in itself."

Rev. Dr. William P. STOWE, Chicago, October, 1890: "I am frank to say that for clearness of type, for valuable helps and elegant and substantial bindings, the 'Oxford' Teachers' Bible has no superior in the market."

Over One Hundred Styles on Rag Made and the FAMOUS "OXFORD INDIA PAPER," from $1.25 to $20.

ASK FOR THE GENUINE "OXFORD" EDITION.

FOR SALE BY ALL BOOK-SELLERS.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS,

"Oxford" Bible Warehouse, 33 East 17th Street (Union Square), New York.

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and

Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware, Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cakes, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS: E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

Watches, Diamonds,

FINE JEWELRY!

Silver and Silver-Plated Ware,

SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

(Established 1817)

119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF

PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.,

Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,

NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS

THE BEST COMPANY

Is the company which does the most good; and the company which does the most good is that which issues and maintains the largest amount of assurance.

	Am't of Assurance issued during 1890.	Assurance in force Dec. 31, 1890.
EQUITABLE -	$203,826,107	$720,662,473
MUTUAL - -	161,365,921	638,041,180
NEW YORK - -	159,576,065	569,338,726
PENN MUTUAL - -	20,663,272	90,278,701
MANHATTAN -	12,962,401	54,500,754

THE BEST COMPANY MUST ALSO BE THE SAFEST COMPANY.

	Surplus.	Ratio of Assets to Liabilities
EQUITABLE -	$23,740,447	125
MUTUAL - -	9,981,233	107
NEW YORK - -	14,898,451	114½
PENN MUTUAL - -	1,634,452	110
MANHATTAN - -	1,036,632	109

The above companies are from nine to eighteen years older than the Equitable.

Write to the undersigned before insuring your life.

R. P. LAKE, General Agent, Jackson, Miss.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - - -	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - - -	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - - -	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - - -	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - - -	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. E. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

B. D. WOOD & SONS,

113 Common Street.

COAL AND COKE

We are prepared to furnish Families, Planters, Foundries, Steamships, Steamboats and all consumers of Coal or Coke at Lowest Market Rates.

We Can't do it

but are willing to pay for learning how to make as good an article as WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING of cheap material so that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c.

Our price is 20c.

The retailer says the public will not pay it. We say the public will, because they will always pay a fair price for a good article. To show both the trade and the public that we want to give them the best for the least money, we will pay

$10,000.00 Reward

For above information; this offer is open until January 1st, 1892.

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

Pik-Ron is the name of a paint which does work that no other paint can do. New wood painted with it looks like the natural wood when it is stained and varnished.

PAINTERS AND BUILDERS

will find it profitable to investigate. All paint stores sell it.

Lady Canvassers Wanted

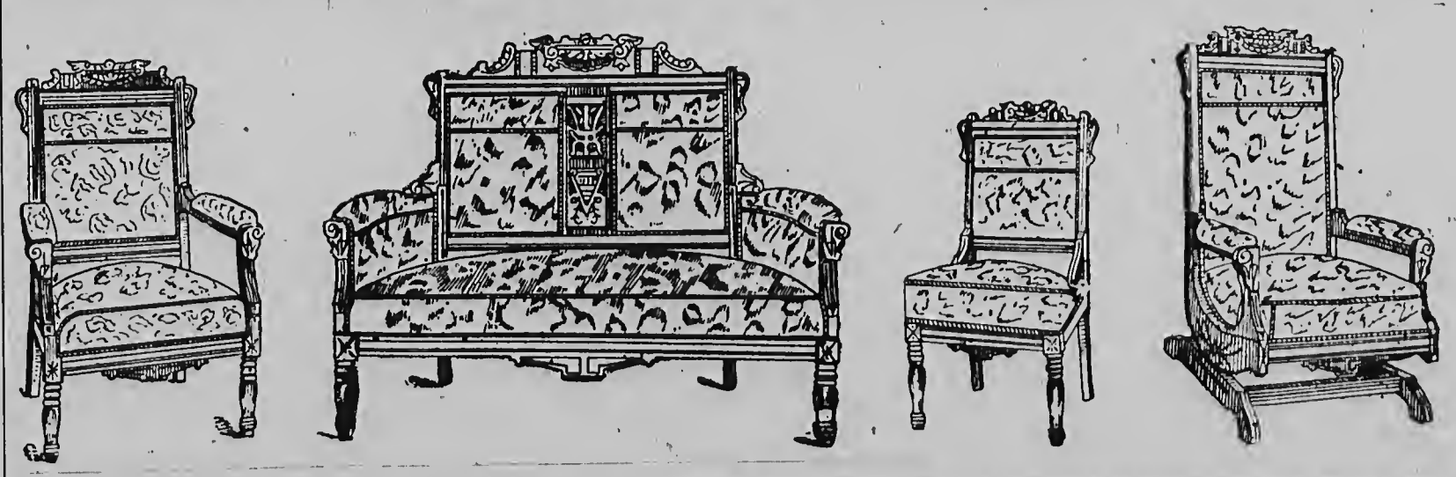
TO SELL OUR NEW

Haut-ton Waists and Duplex Corsets.

Exclusive Territory Given.

Address Bortree M'f'g Co., JACKSON, MICH.

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:--one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs. Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $40 up to $1000 Dining room suits, eight pieces, from $17 upwards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 upwards. Quality at top—prices at bottom I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded.

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30 | J. G. GRANT, | CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30

Royal Baking Powder Has no Equal.

The Royal Baking Powder will make sweeter, lighter, finer-flavored and more wholesome bread, biscuit and cake than any other leavening agent. It is of higher strength, and therefore goes further in work and is more economical. All government and scientific tests go to show this. Royal Baking Powder as a leavening agent is absolutely without an equal.

RUSH MEDICAL COLLEGE, CHICAGO.

"As the result of my tests I find the Royal Baking Powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder. It is therefore not only the purest but also the strongest powder with which I am acquainted.

"WALTER S. HAINES, M. D.," Prof. of Chemistry.

CHICAGO COLLEGE OF PHARMACY.

"The Royal Baking Powder, which tests the highest in strength, is free from lime, alum, lime phosphates or other adulterations. Its superlative purity, the entire wholesomeness of its ingredients, the scientific manner in which they are combined, together with its much greater strength, make the Royal unquestionably superior to any other baking powder.

"H. D. GARRISON," Prof. of Chemistry.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Winona station	Dec. 19, 20
Valden circuit	26, 27
West	Jan. 2, 3
McNutt and Sunnyside	9, 10
Brooklyn and Hubilla	16, 17
Indianola	23, 24
Lebanon	30, 31
Greenwood	Feb. 6, 7
Black Hawk	13, 14
Sidon	20, 21
Carrollton circuit	27, 28
Winona circuit	Mar. 5, 6
Carrollton station	12, 13

The district stewards will meet at the Methodist Church in Greenwood, Dec. 29, 1891.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Holly Springs station	Dec. 13, 14
Red Banks	19, 20
Byhalia	26, 27
Early Grove	Jan. 2, 3
Myrtle	9, 10
Eagle Springs	16, 17
Holly Springs circuit	23, 24
Ashland	30, 31
Lebanon	Feb. 6, 7
East Holly Springs circuit	13, 14
Olive Branch	20, 21
Mt. Pleasant	27, 28

The district stewards will please meet in Holly Springs, Thursday, Jan. 21, at ten o'clock A. M. We ask for a full attendance. The preachers' meeting for the district will be held in Holly Springs, commencing on Jan. 20, at 7 P. M.

JNO. W. BOSWELL, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Greenville	Dec. 12, 13
Gunnison	19, 20
Rosedale	26, 27
Bolivar	Jan. 2, 3
Australia	9, 10
Friar's Point	16, 17
Luis	23, 24
Clarksdale	30, 31
Shelby	Feb. 6, 7
Shaw	13, 14
Arcola	20, 21
Avon	27, 28
Jonestown	Mar. 5, 6
Belen	12, 13

Let preachers and people observe Friday before Conference as a day of fasting and prayer. District stewards' meeting at Greenville, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

R. M. STANDEFER, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Senatobia	Dec. 19, 20
Sardis	26, 27
Pleasant Hill	Jan. 2, 3
Como	9, 10
Batesville	16, 17
Coldwater	23, 24
Pleasant Grove	30, 31
Courtland	Feb. 6, 7
Cockrum	13, 14
Arkabutla	20, 21
Coldwater mission	23
Nesbitt	27, 28
Wall Hill	Mar. 5, 6
Mt. Vernon	12, 13
Panola	19, 20

The district stewards will all please meet me at Senatobia, Friday, 11 A. M., Jan. 22, 1892. The district stewards are G. D. Shands, J. F Lavender, J. W. Sharp, B. P. Jones, B. F. Ross, — — Harington, J. B. Garison, J. W. Jones, H. F. Johnson, W. S. Bailey, J. L. Boyd, — — McGehee, — — Jennings, Robt. Honston

H. C. MOREHEAD, P. E.

P. S.—My address is Sardis, Miss.

H. C. M.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Maben	Dec. 26, 27
Walthall	Jan. 2, 3
Chester	(Wed.).. 6
Louisville	9, 10
Weir	(Wed.).. 13
Ethel	16, 17
Kosciusko and Durant	23, 24
Sallis	(Wed.).. 27
Newport	30, 31
Pickens	Feb. 6, 7
Ebenezer	13, 14
Lexington and Tchula	(Wed.).. 17
Belzona	20, 21
Poplar Creek	27, 28
Rural Hill	Mar. 5, 6

The district stewards will meet me at the Methodist Church in Kosciusko at ten o'clock, Friday morning, Jan. 22, 1892.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Verona and Nettleton station	Dec. 19, 20
Tupelo station	26, 27
Okolona station	Jan. 2, 3
Shannon	9, 10
Aberdeen station	16, 17
Pontotoc	23, 24
Prairie	30, 31
Amory and Smithville	Feb. 6, 7
Nettleton and Fulton	13, 14
Saltillo	20, 21
Athens	27, 28
Houston and Wesley	Mar. 5, 6
Okolona circuit	12, 13
Tremont	19, 20
Buena Vista	26, 27

The following district stewards will meet at the Methodist Church in Okolona, Saturday, Jan. 2, 1892, at eleven A. M.: R. L. Trice, S. T. Harkey, John Trice, William Morris, J. D. Shell, S. H. Wood, Bro. Foster, J. H. Thomas, J. C. Burdine, T. W. Pearce, F. M. Beeks, Robert Gordon, P. W. Shell, Josiah McDaniel, W. Reeves.

J. B. STONE, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crystal Springs	Dec. 26, 27
Hazlehurst	Jan. 2, 3
Brookhaven	9, 10
McComb City	16, 17
Beauregard	23, 24
Wesson	23, 24
Topisaw	30, 31
Terry, at Terry	Feb. 6, 7
Magnolia, at Osyka	13, 14
Caseyville, at Sweetwater	20, 21
Adams circuit, at Adams	27, 28
Brookhaven circuit, at Adams	27, 28
Pleasant Grove, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 6, 7
Providence, at Bahala	13, 14
China Grove, at Waterholes	20, 21
Bowerton, at Brandywine	27, 28
Lebanon, at Brandywine	27, 28
Gallman, at Bethesda	Apr. 3, 4
Summit, at Summit	10, 11

District stewards will meet at the district parsonage in Brookhaven, Dec. 29, at 12 o'clock.

R. G. WOODWARD, P. E.

School Wanted.

A lady who is a graduate and an experienced teacher, competent to teach all branches of a thorough English education, desires a situation as governess, private tutor, teacher, or any employment suitable for an educated lady. Testimonials and best of reference furnished. Address "Teacher," care of this office.

Be Considerate.

Don't worry your friends and family with that worn and faded appearance. Get a bottle of Creole Female Tonic. It will change your pallid cheeks to the rosy hue of health.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

Jesus, the Joy of the World.

This is the title of our Christmas Service for 1891. It is an eight-page leaflet in bright-colored ink on tinted paper, with illustrated title-page. The exercises consist of songs, music, responsive readings, recitations, etc., and a special provision for the requested service on behalf of foreign missions. Price, 20 cents per dozen; $1.25 per hundred. Let Sunday-schools order early of their Colporter, or of BARBEE & SMITH, Agents, Nashville, Tenn.

For Christmas and New Year.

"The Mississippi Valley Route" (L., N. O. and T. railway) will on Dec. 23, 24, 25 and 31 and Jan. 1 sell Excursion Tickets between all stations at the rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. Tickets good to return until Jan. 5.

La Grippe Once More.

Marsden's Pectoral Balm is an unfailing cure for this dread disease. Begin using the Balm immediately upon discovering the presence of the disease. It never fails to cure it.

VASILI VERESTCHAGIN,

the battle painter, was wounded in the Russian Army while getting experience for his wonderful war scenes. Their realism is such a protest against all war that he became obnoxious to the Czar, though formerly a favorite. He is one of the special writers for The Youth's Companion.

Dangerous Prayers.

"I want you to spend fifteen minutes every day praying for foreign missions," said the pastor to some young people in his congregation. "But beware how you pray, for I warn you that it is a very costly experiment."

"Costly?" they asked in surprise.

"Ay, costly," he cried. "When Carey began to pray for the conversion of the world, it cost him himself, and it cost those who prayed with him, very much. Brainerd prayed for the dark-skinned savages, and after two years of blessed work, it cost him his life. Two students in Mr. Moody's Summer school began to pray the Lord of the harvest to send forth more servants into his harvest; and lo! it is going to cost our country five thousand young men and women who have, in answer to this prayer, pledged themselves to the work. Be sure it is a dangerous thing to pray in earnest for this work; you will find that you can not pray and withhold your labor, or pray and withhold your money; nay, that your very life will no longer be your own, when your prayers begin to be answered."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE,

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. R. G. Potter, W. E. Ballard, S. S. Holladay, J. W. Medlock, T. L. Lallance, H. M. Young, W. P. Kimball, R. H. B. Gladney, J. C. Lowe, N. G. Augustus, J. F. Patterson, R. A. Davis, J. A. Randolph, J. M. Barnes, E. H. Moon, T. G. Freeman, J. M. Massey, E. H. Orsey, T. W. Lewis, J. A. Whitehurst, T. B. Renean, R. F. Evans, D. L. Cogdell, R. W. Jones, W. W. Hopper, J. G. Galloway.

Messrs. A. F. Kinchen, H. D. Chaney, H. C. Griffin, J. Thompson, G. B. Clower, S. J. Taylor, M. Marsden, G. O. Aiken, T. A. Hollomon (2).

Mesdames J. W. Baker, T. C. Smith, M. C. Alexander, W. L. Weber, M. E. White, S. D. Dore, M. A. Burdine.

Dec. 15.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

This dispatch from Shreveport explains itself:

The first arbor day ever celebrated in Louisiana was conducted to-day by the teachers and pupils of the public schools. Speeches were made by Mayor Vinson, E. H. Randolph, J. H. Shepherd and M. C. Eistner. The children sang national airs, and over 200 trees were planted on the site selected for a public school building and on Texas avenue.

Can You Eat

Heartily, with relish, and without distress afterward? If not, we recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla, which creates a good appetite and so tones the stomach and bowels that the food is properly digested and assimilated.

The town council of Abbeville has ordered an election for Jan. 25, 1892, to decide on the issuance of a five-mill tax for the Iberia and Vermillion railroad.

Whiskers that are prematurely gray or faded should be colored to prevent the look of age, and Buckingham's Dye excels all others in coloring brown or black.

The Little River Lumber Company, Limited, with a capital stock of $25,000, has been formed in Monroe.

We should as soon go without matches in the house, as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, for croup.

The Methodist Book Depository, located on Capitol and Congress, has evidently come to stay, as the building they now occupy has been leased by them for three years.—Clarion.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Nineteen towns in Mississippi have a population of over 2,000.

OYSTERS AND SEEDS

Are valuable for what's in 'em. Good and bad oysters look alike in the shell. Good and bad seeds often have the same appearance. Anyone can tell a worthless oyster on opening it. The value of a seed must be determined by its growth. This makes its quality worth considering. You want seeds that will grow, and you want the product to be of value. You can not insure either of these things by mere inspection. There is but one guarantee; the reliability of the firm from which you buy. That our advertisers, Messrs. D. M. Ferry & Co., of Detroit, Mich., are most reliable, is attested by the fact that millions buy seeds from them year after year. Their enormous business furnishes the highest proof of their reliability. Their Seed Annual for 1892 is a model of its kind—illustrated, descriptive, priced. It contains information of great value to anyone about to plant seeds. Sent free on application to the firm's address, Detroit Mich.

The safe in the sheriff's office of Lawrence county, Miss., was robbed of $500 recently.

Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar has made a name and record in the past fifty years that is enviable. Thousands of people having tried it for coughs, colds, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis and consumption know its value, and would not be without it. Why? Because it cures where other remedies fail. We recommend it for children subject to croup and whooping-cough. It will give relief and cause speedy cure. The medical profession recognize it, and physicians frequently prescribe it for lung troubles. These facts have pushed Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar to the front rank. It is the best remedy for coughs, colds, all throat and lung affections, and no family should be without it. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

INTELLIGENT PATRIOTISM

is what The Youth's Companion is aiming at in its plan for a gigantic chain of debating clubs called the Lyceum League of America. This gives practical direction to the ardor of the school-flag movement, started by the same paper.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The Orleans Rice Mill, in this city, with a large stock of clean and rough rice, was burned on Dec. 12.

It is said that a syndicate has been formed to erect a system of beet sugar factories throughout Nebraska and adjacent States, with headquarters in Omaha.

A bill has been introduced in the United States Senate by Senator Gibson, of this State, to appropriate sufficient money for the construction of a dry dock at Algiers, opposite this city.

The British American Trust Company, with a capital of $1,000,000, has been formed in Mobile. The trustees include well-known capitalists of Mobile, Maine, New York and London.

At a meeting held in this city, on Dec. 11, to devise means for the participation of this State in the World's Fair, a permanent organization was decided upon, and the necessary committees were appointed.

A railway is to be built connecting the Alabama coal fields with deep water on the Warrior river. Work on the new railroad is to begin within ninety days. Its completion will practically give New Orleans an all-water route to the Warrior coal fields, which means cheap fuel for the Crescent City.

A proposition has been made in the city council of Richmond, Va., and referred to the Finance Committee, to provide Mrs. Jefferson Davis a home for the remainder of her life. The home is to be in Richmond, and is to cost not over $25,000. A resolution is to be presented soon to the Legislature of Virginia to appropriate to Mrs. Davis a pension of $1,000 a year.

So far as actual legislative business is concerned, it is probable that the present week in Congress will be devoid of feature or incident. Speaker Crisp has been industriously engaged during the last week in work preliminary to the appointment of the committees, but the experience of the past warrants the belief of old members that it will be found impracticable to complete them in time for announcement before the new year.

The annual report of the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua shows that work has been prosecuted with energy during the past year, and much progress has been made in the actual work of construction. Extensive wharves and landing facilities have been completed at San Juan del Norte; permanent buildings for officers, quarters, hospitals and other necessary buildings erected for the use of the company.

The details of the reciprocity arrangement between the United States and Germany have been made public. The sugar of the latter secures a continued free admission into the United States, and sundry American products, named in an accompanying schedule, obtain admission into Germany at rates agreed upon. The arrangement was submitted to the German Reichstag on the seventh instant, and if approved by that body, will go into effect Feb. 1, next.

A joint resolution was introduced by Senator Call, on Dec. 10, authorizing the President to open negotiations with Spain, for the purpose of inducing that government to consent to the establishment on the Island of Cuba of a free and independent republic, such consent to be given upon the payment by Cuba to the government of Spain of such a sum of money as may be equivalent, both to the value of the public property belonging to Spain on the island and to the relinquishment of her foreign rights.

It is not likely the President will make any new appointments before the end of next week. This is due to his desire to first submit to the Senate for action all the appointments he has made since the adjournment of the Fifty-first Congress, on March 4, last. Many important new appointments are to be made, chief of which is the vacancy in the War Department caused by the resignation of Senator Proctor. This office has been vacant since the fifth instant, and, under the law, the President has thirty days to fill it.

FOREIGN.

A syndicate of British capitalists have made an application to the government of the Argentine Republic for the privilege of exploring the Patagonian coast for minerals.

But forty-eight miles remains to be constructed of the railway that is to connect Buenos Ayres with Valparaiso. At the recent meeting of the directors of the company in London it was announced that 700 miles are now open to traffic.

Europeans are convinced that the anti-Christian riots are caused in many, if not all, cases by the hatred which the upper class Chinese bear toward the foreigners, this hatred being grounded on jealousy of foreign intelligence and influence.

The ecclesiastical controversy caused a great disturbance in the French Chamber of Deputies on Dec. 11. M. Hubbard introduced a resolution condemning the hostile attitude of the clergy and demanding that steps be taken for the separation of Church and State.

The German textile exhibits for the Chicago World's Fair promises to be extensive. Iron and steel manufacturers and jewelry and toy firms are making great preparations. The royal Berlin and Dresden china factories will also send fine specimens of their productions.

The rival factions of the Irish parliamentary party met in Waterford City on Dec. 13, and a riot ensued which was the most sanguinary and violent of any of the political rows that have recently attended the discussions in Ireland of the rival leaders. Michael Davitt was seriously hurt, and the hospitals and police stations received many of the rioters.

Prince Bismarck, in a recent interview, said he had never been a supporter of absolutism, and expressed regret that the Emperor had made use of such expressions. Referring to the subject of his resignation, the prince said he declared at the time that Gen. von Caprivi would be his successor, and that he himself recommended the present chancellor to the Emperor for appointment.

The agrarian papers of Germany continue their endeavor to keep up the fiction that American pork is diseased. Dr. Breakbush, the noted scientist, has made public the results of examinations of 3,000 specimens of American pork. He holds that American pork, even of poor quality, is perfectly harmless when it reaches Germany.

Disagreements have arisen between the Brazilian government and governor of the State of Rio de Janeiro. The differences are so radical that the government has requested the governor to resign his position. This request the governor has declined to accede to. It is now expected that the government will appoint a military governor of the State, and that martial law will be proclaimed.

INFANTILE SKIN SCALP AND DISEASES CURED BY Cuticura

EVERY HUMOR OF THE SKIN AND SCALP of infancy and childhood, whether torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, with loss of hair, and every impurity of the blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, is speedily, permanently, and economically cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Purifier and Beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. Parents, save your children years of mental and physical suffering. Begin now. Delays are dangerous. Cures made in childhood are permanent.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Skin and Blood Diseases."

Baby's skin and scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP.

Kidney pains, backache, and muscular rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

Mrs. M. M. AUVRAY,

SELECT BOARD,

277 Josephine Street, near Chestnut.

References.—Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D.; Rev. J. T. Sawyer, Rev. J. B. Walker, D. D.; Rev. D. L. Mitchel, Rev. B. Carradino.

Savings Deposits.

By resolution of the Board of Directors, THE SOUTHERN NATIONAL BANK, 187 Gravier street, New Orleans, will receive interest deposits.

Accounts may be opened with amounts of $5 and upwards, upon which the bank will pay 3 per cent. per annum when left with the bank three calendar months or longer.

Business men can put their surplus funds at interest without interfering with their current accounts. Planters, dealers, professional people, guardians, trustees, etc., are invited to call at the bank for full information. Ladies may deposit with us and thus increase the results of wise economies, and special conveniences will be provided for them in the transaction of their business with the bank.

With a capital of $500,000, the guarantee security therein assured to the public, and the success of the bank in establishing a good and increasing business, evidences its good faith in offering an additional sound and secure depository to the citizens of this and adjoining States.

T. R. ROACH, Cashier.

Holiday Goods

What more acceptable present can you give a friend at Christmas or New Year's times than a handsome Rug or a pretty Matting. We have made special prices on this line, and herewith append the list:

John Crossley & Sons Imported tap. rugs, 45c each

John Crossley & Sons—

	ft. in.	ft. in.
N Rugs, 2	1 x 4	3, 95c each.
11 "	2 8 x 4	8, $1.65 each.
6 "	2 6 x 5	6, $2.60 each.
	ft. in.	ft. in.
Smyrna Rugs (best quality) 2	2 x 4	6, $2.50 each
" " " "	2 6 x 5	0, $3.50 each
	3 0 x 6	0, $4.50 each

Smyrna Mats, 75c, $1 and $1 85 each.

Fine Damask Matting, Jointless, 25c.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp St., New Orleans.

A FEW MORE

Good Agents Wanted

For that Wonderful Chart,

"The Tree of Methodism."

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans.

THIRTY CENTS

WILL get you TWO good papers, THE WAY OF FAITH (weekly), THE SOLDIER (monthly), for THREE MONTHS, 8 sweet songs, and our Liberal Terms to Agents. Address GOSPEL MISSION, Columbia, S. C.

Mention this paper.

KNABE PIANOS.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.

Have you a Pittsburgh, Rochester, Duplex, or a Student Lamp?

Do they work satisfactorily?

Do your Lamp Chimneys break? You get the wrong sort!

The RIGHT ones are the "PEARL GLASS," made by Geo. A. Macbeth & Co., Pittsburgh, makers of the celebrated "Pearl-top" lamp chimney, which have given universal satisfaction.

The Forum

"The foremost of our periodicals."

THE REV. DR. CHAS. A. BRIGGS.

COMMANDING EVERY GREAT CENTRE OF THOUGHT AND ACTION IN THE WORLD.

A sample copy with illustrated prospectus will be sent for 25 cents.

THE FORUM is the most instructive, the most timely, the largest and the handsomest of the reviews

The three great groups of subjects of the coming year will be impartially and instructively discussed by the ablest writers:

I. Political Subjects growing out of the Presidential Campaign.

II. Financial Disturbances here and abroad.

III. Theological Unrest—with all the social questions suggested by these groups of great topics.

There is no other way whereby one may get the ripest information about the great problems of the time within so narrow a compass or for so small a sum—short studies of great subjects by more than a hundred of the foremost men and women of the world; because there is only one American periodical for which all the great leaders of opinion and of thought write; and that is The Forum.

The December number, for example, contains: "Degradation by Pensions—The Protest of Loyal Volunteers," by Lieutenant Allen R. Foote, Founder of the Society of Loyal Volunteers; "The Meaning of the Democratic Victory in Massachusetts," by Gov. Wm. E. Russell; "French Feeling toward Germany—Another Conflict about Alsace-Lorraine Inevitable," by Camille Pelletan, Member of the French Chamber of Deputies; "Should the Silver Law of 1890 be Repealed?" by Jacob H. Schiff, one of the most successful and influential bankers in New York; "Is Modern Education a Failure?" by Frederic Harrison, the great English Essayist; "Unregulated Competition Self-Destructive," by Aldace F. Walker, Chairman of the Western Traffic Association; "Woman's Clubs—The Volume and the Value of Their Work," by Alice H. Rhine; "A Day with Lord Tennyson," by Sir Edwin Arnold. And five other articles.

There are now in progress discussions of Our Pension System; Prison Management; The Training of Preachers; The Louisiana Lottery; The Next Step in the Tariff Agitation; Are Modern Educational Methods a Failure?

50 cts. a copy. $5 a year.

THE FORUM, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

NOW READY.

PELOUBET'S SELECT NOTES for 1892 includes studies for the first six months in ISAIAH, JEREMIAH, EZEKIEL, DANIEL, and PSALMS. The last six months in the ACTS of the APOSTLES.

Cloth, price	$1.25
Cloth, Interleaved Edition, price	2.00
French Morocco, limp	2.00

SENT POSTPAID ON RECEIPT OF PRICE.

E. S. UPTON,

Religious Book Depository,

94 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

WE TELL THE TRUTH about Seeds. We will send you Free our Seed Annual for 1892, which tells THE WHOLE TRUTH. We illustrate and give prices in this Catalogue, which is handsomer than ever. It tells NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH.

Write for it to-day. (P. O. Box 1143)

D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

THIS ORGAN ONLY $29.00

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

ADDRESS H. W. ALLEGER, Washington, N. J.

Christian Advocate

VOL. 38.—NO. 52. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1844.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

Rev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
Rev. B. F. LEWIS, Ass't Editor.
J. G. GRANT, Publisher.
Rev. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY.—Remittances should be made only by money orders, express company orders, registered letters, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or merchants. Drafts on country banks occasion a loss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts on country merchants we have no facility for collecting. Checks and drafts, also money orders, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, Business Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

GOOD TIDINGS.

"Behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

"Good tidings!" Wake, O men, and hear
What blessing to the world draws near.
The messengers of love,
Sent from their home above,
A glimpse of heaven's glory bring,
While to their golden harps they sing—
"Good tidings!"

"Great joy!" The sorrowing sons of earth,
Who sat in darkness from their birth,
Shall see this radiant light
Pierce through their gloomy night,
And shall rejoice that angels bore
The heavenly message to earth's shore—
"Great joy!"

"To all!" To all of every land
This message brings the angel band.
Not the loved Jew alone,
But all—yes, everyone
Shall hear this news, shall share this joy,
Shall have this gift without alloy—
"All! all!"

"A Savior!" Yes, from all their sin
His people shall he save, and win
Peace for his servants true—
His peace, forever new.
Give us thy peace, O Christ, our King,
That we for aye with angels sing—
"Our Savior!"

—Churchman.

Christmas Greetings.

We send with this number cheerful Christmas greetings to all our readers. While it is "a time for memory and tears," it is also a time for joy and thankfulness. In the gracious providence of God we are permitted to celebrate again the anniversary of the greatest event that ever occurred on earth. We have had a good share of toil and trouble and disappointment. Have we not also had a good share of peace and plenty? Are we not to-day in possession of the wonderful blessings which have come to the world by means of the incarnation of the Son of God? That wonderful condescension of the Christ has taught us more of God and more of man than we could ever have learned in any other way. Indeed, it has broadened and brightened the paths to all useful knowledge, and made life not only bearable, but has filled it with beautiful hopes of possibilities that stretch up to the divine mansions. In the incarnation of Christ we have revealed the divine idea of a true manhood, and in his human life we have the exhibition of that manhood under just such earthly conditions as meet us every day; and by the precious gift of his Holy Spirit we may live our lives according to the pattern he has given, and in the end be exalted to the same heavenly conditions in which his glorified humanity exists!

As this anniversary brings to mind all his wonderful work, and refreshes our memories with his gracious promises of hope and help, do we not rightly make it a time of rejoicing? Shall we not "be glad and rejoice"? Shall we not send greetings to each other in the Lord? Only let us be careful that our joy be a "holy joy," and our greetings "from the heart." With this holy joy in our souls, and with sincere greetings from our hearts, the editors of the ADVOCATE would to-day grasp the hands of all our readers and wish them "grace, mercy and peace from God, our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ. Amen."

Christmas-tide.

This is the season which unites all Christendom. Every Christian believer, of whatever name or nation, joins in celebrating the advent of the Babe of Bethlehem. Even those who doubt or deny his supernatural origin pay unwitting homage to the Savior of mankind by making this a time of superlative rejoicing, of good-will, and of good works. The majority of the world still remains unconverted to Christianity; but there is not on the globe a race or tribe, no matter how low and barbarous, of which some will not gather to utter their jubilation over the event commemorated.

It matters not whether the 25th day of December is the exact anniversary of the day on which the Redeemer of men was born into the world. That he came 1891 years ago is the essential fact and the historical truth of which Christmas is the recognition. Some day must be set apart in celebration of an event beside which all other occurrences of history are empty of importance, and by common consent the 25th of December has been chosen. It is the only festival of universal observance throughout Christendom, and which distinguishes Christianity wherever it is professed. The lines of division among Christians are then obliterated by the march of the whole consolidated army of the faithful to offer praise to its Captain.

The waves of doubt and denial are described oftentimes as sweeping over all civilized nations; but when Christmas comes, we find that really they are confined within narrow bounds. The spirit of Christianity is pervasive. The new tone which it imparted to society and the new impulse which it gave to civilization are discoverable everywhere, and never before were they so marked as now. However it may seem on the surface, the opposition to Christianity as a system of religious truth and ethical principles is actually insignificant. Of positive infidelity there is very little, however frequent may be the disposition to question theological dogmas and statements. The great mass of men in Christendom acknowledge the sublimity of the message delivered by Jesus of Nazareth, although their lives may do violence to his teachings. They know that he and his law are good, and good only. The virulent hostility to Christianity which marked the period of our revolution has passed away almost entirely, and it has been succeeded by respectful inquiry as to the facts on which religious belief is based. The remains of this old-time infidelity are so few that it has no representation in the newspaper press.

We do not know of a single newspaper existing in this country which is avowedly infidel and hostile to Christianity, or which treats Christianity otherwise than respectfully. Such a journal would have no sufficient constituency back of it, and it would speedily die for lack of public support. Several years ago an unsuccessful newspaper in New York ventured the experiment of attacking Christianity as a means of creating a sensation which would accrue to its benefit; but it only hastened its unlamented dissolution. There may be journals unchristian in spirit and principle, but none of them dares to attack Christianity. Even the reprobates themselves would despise it and rise up against it. Even among the vile and the vicious there is a recognition of the sublimity and awful solemnity of the sacrifice of the Lamb of God. Among the worst of men there remains some spark of reverential sentiment which feels the significance of the event commemorated at Christmas-tide.

The gospel plan of social elevation is the model upon which modern secularist reformers have been obliged to fall back. They take from it its religious character and deny its supernatural origin, but they can devise no other. Christ's declaration of the brotherhood of man is the motto they must take, though they pervert its application and neutralize its force by rejecting his divine leadership. Socialism, internationalism, communism, and even nihilism are such perversions, greater or less, but they bear witness to the fact that the only true principles of social regeneration are laid down in the gospel of Jesus Christ, and they indicate that the world is tending to their complete recognition as divine truth. It is groping in the dark, and stumbling and tripping, but all the time it is getting nearer to an acknowledgment of the glorious fact commemorated at this Christmas-tide. It is learning that Christianity offers the only plan and hope of true and lasting social reform.

This, then, is not a time for misgivings as to the triumph of Christianity. It is a time for rejoicing. Many timid minds tremble at the current scholarly criticism of the Bible, but it is serving to attract attention to the Word of God, whose truth is impregnable to criticism. Agnosticism is not a symptom of the really fatal disease of indifference, but a proof of earnest intellectual interest and concern touching the great questions of religion; and we are told that he who seeketh shall find. It is he who turns away carelessly who never gains the illumination. The most of the contemporary skepticism is really a hopeful sign for Christianity, which may suffer the loss of some theological exorescences by reason of it, but will retain unimpaired its kernel of divine and saving truth, the rock against which the human intellect beats in vain.

There is more real Christianity in the world, and a more spiritual perception of Christian truth at this Christmas-tide, than ever before since the incarnation it commemorates. Ever since that pivotal event in the history of mankind the race has grown better, enlightenment has spread, the seeds of human liberty have taken deeper root, civilization has assumed a lovelier form, the spirit of brotherhood has extended, and the kingdom of Christ has been enlarged. History records what seemed to be setbacks to the movement; but as we get a larger and a longer view, we see that actually they gave it new impetus. The march is steadily onward, never backward, and the progress during the present century has outstripped the advance of all the past.

Hence everybody can join in celebrating this Christmas with a glad heart. It is a time for boundless optimism and for dismissing every pessimistic suggestion. To us, too, and especially, the Christmas-tide comes this year with abundant prosperity. We are singular in our good fortune among the nations of the world. Here the blessings of Christian civilization and the bountiful fruits of the earth are enjoyed to a greater extent than anywhere else on the globe. Every home, therefore, should render its tribute of gratitude. If it is oppressed by poverty, its burden will be lifted at this Christmas-tide by the spirit of brotherhood which was born at Bethlehem. If it has happiness and prosperity, it has the abundance out of which Christ bade that a share shall be given to those who lack them.

Thus we celebrate the birth at Bethlehem, not by words of praise alone and gorgeous ceremonies, but by practicing the brotherly affection inculcated and exemplified by Christ. Christmas is the day of rejoicing over pleasure conferred. Then altruism, the fruit of Christianity alone, is exhibited in all its beauty, and man learns that the secret of happiness is in producing happiness, in forgetting self in doing good to others. That is a great philosophical, no less than religious, truth which the Christmas-tide enforces and illustrates.—Chautauquan.

Hail, Prince of Life, for ever hail!
Redeemer, brother, friend!
Though earth, and time, and life, shall fail,
Thy praise shall never end.

Bible Interpretation.

The Bible is, emphatically, The Book. It has more interest for humanity than any other volume; it reveals the profoundest truths that minds of men have ever been called upon to contemplate. The beauty of its imagery far transcends the highest flights of the poet's fancy; the elevated tone of its morality and the sublime grandeur of its conceptions evidence the divinity of its origin. The Bible is, in fine, superhuman; it is strictly a revelation. Being such, its teachings naturally contradict many of our theories. A book whose whole trend was parallel to all the notions of the human mind would in no wise be a revelation from God; it would be but a compilation of men's ideas and prejudices. Hence it need not surprise us if the truths of the Bible be wholly foreign to all our preconceived notions. Rather this fact should argue that it is no cunningly devised fable. But while the fact of its inspiration is, in itself, a barrier to our understanding the Word, on the other hand, the very idea of a revelation presupposes that there is something to reveal, and also that there is a desire on the part of the Revealer to make that something plain to those to whom the message is directed. The design of every good author is to be understood. God is assuredly the best of authors, and wills that all men should come to a full knowledge of the truth. Now, since the truth can not change, it follows that all false ideas and wrong methods must be set aside before the student can rightly apprehend the truth. It will be the object of this writing to discuss briefly the relation that the interpreter should sustain to his work.

In the first place, the determining factor of all true study is to be found in the strength of moral character and amount of mental attainment possessed by the student. A great deal of false interpretation of Scripture can be traced directly to a lack of either, sometimes of both, of these necessary qualifications. The propensity to interpret wrongly, like all other evil tendencies, comes from within; it is subjective, for the most part; it has its origin in the moral or intellectual unfitness of the interpreter. As the Bible deals more particularly with moral and religious subjects, the moral attitude of the student has first claim upon our attention.

The fundamental principle that underlies all honest research is that love of truth must be the predominating characteristic of him that would know the truth. The momentous question, "What is truth?" must not be asked with the idle curiosity of a Pilate; but it must have as its motive a sincere desire and longing to know the truth for the truth's sake, and it must possess in it the germ of an hearty compliance with the truth when it has been revealed. The true student loves the truth more than he loves his own ideas as to what the truth ought to be. He will not study the Bible to find excuses for his peculiar views, but will study it to seek out principles by which to guide his actions. He will not measure the Bible by the standard of his own life, but will endeavor to raise himself to the standard of the Bible. He will not disfigure the sacred page by reading into it his wild vagaries, but will receive the truth in an honest heart, and so incorporate it in his life as to make himself like the Bible—not the Bible like himself. Such is a picture of a true student, and such are the results that will inevitably follow his study. To become such a student, and to attain such results, some conditions must be fulfilled.

The first rule to be observed in the matter of biblical interpretation is, "Let the Bible mean what it wants to mean." Its doctrines are not to be twisted so as to coincide with the student's set opinions. The Bible is no book of arguments to prove the theories of men; rather it is the fountain to which we may go, in order to learn the truth of God. Now, as axiomatic as the rule given above is, it is, by far, the most frequently violated. Perhaps the interpreter has never lived who has observed it in every instance. So often is this rule transgressed that the pulpit itself sometimes countenances it. Like heathen Athens—so often berated for her folly—some preachers spend their time seeking to tell "something new." Let a man imagine some extravagant notion in regard to a text, and he is immediately hailed as "strikingly original." The question with such an one seems not, "What does the Spirit mean?" but, "What can I conjure up with reference to this passage?" Hence a vast deal of so-called interpretation is no interpretation at all; it is the vilest interpolation!

Some one, in the fertility of his imagination, conceives a pet theory. His eye glances upon a verse of Scripture that, to his mind, seems to corroborate his views. He pounces upon it, and, utterly oblivious to the context, and entirely unconcerned as to what the Spirit meant when he dictated the passage, he "wrests the Scriptures," and seeks to brand his own vain invention with the stamp of Heaven's truth. The injurious effect of such a method of proof is clearly apparent. Surely the dictum, that "honesty is the best policy," holds just as good in the matter of Bible exegesis as anywhere else. The employment of a strained argument is always deleterious in its rebound. Such distortion is always weakening to the side it professes to support. But this false method should be combatted, not simply because it is foolish; it is far more, in that it is dishonest—its adoption is the sin of Balaam. Our hope of ever understanding the Bible will prove a vain delusion if we are not willing to let it mean what it wants to mean.

"Study the Scriptures in an obedient spirit," is a precept upon the following of which our growth in knowledge will greatly depend. No one learns so readily and so retentively as the obedient pupil. A teachable mind is an unfailing prophecy of ultimate conquests in the domain of knowledge. "If any man will do, he shall know," is the testimony of inspiration that corroborates our own experience. A man must be fully cognizant of his own ignorance ere he can know. This consciousness of his own darkness of mind will beget in him a sincere desire for the light of revelation to shine in upon him, and that light will inevitably come, with all its doubt-dispelling power, to the one that is characterized by a deep appreciation of his need and a fervent desire for its satisfaction.

The last exhortation that we have to give is, "Pray for the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit." This is a most necessary condition for a proper comprehension of the Bible. Of all beings, the author of a book should be its most accurate interpreter. Hence it is an exhibition of folly for anyone to hope to acquire a knowledge of Scripture without importunate prayer for the guidance of its divine Author. The Savior's authority for such a prayer being answered is given in the promise: "He shall guide you into all truth. He shall take of the things of mine, and shew them unto you." How long will it take pulpit and pew to realize the fact that, as far as spiritual interpretation goes, an hour's fervent praying for divine light to be shed on a passage far outweighs, in permanent results, the perusal of the almost numberless views of men's misty minds? Perhaps the position of the truest spiritual exegete is on his knees, not in the professor's chair.

The reader will note that in this article it is simply the moral attitude of the interpreter that has been touched upon to any extent. While this is the case, let it not be thought that mental attainments are to be dispensed with. These must certainly come in and perform their part of the work. Studious attention to the context; a thorough knowledge of the character and times of the particular writer, together with an appreciation of the object of his writing, and the condition of the people to whom he wrote; extended research into the manners and customs of the nations of antiquity; an insight into the subject of the topography of their respective habitations—all these aids should be called in, if possible, to throw their light upon the subject. Above all, in the use of all helps, whether moral or mental, there should be the continual application of the principles of sound judgment. To a great extent, the Bible is its own commentary. Many texts have their explanation only in the light of other passages. The student will evince wisdom by allowing the validity of this fact, else he will be apt to find some serious trouble in reconciling isolated statements.

In conclusion, the Bible is a unit. Its central theme is Christ. If one sets out to find something else as its one subject, he will surely fall into grievous errors, both of judgment and of faith; but, setting out to find Christ, he will surely gain the object of his quest, and all doubts will be quickly dissipated by this Light that has arisen before his spiritual vision.

TEECEE.

"Behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."

Parliament of Religions.

DR. BARROWS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE OUTLOOK—LETTERS FROM GLADSTONE AND WHITTIER.

Dr. John Henry Barrows, chairman of the general committee of the world's congress auxiliary on religious congresses during the Fair, has just made a report on the first six months' work of the committee. Dr. Barrows believes that the parliament of religions during the Fair will be "the most important, commanding and influential, as surely it will be the most phenomenal fact of the Columbian Exposition." This opinion is shared by many of the ablest divines in the world, for in the parliament of religions Dr. Barrows has already interested the religious leaders of Europe and Asia as well as those of America. "In the Summer of 1893," he says, "not only Catholics and Protestants, Jews and representatives of the Greek Church, but also Buddhists, Brahmins, Confucians, Parsees and Mohammedans shall sit together in frank and friendly conference over the great things of our common spiritual and moral life. This one fact will impart to the Columbian Exposition a celebrity and importance beyond all the colossal buildings and sky-piercing towers likely to be erected. It is not too much to say that it will give to our labors and to this youthful city a place in the religious history of mankind."

The general committee that has these religious congresses in charge is said to be the most broadly representative that ever signed a religious manifesto. It is composed of men eminent in the religious world and in their denominations. Dr. John H. Barrows is chairman of the committee; Prof. David Swing is vice-chairman. Other members of the committee are Archbishop P. A. Feehan, Bishop William E. McLaren, Dr. F. A. Noble, Rev. William M. Lawrence, Rev. F. M. Bristol, Rabbi E. G. Hirsch, Dr. A. J. Canfield, Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Bishop C. E. Cheney, Rev. M. C. Ranson, Rev. John Z. Torgersen, Rev. J. Berger, Rev. L. P. Mercer and J. W. Plummer. The committee has sent circulars to the leading divines in all the continents, and to laymen known to be interested in religious work. The replies that have been received are notable. Cardinal Gibbons says the congress "can not but result in good to our common country." He adds that "if conducted with moderation and good-will, such a congress may result, by the blessing of Divine Providence, in benefits more far-reaching than the more sanguine could dare hope for." Dear old Whittier, the venerated poet, sent a letter that Dr. Barrows read through a mist of tears. The poet has on several occasions expressed a deep interest in the World's Fair. "I scarcely need say that I am in full sympathy with the proposed world's religious convention," he wrote. "The idea seems to me an inspiration. I can think of nothing more impressive than such an assemblage of the representatives of all the children of our heavenly Father convened to tell each other what witness he has given them of himself, what light he has afforded them in the awful mysteries of life and death. In my eighty-fourth year, and in very feeble health, I can do but little in aid of this great work. May God bless thee in the noble work assigned thee!"

Mr. Gladstone wrote as follows: "I look more to improved tempers and conceptions in the individual than to the adoption of formulated plans for the promotion of religious unity. Nevertheless, I can not read without interest your communication. Narrow comprehension frequently operates as exclusion, and in your plan I cordially admire the feature of a wide and genuine comprehensiveness. The subject is too deep to trifle with, too large to enter on; but, looking at it as a whole, I cordially wish well to your Christian and philanthropic effort."

Prof. D. W. Simon, of the Congregational Theological Hall, Edinburgh, says he hopes the parliament of religions may be fully realized. "If it be, I can not doubt that it will greatly promote that brotherhood of the nations for which so many of the best men of the race are longing and working. While sitting, last year, on the shore of your wonderful lake," he adds, "I fell into dreaming of the day when the English-speaking branches of the human race should be federated. Your dream includes mine, is grander. May it be much more than a dream, and that soon!" President Francis L. Patton, of Princeton College; William C. Wilkinson, the distinguished scholar and writer, and Joseph Cook, also sent letters indorsing the congress. Prof. Conrad von Orelli, of Basle, Switzerland, the famous theological writer and biblical scholar, is "pleased with the honorable place given to religion in the world's congresses of 1893." He will propose a series of themes to be treated for the larger assemblies. Dr. Maybaum, the distinguished rabbi of Berlin, will probably attend the sessions. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia; Prof. George P. Fisher, of Yale University; Rev. Lyman Abbott, of Brooklyn; George Washburn, president of Robert College, Constantinople, and many others, have sent letters to Dr. Barrows saying that they will aid the congresses in every way. Oliver Wendell Holmes sends his best wishes for a forward movement in the cause of human brotherhood and sympathy. Bishop Whipple says he is thankful "that our heavenly Father has put it into his children's hearts to hold this religious congress at the World's Fair." Prof. John Bascom, of Williams College; President Butterfield, of Olivet College; Mrs. C. P. Turner, president of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church; John Smith, of Edinburgh; Bishop John A. Keene, of the Catholic University of America, and Prof. Alexander Tison, of the Imperial Law School of Japan, are also deeply interested in the congress. Prof. Tison says he will help "in getting some representative English-speaking Buddhist to go to Chicago in 1893."—Chicago Herald, Dec. 5, 1891.

"And thou shalt call his name JESUS, for he shall save his people from their sins."

A Common Prey?

THE NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE now has an assistant editor whom we bid welcome to the tripod. Of his work, the senior editor speaks as follows:

"Much of Bro. Lewis' time will be spent in field work, and we bespeak for him the good offices of the brethren wherever he goes. He has special instructions not to invade foreign territory, but to keep himself within our bounds. Having come along thus far, the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE can not afford to weaken its self-respect by poaching."

The NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE is an honorable journal to which we always lift our hat. It is delightful to us Texans to know that there are some institutions in the M. E. Church, South, which do not think the patronage of this State a common prey. At a late session of a Texas Conference, even the Tennessee Methodist had an agent who made no public announcement of his business, it is true; but we were informed that he worked the Conference privately like a beaver, and carried away a good list. This paper might make it profitable to visit all the Conferences, but, like the NEW ORLEANS, we prefer to work our own territory for honorable reasons. We have subscribers in the regions beyond, but they came to us; we did not go after them.—Texas Christian Advocate.

Poachers seem to have consciences of great elasticity. The Southwest is a "big commons," and these depredators before long will stumble over a dynamite-bomb, and then—

"The boy, oh, where will he be?"

Verbum sapienti sufficit.

Praise God, from whom all blessings flow;
Praise him, all creatures here below;
Praise him above, ye heavenly host;
Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

YE MEN OF GOOD-WILL.

A Christmas Romance.

BY HEZEKIAH BUTTERWORTH.

I.

In his pastoral tent a young minstrel lay sleeping,
His harp by his side, and the flocks at his feet,
The watchmen afar David's city were keeping,
Where in cool olive gardens the winds murmured sweet.

II.

Of Zion was dreaming the wandering Tubal,
When, lo! in the heavens, God's city shone clear,
And sweeter than harps of the minstrels of Jubal,
A chorus seraphic awakened his ear.

III.

His hand clasped his harp, and his young face upturning,
He went from his tent to the chambers of night;
With arches of angels the heavens were burning,
And the night-watch of shepherds stood speechless and white.

IV.

The pure stars were dimmed in the clouds of evangels,
The bowed skies were singing o'er Bethlehem's hill,
And his own simple heart caught the strain of the angels,
The sweet benediction to men of good-will.

V.

He had sung in the Temple the chorals of Korah;
The anthems of Asaph; had heard the grand psalms,
When Jerusalem marched with her children before her,
In jubilees glorious with viols and palms,

VI.

But never such music as this. And he wandered
From sheepfold to sheepfold, from valley to hill,
To the palm-shaded wells where the Nazarites pondered,
To bear the glad tidings to men of good-will.

VII.

And oft—as he told to the herdsmen the story,
To the shepherds of Ephrata watching the fold,
To the dark camel-drivers, sun-wrinkled and hoary—
His harp caught the strain of the night harps of gold;

VIII.

"Ye men of good-will, hear my message and ponder,
As ye rest in the cool of the olives and palms;
My harp, angel-haunted, compels me to wander,
And sing the new strain of the Light of the Psalms.

IX.

"I love the cool wells where the worn camels slumber;
The dew-drinking lilies, the flocks lying still;
But more than the anthems of Asaph, that number
The night angels sung me, ye men of good-will.

X.

"Peace, peace, sing my harp, for the world is distressed,
And waits for the light of the comforting word,
Who heareth good-will in his brother is blessed,
And good-will to men is the will of the Lord.

XI.

"It came not, the strain, to the temples of Isis;
The priests heard it not on the Palatine Hill;
E'en Zion was deaf as the shrines of Osiris,
It came to the shepherds, O men of good-will.

XII.

"The conqueror slept in his throne chamber matted,
With only his golden lamp breaking the gloom;
The sentinel leaned on the dark caryatid
And guarded the priest in his peristyled room.

XIII.

"And that wondrous night passed; Heaven opened its portals,
The promise of ages it bent to fulfill;
But the king and the herald saw not the immortals;
The vision came only to men of good-will.

XIV.

"Since my ear heard the voice, all men are my brothers;
The harp that I carry responds to each woe;
And I leave the cool palm trees and olives to others,
And into the glare of the desert I go.

XV.

"When falls the wild storm, and the shepherds have covered
Their flocks from the sky, I feel my harp thrill,
And I tell of the bright clouds of angels that hovered
O'er Bethlehem, singing to men of good-will.

XVI.

"The world wends its way in the shadow of sorrow;
Woe kneels at the Beautiful Gate, as of old;
And kings lift their eyes for some better to-morrow,
And bitter lips empty the goblets of gold.

XVII.

"And so my harp follows all footsteps distressed,
And so must I leave you a wanderer still,
To sing to the shepherds the song of the blessed,
And play the sweet message to men of good-will."

XVIII.

He hied to the helpless, to slaves in their trammels
To the death-haunted lepers, who slept 'mid the dew;
To the wells of the desert, where thirsted the camels;
To the rocks and the pitfalls where wandered the ewes.

XIX.

So peacefully singing, the calm years passed o'er him—
One night when the winds of the desert were still,
He died, with the voiceless Sphynx rising before him,
And went with the angels of peace and good-will.

XX.

Still to men of good-will sings the harp, angel-haunted.
Have ye heard it to-day? Have ye caught the sweet strain?
Every heart is a chord to which angels have chanted,
As once to the heralds of Bethlehem's plain.

XXI.

The sheepcotes have gone and the camel bells ringing,
The cry of ewes; but, ah! sorrowful still!
Is the heart of the world o'er which Heaven is singing—
"Go echo the angels, ye men of good-will!

—Ladies' Home Journal.

"The scepter shall not depart from Judah, nor a law-giver from between his feet, until Shiloh come; and unto him shall the gathering of the people be."

What a Japanese Student Wrote Home.

I give below a copy of a letter which was written by a young Japanese, just after he had arrived in Missouri. The letter is very interesting, and gives some good insights into Japanese life compared to America, and is well worth reading. The difference between what he was accustomed to and what he first saw in America leads him continually in a strain of ecstasy.

JAS. M. ROLLINS.

Osaka, Japan, Nov. 14, 1891.

On Sept. 4 I arrived at Caledonia College. Left St. Louis on July 13, and went to Farmington. Mr. Boggs, the president of the college, came to receive me with a carriage. This is quite strange, and contrary to Japan, because in Japan there is no such thing as a Japanese professor receiving a poor student with a carriage. Even a small official who gets only ten dollars per month would be too proud for that. There was such a large Sunday-school meeting at Farmington that many people were unable to get into the church. I spoke for about a half-hour, and my broken English caused much sympathy in the audience. Voices of "Amen" and "Amen" rose up in the audience from every direction. Some of them knocked the floor with their shoes and some of them cried out, shedding tears from their eyes, and others cried out, "God bless you!" I was treated exceedingly kind.

On July 14 I started on a circuit to thirty-seven places with Bro. Kendall. Wherever I went I found the church crowded with people. I shook hands with twenty-eight thousand people! I will write here ten ways in which I was treated so kindly by the people, and I hope you will guess others:

1. On the white walls of the church I noticed mottoes worked with evergreens and beautiful flowers: "Welcome, Japanese Brother," "God Bless you," "Come and Be Saved," "We Pray God for You," and others innumerable.

2. Some nights it was very dark, and I could not see anything before my feet, so a minister got a horse for me, and he walked and led the horse for eight miles. Of course, I positively declined such kindness, but the minister compelled me. (Who was it?—J. M. R.)

3. Whenever I speak in the pulpit some devout persons come and fan me all the time.

4. Once when I took cold, one minister did not sleep through all the night, but kept near me and watched me.

5. Everyone patted my head and rubbed my shoulders, and said, "Welcome, welcome!"

6. Even children, five and six years old, call me "Bro. Ishida," and shook hands with me. My name was difficult to them; but whenever I would meet a man for the first time, he would say, "How do you do, Bro. Ishida?" It seems to me that they remember my name with pleasure.

(7, 8 and 9 are of a personal nature, and I omit them.)

10. Wherever I go they give me boiled rice. It must be difficult for them to get rice here; but they do not mind trouble, and when I eat it they look triumphantly at me. Everything I buy is at half-price—a special favor to me; and in fact, I am unable to describe their kindness to me.

TEN ADMIRABLE THINGS.

1. When a minister asks the members to tell their experience, even the old women do not hesitate on account of their false teeth, even if they fall out. She speaks manly (?) and fluently. What a difference from Japanese women!

Even a girl will not blush before God, but will speak, as a lark singing, very earnestly. She does not care if her bonnet comes off her head, but weeps, cries, and prays upon her knees. To compare Japanese girls, they are just like dumb stones. The children pray frankly upon their knees. Japanese children can not dream of this.

Old men deliver their speeches with vigor, knocking the pulpit with his earnest hand. When he is speaking he seems strengthened, and is able to beat down a Japanese wrestler! (Whew!—J. M. R.)

2. When they pray so earnestly, weeping and crying, they can influence anybody to weep, even the devil.

3. The camp meeting is flourishing in this place. People come with their whole families for thirty miles and put up a tent-house, and sing and pray and talk about their experiences for a whole week. I am unable to describe the real state of things. About 3,000 people, young men, old men, women and children, gather here all full of earnestness. Osaka (Japan) Church has a summer meeting once a year, but nothing compared to this.

4. Here the people have confidence in each other. So they have no stamp. (All Japanese carry a stamp of their legal signature.—J. M. R.) It may be $100 or $1,000 a man can borrow from his neighbors generally without a receipt. How is this? In Japan does not a pickpocket even steal a man's ring off his finger?

5. Once a boy asked me to show him my hand. He looked at it, and said, "You can never become an orator or preacher." "Why?" I asked. He said, "Because a preacher has to knock the table hard enough to break it, and your hand is too small." Guess the earnestness of an American speaker!

6. When I was talking with a man a child called me aside and told me not to have anything to do with that man, for he was a drunkard. Guess the manners of America!

7. People live three and four miles from the church, and some thirty miles, but they come earnestly to their church Sundays. This will show you how earnest American Christians are.

8. American Christians have long patience. They have prayer meetings from eight to twelve o'clock in the morning, and from one to six in the afternoon, and from seven to eleven in the evening. (Where? Oh, where has Ishida been?—J. M. R.) Japanese are tired to hear a speech even four hours long (!). They yawn and twist their shoulders. I can not help admiring Americans.

9. When we come back home from church the mother will play on piano or organ, and the children will bring their song books and all sing together—the father leading. Then there is no pain nor suffering in this world. Japan is a world of grief, but America is a world of pleasure? "Home, sweet, sweet home!" The wife will run away, sprinkling water upon her husband's head. The children will pull mama's hair and hide, and the maid will run away and hide her master's hat. Really it is the world of pleasure! Pleasant greetings in a Christian country! The country of Buddha is a world of pain!

(Here is the keynote to all. There is no "home" in Japan. There is no word in the language that expresses near what our word "home" means to us. This sight to Mr. Ishida melted his heart; and to those of us over here, it will melt our hearts to think of the utter absence of a "sweet-home" life in Japan.—J. M. R.)

10. It is wonderful that they will treat foreigners so well. What is the cause of it? Well, it is the Bible—"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." "Though I have faith to remove mountains and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing," etc. This is at the foundation of it all.

TEN AMERICAN CUSTOMS.

1. Woman's conduct is pure and right.

2. They respect woman as if she was a god, and even the master will salute his maid.

3. They work hard. Daughters of rich men work hard. There is no such thing in Japan. If a Japanese has thirty thousand or forty thousand dollars he will not work, but no healthy person is idle here; even men eighty years old will work.

4. They do not tell lies.

(It is painful to say that in Japan politeness and most any other thing is regarded as, and more sacred than, the truth.—J. M. R.)

5. They are thoughtful and ingenious to invent.

(6. Omitted.—J. M. R.)

7. They do not converse about indecencies or vulgar things.

(Even the salutations and social conversation in best society in Japan would be considered base, vulgar and obscene in America.—J. M. R.)

(8. The eighth refers to an ordinary and daily practice in Japan that can not even be written in language fit for a newspaper.—J. M. R.)

9. The relation between man and wife is just the same here as that which exists in Japan between parent and child. Man respects woman! If a man is intoxicated, he will behave in the presence of a woman. When there is no seat in a train a man will stand up and give his seat to a woman, and it so common that the woman don't even thank him for it. (The last part pushes our civilization one inch too far.—J. M. R.) Buddhism teaches that woman is a sinful creature, and the state of womanhood in Japan is a natural result.

10. Speed and progress. One hundred years ago America was a wilderness, but now we see the lady dressed like a peacock's tail everywhere, and hear the sounds of piano and organ. They praise God and read the Bible. How pleasant a world this is! Girls nine years old will read the Bible by the bedside of her sick mother, and will pray to God with tears. Small boys, often only nine years, will often cry, "Amen." Mother will weep, father will cry, "Oh, home, sweet home!" Alas! Japan is a world of misery! It is worth nothing only to compare, but it is our duty to study the cause.

FIVE THINGS I DON'T LIKE.

1. Woman will eat standing and walk while she chews. She is chewing something like gum. (Alas! alas!)

2. The people talk loudly about their domestic affairs, even in the train.

3. The people do not take their shoes off in the room, and spit everywhere in the room. (Oh! tobacco chewers.—J. M. R.)

4. No bath house. (Japanese all bathe daily; sometimes oftener.—J. M. R.)

5. Imperfect postal system. (He refers to there not being a free delivery everywhere.)

FOUR THINGS THAT TROUBLE ME.

1. When I call at a house they give me a cup of cold water and urge me to drink, so I drink it when I don't want it, thinking it rude to decline. You know Japanese don't drink water, but tea.

2. When I am sick I want Japanese food, but American food is too greasy.

3. The climate is hot, and the people don't carry fans and umbrellas. This greatly troubles me.

4. The people walk too fast. I was considered a fast walker in Japan, but here I have to run to keep up.

Now I have lectured in thirty-seven places, and I thank God for his blessings at every place. There were crowded houses and many turned away at every place. Both Christians and anti-Christians took interest in me, and in one place a sick man was brought on his bed to hear me.

Now my watch points to 2:25 A. M., and I have hard lessons to-morrow. I will not neglect to write again. God bless you forever. A. ISHIDA.

And such a letter! Out of this one can gather as much of real Japan as anything I have ever seen.

JAS. M. ROLLINS.

Father, our hearts we lift
Up to thy gracious throne,
And thank thee for the precious gift
Of thine incarnate Son!

Notes from Jackson, Miss.

The Methodists of Jackson are a great people. When they set their heads together to accomplish an object "there is no such word as fail." Sometimes they are rather slow in starting, but the end of the race generally finds them in the lead. They always have a Board of Stewards with so much church pride in them that for more than a quarter of a century they have not failed to send at the end of the year to the Annual Conference "a clean report." This board is composed of such men as Col. W. L. Nugent, whose tithes to the church and causes of humanity are not less than one-tenth of all he makes; the venerable Capt. J. P. Stevens, who is so closely connected with Jackson Methodism that its history would be incomplete without his name, and who has been a member of the Board of Stewards for the last twenty-five years, and one of the leading and most faithful members of the church; Maj. R. W. Millsaps, the founder of Millsaps College, through which his name will be handed down to coming posterity in a wreath of glory; T. P. Barr, born and reared a devoted Christian and an earnest worker in Christ's vineyard, besides several other younger members whose devotion to the church is unquestioned.

Dr. Black, their faithful pastor for the last three years, is an able man in the pulpit—and a good pastor who discharges his duty with becoming fidelity—is much beloved by his congregation, so much so that his last Quarterly Conference unanimously requested his return by the Annual Conference, now in session at Brookhaven, to this station for the ensuing year.

They have the largest Sabbath-school in the city, with Col. W. L. Nugent as superintendent, and Mr. Geo. S. Green, librarian, both of whom have faithfully discharged the arduous duties of their offices for the past twenty years. Connected with the school is a Juvenile Missionary Society, which raised the past year $110, besides paying the necessary expenses of the school, buying supplies, etc.

The Ladies' Wesleyan Society, whose unceasing vigilance and consecrated devotion in its "labors of love" have made it one of the chief corner-stones of the church, is just as enthusiastic in looking after the interests of the parsonage and making the pastor and his family comfortable and happy as when first organized in "the long time ago." This society is different from most others of this character in this—it never flaunts its good deeds to the world, but its works show for themselves. What would the Methodist Church of Jackson do without it? Then there is another Ladies' Society, which promises to be a strong auxiliary to the church, called the "Cecilian Circle," which, though less than twelve months old, has raised more than $1,100, the most of which has been used in placing stained glass, memorial and other windows in the church, thereby greatly adorning and beautifying this already splendid structure.

Thus you see that the Jackson Methodist Church is greatly blessed in having such "aiders and abettors" in every good word and work. But these notes would be incomplete were I to fail to make special mention of our dear Sister Green, a mother of Jackson Methodism, who for more than forty long years has been a constant and untiring member of this church. Her church and its good seems to be ever uppermost in her thoughts, so that she never lets an opportunity pass by, when she can, by some word or act, show her love and devotion for it. As an evidence of this, I will state this fact—that since the dedication of this church, seven years ago, every Sabbath morning when services have been held, whether in the balmy Spring-time, the burning suns of Summer, the bleak winds of Autumn or the icy days of mid-Winter, she has never failed to adorn the altar with a beautiful floral offering, the work of her own hands. The absence of this evidence of love for her church will, doubtless, never be seen any Sunday morning while she lives.

This church, including the Sabbath-school, has raised during the last year, and has so reported to the Annual Conference, more than $4,100. Has any charge made a better report? I trow not. The Jackson First Methodist Church is a grand church; its members are a good people, and but for their intense modesty in not knowing how to "brag," would make a great show.

In the absence of Dr. Black, last Sunday at Conference, Bishop Galloway, who has just returned from holding his Annual Conferences, preached two of his characteristically grand sermons, morning and evening, to large congregations.

AITCH. AITCH. AITCH.

P. S.—Since writing the above, Conference has adjourned and Dr. Black has been returned to this charge; and Bro. Mounger comes as presiding elder. We are satisfied and happy.

AITCH.

"I shall see him, but not now: I shall behold him, but not nigh: there shall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Scepter shall rise out of Israel. Out of Jacob shall come he that shall have dominion."

The Birth of the World's Savior.

BY THE REV. ARTHUR BROOKS, D. D.

Christ was born, we are told, in Bethlehem, as the result of the action of the Roman Emperor. Christ's first contact with the world, therefore, involved submission to the world's arrangements. There is no attempt to override them, or to show superiority to them. Obedience to what he found of God's ordering in the world was Jesus' method of changing that world. Taxation, and even enrollment, was obnoxious to the Jewish people, as a mark of conquest and inferiority. It exasperated them, and in Matthew xxii, 17, we find the Jews presenting the problem of foreign tribute to Jesus for solution. At the very entrance of his life we learn how, for his purposes, he was to use the hard things of life—even submission to death itself. This very command of taxation, which was opposed to the spirit of the nation, helped to fulfill its prophecies, such as the one given in Micah v, 2. David was honored, and the Savior was born in the town which was identified with the great king's boyhood. Not Jerusalem, the place of his kingship, but Bethlehem, the place where the boy tended his father's flock, and showed himself, not a hireling, but a shepherd, willing to lay down his life for the sheep when the lion and the bear attacked them, received the great honor of the Savior's birth. It is forever a mark of God's approval and honor for the faithfulness of boys and girls. He cares for them as much as he does for kings and queens.

So David lived again in Christ. The greatest man was not to obliterate or extinguish the lives of other men, as great men do too often. He was to make others live, and was to give true and lasting power to their memories and actions. He has always done so. No one serves him without making his own life greater thereby. Because Jesus brings us near to God, from whom we all came, to get near to Jesus is to get near to our own power of living well and strongly.

But Bethlehem, small and humble as it was, was not humble enough for Christ. Its inn, or khan, where ordinary travelers stopped, was too crowded to receive Joseph and Mary. This inn may have been the "habitation of Chimham" mentioned in Jeremiah xli, 17. At the best, it had very little of the comfort which we connect with the Word. Still Christ could have no place in it. He was born and laid in the manger. It is a lesson as to how the best things are pushed and crowded out of life. The Word of God finds no place, because our hearts are already full; service of God is postponed to other considerations and duties in life, and when a great moment of blessing comes, we are not ready for it. There must be readiness to perceive Christ, and so we shall have a place for him.

Christ was born, and at once men must be told the good news. The first missionaries to carry the gospel were angels. They were not ashamed of the errand; they knew that there could be no greater one. We may help men's bodies, and we may enlighten their minds, but to bring them and Christ together is the greatest blessing which one can bestow upon them. The message was carried to shepherds—men doing their duty, tending their flocks. They were in the same beautiful fields which had seen David's faithfulness; they were engaged in a work which was identified with gentleness and faithfulness, as we learned from Jesus' beautiful parable of the good shepherd. No great glory of this world had satisfied the hearts and lives of those humble men, and to them, in their humility and faithfulness, the blessing came. It frightened them. It seemed too great a thing for them. They were yet to learn the lesson which Christ taught the world—that one soul of man is large enough to receive the glory of God; that no gift of God is too great for one of his children. We are often afraid of the best things. Children are ashamed at being thought to care for God, or to think of him. Whereas, if we claim and seek the very presence of God in our hearts, that is ready to come, and will bring other things with it. The sun in heaven is for the eye of everyone on earth, and it brings all gifts in its train.

The Savior who is born is Christ the Lord. "Jesus" means "Savior," and is the same word as "Joshua." Here is a new, a greater, a perfect Joshua. There had been many saviors in the history of the people. This was the perfect one—first, because he came direct from God; next, because he was to rule over the hearts and lives of those whom he saved. God alone knows what is good for us, and what deliverance we need. He alone can save his children from their sins, forgive them, and take them away. Jesus, as explained in Matthew 1, 21, was to be a name which all the world should know, because, wherever it went, men who had sinned were to be rescued and saved. Other salvations belonged to one people or one time; one man wants health, another freedom, another comfort, another money—but all need salvation from sin. This religion was to be the universal religion, because it had for its message the gospel of salvation.

A special sign of this great gospel was given to the shepherds; they were told where and how to find the Babe. But the fact that he was like all other babes, and was to be found by all who sought him as their Savior, has been his sign ever since then. He has been in the midst of men, and all painters have loved to paint the Virgin and her Babe with the faces belonging to their own time and nation; and Jesus has had a message suited to all ears and tongues.

The multitude followed the single angel. Good news always spreads; happiness goes easily from heart to heart. This ought to be a happy world, because Christ is in it, and we can make it so by telling of Christ. In either form, that of the Authorized or the Revised Version, the song of the angels has one great and perfect theme—God's glory the means of man's happiness. One never comes without the other. A warring world is where each man seeks his own glory (James iv, 1). Peace comes when all work together for God's glory. When Jesus entered the temple in Jerusalem, the children sang of his bringing peace; when he left the world, he said, "Peace I leave with you." He is "our peace" with each other, as we love and serve God in him. The glory and brightness of Christmas is from heaven; it is to be found every day in the brightness and peace of loving hearts and of Christian homes, and of a world of brethren helping each other. The children's festival day ought to be making the world brighter. God's love has come to us, and now we are to make it our daily blessing. Christmas is the beginning of the Christian era, in which every new year tells of God's love for man. This is the practical meaning and result of the Incarnation.—Sunday-School Times.

He shall reign from pole to pole,
With illimitable sway:
He shall reign, when, like a scroll,
Yonder heavens have passed away!
Then the end—beneath his rod
Man's last enemy shall fall.
Hallelujah! Christ in God,
God in Christ, is ALL IN ALL!

Note from Japan.

The following note from Japan by Rev. J. W. Lambuth, dated Nov. 19, will be of interest to many readers:

I send you a map and a few illustrations of that part of Japan which was so terribly devastated by the earthquake of Oct. 28. The suffering and distress among the people is very great. Whole villages, numbering thousands of houses, completely destroyed. One village sank to the eaves of the houses beneath the earth. Relief and aid in many ways is coming in from all parts of Japan, both from foreign and native sources. I have not time to write more.

We have looked over the map and illustrations with interest. The destruction seems to have been very great, indeed. Those poor people are entitled to the sympathy and substantial aid of their fellow-men.

"I will declare the decree: the Lord hath said unto me, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee."

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

All books received will be acknowledged in this column. A fuller notice will depend upon the interests of our readers.

PERIODICALS.

—THE SANITARY ERA. W. C. Conant, New York. Price, $1.

—BABYHOOD, for December, is full of good things for mothers. Babyhood Publishing Company, New York. $2.

—CHRISTIANITY IN EARNEST. (November and December.) A. J. Kynett, 1,026 Arch St., Philadelphia. Price, 50 cents.

—THE GOSPEL IN ALL LANDS. The leading article of the December number is Missions in the United States. Hunt & Easton, New York. Price, $1.50.

Hail, the heaven-born Prince of Peace!
Hail, the Sun of Righteousness!
Light and life to all he brings,
Risen with healing in his wings.

THE CHURCH AND THE WORLD.

The Church and the World walked far apart
On the changing shore of time;
The World was singing a giddy song,
And the Church a hymn sublime.

"Come, give me your hand," cried the merry World,
"And walk with me this way;"
But the good Church hid her snowy hand,
And solemnly answered, "Nay,
I will not give you my hand at all,
And I will not walk with you;
Your way is the way of eternal death,
And your words are all untrue."

"Nay, walk with me but a little space,"
Said the World with a kindly air;
"The road I walk is a pleasant road,
And the sun shines always there;
Your way is narrow and thorny and rough,
While mine is flowery and smooth;
Your lot is sad with reproach and toil,
But in circles of joy I move.

"My way, you can see, is a broad, fair one,
And my gate is high and wide;
There is room enough for you and for me,
To travel side by side."

Half shyly the Church approached the World,
And gave him her hand of snow;
And the false World grasped it and walked along,
Saying in accents low:

"Your dress is too simple to please my taste,
I have gold and pearls to wear;
Rich velvets and silks for your graceful form,
And diamonds to deck your hair."

The Church looked down at her plain white robes,
And then at the dazzling World,
And blushed as she saw his handsome lip,
With a smile contemptuous curled.

"I will change my dress for a costlier one,"
Said the Church with a smile of grace;
Then her pure white garments drifted away,
And the World gave in their place
Satins and silks and seal-skins rare
And roses and gems and pearls;
And over her forehead fell her bright hair,
Crisped in a thousand curls.

"Your House is too plain," said the proud old World
"I'll build you one like mine,
With kitchen for feasting and Parlor for play,
And furniture never so fine."

So he built her a costly and beautiful house—
Splendid it was to behold;
Her sons and her daughters met frequently there,
Shining in purple and gold.

And Fair and Festival—frolics untold,
Were held in the place of prayer,
And maidens bewitching as sirens of old,
With worldly graces rare,
Invented the very cunningest tricks,
Untrammeled by Gospel or laws,
To beguile and amuse and win from the World,
Some help for the righteous cause.

The Angel of Mercy flew over the Church,
And whispered, "I know thy sin;"
Then the Church looked sad and anxiously longed
To gather the children in;
But some were off at the midnight Ball,
And some at the Euchre or Play;
And some were drinking in gay saloons,
As she quietly went her way.

Then the sly World gallantly said to her,
"Your children mean no harm,
Merely indulging in innocent sports;"
So she leaned on his proffered arm,
And smiled and chatted and gathered flowers,
As she walked along with the World:
While millions and millions of precious souls
To the horrible pit were hurled!

"Your Preachers are all too old and plain,"
said the gay World, with a sneer;
They frighten my children with dreadful tales,
Which I do not like them to hear.

They talk of Judgment, a Coming Lord,
And the horrors of endless night;
They warn of a place that should not be
Mentioned to ears polite!
I will send you some of a better stamp,
Modern and brilliant and fast;
Who will show how men may live as they list,
And go to Heaven at last.

The Father is merciful, great and good,
Loving and tender and kind;
Do you think he would take one child to Heaven
And leave another behind?

Go train your teachers up to the times,
Adopt the stylish way;
We all want Entertainment fine,
And only that will pay."

So she called for pleasing and gay divines,
Gifted, and great and learned,
And the plain old men that preached the Cross
Were out of her pulpits turned.

Then Mammon came in and supported the Church,
Renting a prominent pew;
And preaching and singing and floral display,
Proclaimed a period new.

"You give too much to the poor," said the World,
"Far more than you ought to do;
Though the poor need shelter, food and clothes,
Why need it trouble you?

And afar to the heathen in foreign lands,
Your thoughts need never roam;
The Father of Mercies will care for them,
Let Charity begin at home."

So take your money and buy rich robes,
And horses and carriages fine;
And pearls and jewels and dainty food,
And the rarest and costliest wine.

My children they dote on all such things,
And if you their love would win,
You must do as they do and walk in the ways
That they are walking in."

Then the Church her purse-strings tightly held,
And gracefully lowered her head,
And simpered, "I've given too much away,
I will do so, sir, as you have said."

To the poor were turned from her door in scorn,
And she heard not the orphan's cry;
And she drew her beautiful robes aside
As the widows went weeping by;

Her Mission treasuries beggarly plead,
And Jesus' commands were in vain;
While half of the millions for whom he died
Had never heard his name.

And they of the Church and they of the World,
Walked closely hand and heart,
And none but the Master, who knoweth all,
Could tell the two apart.

Then the Church sat down at her ease and said,
"I am rich and in goods increased;
I have need of nothing and nought to do,
But to laugh and dance and feast."

And the sly World heard her and laughed within,
And mockingly said aside,
"The Church has fallen, the beautiful Church,
And her shame is her boast and pride."

Thus her witnessing power, alas! was lost,
And the perilous times came in;
The times of the end, so often foretold,
Of form and pleasure and sin.

Then the Angel drew near the mercy-seat,
And whispered in sighs her name;
And the saints their anthems of rapture hushed,
And covered their heads with shame.

And a voice came down from the hush of heaven,
From him that sat on the throne:
"I know thy works and what thou hast said,
And how thou hast not known
That thou art poor, and naked, and blind,
With pride and ruin enthralled,
The expectant Bride of a Heavenly Groom,
Now the harlot of the world!

"Thou hast ceased to watch for that Blessed Hope,
And hast fallen from zeal and grace;
So now, alas! I must cast thee out,
And blot thy name from its place."

O, Church of Christ, redeemed by precious blood,
Break this alliance, gloriiy your God!
Forsake the Christless world that lures to ill;
Thou mayest be blest and prove a blessing still.
Away with ease and dalliance and play,
The Great Commission now in haste obey;
In holiness and zeal thou canst excel,
And save the perishing from sin and hell.
Gird on thy robes with purity impearled,
And keep thyself unspotted from the world.
Humbled in dust and ashes, sin no more;
Repent while Christ stands knocking at the door.
O, let thy heart be true to Him alone,
For, lo! the Heavenly Bridegroom cometh soon!

—From "Ecclesiastical Amusements," by Rev. E. P. Marvin.

"Ask of me, and I will give thee the heathen for thine inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession."

The Gospel According to Mary.

BY PROF. ROBERT ELLIS THOMPSON, S. T. D.

Of the four evangelists, Luke alone had no immediate relations with our Lord. Matthew and John were apostles. Mark enters slightly into the gospel story (Mark xiv, 51, 52), and tradition says that he wrote his gospel under the direction of Peter. How, then, did Luke get his materials?

In his prologue he says they were handed over to him by those who "from the beginning were eye-witnesses" of the facts of the life of Christ. It was not one eye-witness, but many, on whom he relied. This being the case, we fairly may expect to find indications of this in the structure of the story. Take, for instance, the two occurences recorded in the close of the eighteenth and the opening of the nineteenth chaptors. The first of the two, the healing of blind Bartimeus, is told also by Mark in a way which indicates that the earlier evangelist also had met the man. In Luke certainly the story is told pretty much as the blind man would have told it; that is, from his point of view, and not that of a disciple. The story in Matthew is from a disciple's point of view, and two cases of healing are lumped together into one narrative. In Luke the individual and personal experience of the one man throbs under the story.

Luke alone has the story of Zaccheus, and tells it evidently as he got it from the publican's own lips. His official and social position, his shortness of stature, his failure to make his way through a crowd which, no doubt, enjoyed elbowing him to the rear; his climbing the tree as a last resort; the fact that it was a sycamore-tree—these are not the facts that would have struck a disciple. Matthew would have begun the story with Christ's looking up into the tree—the first fact in the series that any disciple saw. But Luke lets Zaccheus tell his own story, not excepting the hearty renunciation of publican methods and unjust gains, and our Lord's loving reply, which had been chewed over every day since it was uttered.

A study of the third gospel from this point of view would bring out many interesting facts. It would show that we have in it the independent testimonies of a great number of eye-witnesses, woven into one narrative. It is this which gives the character of this gospel a personal distinctness not to be seen in the other synopticists. Luke lets them draw their own portraits.

But where did Luke get the facts he has recorded in the two first chapters of his gospel? When he wrote, all the human actors in that part of our Lord's story were dead, except one. Joseph, Elizabeth, John the Baptist, Anna, and Simeon, all went to their reward before our Lord's crucifixion. Only his mother remained alive. According to the method Luke pursued, as stated in his prologue, he must have gone to Mary, as the one source of information that was left.

If Luke had given us a very brief and meager account of our Lord's infancy, we might have supposed that he derived it from a current tradition of the churches, in spite of the statement of his prologue. But, instead of that, we have from him the amplest and the most beautiful details of the events preceding and immediately following our Lord's birth, and in just such shape as we might have expected his mother to narrate them. In this gospel of the Son of man, where our Lord's humanity is portrayed, we have the story of his incarnation told with a blending of delicacy and frankness of which only a woman, only a mother, was capable.

Every one has noticed the resemblance of the two chapters to the Old Testament style of narrative. They read like a continuation of the Book of Ruth, or of the more idyllic parts of Genesis or Samuel. Now, when we turn to the Magnificat (Luke i, 47-55), we find there a disclosure of Mary's mode of thought, which explains this resemblance. Our Lord's mother was the ripest product of the Hebrew culture. She had so absorbed the Scriptures that she reproduces their modes of thought with entire unconsciousness, in an age which had fallen to other and lower ways of thinking, even in its praises of God. The Psalms and the prophets to her had not dried up into a juiceless and lifeless thing, as they had to her countrymen, under the influence of rabbinical refining and hair-splitting. She is the last of the Psalmists; why not also the last of the Hebrew historians, in the old, simple, direct method of telling a story?

Besides those general considerations, there are points of detail which lead us to the same result. Take just one. After the visit of the shepherds, it is said, "But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart." Who knew that except herself? To whom, besides herself, was it a matter worth the telling?

Are we not justified, then, in describing this "gospel of the infancy"—as it has been called—as the gospel according to Mary?—Sunday-School Times.

"He shall have dominion also from sea to sea and from the river unto the ends of the earth."

WHAT TO DO WITH A BAD TEMPER.—Starve it. Give it nothing to feed on. When something tempts you to grow angry, do not yield to the temptation. It may for a minute or two be difficult to control yourself; but try it. Force yourself to do nothing, to say nothing, and the rising temper will be forced to go down, because it has nothing to hold it up. The person who can and does control tongue, hand, and heart, in the face of great provocation, is a hero. The world may not own him or her as such, but God does. The Bible says that he that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city.

What is gained by yielding to temper? For a moment there is a feeling of relief; but soon comes a sense of sorrow and shame, with a wish that the temper had been controlled. Friends are separated by a bad temper, trouble is caused by it, and pain is given to others as well as to self. That pain too often lasts for days, even years—sometimes for life. An outburst of temper is like the bursting of a steam-boiler; it is impossible to tell before what will do the result. The evil done may never be remedied. Starve your temper. It is not worth keeping alive. Let it die.—Selected.

"They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom and talk of thy power; to make known to the sons of men his mighty acts and the glorious majesty of his kingdom."

Why Men Fail.—Few men come up to their highest measure of success. Some fail through timidity, or lack of nerve. They are unwilling to take the risks incident to life, and fail through fear in venturing on ordinary duties. They lack pluck. Others fail through imprudence, lack of discretion, care or sound judgment. They overestimate the future, and build air-castles, and venture beyond their depth, and fail and fall. Others, again, fail through lack of application and perseverance. They begin with good resolves, but soon get tired of that, and want a change, thinking they can do much better at something else. Thus they fritter life away, and succeed at nothing. Others waste time and money, and fail through ruinous habits; tobacco, whisky and beer spoil them for business, drive their best customers from them, and scatter their prospects of success. Some fail for want of brains, education and fitness for their calling; they lack a knowledge of human nature, and of the motives that actuate men. They have not qualified themselves for their occupation by practical education.—School Supplement.

To restore gray hair to its natural color as in youth, cause it to grow abundant and strong, there is no better preparation than Hall's Hair Renewer.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspapor of to-day would be impossible.—James H. Beals, Jr.

Salvation Oil, the great liniment, should be a part of every traveling man's equipment.

With the new moon, look out for cold weather and keep Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup handy.

There is no sorrow I have thought more about than this—to love what is great and try to reach it, and yet to fail.—George Eliot.

If old people are forgetful, they always remember to use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

He that doeth the will of God as faithfully as he can shall be given strength with which to do it better.

Good Advice.

Exchange:

In winter more exercise is required for the body than in summer.

Wear warm underclothing; material of open texture is preferable.

Avoid catching cold, but should you develop a cough take immediate steps to get rid of it.

The most effective remedy for coughs or colds is Marsden's Pectoral Balm; it is pleasant to take and never fails to cure.

Ask your druggist for it, and don't be persuaded to take any other instead.

Thy lot or position in life is seeking after thee; therefore, be at rest from seeking after it.—Caliph Ali.

Catarrh

Is a complaint so common that comparatively few people are entirely free from it, so insidious that it gains a firm hold almost before its victims are aware of its presence, so dangerous as to seriously threaten the general health, and liable to develop into bronchitis or

Consumption.

It is a mistake to consider Catarrh merely a local trouble. It is unquestionably a disease of the blood, and, therefore, the right way to cure Catarrh is to remove from the blood the impurities which cause and feed it. This is to be done by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which effectually expels all traces of poison and germs of disease.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me of Catarrh, and built up my general health, so that I am feeling better than for years.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only medicine I know of which will cure miller's catarrh." GEO. FOSTER, Logan, Ohio.

N. B.—Be sure to get Hood's.

The Superior

remedy for all diseases originating in impure blood; the

MEDICINE

which may always be relied upon to give the best satisfaction, is

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Cures others, will cure you

DONALD KENNEDY Of Roxbury, Mass., Says:

Strange cases cured by my Medical Discovery come to me every day. Here is one of Paralysis—Blindness—and the Grip. Now how does my Medical Discovery cure all these? I don't know, unless it takes hold of the Hidden Poison that makes all Humor.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEVADA, Sept. 9th, 1891.
Donald Kennedy—Dear Sir: I will state my case to you: About nine years ago I was paralyzed in my left side, and the best doctors gave me no relief for two years, and I was advised to try your Discovery, which did its duty, and in a few months I was restored to health. About four years ago I became blind in my left eye by a spotted cataract. Last March I was taken with La Grippe, and was confined to my bed for three months. At the end of that time, as in the start, then it struck me that your Discovery was the thing for me; so I got a bottle, and before it was half gone I was able to go to my work in the mines. Now in regard to my eyes, as I lost my left eye, and about six months ago my right eye became affected with black spots over the sight as did the left eye—perhaps some twenty of them—but since I have been using your Discovery they all left my right eye but one; and, thank God, the bright light of heaven is once more making its appearance in my left eye. I am wonderfully astonished at it, and thank God and your Medical Discovery. Yours truly.

HANK WHITE.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,

831 Broadway, NEW YORK.

IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AGENTS WANTED

For PANSY'S Latest and Greatest Work,

"The Prince of Peace;"

OR,

"The Beautiful Life of Jesus."

See what a few of our own preachers say about it

Rev. W. H. Laltrade, Pastor Carondelet Street Church, says: "I have been waiting for it. Put me down for two copies."

Rev. Chas. F. Evans, D. D., Presiding Elder of New Orleans District: "One of the most excellent of modern books. The wood cuts are magnificent."

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, Pastor Dryades M. E. Church, South, says: "A most excellent book for the young."

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, says: "I have read the book with pleasure and satisfaction."

Rev. Jno. T. Sawyer, Pastor Felicity Street M. E. Church, South, says: "This is a most excellent book to put in the hands of the young; and older persons will be benefited by it as well."

Hundreds of testimonials can be furnished. Agents are doing splendidly with it. Send $1 for outfit, and secure territory at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH.

106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans, La.

Christmas Hints.

Our low prices are the talk of the town. We are selling reliable goods for less money than others. The reason: our expenses are lighter; we do not occupy a corner building, nor a Canal street store. Don't go about it blindly, but look sharp for our store. The following prices are quoted in pursuance of our recently announced plan to offer a special line of standard goods at prices which are well recognized at once as far below real value.

English Porcelain Tea Sets, decorated in all colors, 56 pieces, $8.50.

English Porcelain Dinner Sets, decorated in all colors, 115 pieces, $9.

Genuine French China Tea Sets, square shape, 56 pieces, $6.50.

English Porcelain Chamber Sets, decorated, 10 pieces, $2.75.

We recommend the above as superior goods in every respect.

W. C. Shepard & Son,

94 Camp, near Poydras St.

(The Oldest Queensware House in the South.)

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

New Orleans to Cincinnati

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes; rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City.

Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 24 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans

J. C. GAULT, General Manager.

D. G. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

to SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT and

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Nos. 25 and 27 St. Charles St., corner Common.

E. W. CULEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. E. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass Ag't.
H. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass & Tk't Ag't.
JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres
Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	Leaves. 5:00 p. m	Arrives 8:10 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	8:10 a. m	5:35 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train"	8:45 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

A. S. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Ag't.
E. P. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt.

WORLD'S FAIR Portfolio. Containing 16 fine artistic illustrations, size 8x11. An elegant work of art. Price postpaid, 50c. H. B. HARFORD & SON, 134 Van Buren St., Chicago.

If you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

SAWMILL for wood at $1.50, and oak and ash, mixed, at $2 per load delivered. C. Arthur, 1360½ Tchoupitoulas street.

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 8:10 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 5:00 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express.....5:35 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express.....8:10 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train".....10:00 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train".....3:45 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 1 Lim. ex. 7:45 am	No. 4 Fast Ex.. 7:45 am
No. 5 Fast Ex...7:35 pm	No. 8 Coast....3:45 pm
No. 7 Coast.....3:20 am	No. 6 Lim. Ex..7:30 pm
Mem. express...4:45 pm	Fast mail.....8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

No. 1. Local Mail and Express..6:45pm	No. 2. Local Mail and Express..7:00am
No. 41. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 8:25am	No. 42. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 6:00pm
No. 45. Chic. and N. O. Lim....7:30 pm	No. 46. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 12:01noon
No. 41. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 8:25am	No. 42. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:00pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom....9:15am	No. 6. McComb City Accom....4:50pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC

No. 53 California Express. 7.30 pm	No. 54 California Express. 8.00 am
Baton Rouge, local. 10:25am	Baton Rouge, local. 3.50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 17 Pass'r. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local.. 8:00am
No. 11 Local....7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor.. 5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN

No. 1, Lim'd . . 2:30pm	No. 2, Lim'd . . . 5:00pm
No. 3 Fast Line. 7:00pm	No. 6. Fast Line.. 8:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO
(Via Meridian.

No. 1. Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 2, Limited....5:00pm

P. AND F. EAST LA
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.
Arrive.....8:30 am | Leave.....4.15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pts-la-Hache Sh. Bch. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:30 p. m.	Pts-la-Hache Sh. Bch. 7:00 a. m., 10:00 a. m., 5:30 p. m.

SOULE BUSINESS COLLEGE

is renowned for its high grade, practical and progressive courses of study. Practical Lectures and able Faculty. For thirty-five years this College has faithfully served the public. It does not present the primary and low grade commercial course that is so universally taught. It invites inspection and comparison.

Over Ninety Gold and Silver Medals, Diplomas, etc., have been awarded to this College by State Fair Associations and World's Expositions during the past twenty-six years. The College Building is owned by the President, and has unsurpassed facilities and equipments.

CO-EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.—Students Received at any Time in the Business and Shorthand Schools, in Intermediate, Higher English and Academical Departments.

SENT FREE Specimen pages of Soule's Science and Practice of Accounts and Joint Stock Company Bookkeeping. Address,

GEO. SOULE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear-cut and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brewer, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEANEST, FINEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

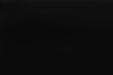
A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR,
Member of Board of Trustees,
No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

BOYS! GIRLS! Everybody!

We want used postage stamps used before 1870; also Confederate bills. For 25 stamps or 10 bills we will give either 25 cards with your name printed on, 3 sheets of Scrap Pictures, 1 Autograph Album, 50 Foreign Stamps, or Cash. AGENTS WANTED. Circulars free.

J. E. HANDSHAW & CO.,
SMITHTOWN BRANCH, N. Y.



AGENTS send for How I Made a House and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a Home, or business change. $75 to $100 Monthly. Teachers and Ladies find big pay for spare hours. TREASURY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 CAMP STREET 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge, Joseph Schwartz, F. G. Ernst, T. J. Woodward.

NATURE'S CURE FOR ASTHMA FREE ON TRIAL.

The WONDERFUL KOLA PLANT (HIMALAYA), discovered by African Explorers on the Congo River, West Africa, is NATURE'S SURE CURE for ASTHMA. No Pay until Cured, and Positive Cures Guaranteed. Importing Office, No. 1164 Broadway, New York. For Book and Large FREE Trial Case, sent by Mail, address, Central Office Kola Importing Co., No. 132 Vine Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

☞ See New York World and Philadelphia Press, May 18 and 19, 1890, also Christian Observer and Medical Journal, April 9, 1890. The Christian Evangelist May 30, 1890, says editorially: "The Kola Plant is a gift direct of God, to sufferers from Asthma, and His blessing will rest upon Stanley and associates, explorers of the Dark Continent. It is an unfailing cure for Asthma." ☞ Remember, No Pay Until Cured.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.
Rev. B. F. Lewis, Ass't Editor.

Thursday, Dec. 24, 1891.

Next Sunday, by resolution of the Louisiana Conference, our people are requested to present a Christmas offering to help pay our mission debt. As all have received much from the Lord, let everyone offer something to him on this Christmas occasion; and may the Lord accept our offerings!

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

FIRST DAY.

The forty-sixth session of this body met in Alexandria, La., Dec. 16, in the Methodist Church. Bishop J. C. Keener conducted the opening exercises by reading Hebrews x, singing Hymn 228, and prayer. At roll-call a large number of miuisters and laymen answered to their names. Rev. J. T. Sawyer was elected secretary; Rev. F. S. Parker was elected assistant secretary. The time of meeting was fixed at 9:30 A. M., and adjournment at 1 P. M.

Communications were received from the Publishing House, and read and referred to the Committee on Publishing Interests. A communication from the secretaries of the Board of Missions was read and referred to the Conference Board of Missions.

The General Church Extension Board presented its annual report to the Conference, which was read and referred to the Conference Board.

The General Sunday-school Department presented its report, which was referred to the Conference Sunday-school Board.

The following committees were appointed:

Conference Relations—C. W. Carter, chairman; J. D. Harper, J. F. Wynn, T. H. McClendon, F. G. Hocutt, R. S. Isbell. Church Publications—J. B. Walker, chairman; A. E. Clay, T. J. Upton. Temperance—J. M. Beard, chairman; R. Parvin, S. Whited. Bible Cause—R. S. Isbell, chairman; R. M. Blocker, F. G. Hocutt. District Conference Records—N. S. Cornell, chairman; L. A. Reed, T. S. Randle. Public Worship—J. I. Hoffpauir, T. K. Faunt LeRoy, H. H. White. Memoirs—J. B. Walker, T. H. McClendon, Robt. Randle, W. F. Henderson.

The names of the following ministers were referred to the Committee on Conference Relations as applicants for the superannuated relation:

J. H. Stone, P. H. Dieffenwierth, Jesse Fulton, E. W. Yancey, George Jackson, R. S. Trippet, E. B. Foust, J. L. Wright, M. C. Manly.

Rev. E. B. Galloway was received by transfer from the Little Rock Conference, and his name was referred to the Committee on Conference Relations for the supernumerary relation.

The names of C. Keener, W. Dunstan, A. M. Wailes, were referred to the same committee for the supernumerary relation.

Ques. 10.

John A. Nelson, from Caddo circuit; H. C. Murphy, Wesley circuit; G. W. Bruce, Pineville circuit; T. J. Martin, Ringgold circuit; W. L. Hamil, Harrisonburg circuit, were elected deacons.

Ques. 14.

None.

J. White Davis was received by transfer from the Texas Conference.

Ques. 1.

From New Orleans district, J. H. Stafford, S. S. Bogan, Noel B. Norwood, J. R. Roy; from Opelousas district, J. B. Kent, C. R. Seward; from Arcadia district, W. D. Gaskins; from Delhi district, W. A. Richardson, were admitted on trial.

Dr. Hunnicutt, president of Centenary College, was introduced to the Conference, and spoke of the college and its work in a most favorable and enthusiastic manner.

After notices, the Conference adjourned with benediction by the Bishop.

SECOND DAY.

Conference met at the appointed hour with Bishop Keener in the chair. Religious services were conducted by Rev. J. F. Wynn. After roll-call the minutes of the first day's session were read, corrected and approved.

A report from the Board of Church Extension was referred to the Conference Board.

Dr. H. C. Morrison, Missionary Secretary, was introduced to the Conference.

The Board of Trustees of the New Orleans Depository presented its annual report, which was received and referred to the Board of Finance.

The report of the Board of Trustees of Centenary College was read by Dr. Hunnicutt and referred to the Board of Education. The report from Mansfield Female College was read and referred to the Board of Education.

Ques. 2.

J. M. Henry was passed to the class of the second year and elected to deacon's orders. B. H. Sheppard, H. W. Knickerbocker, W. F. Sanders, E. T. Denson and H. M. Banks' characters were passed, and continued in the class of the first year.

Ques. 12.

W. F. Henderson, W. J. Porter, J. B. Williams, C. B. Carter, C. M. Lyons, J. E. Denson and W. H. Hill were passed and elected elders. J. E. Riddle was continued in class of the fourth year.

Ques. 7.

J. F. Foster, T. L. Lallance, G. E. Greene, A. D. McVoy, Jr., and C. F. Staples' characters were passed, and they were passed to the class of the deacons of one year. J. J. Kelley and W. Dunstan were continued in the class of the third year.

Ques. 4.

H. H. Ahrens, I. T. Reames, W. G. Evans, William Schuhle, C. E. McDonald, E. L. Singletary were admitted into full connection. R. M. Walker was discontinued at his own request.

Ques. 20.

The names of the following brethren were called, and they read their reports and their characters were passed:

W. H. LaPrade, J. M. Beard, J. B. Walker, S. S. Keener, J. T. Sawyer, F. N. Parker, W. Wimberly, H. S. Johns, J. A. Parker, A. E. Clay, J. B. A. Ahrens, J. F. Scurlock, F. D. Van Valkenburgh, C. W. Carter, C. F. Evans, J. L. Pierce, S. H. Whatley, J. B. Cassity, S. S. Holliday, R. S. Colier, L. A. Reed, J. S. Sanders, H. J. Boltz, S. J. Davies, A. D. McVoy, Sr.; R. J. Harp.

The vacancies in the Legal Conference were filled by the appointment of J. A. Miller, F. N. Parker, W. B. Thomson, L. S. Widney.

After notices, the Conference adjourned with benediction.

THIRD DAY.

Bishop Keener called the Conference to order at 9:30 A. M. Religious services were conducted by Rev. Robt. Randle. The minutes of the previous session were read and approved.

Ques. 20.

The following names were called and characters passed:

T. S. Randle, R. M. Blocker, R. Harry, F. G. Hocutt, F. S. Parker, T. J. Upton.

At this point the class for admission into full connection was called to the chancel and addressed by the Bishop, and by vote admitted into the Conference. They are: H. H. Ahrens, I. T. Reames, W. G. Evans, W. Schuhle, C. E. McDonald and E. L. Singletary.

On motion, J. B. Walker, S. J. Davies and T. J. Upton were appointed a committee to draft resolutions on the Lottery.

Ques. 20.

The following were called, read reports and their characters passed:

C. F. Staples, T. K. Faunt LeRoy, J. H. Brown, J. M. Johnston, Wilson Moore, T. B. White, J. F. Wynn, J. I. Hoffpauir, R. Randle, H. W. May, J. W. Medlock, R. Parvin, C. R. Godfrey, T. H. McClendon, C. T. Munholland, J. O. Bennett, J. D. Harper, D. C. Barr, R. T. Howell, R. A. Davis, J. L. P. Sheppard.

The matter of a Ministerial Aid Society was referred to a special committee, consisting of J. A. Parker, C. F. Evans, S. S. Keener, J. M. Beard, C. T. Munholland.

J. H. Callaway was located on the ground of inefficiency and unacceptability.

After notices, the Conference adjourned with the benediction by the Bishop.

FOURTH DAY.

Conference met at the appointed time with Bishop Keener in the chair. The religious services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Parker. The minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

Ques. 20.

The following names were called and characters passed:

B. F. White, H. Armstrong, J. M. Brown, R. S. Isbell, J. F. Patterson, N. S. Cornell, G. A. Mandeville, H. O. White.

The application of J. H. Stafford for admission on trial was withdrawn.

The special committee on the Ministerial Aid Society recommended the formation of such a society.

The report of the committee was not adopted.

The Finance Committee reported $4,162 collected, and the distribution was made to the various claimants according to their necessities.

The Committee on Temperance made a strong report, which was enthusiastically adopted.

The Committee on Conference Relations reported, and the report was amended and adopted.

The Committee on Books and Periodicals, through its chairman, Dr. J. B. Walker, presented its report, which was read and adopted.

The Special Committee on the Lottery made its report, and the report with accompanying resolutions was amended and adopted.

The Legal Conference, through its president, Rev. C. W. Carter, made its annual report, which was adopted.

After notices, Conference adjourned to meet at three P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Conference met at three o'clock, Bishop Keener in the chair. Religious services were conducted by Rev. L. A. Reed. The minutes of the morning session were read and approved.

The Board of Education, by its chairman, Rev. W. H. LaPrade, presented its report, which was discussed by several brethren.

Rev. A. D. McVoy, president of Mansfield Female College, represented the interests of that institution as progressing in a gratifying manner. The report was adopted.

The Committee on District Conference Records criticised the records somewhat, and the report was adopted.

The Committee on the Bible Cause presented its report through Rev. R. S. Isbell, its chairman, and it was adopted without discussion. Our churches in Louisiana contributed the past year for the Bible cause $365.90, and this from only two districts.

A proposition from certain citizens of Alexandria, donating twenty acres of land for the purpose of building a first-class academical school, was accepted by the Conference.

The Board of Colportage made its report, which was adopted.

The statistical secretary made his report as follows: Local preachers, 82; members, 20,538; infants baptized, 1,041; adults baptized, 813; Sunday-schools, 221; teachers, 1,349; scholars, 10,277; superannuates, $3,376.69; foreign missions, $5,123.50; domestic missions, $1,242.68; church extension, $1,317.27; churches, 235—value, $424,860; parsonages, 60—value, $56,912; other property, value, $201,344; Education Fund, $600.65; Centenary Day, $225.35; Scarritt Training-school, $106.30.

The secretary of the Board of Missions made his report, which was adopted. The treasurer also made his report, which was also adopted.

The Sunday-school Board reported through the chairman, Rev. A. E. Clay, a decrease in Sunday-schools and in scholars, but an increase in collections. The report was adopted.

The Conference selected as the place of meeting for next year, Lake Charles.

Resolutions of thanks were unanimously adopted.

The minutes of the afternoon session were read and adopted, and Conference adjourned with benediction.

APPOINTMENTS.

NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT.

C. W. Carter, P. E.
Carondelet Street, W. H. LaPrade—W. Dunstan, supernumerary.
Felicity Street, J. M. Beard.
Rayne Memorial, S. S. Keener.
Moreau Street, J. B. Walker.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, J. E. Riddle.
Carrollton, J. M. Henry—C. Keener, supernumerary.
Gretna, to be supplied.
Parker Chapel, F. N. Parker.
Louisiana Avenue, J. T. Sawyer.
Algiers, H. S. Johns.
Baton Rouge, C. F. Evans.
Grosa Tete and Falso River, N. B. Norwood.
Dryades Street, A. E. Clay.
Craps Street and Soraparu, J. B. A. Ahrens.
Lower Coast Mission, J. R. Roy.
Thibodeaux and Houma, to be supplied.
Colporteur, F. D. Van Valkenburgh.
Editor NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, C. W. Carter.
Editor Familienfreund, J. B. A. Ahrens.

SHREVEPORT DISTRICT.

R. J. Harp, P. E.
Shreveport, J. L. Pierce.
Shreveport City Mission, to be supplied.
Mooringsport, W. Schuhle.
Caddo, S. H. Whatley.
Mansfield, T. K. Faunt LeRoy.
Many, J. H. Brown.
Sabine, E. L. Singletary.
Grand Cane, T. L. Lallanco.
Anacoco, to be supplied.
Bellewood and Cane River, to be supplied.
Pleasant Hill, W. F. Henderson.
Natchitoches, A. D. McVoy, Jr.
Coushatta, J. E. Denson.
Wesley, L. A. Reed.
Red River, S. J. Davies.
South Bossier, J. S. Sanders.
North Bossier, J. B. Williams.
DeSoto, H. J. Boltz.
Fort Jessup, S. S. Holliday.
Mansfield Female College, A. D. McVoy, Sr.

OPELOUSAS DISTRICT.

J. A. Miller, P. E.
Opelousas and Washington, T. S. Randle.
Plaquemine Brusle and Rayne, R. M. Blocker.
Lafayette, H. Armstrong.
Crowley, C. B. Carter.
Abbeville, E. T. Denson.
New Iberia, F. S. Parker.
Franklin and Jeannerette, J. B. Cassity.
Lake Charles, T. J. Upton.
Patterson and Morgan City, T. B. White.
Sulphur Mine, J. B. Kent.
Grand Cheniere, C. F. Staples.
Indian Bayou, C. R. Seward.
Lake Arthur, to be supplied (by J. L. Gibson).
Sabine Mission, to be supplied.
Huron Mission, to be supplied.

ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT.

J. I. Hoffpauir, P. E.
Alexandria, R. Randle.
Evergreen, C. M. Lyons.
Simsport, J. F. Scurlock.
Melville and Big Cane, J. M. Johnston.
Spring Creek, H. M. Banks.
Sugartown, to be supplied (by R. C. Grace).
Montgomery, W. H. Hill.
Ada, B. H. Sheppard.
Conterville, W. D. Gaskins—E. B. Galloway, supernumerary.
Vidalia, H. H. Ahrens.
Columbia, J. F. Patterson.
Boyce and Colfax, F. G. Hocutt.
Pineville, J. F. Wynn.
Castor, W. G. Evans.
Bayou Chicot, Wilson Moore.
Black River, J. W. Davis.

ARCADIA DISTRICT.

J. L. P. Sheppard, P. E.
Homer, J. A. Parker—one to be supplied.
Haynesville, H. W. May.
Minden, J. W. Medlock.
Ringgold, A. A. Cornett.
Sparta, J. J. Kelley.
Arcadia, J. F. Foster.
Summerfield, J. O. Bennett.
Ruston, J. D. Harper.
Vienna, R. Parvin.
Vernon, D. C. Barr.
Downsville, R. A. Davis.
Farmerville, W. J. Porter and W. A. Richardson.
Gannaville, W. F. Sanders—A. M. Wailes, supernumerary.
Tulip circuit, T. H. McClendon.
Valley circuit, R. S. Colier.

DELHI DISTRICT.

H. O. White, P. E.
Monroe, B. F. White.
West Monroe, C. T. Munholland.
Bastrop, H. W. Knickerbocker.
Lindgrove, G. E. Greene.
Delhi, J. M. Brown.
Floyd, C. R. Godfroy.
Lake Providence, R. S. Isbell.
Oak Ridge, C. E. McDonald.
Harrisonburg, R. P. Howell.
Waterproof, N. S. Cornell.
Winnsboro, R. Harry.
Rayville, I. T. Reames.
Oakley, S. S. Bogan.
Indian Village, G. A. Mandeville.

TRANSFERRED.—W. Wimberly, to the Indian Mission Conference, and stationed in Guthrie, Oklahoma Territory.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE NOTES.

Only two superannuates answered to their names. How sad that these veterans are deprived of the inestimable privilege of an annual meeting with their brethren! How much they are missed they do not realize! How glad the brethren would be to shake them by the hand and give them a happy greeting! But in compensation for this deprivation "the hope which Jesus' grace has given" is that "we all shall meet in heaven at last."

The brethren wore the usual happy Conference countenances. All the toils and privations incident to the itinerancy can not render gloomy the face of the true itinerant, because a "happy heart giveth a glad countenance." Disappointments do not obscure the joy of the Lord's presence. "I am with you always," is the talisman of the preacher. In this inspiring faith he toils and suffers and enjoys and preaches and sings and shouts during the year, and then comes up to the annual convocation to recount, with his brethren, the victories achieved, and they rejoice together in the Lord.

Thursday night Dr. Morrison, the Missionary Secretary, held a missionary meeting. The church was well filled with attentive hearers, and the Doctor delivered a most impressive, eloquent and brilliant address. The audience was thrilled with delight. The Doctor's proposition that the Conference assume the support of our missionary, B. D. Lucas, of Shanghai, was accepted, whereupon he asked for $750 for that purpose, and in a short time the audience had enthusiastically subscribed the sum of $1,200. We consider that a successful missionary meeting. The secretary was much gratified at the result.

The memorial service was held Saturday evening, and was largely attended. Rev. John Pipes, one of the members of the first Conference, and Rev. B. F. Alexander, one of the earliest transfers, had died during the past year. Rev. Robt. Randle read the memoir of Bro. Pipes, and Dr. J. B. Walker read that of Bro. Alexander, after which many tributes were given to the memory of the departed; Bishop Keener closing with a beautiful and touching, yet brief portraiture of the character of each. Condensing these various tributes, we give the character of Bro. Pipes as consisting chiefly in gentle simplicity and transparent sincerity, and that of Bro. Alexander as consisting chiefly in resolute earnestness and devotion to duty. "The Lord buries his workmen, but carries on his work."

Bishop Keener was never more urbane in the chair nor more delightful in his intercourse with the members of the Conference than during the present session. His address to the young preachers was the strongest we have ever heard him make, and we have heard him on like occasions several times. His exposition of faith was most profound, and yet adapted to the comprehension of the weakest understanding. His exposition of the value of conversion exceeded in breadth and depth anything we ever heard, even from Bishop Keener. No man who heard it can hereafter underestimate the great fact of regeneration. The whole power of the atonement concentrated upon a man in the hour of conversion transforms that act into the greatest act of God, and from that point development and growth begin. His touches upon a preacher's diligence, his work among the children and his keeping out of debt were very felicitous. Indeed, the whole address from beginning to close was characterized by a clearness and force rarely found in such happy combination in a single address. It was "good to the use of edifying" to all.

The Church Extension Anniversary was held in the Methodist Church Friday evening, Dec. 18. The exercises were opened by religious services conducted by Rev. S. J. Davies. The treasurer of the board, Rev. J. W. Medlock, read his annual report, which showed $1,698.90 collected during the past year. Dr. Beard, the chairman of the Conference Board, made some appropriate remarks, showing the growth and development of church extension grace.

Rev. W. H. LaPrade was introduced to the audience by Dr. Beard, and made the address of the occasion. He gave a rapid and succinct history of church extension, from the first altar erected for the worship of God down to the present day. From this point the speaker went on, and for the space of forty minutes held the audience in his grasp while he discussed the question in all its relations and bearings. It was a thorough exposition which displayed the whole matter in a clear manner and gave everybody correct ideas of the subject. The collection was taken by Rev. J. T. Sawyer, and resulted in putting in the treasury of the board $514.75.

The Sunday services were most interesting. The love-feast was conducted by Rev. L. A. Reed, and was a time of refreshing from the presence of the Lord. At eleven o'clock Bishop Keener preached as only he can preach. The audience packed the house from the door to the chancel, and for over an hour they listened to as strong a gospel as was ever preached in Alexandria. After the sermon the following were ordained deacons: I. T. Reames, W. G. Evans, W. Schuhle, C. E. McDonald, J. M. Henry, J. M. Nelson, H. C. Murphy, G. W. Bruce, T. J. Martin, W. L. Hamil.

The afternoon sermon was by Dr. Walker—a plain, practical sermon, persuading the people to give their hearts to God. After the sermon Bishop Keener ordained the following elders: W. J. Porter, J. B. Williams, C. B. Carter, C. M. Lyons, J. E. Denson and W. H. Hill.

The Pineville pulpit was supplied by Rev. W. H. LaPrade in the morning, and by Rev. J. L. Pierce in the afternoon. We heard good reports from both these brethren.

NOTES.

"If the principles of contentment are not within us, the height of station and worldly grandeur will as soon add a cubit to a man's statue as to his happiness."

Burns puts the same thought this way:

"If happiness have not her seat
And center in the breast,
We may be wise, be rich, be great,
But never can be blest."

The Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, on and after Jan. 1, proximo, will make clergymen a rate of half-fare, instead of two-thirds as heretofore. This will be available to all holding clerical orders, which will continue to be issued under the customary regulations. This unsolicited reduction entitles the generous management to the gratitude of the cloth.—Western Christian Advocate.

Now let the railroad lines in this latitude do the same thing for all ministers of the gospel, and they, too, will be entitled to the "gratitude of the cloth."

The Christian Index, in a short editorial on "The Good Old Way," has this pointed paragraph which brings up some memories of home and school life forty years ago:

More good old "hickory oil" well rubbed in, both by judicious, self-controlled parents and teachers, would result in less trouble at home, save many aching, breaking hearts caused by rebellious, disgraced children. It would greatly diminish the number of cases on the dockets of our criminal courts, and thin out the convicts that now crowd our prisons. Oh, for more old-time home rule, and school rule and less of State rule!

An exchange publishes this little paragraph:

A late writer on social affairs in Iceland says there is not a single prison on the island; that such things as locks, bolts and bars are unknown, and that there are neither watchmen nor policemen.

That is precisely the condition of things that Christianity is seeking to bring about over the whole earth. All her efforts are simply and solely in that direction. And yet there are people who oppose all her efforts. Is anything else needed to prove the depravity of the human heart?

Let no one give the cold reply: "All for me, I am fully occupied with business in court, or the interests of the State, or my craft; I have a wife to care for, children to maintain, a household to manage; I am a man of the world, and it is not for me to read the Scriptures. This duty belongs to those who have betaken themselves to the mountains for that very purpose." How! is it not forsooth because thou art surrounded with worldly cares that thou hast more need than they to read thy Bible? Ignorance of Scripture is a great precipice and a deep pit. It begets heresies, leads to a corrupt life and throws everything into confusion. Better the light of the sun should be extinguished than that David's word should be forgotten.—Chrysostom.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The address of Rev. P. Howard is Auburn, Amite county, Miss.

The address of Rev. J. W. Ellison is Satartia, Yazoo county, Miss.

Dr. J. W. Harmon's address will be Meridian, Miss., in the future.

We call attention to our beautiful calendar on the seventh page, and the note accompanying. We regard this as a good specimen of work. Our foreman takes a special interest in such matters, and is "hard to beat" at anything of the kind. Be sure and look at it and see its beauty.

Our thanks are due Mrs. A. S. Boswell and her accomplished daughters, the Misses Boswell, for their elegant hospitality extended to Rev. D. L. Mitchel and wife during their stay in Brookhaven, Miss., at the recent session of the Mississippi Annual Conference. Mrs. Boswell is the proprietress of the well known "Boswell House," which is one of the most popular "homes" for drummers on the Illinois Central railway.

Dr. Clarence E. Riggs, now of New York City, where he has attained celebrity as practicing physician, was formerly of New Orleans, a son of Wm. A. Riggs, and whose brothers are well known in this city. He has recently been elected as a Christian missionary to Arabia, where his knowledge of medicine will make him an important worker in that country. Dr. Riggs thus will reflect credit upon our Methodism, as he was for many years a member of Carondelet Street Methodist Church, of this city, having joined it under the pastorate of Rev. John Mathews.

Rev. J. A. Bowen, Aberdeen, Miss., Dec. 17: "Our third reception in Aberdeen has been all we could desire. Preaching, prayer meetings and Sunday-school all better attended than usual. These good people unite with us in prayer and active effort to have another year of glorious results. We are much encouraged, and, by the help of the Holy Spirit, intend to do the most faithful year's work of all the past. The Lord expects it of us, and these people deserve it. The presiding elder and preachers of the Aberdeen district are all at their posts and preparing for another year of wonderful success. Pray for us and come to see us."

It is intelligence that rules the world. Knowledge is power. There is nothing quite so valuable as knowing the correct thing to do.

People are often puzzled to know what is best to do when they find the hair showing signs of weakness, or when that terror of the most beautiful woman—baldness—begins to obtrude itself. In most cases it is simply the result of neglect, providing it is not an accompaniment of disease, and it is often surprising how quickly the scalp and its growth is responsive to the ingredients that were needed, which are contained in the Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer.

There is no doubt, whatever, that there are hundreds of women who mourn the loss of the beauty that belonged to their hair in girlhood, simply because they have not given it the attention they should, and failed to supply just the nourishment and stimulus that is contained in this incomparable balm for the bald.

One trial will convince the most skeptical that it is something far above all the quack hair tonics which are so numerous. Effects are often experienced from a single application. The price is one dollar a bottle, and one bottle of it is worth a barrel full of the tonics for which such claims are often made. Mansfield Drug Company, Proprietors, Memphis, Tenn.

Jesus, the Joy of the World.

This is the title of our Christmas Service for 1891. It is an eight-page leaflet in bright-colored ink on tinted paper, with illustrated title-page. The exercises consist of songs, music, responsive readings, recitations, etc., and a special provision for the requested service on behalf of foreign missions. Price, 20 cents per dozen; $1.25 per hundred. Let Sunday-schools order early of their Colporter, or of BARBEE & SMITH, Agents, Nashville, Tenn.

School Wanted.

A lady who is a graduate and an experienced teacher, competent to teach all branches of a thorough English education, desires a situation as governess, private tutor, teacher, or any employment suitable for an educated lady. Testimonials and best of reference furnished. Address "Teacher," care of this office.

Correction.

In the appointments of the Mississippi Conference, as published in the last ADVOCATE, there is a mistake. The name of J. R. Henderson should appear as junior supply on Franklinton circuit, and Betoville, if named, should be in connection with Clinton, La. C. MCDONALD.

Jackson, La.

The Grant Memorial Committee of the Grand Army of the Republic has decided to employ Mr. F. S. Simmons, of Maine, the sculptor, to complete the statue of Gen. Grant, to be placed in the United States Capitol building. The work is to be finished and the statue placed in position by June 1, 1894. It is to be of fine Italian marble and will cost $10,000. The statue is the gift of the Grand Army committee.

The preachers of the Louisiana, Mississippi and North Mississippi Annual Conferences are urged to send the names of the postoffices in the bounds of their respective works at once to the ADVOCATE.

Rev. T. J. Lowery.

The Rev. T. J. Lowery, a superannuated preacher of the North Mississippi Conference, died at his home, near Houston, Miss., Dec. 14, 1891. He had just a few days before passed the seventy-eighth year of his earthly pilgrimage and the fifty-third year of his Christian ministry. A few days before his death he said to his brethren at Conference: "I never expect to meet you in Conference again." He said this not from an apprehension of such an early departure, but on account of his advanced age and increased feebleness. He reached home on Tuesday after the adjournment of Conference, in Macon. Sick on Thursday, he took his bed, from which he never arose. On Monday morning, at nine o'clock, he quietly passed away.

J. D. NEWSOM.

"Blessed Are the Pure in Heart, for They Shall See God."

At ten o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, Dec. 16, 1891, our dear brother, Ernest Howard Russell—whose earth-life was spanned by nineteen years, seven months and five days—laid aside his labor of love in the Master's service here, and exchanged earth's toil-worn vestment for a wedding garment fit for the marriage supper of the Lamb. Though his harvest is ended so early, his sheaves are all heavy with ripening grain, each full head untarished by rust or by stain; an offering meet—by his love made sweet, by his faith complete—to lay, with his life, at our Savior's feet.

MARIA TAYLOR PIPKIN.

Philip Werlein.

All lovers of choice music should visit the Music Emporium of Philip Werlein, No. 135 Canal street, and see his elegant collection of pianos, organs, and musical instruments of all kinds, also his stock of sheet and book music in large variety. His assortment of Christmas and New Year's presents is specially attractive.

Mr. Philip Werlein is so well known in this vicinity, and his pianos and organs have deservedly attained so wide-spread a reputation, that it is hardly worth while to say, that he is a merchant of tried integrity and large experience.

Be Considerate.

Don't worry your friends and family with that worn and faded appearance. Get a bottle of Creole Female Tonic. It will change your pallid cheeks to the rosy hue of health.

The Far West.

The prosperity of the Western countries is now assured, as the only great drawback that they had was the lack of rain; and now Melbourne, with his mysterious machine, has so thoroughly demonstrated the fact that rain can be had, and obviate the heretofore existing trouble, that the whole section is happy and great prosperity is predicted. Here in Louisiana we do not often need more rain than the good Lord sends us; but we need some of it in a better condition than it is allowed to get into after it is sent us; in other words, we need Coe's Cut-offs (from 101 Camp St.) on every cistern, to throw into the waste-pipe all the filth which gets on the roof, and in this way pure, wholesome water and better health can be secured.

Mr. P. D. D. Delacroix, Cypremort P. O., La., Nov. 30, 1889, says: "Three years ago an agent representing Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar came into my store. Being busy, was unable to give him any time. Before leaving he gave me a sample bottle of Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, asking me to give it to anyone suffering with a cough or cold. Several days afterward I caught a heavy cold. Remembering the sample, thought I would try it. Six teaspoonfuls cured me. Ordered a supply at once, and have sold it with satisfaction to all. It acts like magic on all my family, and I would not be without it. I take pleasure in recommending it at all times." One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as 50c. bottles.

You may have a rough voyage through life, but you have nothing to fear while you keep rubellef below, faith on deck, and Christ at the helm of your little bark.—Jackson.

"No other weekly paper contains so great a variety of entertaining and instructive reading at so low a price."

The Youth's Companion.

For Young People and The Family.

Among the Notable Features to be given in The Companion for 1892 are articles by Hon. W. E. Gladstone and Count de Lesseps.

A Rare Young Man; by the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone. It describes the life of a young inventor of extraordinary gifts and lofty character. From the first line to the last it is deeply interesting, and is written in a most attractive style.

Episodes in My Life; by the Count de Lesseps. The venerable Count de Lesseps will contribute a delightful paper, telling in a most amusing manner how he came to build the Suez Canal.

"A Yard of Roses."

Souvenir Christmas Number, 24 Pages, Given to all New Subscribers.

New Subscribers who send $1.75 now, will receive THE YOUTH'S COMPANION FREE to January 1, 1892, and for a Full Year from that Date. Mention this paper when subscribing and receive "A YARD OF ROSES." Its production has cost TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS. Specimen Copies Free.

Send Check, Post-office Order, or Registered Letter at our risk. Address,

Free to Jan. 1892.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 41 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware, Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cakes, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS- E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

Holy Land Tour, $475.

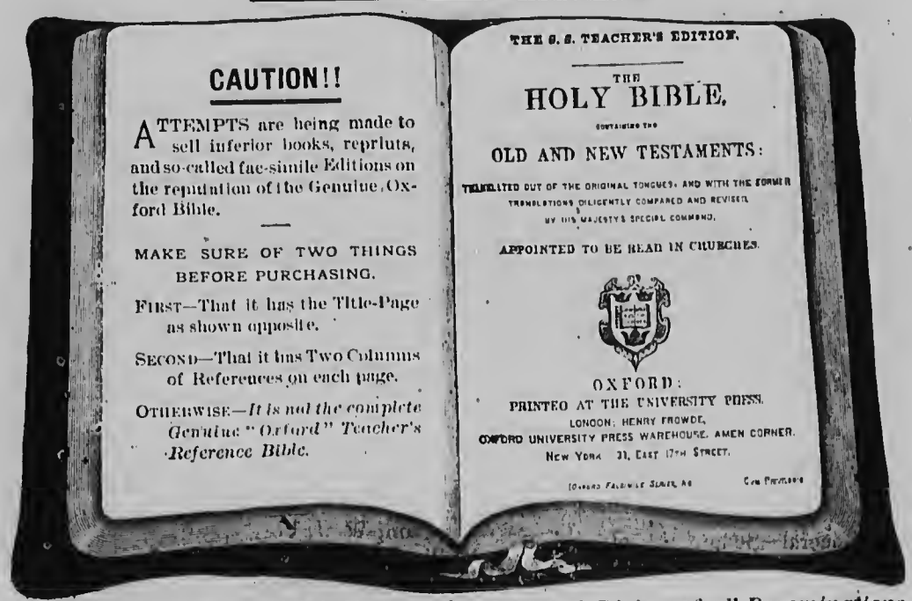
A select party sails March 9, 1892. Monthly excursions to Italy, $330. Best ticketing facilities. Send for "Tourist Gazette." H. GAZE & SONS, 940 Broadway, N.Y. (Est. 1844.

THE GENUINE OXFORD" TEACHER'S BIBLE.

A Whole Library of Scriptural Knowledge in a Small Compass.

THE STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE IN PRINTING, PAPER, AND BINDING.

The Most Complete Helps.



America and Great Britain's Eminent Scholars and Divines of all Denominations pronounce the Genuine Oxford Bible

THE BEST AND MOST COMPLETE BIBLE PUBLISHED.

The Right Hon. Wm. E. GLADSTONE says: "These admirable Bibles must tend to extend the fame even of the Oxford Press."

Rev. C. H. SPURGEON: "The very best. I have carefully examined the volumes, and can unreservedly recommend it."

Rev. T. De WITT TALMAGE, D.D., October, 1890: "During my recent journeying in Palestine, I found the 'Oxford' Teacher's Bible helpful, accurate, and indispensable."

Rev. J. M. BUCKLEY, D.D., Editor Christian Advocate, October, 1890: "This is the most complete work for its purpose within our knowledge. * * * It is our constant companion when absent from home—a library in itself."

Rev. Dr. William P. STOWE, Chicago, October, 1890: "I am frank to say that for clearness of type, for valuable helps and elegant and substantial bindings, the 'Oxford' Teachers' Bible has no superior in the market."

Over One Hundred Styles on Rag Made and the FAMOUS "OXFORD INDIA PAPER," from $1.25 to $20.

ASK FOR THE GENUINE "OXFORD" EDITION.

FOR SALE BY ALL BOOK-SELLERS.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS,

"Oxford" Bible Warehouse, 33 East 17th Street (Union Square), New York.

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.

SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel, Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices!! | Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

1891—SEVENTH YEAR.—1892.

MUSICAL ART.

Send for Sixth Annual Circular and Catalogue of

Pilcher's Studio of Music,

ESTABLISHED 1885.

Removed to the Large and Spacious Mansion, 169 St. Charles Avenue.

A COLLEGE OF MUSIC for Day and Boarding Students.

Ample accommodations for boarding students. The Boarding Department is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Wm. H. Pilcher. Music Taught in All Its Branches, and every facility offered. Graduates and other students who have attended this Institution are now occupying positions of more or less prominence throughout the country.

WM. H. PILCHER, Director,

169 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim'd,

New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,

Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,

Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,

Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low.

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED, New Orleans, La.

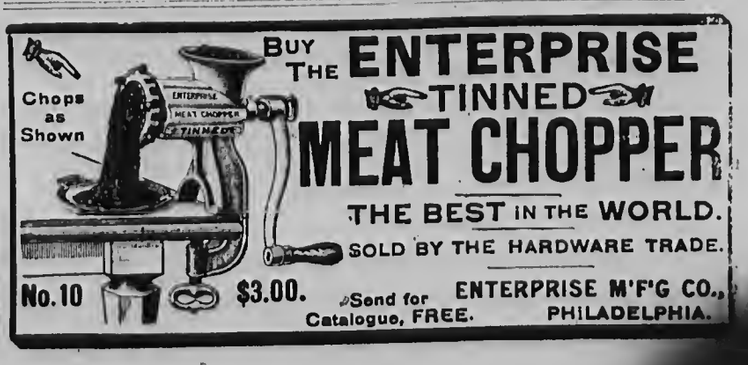
PARSONS

PILLS

MakeNewRichBlood

"Best Liver Pill Made."

They positively cure SICK HEADACHE and BILIOUSNESS, all Liver and Bowel Complaints. In Glass Vials. Thirty in a bottle, one a dose. They expel all impurities from the blood. Delicate women find great benefit from using them. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 25 cts. in stamps; five bottles $1.00. Full particulars free. J. S. JOHNSON & CO., 21 Custom House St., Boston, Mass.



"Continual dropping wears away the stone."

The continual breaking of lamp-chimneys costs a good deal in the course of a year.

You can stop it. Get Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass." You will have no more trouble with breaking from heat. You will have clear glass instead of misty; fine instead of rough; right shape instead of wrong; and uniform, one the same as another.

You will pay a nickel a chimney more; and your dealer will gain in good-will what he loses in trade; he will widen his trade by better service.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & Co.

The loss of flesh is a trifle. You think you need not mind it.

But, if you go on losing for some time or lose a good deal in a short time, you are running down. Is that a trifle?

Get back to your healthy weight and generally you get back to health.

A book on CAREFUL LIVING will tell you what it is to get there, and when Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is useful. Free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

27

NEW BOOKS

The Young Pianists Guide.
A collection of Sonatinas and other pieces of Standard value, leading gradually up to the easier Sonatas of Mozart, Haydn, etc. Compiled, thoroughly phrased and fingered, by GEO. SCHREIBER. Sheet music size pages, bound in boards. Price, $1.25 by mail.

Calisthenic Exercises and Marches
with Pleasing Drill Songs and Music, for Schools, Colleges, Private Entertainments, and Public Exhibitions. Prepared by FRANK L. HOLTON. Price, 50 cents by mail.

Guitar Chords. Chords for the Banjo.
A collection of Chords in the Principal Major and Minor Keys, intended for those who have not the time to take lessons. Prepared by F. W. WESSENBERG. Price of each, 50 cts. by mail.

Model Practice Lessons
A thoroughly Graded Elementary Course, selected from "The Repertoire," by DR. GEO. F. ROOT. Price, 25cts. by mail.

His Fortune.
A new secular Cantata for Schools, Societies and Public Entertainments. Arranged by MAGGIE RICE. Price 30c. by mail.

Ideal Four Hand Album.
Compiled from the best works of Wagner, Jambor, Grieg, Gounod, Tschaikowsky, Handel, Alfvadi, Saint Saens, etc. Edited by J. C. V. PROCHAZA. Bound in boards. Price $1.00 by mail.

The Musical Visitor.
A Monthly Journal of Music for Choirs and Organists. Price, $1.50 per year. Single copies 15 cents.

—PUBLISHED BY—
The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 251 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 19 E. 16th St., New York.

HAVE YOU GOT PILES
$100. FOR AN INCURABLE CASE.
Itching Piles are known by moisture like perspiration, causing intense itching when warm. This form as well as Blind, Bleeding and Protruding, yield at once to DR. BO-SAN-KO'S PILE REMEDY which acts directly on parts affected, absorbs tumors, stays itching and effects a permanent cure. 50c. Druggists or mail. Circulars free. Bosanko Co. Piqua, O.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE
Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn. FOR Catalogue.

SKIN DISEASES Tetter, Eczema, Chapped Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by GREVE'S OINTMENT. 50c. druggists. HISCOX & CO., N.Y.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE
Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Asthma, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion. Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & Co., N. Y.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. D. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.
Best quality Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, &c. BELLS
Also CHIMES AND BELLS.
Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

GOLDEN MEMORIES
BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.
OF THE
500 Col'd Plates, 50 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations
A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ART!
A Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown, sold at a price within the reach of all.
AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP.
HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT. REFLECTORS FOR OIL, GAS OR ELECTRIC LIGHT
I. P. FRINK, 551 PEARL ST. N.Y.

HOME LIFE.

PEACE ON EARTH, GOOD-WILL TO MEN.

BY E.

There is a stir in the world of feeling
And a hush in the world of thought;
Men have reached a new conviction,
The heart is all; the mind is naught.

So the golden tongue stops speaking;
And the mighty head is bowed;
And a voice of touching pathos
Is heard above the crowd.

'Tis the Babe in Bethlehem's manger
That speaks with his infant cry;
And the song of Christmas angels
That fills all the starry sky.

And the voice of Christ our Master
Speaks now in the souls of men
With clearer words of power
Than have been heard since then.

Thank God! for the hush and silence,
Thank God! for the end of strife;
God grant that, as one with each other,
We be one with the Lord of Life.

Christmas' Keeping.

There is no doubt that the practice of giving Christmas presents has become almost a mania with many people, and instead of making it a festival celebrating the anniversary of the priceless gift of a Savior to the world, brains are racked and purses taxed to make gifts to all our friends and acquaintances—not because of the love we bear them, but because they gave us something last year, or we expect they will do so this year.

The exchange of little gifts between dear friends is a pleasant custom, but in the home care must be taken that the children do not think more of what they will possibly get than of what they may give. Early set the example of giving to those whose lives are not as bright as our own.

Make Christmas a festival at home. Put the house in holiday trim, with evergreens, bright berries, autumn leaves, etc., and be sure that you let the little ones all have a hand in these decorations. If you have a tree, let the thought of making it beautiful overshadow the one of what presents it may bear for each. Let the thought of adding to some one's happiness on this day be early instilled, if it is only by a letter to a dear absent one, or a cheerful call on some one shut in from outdoor life, who will be cheered by the sight of happy faces.

Make Christmas a holiday in earnest. Lay aside for one day the work and care. Sing Christmas songs, tell stories and play games. Make it different from other days, and, above all else, keep the sweet story of Bethlehem in your minds. Let the children remember the successive Christmases, not by the presents they receive, but by things they did to make somebody else happy. Then they will say, "That was the year we carried a dinner to Aunty Jones," or "the year we took the little Brown children for a sleigh-ride," or "the year papa and mama went coasting with us, and we asked Ned Simonds to go with us and ride on our sled."

Let Christmas be such a holiday in your homes that in after years, no matter where they may be, its return will bring to your children the memory of a home in which there was "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good-will towards men."—Farm and Fireside.

Gleams of Glory.

Jean Paul Friedrich Richter was not a man to whose opinions on matters of religion it would be safe to pin your faith, but now and then, in some of his sayings, there may be found a spiritual meaning well worth pondering very seriously. For instance, in his "Levana," page 251, in speaking of a very solemn subject, he has this noble thought: "When, in your last hour, all reality in the broken spirit shall fade away and die into inanity—imagination, thought, effort, enjoyment—then at last will the night-flower of Belief alone continue blooming, and refresh with its perfumes in the last darkness."

We are told that when the saintly Beveridge was dying, his mind was wandering, and he failed to recognize those who were present at his bedside. And old and dear friend bent over the dying Bishop, told his name, and asked, "Do you know me?" With a blank gaze the Bishop said, "No." The wife of his bosom came to him, and, kneeling down by him, asked, "My husband, don't you know me?" And the dying saint still answered, "No." At last, as an experiment, some one asked him, "Bishop Beveridge, do you know the Lord Jesus Christ?" A gleam of intelligence lighted up his face, as he replied earnestly, "Yes; thank God, I have known him for forty years."

When old Andrew Broaddus, of Carolina county, Va., was dying, and was supposed to be too far gone for speech, a bright smile was seen to play over the aged and wasted face. A friend stooped over him, and whispered, "Brother Broaddus, what is it?" And the voice, which had often chained and thrilled the gathered thousands who hung breathless upon his lips, replied: "The angels are teaching me how to behave myself in glory."

"Jesus can make a dying bed
Feel soft as downy pillows are;
While on his breast I lean my head,
And breathe my life out sweetly there."

—Christian Standard.

Love, the Crowned Grace.

Here are the three divine graces in holy emulation—Love, the crowned one, though not to the dishonor of the rest; Faith believes God and all his promises; Hope stretches out her hands for their fulfillment, and Charity is the assurance of both faith and hope. This inseparable trio, we are clearly told, will survive the wreck of time, when our imperfect wisdom, made up of generalizations, conjectures, and analogies, will be put away as the toys of a child. Faith is the positive, hope comparative, and love the superlative; faith is the seed, hope the stalk, and love the crowning harvest. Faith is God's gift, born of the Spirit, and comes of hearing; it is the perceptive and receptive sense of the renewed soul. Hope is the unseen hand, sustaining the soul in the trials of life, and lighting it in the darkness of death; on our journey to our Father's house, hope goes before faith as the rays before the lantern. Faith shall be swallowed up in victory, hope in fruition; but love is eternal, having its life in God, who commendeth his great love in the gift of his Son to us. Angels and the redeemed shall join in songs of love to him who first loved us. Faith and hope do not make heaven, but love does. Love conquers evil, binds the universe together—us to God and God to us. It evolves unity out of diversity; confederating men, with all their peculiar characteristics of tempers, tastes, endowments, or color, into one—the greatest unity with the greatest diversity. Love is greater, because whatever more God is, he is love. God can not be said to believe or hope, but we know that he is love—it dwells in God, and has God dwelling in it.—Christian at Work.

CHRISTMAS BELLS.

BY JESSIE F. O'DONNELL.

When Christmas bells begin to ring,
The winds repeat the music rare;
The snowflakes tremble in the air;
And golden stars are watching where
In frosty towers the great bells swing—
When Christmas chimes begin to ring.

When Christmas bells begin to ring
Throughout the white and frozen street,
With silver voices falling sweet,
The children laugh; and comrades greet;
And sleigh bells shake their merry string—
When Christmas chimes begin to ring.

When Christmas bells begin to ring,
Unheard, the fifes join the chime;
The poppy's scarlet bells keep time;
The snowdrops tinkle of the Spring—
When Christmas chimes begin to ring.

—Chautauquan.

The Girl of the Passing Year.

Have you given glory to God, in word, in deed and in look? Have you made life about you so joyful that peace and good-will have come down and shed fragrance over all? Has the hasty word, the angry look, the petulant reply been counted as of nothing? How much good-will have you shown to the erring brother or sister? How much and how often have you put out a helping hand and the word that should go with it, the word that says, "Be of good cheer, you are among us and you are with us; the little Child born so many years ago makes no distinction between the sinners and those who are not, and he came into this world not to save those who had already made a place for themselves, but to show to the sinner the way to joy and happiness, and to make life better and easier for him." "But," say you, "you question so much why life be made easy for the one who does wrong?" My friend, until you make virtue as attractive as vice you will never lead a sinner in the right way. There will never be sweet, pure, honest good-will until we have fewer Pharisees and more Samaritans. It's a little bit of a sermon this, on Christmas day from me to you; but it comes in with the old, old text, that the bells are chiming out, the hearts are beating forth, that the holly berries whisper out, and that all over the earth makes the mother hold the baby closer to her to hear at once the tune and the words sung by the angels so many years ago, listened to by saint and sinner alike to-day, those same dear old words that mean joy is with us as the carols go out.

"Glory to God on high, and on earth peace, good-will to men."

—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Year That Is Just Ahead.

In a few days we shall begin the new year. The old one is quickly going, a year of success for some and failures for others. What of the days to come? Many of my readers will form good resolutions, and I hope they will be able to keep them. For myself, I care little for either boy or man who has not sufficient strength of character to do as conscience and duty dictates, without making resolutions every few months. Is it not better to begin life aright, following the path of duty at all times, and under all circumstances? Every boy who reads these lines knows whether he is daily doing his duty to God, to himself and to those whom he serves. No boy can succeed by doing wrong. No great name has ever been founded except on the eternal principles of truth and justice. No great fortune has ever been built except the foundation-stone was honesty. The year that is to come will bring its trials, its cares, its vexations and its disappointments, as well as its successes and pleasures. Some boys will fail and others will succeed. If failure comes through doing one's duty honestly and fearlessly, there will be compensation in knowing that self-respect has not been sacrificed. If success comes by dishonorable means, it will only be temporary. My word of advice to you, my younger brother, is to make only one resolution for the coming year: "Do Right!" In that, you have epitomized every manly principle. It is a condensed Golden Rule. It is a sound business maxim. If followed, it will bring you fortune and peace of mind. It is the philosopher's stone—contentment.—Ladies' Home Journal.

What the Religion of Jesus Does.

It makes men pay their debts.
It makes women stop talking scandal.
It makes children obey their parents.
It makes men do good with their money.
It makes those who have been vicious control themselves.
It makes the drunkard stop buying beefsteak for the saloon keeper, and go to doing something for his own family.
It throws jailors out of employment, and raises the workman's wages. It builds asylums and furnishes the money to run them.
It makes men unselfish and women more loveable.—Ram's Horn.

LITTLE ANNOYANCES.—Flies get into the ointment. A too hot fire burns the cake in the oven. A heavy rain falls when we want to go on a picnic. We reach the train a minute too late, and see it moving down the track. How miserable these little annoyances! How frequently we meet them! And how do we receive them? Often with peevish complaint. We think of them as wholly bad, and as simply hindrances to our pleasure. But hold! are they not part of the providence of God? We believe it. The thorn on the rose of life is placed there for our good. It is a part of our discipline. If we take these annoyances in the proper spirit they will cultivate our self-control, strengthen our patience, and ripen our character. If our wills were not sometimes opposed, and if things did not occasionally turn out contrary to our hopes, we would become selfish and conceited. All these things are really helps, and the person who learns to look upon them so has learned one of the valuable secrets of life.—Selected.

HUSBANDS AND WIVES.—A good husband makes a good wife. Some men can neither do without wives nor with them; they are wretched alone in what is called single blessedness, and they make their homes miserable when they get married; they are like Tompkins' dog, which could not bear to be loose, and howled when it was tied up. Happy bachelors are likely to be happy husbands, and a happy husband is the happiest of men. A well matched couple carry a joyful life between them, as the two spies carried the cluster of Eshcol. They are a brace of birds of Paradise. They multiply their joys by sharing them, and lessen their troubles by dividing them; this is fine arithmetic. The wagon of care rolls lightly along as they pull together, and when it drags a little heavily, or there's a hitch anywhere, they love each other all the more, and so lighten the labor.—John Ploughman.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good-will toward men."

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

A SONG OF CHRISTMAS.

Sing a song of Christmas!
Pockets full of gold;
Plums and cakes for Polly's stocking,
More than it can hold.
Pudding in the great pot,
Turkey on the spit,
Merry faces round the fire—
Sorrow? not a bit!

Sing a song of Christmas!
Carols in the street,
Bundles going home with people,
Everywhere we meet.
Holly, fir, and spruce boughs
Green upon the wall,
Spotless snow along the road,
More going to fall.

Sing a song of Christmas!
Empty pockets here;
Windows broken, garments thin,
Stove black and drear.
Noses blue and frosty,
Fingers pinched and red,
Little hungry children going
Supperless to bed.

Sing a song of Christmas!
Tears are falling fast;
Empty is the baby's chair,
Since 'twas Christmas last.
Wrathfully the north wind
Wails across the snow,
Is there not a little grave
Frozen down below?

Sing a song of Christmas!
Thanks to God on high
For the tender hearts abounding
With his charity!
Gifts for all the needy,
For the sad hearts, love,
And a little angel smiling,
In sweet heaven above.

To the Cousins.

The editors of the ADVOCATE send greetings to all the little cousins, and big cousins, too, at this happy Christmas-time. The gracious Savior has spared us to see another anniversary of his coming into the world, and while we all have had some disappointments we have also had many, many blessings and thousands of hours of enjoyment during the past year. Then let us all be glad and rejoice together in the fact of God's goodness, and in the other fact that more hearts are full of a Savior's love and more tongues are singing his praise to-day than ever before. Let us rejoice in the fact that his fame is growing steadily and his light enlarging continually, and nations are hearing his gospel to-day that never heard it before. Let us rejoice that we have been able to do something, however small, to send the glad news of salvation to those who had it not. Let us spend the Christmas-time as a holy time, celebrating with pious joy the birth of him who brought us redemption and all its wonderful blessings.

The editors wish all the little readers of the ADVOCATE a merry, happy Christmas; and may the blessing of the Christ be in all your homes and upon all your hearts.

Christmas Customs.

I am going to tell the young folks something about the way the children keep Christmas in other countries besides their own; so let us begin with that far-off end of Europe, Norway and Sweden, where the Christmas season is called the Juletred or Yule-peace. At Juletred all the courts are closed, and everyone stops disputing and quarreling, and if people are feeling angry with each other or children are, they make it up and are loving and kind, and there is a deal of feasting and good-humored merriment. On Christmas Eve the shoes of all the family are cleaned very carefully, and brightly polished, and set in a row before the hearthstone to indicate that during the coming year everything will be peaceful and pleasant in the family. In the country places almost every family who can spreads a table with the good cheer of the season, and then the doors are left open, so any one may come in and eat and drink and be merry. The way that the presents are given is very peculiar; the person who wishes to give a present wraps it up in a quantity of straw or paper or rags, and slyly flings it in at the open door or window when no one is in sight. Isn't that a droll way?

In Belgium the children fill their shoes with beans and carrots on Christmas Eve, and set them in the chimney-place for the good Saint's horse. In the morning they expect to find them filled with sweetmeats and fruit in return for their good behavior.

In Holland the children hang up their woolen stockings by the tiled chimney-piece, and then go soberly to bed quite sure that good St. Nicholas will visit them, provided they do not disturb him in his visit.

Bohemian children listen anxiously on Christmas Eve for the chariot and white horses of the "Christ-child," as he comes flying through the air with his Krippe full of presents; but the Italian children go gravely with their parents to churches and cathedrals, to see the Bambino or saint who presents them with their Christmas gifts.

The Spanish children hide their shoes or slippers in the hashes on Christmas Eve, and find them filled with fruit and sugar-plums on Christmas morning.

In France the young people stand their shoes in a convenient place for the good Noel to drop gifts in; sometimes if the shoes of a bad boy is among them, he finds a whip in it in the morning, and he must be a stupid fellow who can not take so sharp a hint. Very different is the feeling of the German child; he waits with feelings of mingled awe and pleasure for the coming of two important personages, the "Christ-child," and the "Knecht Ruppert;" the latter person questions naughty children, and threatens them with punishment, till the "Christ-child's" intercession saves the culprit and wins its pardon; then these two Christmas apparitions lay down their burdens of gifts and depart.

In some parts of Germany the good Saint will have a Christmas tree brilliantly illuminated with wax candles to hang its gifts on; he is not satisfied simply with the stocking in the chimney, and it is from this whim of his saintship that the custom has spread into other countries, and came over to our own. The Christmas tree of to-day, however, is only a successor to its prototypo, the ancient legendary, Ydgnefil, or Eternal Tree, that had its roots in earth and its top in heaven.

The English child's Christmas has none of the delightful features we have described, except the Christmas tree lighted with tapers and hung with gifts; but he has the Christmas boxes, and the evening is spent in all sorts of sports, such as snap dragon, blindman's buff and some more modern games. Holland gave us Americans the good-natured Santa Claus, with his sled and reindeer careering over the house-tops, bringing his goodly store of Christmas gifts.

In Germany the schoolboys and choristers make the midnight air ring with their merry carols. The "Three Kings of the East, the Angel Gabriel and the Star Singers" parade the streets; and similar processions go about in Italy, France and Spain. In former years, and, perhaps, even now, in some localities in England the Christmas Waits, young lads, make the air vocal with lovely Christmas carols; but in our country these are reserved to be heard in church and Sunday-school, and sometimes they ring out in chimes from the church steeple.—Ladies' World.

Take Your Hands Out of Your Pockets, Young Man.

To begin with, it does not look well when a young man crooks his arms and thrusts his hands into his pockets, making a figure eight of himself, and then stands up against the sunny side of the house, like a rooster in December.

How would the girls look, all turned into eights and leaning against the wall? How would your mother look in that posture? Catch her doing it! You don't find her hands in her pockets. Your mother's hands! While you are loafing, they are the hands that sew, and bake, and stew, and fry, and sweep, and darn, and nurse, but she does not sink them in her pockets and then loll against a building.

Are your hands cold? Warm them up at the end of the hoe handle and scythe. Swing the hammer; drive the plane; flourish the axe. There is untold calorie about the spade, towel, and wrench.

Besides, pocket heat is not profitable. Have you money there though? Are your pockets the safes in which you have hidden treasures, and your hands the bolts that secure the safe-door? Money may be there to-day, but it won't be a guest over to-morrow night. An idler's money is apt to leap out of his pocket. It is likely to go for a pipe, a cigar, a tobacco plug, a mug of ale. There is no money in pocket-warming.

Take your hands out of your pockets, young man. You are losing time. Time is valuable. People feel it at the other end of the line, when death is near and eternity is pressing them into such small quarters, for the work of this life craves hours, days, weeks, years. If those at this end of the line of youth with its abundance of resources would only feel that time was precious! Time is a quarry. Every hour may be a nugget of gold. It is time in whose invaluable moments we build our bridges, spike the iron rails to the sleepers, launch our ships, dig our canals, run our factories. You might have planted twenty hills of potatoes while I have been talking to you, young man. Take your hands out of your pockets.—Christian Banner.

"For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end."

The Girl Who Is Ever Welcome.

The welcome guest is the girl who, knowing the hour for breakfast, appears at the table at the proper time, does not keep others waiting, and does not get in the way by being down half an hour before her hostess appears.

The welcome guest is the girl who, if there are not many servants in the house, has sufficient energy to take care of her own room while she is visiting; and if there are people whose duty it is, she makes that duty as light as possible for them, by putting away her own belongings, and in this way not necessitating extra work.

The welcome guest is the one who knows how to be pleasant to every member of the family, and who yet has tact enough to retire from a room when some special family affair is under discussion.

The welcome guest is the one who does not find children disagreeable, or the various pets of the household things to be dreaded.

The welcome guest is the one who, when her hostess is busy, can entertain herself with a book, a bit of sewing, or the writing of a letter.

The welcome guest is the one who, when her friends come to see her, does not disarrange the household in which she is staying that she may entertain them.

The welcome guest is the one who, having broken the bread and eaten the salt of her friend, has set upon her lips a seal of silence, so that when she goes from the house she repeats nothing but the agreeable things that she has seen.

This is the welcome guest, the one to whom we say good-by with regret, and to whom we call out welcome with the lips and from the heart.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Sing, all in heaven, at Jesus' birth,
Glory to God, and peace on earth:
Incarnate love in Christ is seen,
Pure mercy and good-will to men.

How to Be a Great Preacher.

A boy eight years old, while traveling in England with his father, was taken to hear Mr. Spurgeon, whom he had been told was the greatest preacher in the world. The little fellow was all interest, and when the preacher began the service, he leaned forward with open mouth and listened with most intense earnestness, scarcely moving his eye from the speaker. When the service was over, his father said: "Willie, what do you think of that man?"

He stood still and looked up into his face and asked: "Papa, is that the greatest preacher in the world?"

"Yes, I think he is."

"Well, then," said the boy, with a glow of enthusiasm in his face, "I know how to be the greatest preacher in the world."

"How?" asked his father.

"Why, just pick out a nice chapter in the Bible, and tell what is in it, so everybody can understand you, and nothing more."

Six Things.

We are told in Youth's Companion six things which a boy ought to know:

1. That a quiet voice, courtesy and kind acts are essential to the part in the world of a gentleman as of a gentlewoman.

2. That roughness, blustering, and even foolhardiness is not manliness. The most firm and courageous men have usually been the most gentle.

3. That muscular strength is not health.

4. That a brain crammed only with facts is not necessarily a wise one.

5. That the labor impossible to the boy of fourteen will be easy to the man of twenty.

6. That the best capital for a boy is not money, but a love of work, simple tastes, and a heart loyal to his friends and his God.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a TINY LIVER PILL which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS is shown in the border of this "ad."

Heavy Crops!

The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Royal Germetuer

Savings Deposits.

By resolution of the Board of Directors, THE SOUTHERN NATIONAL BANK, 187 Gravier street, New Orleans, will receive interest deposits.

Accounts may be opened with amounts of $5 and upwards, upon which the bank will pay 3 per cent. per annum when left with the bank three calendar months or longer.

Business men can put their surplus funds at interest without interfering with their current accounts. Planters, dealers, professional people, guardians, trustees, etc., are invited to call at the bank for full information. Ladies may deposit with us and thus increase the results of wise economies, and special conveniences will be provided for them in the transaction of their business with the bank.

With a capital of $500,000, the guarantee security therein assured to the public, and the success of the bank in establishing a good and increasing business, evidences its good faith in offering an additional sound and secure depository to the citizens of this and adjoining States. T. R. ROACH, Cashier.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus:

JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, LONDON, ENGLAND.

Holiday Goods

What more acceptable present can you give a friend at Christmas or New Year's time than a handsome Rug or a pretty Matting. We have made special prices on this line, and herewith append the list:

John Crossley & Sons imported tap. rags, 45c each

John Crossley & Sons—

	ft. in.	ft. in.
N Rags,	2	1 x 4	3, 90c each.
H "	2	3 x 4	8, $1.65 each.
G "	2	6 x 5	6, $2.00 each.

	ft. in.	ft. in.
Smyrna Rugs (best quality)	2	2 x 4	6, $2.50 each
" " " "	2	6 x 5	0, $3.50 each
" " " "	3	0 x 6	0, $4.50 each

Smyrna Mats, 75c, $1 and $1 35 each

Fine Damask Matting, Jointless, 25c.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,
116 Camp St., New Orleans.

A FEW MORE
Good Agents Wanted
For that Wonderful Chart,
"The Tree of Methodism."
Address
F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans.

THIRTY CENTS
WILL get you TWO good papers, THE WAY OF FAITH (weekly), THE SOLDIER (monthly), for THREE MONTHS, 8 sweet songs, and our Liberal Terms to Agents. Address GOSPEL MISSION, Columbia, S. C.
Mention this paper.

MARRIAGES.

SHUMAKER—SPANN.—In the Baptist Church, Macon, Miss., Dec. 9, 1891, by Rev. J. H. Shumaker, Mr. Loyd S. Shumaker to Miss Mattie J. Spann, both of Macon, Miss.

PEARSON—WORTHINGTON.—In the Methodist Church, Greenville, Miss., Dec. 10, 1891, by Rev. T. W. Lewis, assisted by Rev. R. M. Standefer, Mr. J. R. Pearson, of Florida, and Miss Fannie Worthington, of Greenville, Miss.

LANIER—KEELER.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Dec. 9, 1891, by Rev. Joseph S. Oakley, Dr. H. M. Lanier to Miss Ella Keeler, of Columbus, Miss.

DAVIS—SITMAN.—In the Methodist Church, Greensburg, La., Dec. 8, 1891, by Rev. P. Howard, Mr. Edwin C. Davis, of Gainsville, Texas, and Miss Lillian D. Sitman, of Greensburg, La.

STEWART—KELLSEY.—At the residence of Mr. W. O. Mason, Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 10, 1891, by Rev. G. H. Jacobs, Mr. J. M. Stewart and Miss Emma Kellsey, both of Barton, Miss.

OBITUARIES.

MAGEE—Dr. JOHN W. MAGEE, of Caseyville, Miss., died at his own home, and in the bosom of his family, on Aug. 27, 1891.

My dear friend had just passed his fortieth year. He was thus called away in the bloom of life's manhood, when a loving wife and three lovely little boys were nestling most nearly about his heart; when a bright, sweet home, with plenty and comfort, and a large circle of loving, intelligent and appreciative friends were about him; when his honorable profession was culminating in success and honor for him; when life was bright and buoyant with hopefulness, from an earthly standpoint, and strong with confidence that lifted above the temporal and transient to things more solid and of sublime import. "He had tasted of the heavenly gift and of the powers of the world to come." His whole being had been lighted up by the God-life that came suddenly into his nature as a powerful sermon was being delivered by Rev. T. L. Mellen, at Bethel (his church), in 1888. Sermon concluded, the preacher said, "I am sure some soul was converted here to-day." The Doctor's consciousness responded, "I am the man." This year—1891—the Doctor took his two oldest boys and went to Crystal Springs Camp Meeting. There he heard Rev. Geo. S. Inge on, "What think ye of Christ?" He came home, talking much of Inge and his sermon, and "with his soul all aflame with the love of Jesus' name." Thus equipped and furnished from two worlds for extensive usefulness in the church, and a commanding influence over his fellow-men, how inscrutable that providence that called him away under these circumstances and at that time!

But our God is too wise to err and too good to be unkind. "God is his own interpreter, and he will make it plain." One of the great excellences of our holy religion is that its true votaries die well, as certainly as they live well. To be confronted by death, with eternity in view, is one of the severest tests that humanity can have. But to be able to say, in the presence of the King of terrors, and the terror of kings, that "Jesus is with me;" "All is well," and to be able to say to his loving and grief-stricken companion, "I and Ida Belle" (a sweet little girl gone before) "will watch and wait at the beautiful gate until you and the boys come"—these are strong evidences of complete conquest of "death, the last enemy," and a glorious immortality in the endless future.

Our dear friend has gone from us; but, by the grace of God, we will strike hands again "on the beautiful shore, in the sweet by-and-by."

WM. B. HINES.

Waynesboro, Miss.

WALL—Sister REBECCA C. WALL, daughter of Martha Jane and William L. Conditt, was born in Ohio county, Ky., May 3, 1847; removing (when five years of age) with her parents to Delta county, Texas, where the happy days of her childhood were passed.

Truthful and conscientious almost from infancy, she became a Christian early in life, unselfishly working for the pleasure and good of others; uniting with the church at fourteen years of age, and gladly and lovingly attending its ordinances.

On Jan. 1, 1874, she was married to George W. Wall, who brought her to his prairie home, near Okolona, Miss., where she lived for many years the comfort and joy of her entire household, the pleasure and help of all with whom she was associated. In 1887 Bro. Wall sought a home near Lake Charles, La., where Sister Wall has with him been actively engaged in Christian work, until Sabbath evening, Sept. 13, 1891, when she sweetly fell asleep in Jesus, that Savior whom all her life she delighted to serve.

Lovingly and tenderly we chronicle the death of this sweet Christian woman, for while our hearts are crushed over the loss of one so necessary to our happiness, we thank God for a Christian character so exemplary and for a life which brought to us only good. Sister Wall's Bible was, indeed, to her "the Book of books," the rule and guide of every action, her strength and help in times of trouble. Familiar with the precious promises, she rested in them, and always was she "ready to give a reason to any who asked of the hope that was within her." Truly hers was "a life hid with Christ in God." "In the secret of his presence" she daily "delighted to hide." All her burdens she gladly cast upon him, all her joys she laid at his feet. As her husband earnestly expressed it, "Her life was a living epistle of Christian love and tenderness; her battle fought, the victory won." All her life her face has been turned Zion-ward. Now that she has reached the desired haven, shall we call her back? Call her back to earth? —oh, no! Thank God, the sweet influence of her life still dwells among us, and we may follow in the way which she has led—a way which she has made more plain for us.

Sorrowing husband, broken-hearted little daughter, loving friends, weep not; yours she still is and shall be evermore. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them." KATE COOK.

SHERRY—RICHARD R. SHERRY, a native of New Orleans, was born Dec. 26, 1835, and died in peace, Aug. 15, 1891.

He was the son of the patriarch of Methodism in this city, bearing the same name, and "the worthy son of an honored sire." He was a great sufferer for many years, having acquired virulent rheumatism during the exposure incident to camp life as a soldier of the Lost Cause; but these afflictions were great gain to him, as they subdued in him a preponderance of what may be termed the martial graces, and determined him to the gentler model of the Man of Galilee. As long as he suffered he grew in grace and towards heavenly perfection, until at death there seemed to be little left but that which was pure, angelic, submissive, loving, trustful, peaceful; he lapsed through the thin veil of partition so imperceptibly that the watchers could scarcely persuade themselves that they had resigned their charge. It must have been gain to our brother by all the tokens with which we are accustomed to measure heavenly progress, but it was loss to many lives who had learned to cherish him among their peculiar treasures, and most of all to the church of Christ, who had no more devoted, self-sacrificing friend.

In the Sunday-school, in the class meeting, on the Board of Stewards, he was a careful, painstaking, zealous servant of his Lord and Master, while in the common walks of life he was so exemplary that even wicked men "took knowledge of him that he had been with Jesus." In his last years some of the young men who were members of his Sunday-school class were brought to Christ by the quiet, every-day preaching of a spotless life, and by the earnest exhortations and beseechings of the chapel and the closet; and if all are not saved, in the years to come, it will not be because he does not speak to them by that unfinished ministry of good works and words in which he is yet spared to them and us.

The writer has many delightful reminiscences of our departed brother; but the space allotted to this article will not permit him even to broach them. He sleeps well, and out of his lowly life, extending through a few years of heroic suffering, has sprung a renown and a reward imperishable.

J. M. BEARD.

HENDERSON—TIDWEL— } Whereas, It has pleased God, who is the great disposer of all events, to take from us and his church militant during the latter part of our Conference year two of our beloved sisters, Mrs. MARTHA E. HENDERSON and Mrs. ANNIE TIDWEL, daughter of the last, but sainted James A. and Agnes E. Williams; therefore, be it Resolved, By the members of this, the Greensburg Methodist Church, in Conference assembled, that while we deprecate their removal from the homes and social circles through which they were ever wont to diffuse light and joy, and while we deprecate further their loss to this society of God's own planting and preservation, we shall and do, by the aid of the Holy Spirit, submit to this dispensation, and feel that the divine hand, though sometimes apparently extreme, is full of tenderest care.

Resolved, That we offer to the families of these dear sisters our greatest sympathy; that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the pages of our register, and that a copy be furnished the St. Helena Echo and the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

MRS. C. W. E. REAMES,
For Committee.

FELDER—Bro. S. L. FELDER was born in Pike county, Miss., Dec. 21, 1869. In 1884 he joined the M. E. Church, South, under the ministry of Rev. H. W. Featherstun, and on Sept. 20, 1891, he sweetly fell on sleep in Jesus.

He was one of whom I never heard anything wrong or improper. He was a true friend, a kind brother, a consistent member of the church, an affectionate and dutiful son. It can be truly said that he was good at home. He was the companion and comfort of his aged parents, and to him they looked for protection and support in years to come. But God has taken him to the land of light, to a higher sphere, to a more abundant life. Oh! may the memory of his loving life and the certainty of his safety, and the blessed hope of meeting him in the home beyond the stars, cheer and sustain the lonely, broken hearts of the loved ones left behind. Jesus can more than fill his place in the aching heart.

A FORMER PASTOR.

WOLFF'S
ACME
BLACKING
USED BY MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN.
A SHINE LASTS A WEEK.
LEATHER PRESERVER.
A HANDSOME POLISH.
IS WATER-PROOF.
20c. A BOTTLE.

1 cent a □ foot
will pay for changing the appearance of old Furniture so completely that it will look like new.
PIK-RON IS THE NAME OF THE PAINT THAT DOES IT.

Lady Canvassers Wanted
TO SELL OUR NEW
Haut-ton Waists and Duplex Corsets.
Exclusive Territory Given.
Address Bortree M'f'g Co., JACKSON, MICH.

Christian Advocate.

NO. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

	S.	M.	T.	W.	T.	F.	S.
Jan'y						1	2
	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
	10	11	12	13	14	15	16
	17	18	19	20	21	22	23
	24	25	26	27	28	29	30
	31
Feb'y		1	2	3	4	5	6
	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
	14	15	16	17	18	19	20
	21	22	23	24	25	26	27
	28	29
March			1	2	3	4	5
	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
	13	14	15	16	17	18	19
	20	21	22	23	24	25	26
	27	28	29	30	31
April						1	2
	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
	10	11	12	13	14	15	16
	17	18	19	20	21	22	23
	24	25	26	27	28	29	30
May	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
	8	9	10	11	12	13	14
	15	16	17	18	19	20	21
	22	23	24	25	26	27	28
	29	30	31
June				1	2	3	4
	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
	12	13	14	15	16	17	18
	19	20	21	22	23	24	25
	26	27	28	29	30

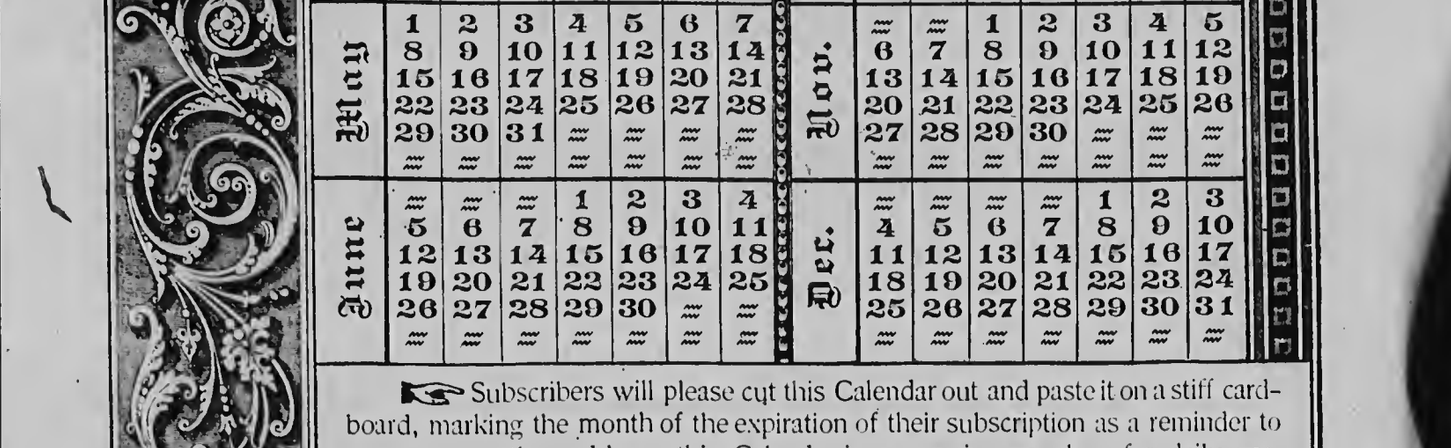
	S.	M.	T.	W.	T.	F.	S.
July						1	2
	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
	10	11	12	13	14	15	16
	17	18	19	20	21	22	23
	24	25	26	27	28	29	30
	31
August		1	2	3	4	5	6
	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
	14	15	16	17	18	19	20
	21	22	23	24	25	26	27
	28	29	30	31
Sept.					1	2	3
	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
	11	12	13	14	15	16	17
	18	19	20	21	22	23	24
	25	26	27	28	29	30
Oct.							1
	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
	9	10	11	12	13	14	15
	16	17	18	19	20	21	22
	23	24	25	26	27	28	29
	30	31
Nov.			1	2	3	4	5
	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
	13	14	15	16	17	18	19
	20	21	22	23	24	25	26
	27	28	29	30
Dec.					1	2	3
	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
	11	12	13	14	15	16	17
	18	19	20	21	22	23	24
	25	26	27	28	29	30	31

☞ Subscribers will please cut this Calendar out and paste it on a stiff cardboard, marking the month of the expiration of their subscription as a reminder to renew promptly, and hang this Calendar in a conspicuous place for daily use.

B. D. WOOD & SONS,
113 Common Street.
COAL AND COKE
We are prepared to furnish Families, Planters, Foundries, Steamships, Steamboats and all consumers of Coal or Coke at Lowest Market Rates.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS E. RICE, Secretary.
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
☞ See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:--one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $40 up to $1000 Dining room suits, eight pieces, from $17 upwards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 upwards. Quality at top—prices at bottom. I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded.

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30 | J. G. GRANT, | CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 3

Housekeepers Should Remember.

The great success of the Royal Baking Powder is due to the extreme care exercised by its manufacturers to make it entirely pure, uniform in quality, and of the highest leavening power. All the scientific knowledge, care and skill, attained by twenty-five years' practical experience, are contributed toward this end, and no preparation can be made with a greater accuracy, precision and exactness.

Every article used is absolutely pure. Chemists are employed to test the strength of each ingredient, so that its exact effect in combination with its co-ingredients is definitely known. Nothing is trusted to chance, and no person is employed in the preparation of the materials used, or the manufacture of the powder, who is not an expert in his particular branch of the business.

As a consequence, the Royal Baking Powder is of the highest grade of excellence, always pure, wholesome and uniform in quality. Each box is exactly like every other, and will retain its power, and produce the same and the highest leavening effect in any climate, at any time.

The Government Chemists, after having analyzed all the principal brands in the market, in their reports placed the Royal Baking Powder at the head of the list for strength, purity and wholesomeness; and thousands of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are, in every respect, unrivaled.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.

Grenada station	Dec. 19, 20
Minter City and Strathmore, at M. C.	Jan. 2, 3
Coffeeville circuit, at Coffeeville	9, 10
Water Valley circuit, at Wyatt	12
Water Valley station	13
Abbeville circuit, at Abbeville	16, 17
Oxford	23, 24
Toccopola circuit, at Toccopola	30, 31
Banner circuit, at Pleasant Hill	Feb. 6
Pittsboro circuit, at Pittsboro	6, 7
Cherry Hill circuit, at Harlcon	10
Atlanta circuit, at Benela	13, 14
Chapel Hill circuit, at Mars Hill	18
Grenada circuit, at Spring Hill	20, 21
Tillatobia circuit, at Tillatobia	27, 28
Charleston circuit, at Oakland	Mar. 5, 6

The district stewards will please meet in the church at Grenada at half-past ten o'clock, on Wednesday, Jan. 6, 1892. Will the preachers in charge please hold Church Conferences as soon as possible; also urge fasting and prayer at the time named in Discipline; also see that elements are ready for Lord's Supper at Quarterly Conference?

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Valden circuit	Dec. 26, 27
West	Jan. 2, 3
McNutt and Sunnyside	9, 10
Brooklyn and Dublin	13, 17
Indianola	23, 24
Laberton	30, 31
Greenwood	Feb. 3, 7
Black Hawk	13, 14
Sidon	20, 21
Carrollton circuit	27, 28
Winona circuit	Mar. 5, 6
Carrollton station	12, 13

The district stewards will meet at the Methodist Church in Greenwood, Dec. 29, 1891.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Rosedale	Dec. 26, 27
Bolivar	Jan. 2, 3
Australia	9, 10
Friar's Point	13, 17
Lula	23, 24
Clarksdale	30, 31
Shelby	Feb. 6, 7
Shaw	13, 14
Arcola	20, 21
Avon	27, 28
Jonestown	Mar. 5, 6
Belen	12, 13

Let preachers and people observe Friday before Conference as a day of fasting and prayer. District stewards' meeting at Greenville, Wednesday, Jan. 3.

R. M. STANDEFER, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sardis	Dec. 26, 27
Pleasant Hill	Jan. 2, 3
Como	9, 10
Batesville	13, 17
Coldwater	23, 24
Pleasant Grove	30, 31
Conrtland	Feb. 6, 7
Cockrum	13, 14
Arkabutla	20, 21
Coldwater mission	23
Nesbitt	27, 28
Wall Hill	Mar. 5, 6
Mt. Vernon	12, 13
Panola	19, 20

The district stewards will all please meet me at Senatobia, Friday, 11 A. M., Jan. 22, 1892. The district stewards are G. D. Shands, J. F Lavender, J. W. Sharp, B. P. Jones, B. F. Ross, — — Harington, J. B. Garison, J. W. Jones, H. F. Johnson, W. S. Bailey, J. L. Boyd, — — McGehee, — — Jennings, Robt. Houston

H. C. MOREHEAD, P. E.

P. S.—My address is Sardis, Miss.

H. C. M.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Maben	Dec. 26, 27
Walthall	Jan. 2, 3
Chester	(Wed.)
Louisville	9, 10
Weir	(Wed.)
Ethel	13
Kosciusko and Durant	16, 17
Sallis	23, 24
Newport	(Wed.)
Pickens	27
Ebenezer	30, 31
Lexington and Tchula	Feb. 6, 7
Benona	(Wed.)
Poplar Creek	13, 14
Rural Hill	17
	20, 21
	27, 28
	Mar. 5, 6

The district stewards will meet me at the Methodist Church in Kosciusko at ten o'clock, Friday morning, Jan. 22, 1892.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Tupelo station	Dec. 26, 27
Okolona station	Jan. 2, 3
Shannon	9, 10
Aberdeen station	16, 17
Pontotoc	23, 24
Prairie	30, 31
Amory and Smithville	Feb. 6, 7
Nettleton and Fulton	13, 14
Saltillo	20, 21
Athens	27, 28
Houston and Wesley	Mar. 5, 6
Okolona circuit	12, 13
Tremont	19, 20
Baena Vista	26, 27

The following district stewards will meet at the Methodist Church in Okolona, Saturday, Jan. 2, 1892, at eleven A. M.: B. L. Trice, S. T. Harkey, John Trice, William Morris J. D. Shell, S. H. Wood, Bro. Foster, J. H. Thomas, J. C. Bardine, T. W. Pearce, F. M. Banks, Robert Gordon, P. W. Shell, Josiah McDaniel, W. Reeves.

J. B. STONE, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Byhalia	Dec. 26, 27
Early Grove	Jan. 2, 3
Myrtle	9, 13
Eagle Springs	13, 17
Holly Springs circuit	23, 24
Ashland	26, 31
Lebanon	Feb. 6 7
Eas Holly Springs circuit	13, 14
Olive Branch	20, 21
Mt. Pleasant	27, 28

The district stewards will please meet in Holly Springs, Thursday Jan. 21, at ten o'clock A. M. We ask for a full attendance. The preachers' meeting for the district will be held in Holly Springs, commencing on Jan. 20, at 7 P. M.

JNO. W. BOSWELL, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crystal Springs	Dec. 26, 27
Hazlehurst	Jan. 2, 3
Brookhaven	9, 10
McComb City	16, 17
Beauregard	23, 24
Wesson	23, 24
Topisaw	30, 31
Terry, at Terry	Feb. 3, 7
Magnolia, at Osyka	13, 14
Caseyville, at Sweetwater	20, 21
Adams circuit, at Adams	27, 28
Brookhaven circuit, at Adams	27, 28
Pleasant Grove, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 6, 7
Providence, at Bahala	13, 14
China Grove, at Waterholes	20, 21
Bowerton, at Brandywine	27, 28
Lebanon, at Brandywine	27, 28
Gallman, at Bethesda	Apr. 3, 4
Summit, at Summit	10, 11

District stewards will meet at the district parsonage in Brookhaven, Dec. 29, at 12 o'clock.

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Meridian, at West End	Dec. 26, 27
Meridian, at East End	(night) 28
Meridian, at Central	Jan. 2, 3
Vossburg circuit, at Vossburg	9, 10
Clarke circuit, at Andrew	13, 17
Enterprise and Stonewall	23, 24
Linwood circuit, at Bethel	30, 31
Daleville station	(night) 31, Feb. 1
DeKalb circuit, at Pleasant Ridge	3, 7
Lauderdale circuit, at Brogan	(Tu.) 9
Leakesville circuit, at Adamsville	13, 14
W. and State Line cir., at W	(M.) 16
Waynesboro circuit, at Winchester	20, 21
Shubuta circuit, at Shubuta	(Mou.) 22
Chunkey circuit, at Sageville	27, 28
Porterville circuit, at Chapel Hill	Mar. 5, 6
Binnsville circuit, at Scooba station	12, 13
Marion circuit, at Marion	(Wed.) 18

The district stewards will meet in Central Church, Meridian, Tuesday, Jan. 26, at nine A. M. A full attendance is desirable.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Madison circuit, at Madison	Jan. 2, 3
Sharon circuit, at Lone Pine	9, 10
Camden circuit, at Thomastown	16, 17
Flora circuit, at Flora	23, 24
Mt. Olivet circuit, at Bentonia	30, 31
Yazoo City station	Feb. 3, 7
Yazoo circuit, at Short Creek	13, 14
Silver Creek circuit, at B. Lake	20, 21
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City	27, 28
Benton circuit, at New Hope	Mar. 5, 6
Canton station	12, 13
Jackson—First Church	19, 20
Jackson—Capitol Street	19, 20
Pocahontas, at Pocahontas	26, 27
Raymond, at Bolton	Apr. 2, 3
Edwards station	9, 10

The district stewards' meeting will be held in Jackson at First Church, Wednesday, Feb. 3, 1892.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

SEASHORE DISTRICT.—FIRST ROUND.

Ocean Springs and Biloxi, at O. S.	Jan. 2, 3
Scranton, at Zion	9, 10
Moss Point	(at night) 10, 11
Americus, at Ward's Chapel	13, 17
Vancleave, at Shiloh	(Wed.) 20
Bay St. Louis, at Bay St. Louis	23, 24
Whittington, at Coalville	30, 31
Pearlington, at Pearlington	Feb. 6, 7
Purvis, at Lumberton	13, 14
Ellisville, at Ellisville	20, 21
Heidelberg, at Pauding	27, 28
Estabutchie, at Hopewell	(Wed.) Mar. 2
Parry, at Galloway	5, 6
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	12, 13
Columbia, at Columbia	19, 20
East Pearl, at Columbia	19, 20
Mount Carmel, at Santee	(Thu.) 24
Williamsburg, at Williamsburg	26, 27

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Hattiesburg, Wednesday, Feb. 17.

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Port Gibson station	Dec. 26, 27
Natchez—Jefferson Street	Jan. 2, 3
Natchez—Wesley Chapel	2, 3
Washington, at Washington	(Tues.) 6
Vicksburg—Crawford Street	9, 10
South Vicksburg	9, 10
Hurtonton, at Surtonton	16, 17
Fayette, at Harriston	23, 24
Martin, at Cane Ridge	30, 31
Meadville, at Oak Grove	Feb. 6, 7
Mayersville, at Mayersville	13, 14
South Warren, at Bovina	20, 21
Warren, at Bradley's	27, 28
Anguilla and Rolling Fork, at Anguilla	Mar. 5, 6
Rocky Springs	12, 13
Roxie, at Hamburg	19, 20
Utica, at Learned	26, 27

The district stewards will meet in Port Gibson on Thursday, Jan. 7, 1892.

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

You've No Idea

How nicely Hood's Sarsaparilla hits the needs of people who feel "all tired out" or "run down," from any cause. It seems to oil up the whole mechanism of the body, so that all moves smoothly and work becomes delight.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Senator Plumb, who has been a representative of the State of Kansas in Congress since 1876, died in Washington, D. C., on Dec. 20.

The American Federation of Labor, which met in Birmingham, Ala., resolved that the struggle for an eight-hour day be renewed in 1892.

The convention of the American Federation of Labor, in session at Birmingham, Ala., last week, adopted a resolution favoring a woman's suffrage amendment to the Constitution.

The President sent to the Senate the nomination of Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia, to be Secretary of War. The nomination of Mr. Elkins was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

A meeting of the General Executive Committee of the Prohibition party was held in Chicago last week, and it was decided to hold the national convention of that party in St. Louis on June 29 and 30, next.

Orders have been sent to the telegraph operators working for the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley railroad, notifying the men that they must leave the Order of Railway Telegraphers or leave the service of the company. It is said that similar orders have been sent to all the men employed on the entire Chicago and Northwestern system.

Senator Gibson presented in the Senate, on Dec. 17, a memorial of the Orleans Levee Board, approved by the city officials, Boards of Trade, railroads, merchants, etc., asking the government to appropriate $500,000 for the improvement of the New Orleans harbor. It represented that the caving of the banks has destroyed at least $100,000 worth of property recently.

A concourse of delegates from various Christian Churches of the United States that have accepted the overture and petition in favor of international arbitration emanating from the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church was held in New York City, on Dec. 18. The petition or overture which was read to the meeting, it is proposed to address to the several governors of the Christian nations of the world, advocating settling international disputes by peaceful means.

The St. Paul Chamber of Commerce has been pushing in earnest the scheme to build a great canal connecting the Mississippi and the St. Croix with Lake Superior, and bills asking for a big appropriation will this session be introduced in Congress. The scheme is to take an arm of the Mississippi to the St. Croix at Stillwater and follow a branch of the St. Croix through Northwestern Wisconsin, then by portage of a mile to the Black river, thence by the latter stream to Lake Superior. By this canal it is meant to reconstruct the entire commerce of the Northwest.

The Democratic Nominating Convention, that was to have been held in Baton Rouge, resolved itself into two organizations. The Anti wing, supported by the Farmer's Alliance, demanded an anti-lottery plank in the platform, which the McEnery faction was not prepared to grant. As a consequence, two conventions were held and two tickets were nominated. The Anti-Alliance faction selected the following ticket: Murphy J. Foster, of St. Mary, governor; Charles Parlange, of Point Coupee, lieut.-governor; John Pickett, of Bossier, State treasurer; Thos. S. Adams, of East Feliciana, secretary of State; A. D. Lafargue, of Avoyelles, superintendent of public education; W. W. Head, of Union, State auditor; M. J. Cunningham, of Natchitoches, attorney general. The McEnery (or lottery) wing made the following nominations: S. D. McEnery, of Ouachita, governor; R. C. Wickliffe, of West Feliciana, lieut.-governor; L. F. Mason, of Concordia, secretary of State; O. B. Steele, of Union, State auditor; J. V. Calhoun, of Orleans, superintendent of public education; G. Montegut, of Terrebonne, State treasurer; E. W. Sutherlin, of DeSoto, attorney general.

FOREIGN.

The list of deaths in London caused by the ravages of influenza continues to grow larger daily.

During his visit to Stettin, last week, Emperor William gave the army officers stationed there a practical lesson in economy.

King Humbert will bestow decorations upon the Austrian and German delegates who negotiated the zollverein treaties. Gen. Von Caprivi will probably receive a high Italian order.

The Comte de Paris has decided to abandon politics after the general election, and to disperse all of his political press organizers, many of whom are already seeking fresh occupations.

Emperor William has made Chancellor Von Caprivi a count as a reward for his efforts in the successful establishment of the commercial treaties recently concluded between Germany and several other countries.

The proposition to employ the starving peasants of Russia on public works would require an initial outlay of 3,000,000 roubles, which the government can not afford. The treasury has refused to grant any further sum than 10,000,000 roubles for relief work.

The view taken in official circles in Berlin of the quarrel between France and Bulgaria arising ont of the refusal of the authorities of the latter country to allow a journalist named Chaduoine, who was recently expelled from Bulgaria, to return, is that it will result in mischief.

The rupture of diplomatic relations between France and Bulgaria on the pretext of the expulsion of the French journalist, Chaduoine, now proves to be the initial step of a French diplomatic scheme to ask the Sultan to use his Suzerain right to interfere in Bulgaria in Russian interest.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. D. M. Geddie, W. P. Meador, E. B. Ramsey, A. C. Goodrich, J. J. Smylie, W. W. Dorman (2), I. B. Robertson, R. M. Evans, J. D. Crymes, C. W. Perkins, F. N. Sweeney, T. S. West, N. M. Clark, J. W. Luter, J. V. Penn, K. S. Enochs, J. H. Shumaker, R. F. Lewis, W. B. Hines, H. L. Vaughn, B. F. Phillips, M. L. White, F. A. Whitson, J. M. Porter, D. G. W. Ellis, T. B. Reneau, J. F. Robinson, H. P. Lewis, A. T. Buck, T. B. Clifford, L. D. Worsham, J. W. Ellison, J. M. Massey, W. W. Williams, F. M. Keen, J. C. Ellis, D. C. Langford, L. J. Jones, D. S. Hearon, R. A. Sibley, Jas. Porter, W. G. Forsythe, H. C. Edmondson, J. S. Parker, F. Howard, A. D. Miller, J. M. Pugh, J. L. Bowling, D. W. Babb, J. M. Weems, C. G. Andrews, W. J. Lemmons, C. W. Gavin, J. A. Leech, W. T. Beall, F. P. Spencer, R. S. Woodward, H. B. Scruggs, R. D. Norsworthy, J. F. Evans, W. C. Harris, J. E. Buck, J. K. Rogers, B. F. Lewis. $$$

Messrs. Z. C. Eekles, E. Phillips, G. F. Mellen, F. Ribara, G. W. Walker, L. L. Farnsworth, R. F. Patterson, H. H. Harris, I. Fletcher, J. D. Harrell, J. S. Hodges, U. J. Sturgis, J. W. Diremus, J. M. Davenport, H. D. LeCassett, E. H. Lacey, W. H. Simmons, J. C. T. Challe, B. Blankenship, J. P. Hanoy, L. A. Magruder, C. H. Alexander, Hewitt & Hosier.

Mesdames M. C. Alexander, M. L. Bowden, M. A. Haekett; G. Spilker, Elida Crisler.

Miss Annie Yancey.

Dec. 22.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

For Christmas and New Year.

"The Mississippi Valley Route" (L., N. O. and T. railway) will on Dec. 23, 24, 25 and 31 and Jan. 1 sell Excursion Tickets between all stations at the rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. Tickets good to return until Jan. 5.

La Grippe Once More.

Marsden's Pectoral Balm is an unfailing cure for this dread disease. Begin using the Balm immediately upon discovering the presence of the disease. It never fails to cure it.

At a meeting of the Mississippi Cotton Planters, in Memphis, Tenn., the subject of decreasing the acreage was discussed.

Chilblains, chapped hands, frost bites are cured by bathing in Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

A line of steamships is to be established between Mobile and Tampico.

Cuticura Soap For Bad Complexions Red Rough Hands and Baby Humors.

BAD COMPLEXIONS, WITH PIMPLY, blotchy, oily skin, Red, Rough Hands, with chaps, painful finger ends and shapeless nails, and simple Baby Humors prevented and cured by CUTICURA SOAP. A marvellous beautifier of world-wide celebrity, it is simply incomparable as a Skin Purifying Soap, unequalled for the Toilet and without a rival for the Nursery. Absolutely pure, delicately medicated, exquisitely perfumed, CUTICURA SOAP produces the whitest, clearest skin, and softest hands and prevents inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of pimples, blackheads, and most complexional disfigurations, while it admits of no comparison with the best of other skin soaps, and rivals in delicacy the most noted and expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin soaps.

Sold throughout the world. Price, 25c.

Send for "How to Cure Skin and Blood Diseases."

Address POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Aching sides and back, weak kidneys, and rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

Genuine Oxford Bibles,

Genuine Bagster Bibles,

At New York Prices.

Catalogues Free.

Dr. B. M. Palmer, New Orleans,

Has Written Two Books of Great Merit:

FORMATION OF CHARACTER.

($1.00.)

Should be read by every young man! Present it to your boy.

THE BROKEN HOME.

(60 Cts.)

Lessons in sorrow for those who mourn.

TALKS TO CHILDREN ABOUT JESUS.

($1.50.)

This new book, by Mrs. G. E. Morton, is sold by subscription. Agents are wanted, to whom good terms will be given.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LIBRARY BOOKS.

Send for Catalogue.

Reward Cards

Catalogue given away; or send 25c for a package, stating if you want Scripture verses on them or not.

For any of the above, send to, or call on

E. S. UPTON,

Religious Book Depository,

94 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Which—Man or Shirt?

Has the man grown, or has the flannel shrunk? Usually, the shirt is to blame. No, not that, either—but the way it's washed.

Flannels ought to be washed with Pearline. If you're buying new ones, start right. Have them washed only with Pearline (direction on every package) and they won't shrink. As for the old ones, Pearline can't make them any larger, but begin with it at once and it will keep them from growing smaller. It will keep them from the wear and tear of the washboard, too.

Danger

As one wash is sufficient to ruin flannels, great care should be exercised as to the use of the many imitations which are being offered by unscrupulous grocers or peddlers. Pearline is never peddled 314 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

Metal Tipped. EVER READY DRESS STAY Will Not Cut Through.

See Name "EVER READY" on Back of Each Stay.

Acknowledged the BEST DRESS STAY On the Market

Made with Gutta Percha on both sides of steel and warranted water-proof. All other stays are made differently and will rust. Beware of Imitations. Take none but the "Ever Ready."

Manufactured by the YPSILANTI DRESS STAY MFG. CO., Ypsilanti, Mich.

FOR SALE BY ALL JOBBERS AND RETAILERS.

SPECIAL DEPOTS. MODEL DRESS STEEL CO., 74 Grand St., New York. BROWN & METZNER, 535 Market Street, San Francisco.

THE BEST COMPANY

Is the company which does the most good; and the company which does the most good is that which issues and maintains the largest amount of assurance.

	Am't of Assurance issued during 1890.	Assurance in force Dec. 31, 1890.
EQUITABLE	$203,826,107	$720,662,473
MUTUAL	161,365,921	638,041,180
NEW YORK	159,576,065	569,338,726
PENN MUTUAL	20,663,272	90,278,701
MANHATTAN	12,962,401	54,500,754

THE BEST COMPANY MUST ALSO BE THE SAFEST COMPANY.

	Surplus.	Ratio of Assets to Liabilities.
EQUITABLE	$23,740,447	125
MUTUAL	9,981,233	107
NEW YORK	14 898,451	114½
PENN MUTUAL	1,634,452	110
MANHATTAN	1,036,632	109

The above companies are from nine to eighteen years older than the Equitable.

Write to the undersigned before insuring your life.

R. P. LAKE, General Agent, Jackson, Miss.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RIOE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman, L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, O. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Mrs. M. M. AUVRAY,

SELECT: BOARD,

277 Josephine Street, near Chestnut.

References.—Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D.; Rev. J. T. Sawyer, Rev. J. B. Walker, D. D.; Rev. D. L. Mitchel, Rev. B. Carradine.

KNABE PIANOS.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

Baltimore, 22 and 24 East Baltimore St.
New York, 148 Fifth Ave.
Washington, 817 Market Space.

Watches, Diamonds,

FINE JEWELRY,

Silver and Silver-Plated Ware,

SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

(Established 1817)

119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF

PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.

Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,

NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS

CLARK & MEADER,

—DEALERS IN—

FINE GROCERIES,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished.

THE SOWER HAS NO SECOND CHANCE.

Good sense says make the most of the first

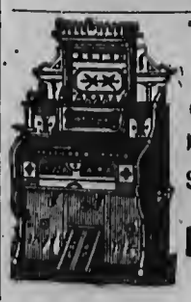
FERRY'S SEEDS

have made and kept Ferry's Seed business the largest in the world—Merit Tells.

Ferry's Seed Annual for 1892 tells the whole Seed story—Sent free for the asking. Don't sow Seeds till you get it.

D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

P. O. Box 1145



THIS ORGAN ONLY $29.00

SEND FOR CATALOGUE

ADDRESS

H. W. ALLEGER,

Washington, N. J.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 38.—NO. 53. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1845.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

ev. C. W. CARTER, D.D., Editor.
Rev. B. F. LEWIS, Ass't Editor.
J. G. GRANT, Publisher.
v. D. L. MITCHEL, Business M'g'r.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

BSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
isters and wives of deceased preachers, $1

ll Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are thorized Agents, to whom payments may be de.

PORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE SENDING MONEY. Remittances should be made only by money ers, express company orders, registered let- s, drafts or checks on New Orleans banks or rchants. Drafts on country banks occasion ss of from 15 to 25 cents per check. Drafts country merchants we have no facility for llecting. Checks and drafts, also money or- s, should be made payable to D. L. Mitchel, siness Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. C. BLACK, D. D.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

THE CLOSING YEAR.

BY GEORGE H. PRENTICE.

midnight's holy hour, and silence now brooding, like a gentle spirit, o'er e still and pulseless world. Hark! on the winds bell's deep notes are swelling. 'Tis the knell
he departed year.

No funeral train
sweeping past; yet on the stream and wood,
h melancholy light, the moonbeams rest,
e a pale, spotless shroud; the air is stirred,
by a mourner's sigh, and on yon cloud,
at floats so still and placidly through heaven,
e spirits of the seasons seem to stand—
ng Spring, bright Summer, Autumn's solemn form, d Winter, with his aged locks—and breathes mournful cadences, that come abroad
e the far wind-harp's mild and touching wail, elancholy dirge o'er the dead year,
e from the earth forever.

'Tis a time memory and for tears. Within the deep, chambers of the heart, a spectre dim,
ose tones are like the wizard voice of Time, rd from the tomb of ages, points its cold
d solemn finger to the beautiful
d holy visions that have passed away, d left no shadow of their loveliness the dead waste of life. That spectre lifts e coffin lid of hope and joy, and love, d bending mournfully above the pale,
et forms that slumber there, scatters dead flowers
r what has passed to nothingness.

The year
gone, and with it many a glorious throng happy dreams. Its mark on each brow, shadow on each heart. In its swift course aved its sceptre o'er the beautiful,
d they are not. It laid its pallid hand on the strong man, and the haughty form allen, and the flashing eye is dim.
rod the hall of revelry, where thronged
e bright and joyous, and the tearful wail stricken ones is heard, where erst the song d reckless shout resounded. It passed o'er e battle plain, where sword and spear and shield shed in the light of mid-day—and the strength rried hosts is shivered, and the grass en from the soil of carnage, waved above e crushed and mouldering skeleton. It came d faded like a wreath of mist at eve;
ere it melted in the viewless air, heralded its millions to their home
the dim land of dreams.

Remorseless time!
rce spirit of the glass and scythe! What power stay him in his silent course, or melt iron heart to pity! On, still on presses and forever. The proud bird, e condor of the Andes, that can soar rough heaven's unfathomable depths, or brave
e fury of the Northern hurricane,
d bathe his plumage in the thunder's home,
ke his broad wings at night-fall, and sinks down rest upon his mountain crags—but Time ows not the weight of sleep or weariness, d night's deep darkness has no chain to bind rushing pinion. Revolutions sweep r earth, like troubled visions o'er the breast dreaming sorrow; cities rise and sink e bubbles on the water; fairy isles ing, blazing, from the ocean, and go back their mysterious caverns; mountains rear heaven their bald and blackened cliffs, and bow ir tall heads to the plain; new empires rise, ering the strength of hoary centuries,
d rush down like the Alpine avalanche,
ling the nations; and the very stars,
bright and burning blazonry of God,
ter awhile in their eternal depths,
like the Pleiad, loveliest of their train, ot from their glorious spheres, and pass away
darkle in the trackless void; yet Time,
e, the tomb-builder, holds his fierce career, rt, stern, all-pitiless, and pauses not id the mighty wrecks that strew his path, id and muse, like other conquerors,
on the fearful ruin he has wrought.

Reports Adopted by the Louisiana Conference.

EDUCATION.

At no period of our history as a people has there been so widespread and deep interest in the matter of education as at the present. The introduction, maintenance and enlargement of the public-school systems of the States and the multiplication and better equipment of the schools of the church alike bear witness to the demand, and indicate effort to meet it. Never before have facilities for education so largely determined the location of homes, or furnished so productive an advertisement of the advantages of growing towns. The unprecedented activity along all lines of thought, and the intense and sustained competition in all fields of effort which are characteristic of to-day, emphasize the call for informed and disciplined minds, and the individual or the organization that fails to heed must be left behind the onward movement. Through the wisdom, the forethought and the beneficence of our fathers, Methodism in Louisiana is in position to meet this demand, and it remains only for the church to recognize, to appreciate and to enlarge her opportunity. Centenary (male) College and Mansfield College (for girls) by the amount and quality of the work already done by them, and by the work now being done by thoroughly competent educators, justify the claim they make for our patronage, our prayers and our financial aid.

Centenary has had in her classes more than 150 young men during the year. A professor of Latin language and literature has been added to the faculty. The permanent endowment has been increased by more than $7,000. About $1,000 have been expended in repairs and improvements. Tuition has been furnished free to twenty-two young preachers during the year, and to twelve sons of preachers, representing $1,520 in fees. The contributions from our Conference to the college during this year, as indicated by the report of the treasurer of the Board of Education, aggregate $647.35 for general purposes, and $303.05 for permanent endowment, in addition to the amount mentioned above. Centenary has already passed the crisis of her career. Well established in the confidence of our people, with an excellent faculty, with an ever-increasing number of honorable alumni, she needs only to be kept, by the liberality of the church, abreast with the enlarging opportunities of her position. We render the church a service when we urge her claims for large and early endowment.

The report of the president of Mansfield Female College shows that since our last Conference that institution reached the highest point of prosperity attained since the late war. In all departments—art and music, as well as literary—it is well equipped, and is doing excellent work. Our people need not to send their daughters out of the State for education, while such advantages, emphasized by careful and wise Christian discipline, are furnished at Mansfield. The college building and grounds have been put in excellent condition. The sanitary conditions are all favorable, and the comfort of the pupils carefully regarded. For patronage and for donations we heartily recommend this excellent school to all our people.

Resolved, That all our preachers in charge take the collection for Christian education for 1892 during the month of March, and that the sum raised over and above $800 be appropriated to permanent endowment of Centenary College.

WM. H. LAPRADE, Pres.

CHURCH PUBLICATIONS.

There never was so much printing and publishing in any age as now. Much of this printing and publishing is promotive of increased intelligence and purer morals; but, alas! we all know too well a vast deal of the writing and publishing of our times is vicious, erroneous, and of hurtful tendency. Many books are written, directly or indirectly, against the divine origin and inspiration of the Holy Scriptures. Many newspapers are published in the interest of gambling, Sabbath desecration, and saloons; and many of them contain narratives and descriptions improper to be introduced into the sanctity of our homes.

These facts show the supreme importance and imperative need of a pure press, of a Christian literature. Self-defense and a proper self-assertion demand that we shall sustain and increase the power of our various Christian printing and publishing agencies.

The press is an auxiliary in the work of moral education, in the diffusion of sound and elevated principles, and in the uplifting of the standard of personal character, whose influence and power for good can scarcely be overestimated. Dr. Franklin, the utilitarian and common sense philosopher, says to the mechanic: "Keep thy shop, and thy shop will keep thee." So we think it may be said with equal truth to the ministry and the church: "Sustain thy press, and thy press will sustain thee."

The report from our connectional Publishing House at Nashville shows a steady and healthy growth in the business of that large and important institution. Our standards, our hymn books and our Discipline have a large and ever-increasing sale, and every year new and important books are added to our catalogue of publications.

The Christian Advocate, our connectional organ published at Nashville, under its present able editorial management, is a first-class family religious paper, and justly deserves a largely increased circulation.

The Quarterly Review is edited with eminent ability and taste. It has an able corps of contributors. Its pages are replete with first-class matter. Our preachers and laymen do themselves a great religious and educational wrong who fail to subscribe for and studiously read this able Quarterly. Its editor and contributors discuss with signal ability and satisfaction the live and important questions of our times.

The Sunday-school literature, both the books and various periodicals issued by our Publishing House, for the entertainment, instruction and salvation of our children and young people, are most admirable, and doing much to educate our children for Christ, for glory, immortality, eternal life. Their circulation annually extends. May the coming years be as the past, and more abundant in the wide scattering of these leaves from the Tree of Life.

The report from the publisher of our Conference organ, the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, is most hopeful and encouraging. The paper has a steady and healthy growth, the outcome of solid merit and a growing appreciation among our people of its value. We ought to do more, and better than we have done for our home organ in Louisiana.

We have more than 20,000 white members in the Louisiana Conference, and have not quite 2,000 subscribers. Surely, with the Lord's blessing assisting, we can and we ought to do greater works than these. It is our paper; our itinerant brethren are its faithful and efficient editors. They are of us, and with us, and for us, laboring for our good, our families, our people, and for the praise of our redeeming Lord. Let us be fellow-helpers in diffusing its light and increasing its power for good.

The Publishing Committee of three patronizing Conferences have elected the Rev. B. F. Lewis, of the Mississippi Conference, assistant editor, and the Rev. D. L. Mitchel, well known to us as the efficient business manager, as the publisher of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. These men, each in his place, we doubt not, will labor to the extent of their ability to furnish us a paper whose weekly issues we will hail with delight. Let us rally to their support, and shoulder to shoulder battle with them; light against darkness, and virtue against vice.

We suggest and submit for action the following:

Resolved, That we will continue to promote the sale, circulation and reading of the various publications issued by our Publishing House.

Resolved, That we will labor to extend the circulation of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and to collect the subscriptions now due within our bounds.

Resolved, That we recommend the continuation of the present Publishing Committee.

J. B. WALKER, Chairman.

MISSIONS.

One of the most striking features of present-day Christianity is the awakening on the missionary movement. As yet, it is only an awakening; the church is only beginning to open its eyes upon the wide fields white unto the harvest. We are only beginning to realize the scope and authority of the great commission, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." The leading men of the various branches of the church are realizing the importance of this work as never before. They are watching the wonderful openings which have been set before us. They see in the signs of the times that this is the day of opportunity. There are indications which impress us profoundly with the truth that to-day the Lord of hosts expects the church to advance, as she never has advanced, in the conversion of the world. We notice the position of the mission movement in the world to-day. It is more influential than it has ever been. Statesmen, scientists, explorers, to-day recognize the great value of foreign missions. To-day the world is our parish; we may enter almost where we will; the doors are open wide. Voices from the interior of continents in the dark are calling to us. The Lord commands us to go, and promises to be with us. The World's Missionary Conference of two years ago brought before us profoundly significant facts. Then the unity of missionaries from all denominations from all parts of the field, their enthusiasm, their determination, deep piety, with the wonderful presence of the Spirit of God in all their deliberations, manifested the divine power of the movement and the unlimited possibilities before us, if we but use our opportunities. The large increase in missionary literature, the facilities we have of contact with the work, and the ability to keep the church supplied with information on the subject of missions, also indicates the possibilities for work. These and many other remarkable facts compel us to realize that our mission work is on the eve of a pentecostal triumph, or of lamentable retreat. But what of the present status of our own church in regard to missions? Do we feel the power of an awakening on this subject? In some measure we do. The appointing of two field secretaries for our Mission Board by the last General Conference indicates a growing sense of our responsibilities. The exhortations from our chief pastors, the Bishops; the work of our secretaries, the utterances of our church press—all feel the impulse of the present awakening. But, notwithstanding this, we are far behind. Our people and, we fear, many of our preachers are asleep. We are compelled to view our church, with a million and a quarter of members, over $100,000 in debt. Doubtless the opinion of some is correct, in the statement that this debt has caused more thinking on the subject of missions than might have been; but it still leaves us to confront a failure of a great church to meet a moderate assessment. The missionary interest in our own Conference compares favorably with that of other parts of the connection. For the year past we have raised about thirty-nine cents per capita for missions. The total amount raised for foreign missions during the year 1891 is $5,693.89. This is a slight increase over the collections of last year; but we are still $2,306.11 below the assessment. This increase is encouraging when we consider that the past year has been one of unusual financial stringency in our State. We regret to report a great deficit on the part of our Sunday-schools toward missions. Only twelve schools have rendered any report to the Conference treasurer. The amount reported from Sunday-schools is $535.94, and $447.94 of this amount comes from the New Orleans district, showing that the total amount raised by Sunday-schools in the other districts of the Conference is only $89. It is possible that a number of schools may have raised money, but there has been no report. We urgently recommend the brethren to secure the co-operation of our Sunday-school societies with the Conference Board by remitting their moneys through us to the Parent Board.

We wish to embrace this opportunity of urging the brethren to press the circulation of our connectional missionary organ, The Reporter, upon their people. This magazine is one of the best of the many valuable missionary periodicals of the day. It is ably edited and admirably arranged. No Southern Methodist who wishes to be informed on the greatest enterprises of our church can do without it. We also call attention to the catalogue of missionary literature sent out by our Publishing House. Here are many valuable books on all aspects of the work. We urge our brethren to get and circulate these books. We are persuaded that the greatest factors of missionary enterprise are prayer and information. A sermon, thrilling with the missionary idea and illustrated with missionary facts, delivered in the power of the Spirit, is invincible.

In regard to our domestic work, we report some progress. Last year we helped ten missions, and contributed $200 to the support of one presiding elder. The reports from these missions, as we have heard, indicate progress.

We regret to report a falling off in our domestic mission collections. We regret this, as we are anxious to extend the work of this Board. The Board has determined to hold missionary meetings at all the District Conferences during the next year, and has authorized the president to appoint some member of the Board to attend these meetings. We trust, in this way, that a large impetus will be given to our work, both foreign and domestic. The Board requests the co-operation of pastors and presiding elders in this endeavor. The Board has resolved to concentrate its appropriations in the future on fewer points, but enlarge them so as to supply greater strength to such points as promise an early and permanent development. The Board adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the money paid to our domestic missions be paid in quarterly installments on president's order on treasurer of Conference Board.

F. N. PARKER, Sec.

COLPORTAGE.

Feeling deeply impressed with the urgent need of a more extensive circulation of our religious books and periodicals among our people, and also feeling assured that a depository in New Orleans offers great advantages to them in the way of a convenient depot of supplies, we have taken some pains to inquire as to the prospects for a full and permanent supply being kept in stock there.

We find that our agent and general colporteur has sold during the year about $12,000 worth of religious books; that he has now in stock a full supply and a fine assortment of religious books, as well as a good stock of stationery. We feel that he has acted wisely and well in the selection of a location for business, and are assured that he now has facilities for promptly filling orders and supplying the demands of both our preachers and people for religious literature; therefore, we offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we nominate F. D. VanValkenburgh for re-election as our agent or general colporteur.

Resolved, That we will send our orders for books, periodicals and Sunday-school literature to him, to be filled, when so doing will not be manifestly to our damage as to time or expense.

Resolved, That we urge all of our preachers to assist, as far as possible, in circulating our books and other literature.

Resolved, That we request each presiding elder to try and find some efficient local preacher or other reliable person who can be induced to act as colporteur and travel through his district and sell our books, and that they be requested to advise our general colporteur, as to any arrangement they may deem advisable in his case.

Respectfully submitted.

J. B. CASSITY, Chairman.

Dr. T. N. Ralston.

The last issue of the Nashville Advocate contains a memoir of the Rev. T. N. Ralston, written by Dr. T. J. Dodd, from which we glean the following facts:

Dr. Ralston was born in Bourbon county, Ky., March 21, 1806, and died at his residence in the Highlands, near Newport, Ky., Nov. 25, 1891. He was converted in 1826; was licensed to preach July 28, 1827, and soon became eminent both for his scholarly attainments and for his power in the pulpit. At a time when Henry Clay was the orator of the nation, and Thomas F. Marshall was the most eloquent man of his State, and Dr. Robert J. Breckenridge was the great Calvinistic theologian of the country, T. N. Ralston stood on equal footing, at least, in his own denomination; and no one of her ministers has done more than he to give to the Methodist Church the power and influence she now wields in Kentucky and throughout the South.

As an author and theologian, he ranked with the first. With great care and laborious discrimination he edited the works of Bishop H. B. Bascom, wrote and published a volume of "Christian Evidence," and published, but anonymously, a treatise on the unity of the church, styled "Ecce Unitas," besides his first and greatest work, "The Elements of Divinity." This latter was, if we are not mistaken, the first theological treatise in the way of a body of divinity that ever came from the American Methodist press. This book has been translated into several foreign languages, and has done more, perhaps, to spread abroad and preserve unimpaired the great doctrines of Arminian theology than any other single treatise since the publication of "Wesley's Sermons." Just so long as, and wherever, the old faiths are adhered to, "Ralston's Elements of Divinity" will be the book for general popular reading among Methodists unless something is yet produced far better than has so far been accomplished.

But the great excellence of Dr. Ralston was in the high personal character he possessed. His modesty and humility we have never known excelled. One might have associated with him intimately for weeks or months, and but for his valuable library of the choicest literature might never have suspected that he had been called "the scholar of Kentucky," or that he was the author of works republished in Denmark and China. Rarely did he make allusions to his own accomplishments, and when he did this, it was only in response to the remarks of others introducing the topic. And a more guileless man we have never been privileged to know. An unkind word, a censorious judgment of others, we have never, through an intimate acquaintance from our earliest boyhood, heard him to utter.

"He Fell Asleep in Jesus."

ERNEST H. RUSSELL.

He had gone but a short distance along life's pathway when he became weary and laid down to rest, leaving behind him the record of a life filled to the brim with self-sacrificing devotion to the cause of the Master whom he loved dearer than life. He was the noblest, truest Christian, the most devoted son, the most loyal friend I ever knew.

Sleep on, Ernest, and take thy rest until the Easter glory gilds the horizon; until he whom thou lovest bids thee arise.

Sleep on, beloved brother; for although our hearts are bleeding over the spoils that death has won, we know thou art with the angels and it is well with thee. Sleep on, beloved, "till he come," and we shall see thee again; not through a glass darkly, but face to face, where we shall know thee better, for the mists shall forever have cleared away. "Let me die the death of the righteous and let my last end be like his." "Until he come."

FREDERIC STANLEY.

New Orleans, La.

Revival at Monroe, La.

Our great revival has closed. Congregations ranged from one thousand to about eighteen hundred. All classes attended, and the best of each class approved. About three hundred conversions and reclamations. All Christians strengthened and encouraged to more consecration. About one hundred and eighty accessions to the churches; our's one hundred and thirty-nine of that number. The trio—Inge, Whitehurst and Saunders—are a success. Any people may consider themselves truly blest to have their services. God is with them, sanctifying them as "wise," "winning souls." To him who so loved us, as to give his "Son to redeem us," be all the glory. Amen! B. F. WHITE.

Dec. 22, 1891.

A Wise Word.

It is very wicked that anyone should steal money from preachers; but the world is the field for the robber, and a preacher's money is as good for his purposes as that of any other class. I am thus reminded because of the robberies that occurred at the late Conference at Alexandria, and it points to a moral, viz: Carry only enough money with you to pay traveling expenses, but leave it with some bank of good repute, and draw against it as needed. The payments should all be made at the Conferences by checks; much more convenient, and avoids risk. N. B. SLEIGH.

New Orleans.

THE OPENING YEAR.

BY MADELINE A. BRIDGES.

Your hand, New Year, since we must comrades be Through the strange circles of the seasons four!
Plodding in lonely paths 'mid drifting snow
When days are dark, and whirling tempests roar.
Will your strong guiding arm be 'round me pressed?
And when the ice-bars melt, and warm blue streams
Laugh in the sun, and leap toward the sea,
Will you, then, share my happy Spring-time dreams—
The waking songs that birds and poets know?
And when red roses burn on bended sprays,
And lovers roam through shadowy woodland ways,
Will you keep kindly pace? and last when brown,
Lie the sweet fields, and faded leaves come down,
And we are tired, both, and fain to rest—
Will you be friends with me, still true and near?
Then take my hand and heart, dear comrade year.

—Ladies' Home Journal.

Letter from Brazil.

[Bro. Mackie gives us permission to publish the following private letter from our missionary in Brazil.—ED.]

COLLEGIO PIRACICABANO,
Piracica, Sao Paulo, Brazil, S. A.,
Nov. 6, 1891.

Mr. E. P. Mackie—

Esteemed Brother: Your letter of Sept. 24 was received Saturday evening, bringing its sweet import from your Sunday-school, and the draft for fifty dollars just in time to cheer me, as that mail from the recent arrived ship brought me no other letters from far-away friends. I was disappointed that no letters came for me. When mail from home comes, it usually includes that of all the missionaries in a single town, and altogether makes a bag-full; but when yours was found, it seemed to me that God was so kind and tender that while the letter itself was from those I know of, yet never met, it really was a letter from him to me, bearing full significance of his ever-watchful eye and tender solicitude for his children, even one so unworthy as myself. Then, too, I thought, and still think, "God has something more, something special for me, to do with this money, and I must seek in earnest prayer its purport."

Just the Sabbath before we had had the beautiful Sunday-school lesson of the Vine and its branches. I earnestly prayed to be made a more useful branch. Later more work was assigned me—not that I was not well occupied, oh, no!—but that which I could with care arrange during recreative periods of the week. Then came your letter with its inspiring news of your home enthusiasm for the Master's cause in foreign lands, and even that entrusted to me here in far-away Piracicaba, in the distant hill country of Brazil. So thus the Lord is showing me how fruitful a child of his can be, and that he has more for me to do. Your prayers and those of your Sunday-school have, no doubt, helped me wonderfully, and I am glad to say that since July 1 I have been doing the best of all previous work since I have been in the mission field. Your prayers have surely proved effectual before the great white throne. God grant that I may prove irresistible in bringing the children to Jesus! There are many dear little children here, and they are fast stealing my affections.

The other money that you sent was, as I wrote, spent in furnishing a little office for our infant Sunday-school class. Thirty nice little home-made chairs were bought for this kindergarten class, which Mrs. Breisford, their teacher, varnished; I helped some also. Then, with a little more added to what was left of your gift, Miss Watts and I bought one-half dozen pretty factory-made chairs for the church.

This other money you have sent I hope to use in a more direct way of bringing conversions, if the Lord shall so direct. However, will inform you of its use. I wish the children of the Seashore Camp Ground could step in some Sabbath day and see how comfortably seated these little ones appear in their precious gift to them. The chairs are placed in a circle, and the teacher sits in the center. My class is one of little girls from ten to twelve years old. Some of them are members of the church; others are children of the church, and some are those that are gathered by invitation, entreaty, etc. My heart is centered upon this class more than any other of the Sunday-school, because they are fixtures, and just at the right age to receive lasting impressions. It is my ardent desire and earnest prayer to so instruct them that all will become efficient teachers themselves by and by. My work is teaching all the time, from the primary branches up to higher mathematics, and other different branches in the school. Then I teach a class of twenty-two little girls to sew. This lasts two hours every Wednesday afternoon. All the school are instructed in sewing at the same time, except the boys, who are taught carving and cutting in wood. Our school has had a prosperous year, a good attendance and a spiritual year; many have made application for church membership, and several have joined the church. Indeed, all seemed to be impressed by the gospel teachings. But one at home can hardly realize how difficult missionary work is. The people do not appreciate our work among them. They are satisfied with their own religion and consider us intruders. They appreciate what we can do for them out of Christ. For example: They appreciate our schools as schools where their children are well cared for and taught to read and write. The above, of course, is meant for the unconverted people who compose the great majority of the population. This year we are supporting two native preachers—i. e., our church here in Brazil. We have five girls here in the house who belong to the college. They are all Christians except one—she has taken the first step to become a Christian. To become a church member here means more preparation and probation on part of the applicant than at home. When a candidate makes known publicly in the church a desire to become a Christian, this is called the "first step." Then there follows labor for that person upon the part of the teachers and preachers until the candidate comprehends clearly what a Christian life must be and manifests the same in daily life.

Our school closes its annual term next month with public exercises, an oral examination, which is much appreciated by the people. Teaching is harder work than at home, because we must teach as we can all who come to us, so as to be able to teach the Bible to them; then we must have examinations to keep the people interested. In other words, we have to teach with such great, arduous solicitude in order to learn the children anything; and then at the close of the year must show to the public that they have learned something. It is not like those beautifully graded and disciplined schools at home. We have good order, but we can not excite or arouse disposition to study as at home. We must endure many things to teach Christ to them. I often wonder if I am really doing so, as I go on from day to day teaching.

The Brazilians are a festive people; they have many festivals. Rome in her church has provided a multiplicity of festive days. On these days the children in majority stay at home. But some are now learning not to countenance these days unless they are particularly important ones. We go on teaching those who come to us, if there are enough to teach. Just now there are schools on all sides in opposition to us. Several Jesuitical monks have located in our portion of the city, who have opened a school, and two other schools have opened. Our school has been in existence ten years, and over 500 girls and boys here have been taught of Jesus and his love for them. Not many of this great number have become Christians—only a few; but they have all heard the gospel truths. Many of the girls are now mothers of families, who, if they ever become Christians, have yet to declare it to the world. The people who attend our church are the poor and indigent. Truly the religion of Jesus Christ is for the poor and the broken-hearted. There is much squalid misery to be seen beneath the balmy skies of Brazil, where, with a little earnest labor and cleanliness, mankind could live so kingly. Fruits and vegetables all the year round; many yams (breadstuffs) that require cultivation in the minimum. But these people, carried away by festivals of their church and ignorance, live in idleness and filth. These are the common people, of course. The wealthy, the higher classes, are delicately reared, are educated, more or less, and more or less possess talent. Woman is little esteemed as a companion in intellect for man. As mother and keeper of the house, she is esteemed. Since coming to Brazil, and seeing the hardships of womankind, and neglect of husbands, lack of esteem for her, I am really becoming a suffragist, although I have no desire to vote or make stump speeches. It is, indeed, the religion of the Lord Jesus that has and still elevates woman to her proper level. What signification is it that Jesus first showed himself after the resurrection to a woman? And how tender he always was to her!

In Brazil there are many curious things in the animal life. Lizards grow here as large as a man. That species is ferocious, and use their immense tails to whip with as a means of defense. Others, though smaller, yet are tremendous in size, and are harmless. There is a bird here that has a beautiful tuft of feathers above its head, appearing just like a beautiful red satin parasol that he is holding there. There is a beautiful blue beetle of which jewelry is made.

The dead are buried for five years; then their bones are taken up and thrown into a large pit in one corner of the cemetery along with the old decaying bones already there. The graves are numbered and statistics kept, so that one grave does not contain the remains of a person too long—i. e., over five years. The graves, after the bones are withdrawn, are newly dug and made ready for other fresh bodies. Not long since some of our ladies visited the cemetery when this Spring cleaning of graves was going on. On a cedar near an open grave hung two long plaits of hair which showed signs of recent interment. There they hung, perfectly preserved, even the string which held them together, but the other ends showed where they had grown out from the head. Wealthy persons who buy plats of earth for graves preserve the right of keeping the remains of a relative or friend there. But there are even tombstone-graves to be rented for a term of five years. At the end of that period the vault is opened, the box containing the remains is emptied of its cargo and made ready for another. The coffins here are only in frame work of wood, but mounted with cloth all around. There is a cloth covering for the top, and thus it is lowered into the earth. Women do not attend burials. Their cemeteries are neatly kept, and Nov. 2 is a great decoration day.

I thank you and the children so much for your prayers, kind letter and the money. Now, I should like to know more of those children and their worthy superintendent. Won't you send photographs of some of them and yourself? Such things brighten our lives considerably. I shall be happy to know how some of such sympathetic friends look. Well, I have written you much, but hope that its perusal will not demand patience.

Yours in the faith,

SALLIE M. PHILLIPS.

The Work of the Y. M. C. A. in Colleges.

[Part of an address delivered at the annual public meeting of the Y. M. C. A. by a member of the Junior class in Centenary College.]

I shall not attempt, nor do I even expect, to say anything particularly new concerning this subject. The majority of people are already well informed as to the general workings of the Young Men's Christian Association. But if I shall succeed in presenting to you the importance of the Y. M. C. A. in colleges, I shall have accomplished my purpose.

I consider the Y. M. C. A. a tributary branch of that grand and ever swelling stream of Christianity that is flowing on and on through every nation, flooding the lands with the pure water of life and quenching the thirst of the benighted soul for righteousness. Its purpose is the conversion of all men; and, to accomplish this, it is seeking to enroll young men in the cause of Christ. It needs no commendation. Its work is proof of its divine commission. Through its instrumentality scores and hundreds of souls have been saved. And especially in colleges, where the church, as a church, is ineffective, is it doing a grand work. It enters, teaching no particular doctrine but that of a crucified Savior, and leads young men into the ways of righteousness. Working through young men to young men, it meets with wonderful success.

Here in our own beloved Centenary I have seen a number of boys confess Christ in the Y. M. C. A. meetings, which we hold semi-weekly. And several have told me that they would be moral wrecks to-day if it had not been for the Christian influence at Centenary.

Friends, no greater plea can be made in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. than that it is doing noble work for God in bringing young men to a knowledge of the truth; and I hold up that plea before you and beseech you, fathers and mothers, that for the sakes of your boys in college you aid this movement that is working for their eternal salvation.

I wish I could impress on the mind of every parent the necessity of having Christian influence thrown around a boy while in college. It is then that the gospel should be presented to them in its power. Then his mind is plastic, and his character, which shall determine his future career and usefulness, is being formed. How important, then, that the elevating, ennobling influence of the gospel should be thrown about him as a cloak to save him from wrong impressions! But if this influence is wanting, and he leaves college and goes out into the world without having accepted Christ, it is more than probable that he never will accept him; the opportunity will have been lost.

While in college peculiar temptations come to a boy. He is, in a measure, made to think and to act for himself. His mother is not there to watch his steps and to give him counsel. His associates are not always the best. He is "tempted and tried," and only the power of Christianity can sustain him.

The boys of to-day are to be the men of the future. Let us realize this fully. They will have control of the government; they are going to be the law makers and the governors. And, if so, ought they not to be Christ-like men? Should they not be taught to fear God and to work righteousness in their youth? If the boys of the last generation had been properly taught the precepts of Christianity, we would not now be involved in this terrible struggle with the Morris gambling corporation. If the government is to be pure, the men who will make the government must be pure.

Soon the church will look to the boys who are now in college for her support. But what if they should be permitted to grow up without recognizing her claims? Who then will be her messengers, her defenders?

Friends, let us arouse ourselves! There is a great work to be done! The college Y. M. C. A. has opened the door and has entered into the strife; let us go to its help. It is true that Centenary does not specially need help on this line. I believe that she exerts a stronger religious influence over her students than any other college in the South. But she does need your help in other respects, and the moral standing of other colleges should be raised. And if you would have your boys be Christians, if you would save their souls, this work must be done. Will you do it?

Friendship Sunday-School.

The Friendship Sunday-school, Sparta circuit, North Mississippi Conference, has adopted a new method for raising the necessary funds to purchase literature for its use during the year 1892. The little people are taught to believe that they must work and make the money themselves, and below we give a list of names and amounts and method of making the money expended for literature. It was an interesting sight to watch the little people as they brought up the money and told how they had toiled to make a few cents for the Savior. This method is helpful in many ways. It teaches the children independence and self-reliance, and makes them feel that the Sunday-school is their enterprise, and they must support it.

F. M. Foster, 25 cents, making sorghum; Miller Foster, 10 cents, picking cotton; Bettie Lewis Foster, 10 cents, picking cotton; Penn Foster, 10 cents, selling peanuts; J. S. Lewis, 25 cents, hauling water; Dixie Lewis, 25 cents, church sexton; Leon Whitson, 10 cents, minding sister; Nora Wofford, 10 cents, picking cotton; Naomi Wofford, 5 cents, picking cotton; Iven Wofford, 5 cents, picking cotton; L. K. Speed, 15 cents, digging potatoes; Lester Lewis, 5 cents, minding the baby; Shelly Lewis, 10 cents, picking peas; Jack Lewis, 20 cents, picking peas; Evan Lewis, 25 cents, picking peas; Ella Speed, 20 cents, picking peas; Jennie Wofford, 10 cents, picking cotton; Maud Speed, 10 cents, picking cotton; Minnie Foster, 10 cents, picking cotton; Wessie Foster, 10 cents, picking cotton; John Black, 15 cents, picking cotton; Parnell Black, 15 cents, picking cotton; Lexie Neel, 5 cents, picking cotton; Kavanaugh Neel, 5 cents, picking cotton; James Black, 15 cents, picking peas; James Speed, 10 cents, making sorghum; Lena Grissom, 20 cents, picking peas; Allie Foster, 5 cents, picking peas; Joe Foster, 10 cents, picking peas; T. H. Baird, 25 cents, renovating beds; J. H. Woodard, 25 cents, teaching school; Ed. Leo. Foster, 10 cents, hauling water; Morris Foster, 25 cents, minding the baby; Mittie Durrough, 10 cents, picking wool; Thad Durrough, 5 cents, cutting wood; Odie Durrough, 5 cents, gathering persimmons; Bettie Baird, 10 cents, picking peas; Effie Baird, 10 cents, picking peas; Minnie Baird, 10 cents, minding the baby; Luther Black, 5 cents, picking cotton; Rev. E. S. Lewis, 25 cents, preaching; J. W. Speed, 25 cents, selling goods; Irvine Lewis, 25 cents, selling milk; Daisy Owen, 10 cents, picking cotton; Nannie Owen, 10 cents, picking cotton.

The amount raised was sufficent for all Sunday-school purposes.

An old pupil, T. W. LEWIS.

Indian Mission.

I am glad to be able to say to the readers of the ADVOCATE that we have at last secured the services of one of our best men to take charge of the Indian Mission (in Mississippi). We can say "Indian Mission" now, as the Board of Missions, at our last Annual Conference session, set it apart as such, or indorsed it, and the Bishop appointed our dear Bro. W. W. Cammack to take charge of it. Bro. Cammack felt, as I think, specially called to the work, and the Bishop and Conference felt impressed that he was the man; so I trust that it was a providential appointment, and, in the providence of God, will result in great good to the poor, lost Indians, and to us, in that we will be doing our duty. Bro. Cammack is one of our best men, faithful and true, and then he has a delightful, good wife, who will, doubtless, with him, give their entire time to the work. The Board promised him a salary of $500, and appointed me as agent to secure that amount. I have now on hand between $325 and $350; so I lack between $150 and $175. We want this to be a special collection, separate and apart from our other collections; so I want now about $175 as early as possible, as we want to pay him quarterly in advance. Several brethren have made promise on the installment plan, and have not made the first payment yet; so I will ask them to please send on the first installment at once; and those that have not paid, or promised, will please send me the money, or their names, with amounts they are willing to pay, any time during this year, and I would be glad to take installments for five years. Brethren and sisters, please help me in this great work, and do not delay. I want free-will offerings; and be sure the Lord will pay you fourfold. I have received, since my last report, from Rev. R. B. Downer, for Ellisville circuit, $5; Mrs. Harper, of Brandon, $2; Rev. K. S. Enochs, $2; Rev. W. M. Sullivan, $2; Mrs. E. Burtin, Montrose, Miss., $1.20; Mrs. R. A. Harris, Oakridge, $2; Rev. J. N. Ware, $2.50; Mrs. E. M. Anderson, Saundersville, $5; Rev. J. C. Ellis, $1; Mississippi Conference, $110.10; Rev. Lyman Carley, $3; Rev. R. H. Barr, $1; Rev. G. R. Ellis, $5, and subscribed, Rev. A. F. Watkins, Jackson, Miss., $5. Now, brethren and sisters, please send on the money or your promise at once. And now I want to take a special collection for the purpose of educating one or two young Choctaw men for the ministry. We have already one that has joined our church and is in school, studying for the ministry now. One of our preachers is helping him all he can. Brethren, let's raise the money and keep him in school for one or two years. We need him so much. He is a good case, I am informed, and reads in the Third Reader right well. Bro. Cammack will need his service as interpeter some of the time; but by all means he ought to go to school. I have heard of another good case. Now, you that have already paid your first installment, please send me a contribution for the purpose of educating one or two young men. And now, dear brethren and sisters, I ask a special interest in your prayers for our dear Bro. and Sister Cammack in their important work for the salvation of the Indians, and also that you open your houses and hearts to receive them; also any amount handed them will be reported me and receipt acknowledged.

Your brother in hope of the salvation of the Indians,

A. D. MILLER.

Barlow, Miss., Dec. 18, 1891.

The Relation of the State to Morality.

BY REV. JOSEPH SILVERMAN.

Separation of Church and State was inevitable. It came as the result of an abuse of the power of the alliance. The secular and the sacred could not combine without corruption to both, especially to the latter. Hatred of the coalition between religion and government became so great that it was determined to divorce them: leaving government for purely civil purposes—for the State; and the church for purely religious purposes—for the individual.

So long as there are different creeds and religious practices which are matters of individual conscience, there can be no union between religion and the State from the American point of view.

But there is a common platform of morals upon which all religions can stand. Fair-minded and liberal men could formulate a system of morals to be persistently carried out by the State to the satisfaction of all classes, religious or otherwise. In unsectarian ethics there is harmony. From that point of view there can be a union of the State and moral movements. What will come of all the efforts of religion to make men better, unless we can rely upon the power of the State to supplement such efforts? Religion will always be powerless to carry out its great moral mission, if the State permit, during six days of the week, practices which counteract the one day's work of the church. What can be the effect of preaching and prayer and self-sacrifice if evil influences are constantly operative?

There may be commercial and political reasons for the creation and protection of kinds of business that are demoralizing, but shall the State regard them as more important than the morals of the people? Have we no higher aim than to have a rich nation? Shall party politics, or ethical principles control? Is it more important that this or that party should rule, than that moral sentiment should prevail?

In the minds of all unbiassed men there can be but one answer: Congresses and Legislatures should be not only directors of public works, but promoters of public morals.

In what direction can the State aid the church in carrying out its ethical aim? First, by such legislation as will improve those agencies which cater to the intellectual and æsthetic tastes of of society. The press, the stage, the school—what are they doing for the moral development of the people? Whatever high ideas individual managers and editors may have, it seems evident from a glance at the daily papers and the posters, that they only appeal to the depraved appetite for sensation. Imagine the effect on the community if the press printed only such things as would elevate the morals of society, or at least not lower them. If certain evils must be exposed in all their nakedness, let it be done by private reports to the police department. The stage has not even the slight justification that the press may plead for its vile productions.

Our schools need reforming. Education has been secularized to the extent of excluding systematic moral instruction. To the traditional "three R's" should be added another three. Let Right, Rectitude and Righteousness be taught in the public schools, without the intermediation of Bible or theology. This is needed to lay the moral foundation for those thousands of children who have not the benefit of ethical religious instruction or of refined homes.

When moral standards are established in these three departments, let us purify our literature, especially that intended for the young. Let us abolish gambling of all sorts, whether in State lotteries, social clubs, or church fairs. Let us restrict the sale of alcoholic liquors as we do that of poison. Let us destroy all the dens and dives of large cities. But first of all, let us purify our politics and create a high moral qualification for eligibity to public office.

If religious leaders are in earnest, let them combine in an appeal to the State to introduce unsectarian moral instruction into our public schools. This will purify the press and the stage, will prevent the dissemination of unclean literature; and that will remove evil temptations from the masses. Meantime we must work for a government of the best men for the moral as well as the material, advancement of the people.—Menorah.

Rev. Thomas J. Lowry.

On Monday morning, Dec. 14, 1891, at 9 o'clock, at his home, four miles south of Houston, Miss., Rev. Thomas J. Lowry passed peacefully and triumphantly away. He was seventy-eight years old; had been a Christian fifty-five years, a Methodist itinerant fifty-three years, and on the effective list fifty years. No preacher has a warmer place in the hearts of the people in a radius of twenty miles around Houston than Bro. Lowry. During a long life of active service in the itinerancy he went to and fro, filling the hardest circuits in Central Mississippi, and always laboring cheerfully for his Master.

When I was quite small I remember late one Saturday afternoon, a Methodist preacher rode up to my father's house and alighted to spend the night. His pleasant, agreeable manners, his loving words, his devotional spirit so impressed my young heart that I became convicted of sin, and then I determined to seek the salvation of my soul. The next day we went to church, and the preacher preached on experimental religion, and when he spoke of religion as a glorious reality—that he knew he was a child of God, because he had the witness in himself—I longed for a similar experience. When he had finished his sermon he descended from the pulpit and shook hands with many of the brethren and sisters, and managed to lay his hands upon my head. I can feel the impress of those hands to-day. In after years he was on pastor again, and he put several small books into my hands which have contributed largely toward the building of my Christian character. This man was Bro. Lowry.

When he stood at our last Conference love-feast, and spoke of his hope for a better world, he seemed to think he would never see us again. In death he was still happy. Opening his eyes, he said to Bro. Newsom he was ready. To his family he said, as he approached the margin of the last river: "Oh heaven, sweet heaven; I'll soon be there. Death, where is thy sting? I will gain the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." A great throng gathered at Prospect Church, on Tuesday, Dec. 15, to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory. The colored people came to show their love for their old father in Israel, who has preached to them so often.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. D. Newsom and the writer. Sleep on, dear brother; there will dawn a glorious morn when Jesus comes to make up his jewels. To his aged companion, five daughters and two sons we extend our sympathies.

T. W. LEWIS.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

All books received will be acknowledged in this column. A fuller notice will depend upon the interests of our readers.

PERIODICALS.

—VICK'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE is just the monthly for florists and gardeners. Rochester, N. Y. Price, 50 cents.

—The CHAUTAUQUAN has often been commended by us, and we commend it again. T. L. Flood, Meadville, Pa. Price, $2.

—The MISSIONARY REPORTER is our own mission monthly, good and cheap. Barbee & Smith, Nashville, Tenn. Price, 50 cents a year.

—UNIVERSITY EXTENSION has five readable articles on that just coming popular subject. J. Haseltine Shion, Philadelphia. Price, $3.

—THE MISSIONARY REVIEW still holds on its brilliant way. It is the best of its class. Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York. Price, $2.

—From S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, we have received two beautiful pieces of music—a song and a march—and we appreciate both.

—The LADIES' HOME JOURNAL needs no soft words from us. It succeeds in the highest point of success. Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia, Pa. Price, $1.

—POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY is well filled with able and interesting matter, and leads the van of the scientific publications. D. Appleton & Co., New York. Price, $5.

—The MAGAZINE OF ART is as punctual as a clock, and brings delightful reading and beautiful pictures every time. Cassell Publishing Company, New York. Price, $3.50.

—The AMERICAN SABBATH is a monthly published in the interests of the Lord's day, and it has articles of much value. American Sabbath, 2 Park Row, New York. Price, 50 cents.

THE LOTTERY.

Louisiana Conference vs. The Lottery.

The Louisiana Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Alexandria, passed the following ringing resolutions by a unanimous vote. The Rev. J. B. Walker, D. D., reported for the committee:

Whereas, The lottery question is not only a political question, but also a moral and economic question, we feel that, as Christians and ministers and laymen of the State of Louisiana, we have the moral and civil right to express our views of the character and aims of the lottery company of this State now seeking a perpetuation of its charter for the term of twenty-five years. In doing so we do not in any sense become political partisans, for we antagonize the platform of no political party in the world; and

Whereas, We are asked, as citizens of Louisiana, by the advocates of the lottery amendment to our State Constitution to vote for the insertion of this amendment into the body of the organic law of the State, a decent respect for ourselves, and for the opinions of mankind, renders it eminently proper for us to state, as citizens, the reasons, economic and moral, why we can not give our votes in favor of the lottery amendment. We can not, because it is an immoral institution, and employs immoral methods to accumulate gain. The highest judicial authorities in the world have decided that the lottery is "the most pernicious form of gambling," and is so because it is the most insidious, alluring and deceptive of all forms of gambling. This form of gambling does not require its devotees to enter an odious gambling hell; the participant is shielded from public observation and criticism, and by secrecy escapes the odium of being a gambler, thus greatly increasing the seductive power of the temptation. As we are commanded to pray that we may "not be led into temptation," we can not, as professedly righteous men, vote to lead others into temptation. We do not wish others to take our earnings and possessions without a full and fair equivalent; so, if we are consistent men, we can not vote to indorse and legalize a scheme to take without just equivalent the money of the poor, the ignorant and superstitious. It would not be doing as we would be done by. As Christian men we can not, and dare not, do anything that we can not "do in the name of the Lord Jesus." Surely no man has the hardihood and profane audacity to insult the holiness of God by asking his blessing on gambling, legal or otherwise. We can not, as citizens and Christian men, vote to sell the liberty and civil possession of our State to corrupt men and nullify our claim to common sense by furnishing the purchase money. As Christian men, we belong to a great anti-sin society, a great pro-holiness society, a spiritual and moral kingdom, which antagonizes every form of moral evil. We can not vote to breed up a generation of gamblers. We can not, as good men, assist to educate the young and laboring poor to believe that they may live without honest labor. We can not, as God-fearing men, compromise with sin and do evil with the vain and blasphemous hope that good may come. No end, however exalted its claims, can sanctify the use of forbidden means. No, never while the eternal ages roll. As law-abiding men, as lovers of righteousness, we can no more vote to legalize gambling than we can vote to legalize any other form of criminality. As men, specially set apart for the defense of the truth, the condemnation of wrong and the promotion of right, we are exactly in the line of our divinely appointed duty when we oppose and denounce in truthful terms any form of moral evil; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the members of the Louisiana Annual Conference, as loyal citizens of the State of Louisiana, that we regard the lottery in its purpose and methods as evil, only evil, and that continually.

Resolved, That we feel it our duty to vote and throw our entire moral influence against the proposed lottery amendment.

Resolved, That we will pray to him who loveth righteousness and hateth iniquity, to make the wrath of man to praise him, and by his providence to bring good out of these evil circumstances.

Resolved, That we respectfully memorialize the Congress of the United States, now in session, to devise and enact such laws as may be compatible with the Constitution of the United States as shall operate to relieve us of the incubus and evil of the lottery, which now afflicts and hurts every interest of our State.

Speak Out against the Lottery.

For years, Mississippi has been bled annually of thousands of dollars by that huge gambling concern, the Louisiana Lottery. Knowing the baneful and demoralizing influence of such institutions, the framers of our new Constitution not only prohibited lotteries and the sale of lottery tickets, by a special provision in the organic law, but made it unlawful for any newspaper publisher or other person to advertise them in the State. In short, Mississippi is thoroughly and fully committed against lotteries and lottery gambling. At the same time she is and ought to be deeply interested in the result of the contest now going on in our sister State to recharter the lottery and sell the honor and political freedom of that State to a corrupt and conscienceless gambling monopoly for so much gold.

We sympathize in our inmost soul with the brave and patriotic sons and daughters of Louisiana, who are resisting with their utmost might this effort to prostitute and dishonor their proud and noble State, and we not only consider it proper, but a duty Mississippians owe to them and to themselves to express in every possible way the interest they feel in the success of their struggle. To this end, we would like to see anti lottery meetings held throughout this State, and formal expression given to our sentiments on this great subject. Let us show that we are not indifferent lookers-on at one of the mightiest moral and political struggles in which the patriotic and moral people of a sister State were ever engaged. Let us assure them in the most public manner of our fullest sympathy and moral support, and if need be, our material support also. The success of the lottery means not only the complete political and moral enslavement of Louisiana for a quarter of a century or more, but that Mississippi and her people, by reason of their near relationship, will be sharers, to a greater or less degree, in all the blighting and demoralizing influences of this monstrous gambling iniquity which even now is boldly defying the moral sentiment of the entire country and attempting to set at naught the laws of the general government itself.

The very proposition of the lottery is an insult to a high-minded and honorable people, and rather than see brought upon their State the degrading and humiliating moral and political bondage which its acceptance would imply, the true sons of Louisiana would be justified in defeating it at any cost, even if necessary to resort now to that revolution which the eloquent, wise and conservative Palmer says must come, sooner or later, if the lottery succeeds.

It is understood that prominent citizens of Mississippi have under consideration the calling of a State mass meeting or convention at an early day to voice the sentiments of Mississippians on this subject, and we hope to see it materialize and its denunciation of the lottery and its hirelings re-echoed by every village and hamlet of the State. —Brookhaven Leader.

Preamble and resolutions adopted by the West Pearl River Baptist Association, Oct. 4, 1891:

Whereas, Believing, as all Christian people should, that the Louisiana State Lottery is a vice, a wicked gambling institution, the charter of which we consider a stain on our State Constitution, and, as such, should be frowned on by all right-thinking people; And, whereas, The said Lottery Company is asking for a continuance of their charter, by which to perpetuate their wicked practice on the people to satisfy their own greed for gain, blinding the unwary with a promise of a revenue for the benefit of levees, education, etc., which promise it is plain they do not expect to fulfill; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we herewith recommend that all Christians of all denominations unite on the one point and join their strength in putting down this gigantic monopoly, and crush out a thing that is a curse to us and will be to our children after us.

Resolved, That the clergy of the different churches composing this association and also of all denominations be requested to teach against it from their pulpits.

Resolved, That this Baptist Association, in conference assembled, do herewith admonish each member of the churches composing this association to labor to defeat this great evil.

Resolved, That each male member is expected to work and vote on the moral side of this question.

Resolved, That we publish this preamble and resolutions in the Minutes of this association, and that a copy be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, Farmer's Vidette, New Delta and Franklinton New Era for publication. W. H. ADAMS, Moderator.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address,
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

CLERICAL SCOLDS.—Some preachers, and to say, are scolds; and, of all scolds, the clerical one is the most uncomfortable and the worst. Adam Clarke says scolding in the pulpit never does any good. It fails to cure the evil, and at the same time puts both preacher and people in an uncomfortable mood, little adapted to profit by the message of the gospel. So far from being any part of the gospel, the practice is diametrically opposed to the temper and purpose of the redemptive scheme. The gospel inculcates an equable and generous temper. We are to reprove, rebuke and exhort with all long-suffering and gentleness. Scolding comes from the remains of the old nature; the unsanctified part of the man mounts the pulpit and presumes to utter the devil's message in the name of the Lord. However plain and sharp, let your utterance be considerate and sweet.

It can not be denied that, to our poor human nature, scolding is often easier than the giving forth our message in love and seriousness. It follows the grain of nature. It accords with whatever in us is unsanctified and rude. The pagan element, projected across the centuries, comes to the front and presumes to stand sponsor for our Christianity. In the congregation, too, you will find a class of rude, good people who think scolding and denunciation a brave way of preaching. The man who fails to do it, they think, has come short of delivering the whole gospel and clearing his own soul. They enjoy the hitting, in a rude way, of everybody's sin but their own. Hit theirs, and no people will squirm so quickly; they will grow indignant at the first sentence. But really this kind of preaching will do neither these people nor anyone else the least good. It will tend to lead them from the true temper of the Master, and to cultivate in them a spirit of censoriousness and unkindness. Don't scold!—Zion's Herald.

A Commentary on Growth.

If the Youth's Companion needed any commentary upon its wonderful growth it would have it in the magnificent building in process of erection on the corner of Columbus avenue and Berkeley street. It is one of the finest and most imposing structures in Boston, and is to be devoted exclusively to the uses of the Companion. That this paper has come to command so vast an enterprise is a tribute to its wide-reaching and potent influence. There lies before me the fac-simile of the first issue of this paper, published April 16, 1827. It is about the size of an ordinary four-page tract. It was established by Nathaniel Willis, father of N. P. Willis, the poet. Its first quarters were a small room on Cornhill. Its earlier weekly editions could easily be transported by a boy on a wheelbarrow. To-day its weekly issue numbers about 500,000, and one immense building is devoted to the mailing department altogether. Its headquarters have been for some years on Temple Place, and its various departments have been located in different parts of the city. The whole vast business will soon be massed in the mammoth new building. This building is costing half a million of dollars. When the structure is completed, and all the facilities of the paper are adjusted therein, what a commentary on progress! The Youth's Companion has sixty-three years of history behind it. Mr. Willis dipped his pen into the prophecy of a big future in its first issue. But the fulfillment has possibly far outswept his most glowing hope. The new building has one of the most conspicuous corners at the South End. It covers an area of 20,000 square feet, and is five stories high. It is imposing in architecture. In the well-lighted basement are to be placed the ponderous engines and the twenty presses. The subscription department is to be an immense room. The editorial rooms and the art work will be on the fifth floor. The engraving department is a distinct business in itself. In 1857 the Companion passed out of the hands of Mr. Willis, and, as is well known, Mr. D. S. Ford became proprietor. The style of the business now is Perry Mason & Co. The Companion has ever been true to the key-note struck by Mr. Willis: "Our children are born to higher destinies than their fathers; they will be actors in a far advanced period of the church and the world. Let their minds be formed, their hearts prepared, and their characters moulded for the scenes and the duties of a brighter day." Such are words taken from the original prospectus. True to this idea, the Companion has worked for a moral purpose. It is safe to say we have a better generation to-day than if the Companion had never been started. It has also been a power behind Christian beneficence.—Standard.

Sound advice. If you have a bad cold, invest 25 cents in Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Salvation Oil, the great pain-eradicator, is a first-class liniment. Keep it handy. 25 cents.

HOW TO DO IT.—As a rule, the happiest homes are those in which the members are accustomed to render personal service to each other. A father returning weary from his day's labor, or a mother coming home exhausted from a shopping jaunt, is far more refreshed to have slippers brought or bonnet removed by a child than by a servant. Members of a household confined to their rooms by reason of invalidism or old age have added relish for food when brought to them by loving hands, and not served perfunctorily by the maid or hired nurse. Paul endeared himself to the Ephesians because, of his "own hands," he had ministered unto their necessities; and the tenderest scenes of our Lord's life are associated more with his helpful deeds than his wonderful teachings. When death invades the home, it is the one who has been most thoughtful in the little offices for bodily comfort that is missed the most and mourned for longest. If for no other reason than because it develops the affections and is a check upon selfishness, children should have a share in the household's tasks.—Congregationalist.

Good Advice.

Exchange:

In winter more exercise is required for the body than in summer.

Wear warm underclothing; material of open texture is preferable.

Avoid catching cold, but should you develop a cough take immediate steps to get rid of it.

The most effective remedy for coughs or colds is Marsden's Pectoral Balm; it is pleasant to take and never fails to cure.

Ask your druggist for it, and don't be persuaded to take any other instead.

Without the newspaper great advertisers can not exist. Without the advertisers, great and small (but mainly the small advertisers), the newspaper of to-day would be impossible.—James H. Beals, Jr.

Catarrh

is a complaint so common that comparatively few people are entirely free from it, so insidious that it gains a firm hold almost before its victims are aware of its presence, so dangerous as to seriously threaten the general health, and liable to develop into bronchitis or

Consumption.

It is a mistake to consider Catarrh merely a local trouble. It is unquestionably a disease of the blood, and, therefore, the right way to cure Catarrh is to remove from the blood the impurities which cause and feed it. This is to be done by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which effectually expels all traces of poison and germs of disease.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me of Catarrh, and built up my general health, so that I am feeling better than for years.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only medicine I know of which will cure miller's catarrh." GEO. FOSTER, Logan, Ohio.

N. B.—Be sure to get Hood's.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

DON'T DELAY TO

Stop that cough! Else the bronchial tubes will be enlarged and the delicate tissues of the lungs exposed to injury. No other medicine is so speedily operative in throat and lung troubles as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. A few doses have been known to break up an obstinate and distressing cough. Sufferers from asthma, bronchitis, croup, consumption, sore throat, and whooping cough find a sure relief in the use of this preparation. It soothes the inflamed membrane, promotes expectoration, and induces repose. Try it. Don't be without it in the house. Sallie E. Stone, Hurt's store, Va., writes: "I have found, in my family, that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was always a certain cure for colds and coughs."

"Five years ago I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was completely cured."—Anga A. Lewis, Ricard, N. Y.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

DONALD KENNEDY
Of Roxbury, Mass., Says:

Strange cases cured by my Medical Discovery come to me every day. Here is one of Paralysis—Blindness—and the Grip. Now how does my Medical Discovery cure all these? I don't know, unless it takes hold of the Hidden Poison that makes all Humor.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEVADA, Sept. 9th, 1891.
Donald Kennedy—Dear Sir: I will state my case to you: About nine years ago I was paralyzed in my left side, and the best doctors gave me no relief for two years, and I was advised to try your Discovery, which did its duty, and in a few months I was restored to health. About four years ago I became blind in my left eye by a spotted cataract. Last March I was taken with La Grippe, and was confined to my bed for three months. At the end of that time, as in the start, then it struck me that your Discovery was the thing for me; so I got a bottle, and before it was half gone I was able to go to my work in the mines. Now in regard to my eyes, as I lost my left eye, and about six months ago my right eye became affected with black spots over the sight as did the left eye—perhaps some twenty of them—but since I have been using your Discovery they all left my right eye but one; and, thank God, the bright light of heaven is once more making its appearance in my left eye. I am wonderfully astonished at it, and thank God and your Medical Discovery. Yours truly,

HANK WHITE.

The BERKLEY PIANO.

Beautiful style: Sweet tone: Moderate prices: Fully warranted. REFERENCES of the highest character.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

SAXE & ROBERTSON,
831 Broadway, NEW YORK.
IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

AGENTS WANTED

For PANSY'S Latest and Greatest Work,

"The Prince of Peace;"

OR,

"The Beautiful Life of Jesus."

See what a few of our own preachers say about it

Rev. W. H. LaPrade, Pastor Carondelet Street Church, says: "I have been waiting for it. Put me down for two copies."

Rev. Chas. F. Evans, D. D., Presiding Elder of New Orleans District: "One of the most excellent of modern books. The wood cuts are magnificent."

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, Pastor Dryades M. E. Church, South, says: "A most excellent book for the young."

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, says: "I have read the book with pleasure and satisfaction."

Rev. Jno. T. Sawyer, Pastor Felicity Street M. E. Church, South, says: "This is a most excellent book to put in the hands of the young; and older persons will be benefited by it as well."

Hundreds of testimonials can be furnished. Agents are doing splendidly with it. Send $1 for outfit, and secure territory at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans, La.

Christmas Hints.

Our low prices are the talk of the town. We are selling reliable goods for less money than others. The reason: our expenses are lighter; we do not occupy a corner building, nor a Canal street store. Don't go about it blindly, but look sharp for our store. The following prices are quoted in pursuance of our recently announced plan to offer a special line of standard goods at prices which are well recognized at once as far below real value.

English Porcelain Tea Sets, decorated in all colors, 56 pieces $3.50.

English Porcelain Dinner Sets, decorated in all colors, 115 pieces, $9.

Genuine French China Tea Sets, square shape, 56 pieces, $6 50.

English Porcelain Chamber Sets, decorated, 11 pieces $2.75.

We recommend the above as superior goods in every respect.

W. C. Shepard & Son,
94 Camp, near Poydras St.
(The Oldest Queensware House in the South.)

In answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

New Orleans & Northeastern RAILROAD.

FROM

New Orleans to Cincinnati

94 MILES THE SHORTEST. Time, 27 Hours.

Entire Trains through without changes, rounding the base of Lookout Mountain, and over the famous High Bridge of Kentucky, and into the Central Union Depot, where connection is made for the NORTH and EAST, New England Cities and Canada, without transfer through the City. Luxurious Mann Boudoir Buffet Sleeping Cars on all through trains.

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI

Tickets on sale at all principal offices South and West. In New Orleans at Queen and Crescent Depot, Press street and Levee, and No. 84 St. Charles street.

R. H. GARRATT, Div. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.
J. C. GAULT, General Manager.
D. O. EDWARDS, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati, O.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Six Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes

To St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to St. Louis, with Through Sleepers to Memphis, without change.

The Shortest and Best Line from NEW ORLEANS to VICKSBURG.

The Shortest and Most Direct Route to

MEMPHIS.

The Only Line Running Pullman Sleeping Cars Through Without Change

To SPRINGFIELD, MO., FORT SCOTT and

KANSAS CITY.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

TICKET OFFICE: Nos. 25 and 27 St. Charles St., corner Common.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

The Texas and Pacific R'y.

EL PASO ROUTE.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, La.,
SHREVEPORT, La.,
TEXARKANA, Texas,
DALLAS, Texas,
FT. WORTH, Texas,
SHERMAN, Texas,
PARIS, Texas,

to St. Louis and the North and East, and to all points in Louisiana, Texas, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California.

The Favorite Line via Sacramento to Oregon and Washington.

Through Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars

Between NEW ORLEANS and DENVER, via MARSHALL, and FT. WORTH, where connection is made with through sleepers to the East and West.

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas and Pacific R'y or

C. P. FEGAN, Trav. Pass. Ag't,
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen'l Pass. & Tk't Ag't,
JNO. A. GRANT, 3d Vice-Pres.
Dallas, Texas.

Mississippi Valley Route.

L., N. O. and T. R'y.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p. m	8:10 a. m
Vicksburg & Natches Ex.	8:10 a. m	5:35 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train"	8:45 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office, 61 St. Charles Street.

P. R. ROGERS, Gen. Pass. Ag't.
R. F. REYNOLDS, Ass't Gen. Pass. Ag't.

WORLD'S FAIR Portfolio. Containing 16 fine artistic illustrations, size 10x14. An elegant work of art. Price postpaid, 50c. H. B. HARFORD & SON, 134 Van Buren St., Chicago.

If you wish to advertise anything anywhere at any time write to GEO. P. ROWELL & CO No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

SAWMILL firewood at $1.50, and oak and ash mixed, at $2.50 per load delivered. C. Arthur 1360½ Tchoupitoulas street

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ROUTE.
(Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway.)

Arrive.	Leave.
Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 8:10 am	Kansas City and Memphis Ft Train 5:00 pm
Vicksburg and Natchez Express 5:35 pm	Vicksburg and Natchez Express 8:10 am
Baton Rouge "Coast Train" 10:00 am	Baton Rouge "Coast Train" 3:45 pm

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

No. 5 Lim. Ex. 7:45 am	No. 4 F'st Ex. 7:45 am
No. 5 F'st Ex. 7:05 pm	No. 8 Coast. 3:45 pm
No. 7 Coast. 9:20 am	No. 64 Lim. Ex. 7 30 pm
Lim. express, 4:45 pm	Fast mail. 8:25 pm

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

No. 1. Local Mail and Express. 6:15pm	No. 2. Local Mail and Express. 7:00am
No. 41. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 8:25am	No. 42. Chic. and St. L. F. Mail. 6:00pm
No. 45. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 7:35pm	No. 46. Chic. and N. O. Lim. 12:01noon
No. 41. Memphis and K. C. Ex. 8:25am	No. 42 Memphis and K. C. Ex. 6:00pm
No. 5. McComb City Accom. 9:15am	No. 6. McComb City Accom. 4:50pm

TEXAS AND PACIFIC.

No. 52 California Express. 7:30pm	No. 51 California Express. 8:00 am
B. Rouge, local. 10:25am	B. Rouge, local. 5 50 pm

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO.—MORGAN LINE.

No. 19 Califor. 7:30 am	No. 18 Local. 8:00 am
No. 17 Local. 7:20 pm	No. 20 Califor. 5:00pm

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN.

No. 1, Lim'd 2:30pm	No. 2, Lim'd. 5:00pm
No. 5, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 6. Fast Line. 3:45am

MOBILE AND OHIO.
(Via Meridian.)

No. 4, Fast Line. 7:00am	No. 2, Limited. 5:00pm

P. AND P. EAST LA
(Abita Springs.)
Daily Except Sundays.
Arrive. 8:30 am | Leave. 4.15 pm

NEW ORLEANS AND GULF RAILROAD.

Pt. a-la-Hache 8h Rch. 9:00 a. m., 2:30 p. m., 4:50 p. m.	Pt. a-la-Hache 8h. Rch. 7:00 a. m., 10:00 a. m., 5:00 p. m.

Woodenware and Willow-ware

Rope, Packing, Twines, Brooms, Brushes, Mops, Soaps, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Tumblers, Fruit Jars, Corks, Lamps, Lanterns, Globes and Chimneys, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Ammunition, Shot, Powder, Oyster Tongs, Oars, Rowlocks, Hardware, Tinware Stationery, Scales, Animal Traps, Cakes, Axle Grease, Wagon Jacks, Whips, Wrapping Paper and Bags, and a full variety of Goods carried in this line of Trade.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited,

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

DIRECTORS—E. F. Dyer, president; E. P. Mackie, treasurer; J. C. Morris, J. C. Morris, Jr., T. G. Mackie.

Scriptural Baptism.

By REV. J. J. LOVETT.

A Clear-cut and Concise Statement of the Bible Doctrine of Water Baptism.

"It is written in popular style."—Rev. T. F. Brower, A. M.

"It is well written and much to the point."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"I have read it carefully through and like it very much. It is the CLEAREST, FINEST and BEST pamphlet on Baptism I ever saw."—Rev. Dr. T. S. West.

Price, 10 cents each; 75 cents per dozen. Address the author, Tahlequah, I. T.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins, New Orleans.

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

EVERY one in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. Mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price. Contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers and class journals; gives the circulation rating of every one, and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Address ROWELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

A Sea-Front Cottage

For Sale at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

A choice location. The only front lot left in this charming seaside resort.

Apply to H. W. SPEAR,
Member of Board of Trustees,
No. 74 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

BOYS! GIRLS! Everybody!

We want used postage stamps used before 1870; also Confederate bills. For 25 stamps or 10 bills we will give either 25 cards with your name printed on, 3 sheets of Scrap Pictures, 1 Autograph Album, 50 Foreign Stamps, or Cash. AGENTS WANTED. Circulars free.

J. E. HANDSHAW & CO.,
SMITHTOWN BRANCH, N. Y.

AGENTS send for How I Made a House and Lot in One year. Our copyrighted methods free to all desiring a Home, or business chance. $75 to $100 Monthly. Teachers and ladies find big pay for spare hours. TREASURY PURCHASING AGENCY, 27 4th Ave., New York.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

54 - - CAMP STREET - - 54

Paid up Capital, $300,000. Assets, $559,348.11.

FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE INSURANCE.

This company by its conservative, yet liberal, business methods, and the immediate availability of its assets, affords complete security to its assured. Losses promptly adjusted and paid.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. OALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT MCGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Frank Roder, J. H. Menge, Joseph Schwartz, F. O. Ernst, T. J. Woodward.

NATURE'S CURE FOR ASTHMA FREE ON TRIAL.

The WONDERFUL KOLA PLANT (HIMALYA), discovered by African Explorers on the Congo River West Africa, is NATURE'S SURE CURE for ASTHMA. No Pay until Cured, and Positive Cures Guaranteed. Importing Office, No. 1164 Broadway, New York. Fur Book and Large FREE Trial Case, sent by Mail, address, Central Office Kola Importing Co., No. 132 Vine Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Christian Observer and Medical Journal, April 9, 1890. The Christian Evangelist, May 30, 1890, says editorially: "The Kola Plant is a gift direct of God, to sufferers from Asthma, and His blessing will rest upon Stanley and associates, explorers of the Dark Continent. It is an unfailing cure for Asthma." ☞ See New York World and Philadelphia Press, May 18 and 19, 1890, also ☞ Remember, No Pay Until Cured.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., Editor.
Rev. B. F. Lewis, Ass't Editor.

Thursday, Dec. 31, 1891.

Special Notice.

The members of our church in this city are earnestly invited to meet together in Carondelet Street Church, next Sunday, Jan. 3, at 3:30 P. M., to consider matters of importance to Methodism. Let every Methodist be present, if possible.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

BRIEFS.

Mr. Gladstone: "In all God's creation there is no place appointed for the idle man."

It is a good thing to clinch the Sunday sermon. This may be done by personal conversation during the week. We don't mean to talk about the sermon, but about the subject of the sermon. The force of many a sermon has been lost by lack of such clinching.

The Mid-Continent has this paragraph, which is valuable to preachers:

The extemporaneous method of preaching is both popular and desirable, but the minister who pursues it should bring the beaten oil of the sanctuary into the pulpit. Extemporaneous preaching, however, should be carefully discriminated from off-hand preaching. No preacher should undertake in his pulpit work to serve the Lord with that which has cost him nothing. The successful extemporaneous preachers bestow as much, and some of them more, study upon their discourses as those who are in the habit of writing. Dr. Palmer, of New Orleans, the great Southern Presbyterian preacher, composes his sermons from text to conclusion with the greatest care, though he rarely writes a word of them. Along this line "there is no excellence without great labor."

According to the report of the Treasurer of the United States, the receipts for the fiscal year 1891 from all sources amounted to $458,544,233, while the expenditures in every direction run up to $421,304,470, leaving a balance of $37,239,763. We produce these figures to remind our readers that though they represent a vast amount of money, they are as nothing in comparison with the Christian's present possessions or his future inheritance. God says, "All things are yours." And he says, "We are begotten to an inheritance incorruptible, undefiled, and that fadeth not away." When Uncle Sam's great wealth has rotted to nothingness, the Christian will be freely enjoying the opulence of God's illimitable empire.

According to a recent authority, there are now 800,000 communicants of the churches in heathen lands. One hundred years ago the number was about 300. There are now 170 Missionary Boards directed by men, and 110 directed by women, in active mission service, employing 7,700 missionaries in non-Christian lands. To carry on these various mission works, about $5,000,000 were expended last year, which is about thirty-seven cents per church member. And yet Christians profess to "love their neighbors as themselves!" The increase of wealth among Christians in the United States last year was ninety times more than the offerings for foreign missions. And yet we are too poor to give. "According to our ability" has not yet entered into our heads or hearts. The increase of our wealth last year was four times as much as we have contributed to missions during the whole of the past century. Surely our "hearts go after covetousness," and God will some day take us by the throat, and say, "Pay that thou owest!" And then what? Shattered fortunes again.

After Conference.

All three of our patronizing Conferences have now been held. By this time nearly or quite all of the brethren have seen their new works, and the majority of them have moved into their new homes. As the Conference seasons roll round, we are always forcibly reminded of a sentence in the remarks made by one of our Bishops, a few years ago, just before announcing the appointments for the year. He said: "Do not form an opinion of your new charge for, at least, six months after you have reached it." There is wisdom in that remark, though at a glance it may not be seen. The first impressions of a new work are not always favorable, and are rarely altogether correct. This is natural, for both people and preacher meet under most trying circumstances. Strong ties of friendship are being severed and new ones must be formed. The holidays are upon us; all is hurry and confusion and change, and it is often an effort on the part of the people to receive their new pastor with becoming cordiality. The pastor, too, is a stranger and necessarily constrained to an extent, and thus all things tend to make the season a trying one. Now, as we would not be "sized up" by our congregation the first Sunday we appear before them, so let us be sparing with our criticisms. We may have a better thing than we think, even as we know (?) the people have a better thing in us than they think.

Besides this, all Methodist preachers profess to have a divine call to the ministry, and to be firm believers in a special providence. They do not believe that the promise, "Howbeit when he the Spirit of truth is come he will guide you into all truth," was to be confined in its application to the apostolic age, but that to-day all Christians may claim the same divine guidance "into all truth." Believing this, how can one fail to feel confident that he has been sent to the very charge where he is most needed and where he can do the most good? It is true, one sometimes feels that those in authority have been actuated by motives other than the purest in making the appointments. If there have ever been causes for such feelings, they have been so exceedingly few we can scarcely afford to notice them. It is a direct reflection on the Christianity and honesty of any presiding elder to accuse him of such conduct. But suppose there is foundation for such feeling, can the finite arm of man interfere with the well-laid plans of Omnipotence? If we are the Lord's—soul, mind and body—as we should be, will he permit the ill-will or prejudice of one man to work injury to us or to his cause? Has not and does not God bring good out of intended evil? In the face of such a promise as "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord, and he delighteth in his way," no consecrated man of God can look at his appointment, whatever it may be, without saying, "It is best."

But, after all, our works are pretty much what we make them. If a preacher goes to his work baptized with the Holy Ghost, determined to know nothing save Jesus Christ and him crucified, the people will soon find it out and rally to him whatever his "natural fitness for the place" may be. What is needed is not so much "natural fitness" as the presence and power of the Holy Ghost. Some years ago we read of a certain fashionable city church with a fashionable city pastor. Both were devoid of divine power, and the church, as a consequence, was on the decline. At the third Quarterly Conference the presiding elder threatened that if there was not a forward move during the quarter, he would remove their city pastor and send them instead a "piney-woods preacher." On his next round he found them nothing better, but rather worse, as was to be expected. At the session of the Annual Conference the change was made. The first Sabbath of the new pastorate, as the audience writhed under the uncouth manners and mutilated English of the preacher, they sincerely repented of their former indifference. But before the service was over one of the stewards, who thought it an imperative duty to sit in the amen corner, sprang to his feet, clapped his hands, and shouted, "Thank God for the piney-woods preacher!" From that moment the church began to move forward in all departments of church work. Whatever the field, whatever the environments, if the preacher has the Spirit with him, he can not but have cause for thanksgiving in his appointment.

Self or Christ.

St. Paul has given some valuable suggestions in regard to preaching. We call attention to one of his utterances. In his second letter to the church at Corinth, he makes this statement: "We preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord." Every preacher should ponder long and thoroughly this simple sentence. Every preacher of any experience, if he has taken the trouble to analyze the temptations that come to him, has recognized the fact that the most frequent, as well as the most subtle, temptation is the temptation to "show off" his preaching ability.

In what a subtle way this temptation presents itself! Praise is something dear to human hearts. Men love to be thought well of and to be spoken well of, and this, so far, is legitimate. Ministers are men. They have as much human nature about them as other men. Their call to the ministry has not lifted them out of the sphere of human nature. The accomplishment of this desire for the good-will of others is best effected by acts and words. The temptation here is to act in such a manner and preach in such a way that this desire for praise may be realized. At this point couches the preacher's danger. If he permits this desire to grow abnormally, there will come a growing tendency to pander to the tastes and compromise with the habits of his hearers. The grand old truths of the gospel, glowing with divine luster, will be obscured by flashy imitations, the only merit of which is a display of intellectual dexterity. The graces of rhetoric and the elegancies of style and the ornamentations of elocution will be sought after only for the purpose of pleasing "itching ears," instead of for the legitimate purpose of feathering the sharp arrows of truth that they may fly straight to the conscience. Instead of the "sword of the Spirit" being used, as the surgeon uses his scalpel, to open the nature and uncover the sources of corruption and show the streams of pollution that flow through the soul, there will be practised a species of pulpit quackery, whereby the surface will be healed over and the pent-up virus will remain to diffuse itself through the whole nature!

When a preacher yields to this temptation, and goes into the pulpit with the desire in his heart to gain from that bar of judgment the decree that he has ability to make eloquent sermons and the oratorical power to deliver them in an elegant manner, he will be very apt to smooth over the Word of the Lord and to dilute the gospel and make people believe that they are really better than they thought themselves. Then pleasant emotions take possession of their souls, and words of praise flow freely forth! Like everything else, this desire grows by being fulfilled. The more it is fed the larger and stronger it grows, until finally it gets so large that it can not be satisfied, and the poor preacher becomes a misanthrope, whining and quarelling the remainder of the journey through life. He yielded to a temptation that undermined the foundations of his manhood, and when that fell his ministry crumbled to ruins. God has yoked the ministry to manhood, and whatever weakens the latter destroys the former. Nothing so effectually kills the honor and respect which people have for a minister as the loss of his manliness, and nothing takes the manliness out of him so quickly as pandering to the tastes and habits of people in order to win good words from them. We say right here is where Satan has laid a snare for the preacher which can be avoided only by a wary watchfulness and a complete self-abnegation.

Now, St. Paul said, in regard to his preaching: "We preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord." Doubtless, St. Paul could have made men bow before his splended talents, but he wanted to make them bow before Jesus Christ; therefore, he preached Christ. He might have invited men to an intellectual banquet and charmed them with exhibitions of great learning, but he wanted them to "know Christ and him crucified;" hence he preached Christ. When he heard that some were contending for his honor and reputation in the church in Corinth, he asks in astonishment: "Who is Paul?" "I am nothing. Apollos is nothing. Christ is all in all." "God forbid that I should glory save in his cross." The desire for the praises of men—the wish for distinction as a preacher—the ambition to be regarded as the "prince of pulpit power"—these were all crushed out of his heart when he said: "I count all things loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord." Personal experience in the grace of Christ, lived and preached, was preferable to the ability to speak with the tongues of angels, and more desirable than to understand all mysteries, and more enjoyable than the rich feeling produced by giving all his goods to feed the poor. Referring to his proud lineage and high birth and great learning, he cries out, "What things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ." With what sincerity, with what stern simplicity, with what utter abandonment of self could such a heroic spirit declare: "We preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord."

Christ Jesus the Lord, was Paul's constant, untiring theme. It was the central thought of all his preaching, from which he was ever going, and back to which he was ever coming. All the principles of truth centered in Christ. All the hope of humanity clustered about Christ. The love of heaven was incarnated in his earthly life. The aspirations of sin-sick souls found their only resting-place in his glorified humanity. Hence St. Paul declared, "We preach Christ." It was the only hope of heaven to a sinner. It was the only thing that could satisfy the longing love of God for his fallen creatures. Christ satisfied all the conditions on both sides, and Paul saw that he did, and he preached Christ and him only.

Was such preaching successful? One sentence answers the question: "Now thanks be unto God which always causes us to triumph in Christ and maketh manifest the savor of his knowledge by us in every place." May God help us all to "preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord!"

Gambling—The Lottery and Other Forms.

The vice of gambling is rapidly becoming a national characteristic of the American people. Just at this time the attention of the public is directed towards that gigantic gambling monopoly, the Louisiana State Lottery, which is attempting to engraft itself upon the Constitution of Louisiana for another period of years. The public conscience is aroused; but, perhaps, the indignation is not directed so much against that institution because it is a monstrous gambling machine, as because it is a great corporation and because it is now offering openly to the people of a whole State a bribe unprecedented in amount. When it tempts the integrity of the whole people with the offer of one and one-quarter millions of dollars per annum for twenty-five years, the bribe to be used for charitable and educational purposes and for internal improvements, it strikes a deadly blow at the sovereignty of a State, and at the principle of self-government, which creates alarm among all classes of citizens who believe in American institutions. The indignation is, however, not so great as it would be if the strongest church in Louisiana should offer a similar sum for similar purposes in consideration of similar recognition in the Constitution.

This illustration shows that the interest, the indignation and the resistance which have been stirred up against this monstrous iniquity are not to be taken as the measure of the conscientious opposition to legalized gambling, but rather as the measure of patriotic opposition to taking a great corporation into copartnership with the State. Many of those who are arrayed against it stand, no doubt, upon conscience, but the great majority are opposed to it upon purely political and economic grounds. Christians and patriots alike will rejoice in its defeat; but, should it be victorious, many of those who oppose its high-handed effort to usurp the powers of the State, will continue to buy lottery tickets as heretofore.

The gambling mania is upon the American people, and the monstrous form in which it seeks to throttle a State is no worse in its moral features than those delusive and popular forms in which it is daily destroying integrity of character, and sapping the foundations of honest industry.

As now organized and operated, the Stock Exchange, the Cotton Exchange, the Wheat Exchange, the Meat Exchange, the Bucket Shop, is each carried on upon the same moral principles as the lottery, and for the same purposes. Many a man who is not willing to see the Lottery incorporated into the State Constitution will stop on his way to the Anti-Lottery Club to make a speculative investment in stocks or futures, and will very complacently pocket his winnings or pay his losses.

Gambling with cards or dice, faro, chuck-luck, keno, draw poker, craps, etc., is no longer thought respectable; these have to hide out. A good, square, respectable indulgence in gambling now-a-days can not be had under the old forms. The indulgence can be had now only under the euphonious terms: stock speculations, cotton speculations, speeding horses, or backing up one's judgment as to the result of an election.

The essential evil in all gambling is the effort to get something for nothing, or a large return for a small risk.

There are some minds which pretend not to distinguish between the ordinary risks of honest business and the extraordinary risks of gambling speculations, but such minds are probably trying to practice self-deception. The mere jugglery of words is misleading a great many people, and such is the passion for speculative risks, when once indulged, that many persons who have fine business qualities and good opportunities of reaching success along honest and honorable lines of work, are yielding to this pernicious habit.

Occasionally it leads to great crimes. Men in high places steal to repair the losses of the race track, the stock market or the exchange. Sometimes great banking institutions are wrecked by it, and the financial stability of whole nations is shaken, and the effect reaches down to the very living of the day laborer, which is cut short. But all the time it is undermining integrity of character, demoralizing honest industry, and ruining human souls.

This evil as it now exis broadcast among the people w not be cured by mere legal enac ments. Something must done through gospel agencies stir conscience. Gambling is sin. It must be avoided a sin, repented of as a si renounced as a sin, forgiv as a sin, or if committed as sin and persisted in as a sin, will be punished as a sin by hi who takes knowledge of o sins and who holds in his han the thunderbolts.—M., in Al bama Christian Advocate.

NOTES.

Both political parties in Massach setts favored the abolishment of t poll tax, and the law was passe Now—lo and behold!—the reaso There were so many who would n pay the tax in order to vote that bo parties found it expensive to pay t tax to get voters, and so the thing w abolished. Alas! for poor hum naturo.

A large number of people make t mistake of supposing that the "righ eousness of a cause secures its t umph." We have been taught th from the beginning. In our chil hood games it was said, "Cheati never thrives," and we believed But we have learned that it is mistake. Unrighteousness succee wonderfully. A righteous cause h to be worked to success, just like oth causes. And the cause don't wo itself either.

We think it would have a go effect if every preacher would prep very carefully and preach on the su ject of reading. There is a great de of unprofitable reading among m members, and it ought, if possible, be corrected. No man is in position do this better than the preacher. T people look to him for instruction a guidance in everything, and on th line he can instruct and guide profit. We trust this hint will thought of, and that we shall so hear from it.

One of our exchanges says that t number of theories invented by t higher critics in regard to the orig of the books of the Bible is 747, and these 603 are of the Old Testame and 144 of the New Testament. occurs to us that these critics mu first determine which one of the theories is true before they have foundation upon which to build up theology. In the meantime, wh they are settling that, we will cling the old Book. To divide our ho into 747 parts, not one of which is y established firmly, is asking a lit too much. So we will wait till t critics agree before we join with the

No man can vote for the lottery w believes that there is coming a time his history when he shall stand befo a righteous Judge to "give account himself." To aid in putting the lo tery amendment in the fundamen law of the State is to aid in fastening wicked corporation to the necks thousands of helpless people. Can y stand to answer for that at the bar God? If it were only yourself who affected, it would not be so bad; b when you open the possibility of t sin of gambling to thousands of peop and do this by a deliberate vote, th at the last day you may expect nothi less than the tremendous sanctions insulted holiness to be visited up you. Therefore, beware!

The New York Evening Post has paragraph which is so true and whi so clearly diagnoses a national sin th we ask our readers to ponder it car fully. It is this:

Of all the lines of social separati between man and man in a civiliz community, that of mere wealth is t most unfortunate, the most demoraliz ing, the most anti-social, the mo dangerous to the State. It can not erased, but it should be the consta effort of every good citizen to ignore or make little of it. The worship wealth, simply as wealth, has alrea almost become a national disease. has killed almost every other form distinction. It has converted some the most worthless men in the com munity into national heroes, and su rounded their doings and sayings wi a shameful fascination.

Methodist Times, London:

It is no use trying to defend the e istence of the man who does not ing, either with hand or brain, for h fellow-creatures. He is a parasite, anomaly and a nuisance. Carly prophesied many years ago that t day would come when there would no room for him in God's earth, a when the human race would agree th the man who does not live by indust lives by stealing. The Apostle P went even further than Mr. Gladsto or Carlyle, and declared that the m who will not work should not be a lowed to eat. No one has yet ventur to go so far as the Apostle Paul. T greatest possible calamity that can b fall any man is to have nothing in d The quaint saying of old Dr. Wat "Satan finds some mischief still idle hands to do," is true. The idle so degraded that they sink even to t vulgar stupidity of gambling. No m has any right to life in such a world this—a world in which sin and misc abound—without doing in some w or other real honest work for God a man.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

President L. T. Fitzhugh, of Whitworth College, gave us a call and Christmas greetings last Thursday.

The postoffice address of Rev. J. W. Luter, the treasurer of the Board of Missions of the North Mississippi Conference, is Winona, Miss.

Bro. B. F. Jones writes: "I am entering upon my second year here with encouraging prospects." We know from experience what that means.

We see it stated that the Epworth Leagues in our church now number about 50,000 members. This is a good showing for so young an institution.

A note from Rev. T. L. Mellen informs us that he is laid up with an affliction of boils. We trust he will not be bothered out of patience by "Job's friends."

Brother, bring the ADVOCATE before your people at an early date. The sooner you get it to going as a co-worker, the more benefit it will be to you and all the interests of your work. Try it and see. We know whereof we speak.

Three of the Louisiana preachers were robbed one night during Conference, the thief entering the room while they were in bed. The thief carried off $235. Thieves have very little respect for "the cloth" when they are looking for money.

Rev. J. W. Caldwell, of Bowling Green, Ky., has been elected assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in this city. Dr. B. M. Palmer, the pastor, is well entitled to an assistant, and we trust that the new relations may be for the advancement of righteousness in this city.

The Anti-Lottery ratification meeting in Washington Artillery Hall, last week, was a rousing success. At least 2,500 people were present, and the speakers gave the lottery some telling blows. The Antis have just begun the fight, and they expect to win, and we hope and pray and believe they will. Amen!

We are indebted to Rev. W. E. Towson, our missionary to Japan, for a copy of the Minutes of the Fifth Annual Meeting of the Japan Mission of the M. E. Church, South. The reports of the work of the various stations and workers embodied in these Minutes are extremely interesting and encouraging, and show that the cause of Christ is progressing in the "Sunrise Kingdom."

The publisher of this paper has hung in our office a magnificent crayon portrait of Bishop Keener. It is a splendid likeness of the Bishop, and is set in a rich bronze frame. It is a fine adornment for our office. The work is the best style of art, and was executed at the photograph rooms of E. Simon, of this city. We expect also to have one like it of Bishop Galloway. Then we will have the oldest and the youngest Bishop looking down upon us as we work.

The regular monthly meeting of the Sunday-school Superintendents and Teachers' Union, of this city, will take place next Tuesday, Jan. 5, 1892, at 7:30 P. M., at the Prytania Street Presbyterian Church, cor. Prytania and Josephine streets. The subject for discussion will be, "The Bible and Some Methods of Studying and Teaching It." The discussion will be led by Rev. W. H. LaPrade, pastor of Carondelet M. E. Church, South. It is also the time for the election of new officers for the union. All are most cordially invited to be present.

Rev. A. E. Clay, of Dryades Street Church, resumes his Sunday afternoon lectures next Sunday at 3 P. M. The subjects for the next four months are as follows:

Jan. 3. The Bright Side of Things.
Jan. 10. Lifters and Grunters.
Jan. 17. Fainting Spells.
Jan. 24. Turn or Burn.
Jan. 31. Lepers in High Life and Low.
Feb. 7. Daughters of Toil.
Feb. 14. An Hour with Mrs. Grundy.
Feb. 21. The Ideal and Real; or, Before and After.
Feb. 28. Infant Toilers; One Curse of this Age.
Mar. 6. On the Outside.
Mar. 13. Humbugs.
Mar. 20. 'Twixt 7 and 12 P. M.
Mar. 27. The Mission of Beauty.
Apr. 3. The Bridge of Sighs.
Apr. 10. Under the Lion's Paw.
Apr. 17. On Falling in Love.
Apr. 24. Lost Women.

The greatest of arts, it is said, consists in hiding art, but it is a very clever man or woman who can hide baldness. There are ladies who often think that by means of all the artificial adjuncts such as "rats," "switches," and so on, which change almost with every succeeding season, they can successfully disguise the loss of their, perhaps, once luxurious looks. Success does not always crown their efforts, and they are like the ostrich who imagines herself hidden when she hurles her head in the sand.

The only real way to hide a lack of hair is to promote a better growth by using the Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer, which can be depended upon to do so in your case, as it has accomplished it in thousands of others.

Its merits are lauded in stacks of letters, some from grateful purchasers who had previously tried everything they ever heard of for the hair, and all unite in declaring that they never found anything so immediate and at the same time so remarkable in its effects. While promoting the growth it restores the color if it is lost, and yet it is perfectly harmless and nothing like a dye. It is something that recommends itself. Try it and be satisfied. Mansfield Drug Co., Proprietors, Memphis, Tenn.

Some Criticisms.

BY JOS. B. COTTRELL, D. D.

The Ecumenical of Methodism at Washington furnished occasion for many to speak tentatively, and for a few to speak oracularly. Now, there has crooped in upon me, of late, a threefold distinction in respect of the faith of Christ, and what is incidental (I like to have written it accidental) thereto, or therewith. That distinction, which marks a difference in sharp definition, is between the terms, doctrine, creed, dogma. Doctrine is that which is self-evident in its rudimental or primary—its prima-facie—presentation to mind, but which, like the axiomata of mathematics, is cumulative to the mind, as the intuitive or imaginative reason, in co-ordination with the moral sensibilities, makes appropriation thereof in application to duty. It was thus Paul went "from faith to faith"—"dying daily"—"rising on stepping-stones of his dead self" to higher and yet higher degrees of the life the Master came, that we might have, "and have more abundantly!" As we do not have to burn stumps or heaps in order to see the stars, even so is it with the gospel—the doctrine! Christ said, "He that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them;" not these arguments, or demonstrations, or explanations. And when he commissioned the apostles, it was to preach the gospel, not to prove it; to preach it, not to explain it; to preach it, not to argue on its behalf.

Creed is that which is stated in respect of historical fact. When Mr. Huxley says there is no reason, a priori, against the enactment of miracles, but that, to his mind, the evidence of which the Christian world predicates its acceptance of their historic verity, is not sufficient to bring him into assurance of them, he in no wise denies the generative—re-generative—sanctifying efficacy of the doctrine. In the Apostles' Creed each utterance is of fact; there being a little shading of doctrine, or of dogma, as you may have it (as of smoke), in the mention of "the forgiveness of sins." But even the declaration of the forgiveness of sins leaves the mind free as to the dogmatic, theoretic apprehensions of sin.

Dogma is in respect of deductions logically reached from data of either historic fact or of experimental utterance of those claimed to have been inspired. The dogmas of the Methodist Church are the Twenty-five Articles (of faith, as they are infelicitously termed), twenty-four of which were what Mr. Wesley passed over to the Methodists after he had canceled fourteen of the thirty-nine of the Church of England, and making verbal changes in those he gave us that qualified their import. Just here let me ask, in profoundest deference to those who stickle so jealously for ministers to withdraw when they stutter, or lisp, in the least, in pronouncing shibboleth, how they can honor Mr. Wesley, who boldly denied the truth of much embraced in the dogmatic formula of the church of which he was a minister? And I may be graciously borne with by such as have fenced in the rainbow of doctrinal truth with dogmatic rails, or who have grown (?) from childhood within their dogmatic pen, if, just in this connection, the infelicity is noted of declaring a political, governmental somewhat as of Christian truth. Of our Twenty-five Articles, one declared the legitimacy of the jurisdiction of the government at Washington; but an exigency arose in which our Bishops and other clergy made appeals, in the teeth of an "article of faith," to which they were, by ordination, committed, to rally soldiers to resistance against that government! Reverting to the figure of fencing in the rainbow, there is suggested what may justify tolerance and respectfulness, reciprocally, among all the churches of Christendom, viz: None of them have fenced out—or off—the rainbow, however much they may have fancied that they, or "the fathers of their church," have fenced it in. The folly is in the claim that the how may only be seen from their enclosure; and if it be not treason—heresy—let it be suggested that the beautiful, firmamental covenant-token can be as plainly seen by "seers" who have never been penned. When Christ impulsively exclaimed of the centurion that he had not "found so great faith, no, not in Israel!" he uttered what, by implication, we may claim as his foundation-fact or principle of a catholic kingdom: that it is predicative purely of spiritual conditions—conditions that each individual may for himself fulfill, so that his discipleship of and acceptance by the Master is not determined by aught that another may allow or refuse to be performed on him. The abolition of "the law of commandments, contained in ordinances," was affranchisement of the world of mind, and the liberation of men, complete, from priestcraft, preacher-craft and church-craft, all the more effectually to fraternize them, and have them to become organically "compacted, . . . according to the effectual working in the measure of every part," from increase of knowledge and heightenings in experiences of wisdom and of love. The paradox of a surer observance of all that makes for unity, because of this individual affranchisement, is analogous to that which we meet in all ranges of scientific, philosophic or speculative engagement. I've been wont to express it thus: There is nothing so true but there is somewhat else, seemingly contradictory thereto, that is quite as true—like two semi-circles in opposition, making the circle complete. When Paul asked, "Do we make void the law by faith?" and then declared, "No, we establish the law!" he was right upon this ever-recurring paradox of truth. When I've affirmed that my clothes are no part of my person, I've made no claim for nakedness. Even after this analogy is it, have we in religion, baptism, and the Supper, and the laying on of hands; a true ministry, authorized to bind and to loose, with assurance that ratification thereof in heaven will follow, or be coetaneous. It is an all-obliging "law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus" which makes us "free from all," qualifying us to "stand fast in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free," . . . disentangled from "the yoke of bondage."

There was never a time in the career of mind when it behooved individuals, more than the priest, to have the courage of their convictions qualified by respectfulness toward others who appear in antipodal attitude to them. The feet of our antipodes point toward the same centre with our own. In respect of seekers of truth along the convergent lines—scientific, philosophic and inspirational—may it be affirmed, "Deep calleth unto deep!" Why may response, reciprocal, not be in humility and deference? Insolent, oracular, ipse-dixit utterance from one in either quarter of the domain of knowledge, has its counterpart in him who knows only in verba magistri jurare. These, in correlation, under assumption of infallibility, have been ever obstructive in the way of the march of mind.

Greenville, Ky., Dec. 16, 1891.

Methodism in Texas.

Rev. C. F. Smith, of the East Texas Conference, is in Mississippi visiting his mother's family. He reports Methodism in a flourishing condition in Texas. Within the past twelve months nine different Southern Methodist Conferences have been held within the bounds of the State. The East Texas Conference has just adjourned, and reports a membership of twenty-two thousand, with seventy-five traveling preachers. The finances are in a better condition than usual. In the past few years the average salary paid to the pastors has increased thirty per cent.—it now being about four hundred and twenty-five dollars. Bishop Fitzgerald presided, and won the hearts of all. We are not at all surprised at this, for it is what we expected.

The Smith family does not flourish in the Mississippi Conference; but in the East Texas there are nine Smiths, representing eight different families. The Mississippi Conference now has only seven Jones, representing six different families. Providence has seen fit to place the State of Louisiana between them.

Vicksburg Sunday-School.

The assistant editor spent the holidays in Vicksburg, Miss., and had the pleasure of addressing the Crawford Street Sabbath-school at their Christmas celebration. It was refreshing to look down into the upturned faces of the two hundred children assembled to participate in the festivities. After some interesting exercises in the auditorium, the children repaired to the Sabbath-school room, where a Christmas tree and "Santa Claus" awaited them. One of the most interesting features of the occasion was the presentation by the school of a handsome chair to their efficient librarian, who has served them in this capacity for twelve years.

This Sabbath-school has an average attendance of one hundred and seventy-five pupils, and raises every year ninety-six dollars for missions, besides a "birth-day box" collection—amounting this year to $19.75—for the Protestant Orphan Asylum at Natchez, Miss., and their incidental collection. It is also their custom at every Christmas celebration to take up a collection for this same asylum, and also a contribution of oranges, apples, etc., for the poor of their own city. This collection this year amounted to $25.

Exposed!

One "Aitch. Aitch. Aitch." has given a good account of the Jackson Church in your last issue. Why he omitted one of our most valuable possessions remains to be guessed at. Our church and Sunday-school secretary is one of a thousand. Always on hand and ever ready for duty, this H. H. Hines is something that others might covet, were it right to do so. He will blush at this public mention of him, for he is exceedingly modest for one of his years. Still I beg you to put it in print, even if the color does come to his cheek.

WESLEYAN.

No praise of ours can equal the sincere faith of those who know Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

The preachers of the Louisiana, Mississippi and North Mississippi Annual Conferences are urged to send the names of the postoffices in the bounds of their respective works at once to the ADVOCATE.

District Stewards' Notice.

The district stewards of the New Orleans district are requested to meet in Carondelet Street Church at 7:30 P. M., Thursday, Jan. 7. The district stewards are E. P. Mackie, P. Woricin, W. B. Themson, J. B. Quinby, C. M. Fush, J. F. Muller, F. A. Daniels, C. L. Andrews, M. C. Aldrich, W. H. Krone, M. O. Woolley, George Thomson, J. H. Auten, —— McCann.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

Meridian District.

Attention is called to the change of times for holding the following Quarterly Conferences on first round: Meridian, West End; Meridian, East End; Linwood circuit, Daleville station, Enterprise and Stonewall, Shubuta circuit, Clarke circuit. See list of appointments, page 8 of the ADVOCATE.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

Dec. 24, 1891.

Notice.

The Rev. Thos. J. Lowery, who died at his home near Houston, Miss., Dec. 14, was a member of the Ministers' Relief Association of the North Mississippi Conference, and had been since its organization. The members will please send me their mortuary dues—five dollars each; laymen, one dollar each.

THOS. J. NEWELL, Sec'y and Treas.

If the hair has been made to grow a natural color on bald heads in thousands of cases, by using Hall's Hair Renewer, why will it not in your case?

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. A. W. Langley: "We parted with many kind friends and associates of the past four years, at the depot at Ethel, Friday, Dec. 18, as we left for our new home at Ebenezer. It had been a long time since we had gone to make our home among strangers. We had heard a good report of the Ebenezer circuit. One brother who had gone before me said when I was read out to the work: 'You have one of the most pleasant places in the North Mississippi Conference.' But when we reached the parsonage, late Saturday evening, we concluded the 'half had not been told.' We found the parsonage a neat, well-finished building, ceiled and painted throughout; floors, in part, carpeted, and nearly all the furniture we needed. The brethren had had wood provided, and the good ladies were there, and had provided and spread upon the table as inviting a supper as hungry travelers were ever seated to. It made us feel at once that we were among kind friends, and, best of all, with those who love the Lord and his church. With such a cordial reception, we feel resolved, by the grace of God, to do a faithful year's work. Bro. and Sister Perkins did good work in this charge, and have left many warm friends, and will be followed to their new field by the prayers of some of the best people of our connection."

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

The entire San Antonio and Aransas Pass railroad system is tied up as the result of a strike inaugurated by the telegraph operators on Dec. 28. The demand of the railway telegraphers was backed by all the other operatives who, on this particular road, are federated for concerted action.

Happy New Year!

This is the time of year when everybody is making "resolutions." Suppose you make a resolution that when you or your friends want anything in the musical line you will go to Werlein's, 135 Canal St., where there can be seen the most attractive assortment of Pianos, Organs and all kinds of musical instruments and music, and where they hold a "reception" all the year round. For superior quality, lowest prices and easiest terms, Werlein's is the place to go.

The British steamer Southgate arrived at New York, on Dec. 28, from Alexandria, Egypt, with 4,900 bales of Egyptian cotton. This is the first large importation of Egyptian cotton. It is considered superior to the American cotton and will be mixed with it.

For internal cramps and external chills, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment excels anything in use.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE APPORTIONMENTS FOR 1892.

District.	Missions—Foreign.	Missions—Domestic.	Conf. Claimants.	Bishops.	Delegates Gen'l Conf.	Education.	Church Ext'n.
New Orleans	$2,350 00	$ 800 00	$1,200 00	$ 272 00	$ 16 00	$ 272 00	$ 503 75
Shreveport	1,350 00	550 00	900 00	200 00	120 00	200 00	343 75
Arcadia	1,350 00	550 00	820 00	191 00	115 00	191 00	343 75
Delhi	1,250 00	500 00	650 00	145 00	86 75	145 00	322 50
Opelousas	1,100 00	450 00	520 00	145 00	68 75	145 00	283 75
Alexandria	600 00	250 00	120 00	67 00	38 50	97 00	212 50
Total	$8,000 00	$4,000 00	$4,400 00	$1,020 00	$ 612 00	$1,020 00	$2,100 00

ASSESSMENTS OF MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

	General Conference.	Church Ext'n.	For'n Missions.	Dom. Missions.	Conf. Coll'n.	Bishops.	Education
Meridian District	$150 00	$175 00	$1,150 00	$650 00	$350 00	$250 00	$329 50
Jackson District	150 00	175 00	1,150 00	650 00	350 00	250 00	329 50
Vicksburg District	150 00	175 00	1,150 00	650 00	350 00	250 00	329 50
Brookhaven District	150 00	175 00	1,300 00	600 00	350 00	250 00	329 50
Woodville District	85 00	250 00	1,200 00	500 00	650 00	150 00	227 21
Seashore District	80 00	220 00	1,200 00	540 00	550 00	150 00	227 21
Brandon District	80 00	240 00	1,000 00	100 00	500 00	150 00	227 21

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Savings Deposits.

By resolution of the Board of Directors, THE SOUTHERN NATIONAL BANK, 187 Gravier street, New Orleans, will receive interest deposits.

Accounts may be opened with amounts of $5 and upwards, upon which the bank will pay 3 per cent. per annum when left with the bank three calendar months or longer.

Business men can put their surplus funds at interest without interfering with their current accounts. Planters, dealers, professional people, guardians, trustees, etc., are invited to call at the bank for full information. Ladies may deposit with us and thus increase the results of wise economies, and special conveniences will be provided for them in the transaction of their business with the bank.

With a capital of $500,000, the guarantee security therein assured to the public, and the success of the bank in establishing a good and increasing business, evidences its good faith in offering an additional sound and secure depository to the citizens of this and adjoining States.

T. R. ROACH, Cashier.

Mrs. M. M. AUVRAY,
SELECT: BOARD
277 Josephine Street, near Chestnut.

References.—Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D.; Rev. J. T. Sawyer, Rev. J. B. Walker, D. D.; Rev. D. L. Mitchel, Rev. B. Carradine.

MUSIC, PIANOS, ORGANS, Musical Instruments.

OUR STOCK IS IMMENSE.

TO CALL YOUR ATTENTION TO OUR SPECIAL HOLIDAY CUT PRICES.

WE USH THIS OUT

IT MUST MOVE! IF NOT AT OUR PRICE, THEN AT YOUR PRICE.

Call or Write for Catalogues,

Phil Werlein
135 CANAL STREET, New Orleans LA.

H. Dudley Coleman Machinery Co., Lim
New Orleans, La.

STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS AND MACHINERY,
Pumps, Pipe, Presses, Pulleys, Shafting,
Saw, Sugar and Corn Mills,
Cotton Gins, Feeders and Condensers.

Examine Our Stock. Our Prices Are Very Low.

FOUNDRY, FACTORY & OFFICE, Cor. Magnolia and Erato Sts. | SUPPLIES & SAMPLE STORE 9 Perdido St., New Orleans, La.

If readers of this advertisement who wish to purchase goods in our line would mention this paper when writing for information or when ordering goods from us, we could then determine whether the money we pay for advertising in this paper is well invested or not.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN MACHINERY CO., LIMITED, New Orleans, La.

Chops as Shown

BUY THE ENTERPRISE TINNED MEAT CHOPPER

THE BEST IN THE WORLD

SOLD BY THE HARDWARE TRADE.

No. 10 $3.00. Send for Catalogue, FREE. ENTERPRISE M'F'G CO., PHILADELPHIA.

Metal Tipped. EVER READY DRESS STAY Will Not Cut Through.

See Name "EVER READY" on Back of Each Stay.

Acknowledged the BEST DRESS STAY On the Market

Made with Gutta Percha on both sides of steel and warranted water-proof. All other stays are made differently and will rust. Beware of Imitations. Take none but the "Ever Ready."

Manufactured by the YPSILANTI DRESS STAY MFG. CO., Ypsilanti, Mich.

FOR SALE BY ALL JOBBERS AND RETAILERS.

SPECIAL DEPOTS. { MODEL DRESS STEEL CO., 74 Grand St., New York. BROWN & METZNER, 535 Market Street, San Francisco.

MAGIC LANTERNS AND STEREOPTICONS

Illustrated Lectures

PAY WELL.

220 PAGE BOOK FREE

McALLISTER, Mfg Opticians, 49 Nassau Street, New York.

Some merchants get the best they can; some get the meanest they can.

Your dealer in lamp-chimneys--what does he get for you?

There are common glass and tough glass, tough against heat. There are foggy and clear. There are rough and fine. There are carefully made and hap-hazard.

You can't be an expert in chimneys; but this you can do. Insist on Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass" whichever shape you require. They are right in all those ways; and they do not break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Be willing to pay a nickel more for them.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

Beauty often depends on plumpness; so does comfort; so does health. If you get thin, there is something wrong, though you may feel no sign of it.

Thinness itself is a sign; sometimes the first sign; sometimes not.

The way to get back plumpness is by CAREFUL LIVING, which sometimes includes the use of Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil.

Let us send you—free—a little book which throws much light on all these subjects.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

28

NEW BOOKS

The Young Pianists Guide.
A collection of Sonatinas and other pieces of Standard value, leading gradually up to the easier Sonatas of Mozart, Haydn, etc. Compiled, thoroughly phrased and fingered, by GEO. SCHNEIDER. Sheet music size pages, bound in boards. Price, $1.25 by mail.

Calisthenic Exercises and Marches
with Pleasing Drill Songs and Music, for Schools, Colleges, Private Entertainments and Public Exhibitions. Prepared by FRANK L. BRISTOW. Price, 50 cents by mail.

Guitar Chords. | Chords for the Banjo.
A collection of Chords in the Principal Major and Minor Keys, intended for those who have not the time to take lessons. Prepared by F. W. WESSENBERG. Price of each, 50cts. by mail.

Model Practice Lessons.
A thoroughly Graded Elementary Course, selected from "The Repertoire," by DR. GEO. F. ROOT. Price, 25cts. by mail.

His Fortune.
A new secular Cantata for Schools, Societies and Public Entertainments. Arranged by MAGGIE RICE. Price 30c. by mail.

Ideal Four Hand Album.
Compiled from the best works of Wagner, Jambor, Grieg, Gounod, Jadassohn, Handel, Affoldi, Saint Saens, etc. Edited by J. O. V. PROCHAZA. Bound in boards. Price $1.00 by mail.

The Musical Visitor.
a Monthly Journal of Music for Choirs and Organists. Price, $1.50 per year. Single copies 15 cents.

—PUBLISHED BY—
The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 200 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 13 E. 16th St., New York

A MAN bought a Piano for $450 HIS NEIGHBOR paid only $375.

For the very same Piano. Neither one was worth a nickel over $300.
Insure Yourself against paying extravagant prices by buying direct from LUDDEN & BATES, Savannah, Ga.
Who have but One Price and that the lowest known. You can't pay them more than Instruments are actually worth. They are not built that way. Write for Latest SPECIAL OFFERS.

Tickle The Earth
With a Hoe, SOW FERRY'S SEEDS and nature will do the rest.
Seeds largely determine the harvest—always plant the best—FERRY'S.
A book full of information about Gardens—how and what to raise, etc., sent free to all who ask for it. Ask to-day.
D. M. FERRY & CO., P. O. Box 2143 DETROIT, MICH.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE
Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Block, Nashville, Tenn. FOR Catalogue.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS TO PROPRIETORS BELLS TO THE BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Best quality Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, &c. BELLS
Also CHIMES AND BELLS.
Price and terms free. Name this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

GOLDEN MEMORIES
BOOK OF BOOKS IN PICTURE, SONG, AND STORY.
OF THE
9 Col'd Plates, 50 full-page Engs., 200 Illustrations
A MASTERPIECE of LITERATURE and ART!
A Gallery of Pictorial Art, a Library of Sacred Literature, and a Life of Christ from Cradle to Crown, sold at a price within the reach of all.
AN AGENT WANTED IN EVERY TOWNSHIP.
HUNT & EATON, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

HOME LIFE.

COURAGE.

Wounded! I knew it, my brother,
The sword hath pierced thy heart;
Courage! in silent endurance
Play then the hero's part.

Make no sad plaint or moaning,
Smile as in days before;
Wrap thy mantle around thee,
Cover the bleeding sore.

Fight! yea, fight with God-weapons,
Give blow he blew—but smile!
Head up! step out! march steady!
Tramping along the life-mile.

Brother, the road thou'rt treading
Thy Captain himself trod;
Shrink not, if his order come ringing,
"Forward! the city for God!"

Flinch not, though comrades be falling,
Though loudly death-drums beat;
The buglers of God are sounding,
"Forward! and no retreat."

Pledged to follow thy Captain,
Through good report or ill;
With a cheer, take the post set thee,
Rejoice to do his will.

Rejoice if he think thee worthy
To front the fiercest foe;
And wrap thy cloak around thee,
Thy wound let no man know.

—Good Words.

One Jarring Member.

It is surprising how much discomfort may be brought into a home by one jarring member; one who is always fretting about this or that, wishing to be in some other place or have some other work to do. Not being able to adopt oneself to circumstances of life, is a deplorable condition. When all the members of the family unite in trying to bring the jarring member into harmony with them by kind words and helpful acts, and yet there is no appreciation of it and no perceptible change, it seems, indeed, a thankless work.

Some people are always being slighted, are not treated with the respect and honor they think due them. If two persons are talking together in undertones, they instantly conclude that they are the subject of the conversation. Others are always antagonistic towards those they ought to be pleasant with, constantly irritating the different members of the family by an expressed and oftentimes exceedingly disagreeable opposition.

We all have a right to our own opinions, but it is not often wise to express them when we know they are going to conflict with those of others. "I am a person of unexpressed opinions this Summer," a gray-haired mother said to a friend. "I have all my children and grandchildren under my roof. Both sides of the house are represented by different views and different characteristics, and I shall certainly strive for peace instead of discord."

The jarring member of a family is the selfish member. Such an one is the cause of worriment and shadows in the hearts of others, spoiling that happy freedom from vexation which we all prize, and hiding a great deal of sunshine which should be allowed to come in and brighten our lives.

Girls and boys, don't one of you be a jarring member, running against your companions only to bruise and hurt them. Be unselfish; ready to fall in with the accustomed ways and plans of those with whom you associate, when they are right ones. Be careful to show your appreciation of the kindly acts done to make you happy and life easier for you. Don't let anyone say, "I have done my best to make it pleasant for A or B; but there is no use, and I am going to give my time and thoughts where I know they will do good." When we find ourselves brooding over fancied wrongs, let us banish them from our thoughts as quickly as possible, and go to the help of some poor soul who is burdened with the real sorrows and disappointments of life.—Evangelist.

KEEP GROWING.—Life ought to be, for every healthy nature, one quenchless thirst for achievement, experience, and expansion. No limits are set to the human soul, although time keeps a strong registry against the human form. In this century some of the greatest things have been done by old men—men who have declined to stop and step out of the ranks, and who have gone on adding strength to strength and service to service until old age has become the fruitful harvest of October, and not the bleak barrenness of December. Physical infirmities are not to be warded off by an effort of will, but no man need decline because his body diminishes in force. Growth takes on many forms, and it can still persist when the senses have begun to fail. It is a great gain to banish from our thoughts the ideal of life which fixes its best period at the beginning. It is a great thing to look forward to ever-increasing gain, to think always of leading and advancing, never of retiring and retreating. The charming old woman who began to study painting after she was sixty years old is a capital illustration of the spirit in which we ought all to take hold of life. There are few who, like the great Doge of Venice, can climb the wall of a besieged city at the head of an attacking force beyond the age of ninety; but there is no one who need settle down to decline and decay because youth is past. Life has no limits for those who know how to live, and the joy of it lies in moving with the tide and keeping at the front until the time comes when there is a greater and a higher opportunity elsewhere.—Christian Union.

THE SIMPLICITY OF CHRIST'S RELIGION.—This is at once a proof of its divine origin and a source of its wonderful and growing power over the human race. Were it not simple, in spite of the exalted grandeur of its principles, it would fail of its object. It would defeat itself. It would deserve to fail. It would be unjust in its demand for the allegiance of everyone. This claim necessarily rests upon the fact of universal ability to meet it. If it required of us the acceptance of some involved system of belief which only highly trained minds could comprehend, or the performance of some elaborate and intricate course of service above the comprehension and capacity of the multitude, to call upon all men to accept it, and to condemn those unable to understand it or to meet its requirements, would be so unlair as to be cruel. But it is so simple that the little child may apprehend its essential truths. These are few, plain, and in entire accord with the dictates of common sense. They are belief in the existence of God, consciousness of and penitence for having grieved him by sin, faith in the cleansing, atoning sacrifices of Jesus Christ, and the honest efforts to reform whatever we know to be wrong in our lives. Of course, the Christian religion includes more truths than these, but these are its fundamental doctrines. To understand these and to accept them is enough for any one's salvation. Surely no candid spirit can insist that they are not sufficiently simple.—The Congregationalist.

Communion with Christ in Suffering.

It is a sweet, a joyful thing to be a sharer with Christ in anything. All enjoyments wherein he is not are bitter to a soul that loves him, and all sufferings with him are sweet. The worst things of Christ are more truly delightful than the best things of the world; his afflictions are sweeter than their pleasures, his "reproach" more glorious than their honors, and more rich than their treasures, as Moses accounted them (Heb. xi, 26). Love delights in likeness and communion, not only in things otherwise pleasant, but in the hardest and harshest things, which have not anything in them desirable, but only that likeness. So that this thought is very sweet to a heart possessed with this love: What does the world, by its hatred and persecutions and revilings for the sake of Christ, but make me more like him, give me a greater share with him, in that which he did so willingly undergo for me? "When he was sought for to be made a king," as St. Bernard remarks, "he escaped; but when he was sought to be brought to the cross, he freely yielded himself;" and shall I shrink and creep back from what he calls me to suffer for his sake? Yea, even all my other troubles and sufferings I will desire to have stamped thus, with this conformity to the sufferings of Christ, in the humble, obedient, cheerful endurance of them, and the giving up my will to my Father's.

The following of Christ makes any way pleasant. His faithful followers refuse no march after him, but through deserts and mountains and storms and hazards that will affright self-pleasing, easy spirits. Hearts kindled and actuated with the Spirit of Christ will "follow him wheresoever he goeth."—Robert Leighton.

THE FASHION OF A CHILD.—Nowhere in creation is the wisdom of God more strikingly displayed than in the physical and moral constitution of a child. He is a master-piece—the marvel of the universe. So frail and insignificant, yet so endowed as to outlast the sun and stars! Life in him is fresh and buoyant. The blood is vital. The law of sanity reigns through his entire economy. There is gladness in every fibre and faculty. To live is a delight. The joy of fresh discovery comes with each morning. The world is new to him. With an eye that magnifies many degrees, he holds in full view the marvels of creation. With so much that is wonderful about him, he finds no trouble in accepting as authentic all the tales and legends of olden time. He has not learned to criticise and doubt; an implicit faith attaches him to what is simple and marvelous.

But the pleasure of a child comes not solely from the use of the microscope. With an eye constructed for a distant as well as a near view, he early begins to indulge the illusions of hope. The imagination lends gorgeous tints to the future, in which is seen to float a delectable Paradise into which at no distant day he expects to enter and find an end of all his ills and disappointments. His is a delight in the life that now is and in that which is to come. Blessed is the man able to remain a little child, in his pure and simple joys and uncorrupted faith, to the verge of life! Of such little children, even as they go on beyond fourscore, is the kingdom of heaven.—Zion's Herald.

THE STRAIGHT-OUT RELIGION.—What the world wants is a straight up-and-down religion. Much of the so-called piety of the day bends this way and that, to suit the times. It is horizontal, with a low state of sentiment and morals. We have all been building a wall of character, and it is imperfect and needs reconstruction. How shall it be brought into the perpendicular? Only by divine measurements. The whole tendency of the times is to make us act by the standard of what others do. If they play cards, we play cards; if they dance, we dance; if they read certain styles of books, we read them. The question for me should not be what you think is right, but what God thinks is right. This perpetual reference to the behavior of others, as though it decided anything but human fallibility, is a mistake as wide as the world. There is a mighty attempt being made to reconstruct and fix up the Ten Commandments. To many they seem too rigid. The tower of Pisa leans over about thirteen feet from the perpendicular, and people go thousands of miles to see its graceful inclination, and by extra braces and various architectural contrivances it is kept leaning from century to century. Why not have the ten granite blocks of Sinai set a little aslant? Why not have the pillar of truth a-leaning? Why is not an ellipse as good as a square? Why is not an oblique as good as a straight up-and-down? My friends, we must have a standard; shall it be God's, or man's?—New York Observer.

THE WONDERFUL BOOK.—The Bible has attained its present supremacy in the world of literature by a conflict that is without a parallel in the history of written and printed volumes. It is the only book on earth which is printed in hundreds of languages and dialects. It is the only book on earth for which languages are invented, that it may be read where written and printed works were previously unknown. It is the only book on earth which has been printed by hundreds of millions, and is now being multiplied by thousands every day, and by millions every year. It is the only book on earth for the translation of which holy men have been hunted like wild beasts until they were captured, and horned alive. It is the only book on earth for the reading of which thousands of believers have suffered the spoiling of their goods, banishment from their homes, imprisonment in filthy dungeons, and then death amid the flames. Its harmless conflict with unbelieving science is scarcely worthy of being noted, compared with its bloody conflict with the Church of Rome—the corrupt Christianity of millions. But the Bible has triumphed over every principality and power. Nowhere is its triumph greater than in the English-speaking world. It is the Bible that gives us what is best, purest, and strongest in the language which is the only conquering language in either the Old World or the New. "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, but the Word of our God shall stand forever."—New York Observer.

BE COURTEOUS.—Nothing in one's character so clearly defines the true lady or gentleman as courtesy. To be courteous requires careful reflection and consideration for others. When one is at a loss to know what is the courteous thing to do, he only needs decide what is the most respectful and kindest action. The preference of others before self, thoughtfulness for their comfort, pleasure and entertainment, are true courtesy. Courtesy is a plant of the heart, not of the head. Its great foe is selfishness and love of self-indulgence.

Kindness is simply self-respect in action: incivility is deep self-conceit showing itself through one's manners. Better than all the printed rules of etiquette is the simple guide, Do what is kindness to others. Boorishness is the result of self-neglect, when a natural selfishness of disposition is permitted to run its course unrestrained and uncultured. But true self-respect tends to respect for others. Genuine courtesy is just doing to others what you would have others do to you.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

JUST LIKE GOD.

I told a little artless child
Creation's wondrous story;
Of mortal man by sin beguiled,
Of God and all his glory,

Of Eve's temptation, Adam's fall,
And of the flood I told her;
That we were God's dear children all,
But only some were older.

To all I said, with glad surprise,
All quietly she listened;
The while her earnest, asking eyes
With pearly tear-drops glistened.

Then how the Magi came from far
To see the little stranger—
Led by the light of Bethlehem's star;
Of Jesus of the manger.

I told her then of Calvary's cross;
The grave within the garden;
The risen Lord, whose earthly loss
Has gained for men their pardon.

"Is it not wonderful," said I,
"That God, so far above us,
Should come to earth to live and die—
So greatly, dearly love us?"

With happy glance, serene and mild,
The love light shining through it,
"Oh, no, indeed!" replied the child,
"'Twas just like God to do it!"

—Advance.

MR. EDITOR: As it has been a long time since I have written to the ADVOCATE, I will answer one of the cousin's questions. "Lily" is found in the Bible. (Cant. ii, 1; Hos. xiv, 5; Matt. vi, 28; Luke xii, 27.) Yours truly,

EFFIE J. MCDONALD.

Jackson, La.

MR. EDITOR: As my first letter did not reach the waste-basket, I thought I would write another. I am nine years old. I have a nice little sister, just two weeks old. We are very proud of her; her name is Julia Burton Moore. My little brother Powers is three years old; he is a nice little fellow, but mischievous. Our Grandma Burton is with us, and we will be sorry when she has to leave us. I am going to school at Columbia High School, and Prof. W. W. Rivers is our principal. We have a nice new school-building just finished. My papa has gone to Conference. I will close by asking a question: Who was struck dead for disobedience to God? I am,

Your little friend. WALDO MOORE.

Columbia, Miss.

How to Be a Good Visitor.

Many girls and boys have been invited to make visits among friends during the vacation. It is quite an accomplishment to be a good visitor; by that we mean a guest who makes no unnecessary trouble nor care in a house.

The first thing to do, says the Evangelist, is to conform to the rules and ways of the household. If an early breakfast is the habit, be sure to have some one call you in time if you can not wake up yourself. You may not think it much trouble to keep your breakfast standing a while, but it is, nevertheless. Always do what you can in the way of assisting about work, especially in places where the family do their own work. There are many things that you can do that are really very helpful. Picking fruit and looking it over, shelling peas, stringing beans, and such work which takes time, when those who have a great deal to do are obliged to stop their more necessary work to do those of minor importance.

You boys can always see where you can save steps, time and strength for elders. On a farm there are a great many light "chores," to do which really is a great help to the tired men at night.

Always show an appreciation of the efforts made to make your stay pleasant. If a drive or picnic is the order of the day, be on hand at the moment of starting; don't ever let anyone be obliged to wait for you. I have seen thoughtless girls who would not get ready for an appointment until a few moments before the time. "They had no idea that it could be so late," were the words offered by way of excuse. Young people, too, are often careless, and leave their wraps, or gloves, or rugs somewhere, and hinder a whole party by being obliged to return to look after them.

Always be very thoughtful of the elderly people who may chance to belong to the household. Interest yourself in them and their belongings, and see that they have the respect shown them that they justly merit. Elderly people never forget the young people who wish to have them make a part of the "good time" they are having.

During your whole visit be cheery, and have a pleasant word for all, especially for the little ones who look upon you as "big boys and girls" full of your own interests. Make clothes for Nellie's doll, and tell James a story when he stands by your chair and wishes so much to hear one. Don't let the wee ones feel that they are a "bother" to the young visitor in the house.

If you think about all these little things and carry them out, we are sure you will never lack for an invitation to go and visit your friends in vacation time.—Watchman.

The Squirrel.

The squirrel is a beautiful animal. They are remarkable for their lively disposition, rapid motions, and the symmetry of their forms.

They are quite harmless, and can be easily tamed, though naturally timid and wild.

Their tail is their greatest ornament. It makes an excellent covering in the coldest weather. It is long and bushy, and greatly protects them in time of storm. It also helps them in clinging to trees.

There are the common gray and black squirrels in the Eastern States. There are also the red and the black squirrels that are common in the woods in the Northern States. Some have wings, and not only hop and run, but can fly with great rapidity from tree to tree.

These little animals live chiefly on nuts, and will carefully lay up a store for winter use. God made those beautiful little creatures, and he cares for them. The Bible tells us that not a sparrow falls to the ground without his notice. When we see these active little animals, we should be reminded of the continued care of our kind Father in heaven. Linnæus, who was a celebrated naturalist, and closely observed the habits of animals and birds, says that in crossing a stream of water the squirrel perches upon a piece of bark, and erecting its tail in order to catch the wind, uses it as a sail, and thus is carried across on the waves.

He has been eye-witness of their thus crossing large streams; and says it is so curious and interesting to see their movement that it would be almost incredible to him had he not himself seen it done; and he further adds "that it exhibits a striking specimen of animal instinct, although not more wonderful than many others which are displayed in the brute creation."—Pure Words.

SCIENTIFIC.

Ancient Egypt.

Mr. Flinders Petrie recently delivered at the Owens College, Manchester, a most interesting address on exploration in Egypt. It had been thought, he said, that the immense mounds of rubbish indicating the sites of towns had been made on purpose, but they result from the natural decay of the mud brick buildings. These heaps of ruined walls and earth and potsherds rose even to eighty feet high in some places; but other ancient sites were much less imposing, and might not even attract notice on the open desert. The higher the mound the longer the place had been inhabited; and if the surface was of a late period, the earlier parts, which were most needed, were under such a depth of rubbish as to be practically inaccessible. Much could be known at first sight; and prospecting had now become as scientific a matter in antiquities as in geology. Knowing, by a glance at the sherds on the top, what was the latest period of occupation of the site, and knowing the usual rate of accumulation of a mud brick town—about five feet in a century—we could guess how far back the bottom of the mound must be dated. Other remains had different indications. If in the midst of a great mound there was a wide flat crater, that was probably the temple site, surrounded by houses which had accumulated high on all sides of it. Speaking of the results of exploration, Mr. Petrie said that we now realized what the course of the arts had been in Egypt. In the earliest days yet known to us—about 4000 B. C.—we found great skill in executing accurate and massive stone work, such skill as had hardly ever been exceeded. We found elaborate tools used, jeweled saws and tubular drills. We saw the pictorial arts as fully developed as they were for thousands of years later. But what led up to this we were still feeling for.—Scientific American.

Life-Shortening Occupations.

The Medical Age contains the following abstract from the Journal of the American Medical Association:

One of the curious features of modern life is the extent to which the most hazardous trades are over-run by applicants for work. The electric light companies never find any difficulty in obtaining all the linemen they need, notwithstanding the fact that the dangers of that kind of business have been demonstrated times without number. The men who work in factories where wall paper is made frequently joke one another over the tradition that a man's life, in this trade, is shortened ten years. A similar belief is prevalent in factories where leather papers are made, and among men who have to handle them, and whose lungs are said to become impeded by inhaling the dust arising from such papers. In certain other factories, where brass ornaments and fittings are made, the air is laden with very fine brazen particles, which are, when inhaled, especially irritating to the lungs. But one of the most singular advertised calls for employees that was ever printed appeared recently in a Connecticut newspaper, signed by a firm engaged in the business of building towers. It called for applicants only among those who are young, strong, and courageous, and closed by saying: "We warn all seekers for this job that it is of the most dangerous nature, and that few men continue in it more than a few years. In fact, it is almost certain death to the workman who follows this occupation."—Scientific American.

Influence of Surroundings in Producing Insanity.

In the last number of the Journal of Medical Science Dr. Savage discusses this question, and begins by protesting against the acceptance of what is a too widely spread notion, viz., that nearly all insanity is the outcome of direct neurotic inheritance. The influence of heredity is not denied or minimized, but the great importance of environment is insisted upon. To quote the words of the author: "We are what we are in mind and body, to a great extent, as organic results of our forefathers; but that we are no longer naked savages is some evidence that progress and development in the individual and the race may take place as the result of changing surroundings." There can be no two opinions as to the encouragement to be got from such a view. A too great insistence upon heredity as the determining cause of insanity must land us in a hopeless pessimism as regards treatment; whereas a recognition of the influence of surroundings is the first step toward the construction of a reasonable and efficacious system of therapeutics. The author also cites many examples of hallucinations and delusions which are suggested by surroundings; and while all will not be inclined to accept his dictum that disorder of function may lead to disease of tissue, there will be few who will not share his opinion as to the efficacy of restful, pleasant surroundings in the treatment of mental disorder, as compared with the virtues of "medicine out of a bottle."—Scientific American.

THIRTY-SIX TONS OF PENNIES.—There are 72,800 pounds of pennies encumbering the vaults of the Sub-Treasury. This is more than thirty-six tons, and the coins are still accumulating. There are 10,400 bags, weighing seven pounds each. The accumulation is partly the result of the general establishment of the penny-in-the-slot machines. The headquarters of the companies owning these machines is in this city, and all the pennies are, therefore, sent here when the agents make their returns. The companies thereupon unload them upon the Sub-Treasury. The Treasury Department will send these pennies to be distributed among the country banks.—Scientific American.

A SUCCESSFUL INVENTOR.—It is not every inventor who is so fortunate as Mr. Louis Brennan. The Admiralty have paid the last instalment of £16,000 to this gentleman, who has received much more than £110,000, which the government is supposed to have paid for his torpedo. Eight years ago he was paid a retaining fee of £5,000, and engaged for three years at a salary of £2,000 a year and expenses, in return for which he was to devote all his time to the development and improvement of the torpedo, and when that term was over he received for some years a salary of £1,500.—The Practical Engineer.

Dr. Seavers, of Yale College, professor of athletics, informs the public that the students of Yale who indulge in tobacco-smoking are inferior in physical vigor and mental ability to those who do not. He publishes the results of eight years' investigation. His conclusions are that smokers have less lung power, less chest-inflating capacity, are of less bodily weight, and even of less height, and their muscular and nervous power is notably less; also, that, intellectually, they are inferior to the anti-smokers.

Two vast and wonderful glaciers have been discovered in the new State of Wyoming. This is an interesting fact, for but a little while ago it was acknowledged with regret by an American scientist, speaking in an impromptu speech in Europe, that the United States had no glaciers, though many evidences of their former existence could be seen.

GOOD NEWS
FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF
Tutt's Pills.
It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a
TINY LIVER PILL
which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of
TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS
is shown in the border of this "ad."

Heavy Crops!

The Grain, Sugar, Cotton and Rice crops of this season are unusually abundant, and active preparations are being made to gather and move them. It should be borne in mind that a large and varied crop of Malarial Sickness is also about ready for the annual reaping. The people should begin NOW to prepare for this ordeal by using freely and regularly for a few weeks. It is the Peerless Conqueror of Malaria in all of its forms. It is the best known preventive and the most unfailing cure. Those who heed this timely warning will pass safely and pleasantly through the sickly season that is upon us. $1 per bottle; six for $5. If your dealer can't supply you, order direct from KIT WILLIAMS, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Royal Germetuer

Genuine Oxford Bibles,
Genuine Bagster Bibles,
At New York Prices.
Catalogues Free.

Dr. B. M. Palmer, New Orleans,
Has Written Two Books of Great Merit:
FORMATION OF CHARACTER.
($1.00.)
Should be read by every young man! Present it to your boy.
THE BROKEN HOME.
(60 Cts.)
Lessons in sorrow for those who mourn.

TALKS TO CHILDREN ABOUT JESUS.
($1.50.)
This new book, by Mrs. G. E. Morton, is sold by subscription. Agents are wanted, to whom good terms will be given.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LIBRARY BOOKS.
Send for Catalogue.

Reward Cards
Catalogue given away; or send 25c for a package, stating if you want Scripture verses on them or not.

For any of the above, send to, or call on
E. S. UPTON,
Religious Book Depository,
94 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CLARK & MEADER,
—DEALERS IN—
FINE GROCERIES,
16 and 18 CARONDELET ST., and
Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Catalogues sent on application, showing a most complete assortment of Fancy and Staple Groceries. In asking for quotations, please state about the quality desired of each item, as a guide. Our prices will be found reasonable for the quality of goods furnished

THIRTY CENTS
WILL get you TWO good papers, THE WAY OF FAITH (weekly), THE SOLDIER (monthly), for THREE MONTHS, 8 sweet songs, and our Liberal Terms to Agents. Address
GOSPEL MISSION, Columbia, S. C.
Mention this paper.

MARRIAGES.

SIMMONS—COLEMAN.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. J. Coleman, near Union Church, Miss., Dec. 13, 1891, by Rev. J. Jasper Green, Tom B. Simmons to Miss Bernice Coleman.

EVANS—ABNEY.—At the residence of the bride's father, Dr. H. C. Abney, Dec. 17, 1891, by Rev. H. D. Howell, Mr. Thomas M. Evans, Esq., and Miss Cora Abney, all of Poplarville, Miss.

GANN—LENOIR.—At the residence of Mr. D. Archer, Dec. 17, 1891, by Rev. H. D. Howell, Mr. J. M. Gann, son of the late Rev. J. M. Gann, and Miss Annie E. Lenoir, all of Poplarville, Miss.

WELLMAN—LOWRY.—At the residence of the bride's father, Dec. 15, 1891, by Rev. W. J. Ferguson, of the Mississippi Conference, Will L. Wellman, of Fernwood, Miss., and Jessie R. Lowry, of Knoxville, Tenn.

ROGILLIO—McMURCHY.—At the Methodist parsonage, Port Gibson, Miss., Nov. 8, 1891, by Rev. B. F. Jones, Mr. W. R. Rogillio and Miss Ella McMurchy.

HAYDEN—DAVENPORT.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Russum, Miss., Dec. 16, 1891, by Rev. B. F. Jones, Mr. W. W. Hayden, of Memphis, Tenn., and Miss Ruth Davenport, of Russum, Miss.

WEEMS—ARNETTE.—In the Methodist Church, Port Gibson, Miss., Dec. 17, 1891, at 8:30 A. M., by Rev. B. F. Jones, Mr. Lee C. Weems, of East Mississippi, and Miss Julia M. Arnette, of Port Gibson, Miss.

NORTON—BOGAN.—At the residence of the bride's father, East Baton Rouge parish, La., Dec. 17, 1891, by Rev. C. McDonald, Rev. H. L. Norton, of the Mississippi Conference, to Miss M. L. Bogan.

ROUGEOT—PICKELS.—Near Lamourie, La., Dec. 16, 1891, by Rev. R. M. Blocker, Mr. Joseph Rougeot to Miss Adelaide Pickels.

OBITUARIES.

OBER—FREDERIC W. OBER was born in the seaport city of North Calling, Sweden, in 1814, and died in this city on Saturday, Nov. 14, 1891. By birth and marriage he was connected with some of the most distinguished families of his native country, and inherited from his forefathers that passion for the sea which has made the Swedish voyager one of the world's greatest benefactors. Before he had reached twenty-four years of age he had circumnavigated the globe three times, and thus had visited, as one rarely gifted with powers of observation, nearly every great city of the Eastern and Western Hemispheres.

Bro. Ober came to Mobile and embarked in mercantile business in the year 1839, and here he continued until his removal to New Orleans, which occurred a short time previous to the war. His religious life, he informed the undersigned, extended to a period beyond which he had no recollection. Reared by pious parents in the Established Church of Sweden, he literally took in religious impressions with his infant breathings. Having come to America, he found his ideal of Christianity in Methododism, and cast in his fortunes with it. He had many delightful reminiscences of the Methodists in Mobile, and often spoke to the writer of his early pastors, afterward Dr. Jefferson Hamilton, and Bishop McTyeire. A copy of "De Imitatione Christi," presented to him by the latter, he kept until his death; and how powerfully its theme must have wrought with him was seen in his Christly walk and conversation during all these years.

Bro. Ober's mind was of far more than common mould, and he had greatly improved it by reading and observation, so that to rare fidelity to his Christian calling was added intelligence and strength. He had the gift of utterance both in speech and prayer, but especially the latter, so that often when pleading with his Maker in public he seemed inspired, as he was most evidently transported.

The writer, who was intimately associated with him as pastor and friend for the period of four years, has never known in the ministry or out of it a more humble, gentle, loving, apostolic Christian. But during the last year of his life, like the experienced racer, he seemed to be putting forth unusual strength and speed. In his zeal he broke the bars of constitutional timidity and went wherever he could gain admittance as a witness for his Lord. He "reproved, rebuked, exhorted" and was "instant in season and out of season." His class-room, for he was our class leader at Rayne Memorial, was like heaven's ante-chamber, and weeks after his death the odors of his counsels and testimonies breathe sweetness upon its atmospheres. In the home circle he was as affectionate to his aged wife as, when an ardent young suitor, he had woed her to cross the ocean with him, and to the children as fond a father as when with strong arms he clasped them to his bosom in babyhood. Just before he died he asked the writer if one could be too confident in such an hour, and joined most fervently in the prayer that was offered up at his bedside, and then, having kissed the loved ones good-by, he said calmly, "Let me go to rest," and breathed his last. He had been a reader of the ADVOCATE, which he loved to the last, for half a century, and a witness for Christ on land and sea, and in Europe and America, for threescore years and ten.

J. M. BEARD.

REEVES—MRS. MALINDA REEVES, wife of Rev. Geo. W. Reeves, and daughter of Alfred and Julia Bennet, was born in Mississippi, June 20, 1844; removed with her parents to Louisiana in 1857; professed religion and joined the M. E. Church, South, in October, 1858; was married to Rev. Geo. W. Reeves, Dec. 20, 1867, and died in Calcasieu parish, Nov. 9, 1891.

Sister Reeves was a true Christian—one whose religion was tried by the fires of application for sixteen long years, and yet was never known to murmur. Her faith in God's providence and grace was strong and was manifested daily to those who knew her.

After sixteen years of suffering in the flesh, though of triumph in spirit, she sweetly fell asleep in Jesus, and will wave the palm of victory through eternity. Sister Reeves leaves a devoted husband and a lovely daughter to mourn their loss, but, thank God, not without the hope of seeing her again.

THOS. J. UPTON.

POWELL—Little CALVIN A., son and only child of Harry and Bettie Powell, was born Oct. 5, 1890, and died Nov. 1, 1891.

Thus these little ones are gathering home. He was afflicted all his life, but he is forever free from pain. Now he is no longer yours; he has gone to be a little angel in heaven. He can never come to you, but you can go to him, where he will be waiting for you to come. He is missed by you we know, but how much better off than any of the ones that are left here! He is in the city of God; he is safe in the arms of Jesus. He will never need you any more; he is gone to the happy place where we can all meet to part no more. So look to God for comfort; he will comfort when none else can. He is too good to make a mistake. He will call for you some time. Then be ready to meet your little darling there. May God help you to live, both of you, so you can be with your sweet little one forever.

J. A. M.

WILLIAMS—Rev. J. I. WILLIAMS has gone to his reward above. He is freed from the afflictions of the body. There is nothing now that can keep Bro. Williams from enjoying the company that surround him. While on earth, during the last few years, he spent his days in afflictions, in embarrassment and in trouble—all produced by a cancer which came on his face and did its work. The brother craved to preach, and to meet his brethren at the house of God, but the affliction of the cancer pronounced the woe against him. In submission to it all, he exclaimed, "The will of the Lord be done." I never knew a brother more submissive to God's will.

He departed this life on Oct. 31, 1891, in Lauderdale county. He was born in the year 1818, in Anson county, N. C., and moved to Green county, Ala., when fifteen years of age. He was married to Miss Arminda Masterson in the year 1841, who departed this life Aug. 23, 1887. As she lived with Bro. Williams many years, and was true to God, to her husband and to the church, she reached heaven only a short time before our beloved brother.

They moved to Mississippi in the year 1859, where they remained until their death. Bro. Williams joined the church young in life and was licensed to preach when young. Supplied himself with books, and was well informed by reading the same in connection with his Bible. He left seven children—five sons and two daughters—to mourn over the loss of a good papa and mama. Grieve not; look to God, children, for comfort. All will be well.

L. J. JONES, P. C.

TANNEHILL—MRS. BETTIE TANNEHILL (nee Sillenger) was born in Jackson parish, La., Jan. 3, 1859; was married to R. L. Tannehill, Jan. 2, 1877, and triumphantly passed away at her home in Winnfield, Jan. 3, 1891.

Sister Tannehill professed religion and joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1880. The Christian life of this sainted woman was without a stain. She was gentle, loving, pure in spirit, unselfish in heart. She exemplified the lofty virtues of our holy religion in all relations of life. Those who knew her best spoke in terms of highest praise of her many excellences of character; but it was in her own comfortable and well-ordered home that her fine virtues shone with their brightest luster. Her children, who mourn their loss, can never forget the beautiful lessons she taught them by her quiet Christian example. She was conscious of her own condition, and spoke to weeping husband of her glorious exit. She called her children to her bedside, and exhorted them to meet her in heaven. All of the last day she spent with us here was in singing, "There is a fountain filled with blood," etc., and "I am going home to die no more."

May heaven touch with the balm of the skies the heart of the bereaved husband and her dear children, for they know she taught them how to live, and at last taught them how a Christian can die.

D. C. BARR.

ACKLIN—MORRIS N. ACKLIN, who died at his home near Quitman, Miss., July 22, 1890, was born at Winchester, Tenn., Aug. 23, 1818. He was married in early life, but his wife died soon, leaving him one son, who still lives in Louisiana. When about thirty years old he moved to Clarke county, Miss. On Sept. 10, 1848, he was married to Martha S. Edwards. Their united lives were spent near Quitman, till the angel of death beckoned one away.

Bro. Acklin was soundly converted in 1849. He had always been moral and correct in his life; but this great change brought the happiness and peace of a believer. Henceforth his delight was to read God's Word and sing his praise, and to bear testimony of his power to save. His kind disposition showed itself in many ways. Though always a man of peace, he served faithfully in the Confederate Army, enduring much "hardness," especially in the siege of Vicksburg. His end was peace.

His neighbors and fellow church members say a good man is "gone home." He was many years a member of the M. E. Church, South. May his lonely widow, sons and daughters, with hosts of friends, meet him where farewells are not known.

J. P. DRAKE.

WARNER—Died Feb. 21, 1891, the daughter of W. H. Warner and Lulu A. Warner. She was seven years old when she breathed her last. She was her father's favorite daughter. But God called her, and so she went to the arms of Jesus. She is in that home above—in home, sweet home—while her parents are weeping for their child. They should not be afraid she is lost, because our dear Savior says, "Suffer little children to come unto me." That is good hope. Just about an hour before she died, she called her mama. She said, "Mama, come and go with me." She hugged and kissed her. She said the same to her papa. Now, let us all try to work for the promised land, to see her at the pearly gates.

D. M. F.

BLACK—ANNA CATHERINE BLACK, daughter of M. R. and N. C. Black, was born Nov. 18, 1890, and died Nov. 1, 1891, eleven months and twelve days old.

Little Anna was a beautiful and sweet baby; too pure for earth, so the Master, who doeth all things well, took from us the little darling to be with the angels in heaven. The little snow-white hands are folded quietly on her breast; they no longer reach forth for mama.

But weep not, fond parents, for your little blue-eyed Anna is in heaven, and will wait at the pearly gates for you, where parting will be no more.

A FRIEND.

Cotton Valley, La.

$10,000

will be paid for a recipe enabling us to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that the retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. At present the retail price is 20c.

This offer is open until January 1st, 1893. For particulars address the undersigned.

ACME BLACKING is made of pure alcohol, other liquid dressings are made of water. Water costs nothing. Alcohol is dear. Who can show us how to make it without alcohol so that we can make ACME BLACKING as cheap as water dressing, or put it in fancy packages like many of the water dressings, and then charge for the outside appearance instead of charging for the contents of the bottle?

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

PIK-RON

is the name of a paint of which a 25c. bottle is enough to make six scratched and dulled cherry chairs look like newly finished mahoganies. It will do many other remarkable things which no other paint can do.

All retailers sell it.

Holy Land Tour, $475.

A select party sails March 9, 1892. Monthly excursions to Italy, $280. Best tinkering facilities. Send for "Tourist Gazette."

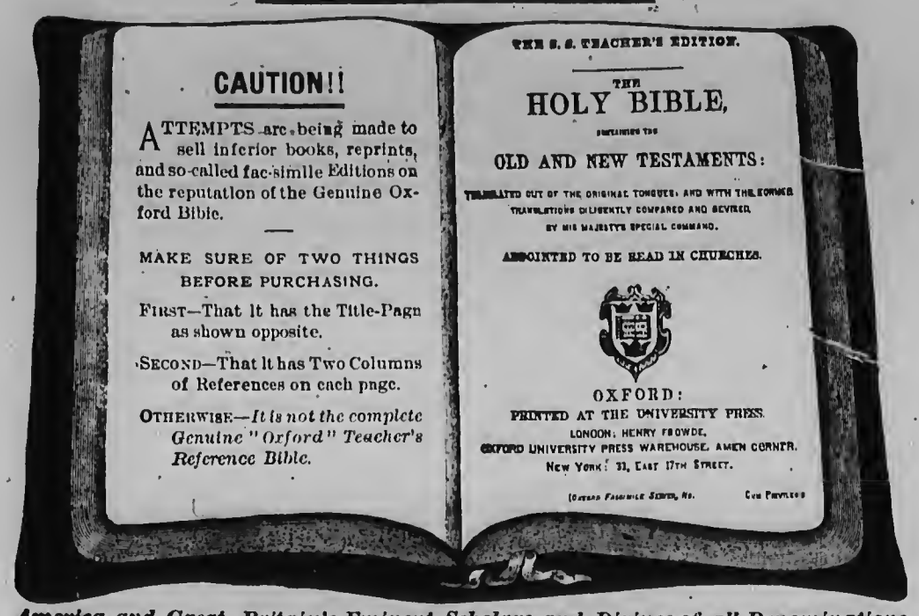
H. GAZE & SONS, 940 Broadway, N.Y. (Est. 1844.

THE GENUINE OXFORD" TEACHER'S BIBLE.

A Whole Library of Scriptural Knowledge in a Small Compass.

THE STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE IN PRINTING, PAPER, AND BINDING.

The Most Complete Helps.



America and Great Britain's Eminent Scholars and Divines of all Denominations pronounce the Genuine Oxford Bible

THE BEST AND MOST COMPLETE BIBLE PUBLISHED.

The Right Hon. Wm. E. GLADSTONE says: "These admirable Bibles must tend to extend the fame even of the Oxford Press."

Rev. C. H. SPURGEON: "The very best. I have carefully examined the volume, and can unreservedly recommend it."

Rev. T. De WITT TALMAGE, D.D., October, 1890: "During my recent journeying in Palestine, I found the 'Oxford' Teacher's Bible helpful, accurate, and indispensable."

Rev. J. M. BUCKLEY, D.D., Editor Christian Advocate, October, 1890: "This is the most complete work for its purpose within our knowledge. * * * It is our constant companion when absent from home—a library in itself."

Rev. Dr. William P. STOWE, Chicago, October, 1890: "I am frank to say that for clearness of type, for valuable helps and elegant and substantial bindings, the 'Oxford' Teachers' Bible has no superior in the market."

Over One Hundred Styles on Rag Made and the FAMOUS "OXFORD INDIA PAPER," from $1.25 to $20.

ASK FOR THE GENUINE "OXFORD" EDITION.

FOR SALE BY ALL BOOK-SELLERS.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS,

"Oxford" Bible Warehouse, 33 East 17th Street (Union Square), New York.

Holiday Goods

What more acceptable present can you give a friend at Christmas or New Year's time than a handsome Rug or a pretty Matting. We have made special prices on this line, and herewith append the list:

John Crossley & Sons Imported tap. rugs, 45c each

John Crossley & Sons—

	ft. in.	ft. in.
N Rugs,	2 1 x	4 8,	95c each.
H "	2 3 x	4 8,	$1.85 each.
G "	2 6 x	5 6,	$2.00 each.

	ft. in.	ft. in.
Smyrna Rugs (best quality)	2 2 x	4 6,	$2.50 each
" " "	2 5 x	5 6,	$3.50 each
" " "	3 0 x	6 6,	$4.50 each

Smyrna Mats, 75c, $1 and $1 25 each.

Fine Damask Matting, Jointless, 25c.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp St., New Orleans.

Watches, Diamonds,

FINE JEWELRY!

Silver and Silver-Plated Ware,

SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSES.

Send for Catalogue.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

(Established 1817)

119 CANAL ST., New Orleans, La.

A FEW MORE

Good Agents Wanted

For that Wonderful Chart,

"The Tree of Methodism."

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

106 CAMP ST., - New Orleans.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER MERCHANT

AND MANUFACTURER OF

PLANTATION CABINS, STORES, Etc.,

Nos. 342, 344, 346 and 348 Howard Ave.,

NEW BASIN. NEW ORLEANS

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO., L't'd,

18 Baronne and 127 Canal Streets, New Orleans, La.

SOLE AGENTS FOR ALL THE LEADING

PIANOS!

Steinway, Chickering, Knabe, Sohmer, Behr, Mehlin, Fischer, Pleyel, Pease, Shoninger, Sterling, etc.

Lowest Prices!! Easiest Terms!

LOUIS GRUNEWALD CO. (Limited), New Orleans.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871, $3,239,091.

Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash, without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office the same as with local companies

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA

CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.

No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.

Solicits Fire and River Business.

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec.

J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON,

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. CHAS. E. EICHOLZ, Sec.

Crescent Insurance Com'y

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TIME POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

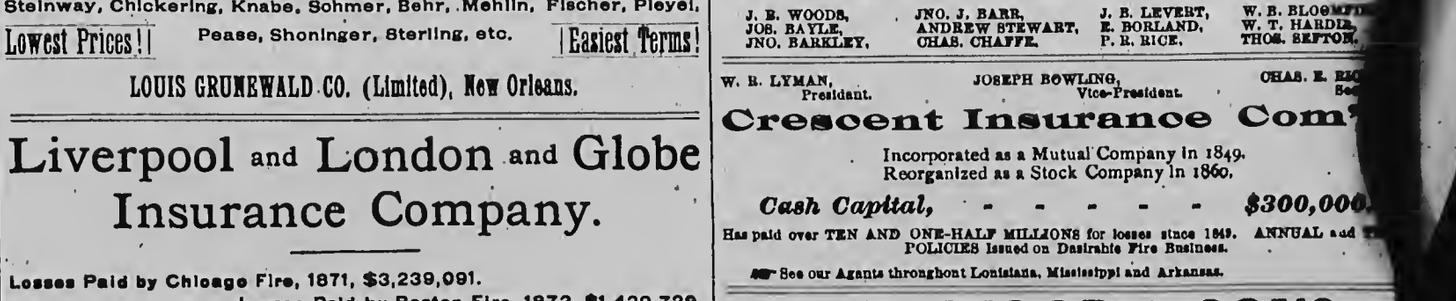
B. D. WOOD & SONS,

113 Common Street.

COAL AND COKE

We are prepared to furnish Families, Planters, Foundries, Steamships, Steamboats and all consumers of Coal or Coke at Lowest Market Rates.

Latest Styles -- Lowest Prices!



This handsome Parlor Suit is upholstered on solid walnut frames with Imported Marbleized Silk Plush and the seats are all Spring Edge. Colors are Red, Red and Old Gold, Blue and Old Gold or each piece of a different color. For $45 I will sell seven pieces of this suit:—one Sofa, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair and three Reception Chairs. $65 buys the complete suit of ten pieces consisting of two Sofas, one Divan, one Patent Rocker, one Arm Chair, and five Reception Chairs. Same suit covered with Hair Cloth, seven pieces $35 or ten pieces $55. Every other article in my store at proportionately low prices. Bedroom suits, twelve pieces, from $40 up to $1000 Dining room suits, eight pieces, from $17 upwards. Complete Kitchen outfits from $20 upwards. Quality at top—prices at bottom. I have an immense variety of strictly reliable goods and purchasers can depend upon getting the very latest styles. Everything guaranteed to be exactly as represented or money will be promptly refunded.

CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET 30 | J. G. GRANT, | CHEAPEST FURNITURE HOUSE in New Orleans, 28 CAMP STREET

All Experts Use Royal Baking Powder

Perfect and uniform success in making finest food is more certain with Royal Baking Powder than with any other. Use it in every receipt calling for a baking powder, or cream of tartar and soda, and the best results in pure, wholesome, appetizing food are assured. Experts use it because it adds to their success. Physicians and Health Officers recommend it because it adds to the wholesomeness of the food.

MARION HARLAND: "I regard the Royal Baking Powder as the best in the market. Since its introduction into my kitchen I have used no other."

MISS MARIA PARLOA: "It seems to me that the Royal Baking Powder is as good as any can be. I have used it a great deal and always with satisfaction."

MRS. BAKER, Principal of Washington, D. C., School of Cookery: "I say to you, without hesitation, use the 'Royal.' I have tried all, but the Royal is the most satisfactory."

M. GORJU, late Chef, Delmonico's, New-York: "In my use of Royal Baking Powder, I have found it superior to all others."

A. FORTIN, Chef, White House, for Presidents Arthur and Cleveland: "I have tested many baking powders, but for finest food can use none but 'Royal.'"

"THE COLUMBUS OF TO-DAY"

is what John Bright called Cyrus W. Field in the House of Commons. This American had told the world that the Atlantic could be wired, and he had just done it. Mr. Field will describe the enormous difficulties of laying the cable, in The Youth's Companion.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Meridian—Central	Jan. 3, 3
Vossburg circuit, at Vossburg	9, 10
Meridian—West End	13, 17
Meridian—East End	(night) 17, 18
Linwood circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Daleville station	(night) 24, 25
Enterprise and Stonewall	30, 31
DeKalb circuit, at Pleasant Ridge	Feb. 6, 7
Lauderdale circuit, at Hrogan	(Tu.) 9
Leakesville circuit, at Adamsville	13, 14
W. and State Line, at W	(Mon.) 15
Waynesboro circuit, at Winchester	20, 21
Shubuta circuit, at Shubuta	(Tues.) 28
Chunkey circuit, at Sageville	27, 28
Portersville circuit, at Chapel Hill	Mar. 5, 6
Binnsville circuit, at Scooba station	13, 15
Marion circuit, at Marion	(Wed.) 18
Clarke circuit, at Andrew	19, 20

The district stewards will meet in Central Church, Meridian, Tuesday, Jan. 26, at nine A.M.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fannin, at Fannin	Jan. 2, 3
Brandon station	3, 4
Clarksburg, at New Providence	2
Forest and Morton, at Morton	2, 10
Homewood, at Mutual Union	11
Lake, at Lake	13, 17
Rose Hill, at Rose Hill	23, 24
Newton and Hickory, at Newton	30, 31
Marvin, at Marvin	Feb. 3, 7
Shiloh, at Oato	13, 14
Nesboba, at Hester's Chapel	19
Decatur, at Decatur	20, 21
Carthage circuit, at Goshen	26
Carthage and Walnut Grove, at C	27, 28
Walnut Grove cir., at Pleasant Hill	29
Hillsboro, at Contrel	Mar. 1
Westville, at Goshen	5, 2
Raleigh, at Trinity	11
Mt. Rose, at Price's Chapel	13, 13
Trenton, at Trenton	19, 20

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Wilson, at Wilson	Jan. 2, 3
Jackson station	9, 10
Bayou Sara, at Thompson's Creek	16, 17
Woodville station	23, 24
Percy's Creek station	25
North Wilkinson, at Macedonia	26
Amite, at Woodland	30, 31
Gloster and Centerville, at Gloster	Feb. 6, 7
Clinton and Slaughter, at Clinton	9
Zachery, at Zachery	13, 14
E. R. Rouge, at Blackwater	15
Port Vincent, at Huff's Chapel	18
Springfield, at James' Chapel	20, 21
Covington, at Covington	27, 28
Talisheek, at Hickory Grove	29
St. Helena, at Day's	Mar. 2, 6
Franklinton, at Mt. Hermon	6
Amite City, at Amite City	12, 13
Liva Oak, at Friendship	19, 20
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	26, 27

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Madison circuit, at Madison	Jan. 2, 3
Sharon circuit, at Lone Pine	9, 10
Camden circuit, at Thomastown	16, 17
Flora circuit, at Flora	23, 24
Mt. Olivet circuit, at Bentonia	29, 31
Yazoo City station	Feb. 3, 7
Yazoo circuit, at Short Creek	13, 14
River Creek circuit, at B. Lake	20, 21
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City	27, 28
Benton circuit, at New Hope	Mar. 5, 6
Canton station	12, 13
Jackson—First Church	19, 20
Jackson—Capitol Street	19, 20
Pocahontas, at Pocahontas	26, 27
Raymond, at Bolton	Apr. 2, 3
Edwards station	9, 10

The district stewards' meeting will be held in Jackson at First Church, Wednesday, Feb. 3, 1892.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

SEASHORE DISTRICT.—FIRST ROUND.

Ocean Springs and Biloxi, at C. S	Jan. 2, 3
Scranton, at Zion	2, 10
Moss Point	(at night) 10, 11
Americus, at Ward's Chapel	13, 17
Vancleave, at Shiloh	(Wed.) 23
Bay St. Louis, at Bay St. Louis	23, 24
Whittington, at Coalville	23, 21
Pearlington, at Pearlington	Feb. 3, 7
Purvis, at Lumberton	13, 14
Ellisville, at Ellisville	20, 21
Heidelberg, at Paulding	27, 28
Estabutchie, at Hopewell	(Wed.) Mar. 2
Perry, at Galloway	5, 6
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	12, 13
Columbia, at Columbia	13, 20
East Pearl, at Colnmbia	19, 20
Mount Carmel, at Santee	(Thu.) 24
Williamsburg, at Williamsburg	26, 27

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Hattiesburg, Wednesday, Feb. 17.

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hazlehurst	Jan. 2, 3
Brookhaven	9, 10
McComb City	16, 17
Beauregard	23, 24
Wesson	23, 24
Topisaw	30, 31
Terry, at Terry	Feb. 3, 7
Magnolia, at Osyka	13, 14
Caseyville, at Sweetwater	20, 21
Adams circuit, at Adams	27, 28
Brookhaven circuit, at Adams	27, 28
Pleasant Grove, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 6, 7
Providence, at Bahala	13, 14
China Grove, at Waterhole	20, 21
Bowarton, at Brandywine	27, 29
Lebanon, at Brandywine	27, 28
Gallman, at Bethesda	Apr. 3, 4
Summit, at Summit	10, 11

E. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Natchez—Jefferson Street	Jan. 2, 3
Natchez Wesley Chapel	2, 3
Washington, at Washington	(Tues.) 5
Vicksburg—Crawford Street	9, 10
South Vicksburg	9, 10
Burtouton, at Burtonton	13, 17
Fayette, at Harriston	23, 24
Martin, at Cane Ridge	30, 31
Meadville, at Oak Grove	Feb. 3, 7
Mayersville, at Mayersville	13, 14
South Warren, at Bovina	20, 21
Warren, at Bradley's	27, 28
Anguilla and Rolling Fork, at Anguilla	Mar. 5, 6
Rocky Springs	12, 13
Roxie, at Hamburg	19, 20
Utica, at Learned	26, 27

The district stewards will meet in Port Gibson on Thursday, Jan. 7, 1892.

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.

Minter City and Strathmore, at M. C	Jan. 2, 3
Coffeeville circuit, at Coffeeville	9, 10
Water Valley circuit, at Wyatt	12
Water Valley station	13
Abbeville circuit, at Abbeville	16, 17
Oxford	23, 24
Toccopola circuit, at Toccopola	30, 31
Banner circuit, at Pleasant Hill	Feb. 6
Pittsboro circuit, at Pittsboro	6, 7
Cherry Hill circuit, at Harlcon	10
Atlanta circuit, at Beneia	13, 14
Chapel Hill circuit, at Mars Hill	18
Grenada circuit, at Spring Hill	20, 21
Tillatobia circuit, at Tillatobia	27, 28
Charleston circuit, at Oakland	Mar. 5, 6

The district stewards will please meet in the church at Grenada at half-past ten o'clock, on Wednesday, Jan. 6, 1892. Will the preachers in charge please hold Church Conferences as soon as possible; also urge fasting and prayer at the time named in Discipline; also see that elements are ready for Lord's Supper at Quarterly Conference!

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

West	Jan. 2, 3
McNutt and Sunnyside	9, 10
Brooklyn and Dublin	16, 17
Indianola	23, 24
Leberton	20, 21
Greenwood	Feb. 3, 7
Black Hawk	13, 14
Sidon	20, 21
Carrollton circuit	27, 28
Winona circuit	Mar. 5, 6
Carrollton station	12, 13

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bolivar	Jan. 2, 3
Australia	9, 10
Friar's Point	13, 17
Lala	23, 24
Clarksdale	30, 31
Shelby	Feb. 6, 7
Shaw	13, 14
Arcola	20, 21
Avon	27, 28
Jonestown	Mar. 5, 6
Belan	13, 13

Lat preachers and people observe Friday before Conference as a day of fasting and prayer. District stewards' meeting at Greenville, Wednesday, Jan. 3.

R. M. STANDEFER, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Walthall	Jan. 2, 3
Chester	(Wed.) 3
Louisville	9, 10
Weir	(Wed.) 13
Ethel	13, 17
Kosciusko and Durant	23, 24
Sallis	(Wed.) 27
Newport	30, 31
Pickens	Feb. 3, 7
Ebenezer	13, 14
Lexington and Tchula	(Wed.) 17
Belzona	30, 31
Poplar Creek	27, 28
Rural Hill	Mar. 5, 6

The district stewards will meet me at the Methodist Church in Kosciusko at ten o'clock, Friday morning, Jan. 22, 1892.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Okolona station	Jan. 2, 3
Shannon	9, 10
Aberdeen station	13, 17
Pontotoc	23, 24
Prairie	30, 31
Amory and Smithville	Feb. 6, 7
Nettleton and Fulton	13, 14
Saltillo	20, 21
Athens	27, 28
Houston and Wesley	Mar. 2, 3
Okolona circuit	13, 13
Tremont	19 20
Buena Vista	26, 27

The following district stewards will meet at the Methodist Church in Okolona, Saturday, Jan. 2, 1892, at eleven A. M: R. L. Trice, S. T. Harkey, John Trice, William Morris, J. D. Shell, S. H. Wood, Bro. Foster, J. H. Thomas, J. C. Burdine, T. W. Pearce, F. M. Beeks, Robert Gordon, P. W. Shell, Josiah McDaniel, W. Reeves.

J. B. STONE, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Early Grove	Jan. 2, 3
Myrtle	9, 10
Eagle Springs	13, 17
Holly Springs circuit	23, 24
Ashland	30, 31
Lebanon	Feb. 2 7
Ebo Holly Springs circuit	13, 14
Olive Branch	20, 21
Mt. Pleasant	27, 28

The district stewards will please meet in Holly Springs, Thursday, Jan. 21, at ten o'clock A. M. We ask for a full attendance. The preachers' meeting for the district will be held in Holly Springs, commencing on Jan. 20, at 7 P. M.

JNO. W. BOSWELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Pleasant Hill	Jan. 2, 3
Como	9, 10
Batesville	13, 17
Coldwater	23, 24
Pleasant Grove	30, 31
Courtland	Feb. 6, 7
Cockrum	13, 14
Arkabutla	20, 21
Coldwater mission	22
Nesbitt	27, 23
Wall Hill	Mar. 5, 6
Mt. Vernon	12, 13
Panola	19, 20

The district stewards will all please meet me at Senatobia, Friday, 11 A. M., Jan. 22, 1892. The district stewards are G. D. Shands, J. F Lavender, J. W. Sharp, B. P. Jones, B. F. Ross, — — Harington, J. B. Garison, J. W. Jones, H. F. Johnson, W. S. Bailey, J. L. Boyd, — — McGehee, — — Jennings, Robt. Houston

H. C. MORRHEAD, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Carondelet Street	Jan. 3
Moreau Street	10
Algiers	17
Carrollton	24
Gretna	28
Felicity Street	31
Louisiana Avenue	Feb. 7
Baton Rouge	14
Rayne Memorial	21
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P	28
Thibodeaux and Houma, at Houma	Mar. 3
Craps and Scraparu	3
Lower Coast Mission, at Grand Prairie	18
Dryades Street	20
Parker Chapel	27
Gross Tete and False R., at Arbroth	Apr. 3

The district stewards are requested to meet in Carondelet Street Church, Thursday, Jan. 7, at 7:30 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

West Monroe, at West Monroe	Jan. 2, 3
Monroe, at Monroe	4
Delhi, at Delhi	9, 10
Bastrop, at Bastrop	13, 17
Lind Grove, at Jones' station	23, 24
Oak Ridge, at Good Hope	30, 31
Rayville, at Rayville (Tues., 3 P. M.)	Feb. 2
Floyd, at Floyd	6, 7
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg	13, 14
Winsboro, at Winsboro	16
Oakley, at Holly Grove	20, 21
Indian Village	27, 23
Lake Providence, at Providence	Mar. 5, 3
Waterproof, at Waterproof	13, 13

The following district stewards will please meet at Delhi, Feb. 10: L. G. Johnson, Samuel Whited, D. W. Smith, Dr. A. S. Helmick, G. W. McDuffie, L. L. Upton, E. H. Dolerhide, Cary Holloman W. D A. Gorton, W. P. Barney, D. T. Whitaker, A. D. C. Moore.

H. C. WHITE, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Spring Creek, at Fellowship	Jan. 2, 3
Sugar Town, at Dry Creek	(Wed.) 3
Bayou Chicot, at Chicot	9, 10
Evergreen and Lecompte, at Bunkie	16, 17
Simsport, at Simsport	23, 24
Melville and Big Cane, at Melville	30, 31
Alexandria, at Alexandria	Feb. 6, 7
Pineville, at Pineville	6, 7
Centerville, at Centerville	13, 14
Vidalia, at Bennett's	17
Black River, at White's Ridge	20, 21
Castor Mission, at Master's Chapel	27, 28
Columbia, at Columbia	28
Montgomery, at Atlauta	Mar. 5, 3
Ada, at Prospect	12, 13
Colfax and Boyce	19, 20

District stewards' meeting at Pinaville, Feb. 3, 1892. Circuit stewards will please attend first Quarterly Conference.

J. IVY HOFFPAUIR, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Opelousas and Washington, at C	Jan. 2, 3
Plaquemine Brulee and Rayne, at R	9, 19
New Iberia	13, 17
Layfayette	23, 24
Patterson and Morgan City, at P	30, 31
Crowley, at Crowley	Feb. 6, 7
Abbeville, at Abbeville	12, 14
Franklin and Jeanerette, at Franklin	20, 21
Lake Charles	27, 28
Sabine mission, at Keener	Mar. 1, 2
Grand Chenier, at Leesburg	5, 3
Sulphur Mine, at Vinton	12, 13
Lake Arthur	19, 20
Indian Bayou	23, 27
Huron mission	30, —

District stewards' meeting at Lafayette, Thursday, Jan. 7, 1892, at 3:30 P. M.

JNO. A. MILLER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND

Caddo circuit, at Keachie	Jan 3, 4
Shreveport	10, 11
Shreveport mission	12
South Bosier, at Fillmore	17, 18
North Bosier, at Plain Dealing	24, 22
Natchitoches station	30, 31
Bellewood & Cane R., at Natchitoches	Feb. 1
Red River, at Camp O'Bello	7, 8
Grand Cane, at Grand Cane	13, 14
Mansfield sta. (Sun. night and Mon.)	14, 15
Wesley circuit, at Wesley	21, 22
Coushatta (Sun. night and Mon.)	22, 23
Mooringsport cir., at Mount Zion	27, 28
Many circuit, at Many	Mar. 5, 6
Fort Jessup cir., at F. J. (S. & M night)	3, 7
Pleasant Hill circuit, at Marthaville	13, 14
Sabine circuit, at Bayon Scie	19, 20
DeSoto circuit, at Bethel	23, 27
Annacoco circuit, at Holly Grove	Apr. 2, 3

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Farmerville, at Farmerville	Jan. 2, 3
Downsville, at Downsville	9, 10
Summerfield, at Shiloh	12, 17
Haynesville, at Haynesville	23, 24
Minden, at Minden	29
Arcadia, at Arcadia	Feb. 6, 7
Homer, at Homer	13
Tulip, at Tulip	13, 14
Sparta, at Ebenezer	20, 21
Ringgold, at Andrew Chapel	27, 28
Vernon, at Wesley Chapal	Mar. 5, 6
Ruston, at Ruston	11
Vienna, at Vienna	12, 13
Gansville	19, 20

District stewards will meet at Arcadia, Feb. 5, at ten A. M., at the district parsonage.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

Reduced rates on the certificate plan have been granted by the Queen and Crescent Route for the following occasions. For rates, etc., apply to agents.

Meeting of the National Brick Manufacturers' Association, at Washington, D. C., Jan. 12 to 16.

National Convention of Woman's Suffrage Association of America, Washington, D. C., Jan. 17 to 21.

National Burial Case Association, at Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 26 to 30.

The prolonged strike in the coal mines at Brazil, Ind., is declared off. The supplies of the strikers are exhausted, and they will return to work.

Nothing On Earth Will

MAKE HENS LAY,

LIKE

Sheridan's Condition Powder!

It is absolutely pure. Highly concentrated. In quantity it costs less than a cent a day. Strictly a medicine. Prevents and cures all diseases. Good for young chicks. Worth more than gold when hens moult. "One large can saved me $40 and six for $5 to prevent roup," says a customer. If you can't get it send us $5 cents for two packs; five $1. A 2 1-4 pound can $1.20 postpaid; 5 cans $5 express paid. "THE BEST POULTRY PAPER," sample copy free. Poultry Raising Guide free with $5 orders or more. L. S. JOHNSON & Co., Boston, Mass.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Sixteen hundred bales of cotton were destroyed by fire in St. Louis, on Dec. 27. Loss, $50,000.

In a collision on the New York Central railway, on Dec. 24, at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, eleven people were killed and many seriously injured.

The Sugar Bounty Division at Washington has sent away to bounty claimants drafts amounting to $290,000, about $200,000 of which goes to Louisiana.

A three-story brick dwelling in Pittsburg was demolished by an explosion of natural gas on Dec. 25. The inmates were buried in the ruins, and, though seriously burned and bruised, none were fatally injured.

The National League for the Protection of American Institutions has prepared an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which will be submitted to both Houses of Congress shortly after they resume their sessions.

Nebraska was visited by a blizzard on Dec. 25. Traffic on all railroads in the State was seriously retarded, and in many cases along the Western division of the Union Pacific trains were blockaded. The snow drifted furiously. Stock suffered intensely.

There is the highest authority for the statement that the Department of State has received from official sources, though informally, assurances that the Chilian government will make proper reparation for the assault upon the sailors of the Baltimore at Valparaiso.

W. R. Laidlaw, who was in Russell Sage's office when the dynamite bomb was thrown at the millionaire, claims that Sage held him as a shield to defend himself from the attack. As Laidlaw was terribly burned and bruised, a suit for damages, amounting to $100,000, has been entered.

For two weeks country roads in Iowa, Missouri and Illinois have been hub deep in mud, and the farming communities have been virtually padlocked on the farms. As a result, merchants depending on country trade have suffered immense financial loss, especially in holiday trade, while the farmers and shippers have lost by inability to market their products. It is feared many failures among country merchants will result.

The Michigan Insane Asylum, situated in Pontiac, was damaged by fire on Dec. 26. At the time of the fire it contained 500 women and 700 men, of which number two were injured. The attendants performed deeds of heroism in their endeavor to rescue the helpless. Rushing hither and thither, dragging the hesitating ones from their rooms, they drove the insane women into the open air. When some were once on the outside they would break away and rush for the building again. The loss on the building is about $150,000.

FOREIGN.

Admiral Montt was proclaimed President of Chili on Dec. 25.

The government of Uruguay has posted large bodies of troops on guard along the frontier to prevent the Brazilian revolutionists from crossing the border.

A panic occurred in a theatre in Gateshead, England, on Dec. 27, caused by a cry of "fire." In the rush which ensued ten persons were killed and many wounded.

A London dispatch from Singapore says that official advices from Pekin report severe fighting with the rebels from Dec. 3 to Dec. 7, in which 2,000 rebels were killed and fifty leaders beheaded.

Lord Salisbury is reported as having advised the Bulgarian government to go far in satisfying France in the present juncture, rather than refer the controversy to joint deliberation of the powers.

When the Reichstag resumes its sittings the bill for the repression of drunkenness, the Bourse regulation measure, which was introduced in consequence of the recent scandals, and the discussion of the commercial treaties with Switzerland, Servia, Spain and Roumania, will be the work of the House.

Redmond's election, and the defeat of Michael Davitt, in Ireland, has given new life to the Parnellite party, and the leaders of that faction are already preparing for a thorough reorganization in Great Britain, as well as in Ireland. The organization in Great Britain used to be of the greatest service to Parnell.

During the celebration of midnight mass in a church in Valenoia, Italy, on Dec. 25, four dynamite bombs were exploded in the edifice in rapid succession. The high altar was destroyed, and several persons standing near it were injured. The side of the church was completely wrecked, and a number of the worshippers were bruised by falling debris.

Among the latest strikes to collapse is that of the glass-makers at Ottenson, a suburb of Hamburg, Germany, which lasted ten months before the strikers were compelled to acknowledge defeat. The weavers of Saxony were also forced to succumb, after having spent the entire fund subscribed for the carrying on of the strike.

It is said that an official order has been issued, closing the Catholic Churches at Vedistav and Buzki, Russia, and that other towns will receive the same orders very soon. This action is said to be taken in obedience to direct orders from the Czar, who is more than ever determined to stamp out all creeds not in accord with the Orthodox Church.

The people of the state of Durango, Mexico, are actually dying of starvation. Corn is being sold at cost to the poor, and money or orders for the purchase of corn are being distributed by organized charity. The President has ordered the proper federal officials to aid the poor in Durango and also in other States where there is any suffering because of scarcity of provisions.

"My Daughter's Life

Was saved by Hood's Sarsaparilla," says Mr. E. F. Jones, of Alna, Maine. "She had seven running sores in different places on her body, but since giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla she has become well, strong and healthy."

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5⅝	— —
Ordinary	5 13-16	— —
Good ordinary	6⅜	— —
Low middling	6 13-16	— —
Middling	7 1-16	— —
Good middling	7⅜	— —
Middling fair	7⅝	— —
Fair	9⅛	— —
Galveston middling	— —	— —
Mobile middling	— —	— —
Memphis middling	— —	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	3⅛	3⅜
Fully fair	3 9-16	3⅝
Good fair	3⅛	3 7-16
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	3⅛	3
Prime yellow	3⅛	3 3-16
Gray white	3 5-16	3⅜
Choice white	— —	3⅝
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	23	25
Good common	23	23
SYRUP	24	33
RICE.
No. 2	— —	3¼
Good	4½	4⅝
Fair	4⅛	4⅜
Prime	— —	— —
Rough, ₩ bbl	2 75	3 85
POLISH, ₩ ton	23 00	24 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	4 70	4 80
Fancy	4 20	4 40
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	— —	2 73
Winter wheat patents	4 90	5 10
Minnesota bakers	2 00	5 50
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	3 25	3 30
Cream meal	3 15	3 22
Grits	3 12	2 25
Hominy	2 32	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	53	— —
Yellow	— —	57
Mixed No. 2	53	— —
OATS:
Western	42	43½
Texas rust-proof	22	— —
BRAN:
₩ cwt	32	1 00
HAY:
Prime	15 00	12 00
Choice	13 53	17 50
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	— —	9 20
Prime Mess	— —	12 00
Rumps	9 00	9 25
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	3½	13
Shoulders	— —	— —
Sides, short rib	— —	7
Sides, long clear	— —	6⅝
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	3½	10
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	— —	4½
Sides, short rib	— —	6
Sides, long clear	5⅝	2
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	17⅜	— —
Fair	17	— —
Common	14	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Ile-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	23	— —
Western Dairy	22	23
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	3¼	5⅜
OILS:
Coal, bbls	7⅜	— —
Coal, cases	12½	14
Cottou seed, crude	24	25
Lard, Extra No. 1	30	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ head	8	9
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 80	3 00
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 72	3 25
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb. ₩ yard	3⅝	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb. ₩ yard	3¼	— —
Lanu Mills Cottou Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	7½	13½
TIES:
₩ bundle	1 25	— —
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 00	4 50
Young Chickens	3 50	3 50
Chickens, Southern	3 25	3 62
Young	1 50	3 00
Turkeys, Southern	10 00	12 00
EGGS:
Western	23	24
Southern	23	27
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	31	31½
Louisiana	17	12
Burry	10	12
COUNTRY RIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	3½	— —
Dry salted	5	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	10 00	— —
Meal	32 50	34 50
Pure ground bone	30 00	33 00
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	2⅜
Sulphuric acid	— —	3½

—New Delta, Dec. 29.

For over fifty years Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar has cured coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, throat and lung affections. It is the regular prescription of a physician of extensive practice, who, after prescribing it for twenty years, was induced by the gratifying results to make it a proprietary medicine. Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar soon became known as the best remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Why? Because it has merit and will cure. A. C. Haffelfinger, Philadelphia, says: "I know a man suffering with his lungs who was in the hospital a year without benefit. I induced him to take Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and to-day he is well. I know it saved his life." Try it.

None of the officials of the Department of State have any knowledge of any agreement made by this government with the government of Italy to pay indemnity on account of the New Orleans affair, as reported by English correspondents at Rome.

Mrs. P. M. Goodwyn, the proprietress of the celebrated "Eureka Yeast Powder," has resumed control of her business, and desires her numerous patrons to renew their patronage and favor her with their helpful influence among their friends. She is prepared to fill orders both in bulk and in box. Her place of business is No. 90 Constance street.

Be Considerate.

Don't worry your friends and family with that worn and faded appearance. Get a bottle of Creole Female Tonic. It will change your pallid cheeks to the rosy hue of health.

HINTS ON SELF-EDUCATION.

"Take the case of a boy compelled to leave school and earn a living at fourteen or fifteen, who is fond of study and wants to continue his education; what advice would you give him?" Five leading college presidents, Dwight, Patton, White, Capen, Hall, will answer this question in a series of articles in The Youth's Companion.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OFFICE OF NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Letters or postal cards have been received during the past week from the following persons, and their instructions complied with:

Revs. W. F. Sanders, T. K. Faunt LeRoy, John B. Kent (2), C. G. Andrews, C. A. Powell, R. C. Callaway, J. F. Featherstone, Eugene Johnson, W. W. Williams, G. W. Bachman, T. B. Malone, C. R. Godfrey, Geo. Hancroft, C. D. Anders, J. W. Luter, W. W. Cammack, B. F. Lewis (2), H. M. Young, James G. Galloway, V. D. Skipper, A. J. Foster, G. H. Galloway, J. W. Drake, S. S. Holladay, J. F. Wynn, W. W. Morse, Isaac L. Peebles, L. J. Quinn, C. D. Cecil, J. M. Huggins, R. M. Davis, Isaac T. Roames, T. W. Dye, C. H. McHobb, R. C. Morehead, Thos. J. Newell, N. B. Norwood, W. T. Barnett, R. S. Gale, H. Bradford, W. K. Norton, Geo. Jackson, H. W. May, J. W. Wolling, Edgar C. McVoy, E. H. Mounger, Jno. H. Rogers, R. M. Harrison, J. D. Newsom, W. J. O'Bryant, W. W. Hopper, J. W. Sandell, J. N. Ware, M. J. Miller, Robert Solby, P. Howard, D. A. Little, R. Havers, C. C. Grisham, W. T. J. Sullivan, E. S. Lewis, J. Porter, G. W. Bachman, W. A. Richardson, J. C. Lowe, J. L. Bowling, J. P. Brown, A. D. Miller, J. S. Oakley, D. C. Foust.

Messrs. J. H. Phillips, H. T. Bass, James C. Welch, W. A. Wilkinson, E. J. Barnett, T. H. Porter, J. D. Fulcher, Dr. C. K. Wilcox, J. G. Whitehead, Ira Boyd, J. J. Blythe, M. G. Terrell, P. S. Mims, A. J. Sturgis, J. R. Mize, S. S. Spencer, W. M. Wroten, K. E. Sandidge, C. W. Mills.

Mesdames S. M. Sistrunk, D. F. Stacy, Stellah McCaughan, H. A. Currie.

Misses Angie Patton, Mary M. Lowrie, Lizzie Jourdan, Laura Brown.

Dec. 29.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

For Christmas and New Year.

"The Mississippi Valley Route" (L., N. O. and T. railway) will on Dec. 23, 24, 25 and 31 and Jan. 1 sell Excursion Tickets between all stations at the rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. Tickets good to return until Jan. 5.

La Grippe Once More.

Marsden's Pectoral Balm is an unfailing cure for this dread disease. Begin using the Balm immediately upon discovering the presence of the disease. It never fails to cure it.

Over half a million dollars of valuable property was destroyed by fire in Chattanooga, Tenn., on Dec. 26.